"Amy's WHAT?" cried Sonic angrily "I strictly told her she was to stay with you two and keep an eye on you two at all times! What the heck's made her go wandering off into the woods?"

"It was my fault Sonic." said Tails despairingly "I jokingly suggested she go off and capture Dr. Eggman to win your heart and I think Amy took that fact to heart and is probably trying to capture him now."

"I never thought Amy would be crazy enough to try something like that!" blurted Sonic "If she actually succeeds in apprehending Dr. Eggman, I will be impressed, but Eggman's too sneaky and smart for the likes of Amy! He'll get Amy before she can get him! We've gotta find her and save her from getting herself caught and roboticized!"

"But we don't know where she is!" noted Tails "How will we know where to start?"

"I know one person who can help." said Sonic "The fighter with the keenest nose in the army: Wilson the Dog. Luckily I still have my communicator so I'll be able to contact the dog."

Sonic pushed the wrist section of his glove forward, revealing the communicator he always had there and pressed a button.

"Yo Wilson, are you there buddy?" he asked.

"I sure am Sonic." said Wilson "I'm just cleaning up Royal HQ right now, what's the problem?"

"Amy's gone missing and I think you'll be able to help us find her." explained Sonic "Can you aid us in our search?"

"I sure can Sonic old buddy." said Wilson "I'll use my keen nose to find the lost hedgehog. I'll be over as quickly as possible."

Wilson shut off and Sonic shut his communicator off. He covered it back up with his glove.

"Does anyone have anything that might have Amy's scent on it?" asked Sonic "Wilson will need it."

"I don't think so." said Tails glumly.

"Wait I've found something." said Cosmo, bending down and picking something up.

It looked like a small clump of Amy's fur no larger then the palm of Cosmo's hand that had fallen out after she chased the robo-camera. Sonic looked at the fur and sniffed it. The familiar scent of roses drifted into his nose. Amy smelt of roses since she often sprayed rose-scented fragrances on herself.

"Yep, that'll do." said Sonic "Wilson will find Amy easily with that little bit of lost fur to smell."

"I just hope Amy's not in danger right now." said Tails sadly "I'll feel awful if she's in danger and it's all because of me suggesting that stupid thing for her to do."

"It's not your fault at all Tails." said Sonic "Amy should know better then to take jokes too seriously and try something that crazy on her own. Knowing her, she'll be alright what with that enormous hammer on her side."

Secretly, Sonic was hoping the same thing Tails was hoping and that Amy was right as rain and not in grave danger right now…

Back at the mansion, Mr. Florenzi, Mr. Polikaza, Mr. Wazikaza and Amy had just eaten a beautiful dinner and finished off with an even more beautiful desert. Amy wiped her mouth with a fancy, silk napkin and sighed a satisfactory sigh. She hadn't had a meal as glorious as this in a long while and she had enjoyed every bite. She loved the dining room, which was very large and had a beautifully polished table with a silk table cloth trimmed with fancy gold trimmings. No wonder Mr. Florenzi was so fat, because he always had big meals like this one she'd just eaten.

"That was delicious Mr. Florenzi." said Amy "Thank you ever so much for inviting me for this."

"Don't mention it my dear." said Mr. Florenzi as two butlers took the dirtied bowls and dishes away to wash "I couldn't let a lost soul like you starve so I had to let you join us for this fine meal. I enjoy dinner times ever so much I do."

"I can tell by your stomach." said Amy, trying to make sure she wasn't offending Mr. Florenzi whilst eyeing his big bulging belly.

"Mr. Florenzi will not tolerate any fat jokes thank you very much!" snarled Mr. Polikaza

"Yeah, how would you like it if we made fun of your horrible pink fur you bad-mannered little runt!" growled Mr. Wazikaza.

"Poli, Wazi!" barked Mr. Florenzi, whacking the table sharply with his cane "That's no way to treat our guest! I'm sure Amy wasn't trying to make a fat joke were you dear?"

"I wasn't." said Amy truthfully "I was trying to make note of your love for food without offending you."

"You won't offend me." said Mr. Florenzi "I know how large I've gotten and I really should try to lose a few ounces shouldn't I?" he said with a hearty chuckle.

Amy began to feel uncomfortable with the conversation right now and decided to change the subject quickly.

"So Mr. Florenzi, how long have you lived in this gorgeous mansion?" she asked, hoping to learn a bit about Mr. Florenzi and his mansion.

"I've lived her for thirty years Amy dear." said Mr. Florenzi "I moved into this estate when I was twenty seven and I'm still here now. Thirty years has gone so fast for me." he added, sounding a little like he was drifting off into space "I remember what the place looked like before I moved in here. It didn't have my many portraits and sculptures at the bottom of the staircase when I came here."

"Have you always owned the place or has it been previously owned?" asked Amy.

"Four other people in my name have owned this estate before I moved in." said Mr. Florenzi "The first Mobian to live here was Francesco Alonzo Florenzi the First. He's my great-great-great grandfather and is well known for his well mannered personality and unrivalled kindness. He was a rat like I was. Then there was Francesco Alonzo Florenzi the Second. He was a meerkat and he had a very strong sense of peace and serenity. His sense of peace and serenity lived on for many years, even after his death in 1886. Pity it hasn't lived on to this day now, what with the war with Dr. Eggman going on."

"Yeah, I wish Mobius could go back to its original, peaceful self once again." said Amy gloomily.

"If that Sonic guy keeps fighting, Eggman will be kicked out of this world for good!" said Mr. Wazikaza with a sinister grin on his face "I hate that guy and his love for robots! Robots are dumb and they're good for nothing!"

"Agreed Wazikaza." said Mr. Polikaza "Robots are a wasted invention and should be un-invented in my opinion."

Tails would throw a fit if he heard those two bad-mouthing robots right now! thought Amy grimly.

"Anyway, continuing with this mansion's history." interrupted Mr. Florenzi "The next person to inherit this place was Francesco Alonzo Florenzi the Third. He was a vole and a little more bitter then the other two masters of this estate. He was the kind of person who acted first and asked questions later and that led to many vicious fights. Many people nicknamed him "Vicious Florenzi" after his rather malicious behaviour to people he didn't like."

"I think he's the only Florenzi I don't like." said Amy "Thank goodness he's no longer around."

"I think the same." said Mr. Florenzi bleakly "And finally, the last person who lived here before I came was Francesco Alonzo Florenzi the Fourth. He was a mongoose and he was tough but fair and he was well respected by many people that met him. He loved the people as much as his home but one of his servants didn't like his tough but fair behaviour and she attempted to assassinate him. Her attempts failed luckily and she was banished into the Great Dunes where she starved to death. Mr. Florenzi the Fourth lived until he was ninety-one and he died three years before I inherited the estate. And now I carry on the Florenzi name in this fabulous house. Who knows who will be the next person to live here when I die?"

"Who knows." said Amy "And that was a very interesting story Mr. Florenzi, thank you for sharing that with me."

"I'm so glad you were interested." said Mr. Florenzi "The Florenzi name has a proud history and I'm glad to keep this proud family going now."

"By the way, now I've eaten, can you help me find the Lake of Rings?" asked Amy "I need to get there now."

"Oh of course, I almost forgot!" said Mr. Florenzi "How silly of me! Me and my servants have just got something private to discuss first and then I'll help you find your lake. Excuse us a moment."

He got up from the table and walked out of the dining room with Mr. Polikaza and Wazikaza following him. Amy was now left alone in the glorious dining room. Amy didn't know what to do. Should she stay put or should she get up and explore the place before leaving? After all, this was a big mansion and there was bound to be a lot to explore. Amy stood up from her chair, pushed it back under the table and walked slowly out of the dining room. She poked her head out of the door to see if anyone was watching her. The coast was clear so Amy walked out of the dining room and across the hall to the room opposite to the dining room. She admired the hall and the staircase as she walked by and into the other room. Mr. Florenzi was clearly one lucky rat to live in such a fabulous estate that clearly looked like an unfitting place for a rat to live in. Rats were often poor, run-down, dirty, scandalous creatures that had a terrible reputation but Mr. Florenzi wasn't like those rats, he was well-mannered, kind, generous and clearly very wealthy to live in such a place. Amy walked into the next room. This room didn't have much of anything in it, it just seemed more like a room to stand in and look out the window and enjoy the view. All the room had was a couple of comfy chairs and a portrait of Mr. Florenzi the First riding a horse and wielding a broadsword that hung on the wall the chairs were up against. Amy stood in front of the window and admired the beautiful garden view she was met with. The garden had a dolphin shaped water fountain that spouted water out the air hole, flowers of every colour seen in a rainbow and neatly trimmed grass that stretched a long way out from behind the mansion. There was even a hedge sculpting of Mr. Florenzi, Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza beside the water-fountain. Amy thought to herself maybe she should go down to the garden and see everything up close once she'd finished exploring the enormous mansion. Amy left the little room, went through a door and found herself in a corridor that had six doors, three on each side, going down to the end of the corridor. Amy tried the first door but it was locked. Amy thought to herself suspiciously. What was behind that door and why was it locked? She could of course just smash the door down with her infamous hammer but Mr. Florenzi would hear her and probably throw her out for damaging his property so Amy decided to leave that door and try another one. She went to the second door and was about to open it when suddenly she heard two familiar voices on the other side of the door. Amy bent down on one knee and pressed her ear against the door. The voices she could hear were of Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza and they were talking to one another.

"You think the pink girl buys our act Wazikaza?" asked Mr. Polikaza.

"Of course she does you little fool!" snapped Mr. Wazikaza "She thinks that we're innocent people willing to help anybody when really we aren't and is completely in the dark about us!"

"She's one gullible prat if she fell for my subtle acting." said Mr. Polikaza with a chuckle.

"She fell for MY subtle acting you mean!" snapped Mr. Wazikaza "I'm far more talented at acting then you are!"

"Wazikaza, you're about as subtle as a house on fire in the middle of the forest!" taunted Mr. Polikaza "And yet the girl's fooled by your poor acting. That's one gullible girl."

"I think we can all agree Mr. Florenzi's the best actor out of us three, his true nature is completely unknown to that girl." said Mr. Wazikaza "I can almost imagine her shocked face when we pack her in a shipping crate and whisk her off to Dr. Eggman like all the other unfortunate people to have come across our territory!"

The two lizards began laughing like mad. Amy was so shocked she could not move. She didn't hear them mention Mr. Florenzi since Mr. Wazikaza's voice had dropped a little quietly when he said the rat's name so from what Amy had heard, the two lizards are really evil and plotting something very evil indeed. She had to warn Mr. Florenzi immediately! Amy got up onto her feet and crept away from the door, turned around…and bumped into Mr. Florenzi! Amy looked up nervously at the rat, hoping he wasn't getting the wrong idea about her. Mr Florenzi tapped the floor with his cane.

"Whatever's the matter Amy?" asked Mr. Florenzi in a kind voice "You look a little scared. Have my servants been scaring you?"

"No." said Amy "But I think they're actually evil. I overheard them talking about me falling for their acting and imagining my face when they pack me in a shipping crate and whisk me off to Dr. Eggman. I think they're plotting to do away with me against your wishes sir, we've gotta stop those two before they can do anything!"

"Mr. Polikaza and Wazikaza are plotting to send you to that foul fiend Dr. Eggman?" blurted Mr. Florenzi. "Well isn't that terrible?"

"It's awful!" cried Amy "And they claim to have done it to others in the past! What are we gonna do?"

"Oh we're not doing anything." said Mr. Florenzi in a very creepy tone of voice "And I know what my lizard henchmen are plotting… because I'm in it too!"

Before Amy could do anything, Mr. Florenzi whipped out a golden object and clamped it around her neck. The moment the object clamped around Amy's neck, a quick surge of mysterious energy buzzed through her veins and bought the hedgehog down on her knees. Amy coughed and gasped. She felt a little strange after the gold object clamped around her neck. She felt weak, feeble and helpless and she couldn't even feel her hammer so she couldn't summon it from hammer space and bash Mr. Florenzi's head in for clamping the thing on her.

"Wh…what…?" wheezed Amy "I…can't feel my…my hammer…and I feel…weak and helpless…how did you…?"

"Control Collar." said Mr. Florenzi with a wicked smiled on his ratty face "Weakens you to the point of being unable to hurt anybody and cuts off any type of superpower so we won't be having that ridiculous hammer of yours ruining my plans my dear."

Amy stared at Mr. Florenzi in complete shock. She could hardly move.

"How did you know about my hammer?" she demanded "And how the hell did you get one of these?" she added, tugging on the control collar "These things are illegal and every existing collar was destroyed five years ago!"

"I managed to scavenge one and hide it before the cops could get it." explained Mr. Florenzi "And don't think I only have one because I got my technician to build more of those collars so I can put one on as many people as I wish. And in answer to your first question," he added "Dr. Eggman has given me an extensive profile on Sonic the Hedgehog and all of his friends, even you my dear, so I know everything about you Amy Rose the Hedgehog, even your unhealthy obsession with Sonic!" he finished with a jeer and a smirk

Amy was livid. How dare he make fun of her fondness for Sonic! Amy tried to pounce on Mr. Florenzi but with the collar on, she could barely leap a foot off the ground. Mr. Florenzi seized her by the arms and punched the weakened hedgehog in the face. Amy crashed against the wall, alerting Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza and the two lizards burst out of the room to see what was happening and were rather surprised to see Amy there with Mr. Florenzi.

"You three are working for Dr. Eggman?" shrieked Amy "Are you mentally stupid or what? What on Mobius gave you idiots the crazy idea to work with that fat…"

She was about to say a very dirty word until Mr. Wazikaza wrapped her tail around her neck and began to choke her. Amy gagged and choked as Mr. Wazikaza's squeezed on her neck.

"Shut up you pink blister!" snarled Wazikaza "We're not stupid, you are stupid for not joining the glorious Dr. Eggman!"

"Yeah, if you let him take over Mobius instead of fighting him, we wouldn't have this stupid war going on with him would we?" growled Polikaza "You and that dumb Royal Fighters Service thingy are doing more harm then good fighting Eggman you know! We never get any peace because of this war and it's all Sonic's fault for defying Eggman's will in the first place!"

"That's quite enough you two, let the girl go." said Mr. Florenzi.

Wazikaza reluctantly let Amy go and the pink hedgehog dropped to the floor, gagging and spluttering. Mr. Florenzi grabbed Amy by the arm and hauled her onto her feet.

"Come along my dear, I've got a lovely place for you to stay in until I can contact Dr. Eggman." he said darkly.

He dragged Amy down the corridor with Polikaza and Wazikaza following him, through the room with the two chairs, portrait and window view of the gardens and down the staircase. Amy tried to free herself from Mr. Florenzi's tough grip but with the control collar limiting her strength and making her weak, she couldn't pull her arm out of Mr. Florenzi's hand. The three villains strode through the hall and took Amy to a dirty, wooden door that seemed very out of place in a fancy mansion like this. Mr. Florenzi motioned to his lizard henchman to wait outside as he unlocked the door and dragged Amy inside. Polikaza and Wazikaza stood on either side of the wooden door to stand guard and make sure everything is alright.

The door led to a very dark, dusty and cold cellar that looked more like a dungeon then a cellar what with the chains and shackles attached to the wall. The cellar reeked too since the cellar was not occupied much and it was never cleaned out. Amy did not want to be in a horrible, smelly place like this and she tried even harder to escape from the fat rat but her attempts were feeble. Mr. Florenzi threw Amy back first against the wall, grabbed both her arms, raised them above her head and snapped a pair of shackles around her wrists. Amy tugged feebly onto her bonds but with her weakened strength and inability to use her hammer because of the collar, all she was doing was making futile attempts. Mr. Florenzi smiled a creepy smile that suggested he liked the sight of little girls chained to the wall and feebly trying to escape. Amy glared up at Mr.

Florenzi and she gritted her teeth.

"You let me go this minute or I'm gonna bash your head off!" screeched Amy.

"You will do nothing except be…QUEIT!" bellowed Mr. Florenzi, sharply prodding Amy in the stomach and making her gasp.

Mr. Florenzi prodded her so hard, Amy felt like he'd plunged a sword into her tummy. The prod had winded her and she gasped heavily.

"I feel so lucky to have gotten my hands on you Amy Rose." purred Mr. Florenzi "You're a strong fighter with a big hammer, a bad attitude and even worse temper. You'll make me a fortune my dear."

"Fortune?" repeated Amy "What do you mean you crazy rat?"

"I mean, you'll fetch a high price for me when I deliver you to Dr. Eggman to become part of his Robian army Amy." said Mr. Florenzi in a sinister voice, his deep baritone voice rumbled through Amy's ears as he spoke.

"Deliver me to Eggman? Fetch a high price?" shrieked Amy "Are you…you… SELLING me to Dr. Eggman for profits?"

"That's precisely what I'm doing Amy." laughed Mr. Florenzi softly "I serve the Eggman Empire and I contribute to the fat genius by kidnapping innocents and selling them to him. This job has made me a fortune and I've sold many people to him. You're the next of many I'm selling to Dr. Eggman."

"You sick, twisted, sadistic scumbag!" blurted Amy "How can you do that to those poor innocent people?"

"I'm doing my bit for the planet." said Mr. Florenzi casually "Just not in a good way that's all. Once I sell you to Dr. Eggman, he'll pay me gloriously and promote me as Chief Mobian catcher for the Eggman Empire! And I look forward to that marvellously!"

The evil rat began to bellow with laughter. Amy just stared at Mr. Florenzi with a worried face on. She'd been wrong about Mr. Florenzi, he was just like all other rats on Mobius, evil, vile, scandalous and horrid but what he was doing was meaner and more evil then any rat in history had ever committed. Mr. Florenzi stopped laughing and looked Amy in the eye again.

"You know if I'm REALLY lucky, I might get my ratty little hands on Sonic the Hedgehog himself and all of his friends." he purred evilly "I'll be the richest rat in the world once I capture Sonic and sell him to Dr. Eggman!"

"You'll never get Sonic you filthy rat!" snapped Amy "Sonic will spin-dash you to a pulp and put an end to your unspeakable evil Mr. Florenzi the Foul Traitor to the world!"

"Whatever." said Mr. Florenzi dryly "I'd love to stay and chat Amy but I've got other business to do. I'll see you later Amy." said Mr. Florenzi, turning to go "Until then…try to get comfortable because you'll be there until Eggman arrives and I have no idea how long that'll take."

Mr. Florenzi walked out of the cellar, slammed the door shut behind him, the slam echoed ominously around the room, and locked the door. Amy began feebly pulling on her shackles but again, her attempts were futile. She stopped pulling on the shackles and she stared at her feet sadly.

"Well done Amy Rose!" she cursed herself "Now look what you've gotten yourself into! I'm chained to a wall in a dark, rancid smelling cellar with no way of escaping and it's all because you decided to chase that stupid robo-cam! If I never chased that thing, I wouldn't be in this position would I?"

A tear escaped from her beautiful jade eyes and landed with a plink on the toe of her left boot.

"How ever am I going to get out of here?" said Amy hopelessly "I can't use my hammer to smash my shackles because this stupid collar is preventing me from doing so and Sonic has no idea where I am. I'm doomed to be sold to Eggman and turned into a mindless robot on Eggman's side!"

That did it. Amy broke down into floods of tears. She couldn't wipe them away since her arms were chained over her head so they were free to trickle down her face and splash on the toes of her red and white boots. The situation looked very hopeless for Amy indeed and if Sonic couldn't find her, then Amy would be whisked off to Robotropolis and converted into a Robian and forced to serve Dr. Eggman to no end…

Hedgehog for Sale

Story 47: Hedgehog for Sale

Countdown to time change: 3

"Hi Sonic." said Wilson the Dog "So sorry I couldn't have come sooner buddy, I got held up in my work at Royal HQ."

"That's alright Wilson." said Sonic "You're here now, that's all that matters."

Sonic, Tails and Cosmo had been kept waiting for a while since Wilson had taken a little longer on his duties then hoped. Sonic had almost lost his patience and ran off himself but Tails and Cosmo had managed to keep him in place long enough for the dog to finally show up.

"So what's this I hear about Amy skiving off somewhere and getting herself lost?" asked Wilson "Was she looking for you Sonic?"

He laughed at his rather poor joke and immediately stopped after Sonic glared angrily at him.

"Amy was supposed to be keeping an eye on Tails and Cosmo but for some reason she's run off somewhere and is probably lost." said Sonic "Tails and Cosmo don't know her whereabouts since they hadn't seen Amy running off but we think you and your brilliant nose will be able to find her in record time."

"We have a clump of her fur for you to smell." said Cosmo, handing Wilson the clump of fur she'd found.

Wilson took the fur from Cosmo and sniffed it. His nose caught the scent of a rosy fragrance Amy liked to use. The smell was absolutely wonderful and Wilson loved it. It made him think of the violet fragrance his friend Mandy Mouse liked to wear on special occasions.

"Mmm, roses." said Wilson "You know what Sonic, Amy knows how to smell nice doesn't she?"

"Yeah she does." said Sonic casually "I can see why she's called Amy Rose. Red dress, red boots and red hair band like the red rose petals and a rosy scent on her, she takes her surname way too seriously doesn't she?"

"And that's the way we like her." said Tails "I wouldn't want Amy to change herself at all."

Wilson suddenly stopped smelling the clump and he got down on all fours, a dog's natural position, and began smelling the ground. The rosy smell drifted into his nostrils as he sniffed the grass. He pointed into a certain direction.

"She went that way." said Wilson, pointing in the very direction Amy had chased the robo-camera earlier today "Follow me, the smell continues that way."

Wilson got back up on his feet and ran into the bushes as fast as he could. Sonic, Tails and Cosmo ran after the dog. Wilson was a very fast runner and Tails & Cosmo could tell by watching Wilson run through the thick bushes. None of the bushes seemed to slow Wilson down at all, he just kept on running. Sonic could keep up easily with Wilson since he could run at supersonic speeds but he kept behind the dog since he knew where Amy was and Sonic didn't.

Hang on Amy, we're coming! thought Sonic as he and his friends followed Wilson through the forest.

Meanwhile in the mansion, Mr. Florenzi picked up a holographic-phone that he owned, pressed a few buttons and put the phone down on the table. A holographic image of Dr. Eggman emitted from the speaker section. Holographic-phones were owned by wealthy people and were liked for the way they worked since anybody using one would know who was calling them and strangers wouldn't be able to get the drop on them since the caller was projected in a holographic image and the one answering the phone could see who it is. Mr. Florenzi smiled at the sight of Dr. Eggman.

"Aaaah, if it isn't the Fabulous Mr. Florenzi with probably another Mobian for me to sell!" said Dr. Eggman happily.

"I do have another Mobian to sell Dr. Eggman." said Mr. Florenzi with a dark smile "And it's one you'll drop your jaw at."

"Go on then." said Dr. Eggman, listening eagerly.

"I have Sonic's self-proclaimed girlfriend Amy Rose in chains in my cellar with a control collar clamped on her throat." informed Mr. Florenzi "Little girl just stumbled across my mansion and I fooled her into thinking I was nice with my brilliant acting and now I have her completely subdued!"

Dr. Eggman's jaw, just like Mr. Florenzi had said it would, dropped in surprise. If Dr. Eggman wasn't wearing his glasses, you could probably see wide open eyes full of shock. He was so surprised he couldn't say a word.

"Y-y-you've captured Amy Rose?" blurted Dr. Eggman "Well this is a glorious piece of news for me! Amy is a dangerous enemy and she'll be valuable to my Robian & Robot army! How much are you selling her for Mr. Florenzi?"

"Well the average, everyday Mobian ranges from 120,000 Mobiums to 125,000 Mobiums depending on the type." said Mr. Florenzi "But Amy is a special girl with a big strong weapon and added strength to boot so shall we say…140,000 Mobiums no less?" he suggested.

Dr. Eggman put a finger to his chin as if he was considering this offer. He knew 140,000 Mobiums was expensive but since he had built a machine that could make fake but very convincing and realistic looking money non-stop, he didn't have to worry about being unable to pay his sinister agent. He put both his hands behind his back.

"Deal." said Dr. Eggman "I'll pay you as soon as Amy arrives at Robotropolis and not a second later."

"Very well." said Mr. Florenzi "I must say, I'm really enjoying this alliance with you master. You've made me a mint. I do wonder where you get all your money from, it's as if you have a factory producing this money for me non-stop at all times."

"I steal it all." lied Dr. Eggman "I have enough money to make the entire planet rich so it'll take a while for me to run out Mr. Florenzi."

"Really?" said Mr. Florenzi "You are one wealthy man aren't you?"

"Indeed." said Dr. Eggman "Now deliver Amy to me now before Sonic finds her and rescues her!"

The image of Dr. Eggman vanished into thin air and the holographic phone switched off. Mr. Florenzi put the phone away and he strode over to the dirty, wooden cellar door. He unlocked the door and walked into the cellar. Amy Rose looked up from her feet and closed her eyes to shield them from the sudden bright light that appeared into the cellar and lit up the place. Her cheeks were wet from crying so much and her arms felt like there were a million needles sticking in them due to being held over her head by very uncomfortable shackles for so long. Mr. Florenzi smiled malevolently at Amy and he pointed his wicked cane at her.

"My business with Eggman is concluded and you are going for a little ride to Robotropolis my dear." he said as he walked up to her.

"Do you need to tell me you horrible man?" muttered Amy.

Mr. Florenzi grabbed her by the face and put his face just a few inches in front of her.

"I was just telling you in case you hadn't heard." he said through gritted teeth "And you'll be pleased to know I sold you for 140,000 Mobiums, more then any other Mobian I've ever sold! Doesn't that make you feel special my child?"

"It makes me feel as special as having a toothache and a headache both at once." grumbled Amy, scowling at the horrid rat that had the nerve to do this to her "Get off my face before I bite you!"

Mr. Florenzi surprisingly did what he was told and he let go of Amy's face. Then he took a key out of his pocket and plunged it into one of Amy's shackles. The shackle opened, releasing Amy's poor, throbbing wrist from its cold, metallic grasp. Mr. Florenzi unlocked the other shackle and Amy rubber her wrists tenderly. Her hands felt a little numb from the uncomfortable experience with the shackles and her arms ached like they'd never ached before. She felt relieved to be free from the shackles at last but she knew she was still doomed. Mr. Florenzi held Amy firmly by the shoulder and he dragged her out of the cellar, closing the door behind him and locking it, and he dragged Amy out of the mansion where a luxurious looking black hover-car with a Rolls-Royce style theme to it was parked near the door. Two servants emerged from the car. They were both rather snooty looking horses with dead-pan expressions on their faces and they were dressed in fancy waiter's outfits. One horse had a slightly trimmed mullet and the other had neatly combed hair.

"Sir." said the two horses in posh voices.

They bowed down before Mr. Florenzi.

"Take this pink rat to Dr. Eggman and come back with the money he's paying me with." said Mr. Florenzi, shoving Amy into the horses.

"Who are you calling a rat? Rat!" snapped Amy "I'm a hedgehog you moron!"

The horses grabbed Amy by the shoulders and they shoved her roughly into the car.

"You sit in the back with the Mobian we're taking to Eggman this time Timothy." said the first horse.

"If you say so Darren." said Timothy, getting into the back and sitting next to Amy who folded her arms and pouted, fuming angrily.

"We'll be back as soon as possible master." said Darren, getting into the driver's seat "See you in a tick."

Darren closed the door and the sleek hover car rose off the ground and sped away into the forests of Green Hill Zone. Mr. Florenzi watched the car whiz away from view and he smiled a wicked, greedy smile. He couldn't wait to see his pay check when the two horses arrived back from Robotropolis. He began to wonder on who his next victim might be…

"The scent gets stronger as we go." said Wilson "We maybe close to Amy now."

"I wonder what's with all the fallen trees." said Cosmo as they passed a tree that had been knocked over by something.

"Maybe Amy did it with her hammer." suggested Tails "Although why she would knock a tree over is far beyond me."

"I'd guess she was chasing Eggman and she kept trying to hit him with her hammer but she missed and hit those trees." suggested Sonic "You did say she maybe searching for Dr. Eggman to try and capture him."

"Yeah." said Tails "I wish I never suggested for her to do that. If I hadn't, none of this would have happened."

"Relax Tails." said Sonic, leaping over a tree stump "I'm sure Amy's fine now."

The four Mobians pushed through a big bush and found themselves in an area of the forest with bushes full of spotted or striped fruit and trees that grew to greater heights then all the other trees in the zone. Sonic knew this area since he'd actually been all over Green Hill Zone.

"Rainbow Wood." said Sonic aloud "So called because of its spotted and striped fruit that makes this part of Green Hill Zone more colourful then the rest of the forest."

"The trees here are very tall." said Cosmo, looking straight up at the towering trees "None of the other trees in this forest grow this high. I wonder how the trees grew so high."

"I'm not sure myself Cosmo." said Sonic "And I know a lot of things about Green Hill Zone. The view at the top of those trees is very spectacular and I should know because I've been at the very top of one of those trees."

"How's the scent Wilson?" asked Tails.

Wilson got down on all fours and began sniffing the ground. He prowled around in a circle will sniffing away to see if he could pick up Amy's scent. It didn't take him long to pick the scent back up and the familiar scent of rosy fragrances drifted into his sensitive nostrils.

"Amy was here." said Wilson "But she walked off…" he sniffed the ground and followed the scent to where Amy left the area "…in this direction, left Rainbow Wood and went…that way." he said, pointing down the long stretch of forest that led to the diabolical Mr. Florenzi's mansion.

Sonic, Tails and Cosmo followed Wilson and found themselves in an area with a row of trees leading into the distance.

"Eggman must have led the girl on quite a chase." said Wilson, getting up onto his feet "They weren't in Rainbow Wood for very long, heck, they didn't go very far. It was as if they were in and then out just like that."

"What's that in the distance?" asked Cosmo, pointing at the end of row of trees.

Everybody looked in Cosmo's direction and saw what she was pointing at. It was Mr. Florenzi's mansion, the very place Amy had run to and ended up getting sold to Eggman. Sonic thought for a moment.

"Maybe Amy went to that house." he thought "But why she would do that while she was chasing after Eggman doesn't make sense."

"She's definitely gone up to that house." said Wilson "Her scent leads that way."

Wilson scampered off towards the mansion and Sonic, Tails and Cosmo ran after him as fast as they could. The four Mobians ran and ran until they finally reached the mansion. The mansion looked very impressive to Sonic, Tails, Cosmo and Wilson up close; they stared at the mansion in admiration.

"I wonder who lives here?" asked Cosmo "This is one fabulous looking mansion."

"Dunno." said Tails "Obviously someone really wealthy."

"Well let's see if this "really wealthy" owner of this mansion has Amy or not." said Sonic "Wilson seems to reckon Amy's here."

"She is." said Wilson "I can smell her."

Sonic walked up to the door and knocked on it. The door opened and there stood Mr. Florenzi who seemed to be very, very surprised to see none other then the famous Sonic the Hedgehog standing on his doorstep. His evil mind was abuzz with excitement and he began plotting on how to capture Sonic and sell him to Eggman.

"Why hello there Sonic the Hedgehog." said Mr. Florenzi "What an honour it is to have someone as famous as you come across my residence."

"Yeah, yeah, whatever." said Sonic "We're looking for a girl named Amy Rose who is a friend of mine, is she here?"

"She certainly is." lied Mr. Florenzi "Come in and I'll fetch her for you."

Mr. Florenzi stood to the side and invited Sonic and friends in. Sonic, Tails, Cosmo and Wilson walked into the mansion and stared in wonder at the impressive looking hallway. The hallway made Cosmo think of home for some reason, maybe it was the fact most homes on her planet were very wealthy looking. Sonic and Tails were a little impressed with the mansion themselves and Wilson seemed very interested with the paintings as he ran over to a painting and began admiring it. While everybody admired the hall,

Mr. Florenzi reached into his pocket and he quietly pulled out a control collar. He aimed at Sonic and was about to throw the collar at Sonic until Tails turned around and saw what he had.

"Sonic, duck!" he cried.

Sonic had no idea what was going on but he ducked anyway just as Mr. Florenzi threw the control collar at him. The control collar whizzed over Sonic and landed with a ping on the floor. Mr. Florenzi cursed his bad luck, since he only had one control collar with him right now. Cosmo ran over to the collar and picked it up.

"What's this?" she asked.

"That's a control collar." said Sonic "An invention that's been outlawed for a long time. Why do you have an illegal item with you and why did you try to put it on me?" he asked, glaring at Mr. Florenzi.

"Because I use it to weaken my captives." explained Mr. Florenzi "And I tried to put it on you so I can weaken you and sell you off to Dr. Eggman just like I sold off your precious girlfriend Amy Rose!"

"You…WHAT?" shrieked Sonic angrily "You kidnapped Amy and sold her to Dr. Eggman?"

"Then that means Amy's probably at Robotropolis now!" cried Tails "We've gotta get there and save her before Eggman roboticizes her!"

"You four aren't going anywhere." said Mr. Florenzi coldly "You are staying here and fighting me for your freedom."

Then suddenly, out of nowhere, Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza appeared at the top of the stair case, glaring at Sonic and friends with their evil reptilian eyes and saliva dripping from their dagger-like teeth. They leaped into the air and they landed on the floor at the bottom of the staircase and they bared their claws and teeth. Cosmo freaked and threw the control collar straight into Mr. Wazikaza's eye. The collar hit Mr. Wazikaza's eye, bounced away and landed on the Mr. Florenzi sculpture that stood proudly at the bottom of the staircase. Mr. Wazikaza rubbed his eye and snarled at the Seedrian. Mr. Florenzi advanced on the Mobians while tapping his hand with his cane. Sonic didn't show any signs of fear at the fat rat creeping up to him.

"Are you seriously gonna take me out with a cane?" mocked Sonic.

Mr. Florenzi glowered at Sonic and he grabbed the top of the cane. He pulled it upwards and revealed a long, sharp, shiny sword that was concealed inside. He threw the "sheath" away and pointed the sword straight at Sonic.

"You can make this simple Sonic." said Mr. Florenzi "Let me snap a control collar on you and whisk you to Robotropolis, and I won't skewer you and your friends one by one."

"Yeah um…no thanks!" yelled Sonic, jumping into the air and spin-dashing Mr. Florenzi straight in the stomach.

Mr. Florenzi flew backwards and slammed into the wall. He growled and grabbed his sword. Wilson pulled out his spinning blade weapon and unsheathed only one of the two blades. Mr. Florenzi ran up to Sonic and tried to slice the hedgehog in two but Wilson stepped in and blocked his blow with his weapon. He growled a natural dog growl at Mr. Florenzi and he kicked the rat away.

"I'll take out the sword wielding rat!" Wilson yelled at Sonic "You take out the creepy lizard guys!"

He and Mr. Florenzi began to sword fight with their weapons.

"I've gotcha Wilson!" said Sonic with a thumbs up "Tails, you wanna join in?"

"Sure." said Tails "Let's make these guys pay for selling Amy to Dr. Eggman!"

"You two are asking for a death wish if you're gonna fight us!" growled Mr. Polikaza "We're deadly fighters in combat!"

"Yeah, we'll rip you to shreds!" yelled Mr. Wazikaza.

"Just try it lizard boys!" yelled Sonic, leaping up into the air and spin-dashing towards Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza.

But Sonic should have known better then to underestimate his enemies. Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza both knew an ability known as a spine-dash, a reptilian style spin-dash that Sonic was well known for. The two lizards spun into a spiked, scaly ball and they both charged straight into the spin-dashing Sonic. With the two lizard's spin-dashes combined together, they overpowered Sonic's spin-dash and knocked the blue hedgehog onto the floor. Polikaza and Wazikaza laughed at Sonic and they spine-dashed him again. Tails tried to attack them but Wazikaza heard Tails flying towards him and Polikaza from behind and Wazikaza spine-dashed Tails in the face, sending the fox falling down to the floor. Polikaza grabbed Tails before he could land on the floor, threw him up and tail-whipped him as if Tails was a baseball and his tail was a bat. Tails crashed into the staircase and he groaned in pain.

"What the heck?" blurted Tails "Those two freaks know how to do a spin-dash?"

"Nah Tails, they're using a spine-dash." said Sonic "Only reptilian creatures like them are capable of using it. Spine-dashes are stronger then spin-dashes too. This is gonna be a tough fight."

"We did warn you hedgehog!" cackled Mr. Polikaza "Now we'll spine-dash you into tiny bite-sized pieces!"

"So you think!" said Sonic smugly "This hedgehog has more then just a spin-dash you know so beware!"

Sonic and Tails charged towards Polikaza and Wazikaza and the two lizards charged at them with their teeth and claws bared…

Meanwhile, Darren and Timothy had finally arrived at Robotropolis with the unlucky Amy Rose to give to Eggman. The car pulled up outside the gates and the two horses got out of the hover-car, dragging Amy with them. Darren knocked on the door and a security camera telescoped out of the side of the gate. It looked the two horses straight in the eye and observed them up and down. It spotted Amy Rose with them and it stared at her.

"Ah, Amy Rose has arrived at last." the camera said in Dr. Eggman's voice "Hold on a minute and I'll be there to fetch her."

The camera telescoped back into the gate and the hatch closed. Darren and Timothy stood and waited for something to happen but nothing did. Everything was still and quiet for a couple of minutes. Amy began to wonder what was keeping Eggman. Then suddenly the gates to the city opened up, giving the horses a view of Robotropolis that they couldn't see when the gates were closed. They weren't that amazed though, they had seen Robotropolis plenty of times with all the deliveries they'd made for Mr. Florenzi. After the gates opened, Dr. Eggman strolled up to the horses and snatched Amy Rose from them.

"Thanks ever so much for delivering me this valuable Mobian you two." said Dr. Eggman "I can't tell you how much I've been looking forward to roboticizing her."

"You're welcome sir." said Timothy "Where's Mr. Florenzi's reward?"

"Here." said Dr. Eggman, handing them an enormous sack full of Mobiums.

The two horses took the sack from Eggman and they peered into it. The sack was full of gleaming, golden and bronze coins, all as sparkly as a starry sky at night time. The sack was full of the exact amount of Mobiums Mr. Florenzi had sold Amy for.

"Thank you doctor." said Darren "We'll see you the next time Mr. Florenzi has someone to sell."

"Same to you two." said Dr. Eggman "Bye, bye for now and I hope you deliver me another great Mobian for me to roboticize!"

The two horses bowed in respect and they got back into the hover-car. They started the car up, the car hovered above the ground and sped away from the colossal, robotical city that Eggman had built and occupied. The tough, iron gates closed shut, trapping Amy in the city with Dr. Eggman and keeping anyone else from getting in. Dr. Eggman smiled maliciously at Dr. Eggman.

"You know if Mr. Florenzi got his hands on you Amy," purred Dr. Eggman "I can guarantee he'll get his hands on Sonic and his other friends too."

"No he won't!" said Amy determinedly "Sonic will make that fat rat of yours pay for all his crimes and aiding you in roboticizing the innocents!"

"Aaaah, such bravado from a little girl." said Dr. Eggman dryly "Let's see if that ego of yours will survive the roboticization process!"

"Before you roboticize me Egg-Brains, please answer me this." said Amy "How long has Mr. Florenzi been capturing Mobians for you for?"

"Oh he's been at this for weeks." said Dr. Eggman "I met him after my failure to steal the Master Emerald the second time*. After Knuckles and Rouge defeated my robot army, I began flying back to my base to continue working on Metal Sonic and plan my next move until I came across a mansion. I visited it and had a talk with Mr. Florenzi who was a very pleasant gentleman with greed greater then any I'd ever seen before. So I made a deal with him. He captures Mobians for me and I pay him handsomely. Little does the fool realize, all the money I give him is completely fake! Since I don't need money, I don't have any to give him so I made a machine that creates fake money but he'll never find that out because the fake money is impossible to distinguish from real money! Genius aren't I?"

"Yeah, genius." said Amy sarcastically "I bet Mr. Florenzi would go purple with rage if he found out every single penny of his pay check is a cheap fake produced by a machine. I hope someone finds out what he's been doing and puts him behind bars for good!"

"By the time that happens Amy, all of Mobius will be roboticized." said Dr. Eggman with a big smirk on his face "Now come on. The roboticizer chamber awaits your presence Amy!"

"Fan-whooping-tastic." muttered Amy as Dr. Eggman seized her firmly by the arm and hauled her away.

Dr. Eggman dragged Amy through the metal streets of Robotropolis and to his headquarters. All the robots in the city stopped what they were doing and stared at Amy as if the presence of a Mobian was an odd sight for them. Amy just ignored them. Some Robians stared at Amy and Amy stared back at them, trying to imagine what they used to look like before they became robots. She began to have a horrible image of what she was going to look like after she got roboticized. She could also imagine her friend's reaction when they saw her as a robot. Cosmo would be horrified, Cream would die of fright and her beloved Sonic would be hopping mad at what Eggman did to her. These were not pleasant things for anybody to imagine and these thought made Amy feel even sadder then before. As for Dr. Eggman, he was having pleasing (to him that is) images of roboticizing not just Amy, but everybody else, including his hated nemesis Sonic the Hedgehog. He already had Metal Sonic by his side, who was almost fixed from his damages the other day and if he roboticized Sonic then he would have Metal Sonic AND Mecha Sonic on his side. Metal Sonic and Mecha Sonic would be one unstoppable duo indeed and Eggman laughed at the very thought of having such a dangerous and deadly pair of robots as part of his Eggman Empire…

Back at the mansion, the fights seemed to be even sided for both heroes and villains. Wilson was holding his own out against Mr. Florenzi whereas Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza were owning Sonic and Tails big time. Cosmo just stayed out of the battle since she couldn't be of any use to anyone right now. Wilson and Mr. Florenzi clashed blades with their weapons five times and Mr. Florenzi lunged at Wilson in an attempt to skewer the dog but Wilson blocked the blow. Wilson pushed Mr. Florenzi back and lunged at him but Mr. Florenzi blocked the blow and pushed him away. The rat and dog clashed weapons and crossed swords at face level. The two fighting Mobians glared at each other and Wilson bit Mr. Florenzi on the nose. Mr. Florenzi yelped and grabbed his sore nose and Wilson kicked the wealthy rat in his enormous belly. Mr. Florenzi flew backwards and literally bounced off the wall like a basketball being thrown at the wall. Mr. Florenzi flew straight into Wilson after bouncing off the wall and the dog failed to get out of the way in time, resulting in him getting walloped by Mr. Florenzi and sent flying backwards. Wilson stopped himself before he could crash into the staircase. He got back to his feet, grabbed his spinning blade weapon and ran back to Mr. Florenzi. Mr. Florenzi prepared to block Wilson's attack but Wilson didn't do what he expected him to do. Wilson leaped into the air, did a somersault, and kicked Mr. Florenzi in the head. Mr. Florenzi fell onto his back and Wilson attempted to subdue him by holding his weapon to his neck but Mr. Florenzi punched Wilson in the jaw before he could do anything to him. Wilson steeped back in pain and Mr. Florenzi got back to his feet and without warning, unleashed a giant uppercut to the chin. The uppercut was so hard, Wilson was sent flying through the air in a rainbow arch and he landed on his head. The blow had startled the dog a little but Wilson was still determined to beat the evil rat. Mr. Florenzi ran up to Wilson with his sword in hand and he prepared to slice the dog in two but Wilson got on to his hands and pushed himself forward straight into Mr. Florenzi foot-first. Mr. Florenzi gasped heavily as all the air in his body was sucked out of his lungs and he fall onto his back. Wilson got back to his feet, picked up his weapon and deployed the other blade. Mr. Florenzi was a little startled at the sight of a double-bladed weapon but he didn't let that bother him. He stood back up and clashed swords with Wilson.

As for Sonic and Tails, things were going horribly wrong for them. No matter what technique or move they tried, Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza just overpowered them with their invincible spin-dashes. Sonic's homing attacks didn't work since the spine-dash was stronger then even that and Tails could hardly get a hit on them because the two lizards had good hearing and they always heard him before he could attack them. After getting spine-dashed into the floor yet again, Sonic began to grumble.

"Man, those two are tough!" he said "I can't land a blow on them and any attack I try is easily overpowered by their attack! The only thing I have that they don't is super speed!"

"Wait a second…" thought Sonic "That's it! That's how I can defeat them!"

Tails landed sharply on the floor after getting spine-dashed by Polikaza again.

"Tails, I have an idea." said Sonic "You keep those guys busy and I'll charge at them at super-speed. Once I knock them down, I'll run rings around them to make them dizzy and then we'll both finish them off. Got it?"

"Got it." said Tails "I hope I can hold out."

They both got back to their feet and Tails flew at Polikaza and Wazikaza. The two lizards cackled like a pair of goblins and they tried to spine-dash Tails both at once but Tails managed to dodge their attacks this time. Sonic ran off to the other side of the hall and he waited until the moment was right. Tails flew around the two lizards, keeping all their attention squarely fixed on him. They both lunged at him with their tails but they missed and Tails tail-whipped them both in the head. Sonic revved his feet up and he charged like an arrow at the distracted lizards. Polikaza and Wazikaza saw the hedgehog coming but before they could even twitch, Sonic rammed them both in the stomach and slammed them against the wall. The two lizards shrieked and gagged after that attack. Sonic leapt back and gave the two lizards a chance to get out of the wall and prepare to attack again. Then Sonic began to run around the two lizards at supersonic speed. The one thing you should never do when fighting a supersonic opponent is follow it as it runs around you since you'll result in unbelievable dizziness but Polikaza and Wazikaza weren't very bright so they stupidly followed Sonic with their eyes as he ran rings around them. They watched and watched and watched until their eyes couldn't take it anymore and they felt extremely dizzy. The room appeared to spin continuously around them as they tried to regain what senses they had. Sonic seized the opportunity and he spin-dashed them both over and over before they could recover. Tails finished them off with a flying punch to the back of the head each. That blow was more then enough to take the two lizards down. Polikaza and Wazikaza both fainted side-by-side on the floor, dizzy as anything and completely beaten down. Sonic stood over them and laughed.

"I knew it would work." said Sonic "Super speed always wins in the end."

Tails grabbed the two lizard's tails and he tied them both together so they wouldn't be able to escape when they recovered.

"That'll hold them." said Tails "These two are tough. If only they were on our side, Eggman would have a lot of trouble if we had two fighters as tough as them fighting alongside us."

"Not everybody can be a good guy." said Sonic sadly "Now those two clowns are down, we've got a rat to deal with."

"I know how we can take him down." said Cosmo.

She ran over to the sculpture that stood at the bottom of the stair and climbed up it. The control collar was hanging off the statue's nose and Cosmo unhooked the collar off the statue's nose and hopped off the statue. Sonic and Tails smiled, they knew what the Seedrian was up to. Wilson and Mr. Florenzi were still furiously fighting with each other, their swords were silver blurs constantly clashing against each other and the hall echoed with the sound of clashing metal. Cosmo aimed at Mr. Florenzi and she threw the control collar as hard as she possibly could. The collar soared towards Mr. Florenzi, opened up and clamped around the rat's neck. Mr. Florenzi gagged and choked as the collar closed around his neck and sent a surge of energy up his veins. He fell onto his hands and knees and coughed heavily. Wilson was a little startled at that sudden turn of events but he was grateful nonetheless. Mr. Florenzi picked up his sword and he tried to swing it but due to the collar weakening him, he couldn't even do that properly. Wilson effortlessly knocked the sword out of Mr. Florenzi's hand and he forced him onto the floor. He pointed one of the spinning blade's two blades at him.

"You can stay there you vile beast!" snarled Wilson "You are going to pay for your crimes against Mobian kind!"

Sonic, Tails and Cosmo stood over the subdued Mr. Florenzi with an exchange of angry forces.

"Not so tough when your own collar is used on you eh ratty boy?" sneered Sonic.

"Gloat all you want you ingrates!" snapped Mr. Florenzi "You have not seen the last of me! I'll get my revenge, you see if I don't!"

"Oh I think this will be the last we've seen of you." said Sonic smugly "Now if you'll excuse me, I have a pink hedgehog named Amy to save. Tails, Cosmo and Wilson, you three stay there and make sure those three get put behind bars, I'm going to save Amy from becoming a robot!"

"OK Sonic." said Tails.

"No problem buddy." said Wilson, pointing the blade closer to Mr. Florenzi's face.

Sonic ran out of the mansion and revved his feet up. He charged off at top speed and rocketed through the quiet forests of Green Hill Zone like a speeding bullet. The moment Sonic left, Cosmo ran over to a telephone that was mounted on the wall and she dialled 911 into it. She put the phone to her ear and waited for someone to answer it.

"Hello, this is the Mobian Police Department of Empire City." boomed the voice of Melchett the Hedgehog "What's the crime?"

"Hello officer." said Cosmo politely "We have three criminals subdued and awaiting arrest. Can you come around and pick them up please?"

"Sure I can Miss." said Melchett "Where are they and who are they?"

"The lead criminal is a fat rat in a tuxedo with a thin moustache and neat black hair." said Cosmo, looking at Mr. Florenzi to make sure her descriptions of him were accurate "And his two minions are a pair of lizards wearing shoes and gloves. One has three horns and the other has just one. They're in a fancy, wealthy mansion that's red on the outside."

"I know who those three are!" gasped Melchett on the other side of the phone "They're Mr. Florenzi and his two servants Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza! Me and him are good mates and Mr. Florenzi hasn't got an evil bone in his body! He can't possibly have committed a crime of any sort!"

"If you don't believe me then he'll tell you himself when you arrive." said Cosmo "I don't think you'll be happy with what he has to say."

"I'll be there as soon as I can miss and I do sincerely hope you're not pulling my leg!" warned Melchett, hanging up.

Cosmo put the phone back on the wall.

"I'll never confess my crimes to that impudent oaf Melchett!" yelled Mr. Florenzi "So you can lose all hope of turning me in you little brat!"

Cosmo folded her arms and scowled at him. She hated being called a brat, especially by an evil person since it sounded more horrible then when an ordinary person calls someone a brat.

"More like you can lose all hope of being a free man." said Wilson darkly "If you won't confess then I'll FORCE you to confess!" he growled, pushing his blade closer to the rat's neck.

Mr. Florenzi didn't say another word, he just remained where he was, defeated and subdued.

"Now the evil rat guy's down, all we can do is hope Sonic can save Amy in time." said Tails.

"I hope he does too." said Cosmo with a look of despair "Although I'm not sure if he'll make it."

"He won't make it!" cried Mr. Florenzi "Robotropolis is miles away from here and my horse servants haven't arrived back yet so if a fast, hi-tech, luxurious hover-car hasn't returned from a trip to Robotropolis yet then Sonic has no chance of getting there in time to save Amy, even with super speed!"

"WILL YOU KEEP QUIET!" yelled Wilson, Tails and Cosmo in unison.

Mr. Florenzi scowled and shut up. All Wilson, Tails and Cosmo could do now is wait for Melchett to come and pick up Mr. Florenzi and his henchmen and hope with all their might that Sonic would save Amy before she could get roboticized…

Meanwhile, Dr. Eggman had set up the roboticizer chamber and Amy had been sealed in a Diamond Glass cage so if Sonic did make it in time, he wouldn't be able to break the cage and get Amy out. Amy was completely trapped with no hope of ever escaping. Amy stood in the cage with her hands pressed against the glass as she watched Dr. Eggman work away like a maniac. Every second that ticked by made Amy grow more and more frightened. She was seconds away from being roboticized and there seemed to be no chance of help arriving for her. Dr. Eggman pressed a button on the control pad and the roboticizer started up, waiting for Eggman to punch in the killer command and roboticize its victim. Dr. Eggman looked over his shoulder and smiled evilly at Amy.

"I hope you've enjoyed being organic Amy." said Eggman in a dark voice "Because from this day forward, you'll be a glorious Robian for my glorious robot army! Since I'm feeling generous, I'll let you speak your last words. So what are they?" he asked, putting his hand to his ear mockingly and waiting for Amy to speak.

"I may get roboticized Eggman but you still haven't won yet." said Amy "Sonic will beat you and your precious robot army and save me from being a robot! And I hope this process will be quick and painless." she added.

"Oh don't worry Amy, you won't feel a thing." said Dr. Eggman with a big smile on his face "The process is very quick and very painless. It'll be over before you know it! Now let's begin shall we?"

"Whenever you're ready tubby." said Amy grimly.

She was just keen to get this over with already since she'd lost all hope of being rescued. Dr. Eggman obeyed her wishes and he started the roboticizer with the flick of the switch.

Outside, Sonic came rocketing towards the city at top speed. Sonic didn't often go at top speed but when he did, he was too fast for words and he was impossible to catch or stop at this speed. Sonic found himself running towards the iron-gates that were too strong for him to knock down. Not that that mattered since he could easily leap over the gates in one tremendous leap. When running at top speed, Sonic could leap very, very, VERY far. In fact, Sonic could leap over a football pitch when running at top speed! Sonic jumped into the air just inches in front of the iron-gates and hurled over the gates and half-way across Robotropolis. He landed on the ground and ran up to Eggman's headquarters that stood tall and proud in the centre of the grand robotical metropolis. Any robot that tried to shoot him missed completely due to how fast Sonic was moving. Sonic jumped into the air again and landed in front of the headquarters. He ran straight up the building and headed towards the window.

Inside the building, Amy's cage glowed a bright ominous blue flash and electricity began to surround the top of the cage and make its way downwards towards Amy. Amy cried a single tear as she awaited her doom. Dr. Eggman began grinning and hopping about in excitement. He never felt this excited since the time he roboticized Sonic. But all that excitement was about to end. Sonic had reached the window to the headquarters and he smashed through it with a powerful spin-dash. Dr. Eggman stopped hopping about with excitement and he stared in shock at the sudden arrival of Sonic the Hedgehog in his base. Sonic landed straight in front of Amy's cage and his eyes widened in horror. Amy had been engulfed in bright blue electricity that circled around and around. This was the first stage of the roboticization process.

"No! NO! I can't be too late!" he cried.

Desperately, he spin-dashed the cage but he didn't so much as scratch it due to the fact it was Diamond Glass. Dr. Eggman laughed at the hedgehog's failed attack.

"You'll never save your precious Amy Sonic!" he jeered "The cage is made of Diamond Glass! You'll never break her out of it!"

"Well if I can't break Amy out then I'll have to switch the machine off and save her that way!" yelled Sonic.

He homing-attack Eggman in the stomach and sent him hurtling away from the control panel. With Eggman out of the way, Sonic consulted the control panel frantically. He found the switch that turned the roboticizer on and he pulled it backwards desperately. The cage stopped glowing and the electricity disappeared into thin air. Amy collapsed in a heap on the floor. Sonic pressed a button on the control panel and just as he'd hoped, the cage opened, freeing Amy. Sonic ran to Amy's side and knelt down beside her. He ripped Amy's control collar off her neck and threw it away. The roboticization process had left Amy slightly burnt and scarred but she appeared to be OK at the most. Sonic stared at the passed out Amy and prayed she was alright. Dr. Eggman got back to his feet and he grumbled to himself.

"Curse that Sonic and his infernal interference!" he ranted "I came this close to roboticizing Amy and he interferes with everything!"

Sonic scooped Amy up bridal style and he glared at Eggman.

"I'm only here for Amy Eggman." he said slowly "I'm outta here now but I'll be back to trump your robot army. Goodbye for now."

Sonic leaped through the broken window and he landed on a nearby building roof. All the Eggman robots spotted Sonic and Amy and they tried to shoot him but every shot that had been fired missed completely. Sonic leapt from rooftop to rooftop whilst holding tight to Amy and dodging the shooting robots. One robot almost got Sonic on the leg but it only just missed him by an inch and Sonic leapt onto the next building. Sonic leapt off the building and onto a stack of barrels that were full of toxic substances. He knocked the stack over and leapt onto another building. The barrels all came crashing down onto the ground and the lethal liquid stored inside them spilled everywhere. The liquid was corrosive and literally dissolved anything organic or metal that touched it. The robots all scrambled backwards to avoid the deadly liquid that came trailing towards them. Sonic leapt off a building and on top of the gates. He leapt off the gates and onto the ground. Now he was out of Robotropolis, he ran off as fast as he could so he and Amy would be a safe distance from Dr. Eggman and Sonic could see if Amy is alright. As for Dr. Eggman, he scowled at his failure and he watched Sonic disappear into the horizon.

"Someday, I'll get that infernal hedgehog." he swore to himself.

After a while of running, Sonic ground to a halt and he put Amy down on the ground. Sonic had run so far away from Robotropolis, he couldn't see it anymore. Sonic looked down at Amy and hoped she would wake up. He knew what was coming the moment she woke up but he didn't care about that. All that mattered to him now was if Amy was alright. Sonic shook Amy gently. Amy still didn't move or show any signs of life. Sonic shook her a little harder.

"Wake up Amy!" he begged "You can't die on me just narrowly after I save you! Wake up!"

Amy still didn't move. Sonic shook her harder. As he shook her, a horrible feeling began to creep over him. What if stopping the roboticization process ended up killing her instead of saving her? That would mean Sonic had just unintentionally killed Amy while trying to save her and Sonic would never be able to live this down. Sonic stopped shaking Amy and he stared at her despairingly. Amy didn't seem to be waking up any moment soon. Even worse, it seemed as if she would never wake up. Then suddenly, just as Sonic had lost hope of Amy ever waking up, the pink hedgehog began to stir a little. Sonic's eyes widened and his heart leapt with a glimmer of hope. Amy sat up and opened her eyes, moaning a little. She saw that she was lying next to her hero Sonic the Hedgehog and just seeing him with her brought new strength to the frazzled hedgehog. Amy threw her arms around Sonic and began wailing uncontrollably.

"Oh Sonic! You saved me!" she cried "Oh thank you Sonic! I'm so, so, so sorry I got myself into this mess! I'm so terribly sorry Sonic!"

She began crying into the hedgehog's fur and Sonic put his arm around Amy. He patted her softly in the back.

"It's alright Amy." said Sonic "You're safe now, that's all that matters."

"I know I am." snivelled Amy "But it was stupid of me to abandon Tails and Cosmo and try to follow a robo-cam to Robotropolis so I can capture Eggman! I hope you're not too angry with me Sonic but if you are, please don't chastise me too much!"

"I'm not pleased with what you did Amy." said Sonic sternly "And I hope this experience has taught you a lesson."

"It has!" blurted Amy "If I wanna win you over, I should just be myself. I shouldn't try to do anything amazing or fantastic to impress you, I should just be who I wanna be, and I wanna be me, Amy Rose, friend of Sonic's and defender of Mobius alongside you and the Royal Fighters."

Sonic hadn't expected an answer like that but he was impressed at how Amy wanted to mature herself and make up for this whole ordeal so quickly.

"That's cool Amy." said Sonic "If you keep that in mind then you'll never get into scrapes like that again."

"Can we go back to Green Hill Zone so Tails and Cosmo can see I'm OK?" asked Amy.

"No problem." said Sonic "They're at the mansion where the rat who sold you to Dr. Eggman lives. They and Wilson have the rat and his lizard friends beaten and subdued so you can give them a good telling off."

"Boy will I give that Mr. Florenzi a good telling off!" said Amy crossly "I wanna pound his head in for almost getting me roboticized!"

Without realizing it, Amy summoned her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand and began swinging it around madly. Amy stopped what she was doing and stared in surprise at her hammer as if she'd never used it before.

"I can use my hammer again!" she said happily "Then that means…"

She felt her neck and to her delight, felt no control collar there.

"I broke that thing while you were passed out." said Sonic "Clever of that Mr. Florenzi or whatever that rat's name is to put one on you so you can't hammer his or Eggman's head in."

"It was." said Amy "Now can we get going to Green Hill Zone?"

"Sure." said Sonic, scooping Amy up bridal style and preparing to run "Let's go!"

He charged off at top speed and shot off into the distance faster then a speeding bullet.

Sonic and Amy arrived at Mr. Florenzi's mansion only to find a splendid scene before them. Three police hover cars were parked outside the mansion and Mr. Florenzi was being shoved into one by General Chipper, Melchett's helper and one of the head officers of the police force. Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza were shoved into a police car by Melchett's assistant Big Dave the Gopher. He laughed goofily at the arrested criminals. Even Darren and Timothy, the two horses that delivered Amy to Robotropolis were bundled into a police car. They were technically part of the crime so they were under arrest too. Melchett just stood there, fuming to himself.

"Possession of an illegal invention." he said, scowling at the control collar around Mr. Florenzi's neck "Kidnapping innocents and selling them to Dr. Eggman for profits, which is all fake money." he added, holding up a coin and glaring at it "Three crimes committed at once! I doubt you'll ever taste freedom again my old friend!" he growled.

"Oh shut up you idiot!" snapped Mr. Florenzi.

"You shut up you cold-hearted criminal!" snapped Melchett "Take him away General Chipper, I'll join you in a moment."

"Yes sir." said General Chipper, getting into the car and driving away.

Sonic and Amy watched as Mr. Florenzi was driven away by General Chipper and off to jail where he belonged. Amy just smiled.

"Good riddance to bad rubbish!" she said "That creep deserves to be in a prison cell!"

"I don't know how I can thank you and your friends Sonic." said

Melchett in an oddly kind tone of voice, a tone of voice not often used by him "I've been trying to track down the source of the disappearing civilians for weeks and thanks to you, he'll be doing long hard time."

"Don't mention it Melchy." said Sonic "I'm just doing what I do best, busting crime and defeating enemies."

Melchett smiled at Sonic and got into his police car.

"Good luck with your ongoing conflict with Dr. Eggman." he said "I look forward to the day you bring him down and I get to arrest him and lock him away forever."

"I look forward to that too." said Sonic.

Melchett nodded and drove away. Big Dave climbed into his car and he drove away. The two police cars disappeared into the distance. Sonic and friends were alone at the foot of Mr. Florenzi's mansion.

"Well today's been not bad." said Sonic "We've busted another evil-doer and he's going behind bars where he belongs."

"And you saved Amy from getting roboticized." said Tails "I'm amazed you made it."

"I'm thankful he made it." said Cosmo, running up to Amy and giving her a hug "I would be horrified if you got roboticized Amy."

"I'm so sorry I abandoned you two." said Amy to Tails and Cosmo "I should have stayed with you and none of this would have happened."

"It's a good thing it happened though." said Wilson "Because of you, we busted the rat guy and stopped him from kidnapping any more Mobians and shipping them to Eggman to be roboticized so I think Amy's the one we should thank for all this."

"So you reckon that Mr. Florenzi got foiled because of me?" said Amy.

"Yes." said Wilson "You ran off and got caught by him which in turn, led us on the search for you and brought us here."

"So it looks like you did do something good after all Ames." said Sonic "Even though it would have been better if you didn't get caught and nearly roboticized."

"I know." said Amy "But still, that is kinda amazing how we got Mr. Florenzi busted because of me."

"By the way Amy." said Sonic "Since I'm feeling generous right now and I'm so relieved you're OK and I think we need some catching up to do on our friendship…do you wanna go on a date with me tomorrow?"

Everybody gasped in unison. Even Sonic himself was rather surprised he just asked that. Amy was so overwhelmed and so amazed by the fact her hero had just asked for her to go on a date with her, she almost went fan-girl crazy but she remembered that Sonic didn't want her acting like that since it annoyed him so she fought to keep her emotions under control.

"I…I don't know what to say." said Amy "I…I never thought you'd ever ask me that."

"I didn't either." said Sonic "I think it's about time me and you got better acquainted and all so I thought we could have a day out together."

"Well Sonic, I happily accept." said Amy with a cheerful smile on her face "I look forward to tomorrow."

"And I hope this date won't be one to regret." said Sonic glumly.

For some reason, he had this nagging feeling that he wasn't going to enjoy tomorrow much…

Two Dates Part 1

Story 48: Two Dates Part 1:No Days Off for the Heroic

Countdown to time change: 2

"Ohmigosh! Ohmigosh! Ohmigosh!" shrieked Amy uncontrollably as she burst into the home of fellow fighter and good friend Bunnie Rabbot "Bunnie, you'll never believe what Sonic's done!"

After being asked to go on a date with Sonic, Amy had been as high as a kite and as jumpy as a rabbit and had been running around screaming with excitement and telling her friends about the date such as Cream and Vanilla, Mariah the Medicine Cat and even Team Chaotix. Now she wanted to tell Bunnie about this since she and Bunnie were good friends and Amy thought she would be thrilled to know about this.

"What is it sugah?" asked Bunnie, a little bewildered by Amy's excitement "Ya'll seem awfully excited!"

"That's the point!" cried Amy "I AM excited! Sonic has offered to take me on a date tomorrow! Can ya believe that?"

"He what?" said Bunnie in surprise "Ah never knew sugah hog had that secret somebody he durn fancied. Ya'll are one lucky girl Amy."

"I know I am." said Amy dreamily, swooning about "I have a date with the hero of Mobius tomorrow! But there's just one thing, and that one thing is the reason I came to you for."

"Really?" said Bunnie "And here's me thinkin' you just wanted to tell me the good news. So what have ya'll really come to me for sugah?"

"I want tomorrow to be perfect for me and Sonic." said Amy, her excitement dying down and her face changing "But I'm a little worried about messing it up for him. I promised him I wouldn't act all fan-girly over him but what if I forget and do so? I'll ruin everything and Sonic will leave me. Do you have any tips?"

"Well ah think ya'll should just try to relax and take it easy." said Bunnie "If ya'll start feeling nervous and worried about messing up, try to focus yo mind on something else and ya'll will be just fine. Ah know all about dating from one ah had some time ago."

"You've been on a date before Bunnie?" said Amy in surprise.

"Ah have." said Bunnie, her ears dropped down in despair "But that was the only one. Shortly after the date, ah caught the person ah dated hanging out with another girl and he told me ah'd been played for a sap and he only hung out with me just so he could break mah heart. It broke my little ol' heart to think that he took me on a fabulous day out and then threw me in the dirt like that."

"Aw that's sad Bunnie." said Amy affectionately "How could anyone be so cruel and heartless?"

"Ah know." said Bunnie "But ah've moved on now and ah'm happy being single, ah don't have time for dating what with all that fighting against Eggman and his robot army. Ah'm kinda surprised sugah-hog's found a minute or two to hang out with ya."

"Yeah, days-off aren't easy to get these days so me and Sonic best make the most of it tomorrow." said Amy "And if Eggman dares to ruin it, I'll show him how furious I can get!" she added furiously, clenching her fists.

"Ah'm sure Eggman won't come anywhere near you and Sonic on you're little ol' date tomorrow." said Bunnie "Ah'm sure you and him will have a wonderful time."

"I'm sure we will too Bunnie." said Amy "And I'll take your advice for granted so I don't mess up Bunnie."

But Amy wouldn't have to worry about messing up on the date, she'd have to worry about a certain fat-man coming in and causing havoc while she and Sonic tried to have their date…

Meanwhile in Green Hill Zone, Sonic was sitting on the sofa twiddling his thumbs and deep in thought. Tails was drawing concept designs for his next big invention that he may or may not build to use to fight Eggman with. Tails wasn't having much luck though. None of his ideas seemed plausible or certain they were going to work. Tails screwed up his piece of paper and he threw it in the wastepaper bin under his desk. Since his mind wasn't really focused on his inventions now, he decided to see how Sonic was. He got up from his desk and wandered over to the sofa Sonic sat on. Sonic was so deep in thought, he appeared to be frozen. He didn't move a muscle and he didn't even bat an eyelid. He didn't even appear to be breathing.

"Sonic, are you alright?" asked Tails "You look completely phased out."

Sonic snapped back into reality and looked at Tails who was sitting next to him.

"I'm thinking." said Sonic "Thinking about the date tomorrow."

"Are you?" said Tails "What are you thinking about?"

"I'm thinking about how I can make this a perfect day for Amy and how it won't be a boring one for me." said Sonic "But I really don't have much of an idea on how everything's gonna work out. I almost wish I never asked Amy to go on a date now."

"Well if you're not pleased with yourself for doing so, why did you even ask Amy to go on a date with you in the first place?" asked Tails

"I thought about how much Amy cares for me and how I don't seem to take her affections for granted." said Sonic "It seems kinda mean of me so I felt I owed her at least one chance. Not to mention she impressed me with how quickly she'd learnt her lesson after almost getting roboticized so I felt I should give her credit for that."

"Well that's really nice to hear that you do care for Amy." said Tails "I bet she'd love to hear that."

"I bet she would." said Sonic "But whereas Amy has no trouble admitting her feelings for me, I do. Amy's cute and a little pretty but I just never have the courage to say those things to her. That's probably why I turn her down sometimes, because I'm too shy to admit how I really feel about Amy."

"I know how you feel." said Tails "I'm too shy to admit my true feelings for Cosmo and I keep wishing and wishing I had the courage I needed to show Cosmo how I feel for her."

"You have the hots for Cosmo?" said Sonic, raising an eyebrow of surprise "How long have you been fancying her then? I never noticed you had a thing for Cosmo."

"I've…been feeling this way about her since the day we met her*." said Tails bashfully, his muzzle went bright red "But I've never been able to show her my affections, I'm just too shy."

"Me and you have one thing in common big guy." said Sonic casually "We're too shy to admit our feelings for the girls we fancy. Well this could be your chance to get your relationship with Cosmo off the ground." he suddenly said "You and Cosmo could have a date while I have my date with Amy. And after we've had our dates, we can tell each other how they went and if we managed to get over our nervousness."

"I go on a date with Cosmo while you have yours?" repeated Tails unsurely "I dunno, aren't I and Cosmo a little young to be going on dates? I mean, we're only kids, we're not even ten years old yet, aren't dates for older people like you Sonic?"

"Y….yes really." said Sonic "But by "date" I mean you two just have a nice day by yourselves with no one else around. Think of it as a friendly outing."

"Yeah, me and Cosmo will have a friendly outing while you and Amy have your date." said Tails "I have an idea as to where me and Cosmo can go. Do you have any idea on what to do on your date Sonic?"

"I'll just take Amy out for dinner and for a walk around the Lake of Rings." said Sonic "I'll make sure we make to the Lake of Rings in time to see the ring of the day appear so Amy gets something beautiful to look at. I hope she'll be happy with that."

"I'm sure she will." said Tails "Just being with you will make Amy happy. I just hope Cosmo will be willing to spend the day with me."

"Don't sweat it Tails, she'll join you." said Sonic "And I wish you luck with Cosmo tomorrow."

"I wish you luck with Amy tomorrow." said Tails.

The two Mobians gave each other a friendly fist punch for good luck. Little did the hedgehog and fox know is their dates would be dates to remember and not your average date by any means…

The next day arrived, bright and sunny. Just the perfect weather for taking someone out on a date. Sonic had spent most of the morning making sure he was nice and clean and well groomed so he wouldn't go on the date looking like a scruff. Tails had been just the same for his day with Cosmo and not only had he cleaned and groomed himself, he also polished his shoes for no particular reason; he just wanted to look nice for Cosmo. Sonic didn't really see the point of Tails' polished shoes but he said nothing about it. Before they went on their respective dates, Sonic and Tails decided to wish each other luck for today.

"How do I look Sonic?" asked Tails.

Sonic looked Tails all over. The fox looked well groomed and cleaned to say the least and his shoes were polished to the point he could see his face in them.

"You look just fine." said Sonic "You have a splodge of oil behind your ear that you missed."

"I do?" cried Tails "How? I washed my fur a good few times over this morning!"

Sonic burst out laughing at his frantic friend.

"I'm just kidding Tails! Don't be such a drama queen!" laughed

Sonic.

"Well don't do that!" whined Tails "I'm really nervous now and you kidding about me having dirt patches anywhere is not helping!"

"Sorry bud." said Sonic "I was just having a bit of fun that's all."

"It's OK Sonic, I know you're a joker at heart." said Tails softly "How are you feeling now?"

"Almost like I wish this date wasn't really happening now." said Sonic "But I'm gonna keep it cool and play along with it. I'm sure this date won't be so bad once I get into it."

"Good luck on your date with Amy." said Tails.

"Good luck on your date with Cosmo." said Sonic with a cheeky grin.

With that said, Sonic and Tails left the house and Sonic ran off to Knothole to pick up Amy. Tails remained where he was and waited for Cosmo to appear so he could ask her if she wanted to spend the day with him. Cosmo had spent the morning out in the forest and said she'd be back by noon and according to Tails' watch, it was noon now so Cosmo would be returning soon. After thirty seconds of waiting, Tails saw the familiar flowery figure of Cosmo coming out of the forests of Green Hill Zone and singing merrily to herself. Tails sighed dreamily at her. Cosmo sang like an angel and her singing voice had put him into some kind of spellbound trance. Tails stared at Cosmo with his eyes half closed, a grin on his face and his arms drooping by his side. Cosmo did a lovely little ballerina twirl as she got closer to Tails. She was one happy Seedrian right now and Tails liked that. Hopefully, he could make her even happier on this date. Cosmo stopped singing and wondered up to Tails.

"Hi Tails." she said.

Tails didn't answer. He was still stuck in his trance.

"Tails?" said Cosmo "Are you alright? What's the matter with you?"

Tails suddenly realized he was being an idiot and he snapped out of his trance. He shook his head furiously to focus his mind back on reality.

"Oh nothing's the matter Cosmo." said Tails quickly "I'm fine, I just enjoyed your singing voice that's all."

Tails could hardly believe those words had just come out of his mouth and he went bright red in the face.

"You liked my singing voice?" said a very flattered Cosmo "Oh thank you Tails, I've never had a compliment on my singing voice from anyone other then my mother."

"You're welcome Cosmo." said Tails, fiddling about with his tails "So uh…ahem!…are you doing anything…um…right now Cosmo?"

"Not right now why?" asked Cosmo.

"Well I've not really got plans for today and since you're not doing anything either I thought maybe me and you could…spend the…day at Stardom Valley?" said Tails, trying not to trip over his words as he spoke.

"Sure, I'd love to spend a day out with you." said Cosmo happily "What's Stardom Valley like?"

Tails resisted the urge to cheer and dance about like a maniac and answered Cosmo's question "Stardom Valley is a village similar to Knothole only larger and it's said to have lovely parks that people can walk around in. Do you like walks in the park?"

"I'm over the moon for a walk in the park." said Cosmo happily "So peaceful and so full of nature, it's impossible for me not to enjoy one."

"Well when we get to Stardom Valley we can have a walk in the park and then grab a soda afterwards." said Tails, finding it hard to believe his good luck right now.

"That sounds like the perfect day out." said Cosmo "I think I'm going to enjoy today."

I KNOW I'm going to enjoy today! thought Tails excitedly.

"Shall we go then?" asked Tails.

"Of course." said Cosmo "I'm dying to see the parks now."

She held Tails' hand and the two began walking off, hand in hand. Just holding Cosmo's hand made Tails grin like an idiot. He didn't think Cosmo would be as willing as this to spend the day with him, she obviously like him a lot more then he thought. If that was the case then…maybe…she loved him as much as he loved her…?

Meanwhile, Sonic arrived at Knothole in record time and he skidded to a halt. He walked through the village since he didn't want to be scaring anybody by whizzing past at supersonic speed. It didn't take him long to find Amy's pink and red house, the house stuck out like a sore thumb since all the other houses in Knothole were yellow and brown. Sonic knocked on Amy's door and waited for her to answer. Sonic took a deep breath and murmured to himself.

"Relax Sonic, just take it easy. Everything's gonna work out."

The door opened and there stood (who else?) Amy Rose looking very pleased to see her hero standing on her doorstep. So she looked nice on their date, Amy had put on her usual rosy fragrance spray to make herself smell nice and she tied a bow into her quills. The bow was just behind her ear. Sonic looked at her and smiled at Amy without knowing it. Secretly, he thought that bow on her head made her look cute but he couldn't find the urge to say the very words.

"Hi Sonic, I guess we're ready for our date." said Amy cheerfully "How do I look?"

"You look…um…"

Sonic tried his hardest to force the word out but he couldn't quite get his mouth to say it.

"You look…lovely." he just managed to convince himself to say "And that sweet smelling fragrance is a really nice touch." he added, smelling the air and catching the scent of Amy's fragrance.

"Thank you." said Amy with a flattered giggle "I put the fragrance on because I thought it'd be nice if I smelt nice. So what are you plans for this date my handsome hero?"

Sonic fought hard to keep himself from blushing. He failed. Must Amy start with the pet names again? He hoped she wouldn't keep it up throughout the day otherwise he'd never make it!

"I thought we could go out for lunch and then have a walk to the Lake of Rings." said Sonic "Does that sound good?"

"That sounds like the perfect day." said Amy "I especially love the Lake of Rings. I hope we get there in time to see the ring of the day pop up. It's so magical and spell-bounding when it happens."

"You must have read my mind Amy." laughed Sonic "Because I was going to time the walk carefully so we would get there by three, the time the ring of the day appears so we'll be there in plenty of time to see it."

"So are we ready?" asked Amy excitedly.

"Ready when you are." said Sonic.

The two hedgehogs held hands and they walked away from Amy's house and through the village of Knothole. Everybody stopped and stared at them. Sonic began to feel uncomfortable. Must everybody stop and stare at him and Amy? If they started making a fuss about this, he would go mad. Amy could sense how Sonic was feeling so she decided to do something about it.

"People, please don't stare at us, you're embarrassing Sonic." she requested.

Everybody understood the message and they stopped staring at Sonic and Amy. Sonic breathed a sigh of relief.

"Thanks Amy." said Sonic "I was about to drop dead with embarrassment with all these people looking at me."

"You're welcome Sonic." said Amy "I don't want anyone spoiling this day for us."

As they walked through Knothole, they passed the house of Mariah the Medicine Cat, Knothole's local hero and medicine magician. She poked her head out of the window and watched Sonic and Amy walking hand in hand past her house and further on through Knothole. She smiled with joy at the two hedgehogs.

"I blinked and Amy grew up." she said to herself "First she was a tiny little thing and now she's a teenager on a date with Sonic the Hedgehog. Time really does fly doesn't it? I wish I had myself a man when I was younger. Oh well, I had my chance and I lost it. For now, I hope everything goes right for the two darling hedgehogs."

But nothing would go right, not for Sonic and not even for Tails…

Tails and Cosmo finally arrived at Stardom Valley. The village was just as lovely looking as Tails remembered it from a visit to the village long ago. As Tails and Cosmo walked through the village, they observed and admired their surroundings. The village was as lively and cheery looking as Knothole. Everybody seemed friendly and everybody seemed to be a happy little soul. Cosmo beamed. Stardom Valley was reminding her a little of home, her home was full of friendly and happy people just like Stardom Valley was. Tails took a quick glance at Cosmo and was pleased to see her smiling.

"Wow, you like it already." he said "I didn't think you'd grow a likeness for Stardom Valley so quickly."

"This village seems so happy it's making me happy." said Cosmo "It reminds me of the happy days back home. Before the war started…" she suddenly added glumly.

"Let's not think about that now." said Tails, trying to put Cosmo's worries to the side "Let's not worry about the war on your planet or Marik the Martian or anything. We're gonna have a nice day in the park and nothing is going to spoil it."

"You're right." said Cosmo "I should let my worries rest for a moment or I'll spoil this nice day you planned for us."

"That's a good idea." said Tails with a smile "Now where's that park? I'm sure I remember where it is."

He and Cosmo continued walking through the village while Tails tried to find where the park was. Then suddenly, Cosmo heard something rustle through the nearby forest. She stood still and listened again. Tails realized Cosmo had stopped in her tracks and he looked over his shoulder to see what was wrong.

"Cosmo? Why have you stopped?" he asked.

"I heard something." said Cosmo "In there." She pointed at the nearby woodland.

Tails began to despair. The date hadn't begun and already something was going on. Couldn't fate leave him alone for one day? Before Tails could stop her, Cosmo ran into the woods and pushed her way through a bush. Tails immediately chased after her. He didn't want Cosmo to start searching through the woods in fear of something bad happening. He began wondering if the thing Cosmo heard was Marik the Martian rustling through the bushes and waiting to pounce. Cosmo pushed her way through another bush and saw something lying down on all fours next to a tree. To Tails' relief, it was not Marik, it wasn't even a Martian, it was a Mobian but a very peculiar looking Mobian indeed. The Mobian was a blue cat like creature about ten years old with a long, striped tail and purple stripes on its head. It had ocean blue eyes, a white muzzle and its whiskers pointed up instead of down like Tails' did. It had a white belly and it wore purple gloves and purple boots. It also wore a purple collar around its neck. Whatever it wore that for was a mystery to the two of them. This Mobian was definitely a strange looking one and Cosmo wanted to know more about it. Cosmo crept up quietly to the stranger, reached out her hand and lightly stroked his back. The stranger immediately flinched and ran around to the other side of the tree, causing Cosmo to quickly withdraw her hand. Tails wondered what was the matter and he tried to creep up to the stranger and ask him. But the moment he got close, the stranger moved quickly away from him. Tails followed him but the stranger kept moving away from him.

"Tails, please stop doing that, you're scaring him." said Cosmo.

"I don't see why I'm scaring him." said Tails "I'm nothing to be scared of."

The stranger had had enough of Tails trying to catch him so he pointed at him with his gloved finger and blasted the twin-tailed fox in the face with a jet of water. Tails yelped as he was knocked off his feet by the powerful jet of water. It felt like someone using a hose pipe on him at full blast. This stranger obviously had water powers, a trait not often seen amongst Mobian kind. After the stranger stopped squirting Tails, Cosmo crept slowly up to him.

"Don't be scared." she said softly, holding her hands up ready to defend herself if the stranger squirted water at her "We won't hurt you. We're good people, honest we are."

The stranger seemed to settle down a bit after Cosmo talked to him. The stranger's eyes widened and he got up onto his feet and he slowly started to walk up to Cosmo. It was as if he'd never seen a girl before. He'd obviously never seen a Seedrian before since Seedrians don't live on Mobius but he didn't seem bothered about that, he seemed entranced by Cosmo's strange but beautiful appearance.

"Well…my luck has changed already." said the stranger, his voice was rather teenage sounding "I escape from two horrible Mobians and I come across a creature more beautiful then my eyes have ever set themselves on. I didn't think post Chun-Nan life would be so bad."

He held Cosmo's hands and stared dreamily into her beautiful blue eyes. Cosmo stared back, not sure what to say. Tails picked himself up, shook himself dry and began to fume in anger at what was happening right now. He'd finally gotten the chance to have a date with Cosmo and a total stranger goes and steals her from him! Well no way was he letting him!

"Your eyes are as beautiful as mine." said the stranger "Blue eyes always look the prettiest I always say. Now may I have the pleasure of knowing your name pretty one? I bet it's as beautiful as your face."

Cosmo blushed scarlet and giggled a flattered giggle.

"Hee! Hee! Hee! You're so charming stranger." she said "I'm flattered by your comments. And in answer to your question, my name is Cosmo. What's yours?"

"I am Ruben the Water Panther." said the stranger, pointing straight up and squirting a thin jet of water out of his finger as if his hand was a faucet "Water Panthers are a proud race originating from Chun-Nan and we use our watery powers for good purposes, never evil ones."

"Well my name is Tails." said Tails, butting in on Ruben and Cosmo "And me and Cosmo are going on a walk together. Nice to meet you Ruben, bye, bye." he added, quickly steering Cosmo away from Ruben and walking away.

"Wait! Two-tails!" Ruben called to Tails.

He aimed his hands at the ground and shot himself into the air with a gush of water. He soared through the air in a rainbow arch and he landed in front of Tails and Cosmo. The two were impressed with that sudden act.

"Are you the two-tailed boy who aids the legendary Sonic the Hedgehog in his adventures?" asked Ruben.

"I am." said Tails "Why?"

"Since you are friends with Sonic the Hedgehog, I'm hoping you can help me with something." said Ruben.

Tails didn't really want to help a complete stranger that was trying to steal his girlfriend with anything but it wasn't in his nature to put down any requests for help. Plus Sonic would have done the same thing if he was here so Tails decided to see what Ruben wanted.

"Somewhere in these woods, two horrible people are holding captive Mobians in metal cages and they're treating them very horribly." explained Ruben "I was unfortunate enough to be one of their captives but I escaped and now I seek help. If you can help me free the other Mobians, I'll be as happy as a gentle flowing river."

"So if I understood you correctly, two people are holding some Mobians captive and treating them horribly?" said Tails "Like slaves?"

"Yes, like slaves." said Ruben "And those two people have everything, including whips. They really hurt and the scars they leave are hideous."

He turned around and showed them a long, pink scar he had on his back. Before Ruben escaped, he had been whipped plenty of times and the constant whipping left that long scar on his back. He wouldn't even have been scarred if he hadn't been whipped constantly. Cosmo gasped and put her hands to her mouth in shock.

"That's awful!" cried Cosmo "How can anyone be so cruel?"

"No idea Cosmo." said Ruben "We've got to help those Mobians before they spend the rest of their lives in slavery and torture."

"Something doesn't add up here." said Tails "Why are those two people holding Mobians captive and treating them like slaves?"

"I think they stated their reason but I'm not quite sure what it was." said Ruben, trying to remember "But that doesn't matter, we have Mobians to save from a horrible treatment, follow me! I know where the site is!"

Ruben bent down on all fours and scampered off at lightening speed. Tails held Cosmo by the waist and he flew after the water panther. Tails was rather surprised at how fast Ruben could run. He was almost as fast as Sonic! Tails was a little disappointed his day had been interrupted but there were lives that needed attending to now and that was more important. He just wondered who was behind all this and why…

Meanwhile, Sonic and Amy had arrived at a lovely little restaurant in Empire City, the current residence of the people of Mobotropolis after its destruction. It wasn't a big restaurant but it was nice enough for two hedgehogs on a date. Sonic and Amy sat at their table, which was outside the restaurant, and ordered a couple of drinks. The waiter went into to the restaurant to prepare them their drinks. While they waited for their drinks, Sonic and Amy peered at the menus.

"They have a lot of good food at this place." said Amy "There's a lot of delicious looking meals on this menu."

"Yeah but there's no chilli-dogs, unfortunately." said Sonic glumly.

"Of course there's no chilli-dogs silly!" giggled Amy "This isn't a hot dog stand, this is a restaurant!"

"So? I've seen restaurants that serve hot dogs." said Sonic "Oh well, I'll try something else this time. Maybe the steak pie would be nice." he added as he glanced at the menu.

The waiter returned with their drinks on a tray and he put the tray down for them. Sonic had ordered a cool, refreshing class of cola and Amy had ordered a nice, sweet glass of lemonade. The two hedgehogs took their drinks and the waiter took the tray away.

"Are you two ready to order?" asked the waiter.

"Not yet, give us a few minutes." said Amy.

The waiter left and Amy glanced back at the menu. As Amy glanced at the menu, Sonic peered over the top of his so he could sneak a look at Amy. Had it never occurred to him how beautiful Amy looked? Maybe he spent so much time running and rushing around he hadn't had the time to look at Amy and admire her beauty. If only he was able to tell her this! In fact, Sonic even thought the words in his head but his mouth wasn't willing to say them so he remained quiet and continued to stare at Amy. Amy peeked up from her menu and noticed Sonic was looking at her.

"What are you looking at Sonic?" asked Amy.

"You." said Sonic, trying not to go all shy and embarrassed. Thank goodness his face was hidden by the menu so Amy couldn't seem him blushing.

"Why? Do I have a spot somewhere, do I look funny or am I doing something strange?" asked Amy worriedly.

"No, no!" cried Sonic, putting the menu down "I'm looking at you because…because…"

Come on! Say those words Sonic the Hedgehog! his brain told him.

"Because what?" asked Amy.

"Because…I…I can't help but admire how…p…p…pretty you look." Sonic managed to force himself to say. Just saying those words felt like he was just learning how to talk.

"You think I'm pretty Sonic?" said Amy, a little surprised at the fact Sonic had just said that to her "Wow, I never thought you'd ever say that to me."

"It took a lot of urging myself to say that." said Sonic "I've been wanting to say that to you for ages but I just couldn't find the courage to say those words to you."

"I never took you for the shy and nervous type Sonic." said Amy "You certainly never seem nervous in battle."

Sonic sipped some of his cola and put the glass back down on the table.

"There's nothing to be nervous about in battle." said Sonic "But dates are different. Unlike a battle where you don't have to worry about much, on a date you have a lot to worry about so that's why I'm never nervous in battle."

"If only I was as brave as you." said Amy in a down-hearted tone "When I'm in battle, I'm always nervous. Nervous about if I'm gonna make it out alive or not."

"It's OK to be nervous in battle." said Sonic "You don't have to be as brave as I am, as long as you have some courage in you, that's more then enough to get you through the battle in one piece."

"That's good advice." said Amy with a cute little smile on her face

"Thanks Sonic."

"You're welcome." said Sonic, about to take another sip of cola.

Then suddenly, without warning, the entire restaurant erupted into smoke, fire and debris and sent everybody flying everywhere. Sonic and Amy hurtled into the air like tossed stone. Sonic grabbed Amy into a hug to cushion her fall as they landed rather sharply on the ground. Sonic and Amy picked themselves up just in time to dodge a flying table that came down with a heavy crash and broke into pieces. Sonic and Amy were completely speechless. The whole restaurant had been brought to the ground and nothing remained of it. It was nothing more then a miserable, smoking remain with fire blazing and smoke billowing. Amy was so horrified at the fact she and Sonic almost got killed on their first date, she began shaking and her eyes brimmed with tears. Sonic put his arm around Amy to comfort her.

"This is awful!" cried Amy "The restaurant blew up and everybody inside is probably dead! And all on our first date too!"

She began to cry like there was no tomorrow. Sonic was pretty bewildered by the whole scene too. If he and Amy had sat inside… then they would have been killed too! How lucky were they to make it out alive by sitting outside the restaurant! But who did this and why? Was it Scourge the Hedgehog trying to kill him so he would have no competition when he fights for Castle Acorn? Was it Marik the Martian trying to get his own back on them for all they've done to him before? Or could it even be Lola Gunn, the bounty hunter skunk that tried to kill Tails before and she had been hired to assassinate Sonic? These various possibilities circled around Sonic's head but there was one person he never thought of. Dr. Eggman. Speaking of which, a huge machine hovered slowly through the billowing smoke from the destroyed restaurant. Sonic and Amy stared up at it in surprise. The machine was shaped like a dog only instead of legs, it had jet thrusters that kept it airborne and it had four cannons on its back. Its head concealed another cannon and its entire body armour was coloured a shiny silver. Sonic clenched his fists and gritted his teeth.

"Eggman!" he yelled "How did I not see you coming?"

"Greetings Sonic the Hedgehog and Amy Rose." Eggman's voice boomed from inside the dog-bot's head "I'm so sorry to interrupt your date but I just built a new machine, the one you're looking at right now, and I was looking for a good place to test its fire power on and I picked this place since it seemed just right. I must say, it was rather a strange coincidence that you happened to be there at the same time I tested Egg-Dog's fire power isn't it?"

"That was no coincidence you fat, hulking, lump of horridness!" screeched Amy, summoning her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand "You knew we were here, that's why you blew the restaurant up and killed everybody inside it! And I'm gonna make you pay for ruining our date!"

"You mean to tell me there were life forms in the restaurant?" said Dr. Eggman innocently "Oh dearie me! I'm so sorry, I had no idea there were Mobians in there. If I could do it all over again, I would have captured them and roboticized them!"

"That's it! You're gonna pay you sadist!" screamed Amy.

She was about to throw her hammer at Egg-Dog but Sonic stopped her.

"No Amy, you can't handle this." said Sonic "I'll deal with Egg-Butt."

"But I wanna help you kick his butt." moaned Amy.

"You can once I bring this thing crashing down." said Sonic "We'll show him what happens when he ruins our date!"

"I don't think that'll be happening Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "I have an old friend you must be dying to meet now, I know he's dying to meet you now!"

A compartment opened up under Egg-Dog and a robot came flying out of it. To Sonic's horror, it was none other then his insidious copy Metal Sonic! Eggman had repaired him from his damages done to him last time they tussled* and now Metal Sonic looked as mean and as bad as ever. Metal Sonic was the only foe Sonic had that he could never seem to defeat. Even fifteen Mobians at once were no match for Metal Sonic but Sonic was determined to finally destroy Metal Sonic once and for all.

"Hello Metal Sonic!" said Sonic in a cocky tone "How nice of you to show up! Get ready for a supersonic spin-dash to the face you metal faker!"

Sonic rolled into a ball and spin-dashed towards Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic dodged Sonic's attack and drop kicked him into the ground. Sonic hit the ground face first and groaned. Sonic just got back up to his feet but Metal Sonic came flying towards him and he knocked him over again. Then Metal Sonic whipped out a control collar and threw it at Sonic. The collar clamped around Sonic's neck and Sonic gagged. A surge of energy buzzed through Sonic's veins and he slumped on the ground. He felt weak and helpless now.

"A Control Collar?" cried Sonic "How did you get a control collar? Only Mr. Florenzi has one and I bet Melchett destroyed his entire supply after arresting him!"

"Mr. Florenzi gave me one the other day." said Dr. Eggman "And I forgot all about it until after Mr. Florenzi got arrested. So now I've remembered I have one, I took the perfect opportunity to bring it with me and get Metal Sonic to clamp it on you! How does it fell to be completely helpless Sonic the Hedgehog?"

"It feels lame Eggman." said Sonic "You tell Metal Sonic to get this thing off me so we can have a fair fight!"

"I don't play fair." said Dr. Eggman darkly "Metal Sonic, bring him to me now!"

Metal Sonic grabbed the weakened hedgehog by the arms and flew up to Egg-Dog with Sonic in tow. Amy got mad and she threw her hammer at Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic dodged the hammer and continued flying up. Egg-Dog's under compartment opened and Metal Sonic flew into it with Sonic in his claws. The compartment closed and Egg-Dog turned around and flew away. Amy watched in defeat as Egg-Dog began to fly away from sight. What a horrible day this had been! Her date with Sonic gets ruined by Eggman blowing the restaurant up and now Sonic gets kidnapped by him! Could things get any worse? They could do if Amy didn't do anything about it. If she just stood there and let Eggman get away, Eggman would deliver Sonic back to Robotropolis and roboticize him, therefore bringing the terror of Mecha Sonic back to Mobius!

"What am I gonna do?" wailed Amy "I can't save Sonic myself! Eggman's too good for me! I'm gonna need some help! And I think I know just the person to help me."

So Amy took off down the street as fast as her legs would let her to find Bunnie Rabbot. Amy prayed she was still at home. If Bunnie wasn't home then Amy would need to find other help but other help would be hard to come by and by the time she did find other help, Sonic would be roboticized and it would be too late…

Meanwhile, Ruben had led Tails and Cosmo very far into the woods of Stardom Valley and the three came to a halt by a hilltop. Ruben signalled for Tails and Cosmo to keep it down while he checked to see if he was in the right place. He crept ever so slowly up the hilltop, taking a careful step as he crept, trying not to make the slightest sound. Ruben then dropped down onto his stomach and crawled the rest of the way up with his ears drooped back. Ruben made it to the top of the hilltop and he signalled to Tails and Cosmo to come to him. Tails and Cosmo crept up the hill after him, trying to be as quiet as Ruben had been when he crept up the hill top. The moment they were at the top, Ruben signalled them to lie down and keep still. Tails and Cosmo did as they were told and they remained as still as statues.

"So what's going on Ruben?" asked Tails "Are we at the place were the Mobians are being held captive?"

"We are." whispered Ruben "This you see down there," he pointed at the bottom of the hilltop "Is the campsite of the slaves and the two ordering them about are their cruel masters Marcus and Celia Punch."

"Punch?" said Cosmo "That's an unusual name. Do they really punch people a lot?"

"They're punch by name and punch by nature sweet flower." said Ruben "That's all you need to know."

Tails fumed at him for calling Cosmo a pet name but Ruben didn't seem to notice. Tails and Cosmo looked in Ruben's direction and they saw, surely enough, a horrible sight at the bottom of the hilltop. The campsite had a lot of horrible metal cages and one tent. The cages were for the slaves and the tent was for the masters. The masters were a pair of dogs, one male and one female. The male dog wore an army green suit, heavy brown boots and his right eye was missing. He had a rather messy hairstyle, mainly because he never combed it, long floppy ears and he was really broad and stocky, suggesting he possessed great strength. The female dog was slim and fit in appearance. She wore an army green suit but her top didn't have sleeves and she wore shorts instead of trousers. Her ears were short and they pointed straight up and she had a cold witch's expression on her face, suggesting she was not very friendly at all. She always carried a whip and she had a sadistic fondness of whipping people. Their names were Marcus Punch and Celia Punch. The two dogs were training a group of slaves. This group was full of Mobians of many kinds. There were about two skunks, five ferrets, a weasel, three squirrels and four newts. They were all having to do push ups and they looked very tired and worn out as if they had been doing this all day. One of the newts was so tired, his muscles gave way and he slumped on the ground. This did not please Celia at all and she whipped the newt sharply on the back with her vicious weapon. The newt screamed a piercing scream that made Cosmo want to cry.

"Get up you lazy no good sack of pathetic-ness!" snarled Celia "If you want to work for our master Dr. Eggman, you have to be fit and healthy now keep on doing push ups or I'll get Marcus to break your arms and your legs! Isn't that right dear?" she purred to her husband.

"Of course!" said Marcus with an evil smile.

Marcus was a peculiar Mobian. Peculiar in the sense of how he only ever says "Of course!" No one was sure why he only ever says of course, not even Celia but she actually liked it so she didn't mind. The newt forced himself back onto his hands and feet and he began doing more push ups. Celia smiled a cruel, despicable smile.

"Why I get so much joy out of hurting others, I don't know." she said in a creepy voice "Maybe I just enjoy the way they scream when I whip them."

Tails' face contorted with rage and he clenched his fists. Cosmo just put her hands to her mouth, unable to believe how vile and evil this woman was and Ruben just pulled a sad face.

"That's horrible!" cried Cosmo "That woman happily whips people just for not doing their duties! How could she be so horrid to those poor, poor people?"

"I don't know." said Ruben "But Celia Punch is one evil woman and probably the most sadistic Mobian I've had the misfortune to know. And I know how that newt feels; I've been whipped by her before I escaped. I wonder if he'll have scares like mine on his back."

"Do they know you've escaped?" asked Cosmo, worried for Ruben's sake and well being.

"Unfortunately yes but the Punches can't be bothered to look for me." said Ruben "Anyone who escapes, they just dismiss as too cowardly and unfit to serve this Dr. Eggman person they work for so they don't bother with the escapees."

"Dr. Eggman?" said Tails, his ears pricking up "Did you say Dr. Eggman?"

"Yes little boy I did say Dr. Eggman." said Ruben "Is he someone you know?"

"Have you not heard of Dr. Eggman?" asked Tails "The man who builds robots, turns people into robots and is the one Sonic and the Royal Fighters Service are at war with?"

"I believe I've heard of him." said Ruben "But I haven't met him in person. I don't think Eggman's been anywhere near Chun-Nan since Chun-Nan's never experienced a robot attack from him."

"The people of Chun-Nan are lucky then." said Tails bitterly "I wonder why Eggman doesn't bother with Chun-Nan?"

"I think he's too focused on the big cities and more popular places to bother about Chun-Nan." said Cosmo.

"Never mind about that now." said Tails "If these two are working for Dr. Eggman then we've gotta do something about it! I'm gonna teach those two dogs a lesson!"

Tails twisted his tails around one another and he took off into the sky.

"No don't you ignorant pup!" yelped Ruben, trying to stop him but he was too late.

Tails was out of reach and heading towards Marcus and Celia Punch. Ruben thumped the ground angrily. Tails is gonna get himself captured if he's not careful! He couldn't use his water powers to stop Tails since if he did, he would get spotted and recaptured so he and Cosmo lay there helplessly as Tails headed for the evil dogs. The slave group had finished doing push ups at long last and they were relieved to get off their hands and feet and have a minute's sit down to rest up. The only thing was, once they'd rested, they'd be doing more exercise and it was pull-ups next. This was going to be more tiring and difficult then doing push ups. Celia tapped her hand with her whip as she waited for rest time to finish. Marcus's ears pricked up and he turned around to see what the noise was. Tails flew into Marcus's face and he landed foot first on his face. Marcus was knocked off his feet and onto the ground. Celia turned around sharply and her cold eyes widened at the sight of Tails standing over her downed husband. Tails glared up at Celia he flew into her. He knocked Celia over and caused her to drop the whip. Tails grabbed the whip and he threw it away. The slaves all watched with wonder and excitement, excitement in the sense someone had come to free them. Ruben watched the entire scuffle with interest.

"Maybe the kid isn't doomed after all." he said "I should know better then to underestimate the little ones."

After throwing the whip away Tails glowered at Marcus and Celia, who were just standing up after being knocked over. The two dogs growled at him but Tails wasn't intimidated the slightest by them.

"You two! Cut it out!" cried Tails "You can't mistreat these poor people! It's horrible and unfair! Those people don't deserve to be treated like this and you have no right to enslave them like this!"

"More like you have no right to tell us how we conduct ourselves!" snapped Celia "Isn't that right dear?" she purred to her equally angry husband.

"Of course!" bellowed Marcus.

"We were hired by the great scientist Dr. Eggman to enslave some Mobians, train them to perfection and then send them off to Eggman so they can become healthy, strong Robians for his robot army." explained Celia "And Eggman crosses my palm with cold hard cash afterwards. I've become richer then ever before and I won't let my beautiful alliance be sullied by a scrawny little brat like you!" she snarled, her eyes narrowing to a piercing, heart-stopping death glare.

"I'll show you how scrawny I am!" retorted Tails.

He flew into Celia and punched her in the face. The woman was knocked onto her back and she clutched her face. Tails was about to attack her again until Marcus stepped in and gave Tails a terrific uppercut that could make Marik the Martian jealous and Tails crashed into the Punches' tent. He went straight through the tent and left a giant gaping hole in it. The tent collapsed on top of Tails and he began to squirm around, trying to get out of the tent. Marcus stomped over to the tent and he plunged his hand into the fallen tent. He fumbled about in the tent for Tails and then suddenly something bit his finger as he was fumbling about. It was Tails and after biting Marcus's finger, he crawled out of the tent and left Marcus to blow on his sore finger. Tails ran over to the group of slaves that were watching the whole performance with great satisfaction on their miserable faces.

"Come with me everybody!" cried Tails "I'll save you all! Your masters are defeated and now's a good time to run!"

The abused and humiliated slaves did not wait to be asked twice. Tails ran for the hilltop with the entire group following him like a herd of zebras. Ruben and Cosmo were thrilled with the whole affair and were pleased to see Tails leading the group up the hill and to freedom.

"I have no idea how he managed but he did it!" exclaimed Ruben "The kid is fantastic! He's saved everybody!"

"He's a hero!" said Cosmo with joy "Oh Tails is so brave, selfless and wonderful I love him! I'm so grateful to him for his kind and selfless ways."

Ruben looked a little disappointed. He fancied Cosmo just as much as Tails did but Ruben was a sensible boy and didn't believe in stealing other people's girlfriends so he let it go and decided to leave Cosmo to Tails. As Tails ran up the hill with the slaves following him, a rush of excitement swept through his stomach like a raging current. He'd just stopped two evil dogs and saved a group of slaves from their evil and sadistic ways as well as saved them from getting sent to Dr. Eggman to be roboticized! Just wait until he told Sonic! He would be impressed with him!

"I'm gonna make it! I'm gonna make it!" puffed Tails as he ran "Ha! Ha! I can't believe I actually did it! I've saved all these people from their horrible treatment and from getting shipped off to Dr. Eggman for roboticization!"

Unfortunately, even when you're this close to success, the books can turn completely against your favour. Marcus had finished blowing his sore finger and he pulled a grenade out from a briefcase that sat on a nearby table amongst some horrible weapons and instruments of torture. Marcus threw the grenade at the hilltop as hard as he could. Ruben and Cosmo freaked and ran for their lives as the grenade headed to the top of the hill. The grenade landed with a bang on the hilltop just inches in front of Tails and Tails was thrown backwards away from the hilltop and he landed on the ground just centimetres away from the campsite. The slaves were horrified and they didn't know what to do. Should they carry on and leave their rescuer behind or should they help him and risk being recaptured? Marcus picked up another grenade and threatened to throw it. That meant "Get back here now or I'll bomb you all to slag!" The slaves took the threat to heart and they reluctantly ran down the hill and returned to the camp. Celia smiled a witch's smile at the failed escape attempt.

"Just for escaping, you can all go back into your cages." said Celia dryly "Now get in your cages NOW!"

The slaves miserably did as they were told and they all trudged over to their cages that all stood neatly in a row with their doors open. The slaves went into their cages and all the cage's doors closed shut. There was no escape for the slaves now. Tails picked himself up and shook his head to wake himself up. But before he could do anything, Marcus picked him up by the scruff of his neck and hoisted him of the ground. Tails began to punch at him furiously but he couldn't hit him because Marcus was holding him at arm's length away from him.

"Let me go! Let me go!" ordered Tails "You'll be sorry when Sonic hears about this!"

"Sonic?" said Celia "Did you just say Sonic little boy?"

"Yeah." said Tails "Once he finds out what you two are up to, he's gonna put an end to your evil plans and save everybody!"

"So you know Sonic the Hedgehog do you?" said Celia in a low voice "Well then, I guess that makes your capture more special doesn't it? Ha, ha, ha, ha! And I don't think Sonic will be saving you any moment now you twin-tailed brat because he's been taken to Robotropolis to be roboticized!"

"What?" shrieked Tails. His eyes widened.

"Dr. Eggman just captured Sonic a few minutes ago and he told us all about it, right Marcus?"

"Of course!" said Marcus, grinning like a hobgoblin at Tails.

"He told us he's subdued Sonic with a control collar and is bringing him to Robotropolis right this minute!" crowed Celia "The big hero of this planet is about to become the big villain of this planet and there's nothing you can do about it brat!"

She and Marcus both laughed in unison. Tails couldn't believe his ears. Sonic had been captured and was being taken to Robotropolis? No! It couldn't be! Eggman is gonna turn Sonic into Mecha Sonic all over again and nobody will be able to stop him! Tears began to well up in Tails' big blue eyes and his expression changed into a very sad one.

"Since you're affiliated with Sonic, we'll enslave you brat-face." said Celia "You'll be a wonderful addition to Eggman's army. Tie the brat up Marcus!" she barked "I want to teach him the rules of discipline before making him a member of the group!"

She showed her whip and straightened it to show Tails what she meant. Tails was well and truly shocked. That horrible woman was going to whip him? Was there no end to her cruelty? Marcus took Tails away to be tied up will Celia grinned a malicious, malevolent grin that could make anyone shudder.

As for Ruben and Cosmo, they had seen the whole thing and needless to say, they were downright horrified.

"That evil woman is going to whip Tails!" wailed Cosmo "Poor Tails! I can't stand by and let Tails get whipped! We have to save him!"

"And to your great luck I'm willing to help you." said Ruben "I'm getting sick and tired of those beastly people doing beastly things to innocent people! We're going down there and saving not just Tails but everybody!"

"But how?" asked Cosmo "Tails almost succeeded and he failed. What if that happens to us."

Ruben flashed a charming smile that could impress any woman. He shifted closed to Cosmo and held his head near to her ear.

"As it so happens Cosmo." he whispered to her "I have a plan…"

Two Dates Part 2

Story 49: Two Dates Part 2: Double Dates and Double Missions

Countdown to time change: 1

After a while of running, Amy burst into the home of fellow fighter and cyborg rabbit Bunnie Rabbot. Bunnie had just been drinking a cup of tea and Amy bursting in made her jump in her seat and almost spill her tea on herself. Bunnie put the cup down on the coffee table and got to her feet. She attended to Amy after seeing her frantic expression. Amy looked as if she had just run away from a pride of lions and lived to tell the tale.

"Amy Rose! What the hoo-hah's the matter?" exclaimed Bunnie "Did yer date go horribly wrong or something?"

"It went worse then horrible!" shrieked Amy "It's the epitome of horrible! Eggman crashed our date and kidnapped Sonic!"

"Oh mah stars!" cried Bunnie "How the heck did Eggman capture poor sugah-hog?"

"He brought Metal Sonic with him and Metal Sonic snapped a control collar on Sonic!" explained Amy breathlessly "Sonic's weak and helpless now so he won't be able to escape! We must get to Robotropolis and fast or Eggman will turn Sonic into a robot!"

Bunnie froze to the spot as memories of Mecha Sonic flooded back into her head. She'd fought Mecha Sonic before and narrowly got defeated by him*. Who knew what horrors would come to Mobius if Mecha Sonic returned!

"If Eggman succeeds, it'll be Mecha Sonic all over again!" said Bunnie Rabbot hoarsely Amy, ya'll are comin' with me to Robotropolis. We're gonna save sugah-hog from becoming the one thing he hoped never to become again!"

"You don't have to tell me twice!" cried Amy.

Bunnie and Amy ran out of the house and Bunnie wrapped her arms around Amy's waist. She activated the jets in her metal feet and took to the skies. It was precisely this and her enhanced strength that made Bunnie pleased to be a cyborg although she did often wish to be fully organic again. As for Amy, she had never flown with Bunnie Rabbot before and she thought it was just as fun and awesome as flying with Tails.

"Do you know your way to Robotropolis?" Amy called to Bunnie.

"Ah sure do Amy!" Bunnie called back "If ah'm correct, it's in the Northern Border of Megapolis isn't it?"

"That's right." said Amy.

"Then Eggman bettah watch out because we're comin' to trash his little city!" Bunnie cried confidently.

She flew through the sky on course to Robotropolis. Unfortunately for the girls, this rescue mission was going to be easier said then done…

Meanwhile, Marcus had tied Tails up by his arms to two thick wooden poles that stood high above the ground. The poles were there for this very reason, whenever Marcus and Celia got a new slave to add to the group, they tied that slave up and whipped him repeatedly in the back to teach him discipline and order in the camp. Tails was not at all looking forward to this. His head was pouring with sweat as Celia kept pacing back and forth and tapping her thigh with the wicked weapon. Tails didn't know which weapon was worse, a gun, a knife, a sword or a whip, either way they were all terrible weapons all the same but the whip was bound to be a very painful experience. Ruben the Water Panther and Cosmo the Seedrian had sneaked down to the camp as quietly as they could and they took shelter behind some cages that the horrified slaves had all been shut up in. The slaves weren't looking forward to watching Tails get whipped since he was the one that tried to save them all and watching him get hurt would be like watching a grand hero or warrior get hurt by the evil dictators and warlords they had been battling against. Ruben and Cosmo poked their heads around the side of the end cage and watched as Celia prepared to cut loose on Tails.

"I can't bear to watch!" whimpered Cosmo "I don't wanna see Tails get hurt!"

"If the plan works to perfection we won't have to see Tails get hurt." said Ruben "That whip won't get anywhere near Tails if this works."

"So what's the first step?" asked Cosmo.

"The first step is, I squirt Celia with water before she whips Tails." explained Ruben "And then I squirt Marcus afterwards."

"Then what?" asked Cosmo.

"I get them to chase me." Ruben continued "And while they're chasing me, you free Tails and then you and Tails free the slaves and run for the hills before the Punches can stop them."

"I hope this works." said Cosmo "I don't want to get captured by those two horrible Mobians and whipped just like the slaves do."

"You won't." Ruben insisted as if he was making it a definite certainty that his plan was going to work and absolutely nothing was going to go wrong whatsoever "The plan's foolproof and we're going to put an end to Marcus and Celia's evil deeds."

"You're right." said Cosmo "And Ruben, thank you so much for your generosity."

"Think nothing of it." said Ruben "After all, generosity is my middle name."

Ruben pointed a gloved finger at Celia and aimed at her just above the waist. He waited for the right moment to strike at her. Celia finally stopped pacing around and she stood behind tails with the whip in hand. Tails didn't dare to look over his shoulder for he knew what was coming. He just remained facing forward and awaited his punishment.

"Are you ready you little brat?" asked Celia in a fake sweet voice.

"No I'm not ready." snapped Tails rudely "But you're gonna whip me anyway so get on with it. Please don't whip me too hard." he begged.

"Aw don't worry little boy." said Celia, keeping on the fake sweet voice "The first whip won't hurt much, it'll only feel like a smack on the bottom. It's just the four whips you should be worried about!" she added in her normal voice.

"You're gonna whip me five times?" shrieked Tails "I think once is enough thanks!"

"I decide how many times is enough you brat and if you keep objecting, I'll whip you six times instead!" shouted Celia.

"Why are you so cruel Celia?" asked Tails "Why are you like this?"

Celia hesitated for a moment and took a big breath. Then she spoke.

"Because I've been in slavery myself." she said "I got kidnapped by the now disbanded Black Market when I was twelve and turned into a slave for them. I was abused, tortured and humiliated like all slaves are and I still have the scars from all that whipping even to this day. When I was fourteen, I escaped from the market and made it my solemn vow to get revenge on the people by enslaving them and abusing them myself. Then at the age of twenty, I married darling Marcus Punch and we both become slave masters. We go about our happy ways enslaving innocents and giving them a tough time just like the time I had in slavery."

"But why do you take it all out on innocent people?" asked Tails "They never did anything to you! They're not the ones who hurt you, your masters are!"

"Because I want everybody else to feel the same way I felt!" snapped Celia, whipping the ground angrily "Why should I have been abused and humiliated so horribly when there are people in the world who deserved it and not me? So I feel its fair they should suffer the same way I suffered in slavery!"

"Well then that makes you selfish!" cried Tails "Why should innocent people suffer because you did? They never hurt you so you have no right to hurt them!"

"SILENCE!" roared Celia "And just for that I'll whip you not six, not seven, not even eight or nine times, I'll whip you TEN times and that'll keep you in line you horrible, stubborn, hot-headed, scrounging little brat!"

She raised the whip and prepared to let Tails have it across the back at full whack. Tails closed his eyes and waited for the inevitable strike. Now was the time to strike! Ruben sent a jet of water rushing towards Celia and the blast hit her in the side, knocking her clean off her feet. Marcus leapt back in surprise and turned his head to see who it was. Ruben leapt out from behind the cage and let Marcus have it with a jet of water in the face. Marcus was knocked off his feet and onto his back. Tails opened his eyes only to see Marcus and Celia were down. He turned to his left hand side and beamed happily.

"Ruben!" cried Tails "I didn't think I'd be glad to see you!"

"Thank me later Tails, this is only the beginning!" Ruben called to him.

Marcus and Celia both picked themselves up. They were dripping with water and they were so furious I cannot put into words how furious they were.

"WHO…DID…THAT?" bellowed Celia.

"I did you pair of mongrels!" yelled Ruben "You remember me Marcus and Celia Punch?"

"Of course!" snapped Marcus.

"You're the spunky little water panther that wouldn't stay in line aren't you?" snarled Celia.

"Yes I am!" said Ruben "If you want to catch me, you'll have to come and get me! Think you're fast enough idiots?"

That set them both off. Marcus and Celia screamed like angry bulls and they charged towards Ruben like angry bulls. Ruben just stood there and smiled and waited for them. The moment they were twenty inches in front of him, Ruben thrust his arms forward and sent a wave of water sweeping over them. Marcus and Celia were once again knocked off their feet. Ruben saw the perfect opportunity to run like hell. He bent down on all fours and scampered away with his tail raised high in the air. Marcus and Celia got to their feet and ran after the water panther as quickly as they possibly could.

"Ruben! Come back! You forgot to untie me!" cried Tails.

"No he didn't." said a voice he'd been looking forward to hearing again "He gave me the privilege of untying you."

Tails turned his head to his left hand side again and saw Cosmo walking up to him with a smile on her face.

"Cosmo! I'm so glad to see you!" exclaimed Tails "What are you doing here anyway? It's not safe for you here!"

"Ruben came up with a brilliant escape plan." said Cosmo, reaching up to untie Tails' left arm "He's distracting the Punches and while he's doing that, me and you are going to free those poor slaves from their cages and make a break for it before they come back."

"Well when Ruben comes back, I'm going to give him a lot of thanks." said Tails "It's a good thing he acted before Celia could whip me."

Cosmo untied the knot around Tails' wrist and Tails' left arm was now free. Cosmo then did the other arm. She untied the knot and Tails' right arm was now free. Tails threw his arms around Cosmo and hugged her.

"Thank you for untying me Cosmo." said Tails.

"You're welcome Tails." said Cosmo "Now let's free everybody shall we? The Punches might come back unless they're still keeping up the chase with Ruben."

"Of course." said Tails "There's not a minute to lose, let's open those cages!"

Tails and Cosmo ran over to the row of cages that all the miserable slaves were shut up in. There were fifteen cages each containing a captive Mobian and their faces lit up when they saw Tails and Cosmo heading to their cages. Tails bent down on one knee and observed the lock. To his disappointment, the lock was a touch sensitive lock and it would only open if someone put their finger on it. Tails touched the lock with his finger but the cage didn't open.

"Oh no! It's a touch sensitive lock!" moaned Tails "I bet it only opens if Celia or Marcus touches it!"

"How are we going to open the cages now?" asked Cosmo.

"I wish Ruben was here." said Tails "He could use his water powers to short circuit the locks and all the cages would open. But I bet he's gonna run a good distance away to keep the Punches busy so he won't be back for a while."

"We'll have to open the cages ourselves." said Cosmo "I'm sure there's something we can use to get them open."

Tails took Cosmo's idea to heart and began searching on the nearby table for something to open the cage with. Cosmo stayed put and wondered how Ruben was doing with the Punches. The table Tails searched on was full of weapons and tools that didn't really seem to be there for any particular reason and Tails was searching for something that would open the cages. Tails grabbed a crowbar and ran back to the line of cages. He stuck the crowbar in the gap between the door and pushed on it in an attempt to wrench the door open.

"Come on! Please work!" Tails grunted with effort as he pushed on the crowbar.

Things weren't going to get any better from here though…

"Here we are! Robotropolis!" announced Bunnie as she and Amy arrived at the Northern Border of Megapolis.

"The one place I never wanted to set foot into again." said Amy bitterly.

Bunnie's flight hadn't been very long, she'd only been flying for a few minutes at most and now she and Amy had arrived at Robotropolis, the home city of the notorious and robot obsessed Dr. Eggman. Bunnie flew down towards the city and landed on the other side of the gates so she and Amy were in the city.

"Are you sure this is a good idea?" shrieked Amy "The robots will spot us and start shooting at us!"

"Trust me, ah know what ah'm doin'." said Bunnie with a confident smile that reminded Amy of Sonic's smile.

Bunnie put Amy down and Amy summoned her trademark Piko-Piko hammer to her hand. The swarm of Eggman robots and Robians immediately spotted Bunnie and Amy and they opened fire on them. Bunnie stood close to Amy and activated her force field to defend herself and Amy from the gun blasts. The blasts ricocheted of Bunnie's shield as they hit it. Bunnie deactivated the shield and flew towards the robot army that was shooting at her and Amy. She gave three robots a hefty punch with her robot arm. Her robot arm extended, allowing her arm to punch through three robots at once and destroy them. A robot blasted at Bunnie and the shot just whizzed past her long ears. Bunnie turned around and punched the robot that tired to shoot her in the face, smashing its head to pieces in an instant. Then she transformed her arm into a cannon and began blasting some of the robots. Any robot unlucky enough to be blasted by the cyborg rabbit was instantly reduced to smithereens. Amy joined in the fun, whacking any robot she came across with her hammer. All it took was one mighty wallop of the enormous hammer and the robot was smashed and reduced to bits of metal. One robot deployed lasers from its wrists and began shooting at Amy. Amy dodged the blasts and leapt into the air. She hammered the robot's head in as if she was hitting a nail and the robot was smashed to pieces.

"I don't know about you Bunnie but smashing Eggman robots is a lot of fun isn't it?" called Amy.

"It sure is sugah!" Bunnie called back "Yee-haw! Eat mah metal fist gruesome!"

She punched a cat-like robot straight in the jaw and destroyed it. Then suddenly, a pair of dome shaped robots armed with mallets the size of two large barrels stood on one another, stomped into the battle. Bunnie just blasted two more robots away and didn't see the two robots coming. By the time she did though, she was too late. One of the robots swiped at her with his hand and walloped Bunnie away. She flew into the air and landed with a crash into the wall of a nearby tower that was half the size of Dr. Eggman's headquarters. The impact had left Bunnie slightly embedded upside down into the wall. She pulled herself free from the wall, causing herself to fall, and she flipped herself to the right side up and activated her jets to slow her fall before she could become a nasty stain on the pavement. She landed on the ground and faced the two hammer bots that were advancing nosily towards her with their hammers raised and ready to smash someone into the ground. Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and blasted at them but the blast pinged harmlessly off their armour. Those two robots were very heavily armoured and a normal cannon blast wouldn't destroy them. Bunnie flew towards the robots and she punched one of them in the face. But despite her amazing strength, her robot fist didn't seem to shake the huge robot the slightest. In fact, it didn't seem to have realized it had been hit! Bunnie immediately freaked and tried to fly away but one of the hammer bots blaster her head on with its laser eyes. Bunnie came crashing down on the floor and she groaned like a zombie. She never thought anything would hurt her as much as Mecha Sonic did but those two robots were pretty close. The hammer bots advanced on Bunnie with their enormous hammers at the ready. Bunnie got back to her feet but the hammer bots were just behind her now. One of them raised its hammer high above its head and was about to bring it crashing down on Bunnie until Amy leaped on it from behind and hammered it on the head. Amy's hammer didn't hurt the robot but it did stop it dead in its tracks. It looked up and saw Amy standing on its head. Amy hammered it in the optics and the robot wailed. The other robot made the stupid mistake of trying to get Amy off its partner by trying to hit her with its hammer. Amy saw it coming and she jumped off the robot just as the other one was trying to hammer her. The robot smashed the second robot to pieces with its hammer and reduced it to nothing more then a metal pancake. Bunnie's brain ticked. That was how she could defeat those hammer wielding menaces! Their own hammers are strong enough to destroy them! Bunnie took flight and flew straight towards the remaining hammer bot. She punched it in the optic to distract it and she flew towards the flattened hammer bot. She grabbed the hammer with her metal arm and lifted it above her head. She nearly lost her balance and fell over. That thing was heavy! The remaining hammer bot saw what she was doing and he tried to hit her but he missed and Bunnie swung her hammer. She hit the robot and smashed it into a metal pancake much like the first one. Now the two hammer bots were down and out, Amy and Bunnie were free to break into Eggman's headquarters and look for Sonic. Bunnie and Amy headed for Eggman's base and Bunnie with no effort at all, broke the door down with one mighty punch.

Dr. Eggman had seen the entire battle on his super computer monitors and he did not like what he had been watching.

"Curse that Rabbot!" he growled through gritted teeth "When will I ever make a robot that is capable of bringing her down?"

"Maybe some day master." said his pointy headed servant bot Alonzo "You'll just have to try harder won't you?"

"Yes I suppose I should." said Dr. Eggman "But I knew that Bunnie Rabbot and Amy would make it into my base somehow so I've set up a little surprise for them."

"Have you?" said Alonzo "What's that then?"

"If I told you, it wouldn't BE a surprise would it you steel stooge!" snapped Dr. Eggman "Now make yourself useful and keep an eye on my star prisoner…"

Then suddenly, something began ringing. It was a communicator on the control pad and Dr. Eggman answered it.

"Who is it?" he asked.

"It's me, Celia Punch Dr. Eggman." said Celia "I need your help a minute!"

"Do you my wonderful agent?" said Dr. Eggman in surprise "What do you need my help for my dear?"

"I'm having problems with pest control in my camp!" shouted Celia "I need you to send a robot over to give me and my husband a hand!"

"Don't worry Celia, I have the perfect bot for you." said Dr. Eggman "I'll send it over as fast as I can."

The communicator switched off.

"Alonzo, Marcus and Celia seem to be having trouble right now." said Dr. Eggman "I want you to take Egg-Peacock to their camp and eliminate their problem."

"Yes sir, right away sir!" said Alonzo loyally "Good luck with the Rabbot by the way!"

He zipped out of the room as fast as a motorbike. Dr. Eggman turned his attention back to the monitors.

"Watch out girls." he purred to himself "Things are not what they seem around here…"

Bunnie and Amy were inside Dr. Eggman's headquarters. It had only just occurred to them both on how cold it was. Then again, Dr. Eggman was cold hearted so a cold base was fitting for him. The room they were in seemed to be some sort of hangar bay. It was a large room with various machines not functioning right now. Eggman must store his robots in there before he uses them for his nefarious schemes. Amy didn't like it here and she was keen to find Sonic as quickly as possible.

"OK Bunnie, any ideas?" asked Amy hopefully.

"Sugah-hog's bound to be on the top floor since that's where Eggman always is." said Bunnie "If I just fly up and punch mah way through the floors then I'll make it up there much quicker then if we just try to find a way up there."

While Bunnie thought, a large crane arm not far from where she was twitched and started to rotate towards her. The crane arm had a large magnet dangling from its arm and unfortunately for Bunnie, the magnet was on. With those robot limbs, Bunnie had no chance against it.

"Stay back Amy." said Bunnie, getting into a battle charge pose "Ah'm gonna smash mah way through the….AIIIIIIIIEEEEEEEE!" she squealed as she was pulled off the ground by a magnetic force.

The magnet was directly above Bunnie and it was a very powerful magnet. It was very high up off the floor and it attracted Bunnie just like that. Bunnie was now stuck to the magnet and to make matters worse, the magnet had a clamp on it for her organic arm and it wrapped around her wrist. Now she was completely immobilized, her robot legs and left arm were stuck to the magnet and her organic arm had been bound up. She was completely trapped. Amy gasped in horror at this.

"Bunnie!" cried Amy.

"Amy, get me down from here!" cried Bunnie, pulling on her arms and legs "Ah can't move while ah'm stuck to this magnet!"

"I'll get you down." said Amy, summoning her hammer to her hands "I'll just find the controls to the magnet and smash it to pieces."

Unfortunately, bad luck for Amy decided to arrive. Before Amy could do anything at all, a squad of robots surrounded her with their guns deployed and itching to shoot at her. And to make matters worse, two hammer bots showed up as well with their hammers ready to smash someone to pieces. With Bunnie out of bounds, Amy was doomed. Not even someone as strong as Amy would be able to take on so many robots, especially the hard to destroy hammer bots. Amy just threw her hammer on the floor and raised her hands in defeat.

"I surrender." said Amy "Please don't kill me or Bunnie."

"Wise-move-hedge-hog." droned a robot with guns for hands and two guns that acted like tails "You-will-be-taken-to-Dr.-Eggman-for-robot-i-ci-za-tion."

Amy had no choice but to do what she was told. This is the second time this week she'd been captured and about to be roboticized! The only difference is, Sonic wouldn't be able to save her since he'd been captured himself…

Tails had been pushing on the crowbar for minutes on end and his face had turned bright red in effort but the cage door hadn't come close to opening. Tails gave one final push on the crowbar and then slumped on the ground in defeat. He picked up the crowbar and throw it on the ground in frustration.

"It's hopeless!" he whined "I can't open the stupid cage! Not even with this!" he pointed to the crowbar that lay there on the ground "How am I gonna get the cages open without Ruben here to short circuit the locks?"

"We've got to try something Tails." said Cosmo "We're so close to freeing them, we can't back down now."

"But we can't try." retorted Tails "The crowbar doesn't work and I don't think anything else on the table's gonna work, the locks are touch activated and will only work if Marcus and Celia touch it so there's no way we can open the cages!"

"Don't talk pathetic Tails." said a familiar voice "There's always a way, even if it never seems like it."

Tails turned around only to see Ruben sitting on top of the cages with a charming smile on his face.

"Ruben!" cried Tails "Where did you come from? And where are Marcus and Celia?"

"While chasing me, they had an unfortunate accident with a lake." said Ruben "They both fell in to it and I seized the opportunity to escape while they were trying to get out. They won't be back here for a while yet."

"Well now you're here, we need you to open the cages." said Cosmo "The locks are touch activated and you maybe able to short circuit them with your water powers."

"No problem Cosmo." said Ruben, leaping off the cage he was sitting on "After all, that's how I escaped. I short circuited my lock and ran for it while no one was looking so it appears I'll have to do the same to this bunch."

He touched the lock to the first cage and a puddle of water began to seep out from under his finger and all over the lock. Ruben withdrew his finger just before the lock short circuited since he didn't want to get shocked by it. The lock sparked and spluttered and then switched off. The slave inside pushed on the door and it opened. The slave got out of the cage and began to dance about with joy.

"I'm free!" he cried "Yippee! I'm free!"

"Yes you're free now run for it!" ordered Ruben "Get out of here before your masters return!"

The slave did not wait to be asked twice. He ran for it as fast as he possibly could while Ruben went to the next cage and short circuited the lock. The cage opened and the slave inside ran for it as fast as he could. In order to speed things up, Ruben leaped in front of the cage he was on next and squirted the lock with a quick jet of water. He did so to the next cage and the next and the next and the next until finally all fifteen cages were open and all the slaves had escaped. They all ran into the woods and disappeared from sight. Ruben was very pleased with himself.

"I am magnificent." he said "Why didn't I do this brilliant plan before?"

"Well done Ruben." said Tails "You freed everybody. You did much better then me." he added sadly "I couldn't save all the slaves when I had the chance and I couldn't even open the cages. You were much better then I was."

"Oh don't put yourself down Tails." said Ruben kindly "You tried your hardest and you almost succeeded. I just got luckier then you that's all."

"Yeah but only because you have water powers." said Tails "I wish I had water powers then I could be as great as you."

"Tails, as my clan bride once said to me, you don't need great powers or great strength to be great. The only way to be great is be yourself." said Ruben.

"You're right." said Tails "I am great just being myself. I've helped Sonic on many occasions and my inventions have helped make things easier for him and his friends. I'm sorry if I sounded jealous of you."

"No need to apologize little guy." said Ruben kindly, stroking Tails' head "I can understand your jealousy. Water is a great power and not many can use it so a lot of people envy my power."

"By the way, what did you mean by clan bride?" asked Cosmo "Are you part of a clan or something?"

"And you mentioned something about coming from Chun-Nan." said Tails "Are you a clan member from Chun-Nan?"

"I was." said Ruben, his face fell into a depressed expression and his ears drooped back "But not anymore."

"Not anymore?" said Cosmo "What do you mean?"

Before Ruben could say anything of the sort, a loud swooping sound was heard from directly above them. Tails, Cosmo and Ruben looked up and saw the familiar shape of Egg-Peacock flying above them and circling them like a vulture waiting to dig into its find. Tails had seen Egg-Peacock before from when Sonic and friends tried to use the Chaos Emeralds to destroy Eggman's city but they hadn't really gotten the chance to fight it because Rorda, Horda and Borda interrupted them before they could fight. Egg-Peacock landed on the ground and flapped its enormous bladed wings. Ruben was completely gobsmacked by the giant robot for he had never seen an Eggman robot before.

"Roaring ocean waves!" he blurted "What the heck is that!"

"That is an Eggman robot." said Tails "And I bet Dr. Eggman himself is in there."

"Wrong actually." came Alonzo's snooty, posh voice from inside Egg-Peacock "It is I, Alonzo the Butler Bot, Eggman's loyal servant and…"

"Yes, yes, yes, we know who you are Alonzo." interrupted Tails hastily "What are you doing here?"

"Dr. Eggman isn't pleased with you messing up Marcus and Celia Punch's plans so he sent me to give them a hand." explained Alonzo "And since your precious Sonic is captured, you have no chance against me."

"Sonic may not be able to help us." said Tails "But we have someone who can help us just as easily. Meet our new friend… Ruben the Water Panther." he introduced, pointing at Ruben.

Egg-Peacock bent over and peered at Ruben who just stood there with a straight face and his arms folded.

"What the heck are you supposed to be?" snorted Alonzo "Are you a reject from a circus or something?"

"No I am not tin head." said Ruben coolly "I am a Water Panther, a proud race originating from Chun-Nan. You had better take that flying tin pot and get outta here before you regret it."

Alonzo just snorted with laughter from inside Egg-Peacock.

"Ha, ha, ha! What are you gonna do? Throw water at me?" he teased.

"Precisely." said Ruben.

He thrust his arms forward and a geyser of water shot out from hands and gushed over Egg-Peacock. Water and electricity don't mix so Egg-Peacock was going to be reduced to a drenching wreck when Ruben was finished. Ruben stopped squirting water at Egg-Peacock and…gasped in horror. The peacock shaped machine was still standing and appeared to be in great condition!

"What?" cried Ruben "Water overpowers machines! How is he…?"

"Its waterproof you brainless oaf!" crowed Alonzo "Dr. Eggman feared there would be a day where his robots ended up falling into water or facing a water powered creature so he made all his robots waterproof so they can still survive after being soaked. Your powers are useless little boy!"

"Oh are they?" sneered Ruben "I may not be able to bet you with my water but I can beat you with my fists instead."

Before Tails could stop him, Ruben jumped into the air like a kangaroo and flipped like an acrobat. Ruben landed a kick slam on Egg-Peacock's head, jumped off and kick slammed it on the shoulder. Those attacks shook the peacock machine slightly and Alonzo's optics began dancing about in his head. But Ruben didn't stop there. He jumped off Egg-Peacock's shoulder and began spinning in mid-air like a drill bit. He struck Egg-Peacock in the neck and knocked the giant machine onto its back. Ruben leaped away from Egg-Peacock and landed in front of Tails and Cosmo, who stood there with their mouths open.

"Wow…That was awesome!" cried Tails.

"However did you get so strong?" asked Cosmo.

"When you're part of a ninja clan, years of ninjutsu pays off." said Ruben "Although I'm more of a kung-fu person myself so I have novice style ninjutsu combined with novice style kung-fu."

"That's pretty cool!" said Tails in amazement "I wish you was a member of the Royal Fighters Service! You'd be an excellent member of the team!"

"I've heard all about the Royal Fighters Service." said Ruben "Word travels quickly around Chun-Nan. If I remember correctly, the service was formed by the Acorn parents, who were both murdered by a man from space, and Sonic the Hedgehog is part of it."

"That's absolutely right." said Tails "The people of Chun-Nan know a lot about us it seems."

"Like I said, word travels quickly around Chun-Nan" said Ruben "Even though I left Chun-Nan, I started hearing about the Royal Fighters Service before I got caught by the Punches and I became intrigued. If joining your group means helping Sonic defeat Dr. Eggman then I'll happily join the service."

"Nobody will be joining anything!" yelled Alonzo "I still function and I'm gonna make bird seed out of you three!"

Egg-Peacock got back up onto its feet and raised its tail-feather missiles. All fifteen of them fired at once and they soared out of their sockets and towards Tails, Cosmo and Ruben. The two Mobians and Seedrian all ran for it as the missiles came crashing down and exploding around them. Tails and Cosmo ducked down to the ground with Tails shielding Cosmo with his body as the missiles soared past them and exploded the moment they made contact with the ground. Ruben did some somersaults to dodge them all as the last two missiles roared past him and exploded.

"I may be strong! But I can't fight missiles!" he shrieked as he ran away from an explosion.

"Consider yourself lucky Egg-Peacock only has fifteen missiles!" Tails called over to him "Now he's fired them all, that's it! He hasn't got anymore!"

"Oh Tails, for someone as smart as you, you are so thick!" cackled Alonzo.

To Tails' amazement and shock, Egg-Peacock grew fifteen new missiles out of the sockets they fitted in! Now Egg-Peacock had a brand new arsenal of tail-feather missiles to fire! Tails couldn't believe his eyes.

"No way! You've got another supply?" shrieked Tails.

"I have thousands of supplies." gloated Alonzo "The missiles are very small and are stored inside Egg-Peacock's huge body and when they're deployed they expand to the size you see them as now. And to think Dr. Eggman came up with that himself. Now get ready for another shower of missiles!"

The new supply of missiles fired and shot out of their sockets and showered over Tails, Cosmo and Ruben. That instantly got the three of them running for their lives again. But Alonzo decided to make things harder be deploying the next supply immediately after firing the missiles so he could fire a good number of missiles in a matter of seconds. The whole slavery camp was filled with exploding and screaming missiles as they crashed here and there in an attempt to blow up their target. Marcus and Celia Punch finally made it back after the long chase they had with Ruben earlier and they were not pleased to see that their slaves had escaped and Alonzo was tearing their camp down while trying to destroy Tails, Cosmo and Ruben. They immediately got mad and Celia began ranting and raving while Marcus began barking madly.

"Oy! Alonzo! Watch what you're doing with that giant bird machine!" yelled Celia "You're tearing my beautiful camp down!"

Alonzo did not seem to have heard. Well how could he with this onslaught of firing missiles constantly going off and exploding around him as he tried to destroy his targets? Marcus and Celia could see that Alonzo couldn't hear them so they scampered for it before they could get caught up in the hail fire. Tails took flight and began flying up into the sky to avoid the showers of missiles Alonzo sent out second after second.

"I wish Sonic was here!" cried Tails "He'd deal with this in a jiffy! Speaking of which…I can go to Robotropolis, save him and bring him here! But I can't leave Cosmo and Ruben behind! They'll get blown to pieces! Unless…"

Tails suddenly had a bright idea. He flew back down to collect Cosmo and Ruben. Ruben had been dodging the missiles as fast and as frantically as he possibly could whereas Cosmo remained lying on the ground and listening to the missiles soaring past her and exploding. Tails landed beside Cosmo and helped her onto her feet.

"Cosmo, I have an idea." said Tails "Get Ruben and I'll explain it!"

"OK." said Cosmo.

She called over to Ruben who was not far away from them.

"Ruben, come here!" she called.

Ruben heard her and he leapt over to Tails and Cosmo just as a missile was about to hit him.

"What is it Cosmo?" asked Ruben.

"I have a plan." said Tails "I'm gonna fly into the air with Cosmo in my arms and you follow us somehow. We get Egg-Peacock to chase us all the way back to Robotropolis and once we get there, we can save Sonic from Eggman's roboticizer and then he can bring Egg-Peacock crashing down to the ground in little bits."

"That's a good plan Tails." said Cosmo "But what if we get there and Sonic's already roboticized? The plan will be in jeopardy!"

"We don't know if we don't try Cosmo." said Tails "We'll try it and hope that we make it in time."

Tails scooped Cosmo up bridal style and flew up into the air out of the missile fire. Ruben sent himself shooting into the air with a jet of water and he flew as high as Tails. In order to keep himself airborne, Ruben created a long trial of water for him to slide on. Well trained Water Panthers had abilities like that to get to long distances in shorter time. Tails was well impressed by that ability. Ruben was definitely one impressive panther wasn't he? Alonzo saw the Mobians getting away so Egg-Peacock flapped its bladed wings and flew after them, just as Tails hoped he would. Tails looked over his shoulder to see Egg-Peacock flying after him. Luckily it wasn't flying too fast so he could keep ahead of it.

"That's it Alonzo." said Tails "Follow me all the way back to Robotropolis."

Deep down though, Tails was hoping with all his might that he would make it in time to save Sonic from roboticization or it would be Mecha Sonic all over again…

Meanwhile, Bunnie and Amy had been taken to Dr. Eggman by the gang of robots. They had both been fitted with heavy laser cuffs around their wrists. These cuffs were not the traditional handcuff design, they were one big piece to it would be even harder to break out of this design. Not to mention that laser cuffs cannot be broken so Bunnie and Amy were well and truly stuck now. The moment they arrived at Dr. Eggman's quarters, his face lit up like a sunrise.

"Well! What a catch for me!" he cackled "I have Amy Rose and Bunnie Rabbot restrained and completely at my mercy! Ha, ha, ha, ha!"

"Must ya'll gloat about every victory ya'll have?" muttered Bunnie "It's stupid!"

"Yes I must gloat about my victory." said Dr. Eggman with a gloating smile "Gloating is one of my hobbies after all. I practice gloating in the mirror every morning and every evening to make sure I still gloat brilliantly."

"Very funny. We're all rolling on the floor laughing our heads off." said Amy sarcastically "Now where's Sonic?" she demanded.

"Always the demanding type aren't you?" said Dr. Eggman "Oh well, if you want your precious Sonic then here he is."

A light at the back of the room turned on revealing a bruised and battered looking Sonic restrained to a chair and trapped in a glass roboticizer cage. He had cuffs around his wrists, his ankles and even his neck. Even if he didn't have a control collar on, Sonic would be going nowhere restrained like that. Sonic looked terrible to say the least, it was as if he had been in a nasty fight but he still had some strength in him to stay awake. He opened one eye and saw the captured Amy and Bunnie staring at him in horror.

"Hi girls…" he croaked "I was beginning…to think help wasn't….coming."

"What did you do to him you horrible man?" shrieked Amy.

"I wanted Sonic to pay for all the crimes he's done to me over these past eight months so I had Metal Sonic beat him up before I locked him away."

"But why did you need to restrain him like that?" asked Amy, notifying Sonic's chair "He can't do anything! He's got a control collar on! He's weak and pathetic now! No offence Sonic." she quickly added.

"None taken, you're absolutely…right about me…" said Sonic grimly "Stupid…collar."

"I've restrained Sonic like that because I'm being extra cautious." said Eggman "You never know what might happen. The collar might malfunction and stop working so I've put Sonic under heavy lockdown so even if the collar stops working, he can't go anywhere. I was about to roboticize him until you two arrived so now I can have a triple roboticization!"

"No ya'll won't!" screeched Bunnie "Ya'll are not getting sugah hog or us!"

Then suddenly she pun around on her heel and kicked the robot that was standing behind her. The robot fell over and dropped the remote for hers and Amy's laser cuffs. Bunnie pressed the button with her toe and both laser cuffs turned off, freeing the girls and allowing them to fight. Dr. Eggman's moustache straightened in surprise.

"They're loose!" he shrieked "Metal Sonic get up here now!" he bellowed into a microphone on the control pad.

Bunnie and Amy immediately began to cut loose. Bunnie punched all the robots and Amy hammered them all. Luckily for them, the two hammer bots weren't here because they were too big to fit through the door so they wouldn't be having trouble from them anytime soon. The robots tried shooting Amy and Bunnie but their blasts missed and they were quickly destroyed by the relentless women. The last robot was destroyed and Bunnie and Amy set their sights on Eggman and Sonic. Amy ran over to Sonic's cage to get him out and Bunnie kept Dr. Eggman in place. Eggman remained sitting in his chair and didn't dare to move.

"Ah'm gonna be polite and kindly ask ya'll to stay put Eggman." said Bunnie, deploying her arm cannon and pointing it at Eggman's face "We're gonna take Sonic home and we're gonna take you to an MPD station where ya'll will pay for ya crimes against the Mobians."

"Whatever you say Miss Rabbot." said Dr. Eggman.

As for Amy, she whacked Sonic's cage furiously with her hammer but her hammer would even crack the glass but that didn't stop Amy, she kept trying and trying, hitting the cage as fast as he could.

"Amy…stop!" croaked Sonic "Its Diamond Glass, you'll never break it!"

Amy stopped hammering the cage and growled.

"How am I supposed to open this thing then?" exclaimed Amy "Bunnie, get Eggman to talk will you?"

"Sure Amy." said Bunnie "How do ya'll open that cage?" asked Bunnie with a threatening face on.

"You press the yellow button marked "open" on the control pad I'm sitting at." said Dr. Eggman.

Bunnie looked at the control pad, choc-bloc with buttons and controls of all kinds. Seeing as she was near the control panel, Bunnie pressed the open button. The glass cage opened up and the restraints on Sonic's chair opened up at the same time, freeing the beaten hedgehog. Sonic staggered onto his feet. He felt limp and lame due to the heavy beating he'd received from Metal Sonic. Amy put her arm around Sonic and helped him walk.

"Take it easy Sonic, you're hurt." said Amy "All we've gotta do is get that collar off and then we can leave."

"Thanks for coming…all this way…to save me…Amy and Bunnie…" said Sonic weakly "I really appreciate it"

"Yer welcome sugah-hog." said Bunnie as Amy brought Sonic over to her.

Bunnie grabbed the collar with her robot arm and broke it in two. The moment the collar was removed though, new strength seemed to come back to Sonic and he didn't feel so weak now. He flexed his muscles and he stood up on his own.

"Hey, I don't feel so weak now!" said Sonic "Now that collar's gone, I'm my old self again. Still a little sore though." he rubbed his back tenderly.

"Collar or no collar, you're still weak Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "Too weak to defeat Metal Sonic that is and if I'm very much mistaken, he's here now!"

Surely enough, the base door opened and in walked Metal Sonic, the only Eggman robot Sonic and friends had a problem with. Sonic, Bunnie and Amy all got into battle-ready stances as they prepared to fight. Sonic struck the first blow with a spin-dash but Metal Sonic spin-dashed back and due to Sonic's weakened state, Metal Sonic overpowered him with ease. Sonic was sent sprawling on the floor. Amy tried to hammer Metal Sonic in rage but Metal Sonic snatched Amy's hammer from her, threw it away and slugged her in the stomach with a metal punch. The blow made Amy gasp and splutter and she sprawled on the floor, coughing as if she had asthma. Bunnie flew into Metal Sonic and punched the mighty robot in the face but that attack didn't stun Metal Sonic for long. Bunnie tried to kick Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic dodged, punched her in the face and kicked her onto the floor. Bunnie lay on her tummy on the floor and Metal Sonic sat on her back. He grabbed her organic arm and forced it behind her back, causing a tremendous flush of pain to surge through her arm like water running through a drainpipe. Bunnie yelped like a stuck pig.

"Ouch! Ow! Oooh, Oh! Stop that!" cried Bunnie.

"Say uncle and he'll let you go." ordered Dr. Eggman.

"Not on yer…"

Before Bunnie could finish speaking, Metal Sonic gave her arm a sharp twist and Bunnie screamed loud enough to bring the house down.

"OW! UNCLE! UNCLE! UNCLE YOU CRAZY ROBOT!" she squealed.

Just as Eggman had said, Metal Sonic let Bunnie go and Bunnie began to tenderly rub her organic arm. Amy suddenly appeared form behind and hammered Metal Sonic away from Bunnie. Metal Sonic landed on his feet and spin-dashed Amy, knocking her on the floor. Sonic leaped up and spin-dashed Metal Sonic but due to his weakened state from Metal Sonic's heavy beating earlier, the attack didn't even knock him over. Metal Sonic slapped Sonic away and sent him crashing into the control panel. Before Sonic could get up, Metal Sonic grabbed him by the quills and lifted him to his height.

"Kill him Metal Sonic! Snap his neck!" ordered Dr. Eggman.

Eerily enough, Metal Sonic seemed to obey this command. He put his other hand around Sonic's neck, let go of his quills with the hand he was holding them with and put it around his neck. Before Metal Sonic could make the killer blow, something crashed and ripped its way through the wall and sent everybody sprawling! It was Egg-Peacock! Tails and Ruben had gotten the thing to chase them all the way to Robotropolis and they flew ever so close to the building and moved out the way, causing Egg-Peacock to crash head first into the wall. Now Egg-Peacock's head was inside Eggman's base while the rest of its body was outside. Dr. Eggman went wild with rage.

"ALONZO! WHAT ARE YOU DOING YOU CRAZY IDIOT?" roared Dr. Eggman.

"I was trying to catch the pests that were bothering Marcus and Celia and they tricked me into crashing into the wall!"

Egg-Peacock pulled on its long neck and yanked its head out of the wall. Tails flew in with Cosmo in his arms and Ruben following him. Tails' face brightened when he saw that Sonic was still organic and he was pleased to see Amy and Bunnie there too.

"Sonic! We made it!" cried Tails "We made it just in time to save you!"

"Actually Tails, we saved Sonic." said Amy "Me and Bunnie came all the way here to help him and we saved him from being roboticized."

"And then Tails saves me from getting my neck broken." said Sonic "I'm having a double dose of having my life saved today. So what's your problem Tails?"

"Me and Cosmo were about to have our date but we ran into Ruben here." he pointed to Ruben "And he took us to a slave camp that works for Dr. Eggman. We foiled the camp and freed everybody and then Alonzo tries to attack us with Egg-Peacock."

"Sonic, it's a pleasure to meet you at last." said Ruben, bending down and shaking the hedgehog's hand "We citizens of Chun-Nan have heard great tales about you and I wish to join you in your quest to destroy Dr. Eggman and free Mobius."

"Sweet." said Sonic "And you're a water panther, even better. I've read about you guys, you have water powers am I right?"

"Correct." said Ruben "I also have ninjutsu and kung-fu. I'm one tough panther."

"Well I can't wait to see you in battle someday Ruben." said Sonic "Right now, we've gotta skedaddle before Metal Sonic kills us all!"

"Metal who?" asked Ruben.

Metal Sonic suddenly tackled Ruben from behind and pinned him down on the floor. Bunnie retaliated and punched Metal Sonic off of Ruben. Ruben leaped back to his feet and kicked Metal Sonic in the head. Then he gave Metal Sonic a kung-fu style punch, which is much stronger then a normal punch, and tail-whipped him into the wall. Now Metal Sonic was out for the moment, Sonic and friends could deal with Egg-Peacock. Sonic leaped out of the hole in the wall and spin-dashed Egg-Peacock but because he was weak, he didn't damage Egg-Peacock as much as he'd hoped he would. But Bunnie and Amy sorted that out for him. Egg-Peacock deployed his beak laser and tried to shoot Bunnie as she flew towards him but Bunnie dodged the attacks and she blasted Egg-Peacock repeatedly in the head with her arm cannon. The blows did some hefty damage to Egg-Peacock and the giant bird machine appeared to be on the verge of falling. Amy then hammered Egg-Peacock's damaged head in and knocked it clean off. Then she began to hammer the body repeatedly and knocked one of Egg-Peacock's wings off. Bunnie punched Egg-Peacock, grabbed its other wing with her robot arm and ripped it clean off its socket. Egg-Peacock had no way of flying now so the giant bird machine collapsed onto the ground and smashed into tiny little pieces. Bunnie caught Amy and flew through the air to the gates of Robotropolis. Tails carried Sonic and Ruben carried Cosmo as they all headed for the gates. All the robots on the ground tried to shoot them but they all missed their attacks. The Mobians all landed on the other side of the gates and Sonic ran for it with Bunnie and Tails flying after him and Ruben using his water trial to go at fast speeds. In a matter of moments, the Mobians had left Robotropolis and disappeared into the distance. Dr. Eggman thumped the wall in fury.

"Why must my plans get ruined when I'm so close?" he grumbled "I was so close to having Sonic as Mecha Sonic again and his stupid friends go and wreck everything! Stupid Mobians!"

The base door opened and in came a very battered and steaming Alonzo. He had crawled out of Egg-Peacock's miserable remains and took the elevator to the top floor to meet up with Dr. Eggman.

"Those Mobians have ruined everything sir." said Alonzo "They've busted Mr. Florenzi, they've foiled Marcus and Celia, but they're still at large, and they've wrecked your base. What are we gonna do now?"

"I'll let those Mobians have this small victory." said Dr. Eggman "After all, the tides of this war will turn into my favour. I have more then enough Robian slaves to aid me in building my ultimate machine now so I don't need Mr. Florenzi or the Punches anymore."

"Your ultimate machine?" questioned Alonzo "You…don't mean…"

"Oh I mean Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman evilly "The machine that'll grant me my victory…EGG-TIMER!"

He began to laugh a loud and grating cackle that seemed to echo around Robotropolis and beyond…

Later that day, the sun was beginning to set and Tails was sitting near the Lake of Rings, staring at the lovely, clam water and feeling a little down in the dumps since he still thought that Cosmo loved Ruben now. Ever since they had returned, Tails had relayed everything to Sonic about his adventure and Sonic and Ruben had been having a get together moment to get better acquainted. Tails' ears suddenly pricked up. He turned around and saw Cosmo coming towards him.

"Hi Tails." said Cosmo brightly "What are you doing here?"

"Chilling out." said Tails "What are you doing here?"

"I came looking for you." said Cosmo "I wondered where you'd got to."

She sat down beside Tails and admired the lake's beauty. The sunset shining on the lake made the lake look like a lake of glistening diamonds. Cosmo noticed that Tails looked a bit sad so she decided to ask him what was up.

"Is something wrong Tails?" asked Cosmo "You look sad."

"You know that day out together I wanted us to have?" asked Tails.

Cosmo nodded.

"Well the reason I wanted us to have it…it was so me and you could…get together and…I could show you how….how…how I… how I truly feel about…you." said Tails slowly "But then it got ruined by us needing to save those slaves and Sonic. And I'm also sad because I wanted to show how I feel about you but I bet you're with Ruben now."

"Excuse me?" asked Cosmo politely.

"Ruben really flattered you with comments I would have wanted to say and he's much more amazing and brilliant then I am." said Tails miserably "I bet Ruben is much more appealing to you then me."

"Tails, I like Ruben and I think he's a lovely boy who's willing to help anybody, even people he doesn't know." said Cosmo "But my heart doesn't belong to him."

"It doesn't?" asked Tails with a ray of hope in his stomach.

"No Tails." said Cosmo "My heart belongs to you. You're just as amazing as Ruben. You're clever, helpful, kind, brave, selfless and always putting other lives ahead of yourself. Not to mention you stood up for me when Marik tried to kill me and you've saved my life plenty of times. That is more amazing then anything Ruben can do."

Tails was completely dumbstruck. He never knew that Cosmo had felt this way about him the whole time and she thought he was more amazing then Ruben! Tails' face went bright red and his heart began to beat really quickly.

"I…I'm completely speechless Cosmo." said Tails "I…I never…knew you…f…felt this way…about me the whole time…" he stammered nervously.

"I've loved you ever since you tried to make me feel welcome and save me from Marik the first day I was here*." said Cosmo, putting her arm around Tails "I've been hoping you felt the same…" she added, going a little red in the cheeks herself.

"Well I do Cosmo." said Tails quickly before his shyness got the best of him "I really like you. Not just like I mean…like-like you."

For some reason, his lips couldn't quite form the word "love".

"I'm really happy to hear that Tails." said Cosmo sweetly "Thank you for being such a good friend to me."

"The pleasure's all mine Cosmo." said Tails, putting his arm around Cosmo and hugging her as she hugged him.

The two lovesick children warmly embraced each other in the warming sunset near the Lake of Rings. Unbeknownst to them, Sonic the Hedgehog and Ruben the Water Panther were watching them with smiles on their faces.

"Would you look at that?" said Sonic "Tails and Cosmo have found love in each other."

"And at such a young age too." said Ruben "They only look like eight year olds to me."

"They are." said Sonic "It's not often people that age find their true love."

"When do you think you'll find yours Sonic?" asked Ruben mischievously with a taunting smile on his face.

"You what?" blurted Sonic "What do you mean? I hope it has nothing to do with Amy!"

"Well it wasn't hard for me to detect that Amy had a rather big obsession over you since on the way back she kept going on about how Eggman had ruined your date just as it was getting all romantic and lovely and all that gushy stuff." said Ruben "I bet you and Amy are destined to be lovers for all time."

"You wish!" sneered Sonic mockingly "I like Amy but she's not the girl for me!"

"Surrrrre she isn't." jeered Ruben sarcastically.

"I mean it! Stop teasing me!" chuckled Sonic.

"Only if you admit you love Amy Rose!" laughed Ruben.

"If you catch me, I'll tell you my true feelings!" chortled Sonic, getting up to his feet and running off "Catch me if you can!"

"I certainly will Sonic!" giggled Ruben, running after Sonic on all fours.

The two Mobians began to run rings around the perimeter of the lake while Tails and Cosmo continued to warmly embrace each other. They were hugging each other with Cosmo's head resting on Tails' furry chest and Tails rested his head on Cosmo's, enjoying the moment greatly. They had to enjoy the moment though because this loving tender moment was doomed to be their last…

Awwwwww! Tails and Cosmo are sooooooooo CUTE! :) Sadly though, this moment will not last. Join me next time for the epicness that is my second milestone Story 50 as Mobius gets a major makeover... Reviews are welcome.

Time God

Story 50: Time God

It seemed like the blink of an eye.

The blink of an eye and the entire world just changed right before the Mobian's very eyes.

A couple of days ago Mobius was a lush planet full of life ranging from the colourful Mobian race to the far stretching forests all full of trees. Now it had been turned into a robot paradise. The entire world was silver, literally silver from the shiny metal it was now suddenly made of. Trees had been turned into energy posts to give the robots that now occupied the planet an energy boost should they run low on it, buildings had been transformed into factories, oceans and water of any kind had been reduced to nothing more then thick, gooey oil that gave the robot occupants something to run on. Sally Acorn was no longer in charge of Mobius either, Dr. Eggman's insidious, killer robot duplicate and soldier Metal Sonic was in charge now. He was king of this robot planet and he ruled the world with an iron fist (no pun intended). His appearance had somehow changed too. He had an entirely new body that was much taller then his old body and much more fearsome looking. He had five spikes instead of three, curved shoulder pads, spiked knees, longer arms and legs, a spiked belt around his waist and a long flowing black cape that clung onto his spiked belt. The world was populated by robots that look like Metal Sonic's original form, Mobians slave away day and night making more robots for Metal Sonic or becoming robots themselves and worst of all…Sonic the Hedgehog no longer existed! No one knew how that happened; it was just like he was erased from existence just like that. This change had been so sudden to many of the citizens they had no idea how this had happened. Some say it was an act of the gods and they had decided to reshape the world. Some say it was a magical spell by an evil wizard.

But only one Mobian knew what had really happened. And that was none other then Sonic the Hedgehog's twin-tailed friend Tails the Fox. Tails had heard all about it from Metal Sonic. Heard all about what had happened and how this change to the world had happened in the first place. As of now, he's a poor homeless junky living on the robotic streets of Metal Sonic's robotical world. He was scavenging in the waste bins for a decent meal but as bad luck would have it, he found nothing to eat. Food was becoming scarce on this planet due to the fact robots didn't need food and Tails was perishing with hunger right now. If he didn't find anything he would waste away and it seemed like he would do just that in a day or two. Tails looked dreadful too. He had dirt all over his untidy fur, his shoes were scuffed, his gloves were ragged and torn and his eyes looked like they were about to melt out of their sockets. Plus his throat felt dryer then a sunny day in Downunda. Not only did poor Tails look terrible, he felt terrible too. He felt incredibly weak and just standing up was a big challenge for him. His weak and feeble legs gave way and he collapsed beside the waste bin, groaning hoarsely.

"This is the most horrible thing that's ever happened to me." he croaked as he crawled down an alley way that was littered with stained and rusty walls and tiny pieces of robot on the floor "My life was making a turn for the better after meeting Sonic the Hedgehog. Then all of the sudden, a bright flash changes everything and I become a starving merchant on the streets."

Tails was so weak from hunger he felt exhausted just crawling into this alley way and propping himself in a sitting position against the wall. He sighed ever so hoarsely. His sigh sounded more like a raspy choke then a sigh due to how hoarse it was.

"Oh Sonic, I wish you didn't get erased from existence by Dr. Eggman." said Tails, his eyes filling with tears "That way, me and you could save the world from this horrible present timeline."

The warm tears came trickling down his face like raindrops on a window. Tails had spent most of his days crying his eyes out ever since this sudden change had happened mostly because Sonic had been erased from existence and Tails was never going to see him again. It wasn't just Sonic he cried over, he cried over the fact that Cosmo the Seedrian, his secret love interest and whom he had just recently dated had disappeared without a trace and was presumed to have been killed by Metal Sonic or erased from existence and he would never see her again. And he cried over the fact that this new timeline was going to be the past, present and future of Mobius for all eternity.

"How did Eggman ever build a machine capable of doing this?" sobbed Tails "No one should have that kind of power, it's physically impossible to have the ability to manipulate and literally reshape the universe to how you see fit. Just how did he do it?"

"Oy mate, musing to yerself and moaning isn't going to get you anywhere." said a low voice from nowhere.

Tails wrapped his arms around his legs and huddled up against the wall, shaking like a jelly wobbling about on a plate.

"Who-who-who's there?" asked Tails "Please come out and show yourself. I don't like creepy people who hide in the shadows and try to make it look like their voice is everywhere."

Then suddenly, something came out of the shadows at the back of the alley. It was a robed figure. The figure wore a long, draping hooded robe that completely concealed his identity. Tails had no idea who this guy was but he tried not to look frightened. The figure walked up to Tails and sat down against the wall beside him.

"You looked starved mate." said the figure, pulling out a small box from his huge pocket and opening it "Have summet to eat and then we'll talk."

He showed Tails the box. The box had a small supply of food and the food in the box was fresh and fit to eat. The food was a couple of baguette pieces, a carton of yoghurt and a few carrots, presumably scavenged from whatever food supplies Mobius had left. There was also a flask of plain old river water, scavenged from whatever water Mobius had left. Tails grabbed both baguette pieces and hungrily devoured them in an instant, much to the amusement of the figure. Then Tails picked one carrot and ate that up as well. Then he had one thing he desperately needed, a good long drink of water. His throat felt relieved and alive again after getting the smooth, tingling, soothing trickle of water seeping down it. After Tails had finished drinking, he put the flask back in the box and the figure put the box away.

"Can you believe how rare food is in this new world?" said the figure "It's almost impossible to find food these days. I just got a lucky ration in the market up street."

"Tell me about it." sighed Tails miserably "I can't believe how this world has changed from perfect to hell in a matter of seconds."

"I just can't stop wondering how the bloomin' heck it happened?" said the figure, scratching his still concealed head "I mean it's almost like magic or something. All this couldn't have just happened suddenly, there has to be a reason for it!"

"It wasn't magic sir." said Tails "It was machinery. Eggman had built a machine, capable of reshaping worlds and he's literally made this by using the machine."

"Really?" said the figure with interest "Tell me about it little guy and maybe we'll find a way to set things back to normal."

Tails looked at the figure groggily for a moment before breathing out heavily and leaning back against the wall. He stared up at the dark, polluted skies above Mobius. The figure leaned back against the wall with him and waited for Tails to start telling the story.

"OK sir, I'll tell you exactly what happened." said Tails quietly "It all started a couple of days ago when I was playing with my new friend Ruben the Water Panther…"

Mobius: A couple of days ago

It was a bright sunny day on Mobius and Tails was making the most of the glorious weather. He and his new friend Ruben the Water Panther were playing a game of aero-ball. Aero-ball is a unique mix of basketball and trampoline sports. Aero-ball consisted of bouncing on two trampolines surrounded by nets and the players had to bounce as high as they could and throw the ball into the net on the other side of the enclosure. Aero-ball was a great game enjoyed by many Mobians and Tails and Ruben were no exception. They bounced as high as they could and took turns in shooting at the net and defending the net. Tails bounced as high as he could and threw the ball at Ruben's net on the other side of the enclosure. Ruben bounced up and caught it with his hands and landed down on the trampoline. Then Ruben bounced up into the air and threw the basketball, which was a soft ball and not a hard ball like a real basketball is, into Tails' net and scored a goal.

"Another score for Ruben!" cheered Ruben.

"Right, our scores are tied at the moment but it's not over until it's over Ruben!" cried Tails, bouncing up and down and aiming for Ruben's net.

Tails threw the ball straight into Ruben's net and scored a goal. Ruben caught the ball, started bouncing and aimed for Tails' net. He shot the ball at Tails' net and scored another goal, bringing the score to a tie again. Cosmo the Seedrian had been watching the game and she couldn't stop thinking to herself how much fun it looked and how she'd like to have a go when Tails and Ruben had finished. She spent the whole time wondering who was possibly going to win the game since it looked very close right now. Tails bounced up and threw the ball at Ruben's net but he missed and hit the surrounding net instead. Ruben caught the ball and he threw it at Tails' net but he threw it too hard and too high and it whizzed straight over the enclosure and out onto the grass! Cosmo immediately got to her feet and ran after it.

"Whoopsie." said Ruben "I don't know my own strength sometimes."

Tails stopped bouncing and he dropped onto his bottom. He unzipped the entrance into the aero-ball enclosure and climbed out.

"Let's call it a day shall we Ruben?" he puffed, all worn out and almost out of breath "We could do with a rest, with been playing this for a whole hour."

"I agree." said Ruben, climbing out of the enclosure.

He pointed a finger inside his mouth and squirted some water into it to quench his thirst. Tails giggled slightly.

"When you have water powers, you never need a water bottle." he said.

"You're absolutely right." said Ruben "If you want, I'll give you a drink Tails. Just open your mouth."

Tails obeyed and opened his mouth. Ruben pointed at Tails' mouth and squirted a thin trickle of water straight into Tails' mouth. Tails gulped and gulped as Ruben squirted water into his mouth. The water Ruben squirted was just as refreshing and soothing as plain old tap water. Tails closed his mouth and sighed with relief.

"Thanks Ruben." said Tails "That was refreshing."

All of the sudden, Cosmo returned with the basketball in her hands.

"I've got the basketball boys." said Cosmo.

"Thanks Cosmo but we've finished our game." said Ruben "Scores are tied 20-20."

"So it was a tie." said Cosmo "Very nice. Aero-ball looks like a lot of fun. Do you think you could teach me how to play Tails?"

"Sure." said Tails "Next time we play, you can join us if you like."

Then suddenly, a blue blur whizzed past them, sending a gush of wind rushing past them. The blur screeched to a halt and ran back to Tails, Cosmo and Ruben. The blur screeched to a halt just in front of them. It was none other then the hero of Mobius and fastest thing alive, Sonic the Hedgehog.

"Hi Tails, Hi Cosmo, Hi Ruben." said Sonic "How's aero-ball?"

"Lots of fun thank you." said Ruben "I wish we played sports like that back in Chun-Nan."

"Who won?" asked Sonic.

"It was a tie." said Tails "Me and Ruben are very good at this game."

"Is that so?" sneered Sonic "Well next time we play aero-ball, I'll join in and we'll see who's the master aero-ball player."

"I look forward to it." chuckled Ruben "I bet with speed like yours, you'll be a demon at aero-ball."

"So what brings you here Sonic?" asked Cosmo.

"Just wondering how you were doing that's all." said Sonic.

Then suddenly, a chameleon appeared from nowhere and tapped Sonic on the shoulder, making him jump. It was only Espio the Chameleon of the Chaotix Detective Agency and he'd been invisible this whole time. Now Sonic had arrived, he showed himself to everybody.

"Geez Espio! I wish you wouldn't creep up on me like that! You scare the quills off of me!" shrieked Sonic.

"A thousand apologies Sonic." said Espio, bowing "I have grave news for you all."

"Oh no, what's that then?" asked Cosmo nervously. She hated bad news and she wasn't looking forward to hearing this.

"I've been spying on Dr. Eggman while invisible and I've found out what his next nefarious scheme is." said Espio "He's building a new machine that could spell doom on us all. I couldn't quite catch what it does but I know just by looking at the machine it looks dangerous and we must destroy it before Eggman uses it."

"New machine that could spell doom on us all?" questioned Sonic "That sounds extreme. I wonder if it's a king-sized roboticizer and he's going to roboticize the entire planet with it."

"Is that even remotely possible?" exclaimed Tails.

"Possibly." said Espio "We have to act now before Dr. Eggman uses the machine."

"A mission this big is gonna require some heavy muscle." said Sonic "Tails, Ruben and Espio, you're coming with me and I'll also bring Wilson and Bunnie, they'll be very useful."

"I guess I'll just stay here then." said Cosmo "Since I'll be of no use to you on this mission."

"You can go over to Amy's and see what she and Cream are doing." said Sonic "I'm sure they'll be happy to have you over."

"OK." said Cosmo, running off.

Sonic had shown here where Knothole was so she knew the way to the village. The moment Cosmo left, Sonic ran off at his trademark speed.

"I'm getting Wilson and Bunnie, wait there for me!" he called out to Tails, Ruben and Espio as he ran off.

Sonic disappeared into the distance.

"Do you think this mission will be an easy one?" asked Ruben "I bet there's a lot of robots on the loose and Eggman will try his hardest to protect that machine from us."

"Don't worry Ruben, we always come out on top in the end so we'll destroy Eggman's machine and save the day again." said Tails confidently.

Secretly though, Tails was just as worried as Ruben. What was this machine Eggman had built and would it be as dangerous as Espio thinks it is? The only thing Tails knew is they had to destroy the machine quick before Eggman could use it…

"Come on you Robian slaves! You can work faster then that!" bellowed Dr. Eggman.

Dr. Eggman had been a very busy bee recently. After getting a bunch of Mobian slaves from his cruel and greedy agents Mr. Florenzi* and Marcus & Celia Punch and turning them all into robots, he had been using them to build his latest and by far greatest invention ever. It was a machine shaped like a giant egg only it was silver in colour and very mechanical looking. It had Dr. Eggman's face on (meaning it had eyes, a nose, a moustache and a mouth) and a giant black bar was above its eyes. There was a control panel at the bottom of the machine and the machine was as tall as a three story building. Dr. Eggman was lucky he had enough room for the machine. He had the Robians build the entire thing in the underground cellar since it was roomy enough for the huge machine. As the Robians worked harder and harder and faster and faster on the machine, Dr. Eggman began grinning like an overlord. is assistants Alonzo and Metal Sonic stood beside him, watching the construction of the giant machine.

"Isn't it a beauty Alonzo?" asked Dr. Eggman "The greatest machine ever devised by man is being constructed before your very eyes!"

"It definitely looks impressive master." said Alonzo "But what exactly does Egg-Timer do?"

"Haven't I explained it already?" snapped Dr. Eggman in an annoyed tone.

"I believe you have actually but I've forgotten." said Alonzo "Care to remind me?"

Dr. Eggman sighed and explained the purpose of his incredible machine again.

"Egg-Timer is a machine that, if it works, will give me the power to reshape worlds." explained Dr. Eggman "All I have to do is put in the control panel what I want Mobius to look like and this machine will remake the world into my image! Mobius will be mine at long last! Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!"

"So you're telling me you can literally reshape Mobius and manipulate it's timeline?" squeaked Alonzo "That's phenomenal power behind that machine! You're a god with that invention!"

"I know I am." said Dr. Eggman proudly "That's why it's such a brilliant invention and only someone as intelligent as me could ever invent it! If Egg-Timer works here then maybe I'll go back to Earth and use Egg-Timer on Earth and show those stupid world leaders why they shouldn't have shut my lab down and exiled me!"

"Oh yes sir, they'll pay most beautifully." said Alonzo with an evil smile.

As Dr. Eggman and Alonzo talked to each other, Metal Sonic watched the construction of Egg-Timer. He observed the entire machine and began to wonder if it would work. He was also developing an evil plan of his own in his evil, metallic mind…

No sooner had Sonic recruited Wilson the Dog and Bunnie Rabbot, the group had all set off to Robotropolis to stop Dr. Eggman's new machine that according to Espio could spell doom on everybody. Sonic hadn't had time to explain to Bunnie and Wilson what the occasion was so they just went along with it and Sonic said he would explain it to them when they arrived at Robotropolis. A short while later, Sonic, Tails, Ruben, Espio, Bunnie and Wilson arrived at Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman's robotic city and base of sanctuary when he wasn't attacking Mobius or trying to destroy Sonic and friends. They took shelter behind a rock to make up a plan so they wouldn't be on a wild goose chase in the city.

"So what's the occasion sugah-hog?" asked Bunnie.

"Espio's been spying on Dr. Eggman and he's found out something mondo big in there." explained Sonic "He says Egg-butt's building a machine that could spell doom on us all and we're here to destroy it before Eggman can use it."

"That does sound big." said Wilson "And terrifying. What exactly can the machine do?"

"I'm not fully sure but I know its terrible." said Espio "And I don't think we should stick around to find out what it does so we must act before Eggman can use it."

"Where's Vector and Charmy?" asked Wilson "Did they not want to come?"

"They're investigating something else at the minute." said Espio

"They don't mind me not being with them right now so they'll be alright."

"So Sonic, what's the plan?" asked Tails.

"I say we go in teams and split up." said Sonic "Tails and Bunnie, you're with me. Ruben and Wilson, you're with Espio. I'll keep whatever defence Eggman has busy while Espio, Ruben and Wilson destroy Eggman's machine since Espio knows where it is."

"Roger." said Espio "I shall not fail my task Sonic."

"OK." said Sonic "Let's do it to it everybody! For Mobius!"

"For Mobius!" everybody cheered.

The Mobians leaped out of their hiding place and ran up to the gates of Robotropolis. Sonic remembered how tough those gates were but he didn't have to worry about being unable to break through the gates since he had someone easily strong enough to break through them.

"Bunnie, if you please." said Sonic.

"It'll be mah pleasure Sonic." said Bunnie flexing her robot arm.

She punched the gates as hard as she could and the gates were forced open by the incredible punch. Ruben was absolutely speechless.

"You're incredible!" he gibbered.

"Thank you sugah." said Bunnie brightly.

Now the gates were open, the Mobians charged into the city with all haste. All of Eggman's robots that were on patrol were alerted to the presence of Sonic and friends and they immediately began firing at them with their guns. Sonic dodged all their blasts and he spin-dashed into some of the robots and destroyed them all in an instant. Ruben squirted a bunch of robots with a jet of water and caused them all to malfunction since water and electricity don't mix. Bunnie blasted some robots with her arm cannon, Espio destroyed some robots with his deadly shuriken, Wilson disembowelled the robots with his deadly spinning blade weapon and Tails gave some robots a good hard kick or punch while flying into them, knocking them over and leaving them vulnerable to an attack from someone else.

But as usual, their attacks did not go unnoticed. Underground, an alarm began to blare around the room and the Robians stopped building and began to wonder what was going on.

"Don't stop building you idiots!" roared Dr. Eggman "Get back to work! I'll see what the problem is!"

The Robians obeyed and continued building Egg-Timer. Dr. Eggman ran over to a computer monitor to see what the problem was. He was not pleased to see Sonic and friends were in his city trashing his robots and making a scrap pile out of them.

"For the love of Robotropolis!" he cursed "Why does Sonic have to invade my city and ruin everything just as my ultimate victory is near!"

"One thing I wonder is why they're here!" cried Alonzo "Do you think they're here to destroy Egg-Timer?"

"No." said Dr. Eggman "They know nothing about Egg-Timer so they can't be here to destroy it. I think they're here just to make a mess out of my city again."

"If they get anywhere near Egg-Timer, should we send Metal Sonic to destroy them before they can attack it?" asked Alonzo

"Yes we should Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman "But we won't have to worry on that since Sonic and his band of playmates will never find us down here!"

Back on the surface, Sonic and friends had effortlessly ploughed their way through Dr. Eggman's pathetic defences and with one mighty punch to the door from Bunnie Rabbot, broke into Dr. Eggman's headquarters. Sonic kept his senses alert, expecting something perilous or a giant machine to be somewhere about waiting to pounce on them. But to his surprise, the base appeared to be completely deserted. There wasn't a single robot in sight and there was no Dr. Eggman around. Something was up and Sonic didn't like it. Was Dr. Eggman plotting to ambush them in secret or was he really so worked up on his death machine he hadn't noticed Sonic had arrived? Sonic had no idea but since the coast was clear, they could get to it and find the machine.

"OK everybody, you remember the plan?" asked Sonic.

"We sure do sugah-hog." said Bunnie.

"Cool." said Sonic "Tails, any ideas where Eggman maybe?"

"Either he's up on the top floor as usual, a different floor all together or he's underground." suggested Tails "We know he's not here that's for sure."

"Espio, where's Eggman's machine?" asked Sonic.

"Underground." said Espio "The machine was too big to build up here."

"Then that's where Dr. Eggman will be then." said Sonic "Me, Bunnie and Tails will stay up here and keep any of Eggman's robots away from Eggman's underground base. You, Ruben and Wilson make chilli-sauce out of that machine."

"Roger." said Espio, immediately running off "Come on you two!"

Ruben and Wilson immediately followed the chameleon as he ran down the corridor to find Eggman's machine. The moment the three Mobians disappeared down the corridor, Sonic, Tails and Bunnie stood guard and kept their senses alert for any sign of danger.

"One thing I wanna know is why this place is emptier then a desert?" said Sonic "If that machine of Eggman's is so important to him then why is he not trying to stop us from destroying it?"

"On the contrary Sonic, I AM trying to stop you from destroying my city!" boomed Dr. Eggman's terrible voice from an intercom in the corner of the room, causing everybody's ears to prick up and look up at the ceiling for the source of the voice "Can't you be content with just ruining my brilliant schemes Sonic? It seems not because you're here to make a scrap pile out of my city!"

"We're not here to destroy the city Egg-face!" retorted Sonic "We're here to destroy your death machine that can spell doom for us all!"

"What death machine?" Dr. Eggman's voice boomed innocently "I hardly know what you're talking about Sonic."

"Don't talk stupid with us Eggman!" snapped Tails "A little bird told us you're building a machine that can spell doom for Mobius and we're here to destroy it!"

"Oh are you?" sneered Dr. Eggman "In that case, try and get past my brilliant Mechas and we'll see about that!"

"Mechas?" blurted Bunnie "What do ya'll mean?"

Dr. Eggman said nothing. Instead, a hatch at the end of the room opened up and four ferocious looking robots stomped out of the storage room and into the bay where Sonic, Bunnie and Tails stared at them in disbelief. The robots were six feet tall with red piercing eyes and they looked remarkably similar to Sonic, Tails, Knuckles and Amy. The robot that looked like Sonic looked exactly the same as Mecha Sonic only larger, the Tails robot looked like a roboticized Tails and instead of tails, he had a giant rotor blade on his bottom, the Knuckles robot looked like a roboticized Knuckles with deadly looking spiked fists that appeared to have enough power behind them to bring a skyscraper down in one punch and the Amy robot looked like a roboticized Amy with a spiked hammer that made it look more like a pickaxe then a hammer. Sonic, Tails and Bunnie couldn't believe their eyes. Those were some hardcore and dangerous looking robots Eggman had built!

"Behold Sonic, Mecha Sonic Mk II, Mecha Tails, Mecha Knuckles and Mecha Amy!" announced Dr. Eggman over the intercom "Four brilliant robots I managed to build after Metal Sonic was kind enough to lend me his data on Sonic, Tails, Knuckles and Amy. These robots are as powerful as Metal Sonic and they'll be your doom Sonic the Hedgehog!"

"Oh yeah? We'll see how well your overgrown toys do against us!" yelled Sonic confidently.

"Have you lost your mind?" shrieked Tails "We can't fight these things! They're huge and they're just as strong as Metal Sonic! We can't take on Metal Sonic so what chance do we have against these guys!"

"I have this horrible habit of being overly stubborn and cocky." said Sonic "And that makes me wanna mash these guys to pieces. We'll take these guys!"

Mecha Sonic did a spin-dash that made him look like a giant saw blade, and almost hit Sonic, Tails and Bunnie. The three Mobians dodged the blow but felt the wind rush past them as the huge robot whizzed past them. Sonic knew he did not want to get hit by a spin-dash as big as that. Mecha Sonic skidded to a halt and he charged at Sonic again in a spin-dash. Sonic leaped out of the way and Mecha Sonic crashed straight into the wall. Needless to say, Mecha Sonic had caused quite a considerable amount of damage to the wall. Mecha Tails joined in the battle and he took flight with his propeller blade. Sonic spin-dashed into Mecha Sonic before Mecha Sonic could pull himself free from the wall but Mecha Tails grabbed the hedgehog before he could spin-dash the Mecha-hedgehog again and threw him into the floor like a rugby ball. Bunnie punched Mecha Tails in the back of the head with her robot arm and sent the Mecha-fox into the floor face first. Bunnie didn't have time to defend herself from Mecha Knuckles who sneaked up behind her and punched her as hard as he could. Bunnie was sent crashing into the floor and skidding painfully on her shoulder. Tails flew around Mecha Knuckles to keep the Mecha-echidna distracted before he could attack again. Unfortunately, Tails didn't manage to stay airborne for long. Mecha Amy leaped up and walloped Tails with her pickaxe like hammer. Luckily for Tails, Mecha Amy didn't hit Tails with the sharp points of her hammer but she did hit him pretty hard and Tails felt really dizzy and dopey after that hit. Mecha Amy stomped over to Tails and tried to hammer him into the floor with her spiked hammer but Sonic spin-dashed her in the back, causing her to drop the hammer.

"I already have a little pink girl bothering me, I don't need a big pink girl bothering me!" chuckled Sonic as Mecha Amy fell onto her front.

Sonic then suddenly got walloped by Mecha Knuckles' missile fists. Mecha Knuckles could fire his fists like missiles and once they hit their target, they returned to Mecha Knuckles. Bunnie flew behind Mecha Knuckles and punched the Mecha-echidna in the back of the head. Mecha Knuckles staggered and Bunnie punched him again, causing Mecha Knuckles to fall onto his side. Mecha Tails suddenly got the drop on Bunnie with a flying kick from behind. Sonic spin-dashed Mecha Tails and sent him crashing down into the floor. Sonic rushed over to the downed Tails and knelt by his side.

"I think you were right to say "Had I lost my mind?"." said Sonic "These guys are hectic!"

"What are we gonna do?" asked Tails "We can't get past these guys without defeating them first."

"I'm sure I'll think of something." said Sonic "Until then, we'll have to keep fighting."

Sonic and Tails suddenly leapt to their feet and jumped out of the way just as Mecha Sonic spin-dashed towards them and crashed into the wall. Sonic spin-dashed towards Mecha Sonic but Mecha Sonic caught him in his hands and slammed him against the wall. Sonic was now trapped between the wall and Mecha Sonic's claws. Bunnie extended her arm and wrapped it around Mecha Sonic's neck and yanked him away from Sonic. Mecha Amy ran up to hammer Bunnie's puny body to bits but Bunnie threw Mecha Sonic into Mecha Amy and knocked the hammer swinging Amy-bot onto her back. The two were sent sprawling across the floor in a heap. Mecha Tails and Mecha Knuckles ran towards Sonic and Tails and Sonic spin-dashed Mecha Tails in the stomach. Tails flew around Mecha Knuckles and he kicked him in the optics. Mecha Knuckles punched Tails away and Mecha Tails slammed Sonic into the floor. Sonic got back to his feet and leaped up at Mecha Tails and kicked him in the face. Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and she shot Mecha Amy before she could hammer her again but she wasn't quick enough to dodge a punch from Metal Sonic. Tails flew into Mecha Sonic's face, pulled a rude face and tricked Mecha Sonic into trying to spin-dash him. He flew towards Mecha Knuckles and flew out of the way just as Mecha Sonic spin-dashed at him, causing Mecha Sonic to accidentally spin-dash Mecha Knuckles and knock him over. Mecha Tails tried to get Tails but Bunnie blasted him away and flew at him to attack the Mecha-fox again. Sonic spin-dashed Mecha Amy in the head and tussled with Mecha Sonic some more. As the fight raged on, Sonic began to wonder if Espio team was having an easier time then he was…

Down the corridors, Espio, Wilson and Ruben were creeping as quietly as mice to where Espio was leading them. Espio had worked out they were close to Eggman's underground lab so he told them to keep quiet and remain vigilant. There was bound to be hectic security since Eggman's underground lab was likely to be of great importance, especially since Eggman's doom machine was in it. So far, they hadn't encountered anything but that made Espio even wearier since he had a horrible feeling there would be an ambush any minute.

"Hey Espio, how close are we to this underground lab?" asked Ruben.

"Very." answered Espio "Which is the reason we have to be extremely cautious at this point. Security is bound to be tight around here."

"You're very cautious aren't you?" asked Ruben.

"Yes I am." said Espio "My master once taught me cautiousness is very important when sneaking around. That's why we chameleons are such successful ninjas."

"I must say, that's good advice." said Ruben "I think I'll take that."

While Espio and Ruben talked, they walked by a brightly lit room that caught Wilson's attention. Something made him want to look in the room so he went into the room. Ruben heard Wilson going into the room and he tapped Espio's shoulder.

"Hey Espio, Wilson's gone into a room." said Ruben.

Espio turned around and ran to the room Wilson went in.

"Wilson, we don't have time to look around." hissed Espio "We've got a machine to destroy."

Wilson ignored him. Something in the room had caught the dog's attention and he appeared to be in complete shock. The room was very brightly lit, so bright the entire room appeared to be yellow in colour and it was full of tools and robot exoskeletons as if Dr. Eggman was building androids. It had a capsule containing something inside and Wilson was completely focused on only that. He could only faintly see what was inside the capsule and he wanted to see what it was to see if it was what he thought it was. Wilson pressed a button on the control pad at the side of the capsule and the capsule opened. This just brought another shock to the dog's face. The thing in the capsule wasn't a thing, it was a Mobian and that Mobian was none other then Wilson's girlfriend and fellow Royal Fighter Mandy Mouse! She was in suspended animation with her eyes closed as if she was in a deep sleep and she had a weird looking helmet on her head. Wilson was so shocked he almost broke down crying with joy.

"Mandy?" he gasped "She's alive! But I thought Dr. Eggman said he'd killed her!"

"He was obviously lying." said Espio "I'm guessing he lied to us so we wouldn't bother looking for her and therefore, he can still use her to make more Automatons of her."

"Who is she?" asked Ruben.

"Mandy is my girlfriend." said Wilson "We were best friends growing up and now we're a couple. She's a Royal Fighter like me and she's as tough as nails and brave as a lion. Dr. Eggman kidnapped her behind our backs and replaced her with an Automaton which ended up getting him a Chaos Emerald and he fibbed to us saying he'd killed her. Now I'm here, I can get her out of this and bring Mandy back into the battle."

"Careful Wilson!" cried Espio, fearing something bad would happen.

Wilson didn't hear him and he grabbed the helmet on Mandy's head and yanked it off. The moment the helmet was removed, Mandy jolted awake and sat up, panting and gasping as if she'd just woken up from a nightmare. She appeared to be just fine, removing the helmet hadn't done anything harmful to her at all much to Wilson's relief.

"Oh my gosh! Gasp! What happened? Where am I?" gasped Mandy, breathing heavily "This pant! isn't Royal HQ!"

"Sadly it isn't." said Wilson "This is Dr. Eggman's base."

Mandy turned to her left and saw Wilson standing there with a happy face on. Mandy's face immediately brightened and she threw her arms around him happily.

"Wilson!" she cried "You're here! Oh I'm so happy to see you! But what are you doing here and how did I get here?"

Wilson and Mandy broke up the hug.

"It's a long story on why you're here." said Wilson "And we're here because Espio told us Eggman's building a machine that can spell doom on us all so we're going to destroy it."

"Well it's a good thing you got me out of this thing." said Mandy, notifying the capsule she'd been lying in for days "Now I can join in with this operation and get Eggman for trapping me in that thing."

But before anyone could go anywhere, the sound of marching feet was heard from further down the corridor.

"What's that?" asked Ruben, almost jumping a foot in the air.

"Eggman robots!" cried Mandy "We'd best run for it before they catch us in here!"

Unfortunately, they were too late. The robots marching towards the room arrived and stormed in to catch the intruders. These were not just robots though, they were Automatons. Prototype Automatons. The robot exoskeleton had been built and it was fully functional but the Automatons didn't have their Mobian guise on yet so they still looked like robots. After the success of Auto-Mandy, Eggman had been hoping to build more Automatons to use on Sonic and friends but he hadn't really had the time and resources to continue working on them so they had been pretty much forgotten for a while and all they were being used for were waiting and guarding purposes. The Automatons did not look pleased to see intruders in the room and they began shooting at them with their laser eyes. Everybody ducked for cover and Mandy leapt out of the capsule and threw a couple of bombs at the Automatons. Two Automatons were destroyed in an instant by the bombs. One Automaton tried to shoot Mandy but the mouse, despite having been out of action for a while, was still as fast and agile as ever and she dodged the attacks. An Automaton kicked Mandy in the leg but Espio gave it a ninja-kick to the head and knocked it clean off, killing the Automaton. Another Automaton tried to shoot Espio but Wilson stepped in with a kick to the face on the attacking Automaton. Then he drew out his spinning blade weapon, deployed only one of its two blades and impaled the Automaton in the chest, killing it in an instant.

"That'll teach you to impersonate Mandy!" he yelled.

"Impersonate me?" asked Mandy "What do you mean?"

"Do you have any memory of getting kidnapped by Dr. Eggman?" asked Wilson.

"Well during the fight with Metal Sonic* after he sent me skidding into the ground, I got nabbed by a Tranz-Mat robot." said Mandy as she jogged her memory "It teleported me here and Eggman put some weird helmet on me and then…nothing, I don't remember anything else."

"Well while you've been in that capsule, Eggman replaced you with an Automaton." said Wilson "It was an amazing likeliness, it fooled us all and it stole a Chaos Emerald off of us (I'll explain what a Chaos Emerald is later). And to pour salt on the wound Eggman lied to us saying you were dead."

"Well that wasn't nice of him at all, lying about my well-being like that." said Mandy coldly, she gritted her teeth and her eyes narrowed to an evil expression "I seriously want to punch him in the face for that!"

"That'll have to wait Mandy, there's more Automatons coming!" cried Espio, throwing a shuriken at one that just appeared into the room.

The shuriken struck the Automaton in the chest and the incomplete robo-impersonator was dead. Three more Automatons charged into the room and they began firing at Espio. Ruben charged in and squirted them all with a jet of water. The Automatons short circuited and exploded. They collapsed lifelessly on the ground, their remains smoking. Mandy was impressed with that.

"Wow, you're good kid." said Mandy "Water powers are great when fighting against robots. What's your name?"

"I'm Ruben the Water Panther." said Ruben "I come from a clan in Chun-Nan and I'm a newly joined Royal Fighter. It's a pleasure to meet a fighter of your stature miss."

"Oh, so polite for a little boy." said Mandy "I think I'm going to like you a lot Ruben. Espio, are there anymore Automatons?" asked Mandy.

Espio stuck his head out of the door and looked left and right. The corridors were empty and there was nothing around. The coast was clear.

"The corridors are empty." said Espio "I don't think we have anymore Automatons to worry about."

"In that case, let's destroy Eggman's machine." said Wilson "And now we've woken Mandy up, she can join us."

"Just out of curiosity, is Sonic here?" asked Mandy.

"Sonic is here with Tails and Bunnie. They're in the main hall watching our backs." said Espio "We won't have to worry about any robot on the upper floors getting to us, Sonic, Tails and Bunnie will keep them at bay."

"I wonder how blue boy's doing now?" wondered Mandy, tiptoeing out of the room with Espio, Wilson and Ruben and heading down the corridor "I hope he's not in peril or anything."

Sadly, Sonic was in peril and things were about to get even worse from here…

Back in the underground lab, Dr. Eggman was watching the fight between Sonic, Tails, Bunnie and his four Mechas. Things seemed rather even sided for the fighters. At one point, Sonic, Tails and Bunnie appeared to be gaining an edge on them but then the Mechas would strike back good and hard and things would be back to square one. Dr. Eggman was enjoying this fight very much and he cheered whenever his insidious Mecha gang was getting on top in the fight. Mecha Amy whacked Bunnie and Tails both at once with her hammer and sent them hurtling into the wall.

"Ha, Ha! Good one Mecha Amy! Hammer them as hard as you wish!" yelled Dr. Eggman.

"Master?" asked Alonzo.

"Not now, I'm busy!" yelled Dr. Eggman "Good hit Mecha Tails! Spin-dash them again Mecha Sonic!" he yelled at the computer monitor he stood at.

"It's important sir!" Alonzo piped "Egg-Timer is finished and ready for activation!"

Dr. Eggman stopped leaping up and down and cheering like a fan crazed child at a baseball game.

"Oh is it?" said Dr. Eggman "Thanks for that Alonzo, I don't have to worry about my Mechas losing against Sonic and friends now. I'll just wipe them from existence with Egg-Timer and create a world where I rule over Mobius and everything is a robot!"

Dr. Eggman ran over to his completed Egg-Timer. The machine stood proudly before him awaiting activation. Dr. Eggman pressed the "on" button and Egg-Timer whirred into life. It's "eyes" opened and it's "mouth" gritted it's "teeth". The "eyes" glowed a bright florescent orange and it's "teeth" were as white as snow. Dr.

Eggman rubbed his hands eagerly.

"Now all I have to do is punch in what I want the world to be remade as and Egg-Timer will change everything." said Dr. Eggman "Mobius' entire history will be different, its appearance will be different and its people will be different! Ho, ho, ho! I can just picture it now!"

Then suddenly, before Dr. Eggman could press a single button, Metal Sonic appeared from nowhere and grabbed Dr. Eggman by his uniform. He hoisted Dr. Eggman up off the ground and held him away from Egg-Timer. Dr. Eggman began to flail his arms and legs around madly as Metal Sonic held him at arm's length off the ground. Alonzo tried to step into help but Metal Sonic turned around and glared at him as if to say "You know what's coming if you dare attack me!". Alonzo stopped dead in his tracks and trundled backwards away from Metal Sonic. Dr. Eggman began feebly pounding on Metal Sonic's head but the killer Sonic duplicate didn't seem to notice his pounds on him.

"Put me down you insolent robot!" he yelled "What is the meaning of this?"

Metal Sonic just threw Dr. Eggman as hard as he could and the fat scientist landed slap-bang into the wall.

"You master, are an incompetent imbecile." droned Metal Sonic, his deep ominous voice echoed hauntingly around the room "Every scheme you attempt fails miserably and my loathsome copy comes out on top at the end of our conflicts. So I've decided I will have the privilege of taking over this operation."

"You're taking over Operation: Reshape?" blurted Dr. Eggman "Why?"

"Because of your incompetence and idiocy, you do not deserve to rule Mobius." droned Metal Sonic flatly "I deserve to rule Mobius due to my superior strength and power so I am taking over this operation and making Mobius MY own. You will be my pet, I will have a much more competent sidekick then your idiot butler bot…"

"Hoi!" yelled Alonzo furiously.

"…Mobius will be populated by clones of myself, I will have a new body to state my authority over everybody, Mobians will be my slaves and Sonic will not exist. Mobius will be my paradise and I shall rule over it through fear and force."

He clenched his fists and laughed a deep, droning laugh that made Eggman's spine shiver.

"I like the idea of Sonic no longer existing but I don't want to spend the rest of my life grovelling at your feet Metal Sonic!" yelled Dr. Eggman "You are MY creation and you worship ME!"

"Negative." said Metal Sonic "You are MY servant and you will worship ME. I am in charge of Operation: Reshape and that is all there is to it."

"No it isn't!" yelled Dr. Eggman "Get that traitor Robians!" he bellowed.

The gang of Robians prepared to pounce on Metal Sonic, who appeared to be oblivious to the whole gang right now.

"Stand down Robian drones." ordered Metal Sonic.

The Robians stopped what they were doing and stood down.

"Don't obey him you morons!" yelled Dr. Eggman "He's betrayed us! GET HIIIIIIMMMMMMMMM!"

The Robians resumed their original priority and they advanced on Metal Sonic.

"I am in charge of Operation: Reshape and you obey my commands." droned Metal Sonic "Stand down!"

The Robians did what they were told again and they stood down.

"All Robians obey me now, repeat: all Robians will obey me now." droned Metal Sonic to the group of Robians "This order cannot be countermanded."

That meant no one would be able to restate their leadership of the Robians, the Robians were completely bound to Metal Sonic's whim now and there was no way Dr. Eggman could ever get them back.

"Restrain the former master." ordered Metal Sonic.

The Robians obeyed and they all ran over to Dr. Eggman. Dr. Eggman tried to run away but the Robians all pounced on him at once and they pinned him down to the ground. They held down his arms and his legs and they pinned his body in place. Dr. Eggman was completely immobilized. Metal Sonic was free to do what he wished now. He walked over to Egg-Timer, tapping his claws excitedly.

"Alonzo, stop that treacherous junk pile!" yelled Dr. Eggman.

"No way! I'm not going near that guy!" shrieked Alonzo "He'll blow me to pieces!"

Metal Sonic then turned around and blasted Alonzo with his torso laser. Alonzo was reduced to tiny little pieces and he was completely destroyed. Dr. Eggman gasped in surprise. Alonzo was dead.

"Why did you do that to my poor servant bot?" cried Dr. Eggman.

"He did not deserve to live." explained Metal Sonic coldly "He would be of no use to me. Now watch and marvel as my victory begins Dr. Eggman."

"Metal Sonic please reconsider!" begged Dr. Eggman "Don't do this to your master please! I'll do anything! I'll make a world where me and you are joint rulers and you can be as mean as you wish to any who oppose you!"

Metal Sonic ignored his pleading master and he began to type into Egg-Timer's keypad. He typed this into the keypad:

Name of planet: Mobius

Appearance: Completely metal with oil oceans and an endless metal city

Capital: Robotropolis Prime

Population: Fifty million Metal Sonic drones, one human (Dr. Eggman), six million Mobians (Sonic the Hedgehog isn't one of them) and one Seedrian

Ruler: Metal Sonic Neo

Appearance of ruler: Larger and stronger body with five large spikes on head, shoulder pads, spiked knees and spiked waist with flowing black cape

Status of Mobians: Slaves

Status of Dr. Eggman: Ruler's pet

Status of Metal Sonic drones: Fiercely loyal Servants and Army

After typing all of that into the keypad, Metal Sonic cackled to himself.

"Now let's see if this works." he droned.

He pressed the big red "time change" button on the keypad. The moment he did, the lower part of Egg-Timer's "mouth" slid down and its eyes began to flash orange and yellow. Then a big white beam shot out from Egg-Timer's mouth and began to expand to an enormous size, engulfing everything around it. Metal Sonic cackled a deep, metallic, droning cackle as the underground lab and himself was engulfed in the white light. Espio, Wilson, Mandy and Ruben broke through the door and charged into the lab to destroy Egg-Timer only to find the egg-shaped machine had already been activated.

"No! We're too late!" cried Espio.

"What's that white light?" whimpered Wilson.

Mandy shielded her eyes from the light as it began to expand. The light spread all around the lab and engulfed Espio, Wilson, Mandy and Ruben. The light spread up from the lab and into the base above it. All the corridors were swallowed up by the enormous white light. Sonic, Tails and Bunnie were still fighting the four Mechas and they were beginning to get worn out. The Mechas were relentless and no matter how good their attacks were, the Mechas didn't seem to be showing much signs of fatigue. They still appeared to be in good condition as if they hadn't been fighting at all!

"I don't know about you but I think we should run for it sugah-hog!" panted Bunnie "We can't defeat these things!"

"No! We can't leave Espio, Wilson and Ruben behind!" yelled Sonic "We've got to get past these Mecha morons and…"

"Sonic! What's that light over there?" shrieked Tails, pointing at the door on the other side of the hall.

Sonic and Bunnie looked in Tails' direction and saw the white light spreading out towards them. The whole room was engulfed by the light and Sonic, Tails and Bunnie shielded their eyes from the sheer brightness of it all. The light began to expand all the way through Eggman's base, all the way through Robotropolis and all the way beyond, engulfing everything in its path.

In Mobotropolis, Queen Sally Acorn and her lady-in-waiting Nicole the Lynx were looking out of the window of Castle Acorn and they were amazed at what they were seeing. The white light expanded towards Castle Acorn and threatened to swallow it up.

"What's that Sally?" asked Nicole worriedly.

"Something big coming from Robotropolis I guess." said Sally "What it is, I don't know but it's coming towards us!"

The white light swept over the under construction Mobotropolis and swallowed up Castle Acorn. Sally and Nicole hugged each other as they were engulfed in the light. Mobians all over the world saw the light and began panicking as they were engulfed by it. They had no idea what was going on but they knew it wasn't good. The light continued to expand until finally the entire planet of Mobius was engulfed by the enormous, white light. Mobius was now completely white. Sonic, Tails and Bunnie unshielded their eyes only to find themselves surrounded by white. The Mechas were gone at least but that didn't matter now.

"What's going on?" asked Sonic, his voice seemed to be everywhere at once.

"Dunno Sonic." said Bunnie "But ah don't like it."

"Is this what Eggman's machine does?" exclaimed Tails worriedly "Wipe everything out?"

"Maybe." said Sonic "I don't know about you but I can't feel my legs."

Sonic looked down at his legs only to find they were dissolving into thin air! Tails and Bunnie were shocked.

"Sonic! You're dissolving into thin air!" shrieked Tails.

"No!" cried Sonic as his legs completely dissolved in to the whiteness of the light "I can't disappear! I haven't kicked Eggman out of Mobius yet!"

Sonic continued to dissolve. Desperately, Tails reached out for Sonic and Sonic reached out for Tails. Their hands almost met until Sonic's hand began to dissolve into nothing. Tails' eyes streamed with tears as Sonic continued dissolving in front of him. Sonic appeared to shed a tear as his existence was disappearing by the second. Sonic finally finished dissolving and disappeared out of existence.

"Sonic!" cried Tails, his voice everywhere at once.

The white light got bright and bright and Tails was beginning to disappear into the brightness of the light.

"SOOOOOOONNNNNNNIIIIIIIICCCCC C!..."

Mobius: Present Day

"…and that's how it happened." Tails finished sadly, his eyes filling with tears again.

"Crikey." said the hooded figure who had listened to Tails' story with great interest "Dr. Eggman made a machine capable of reshaping worlds as you see fit! That's insane! There's no way anyone can have that kind of power! Man or Machine! That Dr. Eggman really is a genius isn't he?"

"Yeah." mumbled Tails "I still wonder why is Metal Sonic ruler and why Dr. Eggman's not in charge? Did Metal Sonic take over Eggman's machine and remake the world into HIS image and not Eggman's?"

"Possibly." said the figure "Dr. Eggman wouldn't make a world where Metal Sonic's in charge and the world is populated by Metal Sonic clones. He'd make the world closer to his image if he had used that machine."

"Well whoever it was who used the machine." said Tails, on the verge of tears again "They still erased Sonic from existence. And… I'll…never…see him again!"

Tails put his head in his hands and broke down into floods of tears. This was not a rare occurrence, Tails spent most of the day crying his eyes out due to the fact Mobius was doomed to be ruled by Metal Sonic forever and Sonic no longer existed. If the figure sitting next to him wasn't wearing a hood to conceal his identity you could probably see an expression that suggested he felt sorry for poor Tails. The figure put a hand on tails shoulder.

"Listen mate, sobbing your eyes out and feeling sorry for yourself is not going to fix anything." he said "We've got to get into the Palace of Steel and see if that time-changing machine's still there and that way we can change the world back to normal."

"That's crazy talk! We can't take on Metal Sonic or his army of Metal Sonic clones!" gasped Tails.

"No such word as can't mate." said the figure "Not when you're a Royal Fighter."

The figure pulled his hood down revealing himself to be none other then fellow skunk fighter Geoffrey St. John! Tails was so surprised to see he had been talking to a familiar face the whole time.

"Geoffrey St. John?" he blurted "Boy I'm so glad to see you! Why did you have to keep yourself hidden?"

"The robe's my way of sneaking around the metal kingdom to help the poor suffering slaves without being found out." said Geoffrey "And it works really well. Anyone who sees me doesn't know my true identity and Dr. Eggman won't be able to track me down. I've been plotting against him since yesterday but I wasn't sure on how to change Mobius back to normal but now you've told me how it happened in the first place, I have a plan."

"You do?" asked Tails excitedly.

"Definitely." said Geoffrey with a friendly smile "Me and you will sneak into the Palace of Steel, the likely hiding place of Dr. Eggman and Metal Sonic and we'll use that time changing machine to turn Mobius back to the way it was two days ago."

"How are we gonna get in though?" asked Tails "The palace is surrounded by Metal Sonic clones and without Sonic, we'll never get past them!"

"I've been building EMP bombs in secret with Wilson and Mandy, who are in hiding right now." explained Geoffrey, pulling one out his pocket. The bomb was silver in colour with a button and a timer screen on it "We throw one at the army of Metal Sonics and we'll put half the army to sleep."

"That sounds awfully risky Mr. St. John." said Tails "Do you think we'll succeed?"

"I haven't a doubt in my mind little boy." said Geoffrey confidently "As Sonic once said, let's do it to it mate!"

Geoffrey immediately leapt to his feet and tore his robe off, revealing his green combat suit and he ran out of the alleyway with Tails following him quickly.

Unfortunately, they had unknowingly been spied on by a camera probe shaped like Metal Sonic's head. Metal Sonic had heard everything that Geoffrey and Tails had been saying to each other from the comfort of his own throne room and he wasn't pleased to hear that Tails knew how he changed Mobius and now he and Geoffrey were going to try and ruin everything. However unlike most villains, Metal Sonic didn't fret or worry about it. He was so confident his army was invincible and he was so unbeatable that Tails and Geoffrey would die trying to get to Egg-Timer. Metal Sonic patted the arms of his metallic blue throne that was as spiky as he was and he cackled a deep malevolent cackle to himself.

"So, I have a resistance do I?" he droned "Good, I was beginning to fear this new life was going to get dull and vapid."

"Don't you get too over confident Metal Sonic!" yelled Dr. Eggman "Your arrogance will lead to your downfall if you're not careful!"

Dr. Eggman was locked in a cage that sat beside Metal Sonic's throne. The cage was way too small for him, he couldn't even stand up in it, he was trapped in a sitting position and he was awfully cramped in the cage. Metal Sonic thumped the cage furiously.

"I will thank you for not voicing your unneeded opinions Dr. Eggman." snapped Metal Sonic "I know how to handle Sonic's loathsome sidekick. My army will be too much for him and if he somehow gets past my clones, he won't get past my marvellous killing machine that lurks in the lower parts of my palace."

"I hate to say it Metal Sonic but I think you're right." said Dr. Eggman in a defeated tone "Without Sonic, Tails is no match for your clone army or your killer pet."

"Affirmative." said Metal Sonic, getting up from his throne and wondering up to the balcony outside the throne room.

He stood at the balcony and admired his glorious city that stretched all over Mobius. His waist cloak blew in the hard blowing yet gentle wind behind him. His city looked as glorious as ever and to Metal Sonic's pleasure, his slaves were working as hard as ever. The slaves were continuing to gather mining material for Metal Sonic to use to make more Metal Sonic clones. They looked famished and worn out as if they had been at this all day and all night. Queen Sally Acorn and Nicole the Lynx were unfortunate enough to be slaves themselves and they both looked dreadful. Any Mobian caught fainting or slowing down got a beating from one of Metal Sonic's insidious clones and that was one of the reasons the slaves looked terrible, they were often beaten since due to the lack of food and water, they were becoming weaker day by day and all that earned them was a beating from the clones. Metal Sonic just admired the sight of the suffering and working slaves with sadistic satisfaction. This was the perfect world and he had earned it unlike Dr. Eggman who did not deserve anything after all his foiled attempts in the past. He was certain nothing was going to foil it and nothing was going to go wrong for him.

As for Tails and Geoffrey, they found themselves running through the working slaves as fast as they possibly could. All the slaves stopped working and looked up in surprise at Tails and Geoffrey rushing past them. The Metal Sonic clones that watched the slaves looked up and stared at the skunk and fox running toward the Palace of Steel. The clones immediately stepped forward and prepared to attack Tails and Geoffrey. Geoffrey was ready for them though. With a sinister grin on his face, he yanked and EMP bomb out of his pocket, pressed a button and threw it in the centre of the crowd of Metal Sonic clones.

"Geoffrey, is it really a good idea to throw the bomb here?" cried Tails "The bomb will hurt the people was well as the clones!"

"Nah mate, the bomb's effects are completely harmless to organic matter." said Geoffrey brightly "Only robots are affected by its sheer power."

The Metal Sonic clones began to advance menacingly on Tails and Geoffrey with their optics blazing and their claws bared. But before the army of clones could get even a foot close to them, the bomb went off and sent a electromagnetic pulse roaring all through the army. All the slaves watching the performance, like Geoffrey promised, weren't effected in anyway by the wave but all the Metal Sonic clones began to groan robotically, their joints sized up, electricity pulsed through their circuits and their optics began to go crazy. Then the entire clone army did a chorus of fainting after the EMP pulse stopped. Tails was well and truly impressed.

"Wow! That was incredible! Who invented those bombs?" he cried excitedly.

"A mechanic me, Wilson and Mandy have befriended in this new timeline." said Geoffrey "He's a great guy at mechanics and inventions and he made those EMP bombs for us to use on the clone army of Metal Sonics."

"Well if it works on those clones then we can use it on Metal Sonic and then Dr. Eggman will be powerless against us!" exclaimed Tails "This is perfect! This operation will be easy!"

"Yeah about that…I only bought one." said Geoffrey sadly "The mechanic hasn't made anymore yet, the bomb I used is literally the first bomb he built. He hasn't rung me to say he's built anymore so I don't think I'll get any spares anytime soon."

"Well that's a bummer." said Tails "We'll have to try and avoid Metal Sonic best we can, we can't defeat him without Sonic on our side."

"Sounds good to me." said Geoffrey "Now let's go, our key to Mobius' return to it's former glory is in our hands."

Geoffrey ran up to the Palace of Steel. Tails tried to run after him but he was stopped by someone tugging on his tails. It was Nicole. She and Sally were surprised with the sudden rescue mission and they wanted to wish the two luck before they pressed on.

"What is it Nicole?" asked Tails "I've got our world to save."

"Please…cough!…be…careful in there you two." said Nicole hoarsely, she had trouble speaking clearly due to how weak she was.

"You're our only hope…splutter!to return…the world to normal." coughed Sally "Don't…lose your heads…cough!…in there or we're doomed!"

"We'll be fine Sally." said Tails "We know what we're doing. We'll have the world back to normal in no time."

Tails ran off to the palace after Geoffrey who was already at the doors. The doors had been opened thanks to the EMP bomb so they just let themselves in. Sally and Nicole looked at each other with an exchange of worried expressions.

"I know…Commander St. John can handle things…himself…but will he and Tails…be enough for Metal Sonic and his…army?" wheezed Nicole weakly.

"There's a small doubt they'll…be…able to Nicole…" said Sally, gasping with every word she said "If only Sonic…hadn't… mysteriously…disappeared…he could save the day…in…record time."

As for Metal Sonic, he had watched Tails and Geoffrey St. John's attack from up in his balcony and he was furious to see that Geoffrey had a weapon that could trump his army. He had scanned the bomb just as it went off so he had the data necessary to render himself invulnerable to the EMP bomb's effects so the weapon would be useless against him. Regardless, he had to stop Tails and Geoffrey from getting to Egg-Timer before they ruined his glorious paradise. And he had just the thing to stop them.

"So Sonic's sidekick and the skunk fighter have compromised my army and entered my palace?" he said to himself "No matter, my killer pet will eviscerate them before they can even get here…"

He cackled darkly to himself.

In the palace, Geoffrey and Tails had run through the main hall, went through a door and found themselves in a giant room that was featureless save for four plain white walls and an elevator door that likely led up into Metal Sonic's quarters. Tails began to wonder what this room was for.

"Well, for a big metal palace, this is pretty drab looking." said Geoffrey "The palace was nice and all but this room doesn't seem like it fits into the palace at all."

"I have no idea what this room is but I bet it's not good." said Tails.

He was about to run over and try the elevator and see if they could get up to Metal Sonic's quarters until he spotted something. There was a little girl chained to the wall by her arms and looking terrible. Tails ran over to the girl and to his horror, found out it was none other then his love interest Cosmo the Seedrian! Metal Sonic hadn't erased her from existence after all! Instead, he'd taken her prisoner and took great delight in torturing her due to the fact she wasn't Mobian and it was his sick, twisted idea of fun. Cosmo's clothes were torn in some places, her face was laden with scares and she had bruises everywhere. She looked like she'd been hit by a truck. Tails' stomach churned. How could anyone do this to her? He obviously didn't know who did it but he was determined to make whoever it was pay for causing Cosmo so much pain. He whipped out his screwdriver and he plunged it into the lock on Cosmo's shackles. Geoffrey noticed that Tails was doing something and he ran over to him.

"What's up Tails?" he asked "Oh my goodness! Is that poor little Cosmo?" he cried, noticing Cosmo's pained state.

"It is." said Tails as he tried to pick the locks "Dr. Eggman and Metal Sonic decided to take her prisoner and use her for stress relief it seems. I'm gonna make them pay for doing this to her!"

He gave the screwdriver a turn and Cosmo's left shackle suddenly opened. Her arm flopped down lifelessly by her side. Tails began working on Cosmo's right shackle and he opened it with the pick of a lock. Cosmo slumped against the wall on the floor, groaning like a zombie. Tails picked her up bridal style. Cosmo's head flopped back lifelessly and she sighed a weary sigh. Tails' eyes began to water again.

"Cosmo…? Are you alright…?" he asked worriedly.

Cosmo stirred weakly and she opened her eyes. Despite the heavy beating she'd received, her eyes remained as beautiful and as blue as ever. She lifted her head up and her face lit up when she saw who was carrying her. Tails' face brightened too, he was relieved to see his girlfriend was alive.

"Cosmo!" he cried "You're alive! Thank goodness! I thought I'd never see you again!"

"I'm…glad to see…you again too…Tails." choked Cosmo.

She was so battered and beaten she seemed to be having great trouble just talking to Tails. She feebly put her arms around Tails and smiled at her adorable boyfriend.

"Who did this to you and why Cosmo?" demanded Tails.

"Metal Sonic…did…" croaked Cosmo "He didn't…like…my appearance…so he kidnapped…me…kept me here…and used me as a punch…ing…bag. He tortured…me just…to get the…satis… faction of hearing…me…scream. He held…back long…enough… for…me…to live but…the…moment I re…cover…he'll torture…me again…"

"No he won't!" yelled Geoffrey "We're going to sneak into Metal Sonic's quarters and reset the world back to normal!"

"Oh really? How do you plan to do that then organics?" Metal Sonic's deep, ominous voice boomed around the entire room, making everybody jump.

Tails put Cosmo down and looked up at the ceiling. Geoffrey looked up at the ceiling and wondered where Metal Sonic's voice was coming from.

"Metal Sonic!" yelled Tails "You and Eggman have gone too far! You've ruined our world, tortured one of my best friends and erased my best friend from existence! I'm gonna set things right and you'll be sorry you did this!"

"I'll overlook your condescending and overbearing tone little one if you heave the gravity of mine." boomed Metal Sonic's voice flatly.

"If it's an interesting tone and not a vapid and arrogant one then we'll listen." retorted Geoffrey.

"Dr. Eggman had nothing to do with this world." explained Metal Sonic "All this is my work. I overthrew my incompetent and insubordinate master and hijacked the operation. I shaped this world into my image and everyone is bound to my rules and my whims. I took the pleasure in torturing your plant friend because she is a freak of nature and she's an amusing novelty when it comes to inflicting pain on her."

"You sick, metal monster!" screeched Tails "You show yourself so I can pound your ugly head in!"

"I will not give you the satisfaction of facing me in battle unless you can defeat my little pet." retorted Metal Sonic eerily "If you can defeat him, you may battle me. If not then you become my next victims of amusement."

"Bring it on! We'll take it!" yelled Geoffrey cockily.

Metal Sonic said nothing more. The elevator shaft suddenly went ding and opened up.

"With great pleasure and deep pride, I present to you, my machine of mass destruction and pet of amusement." boomed Metal Sonic "Behold…Silver Sonic!"

The elevator doors opened and a huge hand burst out of the shaft and clawed at the wall. Then the entire body came out, destroying the shaft as it emerged from within the small space it was contained in. Tails, Geoffrey and Cosmo stared up in disbelief at the giant machine that stood before them. This machine was Metal Sonic's killer pet robot Silver Sonic. He was an eight foot tall robot that strongly resembled Sonic the Hedgehog. It had orange eyes that burned in a black visor, huge sharp blades on it's head and back instead of quills, large clawed hands, a sharp black nose, red feet with a pair of small wheels on either foot, gold details around the legs and a very shiny silver coat of metal. Silver Sonic looked extremely scary and he looked like he was ready to kill. Tails and Geoffrey were so shocked they almost chickened out and fled the room where as Cosmo didn't know if she wanted to faint or not.

"Great blinkin' soldiers of war!" blurted Geoffrey "That bloke's a bloomin' beast!"

"I'll s-s-say it i-i-is!" whimpered Tails "I-it's s-s-scarier l-looking then M-M-Mecha Sonic!"

"Silver Sonic…ATTACK!" bellowed Metal Sonic's deep, malevolent voice.

Silver Sonic obeyed his evil master and he spun into a spin-dash. A six foot tall Mecha Sonic spin-dash was bad enough but Silver Sonic's was downright lethal! He looked like a huge ball with sword blades sticking out of it! Tails, Geoffrey and Cosmo ran like rabbits around the room as Silver Sonic tried to spin-dash them. Silver Sonic's spin-dash was so powerful and fierce, he dented the floor as he hit and ended up catapulting himself into the ceiling. He hit the ceiling, dented it, and landed back on his feet. Geoffrey started rapidly firing darts at Silver Sonic but not a single dart harmed the giant silver beast of a robot. They just pinged harmlessly off his armour. Silver Sonic ran over to Geoffrey and tried to claw at him but the skunk leaped out of the way, landed on Silver Sonic's arm and ran up it. Silver Sonic whacked at Geoffrey but he missed and hit his arm. He didn't accidentally break it off since Silver Sonic was tough enough to withstand his own punches. Geoffrey climbed onto Silver Sonic's shoulder and began firing darts at his visor. The darts just pinged off Silver Sonic's visor harmlessly. Silver Sonic was made of tough stuff and it was going to take more then a simple dart to harm it. Geoffrey decided to stop relying on his weapon and do something else. He leaped towards Silver Sonic's huge head and kicked it. The attack didn't seem to hurt Silver Sonic the slightest but it did distract it long enough for Geoffrey to kick it again. Silver Sonic swiped at Geoffrey, forcing the skunk to dodge and leap off of Silver Sonic for his own safety. He landed on the floor and Silver Sonic clawed at him again, missing by inches. While Silver Sonic was distracted by Geoffrey, Tails was trying to get out since he didn't want to take on that beast of a robot Silver Sonic. The only trouble was, the door was locked so he, Cosmo and Geoffrey were trapped in the room with Silver Sonic. Then he noticed the destroyed elevator shaft that Silver Sonic had torn his way through. Maybe he could fly up the shaft and up to Metal Sonic's lair to Egg-Timer. Tails flew past the brawling Silver Sonic and Geoffrey and headed to the elevator shaft. But suddenly a pair of doors closed in front of the destroyed shaft, cutting Tails off from the shaft and leaving him more trapped then before.

"Nah ah, ah small one." purred Metal Sonic "No one leaves this room until there's a victor in this conflict."

"Metal Sonic, you let me out of here now!" yelled Tails" Or are you too scared to face us yourself?"

Metal Sonic didn't answer him. Tails turned around just in time to dodge a mega spin-dash from Silver Sonic. Silver Sonic crashed into the wall but he quickly regained his senses and chased after the fox. Geoffrey distracted him by firing a dart into the underside of Silver Sonic's shoulder pad. The dart stunned Silver Sonic's shoulder but it didn't hurt him. Silver Sonic diverted his attention from Tails and back to Geoffrey who ran around the room to keep Silver Sonic busy. Silver Sonic ran after him, trying to claw at Geoffrey as he neared and neared him. Now Silver Sonic was off Tails' back, Tails could see to trying to get through the elevator shaft. He knelt down by the closed shaft and opened a panel on the wall with his screwdriver.

"Now if I can sabotage this….then I should be able to open this shaft…and get up to Metal Sonic's quarters and set things back to normal." he said to himself.

He began fiddling about with the wires and circuitry inside the open panel. Silver Sonic and Geoffrey ran past Tails but Tails didn't seem to notice. He was too keen to open the door. Geoffrey leaped into the air just as Silver Sonic clawed at him and Geoffrey fired a dart at his shoulder. The dart pinged off his shoulder but that didn't matter since the dart was just a diversion so Geoffrey could climb up Silver Sonic's shoulder and kick him in the head. That kick was a lot harder then the first and Silver Sonic's head went backwards a little. Geoffrey climbed on top of his head and tricked Silver Sonic into trying to whack him. Silver Sonic swatted at Geoffrey but the skunk jumped off of him so Silver Sonic whacked himself in the forehead. Silver Sonic ended up knocking himself over but even that didn't bring the giant silver beast down. Silver Sonic got back to his feet and stomped at Geoffrey in an attempt to squash the skunk but he missed. Then Silver Sonic spotted Cosmo just lying against the wall feeling limp and lame. Silver Sonic was a mindless killing machine so it didn't care who it killed or who his targets are, he would kill anyone just for the sake of it. Silver Sonic stomped over to Cosmo. Cosmo opened her eyes and screamed as Silver Sonic loomed above her. She tried to get up and run but her injuries were too great so she was forced to stay sitting down. She could do nothing but stare up helplessly at the giant silver robot looming above her.

"Tails! Help!" she cried.

Tails stopped what he was doing and almost fainted with shock at what he saw.

"Oh no! Cosmo! I'm coming!" cried Tails.

Too late. Tails got up to his feet and ran over to Cosmo but Silver Sonic raised his foot and brought it crashing down on Cosmo. There was a horrible crunch sound as his foot squashed the poor Seedrian into the floor. Silver Sonic raised his foot, revealing a squashed and pretty much dead Cosmo lying on the floor. Silver Sonic was about to squash Tails next but Geoffrey distracted him with another dart and Silver Sonic clawed at him. Tails knelt down beside the flattened Seedrian and his eyes began to well up with tears.

"Cosmo…?" he asked nervously.

No answer. Cosmo was well and truly dead. No one could survive being stomped on by an eight foot tall machine like that. Tails broke down in tears for the third time today.

"NO!" he cried "Cosmo! That monster killed you! You suffered enough pain as it was, you didn't need to die as well!"

Tails just knelt by Cosmo's side, sobbing over her grisly death. Then something in Tails' mind went click and he stopped wailing.

"Wait a minute…it doesn't matter." he said "If I reset Mobius to the way it was before Metal Sonic changed it, Cosmo will still be alive! The only trouble is I need to get to Metal Sonic's quarters and find that machine!"

He wiped his eyes dry and ran back to the elevator shaft so he could try and get the doors open. Meanwhile, Geoffrey was beginning to get worn out from all the running he did whilst avoiding Silver Sonic. Geoffrey knew he needed back up but he couldn't get any because the doors were locked and he was trapped in the room with Silver Sonic. Unless he could get Silver Sonic to break the doors open for him. Geoffrey knew what he had to do. He saw Silver Sonic trying to spin-dash at him again and he ran towards the door. Geoffrey threw himself down on the floor and left Silver Sonic to whiz over him and crash into the door. Being strong and massive, Silver Sonic broke the doors open effortlessly. Geoffrey ran up to the broken down doors just as Silver Sonic was turning around. He spotted Tails trying to get the elevator shaft open and he decided to attack him. Silver Sonic ran over to Tails and straight over Geoffrey. Now he was safe, Geoffrey retreated through the broken doors and out of the room. He ran on through the hallway and out of the palace to get some reinforcements.

"Sorry to abandon you Tails but we need some spare recruits!" Geoffrey puffed to himself as he ran "I'll be back as soon as I can!"

As for Tails, he was still trying unsuccessfully to open the elevator shaft. No matter what he did to the open panel, he couldn't seem to get the shaft to open. Then suddenly, Tails found himself being grabbed from behind by Silver Sonic and hoisted up to his monstrous height. Tails looked Silver Sonic directly in the eye and began to tremble with fear. His ears drooped back and his eyes widened. Silver Sonic made a weird sound that sounded almost like a growl only very robotical sounding. He was pleased to have caught somebody in his claws. Metal Sonic's ominous voice boomed with laughter over the intercom and echoed around the room.

"Looks like you lose twin-tails." cackled Metal Sonic "Now you shall spend the rest of your life as my little toy. Silver Sonic, bring him up to me." he ordered.

Silver Sonic obeyed and smashed his way through the closed elevator shaft with Tails still in his claws. The elevator, which was still intact, began to take Silver Sonic up to Metal Sonic's quarters. There was no escape for poor Tails now. He was doomed. There was no hope for Mobius now, Mobius was doomed to be trapped in this timeline forever…

Meanwhile, Geoffrey St. John had run all the way back to his secret hideout. His hideout was in a sewer that only he and anyone else hiding in it knew about. As Geoffrey opened the sewer lid and climbed down into the sewer, he began to feel bad about leaving Tails alone with the monstrous Silver Sonic. Tails could be dead at this moment and it would be his fault for not bothering to take him with him. If Tails was dead though it didn't matter. If they reset Mobius and time to how it was two days ago then Tails, as well as Cosmo, would be brought back alive. Geoffrey climbed down the last step and ran through the smelly, murky tunnels of the sewer to the hiding place. Geoffrey came across a door in the wall and he opened it. He went through the door and closed it behind him. He was now in a room that looked like a bunker in a World War. It was only a tiny space with beds for anyone hiding in this room to sleep in, chairs and a table and various equipment for battle such as weapons and gadgets and gizmos of any kind. The only people in this room were Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse. They had survived Mobius' time change and had spent these two days plotting things with Geoffrey. The two fighters had been doing nothing but waiting around for any updates and the moment Geoffrey returned, their faces lit up.

"Geoffrey! You're back." said Wilson happily.

"How did things go?" asked Mandy "Did the EMP bomb work?"

"It worked to perfection Mandy." said Geoffrey "Have we got any spares yet?"

"We just got a delivery today." said Wilson, picking up a brown bag and showing it to Geoffrey "This bag is full of EMP bombs. Now we know they work, we can take them into battle."

"That's great news." said the skunk, his face brightening "We could do with them bombs right now. Metal Sonic has a giant robot named Silver Sonic and it's absolutely terrifying! It's got blades on the back of its head, it's huge and it's tough to beat!"

"I'm not surprised Metal Sonic has something like that." muttered Mandy "It's just in his nature to have giant killer robots at his beck and call."

"I've got other news for you two." said Geoffrey "I have a little talk with somebody and he knows how this timeline got changed and how we fix it."

"Really?" said Wilson happily "How do we change time back to normal then?"

"Dr. Eggman has a machine that has the ability to change time and appearances." explained Geoffrey "All we've got to do is get into Metal Sonic's headquarters and use that machine. If we can get to the machine, we use it to reset time and the world is fixed and back to the way it was."

"How are we going to know which is the machine?" asked Wilson "We don't know what it looks like."

"Maybe I can convince Dr. Eggman into telling us." suggested Geoffrey "Now are we ready to go you two?"

"Ready when you are Geoffrey." said Mandy with a tone of determination in her voice.

"Alright then, let's march over to Metal Sonic's headquarters and give that metal bloke what for!" said Geoffrey.

Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy left the room and marched on down the sewers.

Hang on Tails mate thought Geoffrey in his head We're coming…

His World and Our World

Story 51: His World and Our World

"Look how the mighty have fallen." droned Metal Sonic in his deep, malevolent voice at his captive "You were the sidekick of my very nemesis Sonic the Hedgehog and now you're nothing more then my novelty of amusement Miles Prower. Or should I say Tails since you do not like your real name?"

He cackled tauntingly. Tails had been restrained to the wall by laser cuffs around his wrists and ankles. He was going absolutely nowhere and he knew it. Metal Sonic had been very pleased with the fact he had captured Sonic the Hedgehog's sidekick and now he was free to do as he saw fit with him. Tails was not impressed with Metal Sonic's gloating at all, he just remained tight lipped and took the gloats. He noticed Dr. Eggman all locked up in his cage and looking very cramped indeed.

"So I take it you're not in charge anymore Dr. Eggman?" asked Tails.

"Correct." said Dr. Eggman "Metal Sonic that blasted piece of machinery thought it was funny to betray me, make the world into his image and reduce me to his little pet! I've spent the last two days in this cage and I think I'm beginning to get rheumatism!"

He rubbed his back tenderly, suggesting it ached what with being stuck in a sat-down position for so long.

"Your voice is not needed to be heard right now Eggman." snapped Metal Sonic "I'm trying to have a conversation with a worthy person."

Dr. Eggman just shut up and began to grumble to himself. Metal Sonic turned his attention back to Tails.

"I never thought you would end up attempting to try and undo all I've done for this world." he droned "I would have thought with Sonic the Hedgehog gone, your spirit would have diminished into a flickering flame that is on the verge of being blown out."

"Shows how much you know." grumbled Tails "With or without Sonic, I'll do what I must to ensure Mobius' peace and freedom returns once again!"

"And how do you plan to do that in your position?" purred Metal Sonic, grabbing Tails by the face and jamming his face into Tails'. Metal Sonic's sharp, pointed nose prodded Tails in his nose "You're completely restrained, there's no one to help you and the skunk fighter has deserted you, you have no hope of bringing peace and prosperity back to Mobius little boy."

Tails was about to retort back but he stopped himself. He had no comeback to give to Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic was completely right. There was no one to help him, Geoffrey had left him and he was bound to the wall. There was no way he could possibly turn Mobius back to normal. Defeated, Tails closed his mouth and stared down at the floor. If Metal Sonic had a mouth, he would probably be smiling right now. Metal Sonic lifted his face away from Tails and he began to chuckle darkly.

"Why is it a defeated hero is such an amusing novelty?" he said darkly "Maybe it's because they aren't being so irksome with their witty comebacks and combat moves."

"I can't believe I'm saying this Dr. Eggman." said Tails, looking over to Dr. Eggman, who was squatting in his cage and sulking to himself "But I think I preferred it when you were the only threat we had to deal with."

"You're only saying that because I'm manageable to you!" snapped Dr. Eggman "You can find a way to foil my schemes but when Metal Sonic tries to take over Mobius, you think it's all over! You must really think little of me Tails!"

"Dr. Eggman, if I hear your voice again then I'll have to eviscerate you in front of the prisoner." said Metal Sonic coldly "Silence yourself and don't talk again!"

Dr. Eggman shut up again and he folded his arms and pouted. Metal Sonic turned back to Tails.

"Now little fox, it's time I had some fun now." he purred in a cruel, sadistic tone.

"You're not gonna torture me like you tortured Cosmo are you?" asked Tails nervously.

"No." said Metal Sonic "I'm going to torture you differently to how I tortured the Seedrian filth. With the Seedrian, I was physical, with you, I'll let your binds do it for me."

He pressed a button on the wall and Tails' laser cuffs began to electrocute the poor fox with a jolt of electricity. The electricity surged up Tails' tiny body and the eight year old fox cub howled in pain. His screams echoed around the room and Metal Sonic just laughed with amusement. The tyrannical Sonic double was clearly enjoying watching Tails suffer from his evil wrath. He began to wonder what it would have been like if he was torturing Sonic the Hedgehog, his most primary nemesis instead of his twin-tailed friend instead. Metal Sonic pressed the button and the laser cuffs stopped electrocuting Tails. Tails began to gasp heavily and his head flopped down.

"What is with you…Metal Sonic?" he gasped "You've…remoulded Mobius…in your image! Is that not enough for you? You…have to… torture people…for you own amusement now?"

"Oh Tails, see it from my optics." droned Metal Sonic "I'm ruler of Mobius with my city and my servants, Mobians slave away for me and I have no opposition because Sonic doesn't exist. I have nothing to occupy myself with so I'm allowing you Mobians to live alongside my clone army so I may have some entertainment."

Tails was livid with shock.

"Entertainment?" he shrieked "You mean the only reason we're alive is because you're holding back enough for us to live? And the only reason you're letting us live is so you can entertain yourself with us?"

"Affirmative." droned Metal Sonic "I could easily erase you Mobians from existence with Eggman's Egg-Timer machine but then what would I do to keep myself entertained? You're nothing but toys for me little fox. All you Mobians are my items of amusement and once I'm bored of you Mobians, I'll just wipe you from existence and then make a new bunch of Mobians for me to toy around with Egg-Timer's unique and unfathomable power. And the best part is that no one has the power to stand against me. Anyone who steps out of line will just get erased, simple as."

Tails felt sick to the stomach after hearing what Metal Sonic had to say. He couldn't believe how evil Eggman's robot Sonic clone had become since the change. The Mobians were just toys for Metal Sonic now? How sick and twisted was this robot? Even Dr. Eggman was impressed at what Metal Sonic had said.

"I must say, I never knew Metal Sonic was THAT evil!" he blurted "I'm impressed Metal Sonic! You sound an awful lot like me you do! There's more of me in you then I thought!"

"That is why I am superior." gloated Metal Sonic, pointing sharply at Dr. Eggman "I have the body of a robot, the speed of Sonic the Hedgehog, the strength of many and the intelligence and evil of you Eggman. All this combined makes me the most powerful robot ever created and it's exactly those traits that have earned me my power and my robot kingdom which no one will ever be able to stop."

"So you think Metal Sonic!" exclaimed Tails "Someone will stop you and set things right and then you'll be sorry!"

"You are the one who will be sorry young one." droned Metal Sonic coldly.

He pressed the button on the wall and Tails soon found himself being electrocuted once again. His pained screams filled the room as electricity surged through him like a lightening rod…

Geoffrey St. John, Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse had all crept out of their hiding place down the sewers and closed the lid behind them as quietly as they could as they didn't want to make a noise and get themselves found out. The three Mobians began to creep as quietly as they possibly could through the metal streets of Metal Sonic's kingdom. They crouched down beside a dumpster behind a building and remained hidden as a bunch of Metal Sonic clones began to march by. The sight of so many Metal Sonic clones began to make Wilson shiver with fright. Just one Metal Sonic was bad enough but an ENTIRE ARMY of Metal Sonics was just too much. Wilson stopped looking at the marching Metal Sonic army and he sat down with his back against the wall, trying to calm down. Mandy just put her hand on his shoulder and the dog relaxed.

"Oh thanks Mandy. I needed that." said Wilson happily.

"That's what I'm here for Wilson, to drown out your fears and rise up your courage." said Mandy "So skunk boy, do we have a plan?"

"You bet your tail I do." said Geoffrey "With this bunch of EMP bombs we have, we're gonna bomb the clones guarding the palace, then we're gonna bomb Silver Sonic before he can stop us from reaching Metal Sonic and once we reach Metal Sonic, we bomb him and then we find the machine Metal Sonic used to change time and reset everything back to the way it was."

"And since these EMP bombs can take out machines of any kind, Metal Sonic is toast!" said Mandy, full of determination "When do we start?"

"When I give the command." said Geoffrey "Wait here."

He crept to the other side of the building and looked both ways. There was nothing on his left and on his right he just saw the Metal Sonic clones marching towards the Palace of Steel. Directly from behind would be the perfect time to strike. Geoffrey pulled an EMP bomb out of the bag he had around his shoulder and he tossed the bomb at the army of Metal Sonic clones. The bomb landed just behind the back of the line and shortly after landing, the bomb went off, sending a huge electromagnetic pulse sweeping through the clones. The clones wailed at the top of their robotic voices as electricity pulsed through their circuits and then they all collapsed in a heap after the shocks were finished. Geoffrey smiled to himself.

"We can start now!" he hissed to Wilson and Mandy.

Wilson and Mandy got to their feet and ran up to the skunk. They peeked around the corner and saw the knocked out squad of Metal Sonic clones that Geoffrey had just bombed.

"That's one effective EMP bomb isn't it?" said Wilson.

"It sure is." said Geoffrey "Metal Sonic doesn't stand a chance against us not while we have these bombs with us. We don't have an awful lot so we'd best keep our bombings to a minimum."

"Right." said Mandy "Let's press forward then, the fate of the world lies in our hands!"

Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy emerged from their hiding place and headed towards the Palace of Steel, the very place Metal Sonic was lurking in and the likely place the three Mobians would find Egg-Timer. As they reached the Palace of Steel, Geoffrey noticed that all the Metal Sonic clones he'd knocked out earlier were still unconscious. Maybe the bomb was more effective then they thought and it actually killed the Metal Sonic clones instead of just knocking them out. The slaves that were slaving away for Metal Sonic saw Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy heading for the Palace of Steel and they began to wonder if they would set things right and fix the world. Queen Sally Acorn and Nicole the Lynx however, weren't so hopeful. Geoffrey and Tails couldn't get through to Metal Sonic so Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy weren't likely to either. Then suddenly, just as Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy were passing them, the Metal Sonic clones began to wake up. Their fearsome red eyes returned to their pitch black visor and they all began to get back to their feet. Sally noticed this and called over to the three Mobians.

"Geoffrey! Look out! The clones are waking up!" she screeched.

Geoffrey stopped dead in his tracks and noticed that like Sally had said, the Metal Sonic clones were all getting back to their feet. Geoffrey plunged his hand into the bag to get another EMP bomb but one of the clones blasted him in the back with its torso laser and knocked him over. Geoffrey dropped the bag and a Metal Sonic clone grabbed it. Sensing what was in the bag was a danger to them, it began to swing the bag around and around as if it was throwing the hammer and then with a mighty swing of the arm, the Metal Sonic clones let go of the bag and the bag hurtled into the air. It flew for one hundred yards before finally falling down and crashing somewhere out of sight. The EMP bombs were lost now, there was no way of defeating the clones without it. Geoffrey cursed his bad luck and he got back to his feet.

"Well mates, I guess we'll have to take these blokes with brute force!" he said, getting into a battle ready stance.

"It sure does seem that way Geoffrey St. John." said Mandy, bending down in a battle ready stance.

"Are you both insane?" shrieked Wilson "We can't take on all those Metal Sonics by ourselves! We couldn't even take one of them down so what hope do we have against an ENTIRE ARMY OF THEM?"

"We're not taking them on, we're merely keeping them back so we can get into the palace." snapped Geoffrey.

"Oh right." said Wilson, pulling a capsule off his belt.

The capsule extended into his trademark spinning blade weapon and he bent down in a battle ready stance. The Metal Sonic clones surrounded the three Mobians and they all prepared to attack. Their claws were bared and they were ready to strike. Wilson struck first by throwing his spinning blade. The double-bladed pole like weapon hurtled like a boomerang through the Metal Sonic clones and any Metal Sonic clone unfortunate enough to be in the path of the spinning blade got sliced in half. The Metal Sonic clones all pounced on Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy but Geoffrey kicked them away and began to cut loose on them. Mandy leaped out of their way in an elegant somersault, leaving the clones to crash into each other. Mandy pulled a bomb off her belt and threw it at the clones. The bomb landed in the middle of their circle and the bomb blew the clones to pieces.

"These guys are a joke!" laughed Mandy "They're not even as strong as the real Metal Sonic!"

"Lucky us I guess!" yelled Wilson as he pushed a Metal Sonic clone away with his spinning blade.

One tried to sneak up behind Wilson but Wilson stabbed behind him with the spinning blade and he stabbed the clone in the torso, killing it instantly. A Metal Sonic clone dropkicked Wilson in the head and sent him sprawling on the floor. Mandy tried to help with a dropkick of her own but the clone caught her leg and threw her into the ground. Geoffrey shot the clone with a dart that stunned the clone and switched it offline. Unfortunately for Geoffrey, a Metal Sonic clone suddenly got the drop on him with a punch to the face. The punch was so hard, Geoffrey's goggles cracked and he landed painfully on his side. Then two clones tried to attack Geoffrey while he was down but Mandy kicked them both away. She helped Geoffrey back onto his feet.

"I think fun time's over Geoffrey old boy." said Mandy "Let's get in the palace before those Metal Sonic clones overwhelm us."

"Funny, I was just thinking the same thing luv." said Geoffrey "Wilson, come on! We're going to the Palace of Steel now!"

"Aw, I was having fun!" muttered Wilson, pushing a Metal Sonic clone away and impaling it through the stomach with his spinning blade weapon.

The three Mobians ran up to the palace doors only to find out they had been closed shut. Geoffrey murmured to himself.

"Dang it!" he cursed "When me and Tails ambushed the place, the EMP bomb opened the doors for us but now Metal Sonic's closed them. I bet we'll have a tough time opening them too."

"I have a sneaky feeling that the doors maybe bomb proof." said Mandy, feeling the thick steel they were made of "And I can't afford to waste any bombs, I only have a handful left and I'll need them all for the fight with Metal Sonic."

"Why don't we climb up there?" asked Wilson.

He pointed up to the balcony that was high up from the ground.

Geoffrey looked up at it and thought for a moment.

"That would be a good way in." said Geoffrey "I hope my grappler can reach that high."

He loaded a dart into his arm-mounted crossbow and he fired it up at the balcony. As the dart whizzed up to its target, a rope extended out the back of it. The dart embedded itself directly under the balcony. Geoffrey pulled on the rope to make sure it was nice and tight and he began to climb up the wall with use of the rope. Unfortunately, a bunch of Metal Sonic clones began running up towards the Mobians with their claws bared. Geoffrey looked over his shoulder and gasped.

"Wilson, Mandy! Keep those blokes away while I climb this and then you climb up once I'm on the balcony!" he ordered.

"Roger." said Mandy, leaping up in an elegant somersault and landing foot first on a Metal Sonic clone.

The clone was knocked off its feet and onto its back. Wilson threw his spinning blade at the clones and the spinning blade sliced any clone in its path to pieces. While the dog and mouse kept the clones busy, Geoffrey climbed up and up the wall and closer to the balcony. He just prayed none of the clones would fly up after him or he would be mince meat. The position he was in left him rather vulnerable to attack since he would be unable to fight back as he was holding onto the rope and climbing up it and if any of the Metal Sonic clones snapped his rope, he would fall and have a not very pleasant landing on the hard ground below. Luckily, the Metal Sonic clones seemed keener on attacking Wilson and Mandy then flying up after him and stopping him from reaching the balcony. Down on the ground, Wilson and Mandy were still trying their hardest to keep the Metal Sonic clones away but despite their best efforts, they still kept coming. Metal Sonic had millions of clones after all so no matter how many clones they took down, they just kept coming back. Mandy kicked one clone away and then fell to her knees, panting.

"pant! I dunno about you Wilson but I'm getting worn out!" she gasped.

"I think we should climb up after Geoffrey." said Wilson, pushing a clone away with his weapon "And we'd best be quick or these things will get us."

Wilson turned to the wall and he grabbed the rope. He began to climb up it just as Geoffrey pulled himself onto the balcony. The skunk peered over to see what was happening and was relieved to see Wilson climbing to safety. Mandy began to climb up the rope after Wilson and since she was a very good climber, she began climbing exceptionally quickly in comparison to Geoffrey and Wilson. The Metal Sonic clones looked up at the climbing dog and mouse and they flew up after them. Geoffrey saw what they were doing and he began rapidly firing darts at them to keep them distracted. The darts all pinged harmlessly off every clone Geoffrey hit and the clones glared angrily at the skunk. Two clones flew towards the skunk but Geoffrey was ready for them. He dropkicked one clone on the head and sent it crashing into the other clone and they both began hurtling down to the ground. They whizzed past Mandy and crashed into the wall. Wilson had just made it unto the balcony and Geoffrey helped him climb onto it just as Mandy was reaching the end of the rope. Four Metal Sonic clones charged towards the mouse but Wilson threw his spinning blade at them. The clones knew what the weapon could do so they dodged it and the weapon just boomeranged back to Wilson's hand. The weapon was just a distraction to keep the clones at bay while Mandy made it onto the balcony. Now all three were on the balcony, they could ambush the real Metal Sonic and put an end to this nightmare of a present timeline once and for all.

"Come on mates! Let's go!" ordered Geoffrey, running for it.

"You don't have to tell us twice skunk boy." said Mandy, running after him.

Wilson ran after them both. Even though they didn't know where Metal Sonic could be, they had a feeling he was just around the corner and once they arrived, the heist could begin…

Tails' pained screams suddenly died down to heavy panting as Metal Sonic switched off the electricity again. Metal Sonic had been giving Tails painful shocks all the while Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy had been fighting for their lives and poor Tails was losing the will to live by the second. Metal Sonic could sense that and he didn't want to kill Tails since he was too amusing for him so he decided to hold back and let Tails recover which would take a few days at most. Metal Sonic lifted Tails' head up to his eye level with his claw and he looked him directly in the eye.

"Torturing you has definitely been worth my while little one." he purred evilly "But you are on the verge of joining the millions of deceased people so I am going to be generous enough to hold back and let you live."

"And then…you…will…torture…me again." croaked Tails hoarsely "Why don't you… just…kill me…and…put me…out of…my…misery already…?"

"Because you're too amusing for me to eviscerate." droned Metal Sonic "Of all the Mobians I've had the pleasure of torturing, you are the most amusing. Because you are Sonic's accomplice, harming you gives me a feeling of delight so I will not kill you little one."

"If I were you Metal Sonic I would do it." said Dr. Eggman "You never know when something can go horribly wrong for you and Tails might end up being your end so kill him now and eliminate a potential threat to your power!"

"What I do with my prisoners is of no business concerning yours Eggman so silence yourself and don't talk again." snapped Metal Sonic "You had your chance to be ruler but you messed it up with your incompetence which is why you are at your lowly place former master."

Dr. Eggman said nothing more. He just silenced himself, folded his arms and pouted. Metal Sonic turned back to the tortured Tails.

"Our time together is at an end for now." droned Metal Sonic "I will be back in a few of days to see if you've recovered from your injuries and then I can get the pleasure of inflicting pain on you all over again. For now, I think I'll torture the former queen of Mobotropolis, Sally Acorn I believe her name is…"

"Don't…you…dare hurt Sally!" rasped Tails weakly.

"Why not fleshling?" droned Metal Sonic in an ominous tone of voice "You're in no position to choose what I can and cannot do so you can keep your ignorance to yourself."

Tails decided not to argue back since arguing with the one being who was on top of the world right now was anything but clever. Metal Sonic turned around and began to walk away from Tails but he didn't get far for as the moment he was half-way across the room, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy all burst in, wielding their weapons and bending down in battle ready stances. This sudden turn of events didn't shake Metal Sonic the slightest, he just stood there and didn't show any signs of surprise or shock. Tails' face brightened at the sight of three familiar faces in the room.

"Stay where you are Metal head!" yelled Geoffrey.

"We're gonna tear you apart and set things right you dictator of a robot!" snarled Mandy, her arm itching to throw the bomb she held in her hand.

Wilson, didn't seem so brave this time though.

"G-g-g-gosh!" he stammered "M-M-Metal Sonic l-l-looks scarier then u-u-usual!"

"I don't remember him looking like that. How did you manage to change your appearance Metal Sonic?" asked Geoffrey.

"I altered my appearance with the time-changing machine." explained Metal Sonic "In this body I am much stronger and more powerful then you can ever imagine. You could not stand to me as plain old Metal Sonic now you will cede to the power of Neo Metal Sonic. Do not try to resist me or I shall vanquish you all with my unfathomable power."

"Big talk Metal Sonic." said Geoffrey in a cocky tone "Is that supposed to make you sound tough?"

"Geoffrey, don't kid around with him!" snapped Mandy "He looks like he's deathly serious and if you rile him he'll disembowel you bit by bit!"

"The mouse girl is correct." droned Metal Sonic "Now my warriors of unwavering valour and spirit, leave my palace and save yourselves the grisly nature of which your deaths will be. If you do not then I will make sure you all suffer worse then my other victims."

He stood to the side so Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy could see the sate of Tails. Tails could only smile weakly at them at best. Geoffrey was absolutely horrified at Tails' state. He looked like he had been roughened up very badly. Seeing Tails' tortured state made Geoffrey feel extremely guilty for leaving him behind to get caught by Silver Sonic earlier.

"What did you do to him?" shrieked Wilson.

"I tortured him and in doing so, hopefully dampened that irksome spirit and determination of his." answered Metal Sonic coldly.

"Oh Tails, I'm so sorry I left you behind mate!" cried Geoffrey "I had no idea that was gonna happen to you! You shouldn't have had to suffer like that! I shouldn't have left without ya…"

"Geoffrey…I understand…why you…left me…" croaked Tails "You…needed backup…and you…didn't have time…to…fetch me… now you…Wilson and Mandy…are here we…can undo…all of Metal…Sonic's evil…"

"Negative." droned Metal Sonic "Skunk boy and his friends will perish by my claws."

"Oh yeah?" snapped Geoffrey "Well let's see about that shall we?"

Geoffrey struck the first blow by firing a dart at Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic caught the dart in his claws and he threw it away.

"You'll need more then primitive stun darts to bring me down skunk boy." gloated Metal Sonic.

"How about this then?" shrieked Mandy.

She threw a bomb straight at Metal Sonic and the bomb blew up in his face. Metal Sonic was surrounded by smoke and Mandy beamed in hope that the bomb would have done some damage to him. But to her horror, the smoke cleared and revealed a very unharmed looking Metal Sonic! Metal Sonic laughed at the Mobian's horrified expressions.

"Did I not mention that I am invulnerable?" he purred "When I altered my appearance, I decided to make myself invulnerable so no one can step to me. All your attempts to eradicate me are futile and if you do not cede to me then I'll kill you all in the grisliest way possible."

"We will never give up!" yelled Wilson, pointing his spinning blade at him "Let's fight!"

Metal Sonic glared icily at his challengers.

"So be it." he snarled coldly "If you're so desperate to join the deceased then I'll be very happy to make that happen."

Then suddenly without warning, Metal Sonic leaped into the air and spun around while snarling a vicious robotical snarl. He landed between Wilson and Geoffrey and he did a split kick, hitting them both on the side of their heads and knocking them other. Mandy landed a kick on Metal Sonic's shoulder but he swatted at her, sending her cart wheeling in midair and then he punched her in the stomach, sending her crashing into the wall just beside the bound up Tails. To Metal Sonic's bad luck though, she hit the control panel and her back hit the off button. Tails' laser cuffs switched off and the tortured fox fell to the floor with a heavy thump. Mandy picked herself up and smiled.

"Tails, you're free! Now you can help us fight Metal Sonic!" she exclaimed happily.

Tails looked up weakly at Mandy.

"Mandy Mouse?" he croaked "It can't be…I…thought Dr. Eggman said…he'd…killed you."

"Well he lied about my death." said Mandy, glaring angrily at the caged Dr. Eggman.

Eggman just smiled nervously at the mouse. Mandy turned back to Tails.

"All the time I've been out of action, I've been in some machine but Wilson freed me from it." explained Mandy "If you're wondering how I got captured in the first place, I was nabbed by a Tranz-Mat robot while we were fighting Metal Sonic the first time he was unleashed*."

"I…remember those…Tranz-Mat bots…" said Tails, bitterly remembering the circus park ploy he wished to forget about "They shoot a transmat…beam at you…and they teleport…you…to Dr… Eggman."

"Yes they do." said Mandy "I'll deal with the fat man later, we have a world to set right and a Metal Sonic to deal with. Come on Tails. Let's destroy that metal monster once and for all."

Tails tired to get back to his feet. He lifted his upper body off the floor with his arms but his strength quickly gave-way and he slumped back on the floor. He tried to lift himself up again but given how much he had been tortured, he had little to no strength left in him. He slumped on the floor again. Mandy could sense Tails needed help so she tried to lift Tails up herself. She helped Tails to get up onto his feet but the moment the fox was stood up, he slumped against the wall and fell down onto his bottom.

"I…can't get…up." said Tails weakly "I'm…too weak…from… torture…to do…so."

"That's inconvenient." said Mandy "We could use all the help we can get in here and you can't help us. Oh well, I guess it's up to me, Geoffrey and Wilson to save the day."

Then suddenly Wilson was sent flying into Mandy and he knocked the mouse clean off her feet and onto her tummy. They both landed in a heap just in front of Tails whose eyes widened in surprise. Wilson got back to his feet and he lunged at Metal Sonic with his spinning blade in hand. Metal Sonic smacked Wilson in the face and sent him crashing into the floor. Geoffrey leaped in with a kick to the face but that attack only made Metal Sonic stagger. The attack didn't seem to have hurt him at all. Metal Sonic clawed at Geoffrey and the skunk ducked before he could hit him. Metal Sonic narrowly nicked him across his hair. Geoffrey then retaliated with an uppercut to the chin but all that did was give Geoffrey a sore fist due to how hard Metal Sonic's armour was. Metal Sonic kneed Geoffrey in the gut and then he pushed him down onto the floor. He grabbed the skunk by his tail and swung him into the wall. Geoffrey hit the wall very sharply and a wave of pain swept over his back and shoulders. The skunk slid slowly down to the floor and he groaned hoarsely. Wilson then sneaked up behind Metal Sonic and he stabbed at Metal Sonic's waist cloak with the spinning blade. In doing so, he embedded the blade into the floor and ended up trapping Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic pulled on his waist cloak but the blade kept him held firmly in place. However it didn't work for long. Metal Sonic grabbed the weapon and yanked it out of the floor, freeing himself. Then he threw it at Wilson. The deadly double-bladed pole like weapon spun towards Wilson and the frightened dog yelped and ducked to avoid getting hit by it. The blade missed him and it hit the wall. It fell to the floor with a clatter and Wilson grabbed it double quick. He ran up to Metal Sonic and stabbed at his chest but the moment he did, the blade shattered against his armour. Since Metal Sonic was invulnerable, no weapon of any kind would work on him. Metal Sonic laughed at him and he viciously punched Wilson in the face. Mandy dropkicked Metal Sonic in the back and knocked him over. Before Metal Sonic could get back to his feet, Mandy place a bomb on his back and the bomb went off. The bomb didn't harm Metal Sonic but it surrounded him in smoke so he was unable to see where anyone was. Seizing their chance, Wilson and Mandy both attack Metal Sonic with a pair of kicks to the head. And to add to it all, Geoffrey kicked Metal Sonic in the face just as the smoke cleared. Metal Sonic landed on his back and skidded across the floor. Despite all that, he still looked as good as new and completely unharmed. Metal Sonic leaped into the air and spun around like a drill bit. He walloped Mandy and Geoffrey while spinning but he missed Wilson since the dog leaped out of his way. Metal Sonic landed back on his feet and charged straight into Wilson. He elbowed the dog in the gut, grabbed him by the front of his combat suit and tossed him into the ceiling. Wilson hit the ceiling head first and came falling down to the floor. Metal Sonic leaped up and kicked him before he could hit the floor. Wilson was sent rolling across the floor and he came to a stop just inches away from a wall. Mandy got furious and she punched Metal Sonic in the face. The punch did no damage whatsoever to Metal Sonic. In fact, he didn't appear to have felt it. He just stood there as if Mandy hadn't touched him. Mandy immediately flinched and sweat-dropped fearfully as Metal Sonic glared at her. Metal Sonic leaped in the air and spun around like a spinning top. He spread his legs out so he could kick anyone stupid enough to be near him. Mandy tried to run away but Metal Sonic clopped her in the back of the head with his spinning kick. Geoffrey pile-dived Metal Sonic from behind and brought Metal Sonic crashing into the floor. Geoffrey grabbed Metal Sonic's arm and forced it behind the insidious Sonic duplicate's back. He then motioned for Wilson and Mandy to leap on Metal Sonic while he was down. The dog and mouse obeyed and they piled on top of Metal Sonic. The plan was to keep him pinned down while Geoffrey tried to find a vulnerable point on Metal Sonic to fire a dart at. Geoffrey considered shooting him in the neck since the neck was always a vulnerable point so Geoffrey aimed his crossbow at Metal Sonic's neck. Unfortunately, before the skunk could fire, Metal Sonic got back to his feet with the Mobians still clinging onto him, yanked his arm out of Geoffrey's grasp, grabbed Mandy by the neck and yanked her off, grabbed Wilson by the mouth with his other hand and threw them across the room. Geoffrey began desperately pounding on Metal Sonic's visor in an attempt to blind the insidious metal monster but despite his hardest pounds, he couldn't so much as crack the visor. Metal Sonic snarled furiously and threw Geoffrey into a wall. Geoffrey hit the wall and slid down to the floor. Metal Sonic lunged at Geoffrey only to get tackled from the side by Wilson. Wilson stabbed at Metal Sonic's neck with the only remaining blade on his spinning blade but he missed and hit the floor instead. Metal Sonic grabbed the blade and snapped it in two. Now Wilson's spinning blade was absolutely useless since both blades were broken. Wilson freaked and ran away but Metal Sonic blasted him with his torso laser and knocked him off his feet. Wilson skidded painfully across the floor and came to a halt on the balcony. Metal Sonic laughed ominously as Wilson tried to pick himself up. Mandy threw yet another bomb at Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic caught it and threw it away. Mandy ran up to Metal Sonic and Metal Sonic punched at her but Mandy ducked, skidded right through in between Metal Sonic's legs and kicked him in the back of the leg. That made Metal Sonic kneel down and Mandy kicked him furiously in the head. The kick was so hard, Metal Sonic's head shot forward and hit the floor with a vicious clang. That seemed to have fazed Metal Sonic a little but he quickly recovered. Mandy planted another bomb on his back so she could distract him and attack him before the smoke cleared. The bomb went off but Metal Sonic knew what was going to happed so he back-flipped out of the cloud of smoke just as Mandy leaped in with a karate style kick. Mandy was a little baffled to see her sneak attack failed and before she knew it, she was spin-dashed by Metal Sonic. Mandy skidded very painfully across the floor and came to a halt in the middle of it with a heavy groan. Geoffrey started firing darts rapidly at Metal Sonic but they all just pinged harmlessly off his armour. Metal Sonic and Geoffrey then lunged for each other, yelling loudly as they did.

Tails had watched the whole fight with despair, knowing that this fight was going to end very badly for the Mobians. He had to do something and fast but he couldn't join in the fight, he was much too weak. But he could undo Metal Sonic's evil. If only he knew where Egg-Timer was! That was when Tails looked at Dr. Eggman he had an idea. He pulled himself weakly away from the wall and he crawled feebly towards the caged Dr. Eggman. Geoffrey whizzed right over Tails' head as he crawled towards Dr. Eggman and crashed into a wall. Tails made an "Oooh, that's gotta hurt!" face and continued to crawl. He crawled ever so slowly and he felt tired just crawling a few metres but he finally made it to Eggman's cage. He collapsed weakly and moaned hoarsely. Dr. Eggman scowled at Tails.

"What do you want fuzzy?" he demanded "I can't help you!"

"Yes you…can…Eggman…" croaked Tails "You must…know where…Metal Sonic's hidden Egg-Timer…after changing…the world's appearance…"

"To your amazingly good fortune I do." said Dr. Eggman "Metal Sonic has hidden it in a large storage room. If you go through the door at the back of the room, you'll find it there."

"Thank…you Dr. Eggman…" said Tails weakly "How do I…undo this…world? Can you tell…me? Please?"

Dr. Eggman thought for a moment. On the one hand, he did not want to help one of his enemies save the world. On the other hand he didn't want to spend eternity in a cage grovelling at Metal Sonic's feet. He'd rather be on top of the world rather then being a lap dog for his own creation. Dr. Eggman knew what had to be done.

"You just simply press the reset button." said Dr. Eggman "It's a big red button marked "Reset" on the control pad. You can't miss it."

"Thank you…Eggman." said Tails "I can…only hope too much…that this…will make us…allies from now on."

"Not on your life Tails, just save the world so I can take it over myself." snapped Dr. Eggman.

Tails stuck his tongue out at Dr. Eggman and he twisted his tails around one another. He began to slowly lift himself off the ground but he was too weak to properly fly. He just sort of, hovered above the ground like a dragonfly. Tails slowly made his way over to the door at the other side of the room just as Metal Sonic elbowed Wilson in the eye and pushed him away. Unfortunately just as he was reaching the room, his strength was beginning to give way. Tails landed on the floor just in front of the door and slumped on the floor. He pushed on the door as hard as he could and the door opened. Tails pulled himself into the room. The moment he made it into the room, he was met with a sight he had wanted to see since day one of this new world. It was Egg-Timer, Eggman's time changing and time altering machine, the one thing that started all this. Tails smiled happily. Yes! He'd found it! Now he could reset the world and bring Sonic back! And maybe once he'd reset the world, he could use Egg-Timer to make a world without Dr. Eggman and bring peace back to Mobius! What a victory this would be! Tails tried to get to his feet but he couldn't bring himself to get up, he was just too weak from torture. Still, he couldn't give up while he was so close to saving the world. If he didn't take this chance, Metal Sonic might catch him and stop him before he could hit the reset button. Tails reached up to the control pad and he pulled himself up so he could see all the buttons on the pad. He just managed it and he looked at the key pad. Just as Eggman had said, there was the big red reset button just in the corner of the pad. One touch of the button and everything would be back to normal.

Outside, Metal Sonic had finally defeated Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy and the three Mobians all lay down on the floor, grimacing in pain and groaning loudly. Metal Sonic laughed at them and he grabbed Geoffrey by the neck and hoisted him up to his height. He glared at the skunk furiously.

"Such valiant bravado skunk boy but your little gang has failed." he gloated "I have won, the world is still mine and now you die. I bet your neck will snap rather easily."

"Kill all three of us if you wish!" yelled Geoffrey bravely "You'll only rile the people of Mobius and then they'll team up against you and your army and you'll be reduced to a pile of scrap metal you cantankerous robot of evil!

"What magnanimous last words skunk boy." sneered Metal Sonic "Your death will be an honouree one indeed."

Geoffrey just kept on a straight face as Metal Sonic put his other hand on the back of his head and prepared to make the killer blow. But just before he could snap Geoffrey's neck, Tails pressed the reset button and slumped on the floor. The lower part of Egg-Timer's "mouth" slid down and its eyes began to flash orange and yellow. Then a big white beam shot out from Egg-Timer's mouth and began to expand to an enormous size, engulfing everything around it. Geoffrey smiled happily whereas Metal Sonic immediately gasped.

"What abomination is this?" he demanded furiously.

"Someone's hit the reset button Metal Sonic." sneered Geoffrey "Your world is disappearing in a bright flash metal head!"

"No! This cannot be!" cried Metal Sonic "I cannot lose! I'm invincible! I'm invulnerable! I've taken over this planet! I cannot lose it now!"

He threw Geoffrey away and he ran over to the room with Egg-Timer in. Too late. The room was engulfed with a giant white flash and the white light began to swallow up everything in it's path. Metal Sonic shielded his optics from the white light just as it engulfed him as well as everything around him.

" NOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO…. "

Tails opened his eyes and got up from the hard rocky floor he lay on. Rocky? Rocky floor? Tails immediately began to observe his surroundings quickly. He was not in Metal Sonic's planet wide city or in the hangar bay of Eggman's headquarters fighting the four Mechas Eggman had unleashed on him, Sonic and Bunnie. He was in Dr. Eggman's underground lair with a bunch of Robians, Dr. Eggman, Alonzo and Metal Sonic! Metal Sonic was back in his original body too! YES! He did it! Everything was back to the way it was about two minutes before the world had changed! The world was saved! Funny enough though, Tails remembered everything about the world created by Metal Sonic. Shouldn't resetting the world have erased his memory of the past events he had just been through? And why did he feel like he hadn't been tortured by Metal Sonic? He felt as right as rain! Maybe Egg-Timer undid everything, including what Metal Sonic had done to him. The only thing that hadn't been reset was his memory; he still remembered everything he had just been through. As for Dr. Eggman, he seemed to have memories of the altered timeline and unfortunately, so did Metal Sonic. Tails cheered with joy.

"I did it!" he cried "The world's back to normal!"

"Yes, congratulations, we're all very proud." said Dr. Eggman sarcastically "Now run for your life before Metal Sonic gets you!"

Tails stopped cheering just in time to see Metal Sonic lunge at him in an angry spin-dash. Metal Sonic hit Tails full on in the torso and sent him flying backwards into the wall. Tails hit the wall hard and he grimaced in pain. Then Metal Sonic grabbed Tails by the neck and he pinned him against the wall. Tails stared fearfully into the robot's eyes as the robot clenched his neck tightly.

"How dare you, you insolent brat!" snarled Metal Sonic "You've ruined everything! You've ruined my glorious worldwide Metal Sonic empire and reverted Mobius to it's original timeline! I am going to eviscerate you for that you irksome little miscreant!"

"Metal Sonic please! Don't!" begged Tails fearfully as Metal Sonic bared his claws.

Metal Sonic ignored him and he prepared to plunge his claws into Tails' chest.

"Once I eradicate you from existence little one, I shall revert Mobius back to my timeline and this time, you won't be there to fix everything!" he boomed coldly.

Tails closed his eyes and waited for the killer strike. But it never came. Metal Sonic was about to kill Tails until a dagger appeared from nowhere and plunged itself into the palm of Metal Sonic's hand. Metal Sonic yelled an electronic yell of pain and he let go of Tails and grabbed his injured hand. Tails turned to his left and his face lit up. It was Espio the Chameleon! He, Mandy, Wilson and Ruben had made it to Eggman's underground lab just in time to destroy Egg-Timer and Espio had just saved Tails from a very gruesome death.

"Espio! Thank goodness!" cried Tails "I was about to die until you showed up!"

"It's a good thing I did show up." said Espio "We cannot afford to lose our comrades after all."

Metal Sonic yanked the dagger out of his hand and he threw it away.

"Not more Mobians to rile me!" he growled "I guess I'll have to disembowel you all!"

He lunged towards Tails but Mandy kicked him furiously away.

"Don't you dare touch Tails you metal monstrosity!" she yelled.

Metal Sonic skidded across the floor and stopped beside Egg-Timer. Metal Sonic got back to his feet and realized where he was. He instantly ran to the keypad and began typing again.

"Stop him!" yelled Tails "He's going to try and change Mobius again!"

"Change Mobius again? What do you mean by that?" asked Wilson "Mobius hasn't changed at all."

Tails then realized that Wilson had no memory of the altered timeline. And he assumed Mandy didn't either so he didn't dare tell her anything about it.

"Never mind that, just stop him!" ordered Tails.

Mandy could tell from Tails' expression that whatever Egg-Timer was going to do was bad so she took a bomb off her belt and threw it at Egg-Timer. The bomb landed on the keypad and blew up in Metal Sonic's face. Metal Sonic was sent hurtling backwards and the explosion had completely destroyed the keypad. Now nobody could use Egg-Timer. Metal Sonic go furious and he rammed Mandy in the stomach in rage. Wilson whipped out his spinning blade and he walloped Metal Sonic with the flat end of the blade. Ruben then stepped in with a ninjutsu kick and sent Metal Sonic hurtling into the unusable Egg-Timer. Too add insult to injury, Ruben squirted water all over Egg-Timer. Water and electricity don't mix so Egg-Timer would explode into a million pieces and eliminate any chances of being used by Dr. Eggman. Dr. Eggman immediately panicked.

"NO! Don't do that you stupid water powered Mobian!" he shrieked "You'll blow it up!"

"That's the intention." snapped Ruben "Now you can't use this machine of death not now and not ever!"

"Let's run for it everybody!" cried Espio "The machine is about to explode and we don't wanna get caught up in it!"

Nobody waited to be asked twice, they all ran out of the underground lab as fast as they could just as Egg-Timer was beginning to malfunction and overheat. Dr. Eggman looked despairingly at his greatest invention about to go up in smoke.

"Master, I think we should run too." said Alonzo.

"Good idea Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman "We don't want to be caught up in the inevitable explosion."

"But what about Metal Sonic?" asked Alonzo "He's still in Egg-Timer and he'll be destroyed if we don't save him!"

"We're leaving him." said Dr. Eggman "We're letting the traitor get destroyed for his crimes against me!"

"You what?" asked Alonzo.

Dr. Eggman was about to rage in Alonzo's face when it dawned on him that Alonzo had no memory of the altered timeline because he didn't exist in it. He was destroyed before Metal Sonic changed everything so Alonzo didn't get to experience the altered timeline.

"I'll explain later." said Dr. Eggman "Let's scraper!"

And with that, he and Alonzo ran quickly out of the lab just as Egg-Timer was beginning to whirr loudly and ominously and electricity crackled everywhere. Metal Sonic, who was still inside Egg-Timer after being kicked into it by Ruben, sat up and peered out the hole he made when crashing through it. Metal Sonic was about to climb out until Egg-Timer suddenly erupted into an inferno of flames and smoke that tore its way through the entire underground lab, engulfing him with it.

The explosion began to tear it's way up the entrance to the underground lab and down the corridors. Tails, Espio, Wilson, Mandy and Ruben had all made it into the hangar bay where Sonic and Bunnie were still fighting the four Mechas Eggman had set on them. Sonic spin-dashed Mecha Tails away and was rather surprised to see everybody running for it.

"Hey guys, what's going on?" he asked.

"We've destroyed Eggman's machine and its exploding!" yelled Espio "We have to get out of here before we're engulfed in it!"

"Sweet!" said Sonic happily "Come on Bunnie, fun time's over!"

"OK sugah hog." said Bunnie as she punched Mecha Amy into the wall.

Sonic sped off at his trademark speed, Bunnie flew after him and everybody else ran after the blue hedgehog. Just seeing Sonic again made Tails want to hug him Amy-style and cry with joy but since Sonic was erased from existence, he would have no memory of the altered world so Sonic would just wonder what Tails was on about. Still, Tails had an enormous feeling of joy all of the sudden just seeing Sonic again. He felt like this was the first time in years he'd seen his supersonic friend. All the Mobians ran for it out of Dr. Eggman's headquarters, through Robotropolis, over the gates and away from the city. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo had run into a different building just as the explosion tore up through half the side of Eggman's headquarters. One side of the quarters had been complete engulfed in flames and smoke billowed out into the air and beyond. Dr. Eggman looked grimly at his destroyed quarters.

"Darn it! And I just got the place fixed up from when Scourge wrecked it!" moaned Dr. Eggman.

"Never mind Dr. Eggman, we can always rebuild it." said Alonzo "Pity about Egg-Timer. We could have altered the world into your image and you would have been ruler of the world."

"I know." said Dr. Eggman "Egg-Timer was pure genius. Pity Metal Sonic went rogue and remoulded the world into HIS image and made me be his pet!"

"I beg your pardon master?" asked Alonzo with a confused expression on his face.

"Metal Sonic went rogue and used Egg-Timer to remake the world into his image." explained Dr. Eggman "You won't remember because you were dead before he did so."

"Wait a minute." said Alonzo as if something was coming back to him "I remember it now. Metal Sonic grabbed you, threw you away and announced he was taking over Operation: Time-Change."

"He did and he made the world into his image but Tails reset it all." said Dr. Eggman "Now the world is back to normal, I can get to conquering it! I will not rebuild Egg-Timer though! I don't want anymore robots going rogue and remaking the world into their image again!"

"So I guess its back to the drawing board again is it?" asked Alonzo.

"It is Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman "It is…"

"So if I've got this right, you were never dead, you were placed in a pod all the time you've been inactive and Wilson freed you from it. Am I right?" asked Sonic.

Once everybody had made it back to Green Hill Zone, Mandy had managed to clear up the misunderstanding about her being dead to Sonic and Bunnie.

"That's right." said Mandy "And the very thought of Eggman lying about my wellbeing makes my skin crawl! I hate it when people lie about people's deaths and I want to make Eggman pay for this!"

"Maybe we'll get our chance." said Wilson, putting a hand on Mandy's shoulder "I've just got a message from Royal HQ. Me and you are to join General Bostock from Grand Metropolis and the Chaotix in a heist on Robotropolis."

"Really?" said Mandy happily "Great! I can give Eggman some much needed payback!"

"I wonder why Bostock picked you two in particular." said Sonic "Maybe it's because you two were the ones who saved Grand Metropolis from catastrophe the other month*.

"Yeah, Bostock's very grateful to us so he picked us two for the heist." said Wilson.

"Pity I'm not invited, I would love to join in." said Sonic "Maybe next time though."

"I think for now, we should just relax and take it easy." said Bunnie "We've just had one hectic day takin' down that big ol' machine Dr.

Eggman had."

"I wonder what it was able to do?" wondered Sonic "Whatever it was, it was bound to be serious so it's a good thing we destroyed it while we could."

"I think we destroyed Metal Sonic as well." said Ruben "I kicked him into Egg-Timer and drenched the machine in water, causing the whole thing to explode. I don't think even Metal Sonic could have survived that."

"Metal Sonic's gone?" cried Sonic happily "Sweet! Now he's gone, all our attacks on Eggman will be as easy as pie! Ha, ha, ha!"

While everybody was talking, Tails had slipped away from the group to find Cosmo. Even though Cosmo had been killed by Silver Sonic in the altered timeline, time had been reset so Cosmo's death never happened. Tails didn't have to look for long though. He found Cosmo standing at a rose bush admiring its beauty. Tails beamed like a sunrise. Cosmo was alive! He was about to go nuts about it until it dawned on him that Cosmo would have no memory of the altered timeline so he kept his cool and tried to act like the altered timeline never happened.

"Cosmo!" Tails called to her.

Cosmo looked up from the roses and her face lit up.

"Tails!" she cried, running up to the twin-tailed fox.

The two embraced each other and Tails picked Cosmo up and twirled her around, earning a giggle from the Seedrian.

"So how did the mission go?" asked Cosmo.

"It was hectic but we made it in the end." said Tails "We destroyed Eggman's machine and Metal Sonic both at the same time."

"Metal Sonic's destroyed?" said Cosmo "That's wonderful. We won't have to worry about him anymore."

"I know Cosmo." said Tails "But it's only too much to hope that Dr.

Eggman will be giving up on this war. He'll just create a new weapon to replace Metal Sonic and it'll be back to square one."

"Don't lose hope Tails." said Cosmo "I'm sure you'll defeat Dr. Eggman and bring peace back to Mobius. I know you will."

"I'm sure we'll bring the peace back Cosmo." said Tails "Until then, we'll have to keep fighting and hope we'll make it to the end…"

And that's that for this story! Yeah, it kinda sucks that Metal Sonic's great victory only lasted one story doesn't it? If I could, I would have made it longer but hey, you can't have everything. So that's the end of Metal Sonic! But when an old villain falls, a new villain rises! Join me next time as Sonic investigates some BIG trouble in little Chun-Nan! Reviews are welcome.

Thanks to Kratos Pwns, Charmyxcream14 and KunxXSu for your reviews recently. You've all been wonderful authors to me. :)

Big Trouble in Little Chun Nan

Story 52: Big Trouble in Little Chun-Nan

Chun-Nan. A country on Mobius very much like the country of China on Earth. Chun-Nan was full of pagodas, bamboo forests, temples, dragon sculptures and many kung-fu teachers. Chun-Nan was home to many peace loving clans that fought against any evil force to try and make sure Chun-Nan remained in peace. Unfortunately, there was one force that threatened to consume all of Chun-Nan. And that was the deadly kung-fu mistress Zira the Ruthless. Zira was a leopard dressed in Chinese attire that consisted of a black shirt with no sleeves, an orange tie around her waist, orange wristbands, black baggy trousers that came to the knee, orange ties around her calves and sandals on her feet. She had a long pony-tail that came down to her bottom. Zira was ruthless by name and ruthless by nature. She learnt some very advanced kung-fu skills and those skills gave her the strength to take on a thousand warriors and be home in time for tea. Zira's evil nature had gotten her banished from Chun-Nan but the evil kung-fu mistress was not going to let that stop her. She wanted to rule over Chun-Nan and she didn't care if no one wanted her around, she would get what she wanted even if she tried for a million years. And as of this moment Zira was making a very steady trek back to Chun-Nan dressed in a red hooded cape. Years of exile were about to come to an end. She had spent her exiled years training and building an army. Now she had a bunch of ninjas and two kung-fu masters at her side. Alone, she was hard to defeat but now she had an army, she was invincible. Zira's soft footsteps were unheard to anyone as she headed towards the entrances gates to Chun-Nan. The only people who saw her coming were the two panda guards standing by at the gates. They were both dressed in samurai armour complete with shoulder pads, chest plates, tunics and helmets and they were both armed with axes. They saw the caped leopard coming up to them and they didn't know it was Zira due to the fact she had a hood up but years of guarding duty and experience taught them that they could never trust anyone in a hood. They raised their axes and ran up to Zira. Then suddenly shortly after the guards charged, there was a sickening crack sound and the two guards collapsed to the ground dead. Zira just walked on as if nothing had happened, leaving the dead panda guards to slowly rot away into the earth. Zira came up to the huge red wooden gates decorated with golden dragon details around the edges that shut the outside world out of Chun-Nan. Zira drew her arm back and punched the doors in kung-fu style. The doors were reduced to splinters as if they were cheap wood and Zira marched on. She came across a training arena that she remembered all too well. This arena was the very place she was educated in. Every kung-fu lesson she took was in this very arena. At this moment, an elderly monkey dressed in Chinese attire with added shoulder pads and a tunic and armed with a staff was teaching some children kung fu lessons. Zira remembered him all too well. This monkey was her former teacher and the one person who defeated her and kicked her out of Chun-Nan. He was the first person to kill on her list of people to kill so she decided to put her plans into action. She marched onto the arena and pushed past the baffled children who just stared at her in disbelief. None of the young minds here knew a thing about her but they were about to. The monkey looked up from the kids and stared at the caped leopard that stood before him. He frowned at her and pointed his staff at her.

"Halt!" he ordered "Who are you and why are you here?"

Zira said nothing. She just pulled her hood down, revealing herself to the monkey. The monkey gasped in horror and he immediately bent down into a battle ready stance.

"Young ones, get in the temple!" he ordered "You're not safe out here!"

The children had no idea what was going on but they didn't dare question their teacher so they ran for it and headed into the temple behind the monkey. That didn't stop them from peeking nervously through the door and out the windows to see what was going on. The monkey kept his staff pointed at Zira, the leopard just stood there with a straight face on.

"Zira! What are you doing here?" boomed the monkey furiously "Treasonous people like you are forbidden to set foot in this peaceful country!"

"Oh Master Shan, is that anyway to treat one of your fellow kung-fu students?" sneered Zira, taking the cape off and throwing it to the side "I didn't come all this way to get a rude greeting you know."

"You are not my student anymore! You are a traitor Zira!" snarled Master Shan, his legs itching to spring into action and send him pouncing on Zira "You assassinated three innocent clans, destroyed a village and plotted to ransack the Pagoda of Prosperity which you failed to find! You were banished long ago and you are not welcome here! Leave now or I will have to use brute force!"

The children hiding in the temple looked at each other, wondering what was going to happen. Zira stood still and didn't move whatsoever. She appeared to be completely frozen due to how still she was. Master Shan didn't like that one little bit so he kept his senses alert for any sign of attack. Zira grinned wickedly at her former master.

"Oh Master Shan, for a kung-fu master you are such an idol of idiocy." she taunted "Did you really think I travelled through ice-cold mountains, treacherous valleys and stretching forests just to get kicked out again? I will not leave. My place is here in Chun-Nan and don't think you can kick me out again. My skills have tripled since the last time you saw me Shan."

"Zira, don't make me have to attack you!" warned Master Shan "I beat you before and I'll do it again!"

"Oh we'll see about that won't we?" cackled Zira, baring her claws and hissing at the monkey master "How about we have a nice little duel to determine my fate? If I win, I stay, if I lose, I leave. What do you say Master Shan?"

"I accept." said Master Shan "You'd better hope the tides of victory are on your side you insidious leopard!"

"I don't need to hope." said Zira coyly, bending down in a battle ready stance "The tides of victory ARE on my side. You will be nothing more then a gentle ocean wave lapping weakly at the towering shores that stand above it."

The two stared daggers at each other and prepared to fight. The hiding children all stared at the two fighters with their eyes wide open.

"Master Shan's going to fight!" whispered one child.

"Is he going to beat that scary leopard woman?" whispered another.

"I hope so." whispered a third.

Zira roared a threatening leopard roar and Master Shan bared his teeth threateningly in proper monkey style. Then the two lunged at each other at speeds unachievable by the average person. Shan swiped at Zira but Zira leaped over Shan and dropkicked him in the back of the head, sending him falling flat on his face. Zira landed and then tried to kick Shan but Shan kangaroo kicked her in the stomach and sent her skidding across the arena floor. Shan leapt back to his feet and Zira lunged at him. She leaped into the air and began to launch a series of kung-fu kicks onto the master monkey but Shan defended himself by spinning his staff around. Zira flipped backwards and charged at Shan again. Shan whacked her with his staff but Zira flipped backwards and landed on all fours. She unsheathed her claws and lunged at Master Shan.

"Spitting cobra!" she yelled.

She held two fingers up and curled them in the style of fangs and lashed out at Shan in the style of a cobra lunging at its prey. The blow hit Shan directly in the abs and he was sent flying backwards. Zira then kick slammed the ground and caused some floor tiles to stick up. She threw one into the air and kicked it towards Shan. Shan whacked it away with his staff and leaped out of the way just as Zira was lunging to him. Shan ran behind Zira and began to rapidly whack small chunks of debris at Zira with his staff as if he was hitting a million golf balls at once with a golf club. Zira defended herself with a series of chops and punches but those stones were just a distraction. Shan charged towards her with his staff glowing a deep crimson red at the tips.

"Crimson bat of the mighty!" he bellowed.

He whacked Zira with an energy enhanced swipe of the staff and Zira hurtled backwards to the edge of the arena. If she fell out, she would be declared the loser and Master Shan would have won once again so she was keen not to fall out. Zira got back to her feet and she leaped into the air and hurtled towards Master Shan. Master Shan swiped at her with his bat but he missed and Zira punched him with both fists. Shan staggered and Zira tripped him up with one swift kick to the back of the ankles. Shan fell onto his back and Zira snatched his staff. She snapped the powerful weapon in two and threw it away. Shan got back to his feet and the two began to rapidly launch punches at each other. Due to how fast they were both moving their fists looked like blurs and it was hard to tell who's punches was who's. Both opponents were blocking each other's blows at breakneck speed as they launched punches at each other. Zira stopped punching at Shan and she back flipped away from the kung fu monkey. She bent down on all fours and charged at Shan like a ravenous tiger chasing a deer. Shan just stood there and prepared for the attack. Zira pounced on Shan and spun around in mid-air. She walloped Shan on the head and sent him hurtling towards the edge of the arena. Shan managed to stop just before he could fall out of the arena and he leaped towards Zira. He walloped her in the head with one hefty swipe of his tail and he punched Zira with both fists before she could recover. Zira skidded backwards and she came to a halt just by the edge of the arena. The moment she stopped, Shan charged towards Zira and kicked her in the stomach. The kung fu leopard was sent hurling out of the arena but like all cats do, she landed on her feet. She glared grimly at Master Shan, not happy to have been defeated by him yet again. The children all beamed happily. Their teacher had won! Now Zira was out of here! Master Shan stood before Zira and he glared down at her.

"You have been defeated Zira." said Master Shan "You may leave now."

"I will leave…" said Zira smoothly "If you can defeat THIS lot."

Then, right on Que, a swarm of about twenty-five black ninja cats dressed in black ninja attire appeared from nowhere and stood behind Zira in battle ready stances. Every single one of them wielded shuriken. Then two more creatures appeared from nowhere and stood beside Zira. One was a red falcon with claret feather tips, two long feathers from either side of his head and three of his feathers stuck up from the top of his head and were held in place with a golden band. He wore a bronze coloured robe with long sleeves and a dragon symbol on the left side of the chest area. He wore nothing on his feet since he often fought with his razor sharp talons. He had a look on his face that suggested he wasn't thrilled with this. The other was an iguana with a row of tiny spikes starting from the top of his head and going down his back. He wore a sleeveless black shirt with the yin-yang symbol on it and two Chinese words (威武, 爬行动物) which translated as "Mighty reptile". He wore a blue tie belt around his waist and baggy trousers with yin-yang symbols on the legs and blue ties around his legs. He wore the same kind of sandals as Zira. He too had a straight face on suggesting this kind of stuff was just another day for him. Master Shan was speechless to say the least.

"Y-y-you've formulated a gang?" he gasped "And you have Masters Bladefeather and Mushu on your side? How did you do that?"

"Well when I was making my month long trek back to Chun-Nan, I came across this group of shadowy ninja cats and I managed to get them to work for me." explained Zira "All it took was the promise of riches to get them on my side and now they serve me faithfully. As for these two kung-fu masters? Well, they've betrayed you too Master Shan and have decided to join me in my glorious conquest of this little country. You're only just enough for me alone but can you defeat me, Bladefeather, Mushu and a gang of ninjas all at once?" she sneered.

Master Shan was stumped. He was not trained to take on a large number of people at once since he refused to take those kind of lessons. He believed that was a way of falling to the dark side. Still, he couldn't let Zira and her gang take over Chun-Nan so he put up his fists and prepared to fight, showing no signs of fear. Zira laughed mockingly at her former master and she and the gang all lunged towards Master Shan, all yelling at once…

"I'm so glad you took me to Chun-Nan with you Sonic." said Amy

Rose, Sonic's biggest fan and would-be love interest "I've wanted to go to Chun-Nan for years and now I'm finally visiting it! And it's such a beautiful place!"

"Whatever you say Ames." said Sonic, clearly not very pleased he took Amy with him.

Things had been going slowly since the altered-timeline had been restored back to normal* and Sonic hadn't had any missions or Eggman schemes to foil so far so Sonic decided to spend his day-off in Chun-Nan. He had taken his best friend and twin-tailed sidekick Tails, Amy, the ever polite and sensitive Cream the Rabbit, Tails' love interest Cosmo the Seedrian from another world and Ruben the Water Panther, newly recruited Royal Fighter and former inhabitant of Chun-Nan so this was like going home for him. Knuckles the Echidna, Guardian of Angel Island and defender of the Master Emerald had tagged along with them since he fancied visiting such a well respected and much loved country in the east of Mobius. Everybody had been enjoying the cheery villages of Chun-Nan that they walked through. Never before had Sonic seen so many happy people in one place. It made him think of what Mobius used to be like before Dr. Eggman came and ruined everything with his invasion. At this moment, Tails was showing Cosmo some of the wonderful things that the people sold in the market stalls they walked by. Cosmo had been thrilled by the decorative pottery, tapestries, silk robes and elegant vases on sale and all were made by hand. Chun-Nan was a very old tradition country with nothing modern so most things on sale were made by hand. Cream the Rabbit and her pet Chao Cheese were sticking close to Amy as she admired the clothes on sale at a market stall. Amy had a fondness for trying on new clothes and even shopping for them whenever she visited a new place and she couldn't wait to try on the gorgeous silk robe she was admiring. It was red with an image of a magnificent golden dragon sewn around the shoulders and all the way down to the waist. As for Ruben, he was entertaining some little kids with his water powers. He pointed up at the air and squirted water straight up above his head. He then twirled his hands and made some twizzling water shapes with his water powers. The kids squealed with delight and clapped in applause at Ruben's little show. Sonic smiled. So many happy faces in one place made him feel warm and good inside. If only this war wasn't going on! Then there still would be happy faces around and there would be no Dr. Eggman to ruin everything! Nevertheless, Sonic had to make the most of this slow day before the inevitable happened and he needed to foil another Eggman scheme.

"I've heard a lot of stories about Chun-Nan and I had no idea the country was this nice." said Sonic "No wonder this is a much loved country by many."

"I couldn't agree more Sonic." said Knuckles "Chun-Nan's as grand as legends make it out as."

"So what made you wanna come here Knuckles?" asked Sonic "I never took you as the kind of person who loved to sightsee."

"I came here because I have a day-off from guarding the Master Emerald." said Knuckles "I hate to leave it unprotected but it's in good hands. The person guarding it right now is at my level of guardian intellect so no one's getting near that giant gem."

"Cool." said Sonic "Nice how you have a chain of guardians that work on a Rota so neither one has to guard it 24/7. After all, guardians need their breaks too."

Knuckles smirked at Sonic's remark.

"I know that guardians need a rest every now and again but I love guarding the Master Emerald." said Knuckles "It's a job we echidnas have stuck to with dignity and whenever I'm on guard, the one thing I have on my mind is "I'll guard this gem until the very end and nothing will make me deviate from it"."

"No wonder you echidnas are a proud race." said Sonic with a mock snigger "You're all hot-heads that love nothing more then guarding a giant gem on a floating island day-after-day."

Knuckles frowned but he didn't react. He knew Sonic was a kidder and he had learnt he needed to be patient with Sonic since he loved to crack a joke every now and again.

"Just out of interest, how are the Chaos Emeralds?" asked Sonic.

"The guardians made a special tomb for them to stay in after you sent them there after your super showdown." said Knuckles "The tomb's thick strong build hides their energy signatures so no one will be finding them anytime soon. They're safe as safe can be."

"Way past cool." said Sonic, flashing Knuckles a thumbs up sign "That's why I sent them to Angel Island, because I knew you echidnas would take good care of them."

"Thank you Sonic." said Knuckles "By the way Sonic, if memory serves me correctly, didn't you run through Chun-Nan on your worldwide showdown with Metal Sonic?" he asked out of interest.

"I sure did." said Sonic "I ran across the Great Wall over there." he pointed to the notorious Great Wall that resembled the Great Wall of China and stretched for miles around. No matter where in Chun-Nan you were, you would always see the wall.

"That wall is so long and far stretching its awesome when I run at supersonic speeds!" cried Sonic excitedly "I felt way past cool when I ran across the wall and I think I'll do it again while I'm here!"

"Go on then, you've got your chance Sonic." said Knuckles "Run all around the whole wall for all I care."

"I'll do it later." said Sonic "It'd be rude of me to run off without telling anyone where I am. I can imagine Amy shrieking like a maniac at me if I ran off without telling her where I'm off to." he said lowly.

The one thing he never wanted to think about was Amy's hammer. She was such a scary girl when she had that giant mallet by her side! It's a wonder to anyone that Sonic had actually taken Amy on a date that didn't end particularly well the other day*. Speaking of Amy, she had just come out of a tailor's shop wearing the red silk robe she had been wanting to try on. Sonic looked at her and gawped. Amy looked absolutely gorgeous! That silky red robe really made Amy look beautiful and Sonic wasn't afraid to admit it to himself! Amy did a very pretty twirl and the robe flailed about around her as she twirled. Sonic stared at her, unable to keep his eyes off her. Amy stopped twirling and admired herself.

"This robe is gorgeous!" she trilled merrily "I'm so glad I'm wearing it right now! I think I'll buy this."

She went back into the shop to buy the robe. Sonic snapped out of his daze and focused back onto reality. Knuckles snickered evilly.

"What was that about Sonic old buddy?" he sneered "Is Amy becoming too much for you?"

"No! Not at all!" protested Sonic "It's just…she looked rather…um… cute in that robe she was wearing a moment ago."

Knuckles chortled with laughter.

"I thought you fancied that hammer-swinging hedgehog!" he taunted "But don't worry about it Sonic, your secret is safe with me."

"What secret?" blurted Sonic "I don't fancy Amy! True she's cute and all but I don't fancy her!"

"Sure you don't." sniggered Knuckles.

Sonic began to go red in the face. These were the times where he wished embarrassment wasn't an emotion, he didn't like experiencing it. Tails and Cosmo walked up to Sonic, hand in hand each wearing a bracelet shaped like the yin-yang symbol around their wrists. Sonic eyed their bracelets and wondered what was going on.

"Hey Tails, Hey Cosmo. What's with the fancy bracelets?" asked Sonic.

"Cosmo thought they looked pretty and the seller said that any pair who wears the symbol of yin-yang will forever be together in eternal happiness so I thought me and Cosmo should have one each." explained Tails.

"We'll be together and forever be happy while we wear these." said Cosmo dreamily "How wonderful."

Sonic didn't know what to make out of that statement other then Tails and Cosmo's fondness for each other seems to get stronger every passing day.

"That sounds pretty nice Tails." said Sonic "I always thought yin-yang represented good and bad though."

"Yin-yang usually means polar opposites that are interconnected and interdependent on the world and how they give rise to each other in turn." said Ruben, who had finished entertaining the kids and decided to see what the others were doing "It has nothing to do with good and bad at all."

"Well I can't argue with someone who actually hails from Chun-Nan." said Sonic casually "How does it fell to be home again Ruben?"

"It feels like I'm walking down memory lane." said Ruben with a happy sigh "I remember these villages and the Great Wall like the back of my hand. Five years ago I would be happily making my way through these villages gazing at this and that and wondering what everything does and what everything is used for. If only it could have been like this always." he said in a suddenly sad tone, his ears drooped down and his face fell into a glum expression "I was so happy in Chun-Nan but now Chun-Nan brings me nothing but sad memories."

"Why is that then?" asked Sonic "What is it about Chun-Nan that makes you sad Ruben old buddy?"

Ruben was about to answer Sonic's question until a cry for help was heard not far away from where they were. The villagers seemed to have heard the cry too and began worrying about what was happening. Then suddenly out of nowhere, two black cats dressed in ninja uniforms complete with the masks that concealed their identities, leaving only their eyes visible appeared on the roof of a stall. They each had a katana in their hands. The villagers panicked and began running around fearfully.

"Run! The Yīnyǐng Mao clan is here again!" cried one villager as she ran for her life.

Sonic, Tails, Cosmo, Ruben and Knuckles began to wonder what was going on as the villagers panicked. The two cats held their katanas at the ready and they prowled through the village as if they were looking for something to pounce on. Sonic stared at them suspiciously and wondered what they were up to. Amy and Cream burst out of the tailor's shop and they ran up to Sonic. Amy was still wearing the robe she'd brought.

"Sonic! What's happening?" asked Amy "Everybody's panicking and getting scared and running around!"

"Two ninja kitties have appeared from nowhere and are supposedly looking for trouble." said Sonic "Ruben, what's the story behind these felines in their pyjamas?"

"They're members of the Yīnyǐng Mao clan." explained Ruben "Yīnyǐng Mao means "Shadow Cat" in Chinese. The Yīnyǐng Mao are outsiders who live outside Chun-Nan's gates in exile. They go around pillaging villages and stealing riches which vary greatly from jewels to robes and even pottery."

"No prizes for guessing why those two clowns are here then." said Knuckles "Let's teach them a lesson or two!"

"No Knuckles!" cried Ruben "We cannot attack those two without a plan! Yīnyǐng Mao ninjas are very swift and sneaky and if you're not careful, they'll run you through with those katanas of theirs."

"In that case, we'll hide and pounce on them when it looks like they don't suspect a thing about us." said Sonic "Let's get behind that pile of woks."

Surely enough, everybody did as they were told and they ran for cover behind a pile of woks on display at a wok stall. They crouched down and peeked around the side of the wok pile to see what was happening. Two villagers, one a bunny rabbit with a ponytail and the other a wombat with earrings and no shirt on stared up fearfully at the two cats that glared icily at them with their steely green eyes that showed no signs of sympathy or regret of doing this. They pointed their katanas at the villagers and kept them in place as another ninja cat showed up from nowhere. He had a considerably grander appearance then the two foot soldiers with circular shoulder pads on his shoulders, a chest plate and a black vest-coat that flowed beautifully behind him as he walked. He removed his mask, revealing a very gruff look on his face and a crescent moon shape on his forehead. He scowled at the two villagers the two cats had cornered. He looked down at them and he pointed sharply at them.

"Rrrright you two scrrrrubs." he growled gruffly. He rolled his R's every time he spoke "I have a proposition for you two."

The couple said nothing; they just stared up in fear at the mask-less cat that stood before them menacingly.

"If you two would be so honourable as to tell me where the Pagoda of Prosperity is then my men will spare your lives." he said in a kinder tone of voice.

"W-w-w-we d-d-don't know w-w-where the Pagoda of P-P-Prosperity is." stammered the bunny, her eyes wide with fright and looking like they were about to fill up with tears.

"Oh come on you little villagers, don't play stupid with old Fong Zarr now." said the cat in a dangerously soft voice "Now tell me where the Pagoda of Prosperity is or my minions will tighten your belts and suffocate you."

"My wife has told you already! We don't know where the Pagoda of Prosperity is!" snapped the wombat, putting on a pretentious brave act "Now go away and leave us poor villagers alone you Yīnyǐng scum!"

Fong Zarr didn't seem awfully pleased with the wombat's tough talk.

"Men, grrrab that man and tighten his belt." he ordered "Suffocate him until he talks."

The two cats did not hesitate. They seized the wombat by his arms and hoisted him off the ground. The wombat shrieked in fright and began to flail his legs around madly. Fong Zarr grabbed the wombat's belt, undid it and tied it back around him again. But he didn't stop there, he began to pull on either sides of the belt and tighten it around the poor wombat's waist. The wombat yelped and spluttered as Fong Zarr tightened his belt. The wombat could feel his waistline getting shorter as Fong Zarr pulled on the belt harder and harder. Sonic's quills quivered in rage. He hated seeing people being attacked and tortured for no reason and he felt like just leaping out of his hiding place and spin-dash Fong Zarr into a pulp.

"Look what that horrible cat is doing to that poor man!" cried Cream in pity "We must help him!"

"That's just what we're doing Cream." said Sonic "Let's go team!"

He leaped out from behind the pile of woks he was hiding behind and he spin-dashed Fong Zarr directly in the back before anyone could stop him. The ninja cat yelped in surprise as he was knocked onto his face. The two cars holding the wombat dropped the wombat in surprise and he ran off with the bunny rabbit to take cover. Fong Zarr got back to his feet and growled a vicious tiger like growl.

"Who dares to attack the grrrreat Fong Zarr?" he demanded angrily.

"I do Mr. Whiskers!" retorted a voice from behind him.

Fong Zarr turned around and scowled at Sonic the Hedgehog who stood before him with a big smirk on his face. Fong Zarr snarled at Sonic and he drew out a pair of katanas.

"Who are you servant boy and why do you dare to stand to me?" he roared at him.

"OK first of all, I'm not a servant boy." snapped Sonic "And second, I have a hatred of evil people who love to harass innocent villagers so I'm teaching you a lesson or two. You and your pair of cronies better skedaddle before you regret it!"

"Seems to me like you are forgetting your place you little termite!" snarled Fong Zarr "Looks like I'll have to put you back into it! Get him my minions!" he ordered.

The two ninjas did not wait to be asked twice. They lunged at Sonic with their katanas glistening in the blazing sunlight and they hissed viciously. Sonic leaped out of their way and the two cats crashed into each other. Sonic ran up to the ninja cats and kicked them both in the head. The ninja cats staggered backwards and they shook their heads furiously to regain their senses. Sonic spin-dashed both cats and sent them falling onto their sides. Fong Zarr clenched his teeth and he ran up to Sonic, roaring like a lion. Sonic back flipped over Fong Zarr and kicked him from behind. Fong Zarr fell onto his face once again and Sonic quickly snatched up his katanas and threw them away before he could pick them up again. Zarr got mad and he kicked Sonic in the stomach ninjutsu style. Sonic staggered backwards and punched Fong Zarr in the face. Fong Zarr growled and punched Sonic back. Sonic tried to attack Fong Zarr again but Zarr flipped over Sonic and double-kicked him in the back. Sonic hurtled into the wall of a stall and sent its contents spilling everywhere. Ruben decided that he and the others shouldn't stand idly by and let Sonic take the punishment from a powerful ninja warrior so he leapt out and joined in the fight. So did Tails, Knuckles, Amy and Cream. Cosmo stayed put, knowing she would be of no help to anyone in this fight. Sonic had just gotten back to his feet until Fong Zarr kneed him in the gut and karate chopped him across the face. Sonic fell onto his side and spluttered. Zarr tried to stomp on him but Ruben squirted him with a jet of water and sent Fong Zarr falling over in roly-poly style. Zarr got back to his feet and he pulled out a pair of shuriken.

"More termites that need to learn their place in this country!" he grumbled "Guess I'll have to take you all on!"

"Get your facts straight fuzzy!" yelled Knuckles, giving Fong Zarr an uppercut that sent him hurtling into a stall, destroying it as he landed on it "We're not from Chun-Nan so we don't need to learn our place here! You're the one who needs to learn his place!"

"Of all the courrrageous and overbearing…" mumbled Fong Zarr, picking himself up from the wrecked stall and scooping up his shuriken "Chun-Nan rrrresidents or not, you will succumb to the might of Zira the Rrrruthless, leader of the Yīnyǐng Mao clan and destined to be Empress of Chun-Nan!"

Ruben's tail straightened and his face went pale.

"Zira! Z-Z-Z-Zira the R-R-Ruthless?" he choked "No! It can't be! S-s-she's e-e-exiled! She d-d-doesn't live he-he-here anymore!"

Tails looked at him in wonder. What was Ruben suddenly so scared at? And who was he on about?

"Shows how much you know water panther." said Fong Zarr coldly "You live here so how are you so slow on the updates here?"

"You leave Ruben out of this!" snapped Amy "Let's fight!"

"If you're so desperate for a broken neck then be my guest!" snarled Fong Zarr.

He put his shuriken away, charged towards Amy and elbowed her in the gut. Cream retaliated by throwing Cheese like a baseball at him. Cheese fisted the cat in the eye and Fong Zarr yelped in pain. Amy summoned her hammer to her hand and she whacked Fong Zarr with it. Fong Zarr hurtled through the air in a rainbow arch and he landed on his back. His two cronies got back to their feet and they both ninja-kicked Amy and Cream in the back. Knuckles fisted them both in the face and bashed their heads together. The two cats saw stars and they fell to the ground, dazed and dopey feeling. Fong Zarr kick slammed Knuckles on the head and dodged an uppercut from the echidna. He roundhouse kicked Knuckles in the face. Tails dropkicked Fong Zarr in the face while flying and sent him falling onto his back. Fong Zarr threw a shuriken at Tails and the star skimmed him across the hip. Tails yelped in pain and plummeted to the ground. Sonic caught him before he could crash into the ground. He settled Tails down and spin-dashed at Fong Zarr. Fong Zarr held his arm up in front of his face to defend himself and Sonic hit him. He didn't knock Fong Zarr over but he did hurt his arm. Fong Zarr rubbed it better and threw his other shuriken at Sonic and narrowly missed him. Knuckles and Sonic both double teamed Fong Zarr with a punch each and Fong Zarr tried to kick them both but he missed. Knuckles grabbed his leg and slammed him into the ground. Fong Zarr yanked his leg out of Knuckles' grasp and threw some dust off the ground into the echidna's eyes. Knuckles yelped and rubbed his eyes as Fong Zarr gave him an uppercut to the chin. Cream and Tails both kicked Fong Zarr while flying and Fong Zarr swiped at them but the rabbit and fox were out of his reach so he missed. Fong Zarr leaped up and since he was a ninja, he could jump high and he found himself in between Tails and Cream. He did a split-kick and walloped them both in the stomach. The two fliers fell down and landed on a hammock on sale at a hammock stall. The hammock broke their fall luckily and it didn't rip after they crashed so it was still fit to sell. Amy tried to hammer Fong Zarr again but Fong Zarr gave the hammer an upwards chop and knocked it clean out of her hands. The hammer landed on the roof of a pottery shop. Amy tried to run away and retrieve it but Fong Zarr grabbed her by the robe and threw her into the hammock stall. Amy landed in a hammock and ended up snapping one of the strings so the hammock sagged onto the floor. Cosmo decided to do something to help her friends in the fight so she picked up a rather light but tough wok and threw it at Fong Zarr like a Frisbee. Fong Zarr defended himself from a pair of attacks by Sonic and Knuckles but he got conked on the head by the wok and the wok had hit him so hard it actually knocked him out! The ninja cat collapsed onto the ground and closed his eyes. Cosmo put her hands to her mouth in surprise. She hadn't expected her wok to hit him THAT hard! For once, she'd actually helped her friends defeat the enemy! The very feeling made her feel good inside. Sonic stared at the knocked out Fong Zarr and scratched his head.

"Who threw that wok at him?" he wondered.

"I did." said Cosmo, emerging from the wok pile and walking up to Sonic "I was only trying to help you so I threw a wok at him to distract him and give you a chance to attack him. I hadn't intended to actually knock him out."

"Well that was pretty amazing Cosmo." said Sonic "I always wondered if you'd ever be of use to us in battle and it seems you can be. All you need is something to throw and you're good to go."

"Thanks Sonic." said Cosmo, smiling with pride.

As for the two ninja cats, they had recovered from their head bashing and they scooped up their knocked out clan leader. They carried Fong Zarr away and ran for it before anything else could happen. Sonic just watched them run away and he folded his arms.

"What a creep that Fong Zarr guy is!" he said crossly "If he dares to come here again I'll give him a good helping of hedgehog fury!"

"One thing I wonder is why he and his two minions even came here." said Amy, dusting herself off "What do they want?"

"They said something about the Pagoda of Prosperity." said Tails "What is it and why is it important to them?"

"The Pagoda of Prosperity is where the emperor or empress of Chun-Nan live." explained a shaken but seemingly OK looking Ruben "If I were to guess, the Yīnyǐng Mao clan are obviously attempting to ransack the pagoda for Zira the Ruthless who is supposedly in charge of them now."

"Who is this Zira the Ruthless person?" asked Knuckles "Is she ruthless by name and ruthless by nature?"

"She epitomizes the word ruthless." said Ruben "Zira is the most evil thing that's ever hailed from Chun-Nan. She was a student of fellow kung-fu master and local hero Master Shan. She was his star student and was destined for greatness. But after her mother died and her father left forever, she suddenly turned evil and began attacking innocent villagers for no apparent reason. She had decided to use kung-fu for evil and wanted to take over the Pagoda of Prosperity. She never found it and in her desperation to find it, tore up a whole village while asking questions on it's whereabouts. A wise old fortune teller then foretold of a prophecy that is yet to unfold."

"Which is?" asked Sonic.

"The prophecy stated that Zira would be defeated in battle by a member of a clan and some other being and peace would return to Chun-Nan." explained Ruben "Zira didn't like the sound of that so she slaughtered the three clans that lived here. One of them was the Hǎilàng clan, (Hǎilàng meaning "ocean wave")the clan I originated from. Zira killed all the clans and their brides. I'm the only one of the Hǎilàng left. All my friends and family, Zira killed them all just to prevent a stupid prophecy from becoming real." his eyes began to well up and his ears drooped back in despair "That's why I feel so sad returning here, I get bad memories of my clan's demise and that horrible leopard woman. I left Chun-Nan to get out of my despair but all that happened was more despair when I got captured by Marcus and Celia Punch and trained to be a slave for Dr. Eggman! I wish my mother, the Bride of the Gentle Waves was still alive! Then I wouldn't always be in despair right now!"

He broke down crying and knelt down on the ground. Cosmo felt sorry for the water panther and she knelt down beside him. She put a hand on the panther's back as he wept.

"There, there Ruben." said Cosmo gently "Don't let your sorrow get the best of you. I know how you feel and how sad it is to feel alone. My entire race is at war with another and I feel like I'm the only one left on this planet but I don't let that bring me down. I can rely on my friends to make my happy and I'm sure you can too. Please be strong Ruben, for me, for everyone and even for the people of Chun-Nan. I'm sure your mother would have wanted you to be strong for her."

Ruben stopped snivelling and he looked at the caring Seedrian with a thankful smile on his face.

"You're right." said Ruben, wiping his eyes "Mother would want me to be strong. OK Cosmo, I'll be strong, for everybody in Chun-Nan."

"Well done Ruben." said Cosmo, giving him a friendly hug.

"Mr. Ruben sir, forgive me for asking but what happened to Zira after she killed all the clans here?" asked Cream politely.

"Master Shan had decided Zira had gone too far and had to be stopped so he single handily defeated her in a kung-fu match." explained Ruben "Zira was no match for her master since Shan hadn't taught her the skills of his level. Zira was sentenced to life in exile and we haven't heard a peep from her for five years straight. And now Fong Zarr shows up, claiming she's their new leader and demanding the location of the Pagoda of Prosperity. She must have returned to get revenge on Master Shan or something."

"Well if Master Shan beat her before, he must be able to defeater her again." said Knuckles.

"I hope so." said Ruben "I do not wish to see her again and I cannot leave her knowing my country is under siege from that vile woman."

"If we see this Zira gal, we'll kick her butt right out of Chun-Nan!" declared Sonic, pounding his other hand with his fist "We'll take her down no problem!"

"Zira's no push over Sonic!" blurted Ruben "She destroyed three whole clans without breaking a sweat! She'll not be so easy to defeat! Only an advanced kung-fu master has a chance against her and if Master Shan cannot defeat Zira again then we're all doomed!"

Sonic's face fell into an "Oh right." kind of expression.

"In that case, we'd best hope that Zira doesn't get here." he said.

"As for this Pagoda of Prosperity." put in Tails "Do you know where it is Ruben?"

"I do indeed." said Ruben "I remember the way as if I'd only walked it yesterday. Why?"

"Well if Zira wants to attack the emperor and the emperor has no idea that she's here, someone needs to warn him." suggested Tails "Not to mention, we would be good protection for him."

"If the emperor knew about Zira's return then all of Chun-Nan would know of Zira's return so the emperor is obviously oblivious to Zira's return." thought Ruben "We'll have to warn him. Come on friends, follow me!"

He scampered off as quickly as he could. Sonic, Tails, Knuckles, Amy, Cream and Cosmo ran after him. Ruben led them through the village and onto the Pagoda of Prosperity. If they didn't reach the pagoda in time then Zira would strike and bring turmoil to Chun-Nan…

Meanwhile, General Bostock and his right hand man Commander Mortimer were standing outside the iron gates of Robotropolis with a horde of men at their side. Fellow fighters Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse were by their side. They also had the Chaotix, Espio the Chameleon, Vector the Crocodile and Charmy Bee with them too. Vector had a bag of supplies on his shoulder and these supplies were for the siege. Ever since Wilson and Mandy's successful mission in Grand Metropolis Bostock and Mortimer had destroyed all of Eggman's forces and Grand Metropolis had been won back. They had found some of their roboticized men during their assaults and thanks to the researchers using the portable roboticizer machine that Tails had given them after sealing it from Eggman*, they had de-roboticized them and now they were back in action and waiting to attack. Wilson and Mandy were pleased to see Bostock again and Bostock was pleased to see them again.

"Wilson, Mandy. It's a delight to be working with you two again." said Bostock gruffly.

"The pleasure's ours." said Wilson "We're happy to be on a mission involving laying siege to Dr. Eggman's hideous city."

"As for you Mandy." said Bostock, looking at the young but skilful mouse "When we heard rumours of your death, I was devastated. I cannot begin to describe my relief when it turns out you were actually alive, you were just in captive all the time you've been out of action. It's good so see you back on the battlefield."

"Thank you Bostock." said Mandy, saluting him "I need to pay Eggman back for having the nerve to lie about me like that. I'm even more disgusted at the fact he used me to make Automatons of me to trick Sonic and friends. The fat demon won't know what's hit him when I'm finished!"

"That's what I like to see Mandy girl." said Bostock cheerfully, patting the mouse on the shoulder "Determination to carry out the mission. You are a fine soldier indeed."

"And these Chaotix chaps look like fine soldiers too." said Mortimer, admiring Espio, Vector and Charmy "I'm looking forward to seeing you in battle."

"And we're looking forward to this heist." said Vector "We've got some scores to settle with Eggman ourselves."

"Whee! This is going to be loads of fun!" cried the Chaotix moron Charmy Bee "Loads of laser thingies blasting and blasting, loads of robots getting destroyed! And we'll be the ones doing it! Hee, hee, hee, hee!"

"Hmm…a little excited isn't he?" mused Mortimer "Is he always like this?"

"Charmy's an excitable little boy but he means well." said Vector "Despite his small size, he's a great help to us three and he's had training on how to kick an Eggman robot's behind."

"Yeah!" said Charmy excitedly "Dr. Eggman's not gonna know what's hit him!"

"He especially won't with me around." said Espio "I can turn invisible so he'll never see me."

"Aaaah, invisibility powers." said Bostock "A trait found in all chameleons. Very useful. I bet you'll be a great asset to us in this battle."

"I shall be at my best on this mission." said Espio.

"That's why I'm so proud to have Espio on the Chaotix." said Vector with a big fat smile on his face "He's always willing to fulfil his tasks and accomplish his missions no matter the costs."

"No wonder you three are so formidable in battles." said Mandy "Your teamwork is faultless and you have evenly balanced skills. Eggman's gonna have a tough time with you three I can tell."

"Just you watch us Mandy." boasted Vector "We three are a one-bot wrecking crew in battle!"

"Enough talk now fighters, it's time to attack." said Bostock "Mortimer, are the detonators set?"

"Primed and ready general." said Mortimer "Those gates maybe near invulnerable but these bombs will take out the gate's weaker points and allow us to invade without second thought."

"Then set them up and prepare to press forward." ordered Bostock gruffly.

Mortimer obeyed and ran over to the gates. He'd enjoyed working with Bostock ever since the Royal Fighter's Service had been formed and he was so pleased that his friend had turned back to the good side after the Operation Drill ordeal the other month. And now he and Bostock were here, ready to invade Eggman's city and do a good deal of collateral damage to the city to hinder Eggman's forces. He set the two detonators on either side of the gates and sent them to blow in ten seconds. After setting them to go, he ran for it as the countdown started. The moment he was out of range, the detonators erupted and exploded in a brilliant explosion. the explosion tore through the gates' attachment points and completely destroyed them. The gates fell forward and crashed down on the ground with an enormous clang. Everybody beamed with pride at how beautifully the detonators worked. The gates had fallen down and now they were free to attack with all haste.

"Royal Fighters CHARRRRRRRGE!" bellowed Bostock.

Everybody obeyed and they charged through the entrance to the city and into Eggman's notorious city. The masses of Eggman robots that occupied the city all jumped in surprise and they immediately began to attack. As for Dr. Eggman, he was up in his headquarters, which was being repaired from after Egg-Timer exploded and took half of the building with it yesterday. He looked out the window and was not pleased to see he had intruders in his city while his quarters were still being repaired.

"Dang and blast those stupid Mobians!" he grated "Can't I get any peace around here?"

"You can't even repair your headquarters without Mobians invading your city and making a mess of things!" griped his "loyal" servant bot Alonzo "We're going to have to get rid of them!"

"Well I'm limited with choices." said Dr. Eggman despairingly "Metal Sonic, my strongest weapon ever is destroyed, the explosion of Egg-Timer destroyed my four Mechas and I haven't had anytime to build anymore Mechas or even a new Metal Sonic!"

"So what options do we have master?" asked Alonzo "We can't let them stay here or they'll wreck your city!"

"I still have Egg-Dog from the time I kidnapped Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "We'll use that. Egg-Dog will destroy all those pesky Royal Fighters with one blast of it's deadly cannons! Come Alonzo, let's get going!"

"Right away sir." said Alonzo, saluting.

Dr. Eggman and Alonzo ran out of the room as fast as they could and headed for the hangar bay where Egg-Dog was kept.

Outside, things were already going in the Mobian's favour. All the robots on patrol at the minute were mere pawns and scout units and not much of the heavy artillery was out at the moment so the Mobians were having an easy time smashing the robots to pieces. Rather then a belt of bombs, Mandy had decided to wield two laser pistols since she wanted to use a different weapon for once. Wilson however, still had his trademark spinning blade weapon which was a double-bladed pole like weapon he threw at his enemies like a boomerang. Bostock and Mortimer had their rust guns which caused any robot they blasted to crumble into a rusty pile of metal parts. Espio, Vector and Charmy just had their usual weapons, shuriken, brute strength and stinger respectively. Mandy began rapidly shooting any Eggman robot that dared to come near her. Her twin pistols were very powerful, despite their small size and they destroyed any robot Mandy shot at. One pull of the trigger and the robot was blasted to smithereens by the pistols. Mandy shot an Egg-Pawn and the whole bot was reduced to tiny metal pieces. She smiled at her handiwork.

"Maybe I should use these things more often." she said to herself "These pistols are very effective."

Meanwhile, Wilson was surrounded by a swarm of Egg-Pawns and Blast-strike bots but he of course, was not afraid as he knew how to deal with them. He threw his spinning blade at the swarm of robots and the deadly weapon spun towards the robots, its twin blades becoming ferocious blurs as it boomeranged towards its targets. The Egg-Pawns tried to run away but the spinning-blade sliced them all to pieces as it churned through them all. The weapon boomeranged back to Wilson and he caught it in his hand. Two Blast-strike units began rapidly firing at the dog but Wilson dodged their attacks and plunged one of the two blades into one of the robots, killing it instantly. The other shot at Wilson but he deflected the blast with the other blade and he threw the weapon like a dart at the second Blast-strike robot. The blade impaled the robot in the chest and killed it. Wilson yanked the blade out and ran on to attack again.

"There's nothing in the world more fun then smashing Eggman robots!" he cried excitedly.

As for Bostock and Mortimer, they had their fight completely in their favour. Not only did they have rust guns but their horde of soldiers they had brought with them had rust guns too. Any robot foolish enough to get too close to the Grand Metropolis Royal Fighters were shot by the guns and reduced to a rusting wreck. The poor robots had no chance and sooner or later, Bostock and his men had brought all the robots attacking them into a miserable wreck of rusty metal.

"This reminds me of our fights in Grand Metropolis." Bostock said to Mortimer who was standing behind him.

"The only difference is you won't turn out to be a turncoat again." said Mortimer with a big grin on his face.

Bostock just grinned back and prepared to shoot again. Team Chaotix completely had their fight in their favour too. Espio threw shuriken at any robot attacking him, Vector smashed them all to bits with his brute strength and fearsome jaws and Charmy Bee flew past the horde of robots, walloping them as he buzzed by. He stung one robot in the head and killed it and he walloped another robot into Vector. Vector punched the robot before it could crash into him and the robot was completely destroyed. A robot walloped Vector in the snout but Vector got his own back and chomped it to pieces with his fearsome jaws. He coughed and spluttered as the robot's oil seeped onto his tongue and he rubbed his tongue furiously to get the taste out. Espio ninja kicked two Blast-strike units that were trying to attack him and then he karate chopped one in the neck, knocking its head clean off its body. The other robot shot at Espio.

The blast skimmed off Espio's back and Espio yelped in pain. He threw a shuriken at the robot and the shuriken sliced the robot's head off, putting it out of action for good. Espio dusted his hands off and turned to Vector who had just smashed another robot against a wall.

"This is pathetically easy." said Espio "Eggman needs to do much better then this if he wants to keep us out of Robotropolis."

"I think Eggman's still recovering from the time you, Sonic and some others destroyed his big death machine or whatever it was supposed to be." said Vector, shrugging "Oh well, let's hope things stay easy for us, we could afford an easy mission for once."

"Hey Vector, I've trashed all the robots attacking us." said Charmy "What do we do now?"

Vector took the bag of supplies off his shoulder and he pulled out two pairs of bombs. He handed a pair to Charmy and a pair to Espio.

"The General wants us to bomb one of Eggman's communication towers so he can't make contact with any of his forces abroad." said Vector "The only trouble is, I don't know where the communication tower is."

"I do." said Espio "It's directly behind his headquarters. I found that out when spying on him the other day."

"Then let's go and blow that stupid tower up already!" cried Charmy excitedly "It's gonna be lots of fun and we'll stop Eggman from calling any of his buddies that are in other places!"

"Charmy! I'm in charge so I give the order!" snapped Vector.

"Whatever boss." scoffed Charmy.

Vector scowled at the bee and turned to Espio.

"Go for it you two, blow that tower sky high!" ordered Vector.

"Roger." said Espio, running off with the bombs he was carrying.

Charmy buzzed off after him. Vector smiled with satisfaction and he ran off to join Wilson and Mandy in their attack. Mandy shot four robots dead with her powerful pistols and after they collapsed in a heap, she spun them around in her hands in the style of a cowboy and blew at the barrel as if she was blowing smoke away. Vector appeared behind Mandy and tapped the mouse on the shoulder. Mandy turned around to face Vector.

"What's up croc?" she asked.

"Espio and Charmy are getting ready to blow the communication tower." said Vector "The plan is in action."

"That piece of news is music to my ears." said Mandy, stroking her big round ears "Eggman's gonna have a lot of trouble if he can't call any of his forces abroad for back-up."

"Let's hope that nothing goes wrong for us." said Vector.

"At the rate things are going? This mission will go like clockwork all the way through." gloated Mandy.

Then suddenly, an bone-shaking rumble was heard and everybody began to wobble about as if there was an earthquake going off. Mandy and Wilson fell beside each other on their bottoms and they dropped their weapons. Vector managed to keep his balance and he held his place until the rumble stopped.

"Wh-what was th-th-that?" screamed Wilson.

"I think Eggman's bringing in the heavy artillery." suggested Mandy "Only Eggman's biggest machines cause shakes like that."

And how right Mandy was, for moments after the rumbling had stopped, the giant dog-shaped machine known as Egg-Dog appeared from behind Eggman's headquarters and hovered over to the Mobians. Bostock and Mortimer stopped firing and they looked up at Egg-Dog. They were well and truly shocked. They had faced many Eggman threats back in Grand Metropolis, but never had they been up against any of Eggman's colossal machines. To them, Egg-Dog looked like a very fearsome machine with four cannons, a dog-shaped head and four jets in place of legs that kept it airborne. Wilson helped Mandy back onto her feet and the two kept their eyes fixed squarely on Egg-Dog. Eggman's voice boomed from inside Egg-Dog's cockpit.

"Attention invaders." the voice echoed throughout the entire city "You are trespassing in Eggman territory and vandalizing my wonderful work. I am going to kindly request for you all to leave or I'll destroy you all with Egg-Dog's unmatchable firepower!"

Dr. Eggman burst into loud grating laughter that echoed through Robotropolis. Wilson and Mandy looked at each other fearfully.

"OK…this isn't what we were expecting." gulped Mandy.

"Of all the times Eggman had to get the big machines out!" whined Wilson "I w-w-wish S-Sonic was here! He c-c-could take that th-thing down one two three!"

The dog began to shake in a terrified manner.

"Relax Wilson." said Mandy, touching Wilson on the shoulder to calm his nerves "We're not here to fight Dr. Eggman, we're here to blow up his com-tower. Once Espio and Charmy set the charges, we can leave here."

"Oh right." said Wilson "Let's give them a call and see how they're doing."

"I'll call them." said Bostock, tapping some buttons on his wrist mounted communicator.

"Espio? Charmy? Do you read me?" asked Bostock gruffly.

"Loud and clear General." came Espio's deep voice "What's your status?"

"Under siege from Eggman at the moment but that's obsolete." said Bostock "Set the charges and then we can leave here."

"The bombs are in place." said Espio as Charmy fitted in the last bomb on a sensor array in the tower "We're going to set them to blow in thirty seconds."

Espio and Charmy were inside the tower and they had placed the four bombs in the towers most vital areas so they could destroy it in an instant.

"Very good boys." said Bostock "We'll wait until you and Charmy emerge from the tower."

"Roger." said Espio, switching off.

"Um…Espio?" said Charmy, his antenna quivering with fright "I don't think we'll be getting out of here in a hurry."

"Why not?" asked Espio.

Charmy just pointed out of the window and Espio looked out to see what the problem was. His eyes widened in horror, an expression the chameleon hardly ever used. Twenty huge dome shaped, heavily armoured Eggman robots armed with hammers, bazookas and shields were standing guard outside the tower. Those robots were very dangerous and very tough robots and trying to get past twenty of them in a dash would be suicide. They were hard to destroy and they were heavily protected so their attacks would be in vain. Espio switched the communicator back on and spoke into it.

"General? I think we're going to need some back up!" cried Espio "There's a gang of heavily armoured robots outside the tower and me and Charmy can't get past them without getting smashed!"

"We've got your message Espio." said Bostock "We'll send help immediately. Over and out."

The general chipmunk switched off and turned to Wilson, Mandy and Vector.

"Espio and Charmy need some help you three." said Bostock "Me, Mortimer and you three will aid them in escaping the robot guards. My men will keep Eggman's dog machine at bay."

"Well if you're sure…" said Mandy uncertainly.

"My men will be fine." said Bostock "They're fine soldiers and they are willing to go out in a blaze of glory if they have to."

"Wow. Those guys are loyal." said Vector, impressed with what Bostock had said.

"OK then boys, let's save our friends." said Mandy "Charge!"

She, Wilson, Vector, Bostock and Mortimer ran off to save Espio and Charmy. Dr. Eggman saw them running away so he aimed Egg-Dog's cannons at them. Bostock's men all aimed their rust guns up at Egg-Dog and began firing at it. The blasts rocked Egg-Dog about and Eggman almost fell onto his side. Eggman looked down at Bostock's attacking troops and he aimed Egg-Dog's cannons at them.

"I recognize their weapons." Eggman mused to himself "Rust guns. Makes anything rust when they shoot at it. Too bad for them Egg-Dog has rust-proof armour! Still, I'd better destroy them before their pistols do some damage to Egg-Dog."

"All cannons fire at that group of soldiers!" ordered Alonzo.

Egg-Dog's four cannons pointed down at Bostock's soldiers and fired at them. The troops immediately scattered and ran for it before they could get hit. Bostock looked over his shoulder to see what was happening and began to wonder if his men would hold out. He shook his head and ran on to the communication tower to help Espio and Charmy escape.

"Talk you obstinate monkey! TALK!" screamed Zira, kicking Master Shan very sharply in the stomach.

Zira and her gang had taken down Master Shan but instead of killing him here and then, Zira had taken him to an abandoned Chun-Nan prison for interrogation. They had chained Master Shan by his arms to the wall and had been showering him with hard punches, kicks and even whips and nunchakus. Master Shan looked as if he had been in a road accident. He was coated in bruises and cuts and he felt like all his bones were broken. It was amazing that the kung-fu monkey was still alive after all that! Despite Zira's best efforts, Master Shan had remained quiet.

"Not…matter how…much the…lightening strikes…" croaked Master Shan "It's…victim…will never…speak…"

Zira growled in frustration and punched Master Shan in the face. The punch made Master Shan spit out a tooth and a thin trickle of blood seeped out of his nose.

"I always forget that kung-fu masters are the hardest to break." sighed Zira "But still, even my level of torture should have you squealing to me former master. Do I have to take it to the extreme Master Shan?"

"Um Ma'Am, vis-à-vis this interrogation, if we push this torture to an even more pernicious nature, we may end up executing him." said the falcon "We cannot learn his sequestrated secrets if we execute the monkey you know."

"I know we can't learn anything from a dead monkey!" snapped Zira "Stop being rhetorical Bladefeather!"

"My utmost apologies mistress of turpitude." said Bladefeather politely.

"I hope Fong Zarr's having an easier time then we are." said Zira "Villagers are easier to snap then a kung-fu master after all. I bet the first villager Fong Zarr has questioned has cracked like a little insignificant egg right now." she laughed evilly at the very thought of terrified villagers succumbing to the mighty Fong Zarr right now.

Then suddenly the door swung open and in burst the two ninja cats that Sonic and friends had just defeated. They lay down the still knocked out Fong Zarr and they saluted Zira respectfully. Zira strode over to Fong Zarr and felt his pulse. He was obviously alive but Zira wasn't pleased to see he was knocked out.

"What happened to him?" snarled Zira fiercely.

"He was knocked out after someone threw a wok at him." explained one of the cats.

"At least he's alive." said Zira "Did you find out the location of the Pagoda of Prosperity?"

"Unfortunately no." said the other cat "Fong Zarr was interrogating one of the villagers and then a blue hedgehog and his gang of friends appeared from nowhere and attacked him. They defeated him so we retreated and brought him back here."

Zira was so angry she looked like she was about to explode.

"Of all the unreliable…that's it!" she screeched "I'm taking this interrogation to the max! I'll get Master Shan to talk if it's the last thing I do! And I think I know how to get him to crack at last." she purred, putting a finger to her head and thinking hard.

Bladefeather and Mushu looked at each other, waiting for something to happen. Zira strolled back over to Master Shan and, for some strange reason, unchained the kung-fu master. Master Shan fell onto his hands and knees, panting and gasping heavily. Zira knelt down before the monkey and lifted his head up so he was looking her directly in the eye.

"You know what Master Shan?" purred Zira "If you won't tell me where the Pagoda of Prosperity is…then I bet your students will."

My…my…students?" gasped Master Shan, he's eyes widening in horror.

"Yes your students." said Zira "Since you've taught them everything you know, I bet they know where the Pagoda of Prosperity is. And children are easier to break then kung-fu masters so maybe I could interrogate one of them for the information I require…"

"The young ones…don't know…where the…pagoda is…" spluttered Master Shan "They…aren't old…enough to know…yet."

"In that case, I'll just kill them all and lower the population of unneeded citizens in Chun-Nan." purred Zira evilly.

"No!" choked Master Shan "Not the…young ones…please…!"

"Then tell me what I want and I promise with my stony heart I will not lay a paw on those snot-faced children!" snarled Zira.

Master Shan stared down at the floor in shame. He didn't want Zira to learn the location of an important place in Chun-Nan but he loved children and always thought their lives were more important then older people since children have much to learn over their years so he had to for the sake of his students.

"The Pagoda…is…five miles west…from the local…village…and up on…a…hilltop just left from…the lake…" explained Master Shan with great reluctance.

Zira put both her hands on Master Shan's face and she jammed her face into his.

"Thank you Master." she said coldly "Your services are no longer required."

Master Shan's eyes widened in fight. Zira flashed her former master a sick twisted grin and then…

CRACK!

And that was it. Master Shan was dead. His lifeless body collapsed to the floor and Zira cackled a very witchy kind of laugh. Bladefeather and Mushu seemed to be horrified at this but they said nothing.

"Finally!" she cackled "I've found the location of the Pagoda of Prosperity! Now my reign over Chun-Nan can begin once I assassinate the emperor and his daughter! Bladefeather! You get the Yīnyǐng Mao ready!"

"At once mistress." said Bladefeather, taking flight and flying out through the door with one mighty swoop of his wings.

"Mushu, me and you will arrive at the pagoda and do NOT attack until Bladefeather and the ninjas arrive and I give the order!" hissed Zira "Is that understood?"

Mushu nodded. Mushu was a silent kung-fu master. He had lost his ability to speak in a fight and his only method of communication was roars and hisses as well as sign language. His quiet nature made him a dangerous foe for anybody fighting him.

"Good." said Zira "Now that's sorted, we can make our merry way to the place that is deservingly mine. And now Master Shan is dead, I have no obstacle in my way!"

Zira and Mushu left the room and the two ninja cats carried their still knocked out Fong Zarr after them. The door shut with an echoing clang that filled the entire room. Now Zira knew where the Pagoda of Prosperity was, Chun-Nan was doomed…

The Pagoda Pandemonium

Story 53: The Pagoda Pandemonium

"Here it is Sonic." said Ruben the Water Panther, pointing at the top of a hilltop they had just come across "The Pagoda of Prosperity."

Sonic the Hedgehog and friends hopped over a bunch of stepping stones set in the lake for travellers to use to cross over. They looked up at the hilltop and stared in awe at what awaited them up there. The pagoda was just as glamorous as all pagodas with its multiple eaves and uniquely styled roof. Its colour scheme was white and gold and it had a large symbol above the door. The symbol was the symbol of peace with the symbol of yin-yang behind it all carved out of gold. The pagoda had two very large and beautifully sculpted vases outside the door with very colourful plants in them. Sonic was impressed. The pagoda certainly looked like the dwelling place of an emperor. Sonic whistled in an impressed tone.

"Wow. Very emperor-y looking." said Sonic "So this is the place Zira is looking for I guess."

"Good thing we found it first." said Cosmo "Now we can warn the emperor of Zira's return."

"What's this emperor like?" asked Cream "Is he as horrible as the emperors you read about in the history books?"

"Horrible?" blurted Ruben as if he'd never heard of the word "horrible" before "The emperor doesn't even know what the word "horrible" means! He's the kindest man in Chun-Nan and it's precisely his reign that makes Chun-Nan a wonderful place and brings a smile on everyone's face."

"In that case, he won't have any trouble listening to us." said Sonic "So let's go meet him."

The Mobians all ran up the small hilltop and towards the pagoda. The moment they were atop the hilltop, Ruben knocked on the door and waited for an answer. The door slid sideways to open up and there stood a reddish brown mongoose in an emperor's robe and fancy hat that all Chinese emperors wore. His robe was a mixture of red, gold and green and his hat was black with rep strips on the sides. He was twenty years past his prime but he still looked as fit as a fiddle and he had a very welcoming smile on his face. Beside him was a pretty looking twenty one year old female mongoose who wore a purple strapped dress decorated with Chinese symbols and plant like decals. Her hair was styled in a bun with hair sticks and she carried a hand fan which had a beautiful deco on it.

"Greetings young ones." said the emperor mongoose, bowing down respectively to his visitors. He had a deep baritone voice that indicated his age heavily "I was not expecting visitors at all but I'm glad I have some. It's getting a little lonesome up here."

Everybody bowed down to the mongoose.

"Nǐ hǎo emperor." said Ruben, bowing down to the mongoose "I am Ruben the Water Panther, last of the Hailàng Clan."

"Oh little Ruben, I know who you are child." said the mongoose with a slight chuckle "I knew much of the Hailàng Clan before Zira the Ruthless slaughtered the entire clan. I didn't know there was a survivor though. I thought Zira had wiped the entire clan out."

"Funny you should speak of Zira your highness." said Sonic, standing up "We came here to warn you about her. Zira's returned and she's plotting to ransack this place!"

The girl mongoose hid her face behind her fan but the emperor mongoose kept a straight face on. He did have a look of concern in his eyes though.

"This is unfortunate news." said the emperor mongoose slowly "I cannot believe it! Zira's returned? We banished her years ago and now she's back! I'll have to get the villagers to evacuate the village and get Master Shan, Master Bladefeather and Master Mushu to fend her off once again!"

"Shall we let these nice people come in?" asked the girl sweetly "I bet they're fascinating people and I bet they'd love to know all about us."

"Fascinating, you bet we are!" boasted Sonic "And I'm more then just fascinating. I'm…"

"Yeah, yeah we get it Sonic now come on before your head swells up!" grumbled Knuckles, sharply pushing Sonic towards the pagoda.

The Mobians all walked inside the pagoda and found themselves in a large room decorated with tapestries that had drawings of wildlife and ancient Chun-Nan on them. There were lots of soft silky or velvet cushions for the occupants to sit on and there was a table and chair on the other side of the room. The emperor mongoose invited Sonic and friends to sit on the cushions while he sat on one himself. Everybody sat down and the emperor mongoose called the girl mongoose to him.

"Prepare some tea for our guests Matilda." he said "That's the honouree thing to do when we have visitors."

"Yes father." said the girl mongoose who's name was apparently Matilda.

She ran off to make the tea.

"Allow me to introduce myself my guests." said the mongoose "I am Emperor Dalon Tai and the person making the tea is my daughter Princess Dalon Matilda."

"That's silly, why are both your names Dalon?" asked Tails.

"No child, in Chun-Nan, we introduce ourselves surnames first." explained Tai "Tai is my first name and Dalon is my surname."

"I see." said Tails.

"Matilda's an odd name to call a citizen of Chun-Nan isn't it?" asked Amy "It definitely doesn't fit in with the other names in Chun-Nan."

"I called my daughter Matilda because the name means "might" and "strength"." explained Tai "And I also picked the name because I thought it would make Matilda stand out a bit more form the rest of the Chun-Nan citizens. What are your names by the way?"

"I take it you've not heard of me eh emperor?" said Sonic.

"I know full well who you are young man." said Tai with a big grin on his face "You are the world famous Sonic the Hedgehog. You're the one who fights that invader Dr. Eggman and tries to bring peace back to Mobius. How could I have not have heard of you?"

"Well maybe because there's no Eggman invasion going on here?" suggested Sonic.

"Word travels fast around Chun-Nan and I'm always the one that gets it." said Tai "No news in this country or other countries goes around without me hearing about it."

"And yet you heard nothing about Zira's return." noted Amy.

"Her return is too recent for me to pick up right away." said Tai "It's usually the next day I hear news like that. Now, would the rest of you like to introduce yourselves please?"

"Yes emperor. My name's Miles Prower but everybody calls me Tails." Tails introduced.

"My name is Cream the Rabbit. How do you do?" introduced Cream sweetly.

"My name is Cosmo and I'm not from this planet." introduced Cosmo.

"I'm Knuckles, Guardian of Angel Island." said Knuckles.

"And I'm Amy Rose, Sonic's biggest fan and soon-to-be girlfriend." said Amy.

"Amy!" snapped Sonic "No go on the fan-girl behaviour please!"

Amy ignored him.

"I've heard much about you five." said Tai as Matilda came by everyone and passed them a cup "You're all Sonic's helpers in his missions if I'm correct."

"That's right." said Tails as Matilda poured him some tea from a teapot "I'm Sonic's best friend and sidekick. I'm also a mechanic and I invent things to help make things easier for Sonic and friends in their battles. I don't think I've made much progress though." he said sadly.

"It doesn't matter my child." said Tai kindly "You may not be making much progress now but that doesn't mean your progress will never increase over time. I'm sure your gadgets will bring peace back to Mobius once again."

Tails smiled with pleasure. That statement made him feel much better.

"As for you dear child." said Tai, pointing at Cosmo who was just taking a sip of tea from her cup that Matilda had just poured for her "I've heard fascinating tales about you. Weren't you the one that saved the Princess of Mobotropolis from certain death?"

"I was." said Cosmo, putting the cup down and looking sad "I saved her from getting killed by a demon from space named Marik. He's a Martian from Mars and he's the embodiment of sadism and destruction. He's always trying to kill me and my kind and his kind are at war with each other. I came here completely by accident while I was being evacuated but I like it here and I've made lots of new friends that are keeping my spirits up while I'm here. I hope one day to return to my Homeworld and find the Martians are gone for good and my people are standing victorious."

Tails didn't like the sound of that. If Cosmo left then his heart would shatter like glass and he would end up losing the one girl he loved more then anything.

"That is an interesting tale little one." said Tai quietly and he held out his cup for Matilda to pour some tea into "My advice on that is things may seem bleak and the fires may be burning, remember that no fire lasts forever and there's always hope in even the bleakest of situations. The conflict with your kind will end and there's always the chance it will be your kind that arises from the ashes of the war."

Cosmo was touched by that statement and her saddened face brightened up. Tai took a sip of tea and he looked at Amy.

"Nice touch you have, wearing a Chinese robe so you can fit in better with the locals Miss Rose." he said.

"Thank you Mr. Dalon sir." said Amy "What do you know about me other then my fondness for Sonic?"

"Guys, gals, I don't mean to sound rude or anything," interrupted Sonic "But can we discuss something more important like how are we gonna stop Zira from taking over Chun-Nan?"

"Patience hedgehog." said Tai firmly "We cannot rush into the roaring flames without a way of extinguishing it first."

"Whoever said anything about fires?" snapped Sonic.

"No silly boy, daddy means we must think first before we take on that horrible woman Zira." explained Matilda "Isn't that right daddy?"

"You are correct angel." said Tai "Now Sonic, in answer to your question, I do know how to stop Zira. Our three strongest kung-fu masters Master Shan the Monkey, Master Bladefeather the Falcon and Master Mushu the Iguana are a formidable force for her and all three of them together kicked her out of Chun-Nan the first time so those three will do it again. But we must get the villagers to safety first and then we call the masters to duty."

"And me and my pals will be happy to help them." said Sonic, pounding his fists together "I hate evil people and I wanna show Zira what happens when she messes with countries I really like!"

"Sonic, Zira is not a laughing matter." said Tai firmly "She is a relentless woman with insane kung-fu skills. Some of the best in Chun-Nan's history. I know of your super speed and combat skills but kung-fu is not a force to be reckoned with. It is a much more powerful skill then anything you've ever faced. But since you'll be fighting alongside the three kung-fu masters then I guess you'll be alright against her."

"You bet I will!" boasted Sonic "Zira won't know what's hit her when I've finished with her!"

Then suddenly there was a rather loud and sharp knock at the door that made everybody jump and almost spill their teas. Tai got to his feet and wondered over to open it and see who it was. The moment he began sliding the door open, something kicked the door and sent the emperor flying backwards and crashing into the wall. Matilda screamed, dropped the teapot on the floor by accident and ran over to help her dad. Sonic and Knuckles were the first to leap up. They ran outside to see what the attacker was only to get attacked themselves. They were hit by a rapid fast punch and they were sent flying into the wall beside Tai and Matilda. Amy, Cream and Cosmo got to their feet to help them where as Tails and Ruben stood defensively in front of the emperor and princess. The attacker did a flip into the room and he landed before Tai and Matilda. Matilda clutched her father's robe in fright and her ears drooped back as they stared up at the assailant. It was the silent but deadly kung-fu warrior Mushu the Iguana! He gritted his teeth and scowled at his victims before him. Tai was livid and he stood to his feet.

"Master Mushu, what is the meaning of this?" demanded Tai angrily "You know this is a place of honour and prosperity!"

Mushu ignored him and he prodded him sharply in the stomach. Tai wheezed and fell back against the wall.

"Daddy!" cried Matilda "Are you alright?"

Mushu snarled angrily at his victims and he bore down on them. Tails took flight and flew towards the iguana, ready to punch him in the face.

"You leave the emperor and princess alone!" yelled Tails.

"Know your place!" snarled another voice from nowhere.

The voice belonged to Bladefeather the Falcon. He had crushed his way in through the roof and he dive-bombed Tails into the floor. Ruben stood back, knowing it was suicide to go near the falcon and try to attack him. Bladefeather put his clawed foot on Tails' back and pinned him down. Tails turned his head around to look at his attacker.

"Wh-wh-who the h-h-heck are you?" asked Tails.

"Don't you dare talk to me in that disapproving tone you little brat!" snarled Bladefeather, raising his wings menacingly "I am Master Bladefeather, Master of the Thousand Daggers and I am going to educate that peevish mind of yours with some much needed manners!"

Then suddenly, a third assailant appeared from nowhere and stood by the door. She was accompanied with a gang of ninja cats and their leader Fong Zarr, who had recovered from Cosmo's wok throw earlier and he looked furious to see Sonic and friends there again. The cats all had their katanas at the ready. Bladefeather and Mushu turned around to see who it was, only to see it was their new leader.

"Mistress of perjured nature and turpitude." said Bladefeather respectively "We have secured the pagoda."

"Excellent work Bladefeather." said the voice of none other then Zira the Ruthless as she entered the glamorous pagoda and stood before the terrified emperor and his equally as terrified daughter "Now Emperor Dalon Tai, your reign comes to an end and my reign over Chun-Nan begins!"

"Stop putting up this feeble resistance Mobians!" yelled Dr. Eggman as Bostock's men continued to fire at Egg-Dog's tough armour "You cannot penetrate Egg-Dog's invincible hide!"

Bostock's troops and Egg-Dog had been keeping up this game of cat and mouse for a while and they were still shooting at each other. Eggman hadn't hit anybody so far but he came pretty close a lot of times.

As for Bostock, Mortimer, Wilson, Mandy and Vector, they had just made it to the communication tower which like Espio had said, was surrounded by twenty heavily armed robots. The robots were dome shaped and very heavily armoured. They armed with hammers, bazookas and shields. The Mobians looked a little worried. It was going to be hard to destroy something with a shield. The robots glared at the Mobians and they raised their hammers menacingly, threatening to squish them. Mandy raised her pistols and threatened to pull the trigger.

"Don't make me have to shoot you!" she warned "Now be nice little robots and step aside so we can help our friends will you?"

The robots just charged up to the mouse with their hammers raised above their heads. Mandy fumed over the fact her little threat didn't work so she shot at the robots. Despite the raw power of her twin-pistols, the laser blasts just bounced harmlessly off their armour! Mandy flinched and ran for it as the robots ran towards her. One tried to smash her with its hammer but it missed and Mandy leaped over it in a somersault.

"OK, you don't wanna step aside." said Mandy, standing on top of the attacking robot's head "You wanna do battle. Well your wish is granted."

She pointed her pistols at the robot's head which she stood upon and rapidly fired at it. But even the robot's head was heavily armoured and her shots didn't even singe its head. Another robot plodded up to the robot Mandy was standing on and it swung its hammer at her. Mandy leaped out of the way just seconds before the hammer hit. The robot's hammer completely destroyed the robot Mandy was attacking and it collapsed to the ground in a pile of robot parts.

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Mandy "Robots, the only thing they don't have is a brain!"

"Good one Mandy." said Bostock "If you keep doing that, all the robots will destroy each other."

"Let's see if our rust guns work on these guys." said Mortimer, pointing his pistol at a robot that charged towards them.

Mortimer fired at the robot but the robot raised its shield and the blast bounced off it. Bostock fired but the robot kept its shield raised to deflect the blast. The robot tried to smash them with its hammer but it missed and hit the ground, leaving a hammer sized crater where it hit. Bostock and Mortimer fired at the robot from the other side so it couldn't raise its shield in time but the blasts bounced harmlessly off its armour.

"Curses! Rust proof armour!" moaned Bostock "Our pistols are useless!"

"This just makes me wonder why aren't all of Eggman's robots rust proof." said Mortimer "That scientist is a senile fellow isn't he?"

"So if we can't blast these things to pieces then I'm willing to bet my spinning blade won't work on them." said Wilson, shaking a little "What do we do now?"

"I'll see if I can smash these guys to bits!" said Vector, cracking his knuckles.

Vector ran up to a robot and punched at it but the robot had its shield up so Vector punched the shield. Vector then grabbed the robot's shield and ripped it clean off its arm. The robot tried to hammer him but Vector hid behind the shield and let the shield take the punishment. The hammer it with a deafening clud and Vector ended up with a loud ringing in his ears. Vector shook it off and threw the shield at the robot like a Frisbee. The shield hit the robot directly in the forehead and knocked it over. Mandy then had an idea and she fired at the robot while it was lying on its back. The robot was destroyed in seconds after being shot at. Mandy's face brightened.

"The underside is their weak point!" she exclaimed "Now we know how to destroy these con-bots!"

"Well that's convenient." said Wilson "Now these guys will fall in a matter of moments and we can get Espio and Charmy out of here."

"I have a better idea." said Bostock "Vector, you throw that shield at that window up there."

He pointed to a window high up from where they were now. The com-tower was very tall after all and Espio and Charmy were in the top floor.

"Um…OK general." said Vector "I hope this plan isn't a stupid one."

Vector threw the shield at the communication tower's window. The shield crashed through the window with a terrific smash and Espio and Charmy jumped out of their skins.

"Hey! What's going on? Someone's attacking us!" screamed Charmy.

"No Charmy, I think someone's buying us an exit." said Espio, looking out of the window and seeing Vector waving up to him on the ground.

"So does that mean we can set these things to go bang and we can get outta here?" asked Charmy.

"Yes Charmy, we can get outta here." said Espio with a sly grin on his face "Set the bombs."

Charmy obeyed and he switched them on. The countdown on the bomb started and the numbers began to beep down from thirty seconds. Charmy held Espio by the hand and flew him out of the broken window and down to the ground. One of the armoured robots saw them and aimed it's shoulder mounted bazooka at them in an attempt to blast them out of the sky but Vector leaped up and socked it in the face, knocking it over onto it's back and leaving it vulnerable to Mandy, Bostock and Mortimer's laser pistols. The three Mobians shot at the downed robot and destroyed it. Charmy and Espio made it to the ground just as the countdown reached zero and the communications tower erupted into a ball of smoke and fire. This was a sign for everybody to run for it. The Mobians retreated from the battle as large chunks of debris began to shower down on the ground around the tower. The robots tried to run but they were much to large and heavy to run so they lumbered away. They were not fast enough to escape the falling tower and they were destroyed as the tower crashed down on the ground, making a terrific noise as it did so. Dr. Eggman saw the explosion out of the corner of his eye and he stopped firing at Bostock's troops.

"What's going on over there?" blasted Dr. Eggman.

"I think someone is causing trouble behind your headquarters sir." said Alonzo "Let's see what it is."

Dr. Eggman agreed and he steered Egg-Dog to the right. Egg-Dog hovered away from Bostock's troops and headed towards Eggman's marvellous headquarters. The Mobians down below stopped running and looked up at the giant dog machine coming towards them. Wilson whimpered.

"That machine's coming for us!" he whined "I think Eggman knows what we've just done!"

"Eggman's gonna blast us! We should run for our lives!" cried Charmy.

Egg-Dog was now directly above the watching Mobians and Eggman could see the carnage they had just caused right now. His communications tower was completely destroyed. It was lying in a miserable fragmented, smoking wreck on the ground. Dr. Eggman went wild with rage and he yanked on his moustache angrily.

"Curse those stupid Royal Fighters!" he bellowed "Now I can't make contact with any of my forces abroad! I'll need to make a new com-tower now!"

"Um Master, our scanners are picking up seven Mobians directly beneath us." said Alonzo, looking at a bleeping scanner that showed seven dots, representing the Mobians down below.

"Well in that case, let's bomb them!" roared Dr. Eggman "Bombs, deploy!"

He pulled a lever on the control pad and a hatch opened up. A huge bomb fell down out of the open hatch and soared to the ground. The Mobians screamed in terror and ran for it just as the bomb hit. Nobody got hit by the bomb but the force of the explosion sent everybody flying. Bostock and Mortimer landed rather painfully on a pile of destroyed robots, Wilson and Mandy landed near a building and Mandy hit her head on something hard and passed out and Team Chaotix landed on the roof of a flat-topped building. That was a very powerful bomb and the Mobians would not have survived had they been directly underneath it when it dropped. Dr. Eggman laughed like a maniac to himself.

"Now I've knocked those Mobians out, I think we can pick them off, one by one!" he cackled gleefully "Prepare the cannons!"

"Yes sir." said Alonzo, pulling a lever and pressing some buttons.

Egg-Dog aimed its four cannons at Team Chaotix and prepared to blast all three of them into slag…

"Zira!" growled Tai, getting back up to his feet and looking Zira in the eye "You and your goons are trespassing in sacred property! I am going to kindly ask you to leave before things get unpleasant."

Zira just laughed in the emperor's face.

"Dalon Tai, you're such a senile little fellow aren't you?" she cackled, wiping her eye "I've just spent weeks making my way back here and I finally find out where your palace is and you want me to leave? You must be insane if you think I spent all this time trying to get here just to leave!"

"Zira, get out!" yelled Tai, losing his patience "This is a holy place of peace and prosperity and I will not tolerate your assaults on it!"

"And I will not tolerate you imbeciles constantly denying me what is rightfully mine!" snarled Zira, baring her claws and holding them close to Tai's neck "I am the most powerful kung-fu master in the whole of Chun-Nan so therefore, I am the only one mighty enough to rule over it!"

"You're not the most powerful kung-fu master in Chun-Nan!" snapped Matilda "Master Shan is more powerful then you could ever be! He kicked you out before so he can do it again!"

"Master Shan you say?" said Zira innocently "Oh dearie me I almost forgot about that irritable oaf of a kung-fu master. Well about him…I killed him."

"You WHAT?" screamed Tai and Matilda both at once. They both felt faint and like they were about to die themselves.

"Me and my new army took him down and we interrogated him for the pagoda's whereabouts." explained Zira "He told us your home's location and to eliminate the only obstacle in my path from stopping me, I snapped his neck and now he's gone to join the elder kung-fu masters. No one can stand to me now!"

"Oh yeah?" challenged Sonic "I'll just spin-dash against you instead!"

Sonic leaped to his feet and spin-dashed Zira directly in the chest. The vicious kung-fu leopard was sent flying into a wall and she crashed straight through it, leaving a hole in it and she landed outside at the edge of the hilltop. Sonic leaped out of the hole and landed in front of Zira. Zira got back to her feet, growling a natural leopard growl as she did so.

"Hey there Zira!" said Sonic with his trademark grin on his face "I'm your new enemy Sonic the Hedgehog, Hero of Mobius and resident from the west and I'll be very happy to kick your butt back to where you came from!"

"In that case, don't bother because I AM where I came from!" retorted Zira "And I will not have my flawless invasion marred by a peasant boy with an overbearing tone of fiduciary!"

"Yeah, I'm gonna take this moment to try and figure out what the heck "fiduciary" means and while I'm at it, I'll beat the snot outta ya." sneered Sonic, launching a punch at Zira.

Zira grabbed the punch with her clawed paw and sharply twisted Sonic's arm. Sonic yelped in pain but he tried to fight it. He tried to pull his arm out of Zira's grasp but the kung-fu master had a very strong grip. Not even the strongest of men could free himself from her grasp. Zira then socked Sonic directly in the nose and let go of his arm, causing him to fly backwards and roll down the hill. Sonic came to a stop at the bottom of the hill and he rubbed his nose in pain. Zira leaped down and landed in front of the hedgehog. Sonic looked up at Zira, still shaken from such an enormous punch and he tried to get back up. Zira bent down and looked Sonic in the eye.

"I don't know what's made you come all the way over here just to stomp me into submission but when I'm through with you, you'll be wishing you had stayed where you were!" she hissed menacingly "Anybody who stands to my unfathomable might gets their neck broken! I slaughtered three whole clans, masses of villagers and my former master, Master Shan! So what hope do you have against me little boy?"

Sonic climbed back to his feet, staggering as he did so and he managed to get his eyes to fully open.

"Me and my friends didn't come here to defeat you." he corrected "We came here to spend our day off but after hearing about your evil, we couldn't resist the urge to stop you. You see, I hate evil as much as I love freedom and you are not taking over a country I happen to be very fond off!"

He punched Zira directly in the face and sent her falling onto her back. Before Zira could get back up, Sonic grabbed her by the tail and swung her around in a circle. He let go of Zira's tail and sent her flying into the top of the hill. Sonic ran up to the hill at his trademark speed just in time to tackle Zira in the side as she was getting back up. Zira got up on all fours and roared at Sonic. She charged at Sonic but Sonic dodged and dropkicked her. Then Sonic tried a spin-dash but Zira karate chopped him away and sent him crashing into the bottom of the hill again. Zira leaped down and landed directly on top of Sonic, literally knocking the wind out of him, scooped him up and punched him into the stream of stepping stones. Sonic landed in the stream with a splash and sent water flying everywhere. Sonic grumbled to himself and he picked himself up.

"I hate getting wet." he mumbled, shaking water out of his blue fur "Now you've just made this personal Zira!"

"It gets personal when I'm at my fiercest!" snarled Zira, walking slowly up to Sonic with a scowl on her face "Prepare for an onslaught of relentless pounding!"

She charged towards Sonic just a fraction too fast for the hedgehog to dodge and she clawed him directly across the cheek, leaving four bloody cuts. Sonic fell onto his side and rubbed his cheek, getting bloodstains on his glove. Sonic wiped his glove on his leg and spin-dash towards Zira. Zira was hit in the head and she fell into the stream. Zira got back to her feet but Sonic spin-dashed her again. Zira stood up but Sonic spin-dashed her again. Zira was getting tired of getting spin-dashed so she didn't get back up, instead she stood up on all fours and charged off like a running cheetah. Sonic spin-dashed at her but Zira leaped out of his way and kung-fu kicked him into the ground. Sonic hit the ground face first and rolled out of the way as Zira attempted to stomp on him. Sonic grabbed Zira's long ponytail and he pulled on it, causing Zira to bend to one side and give Sonic a clear punch to the face on her. Zira yanked her ponytail out of Sonic's grip and kicked him in the shoulder. Sonic staggered backwards only to get it in the face with both fists from Zira. Sonic fell onto his back but he wasn't down for long. He leaped up and homing attacked Zira. Zira defended herself with her arms and leaped backwards to prepare for another attack on Sonic. The two then charged at each other and punched each other in the face. Both opponents were sent sprawling on the ground and they both gasped heavily. Sonic and Zira got back to their feet and they stared daggers at each other.

"You really are a powerful warrior." said Sonic cockily, feeling his healing cuts which had stopped bleeding "You're definitely more challenging then Dr. Eggman."

"I'm a challenge to everyone peasant boy!" snapped Zira "I'm surprised a merchant like you is managing to hold himself against me so far but it won't last! You may have unusually fast speed but you need fast speed, fast moves and brute strength to back it up! No one ever got anywhere just being fast you know!"

"I do know." retorted Sonic calmly "I have strength and speed on my side which is why I always win in the long run. I've won all my conflicts before in I'm gonna win this one."

"You're so overbearing peasant boy." scoffed Zira "And that will be your downfall."

The two fighters charged at each other mono y mono style, leaped into the air and kicked at each other, hitting either one's legs in mid-air.

Back in the pagoda, Bladefeather, Mushu and Fong Zarr were standing by, waiting to attack as Tails, Amy, Knuckles, Cream and Ruben prepared to fight them. Tai stood to the side, waiting for the fight to begin.

"So Bladefeather and Mushu, why have you betrayed Chun-Nan?" asked Tai coldly.

"Let's just say that Zira has given us a meritorious amount of gold that she'll reward us with if we help her conquer Chun-Nan." said Bladefeather "The country may have clawed itself out of relapse but it'll soon fall back into it. Now why don't we propose an armistice to arbitrate the conditions of your surrender and our magnanimous conquest emperor? We don't want to hurt you."

"Who's "we"? snapped Fong Zarr "I want to hurt him!"

"I'll thank you for keeping your ignorance to your self Yīnyǐng scum." snapped Bladefeather.

"Bladefeather, I will not surrender this palace to Zira." said Tai slowly "If you want it you'll have to fight for it."

"So be it." said Bladefeather icily "Don't say I didn't warn you."

He swiped the air with his wing and sent ten sharp feather shaped daggers hurling towards the emperor. Amy jumped in front of Tai and shielded herself with her hammer. The daggers all embedded themselves into Amy's hammer head. She walloped the floor with her hammer and broke the daggers.

"You leave the emperor alone!" screeched Amy "Your fight is with us!"

"Must I have the privilege of wasting my time fighting peevish, repugnant little mendicants who don't even belong in this holy country?" sneered Bladefeather "Why not? I could do with the exercise."

"We're more then just exercise buddy!" screamed Knuckles.

He charged up to Bladefeather and lunged at him with his spiked fists. Bladefeather just stood to the side and left Knuckles to run past him. Knuckles screeched to a halt and he ran back at Bladefeather. Bladefeather spun around like a spinning top and sent feather-shaped daggers flying in all directions. Fong Zarr and his cat ninjas knew very well they had to hide outside the pagoda when Bladefeather was doing that dangerous move so they ran for cover as daggers embedded themselves into walls, the floor, the ceiling and even into the ground outside. Everybody ran for cover as Bladefeather's tornado of daggers threatened to impale them all. Knuckles leaped over Bladefeather and punched him on the top of his head, sending him falling onto the floor and dropping any daggers he was about to throw.

"How does he have so many daggers?" asked Tails "He's got thousands!"

"He's the Master of the Thousand Daggers." explained Ruben "It's a technique that lets you pull daggers from airspace and throw them in anyway you want. You have limitless amounts so old Bladefeather will never run out. It's precisely that technique that makes Bladefeather one of the most dangerous turncoats ever."

"He may have a limitless amount of daggers but I have a limitless amount of hammers!" yelled Amy "And my hammer is much stronger then a bunch of itty-bitty daggers! I'm gonna smash that traitor to his own country into mush!"

Amy ran up to Bladefeather, who was being pinned down to the ground by Knuckles but Mushu interfered by ramming her into the wall. Amy hit the wall and groaned in pain. Bladefeather punched Knuckles in the nose and threw the echidna off himself. He stood up and wondered over to Amy who stood with her back against the wall and her hammer in hand. Bladefeather bent down to Amy's height and he felt the robe she was wearing.

"I like the pretentious robe little girl." said Bladefeather sarcastically "Leaves people under the pretence you live here."

He then proceeded to rip the entire robe off of Amy, revealing her backless red dress underneath. Amy gasped in horror as Bladefeather tore the robe to pieces and threw the remains on the floor.

"Now you can't fool any flaccid minds into thinking you're from Chun-Nan you perfidious little mendicant." said Bladefeather in a nasty tone of voice

"Knock it off with the big words and fight me properly!" screamed Amy "And how dare you tear my robe to pieces! It was bought and paid for by myself personally!"

She swung her hammer at Bladefeather only for Bladefeather to catch it and grab her wrists. He then threw Amy directly into Tails, who was trying to help her. The two fighters landed on a cushion on the other side of the room. Tails and Amy tried to get back up but Mushu seized them by the scruff of their necks and hauled them off the floor. Bladefeather glared at them crossly.

"Children, such nasty stains on the face of the earth." he scoffed "Eviscerating you two bit by bit will be invigorating I can tell."

"You wouldn't be so cocky if Sonic was here feather head!" screeched Amy "Let us go you lumbering reptile!"

Mushu ignored her and remained holding her and Tails.

"Sonic? Sonic the Hedgehog?" questioned Bladefeather "I've heard all about that speedy boy. He's the one currently preventing Dr. Eggman from throwing Mobius into a pernicious state isn't he? In that case, you two must be his lap-dogs, his sidekicks who help him crawl out of the fires in his adventures."

"We're not lap-dogs!" snapped Tails "We're his friends and we help him defeat Dr. Eggman! We're gonna help him beat you and you'll regret underestimating us like that!"

"Such bravado from such a little one." sneered Bladefeather "Your death will be more honouree then most deaths I can tell. Mushu, kill those mendicants!" he ordered.

Mushu nodded in agreement and he put Amy down but pinned her to the floor with his foot to keep her from getting away. He held Tails by the neck and proceeded to do what Zira always did to her victims until suddenly Ruben squirted Mushu and Bladefeather with an enormous jet of water. The two kung-fu masters were sent hurtling into the table at the far side of the room, breaking it and knocking it over. Ruben helped Tails and Amy back to their feet.

"Are you two OK?" asked Ruben.

"Yes thanks to you." said Tails "You saved my life."

"Now let's kick those guy's butts together!" declared Amy, summoning her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand.

Bladefeather and Mushu picked themselves up and bent down in battle ready stances.

"So you have a water panther on your side do you?" said Bladefeather in an impressed tone "Very meritorious indeed. And am I right to believe that you hail from the deceased Hailàng Clan little one?"

"You're dead right Bladefeather." said Ruben "I am the last of my clan. And by the water I am blessed with and the heart and soul of my clan, I will defeat Zira and you! Zira will pay for slaying my clan as well as the other two clans in this country!"

"We'll see about that won't we Ruben?" purred Bladefeather.

Tails, Amy and Ruben all bent down in battle ready positions. But they weren't the only ones ready for battle. Knuckles had recovered from Bladefeather's earlier attack and he bent down in a battle ready position.

"These two are going down!" growled Knuckles "Amy, me and you will take on the falcon, he's the deadliest."

"No problem Knuckles!" said Amy with a disturbingly evil grin on her face.

"So I guess me and Ruben are against Mr. Quiet here." said Tails, pointing at Mushu.

"Yes." said Knuckles "Let's go for it Mobians! For Chun-Nan and for Mobius!"

The four Mobians and two kung-fu masters all ran up to each other and began fighting. Fists flew, feet kicked and punches were launched. Fong Zarr and his cat gang just stood by and watched the fight with interest.

"What should we do Lord Zarr?" asked a cat ninja.

"We have no orders so we don't do anything." said Fong Zarr "I'm quite content to stand idly by and watch these so-called heroes of the west get bludgeoned into nothing by our new allies. And once Zira, Bladefeather and Mushu stomp these heroes and take over Chun-Nan, we can execute Zira and take the throne for ourselves. The Yīnyǐng Mao clan will be supreme at long last and I shall be known as Emperor Zarr, rrrruler of Chun-Nan!"

He cackled quietly to himself as the fights between the Mobians, Zira and the two kung-fu masters raged on around them…

Egg-Dog fired its four enormous cannons at Team Chaotix but Charmy grabbed Espio by the hands and lifted him off the rooftop and Vector grabbed Espio's legs as Charmy flew off. Charmy carried both his team-mates off the rooftop just as Egg-Dog's cannons fired at the rooftop, destroying the building and sending debris and shrapnel hurling in every direction. Charmy touched down and the Chaotix ran for cover as Egg-Dog prepared to fire again. They ran past Bostock and Mortimer, who had just picked themselves up after their rather painful landing on a pile of robots and they followed the trio. They stopped beside Wilson, who was carrying an unconscious Mandy bridal style and running for cover behind a tower that was of no importance to them.

"Soldiers, keep Egg-Dog at bay while we think of a plan!" ordered Bostock in his loud, gravely voice.

The soldiers obeyed and decided to use a different weapon instead of their rust guns since they didn't work on Egg-Dog's rust-proof armour. Two soldiers pulled a bomb off their belts and they threw the bombs both at the same time at Egg-Dog's head. The bombs both hit Egg-Dog's window eyes and set off. These weren't the kind of bombs that blow things up though. These bombs contained a fast setting sticky, gooey purple substance that was hard to get off and would make anything stick to the ground if they got caught in it. Now Egg-Dog's windows were covered by the thick, purpley goo the bombs contained. Dr. Eggman got furious and he pounded the arms of his chair madly.

"Alonzo, remove that goo from the windows!" he barked at his servant bot.

"At once sir." said Alonzo "No pointing in firing at something if you can't see what you're firing at."

Alonzo grabbed an emergency jetpack that was behind his seat and he zipped off out of Egg-Dog's cockpit to clean the windows and give Eggman his vision back.

On the ground, Bostock, Mortimer, Wilson, Mandy and the Chaotix had all taken shelter behind a tower and they were racking their brains for a much needed plan on how to destroy Egg-Dog. Charmy stood watch so he could warn everyone if Egg-Dog was attacking again.

"We know our rust guns don't work on that thing." said Bostock "We need to try a different weapon."

"I wish me and Mandy had brought some bombs with us." said Wilson, gently setting the unconscious mouse on the ground "I bet we could blow that thing sky-high with a bomb or two."

"I doubt that bombs will work on that thing." said Mortimer "I wouldn't be too surprised if Egg-Dog's armour is resistant to explosives of any kind."

"Why don't we just flee for it while Eggman's distracted?" asked Wilson "Our mission is complete, we destroyed the com-tower, that's all we came here for."

"That is true my boy but I refuse to let that thing function and cause havoc anywhere else." said Bostock gruffly "That thing is too dangerous to stay intact, we must bring it down before Eggman uses it on a densely populated city or something! That thing could wipe out our entire service!"

"I see." said Wilson "So how are we gonna stop that dog machine then…?"

As for the Chaotix, Espio was looking up at Egg-Dog and his sharp, keen mind was whirring away like crazy. He stood as still as a statue with a finger to his lips and thinking hard. The chameleon was coming up with an idea, an idea he wasn't sure would work but in desperate situations like this, they had to try anything they could.

"Hey Espio, what's on your mind?" asked Charmy.

"I have an idea." said Espio quietly "If one of us could get up to that machine and break into it, we could sabotage the machine from the inside and bring it down to the ground."

"That sounds kinda risky Espio buddy." said Vector gruffly "But it's worth a shot. Charmy, you fly me and Espio up to Egg-Dog and we'll do the rest. Be on hand to fly us down when we've finished."

"OK." said Charmy "Up we go!"

The bee hoisted Espio off the ground and Vector held onto Espio's legs as Charmy flew off the ground so the whole Chaotix was flying up to Egg-Dog. The moment the Chaotix began ascending up into the sky, Mandy Mouse opened her eyes and woke up from being knocked out. Wilson beamed at the sight of his friend waking up. Mandy rubbed her still throbbing head and sat up straight.

"Oh my head kills!" moaned Mandy "What did I land on?"

"Mandy!" said Wilson, hugging the mouse "You're awake! And good timing too because Team Chaotix are attempting to bring Egg-Dog down."

"Are they?" asked Mandy "Well let's keep our fingers crossed that they succeed."

The dog and mouse looked up at Egg-Dog to see Team Chaotix flying up to it. Alonzo was frantically trying to clean all the purple goo off Egg-Dog's cockpit "eye" windows. He was using the jetpack to hover in front of the windows and he had a brushing tool that looked like a garden hoe and Alonzo moved the tool up and down to scrap the thick purple goo off Egg-Dog's windows. He was doing a very good job so far, most of the goo had already been removed, he just had a few splodges around the edges and the centre to wipe away and Eggman would be able to see again. Charmy put Espio and Vector down on Egg-Dog and remained airborne while the chameleon and crocodile went into action. Espio immediately targeted Egg-Dog's four back mounted cannons by throwing shuriken at them. The shuriken embedded themselves into Egg-Dog's four cannons and exploded like they were bombs. The cannons were completely destroyed by the explosions of so many shuriken going off at once. The explosion rocked Egg-Dog and Eggman almost fell out of his chair. Alonzo slipped off Egg-Dog's nose as he was finishing scraping the goo off but his jet back saved him from falling to the ground and he flew back inside Egg-Dog quickly. Charmy sensed that now would be a good time to get Espio and Vector to safety since the damage done to Egg-Dog's cannons may have damaged the vessel itself in someway or another. The bee flew down and grabbed Espio by the hands and Vector grabbed Espio by the ankles. The whole of Team Chaotix began to descend down to the ground as the explosions finally finished tearing through Egg-Dog's tough armour after destroying the cannons. Egg-Dog rocked about wildly as if it was about to come crashing down to the ground. Dr. Eggman frantically pulled some stabilizer levers on the control pad to stabilize Egg-Dog and keep it airborne. Egg-Dog stopped rocking about and the machine regained balance much to Bostock's despair. Team Chaotix landed on the ground and let go of each other.

"So, did we do it?" asked Charmy.

"Eggman's regained balance." said Bostock "I think you need to get back up there and do some more damage to that machine."

"Damn!" cursed Espio "I knew I should have thrown more shuriken!"

"Enough chit-chat boys!" cried Mandy, leaping up to her feet "Eggman's doing something else now!"

Everybody looked back up at Egg-Dog only to see that the dog machine was opening up its large jaws. A laser cannon extended out from inside Egg-Dog's mouth and it whirred into life. Eggman's voice boomed out from Egg-Dog's head.

"That's quite enough Mobians!" said Dr. Eggman crossly "I warned you this would happen and now you're forcing me to use drastic measures!"

Alonzo had removed all the goo of Egg-Dog's windows so unfortunately for the Mobians, Eggman could see what he was aiming at. Egg-Dog's mouth mounted laser cannon began to glow bright yellow from the inside and energy began to build up inside the deadly weapon. Bostock sensed this was bad and he ordered everybody to move. Bostock, Mortimer, Wilson, Mandy and the Chaotix ran one way, Bostock's men ran the other way just as Egg-Dog's mouth cannon fired at them. A sizzling, colossal blast of energy roared out of Egg-Dog's cannon and blasted the ground it aimed at which was absent of any targets. The stricken area erupted into stone, earth and bits of metal and it rained everywhere, narrowly missing the Mobians who had all bent down to brace for impact. Eggman roared with laughter at how powerful his weapon was and was pleased to see its effects. A large crater had been formed by the insanely powerful laser cannon.

"What a weapon!" he cried "Pity I missed the Mobians but I won't miss the next time! Charge it up for another blast Alonzo!"

Alonzo obeyed and began tuning some knobs on the control pad. The control pad hummed loudly and ominously as the recharge of the cannon commenced.

Back on the ground, Wilson got to his feet and looked up at Egg-Dog to see what it was doing. The dog machine was still hovering but its cannon, which was still deployed wasn't glowing with energy.

"Hey guys, I think Egg-Dog's standing by for its next attack." said Wilson quietly.

"Well we'd best attack it before it fires again." said Mandy, surveying the damage done by the first blast "Has anyone got a missile launcher or a grenade or something?"

"I have one." said one of Bostock's soldiers who was a Tasmanian Devil in combat fatigues and a tin hat. He had an Australian accent and a deep voice.

He reached behind his back and un-strapped something. It was a missile launcher with two launchers that he had brought with him to use on the mission. He handed the weapon to Mandy. The mouse took it off the soldier, slightly surprised at the soldier instantly offering her the weapon instead of Bostock or Mortimer.

"I brought it along for a special occasion." explained the soldier "I didn't think we'd need it until now but it's obvious we do. I'm granting you the honour of using it Mandy because according to you, you have a score to settle with Eggman so now's your chance."

"Thank you." said Mandy "I've always wanted to use a missile launcher."

The purple mouse primed the huge weapon and she aimed it up at Egg-Dog. She peered through the target locker and made sure she was aiming at the cannon in Egg-Dog's mouth. She had a strong feeling that shooting the cannon would destroy it and bring Egg-Dog crashing down to the ground. Mandy locked on target and pulled the trigger. The missile screamed into life and blasted out of the launcher, blowing Mandy away and roaring towards its target. Egg-Dog's cannon had just finished charging up and Dr. Eggman was ready to fire. Unfortunately for him, Mandy's missile went straight into Egg-Dog's exposed cannon and exploded. The missile combined with the building up energy in Egg-Dog's cannon was not a good mix and the explosion that ensued from this deadly combination was horrendous. The explosion tore through Egg-Dog's entire body. The machine rocked about as its body was being torn up from the inside and its head exploded into smithereens. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo had ejected themselves from Egg-Dog as it was exploding and they parachuted down to the ground. The mighty dog machine came crashing down to the ground in a blazing, smoking wreck of searing hot flames and thick, suffocating black smoke. What was once a giant machine had now been reduced to a smouldering wreck of flaming metal and smoking interiors. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo landed on the ground a few feet away from Egg-Dog and Eggman looked despairingly at his incredible machine now reduced to nothing more then a flaming wreck. Eggman yanked on his moustache angrily.

"Curse those Mobians!" he whined "That was one of the greatest machines I've ever made! How did they possibly defeat it?"

Something tapped Eggman on the shoulder and interrupted his ranting. Eggman turned around and to his surprise, saw Mandy Mouse standing there with her arms folded and her eyes narrowed into a death glare. Eggman immediately grew nervous. He smiled weakly and began sweating.

"Um…hi Mandy?" he said nervously "I take it you're still mad about me kidnapping you and making an Automaton out of you? What can I say other then I'm just an evil old man aren't I?"

Mandy put a hand on Eggman's shoulder and looked Eggman in the eye. If Eggman wasn't wearing glasses, you would probably see tiny irises of fear in his eyes.

"This is for lying about my well-being and deceiving my friends with that Automaton." said Mandy coldly.

She drew her arm back and in the blink of an eye, punched Dr. Eggman straight in the face! Everybody stared in surprise at the mouse and Wilson gasped. The punch was so hard that Dr. Eggman passed out and fainted. Alonzo screamed like a girl and Mandy smiled triumphantly, pleased to have finally gotten her own back on Dr. Eggman for what he had done to her.

"Oh my gosh!" he cried "Eggman's knocked out! I'd best get him out of here before something else happens!"

Alonzo grabbed Dr. Eggman by the uniform and dragged him away. Due to Eggman's weight though, Alonzo had a tough time dragging him away. Mandy stood there with her arms folded and just watched Alonzo get away with Dr. Eggman.

"That felt good." she said to herself "But it's only too much to hope that that punch will teach him a lesson or two."

"Mandy!" cried Wilson, running up to the mouse "That was really unexpected of you! Of all the people to physically attack Dr. Eggman like that, I never thought it would be you!"

"Well Eggman had it coming for a long time." said Mandy casually "And I needed some stress relief for what he's done to me the past day or two so I let him have it."

"I must say that was pretty cool Mandy." said Vector with admiration.

"You should punch him again!" laughed Charmy "That was funny!"

Mandy didn't know what to feel right now with all the boys commenting on her assault on Eggman but she knew that Eggman deserved it and if he didn't learn his lesson then she'd be happy to punch him again.

"Now our mission is complete, we can leave this metal hell hole." said Mortimer "Come on men, our work here is done."

The soldiers obeyed and followed the chipmunk out of Robotropolis. Bostock, Wilson, Mandy and the Chaotix followed them. Mandy looked over her shoulder to see the damages they had done to Robotropolis. They had destroyed a com-tower and Egg-Dog and many of Eggman's robots. Some of Robotropolis had been damaged by Egg-Dog firing at them and missing so Eggman had a lot of cleaning up to do at the end of the day. What a comeback to the battlefield this was for Mandy! She'd held her own well in battle, destroyed Egg-Dog and punched Eggman directly in the face in revenge for what he had done to her. This had been a very good day for the Royal Fighters Service. As everybody walked out of Robotropolis, another though crossed Mandy's mind.

I wonder how the blue dude ' s doing now... she wondered in her head.

Things were looking very grim for the Mobians right now. Sonic's fight with Zira had been mostly in Zira's favour the past minute or so. Despite Sonic's super speed, Zira had fast reflexes and was an acute dodger, meaning Sonic missed every time he spin-dashed at her. Zira knew kung-fu and Sonic only knew standard fighting skills as well as his super speed moves so Zira's attacks hurt Sonic more then Sonic's attacks hurt Zira. Sonic punched at Zira but the kung-fu mistress blocked it with her paws and she punched Sonic in the cheek. Sonic staggered backwards and Zira slugged him in the stomach. Sonic doubled over in pain and wheezed loudly. Zira karate chopped him on the back, causing him to fall flat on the ground and then she kicked him onto his back. She tried to stomp on Sonic but Sonic rolled out of her way, leaving Zira to stomp at the ground. Sonic then kicked Zira in the butt, knocking her onto her face. Sonic then spin-dashed Zira before the kung-fu mistress could get back up. Then Sonic decided to use his most powerful move on Zira. The Sonic Tornado. He ran around Zira in a circle at super-sonic speed and became nothing more then a blur around her. Zira got back to her feet and sensed this was not a good thing that was happening right now so she jumped out of Sonic's path just as the Sonic Tornado was beginning to build up. Sonic still ran around at top speed and the blue blur made a blue tornado of wind that was doing no harm to anybody because nobody was in the tornado. Sonic eventually stopped running around and he came to a halt, the tornado died down and Sonic began panting and gasping. He doesn't usually get tired but running around while having had a beating for the past minute does wonders on your energy. Sonic looked at Zira tiredly and was not pleased to see his Sonic Tornado move didn't work. Zira lunged at him and kneed him directly in the gut. Then she elbowed the hedgehog on his head and punched him in the face with both fists.

"For someone who's the Hero of Mobius your fighting is very abysmal." taunted Zira as she punched Sonic in the chest and sent him falling onto his back "I've never seen such appalling fighting in all my life. You should learn more battle skills and rely less on your super powers. Just because you're fast it doesn't mean you're strong, you need strength to match that speed if you wish to be all powerful peasant boy!"

She stomped on Sonic's stomach and the hedgehog wheezed loudly. Sonic coughed and spluttered and he sat up. Zira grabbed the hedgehog by the neck and hoisted him up to her height.

"Now you die peasant boy." said Zira with a cruel smile "It's been fun beating you up but now I must execute you and get back to taking over the Pagoda of Prosperity now. Bye, bye!"

She then proceeded to snap Sonic's neck but the hedgehog saved himself by moving his legs rapidly as if he was running. He kicked Zira as he did so and the leopard dropped him. Sonic back flipped and landed on his feet and charged like a bull at Zira. Zira was too slow to react and she got it full force in the stomach from Sonic's super fast charge. Zira flew backwards and landed on her back. Sonic then spin-dashed her before she could get back up. Zira snarled a natural leopard snarl and she ran out of the way before Sonic could spin-dash her again. Sonic and Zira then charged at each other with their fists bared. They lunged at each other and punched each other in the face at the same time. They both skidded backwards after that onslaught and they charged at each other again.

Back in the pagoda, things were going no better. The combined might of Amy and Knuckles didn't seem to be enough against Bladefeather's kung-fu might and Tails and Ruben didn't seem able to land much of a hit on Mushu. Knuckles punched Bladefeather in the back with his spiked fists and ducked just as Bladefeather swiped at him with his wing. Knuckles gave Bladefeather an uppercut and Amy walloped him with her hammer. Despite those attacks, Bladefeather didn't show much signs of fatigue or indeed any signs that he was hurt. Amy tried to hammer Bladefeather again but Bladefeather kicked the hammer was it was coming down on him and broke it into pieces! Amy gibbered like an idiot in shock and Bladefeather smacked her in the face with one swipe of his wing. Knuckles landed a blow on the back of Bladefeather's head but even that didn't affect the falcon much. Kung-fu masters are made of strong stuff and it can be very hard to hurt one after all. Bladefeather swiped at Knuckles but he missed and Knuckles slugged him in the stomach. Bladefeather got made and he swiped his wing at Knuckles. Six sharp daggers hurtled towards the echidna but Knuckles deflected them all with his fast hitting. But the daggers were just a distraction. Knuckles deflected the last dagger and then got a punch to the face from Bladefeather. Knuckles hurtled backwards and crashed into the wall, leaving cracks in it. Amy summoned a new hammer to her hand and tried to attack Bladefeather but Bladefeather smacked her with his wing and sent her crashing into the floor. He then summoned two daggers to his hands and threw them at Amy. The daggers caught her on the sides of her boots and embedded themselves into the floor. Amy was stuck now. She pulled on her legs but the daggers firmly fixed the sides of her boots to the floor so she couldn't move. She sat up straight and tried to pull the daggers out but they had embedded themselves too deeply for her to remove and she simply wasn't strong enough. Seeing one of his foes out of action, Bladefeather set his sights on Knuckles, the only one who was actually holding his own against him. Knuckles recovered from Bladefeather's earlier attack and he walloped Bladefeather in the beak with his fists. Bladefeather fell onto his back and Knuckles tried to attack again but Bladefeather blocked his attack with his talons. He was equally as good with his feet as he was with his wings and his feet were very good substitutes for hands. Bladefeather pushed Knuckles away and leaped back to his feet. Then the two linked hands and began to grapple with each other.

"I must say for a gamin you sure know how to fight." complimented Bladefeather "No mendicant has ever fought me and managed to hold their own against me."

"Well I am a guardian after all!" grunted Knuckles "And guardians are very skilled at fighting!"

"I can see that." said Bladefeather "Pity you guardians are the embodiment of debility and fatuity."

Knuckles had no idea what those words meant but he had a feeling it was an insult so he got mad. He pushed Bladefeather back and began launching punches rapidly at him. Surprisingly, Bladefeather managed to dodge every single punch with his wings. Bladefeather kicked Knuckles away and the two began rapidly launching punches at each other whilst blocking the other's blows.

As for Tails and Ruben, Mushu was proving to be one tough iguana. Mushu was more skilled in the speed department and he showed that by moving at a very quick pace. Ruben kept squirting water at Mushu but Mushu dodged every blow with no difficulty. He was even too fast for little Tails to hit. Tails kicked at Mushu but Mushu swiped his arm up at Tails and hit his foot, causing Tails to cartwheel backwards in midair. Mushu then kick-slammed Tails into the floor. Ruben spun around in mid-air and kick-slammed Mushu on his head. Then Ruben grabbed Mushu by the throat and tossed him onto the floor front first. Mushu got back to his feet, opened his mouth and punched Ruben with his tongue. His tongue couldn't stretch as far as a frog's could but it packed quite a punch. Ruben rubbed his muzzle and blocked a blow from Mushu. Tails flew behind Mushu and kicked him. Mushu tail-whipped Tails and pushed Ruben away. Tails tail-whipped Mushu back but his tails weren't as hard as Mushu's tail so his tail whip didn't hurt Mushu much. Mushu roundhouse kicked Tails in the head and sent the poor little fox crashing into the floor. Ruben smacked Mushu in the jaw with a ninja style chop but Mushu retaliated with a kung-fu style chop. Ruben maybe strong but Mushu was stronger. Ruben was only novice at best whereas Mushu was a master so Mushu would win this fight, no matter how good a fight Ruben put up. Mushu tried to attack the water panther again but Ruben let him have it with two jets of water and Mushu was sent hurtling backwards.

"I may not be a master at kung-fu but I have water powers." said Ruben "That will be my one advantage over any kung-fu master."

Mushu climbed back to his feet and he tried to attack again but Ruben squirted him with some more water. However, Mushu was ready for him and he ploughed through the water as if it was nothing. Mushu let Ruben have it in the stomach with both fists and the water panther crashed into the wall. Tails tried to attack Mushu but Mushu gave the fox an uppercut that sent him hurtling backwards. Tails landed, luckily, on a cushion and he groaned in pain. Mushu advanced menacingly on Tails and he grabbed him by the neck. But before he could do anything, Dalon Tai prodded him rather sharply in the back and Mushu's nerves seemed to freeze up all at once. The iguana then fainted. Tails looked at Mushu in wonder and he prodded him. The iguana didn't move. He didn't even twitch. Nor did he even bat an eyelid.

"What did you do to him emperor?" asked Tails.

"I'm no kung-fu warrior but I learnt a special paralyzing move that causes the victim to freeze up for a long time." explained Tai "Only I know this move and I use it for defence rather then assault."

Bladefeather pushed Knuckles away and saw that Mushu had been subdued so he ran over to help the iguana. Tai stood in his way and prodded him sharply in the stomach. Bladefeather's nerves all froze up and he fainted too. Bladefeather was paralyzed just as Mushu was. Knuckles pulled the daggers that were pinning Amy to the floor out of the floor so Amy could stand back up and he wondered what had happened to the dagger-wielding falcon.

"Hey Tai, what happened to falcon boy there?" asked Knuckles.

"I paralyzed him." said Tai "He and Mushu won't be moving for a long time. Unless of course, Zira knows how to free them from this paralyzing prison I've put them in but we won't have to worry about them anymore."

Then suddenly, Sonic the Hedgehog crashed through the wall and rolled about on the floor before coming to a stop. Everybody gasped in horror at what just happened. Sonic groaned loudly and he tried to get back to his feet but he couldn't. Zira then leaped into the pagoda and stood over Sonic in triumph.

"As you can see scrubs from the west, I've just stomped your precious Sonic into submission." she taunted "Now you lot can surrender and let me conquer Chun-Nan or I'll kill Sonic."

"Forget it Zira!" screeched Tails "We will not let you conquer Chun-Nan! And look what's happened to your cronies by the way!"

He pointed at the paralyzed Bladefeather and Mushu. Zira looked at them and almost did a wild double-take.

"Wh-wh-what?" he spluttered "H-h-how did you d-d-do th-th-that?"

"I know a move that only I know and no one else does." said Tai, stepping forward "It's a nerve freezing move that paralyzes the victim for a while. If you do not leave this pagoda then I will be forced to paralyze you too Zira."

Zira was well and truly scared. That paralyzing move Tai knew was the only thing she feared and she did not want that to happen to her. She knew when she was beaten. It annoyed her though that she had done so well and yet she hadn't won yet. She grabbed Bladefeather and Mushu by their collars and hauled them onto her shoulders. She didn't seem to have much trouble carrying the two kung-fu masters.

"Fine! Have it your way!" she snarled "But I warn you, I will be back tomorrow afternoon! And this time, your nerve freezing move won't work on us because we'll be ready for it!"

She then ran off like a lightening bolt. Fong Zarr and the Yīnyǐng ninjas knew that this was retreat time to they fled along with Zira. Now the villains were gone, the Mobians could rest themselves and prepare for Zira's return. Amy ran to Sonic's aid and she helped the battered hedgehog get back to his feet.

"Sonic, are you OK?" she asked worriedly.

"Well getting beaten to a pulp by a kung-fu leopard does not suggest I'm OK." said Sonic in a snarky tone "But I'll live at least. Man that woman's tougher then I thought!"

"I'll go and get something to make you feel better." said Matilda, running out of the room as quick as she could.

Amy helped Sonic to walk over to the cushions and gently helped him sit down, being careful not to hurt him. Cream and Cosmo, who had been on the sidelines this whole fight, stared at Sonic's injuries and they were well and truly scared at what Zira did to Sonic.

"That Zira woman is too tough for Mr. Sonic to take on!" squealed Cream.

"If Sonic can't defeat Zira then all hope for Chun-Nan is lost." said Cosmo despairingly "This is the end of Chun-Nan. Nobody can defeat Zira."

"Not true child." said Tai sitting down on his cushion "There is one hope we still have."

"What's that then?" grunted Sonic, rubbing his arm.

"Zira slew all the clans in Chun-Nan." explained Tai "But shortly after her exile, a new clan formulated in the outskirts of Chun-Nan."

"A new clan?" asked Ruben "How come I don't know anything about this?"

"You left before the new clan formed child." said Tai "So you're not bound to know anything going on in Chun-Nan."

"Oh yeah." said Ruben "And what luck that is. A whole new clan! The prophecy states that Zira will be defeated by a member of a clan and someone else and maybe this new clan can take Zira out! After all, only a kung-fu master or a ninja master has a chance against her!"

"So where is this new clan and how do we get to it?" asked Sonic desperately.

"It's in the outskirts of Chun-Nan." explained Tai "An area not often visited by many so few know about the new clan. Getting to it will not be an easy job." he said in a despairing tone "The way to the clan is full of traps and challenges. You will have to rest up before you can go to it."

"OK emperor." said Sonic "So once we're all rested up, we can go and meet this new clan and get them to join us in our battle against Zira!"

"It will not be that easy my boy." said Tai "This clan may not be so willing to fight someone as deadly as Zira the Ruthless so when you meet this clan, you'll have to make their demands and respect their wishes. Do not rile them, an angry clan is greater then a pride of lions and you don't want to feel their full force."

"I understand emperor." said Sonic "Tomorrow's going to be hectic I can tell. I just hope this new clan is willing to help us save Chun-Nan or I'm going all the way over to the outskirts for nothing."

Sonic knew that tomorrow was going to be a very big day for him indeed…

A new ninja clan eh? Well this looks interesting. Join me next time as Sonic and Ruben go on an epic journey to find this so-called new clan and hopefully get them to help defeat Zira once and for all. Reviews are welcome.

A Path Through the Storm

Story 54: A Path Through The Storm

The next morning dawned bright and sunny. Sonic had rested well from his brutal fight with Zira, although he was still feeling a little beaten and slowed down and he was set to find this mysterious new clan that Emperor Tai had told him about. Ruben the Water Panther, last of the Hǎilàng clan decided to go along with Sonic on his journey since he had more knowledge on Chun-Nan and its landscape then Sonic did. Tai packed Sonic a bag which had food supplies in case he got hungry and a map to the new clan's territory. Sonic gave the map to Ruben since he wasn't interested in reading it and Sonic slung the bag of supplies on his shoulder.

"Do I need anything else emperor?" asked Sonic.

"All you need is vigilance and skill." said Tai "The way to the clan is full of challenges since its bride only excepts powerful and mighty citizens and if you can pass them all, your journey will be all that simpler. But I'm warning you, this is a dangerous trek and you MUST be careful or you won't make it back alive."

"Emperor, puh-lease." scoffed Sonic, wafting his arms down "I'm Sonic the Hedgehog, the fastest thing alive. I don't need to be careful, any challenge this clan has awaiting me won't be able to snag me, I'm too fast!"

"Sonic!" snapped Tai "I mean it! I've braved the path to the clan's territory before and I barely made it out alive! If you don't be careful you will die! Please take this seriously or I will forbid you from going!"

"OK, OK! Keep your hair on emperor!" snapped Sonic "Sheesh, why are royal people so darn grouchy?"

"Sonic! Don't speak to the emperor like that!" hissed Ruben "It's disrespectful and bad manners!"

"Whatever." said Sonic casually "Well, I'll be going now. Wish me luck emperor."

"I do wish you luck young one." said Tai lowly.

"And so do I." said Princess Matilda, fanning herself with a handheld fan she was fond of using "Make sure you don't get killed out there hedgehog of heroic nature."

"Don't worry about me princess." said Sonic casually "I'll be fine. Come on Ruben, let's juice!" he cried.

He ran off and out of the door and supersonic speed.

"Oy! Wait for me you overeager hedgehog!" yelped Ruben, running out of the door after him.

In order to catch up to Sonic, he summoned a wave of water out of his fingers and rode upon it in the style of a surfer. The wave carried him down the hilltop and after Sonic who was already near the local village a good distance away from the pagoda. Tai and Matilda watched Sonic and Ruben head off to the village. They looked at each other with dis-concern on their faces.

"If that boy's obstinacy doesn't falter then he'll be dead before he gets past the Valley of Stepping Stones." said Tai despairingly.

"That's why we sent little Ruben to accompany him daddy." said Matilda, putting her fan away "Ruben is more level headed then the hedgehog after all so he'll keep him under control."

"Let us hope so, for his sake." said Tai.

As for Sonic's friends, Tails the twin-tailed fox, Amy Rose, Cosmo the Seedrian, Cream the Rabbit with her pet Chao Cheese and Knuckles the Echidna were sitting on cushions, not really sure on what to do right now other then wait for Sonic and Ruben to return. Matilda sensed they were bored and wondered if she could be of assistance.

"Excuse me heroes of the west, can I get you anything?" she asked.

"We don't need anything thank you." said Knuckles "Don't strain yourself worrying about us."

"OK." said Matilda "I'm going into the sacred garden outback to meditate. If you need me, just call me."

"OK." said Cream.

Matilda left the room and headed out the back into the garden. Tai decided to meditate with his daughter so he followed her. Now the two mongooses had left, Tails spoke up to break the silence that started drifting around the room after the emperor and princess left.

"So. When do you think that Zira woman will attack again?" he asked.

"I believe she said she'd be back in the afternoon." said Cosmo "But she didn't say a particular time in the afternoon. It could be midday, half twelve, one o' clock or anything."

"Well when Zira and her army of misfit morons show up again, I'll be very happy to pound every one of their heads in!" said Amy crossly, summoning her hammer to her hand "I owe that Bladefeather guy a headache for wrecking my robe yesterday!"

"One thing I wonder is how did Zira subjugate two kung-fu masters with mere bribery?" asked Knuckles "Aren't kung-fu masters supposed to be tough and don't give into their enemies no matter what?"

"Maybe they're just as evil as Zira is." suggested Cream.

"Chao." piped Cheese.

"But Tai knows them for being good." said Tails "Maybe they fell to the dark side just like Zira did or there's more to their alliance then what we know at this moment."

"I can't stop wondering how Zira got a clan of ninja cats to work for her." said Cosmo to nobody in particular "They seem like the kind of ninjas who want Chun-Nan for themselves, they don't seem like the kind that ally themselves with someone."

"They're thieves according to Ruben." noted Tails "I bet Zira bribed them as well. Any amount of bribery can get a gang of thieves to serve you faithfully."

"I have a sneaky feeling Zira maybe lying to them." said Amy "I mean, once she conquers Chun-Nan, what need will she have for a clan and two kung-fu masters?"

"So are you thinking Zira's going to kill them after she conquers Chun-Nan?" squeaked Cream "How horrible! I hope that isn't what she's planning!"

"Well if we can defeat her, she won't get a chance to do that." said Knuckles, pounding his fists together "I really hope this new clan will be enough to stand up to Zira's might or we're dead meat!"

While the Mobians were talking, Cheese fluttered near the window to get some fresh air and upon reaching the window, he saw a nasty sight coming towards the pagoda. He gasped in shock and flew back to Cream, squeaking madly and waving his arms around in a flurry. Everybody stared at the frantic Chao who's panicked words could only be understood by Cream since she could speak Chao.

"Chao, Chao, Chao!" cried Cheese frantically. Cream's eyes widened in shock, she knew what Cheese was trying to tell everybody.

"What's up with Cheese?" asked Tails "He seems worried."

"Cheese says Bladefeather is standing outside the pagoda and he's got Mushu with him!" shrieked Cream, putting her hands to her cheeks "Oh no!"

"What are those two clowns doing here?" asked Knuckles, raising his fists "Are they here to hinder us and give Zira a chance to grind us into the dirt?"

"Well we're not letting them!" declared Amy, waving her hammer around "Let's get them!"

Everybody leaped up onto their feet and ran outside to confront the two invaders. They stood protectively in front of the pagoda in battle ready stances and ready to strike. Bladefeather and Mushu stood at the edge of the hilltop with straight faces and their arms folded. Tails clenched his fists, Knuckles gritted his teeth and raised his fists, Amy raised her hammer, Cream clenched her fists, Cheese flapped beside the rabbit's head and raised his fists and Cosmo put on a pretentious brave face and clenched her fists, even though she knew she was going to get creamed by the two kung-fu masters.

"Hold it right there you two mercenaries!" screeched Amy, pointing sharply at them.

"Back off and we promise we won't pound your skulls in!" snarled Knuckles.

Bladefeather just sarcastically clapped at his confronters.

"What a marvellous display of vapidity and fatuity my obscure and impetuous heroes of the west." snorted Bladefeather "Now do me a favour and soothe those overly jumpy nerves of yours before someone gets hurt."

Amy growled and tried to pounce on Bladefeather but Tails grabbed her by the dress and held her back. He shook his head at her as if to say "No Amy." and Amy lowered her hammer, still scowling at the vain falcon. Bladefeather held his hand out and out of his long sleeve dropped a long piece of rope, some shuriken, a pair of shackles, a dagger and a white gag with a yin-yang symbol on it. They all dropped onto the ground at his feet.

"We are here under the pretence of kidnapping Princess Matilda and delivering her to Zira the Ruthless for hostage purposes." explained Bladefeather, motioning to the equipment he'd just dropped on the ground "Zira believes that Dalon Tai will cede to her demands if the life of his precious daughter is threatened. But that is not the real reason for our presence here and we do not intend to carry out this repugnant mission."

The Mobians hesitated and softened their expression. They all looked at each other. Bladefeather and Mushu aren't going to do what Zira told them to do? What was going on? Bladefeather and Mushu were two very mysterious people indeed! Tails stepped bravely forward, while being weary of any sneak attacks that possibly hid and spoke to the falcon.

"If you're not here to kidnap Matilda." said Tails slowly "Then…what are you here for…um…sir?"

Bladefeather scowled at Tails.

"As if I am going to inform you." he sniffed "I do not discuss seminal messages to mere gamin and mendicants!"

"Care to repeat that again? In English?" snarled Amy, raising her hammer threateningly "We don't know what you mean!"

Bladefeather sighed loudly.

"Of all the uneducated…I do not discuss important messages to mere children and tramps!" he repeated crossly using small words this time.

"Tramps?" screamed Amy "That's it! I'm gonna…"

"No Amy." said Knuckles, holding his arm up to stop her from hammering Bladefeather into the ground like a nail.

Amy tensed up for a minute before standing down and stepping back.

"So, if you won't talk to Tails then will you talk to me?" asked Knuckles "I'm not a child, I'm sixteen and a guardian of a special island so I'm definitely not a child or a tramp."

Bladefeather scoffed at him.

"You're vacuous. I only talk to intelligent people." he said nastily to Knuckles.

"Are you calling me stupid?" snarled Knuckles, preparing to give Bladefeather a black eye.

"Knuckles, don't kill him! That's not going to settle anything!" cried Cream.

Knuckles stepped back and lowered his fists, growling like a tiger to himself.

"Where's the magnanimous Sonic the Hedgehog and the Hǎilàng Clan survivor Ruben the Water Panther?" asked Bladefeather "I will acquiesce to talking to them if you don't mind. They're meritorious and worthy enough of hearing my terms."

"They left." said Tails bluntly "They've gone to meet a clan in the outskirts of the country and hopefully get the clan to help us beat Zira."

"Fat lot of good a primitive ninja clan will do." muttered Bladefeather "Zira obliterated the three clans of Chun-Nan with little effort so this one won't be of any good. In that case, bring me Emperor Dalon Tai instead." he ordered "I will explain everything to him and no one less."

No one moved. Amy just raised her hammer and gritted her teeth.

"Oh I get it now!" she growled "You're tricking us into thinking you have no intention to kidnap Matilda so you can kidnap the emperor instead! I can see right through your little plot Bladefeather! Well tough luck bird brain, if you want to kidnap the emperor then you'll have to go through me first!"

Mushu face-palmed himself in annoyance and Bladefeather glared at Amy.

"You are the embodiment of idiocy child!" snapped Bladefeather "Which part of "we do not intend to kidnap anybody" did you fail to comprehend? We are here to discuss seminal matters and clear up some misunderstandings with the emperor and you are just making this innocent act of ours seem like an act of serpentine! You get me the emperor or you will not live to see another sunrise you vacuous, perfidious little brat!"

"Stop talking with big words and speak English for once!" snapped Amy "You sound like a dork!"

"Amy, stop trying to start a fight with him!" yelled Tails angrily "He's here on peaceful terms and all you're doing is making him mad!"

"I'll go and get the emperor before a fight starts." said Cosmo "I'll be right back."

Cosmo ran back into the pagoda to fetch Emperor Tai. Bladefeather smiled wickedly at Amy.

"The leaf child is more mature then you are gamin." sneered Bladefeather "And yet her age doesn't seem to be at your level. You should be ashamed of yourself."

The only thing stopping Amy from killing Bladefeather right now was Cream the Rabbit grabbing her by the dress and holding her back.

"Once the emperor appears, I shall reveal our true nature to you merchants." said Bladefeather "And I think you'll be very invigorated with what I have to say."

"Invigorated my foot." hissed Amy under her breath.

Tails began to wonder what Bladefeather was going to say once the emperor showed up to meet his amends. Was this all a trap or was there another reason for Bladefeather and Mushu being here…?

Meanwhile, Sonic and Ruben had left the local village behind and were running through a long stretch of plains that seemed to go on forever.

"So Ruben, are we following the map correctly?" Sonic called over to the water panther.

Ruben peered at the map he held in his hands.

"We are indeed Sonic." said Ruben "We've gone through the village, through a bamboo forest, over the Great Wall of Chun-Nan and we've been travelling for fifteen minutes straight across these plains. In a moment or two we should come across a guard who will instruct us on our first challenge we have to brave."

"Cool." said Sonic "Those Chun-Nan folk can set up whatever challenge they like! No challenge is too great for Sonic the Hedgehog!"

"Of all the ego-centric…" muttered Ruben in annoyance.

The two Mobians continued making their long trek through the plains. If an average person was walking these plains, he would probably have taken eight hours to walk the entire way but Sonic, being super speedy and Ruben, using waves as transport, were making this journey in a jiffy. They had been travelling for fifteen minutes straight and five minutes later, they finally arrived at their first destination. There were a pair of iron gates chained shut with a long stretching wall on either side, boxing in whatever was on the other side of the gates. A guard who was a rhinoceros in full body armour stood by the gates. He was so heavily armoured even his horn had armour on it! He had a spear at the ready and he looked extremely mean and tough looking. He also didn't seem to show much tolerance for visitors given how he angrily snorts at them every time one comes. Sonic and Ruben skidded to a halt in front of the guard and looked up at him. The guard looked down at them and blew steam out of his huge nostrils. Sonic held his hands up in front of his face.

" What are you two here for ?" boomed the guard.

His voice was as powerful as his appearance.

"We've come to meet the clan that lives on the outskirts of Chun-Nan." explained Sonic "Now let us through tubby! It's urgent we get to this clan!"

The guard laughed at Sonic. His laugh sounded like thunder due to his powerful voice.

" You want to meet up with the all powerful, all mighty Raiju clan? " he bellowed " I doubt Conquering Storm will make amends with peasants like you! "

"Conquering Storm?" said Ruben "Who or what is Conquering Storm?"

" That is for me to know and you to find out peasant boys. " snarled the guard " And the only way you'll find out is if you can brave the two challenges the Raiju clan have set up as a test of might to see if they are worthy enough of meeting them. "

"That's what we're here for so let us through." ordered Sonic impatiently.

" Not so fast little boy. " boomed the guard, holding a huge hand up to stop Sonic in his path " Conquering Storm does not like cheats so I must ask you if you have super powers of any kind, can you refrain from using them? If not, then the Raiju clan will not except you. "

"So does that mean no-go on the super speed?" cried Sonic "That sucks!"

" As for you little boy. " the guard pointed at Ruben " Give me your aqua-collar. I cannot trust a water panther to not use his water powers to aid the hedgehog in the challenges. "

Ruben reluctantly pressed a button on the back of his purple collar he wore around his neck that unclipped it and he handed it over to the guard. The guard hooked it on his horn and chortled to himself.

"What's with the collar and why do you wear it?" asked Sonic.

"The collar is what gives me my water powers." said Ruben "Without it, I'm cut off from my water powers and all I end up having is my novice style kung-fu and ninjutsu."

"Well that's a stupid idea." muttered Sonic "Who invented that?"

"It wasn't an invention." said Ruben "We water panthers don't have our water powers until we get our collars. When we wear those collars, we have the ability to use water powers and control water. Only the most trusted of the Hǎilàng clan are granted permanent water powers by our bride leader, Bride of the Gentle Waves. When Gentle Waves grants us permanent water powers, we don't need the collars and we can use our powers at all times. If you can't be trusted then you're stuck with your collar and if you went rogue, Gentle Waves just confiscated your collar and you were permanently cut off from your water powers."

"Oh." said Sonic "I'm sorry little guy, I had no idea…"

"I know you didn't mean any harm Sonic." said Ruben "I understand your thoughts on the subject. Since Bride of the Gentle Waves is dead though, I'll never be able to have permanent water powers, I'm cursed with that stupid collar for the rest of my life. If I lose it or it gets destroyed then that's it, no more water powers for me."

Sonic pulled a grim face and he turned back to the rhino guard.

"Hey tubby, you'd better promise me that Ruben gets his aqua-collar back or I will be forced to fight you for it." said Sonic.

" You have my word of honour that the water panther will get his collar back. " boomed the guard.

"Is that a promise?" asked Sonic.

" In Chun-Nan, one's word of honour is sacred and it would be the ultimate dishonour if I went back on my word. " explained the guard " When I say the water panther will get hiscollar back, I mean he'll get his collar back and I will not go back on my word. "

"Good." said Sonic in a softer tone "Now let us through."

" Very well. " said the guard, pulling the key to the gates out of his pocket and unlocking the heavy padlock that kept the chains together " Good luck out there travellers, you're going toneed it. " he said in a rather flat tone, suggesting that other travellers taking the challenge hadn't been so fortunate.

The rhino guard pulled the chains away and opened the gates. Sonic and Ruben were met with a rather wonderful sight on the other side of the gates. There was a large lake with tall stones protruding from it. The stones were seventy feet tall and they led all the way to a ledge on the other side. The lake was surrounded by bamboo trees, full of lily pads and brightly coloured flowers that grew on the banks. Ruben was delighted at the sight of water but Sonic, given his dislike for water, wasn't so delighted. He groaned in annoyance.

"Jeez, water again?" he moaned "I got wet yesterday! I don't need to get wet again!"

"I take it you don't like water then." said Ruben, disappointed.

"Nah I don't mind water it's just I can't swim and I don't really like getting wet." said Sonic, hoping he wasn't offending Ruben.

"Well you won't have to worry about getting wet." said Ruben "All you have to do is hop across the lake on those stepping stones and you'll be as dry as a bone."

The rhino guard closed the gates behind the hedgehog and water panther, startling them a little but they shook it off and focused on the objective.

"So where's the challenge then?" wondered Sonic "I don't see what's so challenging about stepping stones."

"According to the map…" said Ruben, consulting the map "This is the Valley of Stepping Stones. Not many people survive this area and it can be a very tense area due to the challenge it presents."

"Which is?" asked Sonic impatiently.

"Watch." said Ruben sternly as he folded the map up and stored it into his glove.

He picked up a stone and threw it at one of the stepping stones. The stone hurtled through the air and landed on the stone. The moment the stone landed with a clatter on the stepping stone, it shook slightly and began to descend down into the lake. The stone descended down and down until only the top of it was above the water. Sonic and Ruben peered over the edge of the ledge they were standing on and saw the shrunken down stepping stone. Then suddenly a metal dragon shaped head appeared from nowhere and its jaws clamped around the stepping stone. Then smoke poured out of its nostrils and the jaws opened up, revealing the stepping stone which was blackened a little and the stone Ruben threw at it had been disintegrated and the head disappeared back underwater, making lots of bubbles as it did so. The stone then rose back up to its original height, causing it to rain down on the water under it. Sonic was surprised to say the least.

"This is a challenge of patience and brain." explained Ruben "You have to find the correct path across the stepping stones. If not, then you're toast, literally."

"So I have to leap across the right stones or I'm a kebab hedgehog?" exclaimed Sonic "Well I think this is the first challenge I'm not so confident on!"

"Proves you shouldn't be so arrogant Sonic." said Ruben "Now since I'm willing to give my life for you and Chun-Nan, I will find the correct path across the valley."

"Are you sure?" asked Sonic "It's not that I doubt you but, what if you mess up and get fried? I can't do this trek without you buddy."

"I am positive about this friend." said Ruben kindly "You have your life ahead of you, I have nothing to fight for since everything I lived for is gone so I don't care if I die."

"Well I do!" said Sonic firmly, grabbing Ruben by the shoulders "Would your clan leader want you to throw your life away like that? No! She would want you to be strong and you need to be strong Ruben or we'll never make it to the clan and tempt hem to help us defeat Zira!"

"Y-y-y-you're right." said Ruben, his ears drooping back in despair "What was I thinking? I'm such a fool! Oh Sonic, I'm sorry I thought so little of myself."

"Ruben, it's cool." said Sonic "No need to apologize. You just needed some support that's all. Now let's get across this lake, together!"

"Right." said Ruben with a much more confident expression on his face.

Sonic leaped off the ledge and onto a stepping stone. Ruben gathered up a few pebbles so he could use them to find out which stones were deadly and which stones were and he leaped onto the same stepping stone as Sonic. Sonic tried not to look down at the water below. He kept his eyes fixed straight ahead at the sea of stepping stones they had to hop across. There seemed to be at least fifty in total and only a few of them would be non-lethal. Sonic looked around desperately. Apart from the stone with the scorched stone from earlier, he had no idea which stone to step on next.

"So Ruben, any ideas?" asked Sonic.

"Yes." said Ruben.

He threw a pebble at the stone in front of them. Nothing happened. Sonic and Ruben leapt onto the stone and Ruben scooped up the pebble.

"If I keep throwing pebbles at the stones as a tester then we'll find our way across easily." said Ruben "We'll know which stones are lethal and which are not."

"But what if you run out?" asked Sonic.

"I have more then enough Sonic." Ruben assured the hedgehog "We'll be across before I run out."

Sonic gave Ruben his trademark thumbs up sign with an added wink as if to say "OK then buddy." Ruben tossed another pebble at a stepping stone in front of them. The pebble landed on the stone and the stone descended down into the water. Bad step. Ruben threw another pebble at the stone on their left. That stone descended down into the water too. Ruben threw a pebble at the stone on their right. Nothing happened so they hopped onto it.

Sonic and Ruben kept this up for a while and soon enough they had made it half way across the valley. Their hop across the stones had been a huge zigzag across the valley. Unfortunately, Ruben had used up more pebbles then he anticipated and he only had a few pebbles left. Not nearly enough to help find the right way across to the end of the valley. They had twenty-eight stones to get over and they had no idea which ones would be right. Regardless, Ruben used up his three remaining pebbles to get across the stepping stones. Two stones descended down but one didn't so Sonic and Ruben hopped onto the stone and Ruben scooped up his last pebble. He threw it at a stone and the stone descended down, taking away his last pebble. Sonic folded his arms and sighed in annoyance.

"So much for "We'll be across before I run out"!" moaned Sonic, mimicking Ruben's exact words.

"I didn't think I'd use my pebbles so quickly!" snapped Ruben "But now I've run out, there's no knowing how to get across without knowing which stones we should avoid. I guess we'll just have to take chances and make a lucky leap."

"So are you saying if a stone goes down into the water, we should leap before we go down with it?" asked Sonic

"Yes." said Ruben "It's our only chance."

Sonic and Ruben leaped onto a stone on their left. Safe stone. They then leaped onto another stone. Another safe stone. They leaped onto another stone. The stone started to descend down and they leaped for it before they could go down with it. Unfortunately, they landed on another death stone and they leaped off just as it started to descend. Luckily, Sonic landed on a safe stone but Ruben had been slightly off mark and he landed on a stone directly beside Sonic and the stone started to descend into the water. Ruben leaped off but he didn't quite make it and he ended up clinging onto the edge of the stone Sonic was standing on. Ruben started to slip but Sonic grabbed his hands and hauled him on. Now Ruben was safe, Sonic and Ruben leaped onto a stone in front of them. The stone began to descend down and they leaped off it and onto another stone. Luckily it was another safe stone but Sonic landed funny and he lost his balance and almost fell off and into the lake but Ruben grabbed him just before he could fall over. Ruben pulled Sonic to safety and the heroes leaped onto another stone. The stone descended down and Sonic and Ruben leaped off it before they could go down with it. They landed on another stone and didn't bother waiting to see if it was safe or not and they made a valiant leap for the ledge that was one stone away from them. Sonic was a good jumper but even he missed his targets sometimes. He didn't quite leap far enough and he ended up clinging onto the edge of the ledge. Ruben had been just as unlucky and now the two were clinging for their lives on the edge of the ledge. Sonic tried to climb back on but he just didn't have the strength to do so. Ruben was having just as much trouble. Ruben wasn't a very good climber and it seemed that this heavy flaw would end up costing him. Sonic pulled and pulled on his arms, desperate to make it onto the ledge. He couldn't fail now, not while he was so close. Sonic grunted with effort and got a good grip on the ledge with his feet to help push himself onto the ledge. With one mighty effort, Sonic managed to pull himself onto the ledge and to safety. Ruben however was beginning to lose his grip. Sonic grabbed Ruben's arms and pulled as hard as he could to get the water panther to safety. It took a lot of pulling but Sonic finally managed to haul Ruben onto the ledge. Ruben panted and gasped heavily.

"Oh thank you Sonic!" he cried "I would have been done for if I fell!"

"No offence Ruben but you need climbing lessons." said Sonic with the shrug of the arms.

"I know I do." said Ruben "We water panthers aren't very skilled in climbing. We're only skilled in martial arts and swimming. I'm gonna need to learn how to climb or I'll be done for."

"Well at least we made it." said Sonic "Now let's get outta here and move onto our next challenge. I hope the next one will be easier."

"Somehow, I doubt it will." said Ruben with an unsupportive tone in his voice.

Ruben fished the map out of his glove and unfolded it to see where they were going next.

"Right, now we've done the valley of stepping stones, we move onto the Plains of Deception" he said.

"Why do they call it the Plains of Deception?" asked Sonic.

"Because they're plains and they're deceptive I guess." said Ruben

"Unfortunately, I won't be able to keep up with you now I don't have water powers. If only I didn't have to relinquish my collar."

"I'll carry you bud." said Sonic, scooping Ruben up bridal style "You just tell me where to go and we can get going."

"We just go straight on until we come to a sign that says "Plains of Deception." said Ruben, observing the map "I don't think we've got far."

"Then let's do it to it!" exclaimed Sonic "Hang on tight Ruben! This is going to be really fast!"

Ruben quickly folded up the map and put it back into his glove and Sonic raced off at top speed. What challenge awaited them at the plains they had no idea but if they could conquer the valley of stepping stones then they could conquer any challenge…

Meanwhile at the Pagoda of Prosperity, Cosmo returned to Bladefeather and Mushu with Emperor Dalon Tai by her side. Tai stood forward to meet the pompous, ill-tempered falcon and Cosmo stood respectfully back since Bladefeather didn't want any kids near him while he spoke to Tai. Princess Matilda stayed indoors and watched through the window to see what was going on. Tai wasn't pleased to have been summoned by a traitor but he was curious on what Bladefeather had to say so he respectfully waited for the falcon to speak up. Bladefeather bowed respectfully to Tai but Tai just stood there with a stern look on his face.

"So Bladefeather you subversive fiend, what do you require my presence for?" asked Tai coldly, folding his arms.

Bladefeather took a deep breath and spoke.

"Your grace, me and Mushu came here to apologize for what we have done to the Pagoda of Prosperity and Chun-Nan." said Bladefeather slowly.

Tai's eyes widened and the Mobians all gasped in shock.

"Here's here to apologize?" whispered Tails.

"What is going on with that bird?" whispered Amy.

"I would thank you little brats for silencing those accursed lips of yours." said Bladefeather, his voice like ice.

The Mobians stopped whispering and fell into silence. Tai spoke up and broke the silence.

"You and Mushu…want to apologize?" he said slowly "I hope you can explain yourselves you two."

"We can emperor, well I can, not Mushu." said Bladefeather "Allow me to clear up the misunderstanding between us, you and the distinguished guests from the west." he added, notifying the Mobians watching them.

"Talk. I'm listening." said Tai dryly.

Bladefeather breathed in deeply, breathed out and then spoke.

"All my talk of us joining Zira under the promise of riches was nothing more then a red herring." explained Bladefeather "Me and Mushu weren't bribed into serving Zira the Ruthless, nor were we willing to join that serpentine. Our abhorrence for her is just as great as all of Chun-Nan's and we wish nothing more then to throw Zira back into obscurity and exile."

"I see." said Tai, taking this information in rather well "So why are you working for Zira if you hate her?"

"Me and Mushu were forced into joining her." explained Bladefeather, his expression becoming a grim and miserable looking one "Last week, me and Mushu were having a tour through the mountains that stretch beyond the borders of Chun-Nan and we met Zira. She engaged us in battle and she must have aggrandized herself because me and Mushu could hardly keep up with her. We along with Master Shan had no trouble handling her the first time but when me and Mushu fought Zira again, she refuted us. We had no idea how she aggrandized herself and we couldn't believe it when we got beaten. Mushu suffered worse then me though."

"Why?" asked Tai.

"Zira gave him a rather acerbic blow to his throat in our battle." explained Bladefeather "The blow damaged his voice box and thus has rendered him unable to verbally communicate to anyone now. He'll never recuperate from that blow, he will be mute for the rest of his life."

Mushu pulled a sad face as if he missed being able to talk. He clearly didn't look happy being mute for life.

"After Zira refuted us," continued Bladefeather "She prepared to execute us but I pleaded for mercy. Me and Mushu were forced to swear fealty to Zira and she took us in. If we dared to rebel against her, our penance would be too pernicious and barbaric for me or anyone to put into words. Me and Mushu strive to abnegate our ties with Zira but we dare not in fear of having our necks broken. Thus we were forced to serve Zira faithfully and we played a part in Master Shan's capture and later execution. We weren't pleased with ourselves but we have to remain in this forlorn condition or we die, no second thoughts."

He stared down at the ground and sighed sadly. Tai hummed to himself. He could see it in Bladefeather's eyes he was not lying, every word of his story had been true and he knew it. Tails stepped forward to the down-hearted falcon.

"So if we've got this straight, you want us to help you and Mushu defeat Zira?" asked Tails.

"Please don't talk little boy." said Bladefeather coldly "This is an adult's conversation."

"Bladefeather!" snapped Tai "There's no need to be so acrimonious to our guests from the west! I know of your abhorrence for children but please tolerate them just this once! They're your only hope of being free from Zira's grasp!"

"My utmost apologizes my magnanimous emperor." Bladefeather apologized with a respectful bow.

"So is Tails right?" asked Tai.

"The kid is absolutely correct." said Bladefeather "Me and Mushu wish to form an alliance with Sonic the Hedgehog and his friends and you emperor. Zira may be a match for me and Mushu together but with me, Mushu, Sonic, his friends and you, not even Zira will be a match for us. We'll be the unstoppable typhoon that will blow away Zira's mighty advances!"

"Don't forget she's got the Yīnyǐng Mao clan on her side." reminded Tai "Fong Zarr is a mighty warrior and he has a lot of ninjas at his side. Zira has advantage in numbers but we have advantage in brain and strength so we may have a chance."

"We will." said Cream "Especially since you have that nerve freezing thingy that paralyzes people. You can paralyze Zira with it."

"That is right child but I don't think Zira will be easy to hit." said Tai "Regardless, we must try all we can to prevent Zira from filling Chun-Nan with depredation."

"So do you accede to my requests?" asked Bladefeather hopefully.

"Yes. We do." said Tai, holding his hand out "Welcome back to the good side Bladefeather and Mushu."

"The pleasure is ours." said Bladefeather, shaking Tai's hand "Now, I have already begun to contrive a plan. Get ready to listen because this is very seminal. Heroes from the west, you may gather around with me, Mushu and the emperor."

Knuckles, Tails, Amy, Cream and Cosmo did as they were told and they gathered around Bladefeather, Mushu and Tai and they began communicating to each other in whispers barely audible to any who was passing by.

"Here's the plan…" whispered Bladefeather.

Meanwhile, Sonic and Ruben came across a fancy and brightly decorated sign with Chinese writing on it. A silver sculpture of a dragon's head was perched on top of the sign and it greeted anyone coming near it with demonic red eyes and a snarl with steam venting from its nostrils. Sonic looked at the sign but being as he doesn't live in Chun-Nan he had no idea what the writing on the sign said.

"Hey Ruben, care to translate this?" asked Sonic.

Ruben peered at the sign and looked at the writing.

"It says "You are at the Plains of Deception. Cross these plains at your own risk! Only the mightiest will make the way through and get the honour of meeting the mighty Raiju clan." Ruben translated.

"Wow. This Raiju clan has might issues." joked Sonic.

"So I'm guessing these are the Plains of Deception." said Ruben, looking ahead of him.

There was a long stretch of plains that expanded quite far. If one looked closely enough, you could see a sign at the end of the plains presumably marking the finish line. The plains seemed quite harmless and there didn't seem to be any challenge in this at all. Sonic was pleased to see this and he was ready and rearing to go.

"Well these aren't very deceptive plains are they?" sneered Sonic "They look completely harmless. Let's go!"

"Stop you idiot!" hissed Ruben, yanking on Sonic's quills to hold him back "They're called the Plains of Deception for a reason! They're plains and they're deceiving! It may LOOK harmless but it actually isn't!"

"Prove it smarty pants." scoffed Sonic.

"Of all the self-centred…" moaned Ruben.

He picked up a stone lying near the sign and he threw it into the plains. Before the stone could even hit the ground, a spurt of fire shot up from the ground like water from a geyser and scorched the stone to pieces. Sonic was so surprised his quills almost dropped off.

"Huh…uh…wha…um…huh?" blurted Sonic.

"I knew it!" said Ruben crossly "This is a test of agility and intelligence! The plains are full of invisible traps! But how did the Raiju clan get invisible traps? I thought only chameleons had that kind of technology."

"There are chameleons in Chun-Nan?" asked Sonic "I wonder if Espio once lived here…" he mused to himself.

"No, there are no chameleons in Chun-Nan." said Ruben "But my clan has met a clan of chameleons when we went sight-seeing in another country and they showed us their invisible trap genius that they had invented. If I were to guess, I'd say the Raiju clan must have stolen this technology from the chameleons or they've somehow managed to duplicate it. Nevertheless, we must remain vigilant as we cross these plains. There maybe more then just fire geysers we have to avoid."

"So I'm guessing we're taking this slowly and steadily aren't we?" asked Sonic in dismay "I hate going slow, it's boring."

"Well as boring as being slow is, you don't wanna get killed do you?" snapped Ruben "Now stop complaining and come on!"

"OK! OK!" said Sonic, waving his hands around hastily "Sheesh, who's got your tail in a knot Ruben?"

"Of all the irksome…" grumbled Ruben.

Ruben stormed out into the plains with Sonic slowly following him. The plains stretched a long distance away and they were only moving at a walking speed so this trek would take a while. Sonic and Ruben passed a fire geyser and the geyser spouted a huge jet of fire from underground, making them jump. The fire died down after that huge spout.

"Whoa!" cried Sonic "I am NOT gonna get used to that!"

"You won't have to once we cross these plains." noted Ruben "Because we won't have to do it a second time."

Ruben wasn't watching here he was going and he walked over a symbol marked on the ground that activated a trap. The symbol lit up and out of nowhere, daggers started shooting everywhere and whizzing straight past Sonic and Ruben. The hedgehog and water panther began leaping about to dodge the daggers.

"Ruben! What did you do?" cried Sonic as he ducked to dodge a dagger.

"I think I accidentally activated a trap!" yelped Ruben, falling to the ground so the daggers wouldn't be able to hit him "Silly me! I should be watching where I'm going!"

Sonic decided to do something about the showers of daggers that were coming from nowhere. He leaped into the air and spun into a spin-dash. Any dagger that hit the spinning hedgehog was instantly shattered by Sonic's spin-dash. That idea impressed Ruben and it seemed to be working well because the daggers couldn't harm anybody with Sonic breaking them all in a spin-dash. The daggers seemed to be slowing down because less and less were shooting at Sonic and Ruben by the second. Ruben made the mistake of getting up and thinking it was safe and all of the sudden, a dagger skimmed across his back, leaving a huge gash and bringing the water panther down to his knees. Ruben grimaced and rubbed his throbbing back. Sonic stopped spin-dashing and landed beside Ruben to see what was wrong. Luckily, the daggers stopped coming and everything fell into silence.

"Ruben! Are you OK buddy?" asked Sonic.

"Ugh! I should have stayed down!" grunted Ruben "A dagger skimmed me on the back! Erhn! My back hurts!"

"That dagger got you good." said Sonic, noticing the gash on Ruben's back left by the dagger "Good thing it was only a skim. If it actually impaled you I bet the outcome would be a lot worse. Can you stand?"

Ruben tried to stand back up but the pain in his back forced him back down. Ruben grimaced as if he did have a dagger in his back.

"I can't!" grunted Ruben, tensing up "The pain in my back is too great! You'll have to…go on without me!"

"What? No! I'm not leaving you behind Ruben! How could you even suggest something like that?" exclaimed Sonic "Friends don't leave friends behind! They stick together no matter what!"

Ruben was really surprised at Sonic's selfless nature. He was willing to provide help for anybody that needed it, even if it meant slowing him down in the process.

"Sonic, I dunno what to say." said Ruben, touched by the statement.

"Don't say anything buddy." said Sonic, putting his arm around Ruben and helping him onto his feet "We're gonna get to the end of those plains even if it kills us."

"Your valour is incredible." said Ruben "I think my clan would look up to you if they met you."

"Really?" said Sonic "I suppose they would. A lot of people look up to me. Especially Tails.

"I can see why." said Ruben.

With that said, Sonic continued the trek with Ruben walking beside him. Sonic kept his arm around Ruben to support the wounded panther as they made their way across the plains. Ruben kept his eyes out for symbols marked in the ground so they didn't accidentally activate another trap and Sonic kept all his senses alert. In a place like this with invisible traps, you had to be weary of anything. More fire geysers activated but none of them managed to singe the hedgehog or panther yet. Sonic pressed on as the geysers died away. Another shooting daggers trap activated but Sonic and Ruben were ready for them this time. Ruben stayed down on the ground while Sonic broke all the daggers. He even found where they were coming from and Sonic spin-dashed the dagger shooter, which was invisible, to pieces. Now the daggers had stopped firing, Sonic helped Ruben back up and they continued their trek. But an even deadlier trap was waiting for them and this one did not require a symbol to activate it. As Sonic and Ruben carried on, a whoosh sound was heard from nowhere and the whoosh was soon followed by a slam on the ground. Even though there didn't seem to be anything there, the ground cracked after the slam sound was heard, startling Sonic and Ruben who were inches away. It was an invisible hammer on a machine. The machine couldn't harm them since they weren't close enough so Sonic and Ruben carried on. But there was more then one of those hammer machines. Another invisible hammer swung down and slammed the ground. Sonic and Ruben were just inches away from that one and they were sent staggering backwards. Another hammer machine activated and tried to slam down on Sonic, who unfortunately was in range this time. Sonic heard the whoosh and he rolled over to avoid a ground cracking smash that followed. The slam rung in Sonic's ears and he felt a little shaken afterwards. Ruben strained to get back up and he managed it, although he couldn't stand up straight and he helped the shaken hedgehog back up. Sonic shook off the slam's effects and they carried on. Another fire geyser activated right in front of their faces and the two could feel the heat of that. If Ruben's collar hadn't been confiscated he could easily fight the fire with his water powers. The geyser died down and the two Mobians carried on. Unfortunately, they were halted by an invisible wall. They bumped into it and fell onto their backs. Sonic shook his head and frowned at the invisible wall.

"Oh that's just cheating!" he grumbled "How is anyone supposed to get over an invisible wall? We have no idea how high this thing could possibly be because we can't see it!"

"I'm willing to bet this thing expands all the way to the edges of the plains." said Ruben "And they're blocked off by high stretching rocks. I'll have to see how high this is."

He picked up a stone lying nearby and he threw it at the wall the highest he could throw it. The stone hit the wall and fell back down to the ground. Ruben's face fell.

"It's higher then I thought it was." he muttered.

"Well I'm not giving up!" yelled Sonic determinedly "We're close to getting to the end of these trap-laden plains so we can't give up now! If we can't get over the wall we'll have to go through it!"

Sonic spin-dashed into the wall…and bounced straight off it. He hit the ground and groaned in pain.

"Man! Is that wall invulnerable or something?" he muttered.

"Well we can't get over or through the wall so we'll have to go under it." said Ruben, digging a hole at the base of the wall.

Ruben began to dig at a rapid speed, sending soil flying behind him as he dug. Sonic stepped back so he wouldn't get hit by the dirt. After a while of digging, Ruben finally managed to dig his way under the wall and onto the other side. Sonic spin-dashed through the hole Ruben had dug and he leaped out on the other side. But then more trouble began. The moment Sonic and Ruben were on the other side of the invisible wall, fire geysers all began going off at once. There were at least twenty fire geysers all going off at once. And to add insult to injury, daggers began shooting from nowhere. And there were hammer machines lying in wait for its victims.

"Well I guess the Raiju clan decided to put everything at once at the end in an attempt to stop us." said Sonic, bewildered at what he was faced with.

"Taking it slowly won't do us any good here." said Ruben "Sonic, you are free to go as fast as you wish."

"Sweet!" cheered Sonic, scooping Ruben up bridal style "Hang on tight Ruben! This is gonna be hectic!"

Sonic charged into the fire geysers at top speed but because he was going so fast the fire didn't have time to burn him. Sonic weaved his way around all the geysers and dodged all the flying daggers. He ran too quick for the invisible hammers to it him and he jumped on top of the machine and leaped through the air like a grasshopper. Sonic landed on the ground directly in front of a fire geyser that went off. Sonic charged on at his trademark speed, too fast for the fire to burn him and too fast for the daggers to hit him. He got a little careless and almost got smashed by an invisible hammer but he stopped just before it could hit him and he leapt back, leaving the hammer to hit the ground. Sonic leaped on top of the hammer, then onto the machine wielding the hammer and leaped through the air again. He landed on the ground and charged on. The dagger's numbers were beginning to increase as he got closer to the end of the plains, increasing the chance of getting hit even at sonic speed but Sonic knew how to deal with the daggers. He fell down on his back and slid right across the ground with the daggers whizzing over him. Sonic was sliding so fast he actually managed to dodge all the shooting daggers and make it to the end of the plains! They slid past one last fire geyser and Sonic leaped back onto his feet. He put Ruben down and whooped with joy.

"Whoo hoo! That was awesome!" he cheered "Let's go again!"

"Sonic!" blustered a very frazzled and shaken Ruben "You are the craziest hedgehog I've even known! And that's why we made it to the end of the plains. Your super speed helped us avoid all those traps. Maybe next time I shouldn't doubt you when you wanna rush off into things."

"I understand there are times I have to slow down." said Sonic casually "I just don't enjoy them that's all. Now, where too next Ruben?"

Ruben pulled the map out from his glove and studied it.

"Um…now we've conquered the plains it's straight onto to the clan's territory." said Ruben "Funny, I was expecting more then two challenges."

"Well I'm glad there aren't anymore." said Sonic "We barely escaped with our lives just doing those two! How's your back by the way?"

"Better." said Ruben "I can walk now. So, let's get on to the clan's territory. I really hope they're willing to barter with us."

"If they're not then Chun-Nan has no hope of survival." said Sonic "And Zira will conquer this country for sure."

"Exactly." said Ruben "So, shall we continue hero from the west?"

"Ready when you are water boy." sniggered Sonic.

Sonic and Ruben ran off and headed on to the clan's territory. What awaited them there was unknown at the moment and what the clan would be like was a mystery. But answers to those questions were just around the corner and Sonic wasn't going to back down now…

"What is taking those idiots so long?" roared Zira, punching the wall and cracking it heavily "Kidnapping a stupid princess shouldn't be that hard!"

Zira and the Yīnyǐng Mao clan had retreated back to the abandoned prison and were eagerly awaiting Bladefeather and Mushu's return with Princess Matilda in hand. They had been taking an awful long time and Zira was beginning to lose her patience. Fong Zarr just stood against the wall with his arms folded and he watched Zira pace around with an oddly amused expression on his face. Zira stopped pacing and she pointed sharply at Fong Zarr.

"You! Have you heard anything from Bladefeather at all?" she snapped.

"Not so much as a little whisper." said Fong Zarr bluntly "Your boys maybe in grrrrave danger rrrright now."

"They can't possibly be in danger!" snapped Zira "They're kung-fu masters! Sonic the Hedgehog and his band of younglings can't possibly be that much of a threat to them and they'll be all the wiser about the emperor's paralyzing technique! I think they're playing about like children! Well, I've got a lovely punishment planned for those two morons when I get my claws on them!"

"So what do you suggest oh mighty leader of the Yīnyǐng Mao clan?" asked Fong Zarr inquisitively "Are we going to find them?"

"No. I am going to kidnap that princess myself!" announced Zira "You and your ninjas are coming with me Zarr. And try not to get hit by a wok like last time*!" she roared.

"My head still grrrieves thinking about that discombobulating defeat of mine." muttered Fong Zarr, rubbing his head which had healed up nicely after being hit by a wok.

"Zarr, get your ninjas together!" barked Zira "We're leaving the moment you're ready so get a move on!"

"At once your majesty." said Fong Zarr loyally, leaving the room to get his gang of ninja cats together.

The moment he left the room and headed down the dull, dusty corridors, his face changed to a more evil expression then before.

"Oh Zira you unrrrrighteous fiend." he purred to himself "You will not conquer Chun-Nan. Once we arrive at the Pagoda of Prosperity, my clan will refute you, then I'll take the thrrrrone myself and I will be rrrruler of Chun-Nan and you will be nothing but a bleeding, broken corpse lying by the side of a river somewhere. Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha…"

His laughing filled the empty, dusty corridor as he headed off to gather his ninjas together…

Teaming Up With The Storm

Story 55: Teaming Up With The Storm

It had taken them a while to get there but Sonic and Ruben had finally made it. They had arrived at the so-called Raiju clan's territory. Needless to say, it wasn't a very inviting place at all. Rather then a pagoda, the clan's home was a huge steel palace which had a very tough looking and slightly sinister appearance to it. It looked more like the home of an evil overlord then a simple ninja clan. Not to mention the fortress was surrounded by lethal looking assault courses which looked like they could kill someone should they mess up. It was a wonder to Sonic as how all these ninjas were successfully conquering the courses without so much as a scratch. Speaking of ninjas, every single ninja they saw was a lynx in black ninja attire. They looked strong, powerful and mighty and it seemed years of training they had had paid off for them as they effortlessly ploughed through their assault courses. Ruben peered at the map to make sure they were in the right place. The map marked the huge steel palace they were looking at so they were in the right place.

"Well Sonic, we're here." said Ruben with not much joy in his voice. It was quite clear he wished he was in a less violent place right now.

"This is the home of the clan the emperor told us about." said Sonic "The Raiju clan it's called according to that rhino guard we met earlier. Well, let's go over to them, say hi and beg for them to join us in out struggle against Zira the Ruthless."

"Um…I wouldn't do that if I were you hedgehog." said Ruben wearily "They don't look like the kind of people who are in the mood to talk. All they wanna do is fight it seems."

"Well we don't know if we don't try Ruben old buddy so let's go and meet them." said Sonic, striding off.

"No Sonic!" cried Ruben "You don't know what they'll…"

He groaned loudly in annoyance and ran off after Sonic. Sonic wondered over to a Raiju ninja doing sit-ups. He seemed to be exercising really hard as he was doing sit-ups over and over without showing any signs of slowing down or tiring. Sonic tapped the lynx on the shoulder and the lynx stopped what he was doing and he turned to face Sonic. He didn't look very happy to see the blue hedgehog standing there before him.

"Hi there ninja guy or whatever your name is." said Sonic "We're here to meet…"

"Intruders!" screeched the lynx, hoping to his feet and drawing out a dagger and point it straight at the hedgehog's chest "Seize those peasants at once Raiju ninjas!"

The other ninjas stopped what they were doing and they all ran over to Sonic and Ruben. Sonic instantly realized that he was in trouble so he leaped out of the pouncing lynx's way and he ran for it. Ruben ran after him with the lynxes hot on their trials. They all bounded down the hilly, stony staircase Sonic and Ruben had just climbed up to get to the fortress.

"OK Ruben, maybe this wasn't my best idea!" cried Sonic "We may have to come back later when those guys have calmed down!"

"Maybe next time I tell you no you'll listen to me!" yelled Ruben crossly "You do realize that I know this country better then you do so I'm gonna know how things work around here so you should stop being so obstinate and listen to me!"

"Sheesh! I never took you to be such a grumpy-guts Ruben!" muttered Sonic "I thought you water-panthers were a happy bunch!"

"Of all the witty and insulting…!" grumbled Ruben.

Unfortunately, the Mobians didn't get very far. There was a lynx lying in wait for them at the bottom of the hilly staircase they had walked up to get to the palace and he lay some large stones on the stairs. Sonic and Ruben didn't see the stones and they tripped on them. This in turn caused them to fall down the stairs and land on the ground at the bottom with a sharp thud. Luckily, the trip didn't cause too much damage to them but Sonic and Ruben couldn't find the strength to get back to their feet and run for their lives. The ninja lynxes chasing them caught up to them and pounced on them without a moment's hesitation. They tied Sonic and Ruben up with thick rope and they hauled their prisoners onto their feet. One ninja who was visibly larger and stockier then the others stepped forward. He glared at Sonic and Ruben. The hedgehog and water panther could only look nervously back at him.

"You two are in a heap of trouble." boomed the lynx "The penalty of intruding and spying on the mighty Raiju clan is death! Conquering Storm does not take lightly to spies and intruders."

"We didn't come here to spy on your stupid clan!" snapped Sonic "We came here to negotiate with you!"

"A likely story." said the lynx in a vapid tone of voice "Let's see if Conquering Storm will be fooled by your lies. I wouldn't get hopeful that she will though you heathens."

"We aren't lying!" protested Ruben "I give you my word of honour we aren't lying!"

"Word of honour indeed." snapped the lynx "We are the Raiju clan! Only through strength and might do you earn anything honouree here! Take those peasants away and bring them to our glorious bride!" bellowed the lynx.

The lynxes obeyed and they dragged Sonic and Ruben back up the hilly, stony staircase and to their steel fortress. Sonic whispered to Ruben.

"What's a bride in a clan?"

"Bride is a title given to a female leader of the clan" Ruben whispered back "A bride is wed to their house and their clan in turn is wed to them."

"How do you know so much?" demanded one of the lynxes carrying Ruben angrily.

"I…I…used to live…in…Chun-Nan." said Ruben nervously "I used to…be…in a…clan myself…my clan is…dead now…"

"Really?" said the lynx "I guess your clan isn't as mighty as we are if it's dead."

"Hey! If you put grief on poor Ruben you answer to the hedgehog!" snapped Sonic angrily.

"And you would be very wise to keep your accursed mouth shut if you don't want us to stomp you into the dirt you little vermin!" retorted the lynx carrying Ruben "Now you two, not another word until we meet Conquering Storm!"

Sonic and Ruben knew arguing with their captors was a foolish idea so they stopped talking and kept their mouths shut. Hopefully Conquering Storm would be merciful or they were dead meat in that palace. Before Sonic and Ruben knew it, they were dragged into the throne room of the steel palace by their captors and thrown rather roughly onto the floor at the feet of a few steps that led to a throne. Sonic and Ruben got up onto their knees, shook their heads and they stared at the throne. There was a female lynx sitting in the throne and she did not look pleased to see two Mobians that weren't lynxes kneeling on the floor and looking up at her. The lynx had orange fur and purple eye-shadow on her eyelids, orange eyes and two thin black bangs that drooped over her eyes. She wore a straw coolie hat on her head which pushed down her big ears, a purple samurai outfit that was belted at the waist and trimmed in gold, big black and grey fingerless gloves with red cuffs near the elbow and brown boots with metal reinforcements at the toe. She looked like a formidable woman and Sonic could easily see why she was supposedly the leader of the Raiju clan. The broad and stocky lynx stood forward.

"Conquering Storm my dear." he boomed "We caught these two peasants snooping around your fortress Ma'Am. What do you wish for us to do with them?"

Conquering Storm didn't answer him. She stood up from her throne and strode over to Sonic and Ruben with a cold expression on her face. She didn't look like the kind of woman who could take a quirk, she looked deathly serious and Sonic could tell this from her actions. Conquering Storm stood before Sonic and Ruben and she glared at them.

"What are you two scoundrels doing here?" she demanded, her voice was like ice "I do hope you are not spying on the mighty Raiju clan! If you are then I'll have to punish you both and you will not make it out of here alive!"

"So I take it you're the woman in charge?" asked Sonic.

"I am hedgehog." said Conquering Storm bluntly "I am the Bride of the Conquering Storm, leader of the Raiju clan but you will refer to me as Conquering Storm, nothing more."

"Conquering Storm?" sniggered Sonic "That's a daft name! What are your parents called? Raging Typhoon and Thundering Gale?"

"Sonic! Show some respect!" hissed Ruben "Do you want us to get killed?"

Sonic didn't answer. Conquering Storm shifted her steely gaze from Sonic and onto Ruben.

"I know you." she said in a flat tone "You're a water panther. You were once part of the Hǎilàng clan weren't you?"

"I-I-I was." stammered Ruben.

"Pity your clan was lacking in might and strength." said Conquering Storm cruelly "No wonder they're dead now."

"Hey! You leave Ruben alone!" snapped Sonic "How would you like it if your clan was dead and Ruben teased you about it!"

Conquering Storm glared at Sonic with her orange eyes. They seemed to burn like a bonfire as she glared at Sonic.

"You've got some nerve talking to me like that boy!" she snarled "Who do you think you are? Some poor fool who thinks he can preach to me like this?"

"No I don't think that at all." retorted Sonic "I am Sonic the Hedgehog, hero of Mobius and me and Ruben are here to talk, not spy on you."

"Sonic the Hedgehog?" mused Conquering Storm "Hero of Mobius? How did I fail to notice this?"

"You know me?" asked Sonic.

"Don't be a fool, of course I don't know you!" snapped Conquering Storm "I've merely heard of you. Everybody in this wretched country has heard of you. Dàfēng Rai*, release them." she ordered to the broad and stocky lynx that stood behind them.

"But Ma'Am…" protested Rai.

"Do as you are told!" growled Conquering Storm.

Rai did as he was told and he untied Sonic and Ruben. The two Mobians looked at each other. Was Conquering Storm willing to listen to them? Rai didn't look too happy as he unwrapped the rope from around their bodies.

"Why do I have to release these spies?" asked Rai.

"Because they wish to speak and someone as honouree as the hero of Mobius is deserving of hearing my terms." explained Conquering Storm "So Sonic, Hero of Mobius and peasant of an overly obstinate nature, what are you here for and make it quick, I haven't got all day." she said to Sonic in a vapid tone.

"You don't waste any time do you?" said Sonic happily "OK, here's what we're here for: have you heard of Zira the Ruthless?"

"What a stupid question to ask, of course I've heard of Zira the Ruthless!" snapped Conquering Storm "Do you think I've been living in a cave all my life?"

"No! No of course not!" insisted Sonic "I wasn't to know was I? Well, Zira has returned and she's gotten two kung-fu masters and a clan of ninja cats on her side and we're kinda having trouble defeating her so we travelled here, conquered your traps fair and square and made it here to kindly ask you to join us in our battle with Zira."

Conquering Storm narrowed her gaze at Sonic and she put a finger to her lips. She then put both her hands behind her back and relaxed her face.

"Bold words hedgehog." said Conquering Storm "But we cannot be bought like this. We are the mighty Raiju clan! Only through strength and might do you earn anything!"

"Oh I get it." said Ruben "You're one of those "Duel of Honour" types aren't you?"

"Correct." said Conquering Storm.

"In that case, I wager a duel of honour." said Ruben "Sonic will face whoever you wish for him to battle and if Sonic wins, you join us, if not then we leave and we fight Zira ourselves."

"A bold idea water panther." said Conquering Storm bluntly "And I accept. Nothing like a good duel of honour to give the Raiju clan some exercise. Dàfēng Rai! You will face the hedgehog!" she barked at the stocky lynx.

"Yes Ma'Am. Thank you Ma'Am. Tremendous honour Ma'Am." said Rai loyally.

"Before we fight, I have something for the water panther." said Conquering Storm.

She plunged her hand into her pocket and fished something out. She threw it to Ruben and Ruben caught it, not really sure what it was. He opened his fist and looked at it. It was his water collar! He quickly snapped it back onto his neck. He got sudden wave of water flowing through his veins as he put his collar back on and he felt like a water panther once again.

"My guard at the Valley of Stepping Stones gave it to me and told me on his word of honour to give it back to you since he'd promised to return it." explained Conquering Storm.

"Thank you Conquering Storm." said Ruben, bowing politely to the cold and straightforward lynx in the coolie hat.

Conquering Storm sniffed at Ruben and turned to Sonic.

"Don't expect to win hero." she said coldly "Dàfēng Rai is my star warrior and not once has he fallen to any foe that has challenged him."

"If you say so." said Sonic casually "I'm just gonna do the best I can."

"May the best fighter win." said Conquering Storm "And that will be Rai of course. Let the duel of honour…COMENCE!" she ordered at the top of her voice.

A lynx rang a gong that made a very loud, haunting, ominous gong noise that echoed through the room and Sonic and Rai took their positions. Then, before anybody could so much as blink, Sonic and Rai charged at each other and leaped into the air, preparing to beat the snot out of each other…

Meanwhile in Chun-Nan, Bladefeather had gathered Tails, Amy, Knuckles and Cream to an old and rickety rope bridge that stretched a good length from the ledge to the other ledge. Cosmo had decided to stay at the pagoda since she would be of no use to them in this fight. Amy summoned her hammer and gave it a hefty swing.

"So Jerk-feather, why are we here?" she asked.

"Need I admonish you that we're now allies so I will not abide the name-calling thank you." snapped Bladefeather "We are here because this is where Zira will arrive. I'm am willing to bet that Zira is on her way now and this rope bridge is the only way for her to get to the Pagoda of Prosperity. So, do you remember the plan heroes from the west?"

"We do." said Tails "We're here to slow Zira down and give Sonic and Ruben a chance to get home and hopefully, we can tire her out enough for you and Mushu to eliminate her."

"Correct little boy." said Bladefeather "You are more intelligent then you look."

"Are you sure that we'll be OK out here?" asked Cream nervously "I mean, that nasty Zira woman's very strong. What if we can't beat her? She'll break our necks!" she cried, clutching her throat.

"Zira may indeed by incredibly vigorous and her strength by be unequivocal but she's not interested in mendicants like you, she's only interested in the emperor." said Bladefeather "If she refutes you, she won't execute you, she'll just run off and continue her mission."

"And how can you be sure of that?" asked Amy, narrowing her eyes at the falcon.

"Zira only executes people who are a threat to her." explained Bladefeather "Hence the reason she slaughtered three ninja clans. She hasn't been known to execute innocent civilians…yet."

"Somehow, I don't believe you." said Amy "You're just saying that to calm Cream down."

"Of all the vexing…" muttered Bladefeather "Me and you may have a variance with each other but do not take umbrage at me, I am only speaking what is truthful. Zira won't see you lot as a threat and she will not execute you. Comprehended?"

"Um…yes?" said Amy, not really sure what the word "comprehended" meant.

"How radiant." said Bladefeather sarcastically "Now, if you'll excuse me, I have a pagoda to get back to. I bid you valediction and good luck my magnanimous heroes from the west."

Bladefeather flapped his wings and he took to the skies. Then he shot off at a speed Tails could only dream he could fly at. Bladefeather was so fast he was out of sight in a matter of seconds. Amy stuck her nose in the air and huffed.

"Man I hate that pompous, big headed jerk!" she moaned "Always talking with the big words and making us feel stupid! Ooooooooooohhhhhhh what I wouldn't give to smash his face in!"

"Amy! Shame on you!" scolded Cream "How could you be so rude and discourteous to Mr. Bladefeather? He's only trying to help save Chun-Nan!"

"He's rude and discourteous to us Cream so he doesn't deserve my niceness." sniffed Amy.

"Well regardless of if he deserves it or not, one thing we can thank him for is for bringing us one step ahead of Zira." said Tails "We're ready for her now."

"I just hope this plan wasn't a trick to get us as far away from the emperor as possible so Bladefeather can kidnap the princess." said Knuckles as he clenched his fists.

"Did you not hear a word Bladefeather said?" snapped Tails "He's on our side! He's trying to help us save Chun-Nan, he wants to be free from Zira, he's not attempting a kidnapping of any kind!"

"I'll believe it when I see it." scoffed Amy.

"OK, can we forget about Bladefeather? This is getting us nowhere." muttered Tails "Let's focus on…"

"Zira's coming!" squealed Cream, pointing to a rope bridge that led to the one they were standing at right now.

"Chao!" squeaked her pet Chao Cheese.

Surely enough, Zira was running, on all fours, across the rope bridge at top speed. Fong Zarr and his ninjas weren't far behind. Zira finished crossing the rope bridge and she made it onto the ledge. Then she began running across the rope bridge that the Mobians were standing at.

"She's coming!" cried Cream.

"If only we could cut this thing." said Tails, notifying the ropes that held the bridge in place "We could send her falling to her death and that would be it."

"Well we can't cut this thing so we'll have to engage her face to face." said Knuckles, raising his fists "Let's go team!"

Amy and Knuckles were the first to attack. Amy ran up to the charging Zira and whacked her directly in the face with her hammer, sending her flying backwards and landing further back up the rope bridge. Fong Zarr and his ninjas stopped in their tracks and waited at the foot of the rope bridge. Zira picked herself up and rubbed her face. She hissed at Amy and stood up on two feet. The rope bridge wobbled dangerously. Zira advanced slowly on Amy.

"So what are you peasants doing here?" she demanded angrily.

"We're here to stop you reaching the pagoda!" retorted Amy "You will not pass!"

Zira chuckled coldly at the pink hedgehog.

"Oh my dear, you are such a foolish little girl aren't you?" she sneered "Do you realize who I am? I am Zira the Ruthless, the almighty and powerful kung-fu mistress and destined to be ruler of Chun-Nan!"

"More like destined to fall of this rope bridge and be defeated by me!" shrieked Amy, swinging her hammer at Zira.

Zira had her hands straight and she blocked every single one of Amy's blows with her arms in swift motion. After blocking the last blow, Zira grabbed Amy by the neck and tossed her back onto the ledge. Amy hurtled over Knuckles and landed beside Tails and Cream. Knuckles charged towards Zira and he punched her in the stomach. Zira skidded backwards and she charged at Knuckles. She rammed the echidna in the stomach and sent him falling onto his back. Then she picked Knuckles up by the ankles and threw him onto the ledge. Knuckles landed directly on top of Amy. Amy gasped loudly. Zira leaped onto the ledge and the Mobians instantly backed away before she could strike at them. Zira stood up in a battle ready stance, unsheathed her claws and roared a natural leopard roar.

"Look here merchants, I do not wish to tangle with unworthy dirt such as you." purred Zira "My time is with the emperor and no one less so back off and I won't have to kill you."

"We will not back off!" yelled Tails "We won't let you hurt the emperor!"

"You'll have to get through us first if you want to get to the emperor!" bellowed Knuckles, raising his fists.

"Well since you're all begging for a broken neck then I'll be happy to answer to your summons!" snarled Zira "You'll be sorry you dared to stand up to the great Zira the Ruthless you wretched vermin!"

"Hey Zira, what's with all this power hungry stuff about anyway?" asked Amy "Why do you wish to conquer Chun-Nan? Has the country made a bad impact on you or something?"

Those words seemed to make Zira tense up and scowl icily at Amy. She clenched her fists for a moment before relaxing and standing up straight with her arms by her side. The Mobians waited for something to happen but nothing did. Zira breathed in deeply and then spoke.

"Chun-Nan has indeed had a bad impact on me little one." said Zira smoothly but with a tone of anger in her voice "When I was just a child, I was a helpful little servant to my parents. I made the meals and cleaned the house while my parents did their own thing. One day, I came across a school that taught martial arts and I fell in love with the sport of kung-fu. It was my only love in life and I wanted ever so desperately to master the strength and challenges of kung-fu. But my mother didn't approve of this. She hated kung-fu with a burning passion and forbid me to so much as look at a kung-fu master but my heart told me to ignore her and learn what I wished. So every afternoon when my mother left for her art classes I sneaked off to a kung-fu school which was run by Master Shan, my master and mentor. For weeks I did this and because of my kung-fu lessons, I learnt the art of subtlety and managed to act like nothing had changed on me so mother was led under the pretence that I hadn't left my home in the afternoons.

But two months later, some heartless fool snitched on me and after I returned from my lesson of the day, I was forced to explain everything to mother. She was not pleased and she ordered my father to beat me for punishment. He beat me black and blue and he broke my arm, all under my mother's orders. Father was like a mindless drone to her and that's the way she liked it. The experience was traumatising and my heart grieves just thinking about it. And as I started to recover from my beatings, I had one thing on my mind: revenge and with my kung-fu skills, it was completely possible for me to get revenge on my heartless mother.

So after I healed from my beatings, I killed my stupid mother in revenge for her unforgivable cruelty to me. She was the first neck I broke and father ran away forever to avoid getting killed by me, clever of him since he was my next target. No one knows what happened to father but I have a sneaky suspicion the old fool died of a broken heart shortly after running away. So after the death of my mother, I continued taking lessons and the anger in me I got from remembering the beating my father gave me increased to disproportionate levels. I then had this sudden urge to conquer something so I destroyed a village, slaughtered three clans and tried to ransack the country. I was foiled by Master Shan, Bladefeather and Mushu and sent into exile. This just made me angrier and more determined to get what I want so I came back and now I will rule Chun-Nan and make it pay for all the pain it's endorsed on me!"

She finished her tale with a heavy breath and a growl. The Mobians looked at each other and then back at Zira. Cream, bravely spoke up.

"Zira, killing your mother wasn't a nice thing to do." she said "You could have tried to tell her how you felt about kung-fu and how you loved it. Like my mother once said to me, revenge won't get you anything, all it will do is bring you more pain and then you'll be sadder then you already have been."

"Don't preach to me about morality you little brat!" snapped Zira "You're just a kid! You don't know anything about bad impacts and the pain you feel from being abused by your superiors! And I did try to tell mother about my feelings for kung-fu and her response was "No daughter of mine will be learning that blood sport! Children are meant to be servants and a servant is what you shall be young lady!"! Revenge was the only way I could get what I want and it worked! I'm a kung-fu mistress and I'm soon going to be ruler of Chun-Nan! This whole country will bow to my feet and pay for the indignity it's ever caused me!"

"Chun-Nan didn't cause you any indignity." said Knuckles "You caused yourself indignity by being so vengeful. You will be consumed by your own hate Zira and the only way of avoiding this fate is to change your ways or you'll be finding yourself receiving pain for the rest of your life."

"How dare you lecture me you fatuous worm?" snarled Zira "That's it! I will pound you all into submission and once I conquer Chun-Nan, you will be my lap-dogs, grovelling at my feet and spending an eternity in chains and misery!"

Zira lunged forward and tried to attack Knuckles but Knuckles beat her to it and he socked Zira in the face. Zira landed on her side but she was quick to recover. Knuckles tried to punch her again but Zira kung-fu kicked him in the head and sent him stumbling, Then she picked Knuckles up, spun him around in midair and kicked him straight into Tails, who was trying to help Knuckles. Cream throw Cheese at Zira but Zira smacked him away with one swipe of an arm. Cream flapped her ears and flew towards Zira. She grabbed Zira's ponytail and yanked on it. Zira yelped angrily and she leaped into the air. She dropkicked Cream into the ground, causing the rabbit to let go of her ponytail and before Zira could add an elbow slam for added effect, Tails tackled her and sent her rolling across the ground. Zira got back to her feet only to get a punch to the cheek from Knuckles. Zira retaliated with a karate chop to the face and she kicked Knuckles away before he could try to retaliate. Fong Zarr and the ninjas watched the fight in interest.

"Well, this fight is going to get interesting isn't it?" Zarr mused to himself "Well since I have no orders, I'm quite content to stand idly by and watch. I bet Zira will massacre those scrrrrubs in a matter of moments. If those merchants last more the five minutes then I'll be impressed."

Fong Zarr chuckled dryly to himself as Zira did a split-kick to take out Tails and Amy both at once and then she landed a kick slam on Knuckle's head just as he was about to attack. Cream tried to attack but Zira gave the rabbit an enormous uppercut that actually ended up rendering Cream unconscious! Cheese fisted Zira in the eye but that didn't seem to do much to her and Zira swatted Cheese away. Amy tried to wallop Zira with her hammer but the vicious leopard knocked the hammer out of her hands and kicked Amy into Fong Zarr who kicked her away before she could hit him. Knuckles then grabbed Zira in a chokehold and forced her onto her knees. He thumped Zira sharply on the head to daze her a little and he let go of her so he could give her an uppercut. Zira stumbled backwards and rubbed her throbbing chin better and she lunged at the echidna with her claws bared, fangs shown and she roared ferociously at her opponent…

Rai held up his arms in front of his face in an X-shape to defend himself from one of Sonic's mighty spin-dashes. The fight between Sonic and Rai had been pretty even sided so far with neither opponent being able to land much of a blow on each other. Conquering Storm was impressed with how well Sonic was holding up against her mightiest ninja, this hedgehog was as strong as the legends made him out as. Ruben had just been watching the whole fight nervously and was rather surprised that Sonic was holding out so well against a well trained ninja. Maybe Rai wasn't as strong as Conquering Storm made him out to be. Sonic leaped backwards and skidded to a halt just as Rai was lunging for him. Sonic spin-dashed Rai in the stomach and sent him crashing into a wall. Rai pulled himself free from the wall and lunged at Sonic, spinning in mid-air like a drill-bit. He hit Sonic directly in the gut and sent him skidding across the floor on his back. Before Sonic could get back up, Rai grabbed the hedgehog by the ankles and threw him into the ceiling. The ceiling was very high up and Sonic would have a rather nasty fall if he pulled himself free from it. But Sonic knew how to deal with heights so he had no problem. He rolled into a ball and spin-dashed off the ceiling…only to get walloped by Rai and sent crashing into the floor. Sonic picked himself up and dodged just as Rai was lunging at him with his arms stretched out. Sonic kicked him in the back of the head as he was leaping over him and Rai fell flat on his face. Rai got back to his feet but Sonic took his legs out from underneath him with a swift kick to the ankles, causing him to fall back on the floor. Rai rolled onto his front, stood on all fours and charged at Sonic like an angry bull. He head-butted the hedgehog and sent him accidentally hurling towards Conquering Storm. The prideful bride kicked Sonic away before Sonic could hit her.

"Watch it Rai you careless oaf!" shouted Conquering Storm.

"My apologies my dear." said Rai "I shall be more careful in this fight."

"Blah, blah, blah, here's hedgehog in your face!" yelled Sonic, punching Rai directly in the jaw.

Rai bent over backwards, sending Sonic hurling over him and he rubbed his jaw. Sonic charged at him at super sonic speed but Rai gave the hedgehog a huge uppercut that sent him hurling through the air in a neat rainbow arch. Sonic landed, luckily, on his feet and he charged at Rai again. Rai tried to attack but Sonic was too fast. He tackled the lynx and sent him falling onto his back. Sonic tried to attack again but Rai kangaroo kicked him away and leaped back onto his feet. Sonic began to throw punches left and right at Rai but Rai blocked every single one of them with his arms. Rai threw punches back but Sonic with his incredibly fast reflexes managed to dodge them all. Then he tripped Rai up and Rai fell onto his back. Rai rolled out of Sonic's way as he was about to kick slam him and Rai roundhouse kicked the hedgehog in the head. Sonic felt a little dazed after such a powerful kick and he staggered about like a drunken person. Rai then walloped him with the side of his fist and Sonic hurtled backwards like a rag doll. Sonic landed on one of the Raiju ninjas who was watching the fight and he knocked him over. Sonic got back to his feet and then noticed the ninja he landed on had a pair of katanas in sheaths strapped to his back. Sonic grabbed the katanas, unsheathed them and threw one to Rai, who caught it in his hand.

"Hey muscle boy, I've decided to spice things up a little." said Sonic, twirling the katana in his hand "Why don't we have a little sword fight instead of a normal fight?"

"Whatever you say hedgehog." said Rai with a big grin on his face, twirling his katana at a very fast speed "I love a good sword fight."

"How marvellous, this fight is going to get more interesting I can see." said Conquering Storm with a dry smile on her face.

Ruben wasn't so sure that this was a good idea. Did Sonic know how to sword fight? If not then this battle would end very badly for Sonic indeed.

"Ready?" asked Sonic.

"When you are challenger." boomed Rai.

The two fighters charged at each other and their katanas clashed together, the loud clang rang around the room. Sonic and Rai then began to rapidly clash katanas together. They were swinging their swords so quickly you couldn't see them and there were so much clanging noises that was the only noise you could hear in the whole room. Rai swung at Sonic but Sonic jumped over him and they clashed katanas as Sonic sailed over Rai. Sonic landed behind Rai and Rai spun around to block an attack from Sonic. Sonic aimed at Rai's thigh but Rai blocked the blow with his katana. Rai aimed at Sonic's shoulder but Sonic blocked the blow with his katana. They both linked swords and pushed on each other as hard as they possibly could but no one could gain the advantage on either one. Rai then suddenly broke up the sword cross and slashed Sonic on the hip. Sonic cried in pain and fell down on one knee. Rai then tried to strike at Sonic but Sonic defended himself with his katana.

"Hey! This is a duel of honour isn't it?" asked Sonic "We're supposed to defeat each other not KILL each other!"

"Wrong hedgehog." boomed Rai "When the Raiju clan fights it's a fight to the death, honouree or not."

"Well why didn't you say that in the first place?" demanded Sonic.

"Because we wanted you all shocked and surprised when we killed you at the end." explained Rai "But that's not possible since I've just explained it to you."

Ruben was horrified at this revelation.

"Hey! Conquering Storm! That's not how a duel of honour goes!" he yelled at her "I demand you call off this duel now!"

"You will know your place and shut up!" snapped Conquering Storm, not taking her eyes off the battle "You are in Raiju territory so you do things our way. You may have a rule where you don't kill the opponent in a duel of honour but we do not. In our duels it's a duel to the death."

"So if Sonic wins this fight does this mean he has to kill Rai?" asked Ruben.

"Yes he does." said Conquering Storm, not showing much empathy on the subject matter.

Those Raiju guys are brutal and cruel! thought Ruben I'm so glad I was never part of this clan!

Meanwhile, Sonic had managed to stand back up, straining as he did, and he was soon back in the battle. He was having trouble running though due to his slashed hip. Rai began roughly swinging at Sonic, making very loud clangs as he hit Sonic's katana, and he tripped Sonic up with one kick to the legs. Sonic fell onto his back and Rai tried to stab Sonic with the katana. Sonic rolled out of the way, causing Rai to accidentally plunge his katana into the floor. Rai tried to pull it out and Sonic kicked him in the side, sending him rolling over a few meters across the floor. Sonic then spin-dashed the stuck katana and destroyed it and he threw his katana away.

"Enough with the sword play, let's stick to hand to hand from now on." said Sonic, raising his fists.

"Suit yourself hedgehog." said Rai casually, getting back up to his feet.

The two charged at each other but Sonic got the first blow this time, kicking upwards at Rai and walloping his jaw. Rai stumbled backwards and Sonic kicked him again in the gut. Sonic then added insult to injury by kick slamming Rai's head and sending him falling down on his face. Rai tried to get back-up but Sonic spin-dashed him before he could get up. Sonic tried to spin-dash again but Rai smacked him away with his powerful arms. Rai leaped back onto his feet and then he dropkicked Sonic just as he was standing up straight. Sonic landed on the floor with a thump and Rai elbow slammed him while he was down to add insult to injury. Sonic gasped loudly as all the air in his body seemed to be escaping from him but Rai just laughed. Rai then picked Sonic up as if he was a rag-doll and he threw the hedgehog into the wall. Sonic was ready however and he bounced off the wall with his feet, sending himself hurling towards Rai fist first. The hedgehog successfully punched Rai directly in the nose, sending the lynx falling over. Sonic landed on the floor and he charged at Rai again but Rai was ready for him and he leaped out of the hedgehog's way. Sonic skidded to a halt and spin-dashed at Rai but the ninja lynx once again, smacked him away and sent him hurling into the ground. Sonic skidded to a halt and decided to let Rai try and attack him before doing anything. Rai tried to punch Sonic but Sonic beat him to it with an uppercut. Rai uppercut Sonic back and then he swiped Sonic away with his arm. Sonic lay on his side, trying to get back up. Rai ran towards him, ready to slam down on him but Sonic rolled onto his back, leaned back on his hands and sprung himself feet first into Rai's face. Rai was sent hurling backwards and before he could recover, Sonic spin-dashed him in the gut. Rai doubled over in pain and Sonic decided to be naughty and kick him in the backside. Rai fell onto his face and he rubbed his sore bottom. Conquering Storm did not seem pleased at all.

"Dàfēng Rai!" she yelled "Cease this idiotic display and get back in the battle! You know what happens if you lose!"

"Yes dear, I know what happens if I lose." said Rai, getting back to his feet "I shall double my efforts."

And it seemed he was willing to cheat in order to win this fight. He ran over to the wall, which had many weapons on display, and took a large, rock hard club that looked like it could cause some serious damage. Sonic spin-dashed towards Rai but Rai walloped him with the club and sent him hurling into the wall. Sonic groaned in pain and he slid slowly down to the floor.

"H-h-hey!" he spluttered "Wh-who says you get to use a w-weapon?"

"I do." said Rai "There are no rules in this duel except win."

"Really?" said Sonic "You guys aren't really rules people are you?"

"Shut up and face me with pride hedgehog!" boomed Rai.

He raised the club and prepared to smash Sonic into the ground with it but Sonic spin-dashed him and sent him falling over, causing him to drop the heavy club. Rai tried to pick it up but Sonic grabbed the club, threw it into the air and spin-dashed it into pieces so Rai couldn't use it. Rai got mad and he pulled a pair of nunchakus off the wall. He spun them around furiously. He began to do all sorts of arm twirls with the spinning nunchakus and Sonic spin-dashed towards him. Rai walloped him with the nunchakus but they didn't hurt Sonic anywhere near as much as the club. Sonic landed on his feet and charged at Rai. He slid between Rai's legs so he ended up behind the lynx then he jumped on his back and pulled on his ears. Rai yelped and made the foolish mistake of trying to hit Sonic with the nunchaku. Sonic leaped off him and Rai ended up hitting himself. A tremendous wave of pain swept over Rai and he grimaced. Nunchakus hurt a lot after all. Sonic spin-dashed Rai again and Rai swiped at him with his nunchakus, missing this time. Ruben was watching the whole thing with butterflies in his stomach and he kept silently begging to himself.

"Go Sonic! Go Sonic! Go Sonic!"

Sonic and Rai lunged at each other but they missed and Rai walloped Sonic in the back with the nunchakus. Sonic retaliated with a kick and the two attacked each other again…

Meanwhile, things had been going horribly for the Mobians. Zira was such a powerful kung-fu mistress and so fast that she was hard to hit and any attacks they launched on her, she just shrugged off as if they weren't even serious blows. Cream had been beaten to the point where she couldn't fight anymore so she was forced to forfeit and stay out of harm's way and Cheese without Cream wasn't very helpful so he forfeited too. Only Knuckles, Amy and Tails were managing to hold their own against the kung-fu mistress. Knuckles and Zira punched each other's fists and Amy tried to whack her with her hammer but Zira kicked backwards and hit her in the gut. Amy doubled over in severe pain and Zira then kneed Knuckles in the gut. Tails kicked her in the back of the head while he was flying and Zira swiped at him but she missed due to the fox's speed while flying. Knuckles gave Zira an uppercut that caused a small tooth to fall out of her mouth and then he gripped his fists together and slammed Zira in the stomach as hard as he could. Zira flew backwards and landed at the feet of Fong Zarr who seemed to be enjoying this match a lot.

"Forgive me mistress but I am not sure what to do." said Fong Zarr with a sneer "I mean, you needed us to take down Master Shan, do you need us to help you take down a bunch of kids?"

"Grrr! I've got this!" retorted Zira furiously "You stay out of this match and await my command!"

"Yes Ma'Am." said Fong Zarr in a sarcastically polite tone.

Zira charged back into the battle and landed a spitting cobra attack on Knuckles. Zira knew kung-fu moves with names after all and spitting cobra was only one of those attacks. She had plenty more ready to use. Tails flew into attack Zira but she turned around, made a circle with her finger and thumb and shouted. "Kung-fu gorilla flick!" and she flicked Tails straight in the nose. A normal flick can hurt but a kung-fu master's flick hurts even more and Tails felt more like he had been punched in the nose rather then flicked. He fell down onto the ground, clutching his nose and grimacing. Zira grinned evilly at Tails and then she used the spitting cobra attack on Tails just as he was standing back up. Tails found himself falling down again, groaning loudly. Amy tried to hammer Zira from behind but Zira just reached over her shoulder, grabbed Amy's hammer as it was coming for her and she tossed Amy onto the ground in front of her. Amy crashed face first and she groaned like a ghoul. Before Zira could do anything to Amy, Knuckles gave her an uppercut from behind and Zira fell forward in roly-poly and she landed on her back. Zira quickly got back to her feet but Knuckles punched the ground beneath his feet and caused some bits of rubble and earth to stick up. He then ripped the rubble out of the ground, leaving a hole in it, and tossed it towards Zira. Being a kung-fu mistress though, Zira ploughed through the rubble as if it was merely sand and she charged towards Knuckles. Knuckles gave her another uppercut to the chin that sent Zira hurling backwards in a rainbow arch. She landed on her back and came to a halt just millimetres away from the edge of the cliff. Zira groaned in pain and she sat up, rubbing her chin as Knuckles advanced on her.

"My…destiny…" grunted Zira.

Knuckles slammed his foot down on Zira's stomach, forcing her back down on her back. She stared straight up at Knuckles in an expression not often used by her. Fear. She looked very worried to say the least.

"My destiny…it cannot be trumped by mere children!" she wheezed.

"Well it just did." said Knuckles coldly "Now say your prayers Zira! This blow will knock you out cold and while you're out of it, the emperor can find a nice cell for you to rot in!"

He raised his fist high above his head. Zira stared up at it in fear. She awaited the killer blow as Knuckles prepared to strike. Knuckles roared loudly and he punched at Zira, his arm moving at the blink of an eye. But he didn't hit Zira like he hoped he would do. Zira had caught his fist in-between her hands and stopped him dead in his tracks! Tails and Amy were well and truly shocked. Knuckles had come so close to knocking Zira senseless and she stopped him! Zira then climbed back onto her feet, growling at Knuckles and still clutching his fist. Knuckles tried to wrench out of her grasp but she was too strong and she wouldn't let go of him. Zira then flash Knuckles a sick, twisted grin that made him shudder.

"How was it you put it echidna?" she sneered "While I'm out of it, the emperor can find a nice cell for me to rot in?"

She then threw Knuckles' arm to the left, causing Knuckles to stagger to the left and then she thumped him sharply on the right shoulder. Luckily, she hadn't broken anything but that thump hurt Knuckles an awful lot and he clenched his shoulder in pain. Zira then elbowed Knuckles in the stomach, then she kneed him in the stomach and to finish it off, she kicked him directly in the face. Knuckles hurled through the air and landed at the feet of Fong Zarr. The vile ninja thief kicked him away just to be cruel and to add insult to injury. Tails tail-whipped at Zira but she blocked the blow with her arm and grabbed Tails' twin tails. She then hurled the fox into a tree.

Tails hit the tree and slid slowly down to the ground, crying in pain. Amy then tried to hammer Zira but the leopard dodged her with no trouble and she leaped away. Amy kept trying to hit Zira but Zira kept dodging her blows with ease and then she dropkicked Amy in the head. Amy staggered backwards and Zira picked up her hammer, which Amy had dropped after getting kicked, and she tossed it away. Zira then charged at Amy and rammed her in the gut. That blow was so hard Amy ended up falling off the cliff and plunging down to the ground below! Tails was onto it and he flew after the falling Amy as fast as his tails would let him. While that was happening, Knuckles had managed to get back to his feet but he didn't have much strength left in him and he felt weak. Regardless, he knew he couldn't give up so he forced himself back into the battle. Zira saw Knuckles coming and she leaped into the air, spun around like a spinning top and landed behind Knuckles. Knuckles was too slow to react and Zira tripped him up with a swift kick to the legs. Knuckles landed on his back and Zira picked him up. She head butted him in the forehead and threw him into a tree. Knuckles landed on his front and he grunted in pain. Zira cackled in victory, pleased to see she had defeated her opponents but then suddenly, she was struck from behind by a hammer blow. It was Amy Rose being carried by Tails! Tails had caught Amy luckily and they managed to land a sneak attack on Zira. Zira got back to her feet but Amy walloped her again, harder this time, and Tails successfully landed a tail-whip to the face on Zira. Amy then walloped Zira before she had time to recover and sent the kung-fu leopard hurtling into a tree beside Cream. Cream cheered, pleased to see that Zira had presumably been defeated. But Zira wasn't down yet. She got back to her feet and she growled furiously at Tails and Amy. She then saw Cream the Rabbit, who cowered back in fright and she suddenly lunged at her. She grabbed Cream by the neck with both hands and Tails and Amy ran up to her. Cream screamed in terror and Cheese tried to help but Zira flicked him away. She turned her attention back to Tails and Amy.

"You mongrels dare come near me another inch and this child's neck gets broken like a teapot!" she snarled threateningly "I mean it! This is your only warning!"

"Amy! Help me! Please!" wailed Cream "Don't let this horrible woman kill me!"

"You let go of Cream or you'll be sorry!" screeched Amy.

"You let me and my ninja army go to the Pagoda of Prosperity and this rabbit child will live!" retorted Zira "I will not warn you again! You have ten seconds before I make the killer blow!"

"No!" squeaked Cream "Please!"

Zira ignored her and tightened her grip while counting down from ten.

"Ten…nine…eight…seven…six…"

Tails and Amy looked at each other desperately. They couldn't let Zira go but they couldn't let her kill Cream either. Then again, Sonic would probably be on his way back with the other ninja clan hopefully beside him to help defeat Zira so letting Zira go wouldn't be much of a problem.

"Five…four…three…two…" counted Zira.

"Stop!" cried Tails "We give in. You win just leave Cream alone!"

"Tails means it." said Amy, tossing her hammer on the ground as a sign of surrendering "We surrender."

Zira smiled like a witch and she threw Cream at Amy. The rabbit was in rainfalls of tears and she hugged Amy tightly.

"Oh Amy! That was so horrible! I thought I was going to-to-to…" sobbed Cream.

"Sssh, Sssh, Sssh, It's alright now Cream." said Amy gently, putting her arms around Cream "You're safe now."

"Not for long scrrrrubs!" growled Fong Zarr, unsheathing his twin katanas and wielding them menacingly "It's our turn to play now!"

The whole Yīnyǐng Mao advanced from the rope bridge and onto the cliff with their weapons ready. They were preparing to attack the defeated Mobians. They all hissed menacing cat hisses at the Mobians and Tails, Amy and Cream all backed up to each other fearfully.

"Shadow cats, tie them up." said Zira "That'll stop them from denying me my destiny."

"But mistress." protested Fong Zarr "Wouldn't it be better to kill the little brutes now so they can't bother us later?"

"It probably would." said Zira bluntly "OK then, tie them up and hang them over the edge of the cliff." she instructed "Make sure the rope is loose enough to un-knot and they'll plunge to their deaths. A fall of a cliff is a more honouree death for valiant fighters like them then simply killing them now."

"Yes Zira." said Fong Zarr.

So the Yīnyǐng Mao put all their weapons away and instead pulled out a bunch of thick ropes that would be difficult to snap. They pounced on Amy, Cream and Tails and they tied them tightly together with the rope. They even tied Cheese up with the three Mobians. The rope was wrapped around the three, keeping them tightly together and they tied up each of their legs too just to make double sure they were secure. Then four ninjas carried the tied up Tails, Amy and Cream over to the edge of the cliff and they tied a rope around a nearby stone but not very tightly. They lowered Tails, Amy and Cream down over the edge so now they were left dangling over the edge of the cliff. In a matter of moments, the loosely tied rope would unravel due to their combined weight and they would fall to their deaths. Zira cackled triumphantly. There was no way out for the Mobians, she had defeated them and now she could continue on to the Pagoda of Prosperity.

"Come on Yīnyǐng Mao!" she barked "Our destiny awaits us at the Pagoda of Prosperity! Let's go!"

"Rrrright behind you Zira dear." said Fong Zarr in a fake tone of loyalty.

Zira, Zarr and the ninjas all charged off at top speed, leaving the tied up Tails, Amy and Cream behind and dangling off the edge of the cliff. They hadn't tied up Knuckles though but they had forgotten about him and it didn't matter since Knuckles was too weak to get back up so Tails, Amy and Cream were still in peril. The three exchanged worrying glances as the rope slowly began to unwind.

"Tails! What are we gonna do?" cried Amy "We're going to fall and then we're going to die!"

"I dunno Amy." said Tails sadly "I can't fly us away since we're all tied together. There's no room for my tails to spin."

"What about you Cream?" asked Amy desperately "You can fly us away with your flappy little ears can't you?"

"I probably could Miss Rose but I might have trouble carrying the two of you with me." said Cream sadly "And even if I can manage, I might tire out before I can make it."

"Then we're doomed!" wailed Amy "I can't die now! I have a future with Sonic to look forward to before I die! Oh Sonic, where are you?"

It seemed as if all hope was lost for the Mobians as the rope continued to unwind, threatening to loose its grip and send Tails, Amy and Cream falling to their deaths…

Meanwhile, Sonic and Rai had spent the past few minutes playing cat and mouse with Sonic being the mouse and Rai being the cat inevitably. Rai kept trying to hit Sonic with his nunchakus but he kept missing since Sonic was too fast for him. Sonic couldn't run fast due to his slashed hip so he spin-dashed out of Rai's way instead and he hit Rai in the back of the head every time he dodged. This whole ordeal seemed to be fazing the lynx a little and his pursuit seemed to be slowing down. He was also growing tired after running around roaring and swinging nunchakus and getting spin-dashed in the head so many times. He tried to hit Sonic again, wheezing as he did so but he missed and Sonic spin-dashed him in the back of the head yet again. Rai fell onto his hands and knees and be began to pant heavily. Conquering Storm glared at Rai angrily.

"Rai, are you deliberately trying to disappoint me?" she snarled "Get back on your feet and beat that hedgehog if you want to live!"

"Yes…my master…" puffed Rai.

He forced himself back onto his feet and he prepared to attack. Sonic spin-dashed at Rai again but Rai saw him coming and whacked him away with his nunchaku, sending Sonic skidding across the floor. Rai was getting all the wiser about Sonic's tactics so he didn't chase the hedgehog down so he knew he couldn't catch him so he decided to just let Sonic come for him and then attack. Sonic spin-dashed at Rai again but Rai whacked him away again. Sonic skidded across the floor and he bent down in a battle ready stance. He was beginning to sense what Rai was up to so he decided to change tactics. He spin-dashed at Rai and Rai prepared to whack him with his nunchaku. But instead of spin-dashing Rai, Sonic spun over Rai and hit him in the back. Rai fell onto his stomach and he dropped his nunchakus. Sonic quickly scooped them up and he threw them away. Rai got mad and he tried to punch Sonic but Sonic leaped out of the way before he could get hit. Sonic then saw a spear mounted on the wall and he had an idea on how to win the match. He dodged yet another blow from Rai and he ran over to the wall. Rai sensed what Sonic was trying to do and he grabbed a shield that was mounted on the wall and threw it at Sonic. Sonic didn't see the shield coming in time and he got hit by it. Sonic staggered backwards and Rai let him have it in the face with both fists. Sonic was sent skidding across the floor and he rubbed his head tenderly. Rai charged up to Sonic again but Sonic kangaroo kicked him before the lynx could grab him and then Sonic jumped over Rai and kicked him in the back of the head. Rai fell forward and Sonic ran to the wall to get the spear. Sonic grabbed the spear and pointed it straight at Rai, who was charging up to Sonic. Rai stopped dead in his tracks and he sank down on his knees. He knew he couldn't do anything to Sonic without getting killed by the spear. Sonic kept the spear pointed directly at Rai's chest and Rai raised his arms in defeat.

"I concede. You win Sonic." said Rai.

Sonic smiled happily.

"Heh, well played Rai." said Sonic with a thumbs up at the lynx.

Rai just scowled at him. Ruben cheered happily.

"Yes! Sonic you did it!" he cried "Now the Raiju clan will help us defeat Zira!"

Sonic chuckled in a cocky tone and he gave a thumbs up to Ruben. Conquering Storm clapped her hands in sarcastic applause at Sonic.

"Bravo hero from the west." she applauded in a vapid tone "You have won the duel of honour now you may execute your opponent."

"What?" cried Sonic, rubbing the inside of his ear with his finger "Did I hear you wrong or did you just tell me to kill your own ninja?"

"In the Raiju clan, we fight to the death in a duel of honour." said Conquering Storm "The loser gets executed and since Rai has been defeated, you may do the honours hedgehog."

Sonic looked at Rai, the ninja's eyes full of fright as if he had accepted his fate but wasn't happy about it. He bent down and waited for Sonic to do the honours. Sonic just glared at Conquering Storm and he promptly broke the spear by slamming it on his thigh. Rai looked up, surprised at the fact Sonic had spared his life and Sonic threw the spear on the floor angrily. He marched up to Conquering Storm and pointed sharply at her, his face full of anger.

"You're sick if you think I'm gonna stoop down to your level Connie!" said Sonic crossly, pointing straight at Conquering Storm's face "I don't believe that people should die just for getting defeated by someone better then them in a fight! Everybody deserves a second chance at things and I think Rai deserves one for his valiant efforts!"

"Well said Sonic!" praised Ruben "For one so obstinate, you're such an honouree person Sonic!"

"Thanks Ruben." said Sonic, bowing.

"Silence!" yelled Conquering Storm.

Her voice echoed ominously around the room for a moment. The moment things quietened down, Conquering Storm spoke.

"Very well hedgehog I shall meet your amends." said Conquering Storm grimly, clearly not happy with her decisions "Rai will live but next time, I will not be so merciful." she said, glaring furiously at the defeated lynx.

"I will not fail you again master." said Rai loyally "I shall take extra training to ensure my victory next time."

Conquering Storm nodded and then turned to Sonic.

"Since you have won the duel hedgehog, we will join you in your quest to defeat Zira the Ruthless." said Conquering Storm "And I'm so glad I'll be joining in since I've been wanting to fight that vile woman for a long time."

"If that's the case then why didn't you join up with us immediately?" asked Ruben "Wouldn't that have been better?"

"Did you not hear me properly little boy?" snapped Conquering Storm "The Raiju clan only earns anything through might and strength! And through might and strength, you've earned our allegiance! Now enough of the stupid questions and let's go and stop this evil fiend from ransacking our country!"

"Sweet!" said Sonic happily "You don't waste any time do you lady?"

Conquering Storm ignored her and she, Rai and her hordes of Raiju ninjas all charged out of the throne room. Sonic and Ruben ran after her. Now Ruben had his water collar, he could use his water powers to keep up with Sonic. Sonic, Rube, Conquering Storm and the Raiju ninjas all ran out of the fortress and headed off for the village of Chun-Nan. Sonic prayed with all his might that they weren't too late…

The Duel for Chun Nan

Story 56: The Duel for Chun-Nan

Zira the Ruthless and the Yīnyǐng Mao clan had finally arrived at the Pagoda of Prosperity, their primary target. Emperor Dalon Tai and his daughter Princess Matilda had seen them coming from a good distance away and they retreated back into the pagoda and awaited for Zira to attack. Cosmo the Seedrian, who had stayed with them the whole time Sonic and the others had been out, sensed what was going on and stayed inside the pagoda with them. She looked out the window nervously and saw Zira and her gang of ninja cats marching up the hill and up towards the pagoda.

"Emperor, they're here." said Cosmo worriedly.

"They took longer then I expected." said Tai to himself "Maybe Tails, Knuckles, Amy and Cream are stronger then I imagined. Bladefeather's plan is nearing completion now."

"Will Bladefeather and Mushu be able to defeat Zira?" asked Matilda worriedly "They failed the last time so will they make it this time?"

"Hopefully, Zira will be worn out from her fight with Sonic's friends and not be in much of a fighting condition." said Tai "But from the looks of things…that doesn't seem likely."

"Where are Tails, Knuckles, Amy and Cream anyway?" asked Cosmo "They're not chasing after Zira and her gang. Did she…kill them?"

"If they don't show up after a while then we must assume the worst little one." said Tai in a sympathetic tone "I hope the fate of your friends isn't what it seems to be."

Cosmo had a strong feeling in her mind that her friends were still alive and were on their way to try and finish off the invincible kung-fu master.

Outside Zira and the Yīnyǐng Mao clan had reached the top of the hill but something stopped them dead in their tracks. Bladefeather the Falcon and Mushu the Iguana appeared from nowhere and stood in front of the pagoda defensively. Zira was rather surprised to see them but she didn't show it. She frowned at them and put her hands on her hips.

"Bladefeather! Mushu!" she growled "There you are! Why didn't you kidnap the princess as instructed?"

Bladefeather and Mushu ignored her.

"Answer me you disobedient dogs!" snarled Zira "Do you want me to break your necks you two?"

The two kung fu masters still ignored her. Bladefeather looked at Fong Zarr, the Yīnyǐng Mao clan's leader, who seemed to be grinning evilly behind Zira's back.

"Fong Zarr." said Bladefeather "Your well contrived and carefully formulated plan was a total success. The heroes of the west have joined us and they have slowed and tired Zira down to hopefully, give Sonic time to return and give us the advantage over her in battle."

"Excellent." said Fong Zarr wickedly, unsheathing his katanas and advancing away from Zira and onto Bladefeather's side "Now let's show Zira how "loyal" to her we truly are!"

The rest of the Yīnyǐng Mao clan joined Bladefeather and Fong Zarr's side and they all drew out their weapons and got ready to fight. Zira flinched angrily and she prepared to battle. She couldn't believe what was going on right now. Her entire army had betrayed her! How dare they? Well she would teach them a lesson or two! Bladefeather and Mushu lunged forward to strike the first blow and Zira prepared to strike back…

Things were getting more desperate by the second for Tails, Amy and Cream as the rope continued to slowly unwind due to the weight it was carrying over the edge of the cliff. Tails' mind had been racing for a way to get out of this situation but no matter how hard he thought, he couldn't think on how to get out of this desperate situation. The rope had almost fully unwound now. It literally had a few centimetres left and then Tails, Amy and Cream would fall to their doom. As the rope continued to unwind, Amy began panicking.

"Tails! We're gonna die!" she screeched "Please tell me you have an idea or something or we'll become a nasty stain at the bottom of this cliff!"

"Well our only hope is Knuckles." said Tails "We'd best call him before we fall."

Seeing as they had no other option, Tails, Amy and Cream all yelled at the top of their voices.

"Knuckles! Help us! We're going to fall!"

Knuckles, who had been weakened considerably from Zira's beatings earlier, heard them and he opened his eyes.

"Tails, Amy, Cream." he said to himself "They need help! Well I guess it's up to me since I'm the only one here."

Knuckles strained and grunted as he pushed himself up from his front and onto his knees. The desire to save his friends was bringing new strength to the echidna and he didn't really notice it. He then pushed himself up onto his feet and he staggered away from the tree. The rope had millimetres left before it unwound. Tails, Amy and Cream began to grow even more worried.

"Did Knuckles hear us?" asked Cream worriedly.

"I hope he did." said Amy.

"Hey Amy, Cream, if we don't make it out of here alive." said Tails in a tone suggesting he had accepted his fate "I want you two to know that you along with Sonic and Cosmo are the best friends I could ever ask for."

"Oh that's nice Tails." said Amy "Such a shame that those are gonna be our last words!"

The rope finally unwound from the rock and Tails, Amy and Cream began to plummet down from the cliff, screaming at the top of their lungs as they did so. Knuckles lunged forward but he was a fraction too late and he missed the rope. Knuckles peered over the cliff to see his friends falling to their deaths.

"NO!" cried Knuckles.

Then suddenly, Tails, Amy and Cream stopped falling much to Knuckles' bewilderment. They then slowly began to rise back up to the cliff top! In a desperate attempt to live, Cream had begun furiously flapping her ears and amazingly, she was managing to carry the weight of Amy and Tails back up to the cliff top. Cream was stronger then she looked after all. Unfortunately, she didn't look like she would be able to keep this up for long. Luckily for her, Cheese had managed to wriggle free from the ropes and he stepped in to help Cream by pulling on the long piece of rope that had kept them from falling until it untied. But even Cheese didn't seem to be able to keep this up for long. Cream and Cheese tried as hard as they could but their strength was quickly fading and they were only just level with the cliff top before their strength eventually gave way and they plummeted down once again. Knuckles was ready this time and he caught the rope before they could fall to their deaths. Knuckles almost fell off the cliff with them but he managed to hold on tight and he managed to stay on the cliff top as he pulled on the rope. Despite the beating he'd received from the fight with Zira earlier, he still had enough muscle in him to keep himself from falling off the cliff and he pulled with all his might on the rope. With a lot of pulling and a lot of effort, Knuckles managed to pull Tails, Amy and Cream back on to the cliff. Knuckles slumped down on his back and panted heavily. Then he untied Tails, Amy and Cream and threw the rope over the edge of the cliff.

"Thank you Knuckles!" cried Tails.

"You saved our lives!" cried Amy, hugging Knuckles without even realizing it "I can't believe how close to death we were until you saved us!"

"Well I wouldn't have done it if it wasn't for Cream and Cheese." said Knuckles "I missed the rope and you fell and if Cream and Cheese hadn't managed to fly you back to the cliff top, you'd be dead by now."

"So I guess we're heroes as well Cheese." said Cream, hugging her pet Chao happily "We helped Knuckles save our lives. What a wonderful feeling this is!"

"Chao!" cried Cheese happily.

"Now everybody's safe, we can get back to the village and stop that creep Zira and her cat gang from taking over the country." said Knuckles "Let's go! Time is of essence now!"

Nobody waited to be asked twice. Knuckles, Tails, Amy and Cream all ran off as fast they could into the bamboo forest and off to the village. He knew what chaos was going on at the village right now…

"Why is it easier getting from your place to the village then it is getting from the village to your place Connie?" asked Sonic as he, Ruben, Conquering Storm and her ninjas ran through the plains and on towards the village.

"Because you go through the challenges set up on the way to my fortress." explained Conquering Storm, running beside Sonic at swift ninja speed "And the challenges are there to see which travellers are mighty enough to meet the Raiju clan and which ones aren't."

"I see." said Sonic "And since me and Ruben trumped your challenges, you thought we were worthy of meeting you."

Sonic, Ruben, Conquering Storm and her ninjas had run the whole way back to the village of Chun-Nan. Since Sonic and Ruben had conquered Conquering Storm's challenges, they were disabled as they ran the way back to the village. It was amazing how the way to Conquering Storm's fortress felt really long and perilous but the way back to the village felt a lot shorter and quicker. Maybe it was because everybody knew where they were going and there were no challenges to be won.

In a matter of moments, everybody arrived at the village of Chun-Nan. Sonic's face brightened, he was glad to be back in the village once again.

"I never thought I'd be happy to see this village again." said Sonic "Good to see it's still in one piece. I guess I didn't miss much when I left."

"If the village is intact then Zira can't possibly be here now." said Conquering Storm to herself "Destruction follows her wherever she goes. Something isn't right here…"

"Well if Zira isn't here now then you can always wait for her." said Sonic "Yesterday, she said she'd be back tomorrow afternoon and it seems like the afternoon now so she'll be here any minute now."

"I think she's already here Sonic." said Ruben as everybody turned right and headed out the village and to the Pagoda of Prosperity "There's a fight going on up the hill."

"Really?" said Sonic "Sweet! We're just in time to wrap that fight up!"

So everybody ran towards the hill there the Pagoda of Prosperity stood proudly above Chun-Nan. Upon reaching the top of the hill though, Sonic and Ruben got a big surprise and Conquering Storm stared in interest at what was going on. What they were looking at was a huge fight outside the Pagoda of Prosperity. Zira the Ruthless was in battle with Bladefeather, Mushu, Fong Zarr and his entire clan and by some miracle, Zira appeared to be holding her own against the sheer number of foes she was in combat with. She gave Bladefeather an uppercut and growled loudly, showing her ferociously sharp teeth.

"TRAITORS!" she screamed at the top of her voice as she pile-dived Mushu in the stomach.

Bladefeather swiped his arms and sent waves of daggers hurtling towards Zira but Zira swiped her arm and smacked all the daggers away, not receiving so much as a cut. She charged at Bladefeather and gave the pompous falcon yet another uppercut.

"I took you two idiots out on my own!" she yelled, pushing Bladefeather away and punching Mushu in the face "Both of you! And yet you mutiny against me? ME? The great Zira the Ruthless, world's most powerful kung-fu master?"

Bladefeather gave Zira an uppercut and then he pinned her down onto the ground with his talons. He drew out a dagger and pointed it at Zira's throat.

"How can we be mutinying against you if we never were on your side to begin with?" sniffed Bladefeather "Our allegiance to you was nothing more then a pretence to save our necks and keep you in the dark about our true motives. Circumstances just forced us to drop the subtlety."

Zira growled and she scratched Bladefeather's leg with her claws. Bladefeather screamed and let go of Zira to rub his leg better. Zira grabbed Bladefeather by the robe and she tossed him onto the ground. Mushu tail-whipped Zira in the back. His tail felt more like a mace due to how hard it was. Zira got mad and she kicked backwards, hitting the silent iguana in the thigh and knocking him over.

"You idiots!" she growled "You should have joined me for real! That way I wouldn't have to kill you right now! And as for you Mushu!" she added, pointing at Mushu with a clawed finger "I already broke your voice box, don't make me have to break your neck as well! Stop this futile resistance and join me for real!"

Mushu's response was a head butt to the face. Zira yelled in pain and Mushu kicked upwards, knocking her backwards and into Fong Zarr. The black ninja cat seized her and forced her arm behind her back in an attempt to hurt her. Zira wrestled out of his grasp and elbowed him in the back of the head. She then forced Fong Zarr's arm behind his back and made him yelp.

"As for you!" she growled "I promise you riches beyond your wildest dreams and this is how you repay me? I thought you and your clan were thieves and bandits!"

"We are." said Fong Zarr dryly "But I am an intelligent ninja and I can tell between lies and truth tellers. I could tell from the moment you made the promise that you're lying to us. The moment we help you conquer Chun-Nan, you will kill us all and take the thrrrrone for yourself so I plotted death against you. The arrrrival of the heroes from the west and the alliances with Bladefeather and Mushu made it all the more easier for me to refute you."

"No wonder your clan is a sad sack of failure!" growled Zira, giving Fong Zarr's arm a sharp twist and making him yell again "You're vacuous and obstinate! Well those personality flaws are going to be your downfall Fong Zarr!"

"Heads up Zira!" yelled Sonic, spin-dashing at Zira and walloping her in the head.

Zira was sent hurling off Fong Zarr and landing on her back. Sonic and Ruben stood before the downed leopard with cock grins on their faces. Zira sat up, shook her head and growled at Sonic.

"So, the hero from the west returns to face me once again?" she snarled "Too bad I'll defeat you once again!"

"Yeah, yeah, whatever." scoffed Sonic "You stay put while I ask a few questions Sneer-a."

Sonic turned away from Zira and looked at Bladefeather, Mushu and the Yīnyǐng Mao clan who stood there in wonder. Zira tried to attack Sonic but Ruben squirted her with a jet of water and forced her back onto the ground.

"OK you three, what the flying chilli-dogs is going on?" asked Sonic "Why are you fighting Zira?"

"Allow me to plainly and simply explain the confusing matters of this mind-bending situation." said Bladefeather politely. "Me and Mushu are not villains, we were forced to swear fealty to Zira after she defeated us in combat but we did not approve of her abysmal and subversive life so we and Fong Zarr, who also didn't approve of Zira, plotted against her. We made an alliance with your friends and they fought Zira to slow her down and give you a chance to arrive back here with the supposed new ninja clan. Zira made it here unfortunately so we chose this very moment to strike a vigorous blow against her."

"So if I've got this right, you and Mushu are good guys and you're trying to stop Zira from taking over Chun-Nan?" asked Sonic.

"Correct." said Bladefeather "Fong Zarr isn't a good person though, he's just fighting her because he wants Chun-Nan for himself."

"And no one is stopping me!" growled Fong Zarr.

"If you say so." mocked Sonic "Now ladies and gentlemen, allow me to introduce you to the leader of the mighty Raiju clan and one me and Ruben have recruited to help us defeat Zira the Ruthless: Bride of the Conquering Storm!"

Conquering Storm, the ninja lynx in the coolie hat and heavy boots, stood forward with a straight face on and she stepped in front of Zira. She folded her arms and glared at Zira with her steely orange eyes. Bladefeather stared at Conquering Storm with interest and Mushu wolf whistled at her. He thought she was a pretty ninja. Zira got to her feet and looked down at Conquering Storm, the lynx looking up at her, unimpressed at Zira's height.

"Oh goodie, I need a fresh bag of meat to release my anger on." said Zira cruelly "So who are you peasant girl and why are you here?"

"I am the Bride of the Conquering Storm, leader of the mighty Raiju clan and I am your downfall." said Conquering Storm "I have heard everything about you Zira, how you destroyed a village, slaughtered three clans all at once and how you were exiled for it."

"Brilliant, you know everything about me child." said Zira sarcastically "Now can you kindly step down and go away while I conquer Chun-Nan?"

Conquering Storm refused to move. She stood with her feet apart and her arms by her side. Her eyes narrowed down into a steely glare at the kung-fu leopard that stood over her.

"I was asked to defeat and therefore, I shall not leave until you are defeated." said Conquering Storm flatly "I gave my word of honour and I am not about to go back on it. Prepare for a proper Raiju style beating Zira."

"Such big words coming from such a tiny warrior!" cackled Zira "Well I can do with some exercise before I eviscerate everybody so I'll fight this silly little ninja."

"I wager a duel of honour." said Conquering Storm "If I win, you go back into exile. If you win then you get to kill me, take control of my clan and on their word of honour, they will serve you faithfully and without question."

"Connie, don't!" cried Sonic "That's too risky a bet to wager!"

"Silence hedgehog!" snapped Conquering Storm "And kindly refrain from calling me Connie! My name is Conquering Storm, nothing less to you!"

Sonic said nothing more. Zira smiled at Conquering Storm.

"I accept." she said "OK then Conquering Storm, prepare to be a CONQUERED Storm!"

Zira lunged at Conquering Storm but the lynx caught her fist in her hand and threw her arm back. Zira staggered backwards and lunged at her with rapid strikes of the hand, her fingers were pointed forward and her claws were bared. Conquering Storm swiftly blocked every single blow she launched with her arms. Zira lunged at her furiously, striking with her fingers so fast that her arm become nothing more then a blur but the ninja lynx in the samurai outfit blocked every single blow with no effort at all. Sonic, Ruben, Bladefeather and Mushu were gobsmacked at Conquering Storm's great speed but DàfēngRai, Conquering Storm's star ninja, and the rest of the Raiju clan weren't shocked at all. They had seen Conquering Storm fight and they knew all about her speed and skill so this wasn't a new experience for them. Zira got mad at Conquering Storm and she tried to use a spitting cobra attack on her. She curled her fingers up in the shape of snake's fangs and she struck at Conquering Storm but the ninja lynx blocked the blow with one swift swipe of the arm and the she kicked Zira in the stomach. Any kick was bad enough but Conquering Storm's boots had metal reinforcements at the toe so her kick was even harder. Then Conquering Storm spun around in mid-air and double smacked Zira in the face, knocking her onto her back. Zira sprawled on the ground and growled. Conquering Storm then elbow-slammed Zira in the stomach, knocking the wind out of the leopard. Then, using her great strength, she picked Zira up with one arm and tossed her straight into the Pagoda of Prosperity. Zira crashed into the wall, leaving cracks in it and she landed sharply on the ground. Zira picked herself up and roared furiously.

"I'll tear off your head for that!" snarled Zira, clenching her fist.

"Pry I don't tear yours off first." scoffed Conquering Storm, showing no emotions on her face whatsoever.

Zira got mad and she charged at Conquering Storm at a terrific speed. Conquering Storm leaped straight over her and kicked the leopard in the back of the head, sending her crashing face first into the ground.

"For a kung-fu master, your fighting is very abysmal." taunted Conquering Storm, pulling on Zira's ponytail and punching the leopard in the back of the head "I thought you were mighty, powerful and deadly. To me, you seem to be all anger and no patience. You've been very poorly trained I can see." she added as she began to rub Zira's face into the dirt "No wonder ninjas are the supreme warriors, we're well trained and skilled in many traits over then just strength and speed."

"Nnnrrrrrrgggghhhh…SHUT UP!" screamed Zira, elbowing Conquering Storm directly in the eye.

Conquering Storm put a hand over her throbbing eye and she rubbed it to ease the pain away.

"Not only is your fighting appalling, your comebacks are abysmal as well." sneered Conquering Storm "I've heard better comebacks from ninjas-in-training."

"Enough with the insults!" retorted Zira "Let's continue this fight!"

Zira lunged at Conquering Storm and rapidly began to punch at her. Conquering Storm blocked every blow Zira threw it her but Zira was forcing her to back away slowly as she pressed her offensive. Conquering Storm slowly backed away, blocking every punch Zira threw at her as Zira advanced on her. Zira eventually stopped throwing punched and used the kung-fu gorilla flick move on Conquering Storm's face. Conquering Storm wasn't quick enough and she was flicked by the kung-fu leopard. Being a ninja however, she wasn't affected too much. Zira clawed at Conquering Storm but the ninja lynx dodged her blow and dropkicked her in the face. Then she yanked on Zira's ears, flipped herself up and over Zira's head, landed behind the leopard and then tossed Zira onto the ground in front of her. Zira tried to get back up but Conquering Storm charged at her and rammed her in the side. The two then tumbled and rolled on the ground whilst grappling with each other. Zira and Conquering Storm stopped rolling on the ground and they picked themselves up. They both punched at each other at rapid speeds, blocking each other's moves as they struck blows at each other. Zira roundhouse kicked Conquering Storm in the legs and tripped her up. She then punched Conquering Storm in the stomach and threw her into the wall of the Pagoda of Prosperity. Conquering Storm picked herself up and charged at Zira. She back flipped just as Zira lunged at her and she kicked the leopard in the face, sending her falling backwards. Conquering Storm then rapidly threw punches at Zira and hit her in several places. Sonic and Ruben couldn't believe their eyes at this fight and they were wondering how Conquering Storm was managing to hold her own against such a powerful kung-fu mistress.

"Wow! She's good!" complimented Sonic.

"Good?" scoffed Ruben "She's astounding! How is she holding her own against Zira? Three whole ninja clans were no match for her so how is Conquering Storm doing so well?"

"Allow me to educate you flaccid minded folk with the answers to this pressing question." said Bladefeather.

"OK then, tell us feather head." said Sonic.

"In martial arts, strength, speed and defence are the main traits needed to be vigorous." explained Bladefeather "Zira is all on strength and attack and little on speed and defence, I'm not saying that she is slow, I'm just saying she's more strong then fast. Conquering Storm however seems to have an aberrantly high level of speed at her side, suggesting she is more on speed then strength. Speed is greater then strength since it hurts more to strike swiftly then strike hard and you do more damage because if you strike swiftly, you can strike more times at once then you can with radiant strength. Not to mention, Conquering Storm seems to focus highly on blocking her opponent's moves before she herself attacks, suggesting she's more on defence then attack. If you have a good skill in defence, you'll be more likely to refute your opponent then you would with a miraculously vigorous level of attack power."

"Um…that makes sense I guess." said Sonic unsurely "Ruben, did anyone teach you that at all?"

"Yes." said Ruben "My mother, the Bride of the Gentle Waves taught me that it's better to be swift then powerful since being swift is a great power in it's own right."

"But I'm fast and powerful and Zira creamed me!" protested Sonic "Care to explain that?"

"No mere gamin, with or without super powers, can defeat a kung-fu master." explained Bladefeather "Only the meritorious and magnanimous kung-fu masters or ninja masters can refute another kung-fu master."

"I see." said Sonic "And since you, Mushu and Fong Zarr can't beat Zira that literally means Conquering Storm is our only hope. If she loses then Chun-Nan is done for!"

"Not necessarily buddy." said Ruben "If Conquering Storm gets defeated, her entire clan will join in the battle and then me, you, Bladefeather, Mushu and the Yīnyǐng Mao clan can join in. Not even Zira can take on such a huge number of fighters and our large numbers are bound to weaken her."

"I hope you're right Ruben." said Sonic, turning his head back to the fight between Zira and Conquering Storm.

Zira struck Conquering Storm in the face with a powerful chop move and then she tried to kick Conquering Storm in the shoulder but the ninja lynx defended herself with her arm. Zira kicked again but Conquering Storm grabbed her by the ankle and threw her leg upwards, causing Zira to lose balance and fall over. Conquering Storm tried to attack but Zira kangaroo kicked her away and leaped back onto her feet. She then spun around in mid-air and tried to double-smack Conquering Storm but she missed and Conquering Storm gave the leopard an uppercut. Zira landed sharply on her back and before she could get up, Conquering Storm kneed her in the gut and then elbow slammed her back into the ground. She then kicked Zira very hard. So hard in fact, Zira was sent rolling down the hill! Conquering Storm leaped into the air, somersaulted gracefully, and landed on the ground just as Zira stopped rolling. Zira got up onto her knees and then Conquering Storm kicked her in the face, causing her lip to bleed and the leopard felt a little shell-shocked due to how hard Conquering Storm's boots were. Conquering Storm tried to stomp on Zira but Zira rolled out of her way, grabbed the lynx by the ankle and tripped her up. Zira then elbow-slammed Conquering Storm in the gut, picked her up by one of her arms and threw her into the hill a bit further up. Conquering Storm recovered just in time to block Zira's next attack. She roundhouse kicked Zira in the legs, causing her to trip up and land on her back. Conquering Storm then picked Zira up by her uniform and threw her into the nearby stream and visitors had to hop across before reaching the hill top. Zira landed in the stream with a splash and water flew everywhere. The leopard tried to pick herself up but she couldn't find the strength to do so. Her head rested on a stepping stone while her body lay slumping in the gentle flowing water of the stream. Conquering Storm stood over Zira, smirking at her triumphantly. She slightly raised her coolie-hat, which had drooped down a little after all the fighting and she straightened out her bangs.

"Looks like the rumours on you being unstoppable were all lies." taunted Conquering Storm with a dry smile "You managed to kill three whole ninja clans and subjugate two kung-fu masters and a clan of mere thievery and yet you fall to a ninja clan that formed shortly after your exile. It's clear that I am the mightiest opponent.

After all, the Raiju clan ALWAYS wins in the end! We are mighty, we are strong and we are swift! Nothing can defeat the raw power of the Raiju clan! So Zira, now I have won the duel of honour, you will go back into exile and don't worry, I have no plans involving making your life miserable so you won't have to bother about me."

Zira pushed herself up onto her hands and knees and mumbled something quietly that Conquering Storm failed to hear properly. She bent down and smirked at Zira.

"What's that?" asked Conquering Storm "I didn't hear your words of defeat. Care to repeat them? Slowly and steadily so I get the pleasure of hearing each one of your despairing words?"

"You…will…not…" grunted Zira quietly. Then she lifted her head and raised her voice.

"…DENY ME MY DESTINY!" she screeched at the top of her voice.

She then leaped onto her feet and socked Conquering Storm directly in the face. The lynx was completely astounded by that swift attack and she was too shocked to strike back. Zira then began to punch Conquering Storm over and over, not giving Conquering Storm a chance to fight back and every punch she threw was harder then the last one. Then Zira gave Conquering Storm a very powerful blow with from her spitting cobra attack and Conquering Storm was sent hurling backwards and skidding across the ground on her back. She skidded to a halt and her coolie-hat fell off her head, revealing a flat, black hairstyle that extended to the back of her head. Her ears stood up straight because her hat had fallen off. At the top of the hill, Sonic, Ruben and the others were shocked at that sudden turn of events and Rai decided to do something to save his clan leader from Zira's wrath. Zira advanced on Conquering Storm, panting heavily and growling loudly. Conquering Storm cowered on the ground and she began to back away but Zira grabbed her by the neck. She hoisted Conquering Storm up to her height, the lynx squirming madly and trying to get free but Zira's grasp was too strong. She growled at Conquering Storm and gasped tiredly at her.

"You've been…a…worthy challenge Conquering…Storm…" she panted "But…now it's time…you joined…the deceased…now. Say hello…to…Master Shan for me…" she added with a twisted grin on her face.

She put her other hand on Conquering Storm's head but before she could make the killer blow, Rai punched Zira directly in the face, causing her to drop Conquering Storm and sending her falling onto her side.

"You will not execute my clan leader you kung-fu slime ball!" roared Rai.

He turned to Conquering Storm and offered a hand out to help her up onto her feet but Conquering Storm was a stubborn woman and she didn't accept help from anybody, nor did she show any gratitude to Rai for saving her life. She picked herself up and put her coolie-hat back onto her head.

"Thank you Rai." said Conquering Storm "Now let's finish her off shall we?"

"Whatever you say my dear." said Rai, cracking his knuckles.

Zira got back to her feet and she raised her hands, ready to fight. Then suddenly, Sonic and Ruben ran down the mountain and joined Conquering Storm and Rai. So did Bladefeather and Mushu and so did Fong Zarr, his clan and the Raiju ninjas. Zira found herself completely surrounded by ninjas, kung-fu masters and heroes from the west. Even though Zira was a very stubborn fighter, she herself knew that she couldn't beat such a huge number of people but she didn't show any signs of fear or surrender. Ruben stood forward and pointed at Zira.

"Zira the Ruthless." he said slowly "We are the mighty ocean and you are a small little island, we have vastly surrounded you and you are hopelessly outnumbered. Please do not resist us and surrender or things will get very graphic not just for you but for everybody."

Zira growled at Ruben but the water panther didn't fret, flinch or show any sign of fear. He stood there with his arms folded and a straight face on. Zira scoffed and glared at her opponents.

"I will not surrender!" she yelled "But I will not keep this fight up any longer! I will leave Chun-Nan and get a brand new army, an army that will obey my will and serve me like an empress! Then I will conquer Chun-Nan and make you all suffer for all the indignity you've ever caused me!"

She then leaped a graceful leap out of the circle of opponents and she landed a few feet away from them. Then she ran off as fast as she could run.

"Sonic! Get her!" ordered Ruben "She's too dangerous to run free! We must capture her!"

"Way ahead of you Ruben!" cried Sonic, running off after Zira at his trademark speed.

But by the time he caught up with Zira, he was met with a pleasant surprise. Tails, Amy, Knuckles and Cream had finally returned and Amy got the drop on Zira with one smack of the Piko-Piko hammer and Knuckles pinned Zira down before she could get away. Sonic skidded to a halt and beamed with joy.

"Tails! Amy! Knuckles! Cream!" he cried "Perfect timing you guys! Zira was about to escape!"

"Good to see you again Sonic." said Tails happily "And it's a good thing we made it in time to stop Zira from escaping or she would have escaped."

"She wouldn't have, not with Sonic the Hedgehog chasing her." boasted Sonic "I would have caught her in no time!"

Then suddenly, Zira threw Knuckles off of herself and she grabbed Tails by the neck. She hoisted Tails up to her height and she bared her claws at Sonic. Sonic wanted to attack but something told him that was a bad idea so he stood still and clenched his fists. Tails squirmed in Zira's grasp worriedly.

"Let go of Tails or I'm gonna make you sorry Zira!" yelled Sonic.

"You will let me escape or this boy will not leave to see another sunrise!" yelled Zira "I can't imagine his puny little neck will withstand a slash from claws as big as mine!"

Then suddenly, something prodded her from behind and her nervous system seized up and she froze as if she was blasted by liquid nitrogen. Then she dropped Tails onto the ground and she fainted. The person who prodded her was none other then Emperor Dalon Tai! He had sensed that enough was enough and the fight had to end now so he used his nerve paralyzing trick to bring Zira to a standstill. Sonic smiled at the emperor.

"Emperor Tai!" he said happily "Good timing! Tails was about to become Zira chow!"

"I watched the entire fight from within the safety of the pagoda and I sensed things were spiralling out of control so I had to end this fight before it got a very grisly ending." said Tai "Now I've paralyzed Zira, we can lock her away forever. She's too dangerous to roam free so I'll make sure she is placed under heavy lockdown and will never taste freedom again."

"Sweet!" said Sonic "Chun-Nan will never have to worry about Zira again!"

"That maybe true but they'll have us to worry about now!" yelled Fong Zarr, drawing out his katanas and pointing them at Sonic "Now it's my turn to make a move on the Pagoda of Prosperity! I will assassinate the emperor right now and the Yīnyǐng Mao clan will become rrrrulers of Chun-Nan!"

Zarr stood forward, ready to attack Tai but Mushu stood in front of the emperor and put his hands on his hips. Fong Zarr recoiled and gritted his teeth.

"What do you want scales?" he growled furiously.

Mushu didn't answer since he couldn't talk. Instead he marched up to Fong Zarr, grabbed the katanas by their blades and yanked them out of Zarr's hands. Iguanas have tough skin so Mushu wouldn't get cut by the blades. He threw the katanas away and stared coldly at the ninja cat that dared to attack the emperor. Fong Zarr got mad and he tried to punch Mushu but Mushu caught his fist in his hand and socked Zarr directly in the face, knocking the ninja cat out cold and sending him falling onto his back. Mushu dusted his hands off and stuck his tongue out at the Yīnyǐng Mao ninjas that watched with horror. Seeing as their clan leader had been knocked out, the Yīnyǐng Mao ninjas scooped him up and retreated faster then you could say "Big trouble in little China". Mushu smirked happily at the retreating cats.

"Masterfully done Mushu old friend." said Bladefeather, putting a feathered hand on the iguana's shoulder.

Mushu nodded and beamed with appreciation.

"So…I guess that's it now." said Sonic "We've won, the day is saved and everybody's happy now."

"I've just realized something!" exclaimed Ruben "The prophecy has been fulfilled!"

"What prophecy?" asked Conquering Storm with her arms folded "What are you prattling on about little one?"

"A fortune teller told Zira she would be defeated by a member of a clan and somebody else." explained Ruben "I guess the prophecy was referring to you and Emperor Tai. You defeated her in battle and Tai has subdued Zira now so the prophecy has been fulfilled!"

"But I didn't defeat Zira." noted Conquering Storm "She defeated me. Rai defeated her by taking her out and saving me from getting killed. Maybe Rai was the one the prophecy was talking about."

"That is the ultimate honour for me." said Rai "I saved my clan leader and fulfilled a prophecy foretold by a fortune teller. I really am the Raiju clan's star ninja!"

"It's a good thing Sonic convinced me to let you live." said Conquering Storm "Or I would have been dead in this fight. Well since Zira is now defeated, we will be going now."

"Farewell Conquering Storm." said Tai "And thank you for helping us defeat Zira."

Conquering Storm just marched past the emperor in a huff and stuck her nose in the air. The other Raiju ninjas followed her. Bladefeather turned to Mushu and whispered.

"Very callous isn't she?"

Mushu nodded in agreement. The moment the Raiju clan was out of earshot, Conquering Storm spoke to herself.

"Zira, the biggest threat to Chun-Nan has been defeated. Excellent. Now the Raiju clan has no threat to deal with, I will make my move and Chun-Nan will be mine…"

When Conquering Storm would strike was unknown for now but no one would be prepared for her clan's oncoming attack when she finally strikes. Zira maybe gone but that didn't mean Chun-Nan was going to be eternally peaceful, it meant Chun-Nan would have to brace itself for another attack, this time from a mightier enemy….

Later that day, Zira had been taken to a top-notch prison cell and placed under heavy lockdown so she was permanently out of action and Chun-Nan needed not to fear her anymore. The Raiju clan had left, the Yīnyǐng Mao had retreated and Sonic and friends were bidding farewell to the emperor and the princess of Chun-Nan. Emperor Tai, Princess Matilda, Bladefeather and Mushu all bowed down respectfully at the heroes from the west.

"We bid you farewell heroes of the west and we wish you a safe journey home." said Tai "We are eternally grateful for all you've done for this holy country and its peace-loving citizens."

"Don't mention it emperor." said Sonic "We're just doing what we do best. I hope Chun-Nan will be safe again and you will all have peace at long last."

"This country will claw its way out of relapse, don't worry heroic one." said Bladefeather "Chun-Nan will be at peace and if you all keep up your fighting, peace will return to all of Mobius and Dr. Eggman will be gone forever."

"I hope so Bladefeather." said Sonic.

"As for you Ruben." said Tai, pointing at the little water panther "I trust that you will fight well, not just for the Royal Fighters Service but for the people of Chun-Nan and for your long lost clan."

"I will emperor." said Ruben with a loyal salute "I will make my mother proud by fighting for Mobius until the end."

Tai smiled at Ruben.

"Your mother would have been very proud of you Ruben." said Tai gently "Very proud indeed."

Ruben smiled back and a warm feeling spread from his ears to his toes. He was so happy he squirted jets of water in faucet style out of his fingers and all over himself. Everybody laughed at that and then they gave one last bow to the emperor before turning to leave.

"See ya around Tai!" Sonic called to him "And good luck with your country!"

"Farewell heroes of the west." said Tai, waving to them "And good luck in your war with Dr. Eggman."

Sonic gave the emperor mongoose a thumbs up and he and his friends walked down the hill and left the emperor behind. Tai, Matilda, Bladefeather and Mushu all waved goodbye as Sonic and friends walked off and headed to the local village. As Tai watched the Mobians leave, he couldn't help but wonder what was going on in the other countries of Mobius right now…

"Aaaah." purred Rouge the Bat, infamous jewel thief and treasure hunter as she flew through the morning air (Time is different in Chun-Nan) "I love the smell of the mornings. Just the smell to put me in the mood for treasure hunting. And boy am I in a treasure hunting mood today. I wonder what I'm gonna find today?"

She gave off a sly chuckle just thinking about what gems she would hopefully find in her daily treasure hunt today. She flew low to the ground, keeping her keen eyes peeled for anything shiny and sparkly that could possibly be lurking around any corner. She wasn't flying for long though. She flew past a pile of rocks and her eyes caught a faint shine coming from behind the rocks.

"Oooooh, I'm a lucky girl." said Rouge in a delighted tone "I've found something already. I hope it's a big shiny ruby or something."

She flew over to the pile of rocks and she screw-kicked the pile into rubble, breaking the rocks away and revealing what was under them. Rouge's eyes widened in surprise.

"That's not a gem!" she exclaimed "But this is an interesting find nonetheless, I wonder what it is?"

What she had just found was a strange looking silver and red capsule and the capsule was closed tightly shut. Whatever was in it was bound to be something strange and mysterious and Rouge was curious to know what it was so she found the key pad and tapped a few keys on the pad. The capsule opened up and Rouge put her hands over her mouth at what was inside…

HOLY ST! WHAT IS THAT? OH MY GOD! I CAN'T WAIT FOR THE NEXT STORY! WHAT THE HELL'S GONNA HAPPEN? So Zira's defeated but it seems that there's something else going on now! Join me next time as a new saga begins... Reviews are welcome.

Shadow

Story 57: Shadow

The capsule Rouge had opened contained something way different from what she was expecting. She had expected an object of some kind to be in the capsule. Instead, there was a male Mobian hedgehog with black fur and red stripes on his quills, the sides of his eyes, arms and legs. The quills on the either side of the hedgehog's head pointed up instead of down like Sonic's and he had a white tuft on his chest. He wore white gloves with red and black at the wrist section, gold rings around his wrists and a pair of shoes with jets at the soles. The hedgehog was a peculiar sight for anybody and Rouge was taken aback by what she was looking at. The hedgehog didn't move or stir. It appeared to be in suspended animation. Rouge looked at the hedgehog in wonder.

"Well, I wasn't expecting that." she said "What the doozey is a capsule containing a sleeping hedgehog doing in the middle of nowhere?"

Then suddenly, the hedgehog's eyes opened, revealing his red eyes and he sat up in the capsule he lay in, causing Rouge to leap back in alarm. The hedgehog turned his head to his right, saw Rouge staring at him and his fiery red eyes narrowed into a burning death glare. Rouge grew nervous. Would the thing attack her?

"Who are you and where am I?" asked the hedgehog. His voice was deep and spine-chilling and Rouge shivered as he spoke.

"I think the more pressing question would be, who are you honey?" asked Rouge, narrowing her eyes to hide her fear.

"I am Shadow, Shadow the Hedgehog." the black hedgehog introduced, climbing out of the capsule he was lying in and standing before Rouge, who stepped back nervously "I am a genetic experiment created for one sole purpose."

"And what purpose would that be?" asked Rouge smoothly.

"I can't remember." said Shadow, putting a hand to his head as he thought about it "Nor can I remember who my creator is. In fact…" he paused as he continued to think "I don't remember anything other then my name and what I am. I must have lost my memory or something. Why can't I remember my creator and purpose? And why am I here? How did I even get here?"

Memory loss eh? thought Rouge with a coy smirk on her face as Shadow pondered to himself I can use this to my advantage. I'll trick this guy into thinking he's a treasure hunter like me and get him to help me on my treasure hunts!

"Hey Shadow boy, since you've forgotten your purpose, maybe I can give you one." Rouge said to the pondering black hedgehog.

"You?" sniffed Shadow "You can't give me a purpose! You know nothing of me, and you still haven't given me your name strange creature."

"OK, OK," said Rouge hastily "I am Rouge the Bat, treasure hunter and jewel thief. Happy now?"

"Bat?" thought Shadow "I've never heard of a bat before. What planet am I on?"

Wow, he doesn't even remember his own planet! thought Rouge He really has memory issues! But on second thoughts…maybe he's not even FROM this planet. That's maybe the reason why he seems to have no knowledge on bats or even the name of this planet. Does that mean he's an…alien? But he looks like he lives on Mobius. Are there aliens that look like Mobians? Or is there more to this Shadow person then meets the batty little eye…?

"You're on the planet Mobius honey." said Rouge "Does that ring any bells?"

"Mobius…" mused Shadow to himself.

Then suddenly he blanked out and stared into space. He began to hear a strange voice in his head. A voice he didn't remember and yet sounded so familiar to him in some way or another.

You will go to Mobius… the voice in his head said … and annihilate the entire Mobian race…

"Shadow?" asked Rouge "What's going on dark boy?"

Shadow snapped out of his daydream and he stopped hearing the voice in his head.

"Nothing." said Shadow "The name Mobius sounds familiar but I'm not sure why."

"I see." said Rouge "So Shadow, care to tell me what planet you're from?"

Before Shadow could answer her, a blaster cannon appeared from nowhere and pointed straight at Rouge and Shadow. Shadow flinched and bent down in a battle ready stance whereas Rouge stared up at the cannon in disbelief and prepared to fight.

"Don't any of you rats move or I'll blast you to slag!" bellowed the voice of none other then Dr. Eggman.

The cannon belonged to his Egg-Mobile which he was piloting and his snivelling sidekick Alonzo sat beside him. Eggman had decided to go looking for the seven Chaos Emeralds after Wilson, Mandy and the Chaotix made a mess of his city* so he could use them to destroy the Mobians with. He had picked up an energy signature from Shadow's capsule so he decided to investigate, thinking the signature belonged to a Chaos Emerald, only to find Rouge and Shadow standing there.

"Blast it all!" moaned Eggman "I find a Chaos Emerald and Sonic the Hedgehog and Rouge the Bat are there waiting for me!"

"Um…master." said Alonzo "That's not Sonic." he pointed to Shadow "And according to the radar, the energy signature belongs to that capsule buried in the rocks, not a Chaos Emerald."

Eggman looked at the radar and then he looked at the capsule. He groaned angrily and he put his laser cannon away.

"Stupid energy signatures tricking me!" he grumbled "I'm going to have to make a scanner that picks up only Chaos Emerald energy signatures!"

Shadow blanked out and began hearing voices again after Eggman said "Chaos Emerald energy". Those words boomed in his head and the voice spoke.

Once you possess a Chaos Emerald Shadow…you will be a master of Chaos Control…an unstoppable force that no mortal being can fathom…

Shadow snapped out of his gaze and turned his attention back to Dr. Eggman.

"Who are you and what do you want?" he demanded angrily.

"I am Dr. Eggman." Eggman introduced "The invader of Mobius and soon to be ruler of Mobius! Who are you?"

"I am Shadow, Shadow the Hedgehog." introduced Shadow "I am a genetic experiment with a lost purpose and some lost memories."

"Genetic experiment with lost memories eh?" said Dr. Eggman "Well this is an interesting find."

He then began thinking to himself. Was this genetic experiment a powerful one? And since he didn't know what his purpose was, would he willingly work for him? And would he be a worthy adversary for Sonic the Hedgehog? There was only one way to find that out…trick him of course.

"My dear Shadow the Hedgehog." said Dr. Eggman "You have a lost purpose no more."

"What are you talking about?" demanded Shadow in a untrustworthy tone.

"I am your creator Shadow." lied Dr. Eggman "I created your for the sole purpose of helping me destroy the Mobians and conquer Mobius. I lost you during an attack on Robotropolis and I came out here to find you and now I've found you, you can do your duty and help me eliminate the Mobians once and for all."

Alonzo gave Eggman a funny look. He didn't remember Eggman creating a Mobian. What was going on? Shadow had listened to Dr. Eggman's very convincing fib with interest and he thought for a moment. The idea of eliminating Mobians sounded a little familiar. Maybe that was his purpose? And Dr. Eggman did look like a scientist so maybe he was his creator? Shadow knew that he had no memories of his creator and purpose and since Eggman had claimed to be his creator, he had to believe him. He couldn't stand the thought of being created for nothing. He stepped forward and looked up at Dr. Eggman, who looked back at him with a big smile on his evil face.

"Are you telling me the truth?" asked Shadow coldly.

"I am indeed." said Dr. Eggman "I never lie, lies don't even cross my lips Shadow. Now come with me and we can begin our glorious conquest of Mobius."

Shadow, knowing that he had to trust Eggman until he got his memory back, stepped into the Egg-Mobile and sat next to Dr. Eggman. Alonzo scowled at Shadow and then he looked up at Dr. Eggman suspiciously. Why hadn't Eggman told him about Shadow before? Was Eggman keeping secrets from him? And why had Eggman created a Mobian? He was a robot lover! Eggman never creates flesh and blood creatures! Something was very suspicious about all this and Alonzo wanted to find out what. As for Rouge, she wasn't happy that Eggman had stolen her potential partner in crime so she stepped onto the Egg-Mobile and glared at Eggman.

"Hey fat boy." she said smoothly "I found Shadow first so the hedgehog is mine."

"I created him!" retorted Dr. Eggman "Shadow is mine! Go away you pesky bat!"

"Wait doctor." said Shadow "Rouge was the one who awakened me from that pod. Maybe she's on our side. Maybe she can help us eliminate these so-called Mobians."

"I hate to break it to you Shadow but I'm a treasure hunter, not a planet conqueror." said Rouge "I am not getting tangled up into this business. Bye, bye." she added, preparing to fly off.

"Hey Rouge." said Dr. Eggman, thinking fast "I have a deal."

"What deal would that be then baldy nose hair?" smirked Rouge.

Eggman resisted the urge to punch Rouge in the face.

"If you help me and Shadow conquer Mobius, I will give you my secret treasure." said Dr. Eggman "I have a secret horde of treasure hidden in my headquarters and if you help me and Shadow take over the world, I will give it to you."

"You will?" said Rouge, her eyes glittering with excitement.

"Every last gem will be yours." said Dr. Eggman with a smile on his face "And believe me when I say it is the biggest treasure you'll ever hold in your hand my dear."

Rouge thought for a moment. She knew Eggman was lying since he was not the kind of guy to have treasure but maybe she could use this alliance to her advantage. Maybe she could goad Shadow into ditching Eggman and joining her in some way or another while he wasn't looking. Rouge smiled a sly smile. She could not pass this opportunity up, it was much too good.

"Very well Eggman. You have a deal." said Rouge, holding her hand out for Eggman to shake "Consider me part of your team now."

"Excellent!" cried Eggman happily, shaking Rouge's hand "I'm so glad we've come to an agreement Rouge. So, now we've settled all this, let's get going! Our first target is Castle Acorn, the home of the Acorn family!"

"Why is that doctor?" asked Shadow curiously.

"If we eliminate the royals, we will destroy the Mobians faster." explained Dr. Eggman "Their spirits will be broken by the death of their rulers and they won't put much of an effort into fighting and therefore, we'll eliminate them faster. That's why."

"I see." said Shadow.

With that said, Dr. Eggman hit the button and the Egg-Mobile took off at a terrific speed. Eggman couldn't wait to see Shadow in action. He hoped Shadow would be a valuable ally. If not then this alliance was all for naught…

"…and one thing you must remember Tails when building a car is to install the sparkplugs in the engine." said fellow Royal Fighter Mandy Mouse to Sonic's sidekick Tails the twin-tailed fox "A car will not work without spark plugs."

"I see." said Tails "You know a lot about cars don't you Mandy?"

"Well when you own a car, you need to know the vehicle inside and out kid." said Mandy with pride "So when something goes wrong, you'll be prepared for it."

Sonic and friends had returned from their day-off in Chun-Nan to a nice quiet day in Mobotropolis. Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse had told Sonic all about their successful mission in Robotropolis and Sonic had told them all about him and his friend's adventure in Chun-Nan and how they defeated Zira the Ruthless. Since nothing was going on right now, Mandy had taken Tails to Royal HQ, the Royal Fighters Service headquarters located next-door to Castle Acorn, for car building lessons since she had promised to give him a tutorial sometime soon. Sonic, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Cosmo and Ruben had come along mainly because they wanted a tour of the headquarters. Sonic had been in Royal HQ so he led his friends on the tour. As for Tails and Mandy, Tails was enjoying the lessons Mandy was giving him and he felt like he was ready to build his first car.

"Just out of interest, what vehicles can you build?" asked Mandy.

"I can build a plane from scratch." said Tails "I've done so before but Metal Sonic destroyed it unfortunately. I haven't really had time to rebuild it."

"You've built a plane from scratch?" said Mandy in surprise "Now that is some skill you have Tails! I couldn't build a plane if my life depended on it. I can only build cars."

"Pity you weren't around to see the Tornado before it was destroyed." said Tails "You would have liked it."

"Yeah I bet I would." said Mandy, tightening a bolt in the engine of her hover car which she had used for the tutorials "I love planes, especially when they're flying. Planes are cool."

"Hopefully if I ever get to rebuild the Tornado I'll show it to you." said Tails.

"You're a lovely little boy, do you know that?" giggled Mandy as she finished tightening the bolt.

Tails went red in the face. He loved it when people commented on him like that. Mandy got up off her knees and closed the bonnet to her car. She wiped her sweaty forehead and sighed.

"There, he's all finished." said Mandy, admiring her handiwork with pride "Isn't he a beautiful boy Tails?"

"It's a very cool looking car." said Tails "I would love to try building a hover car someday."

"Well since I've given you tutorials, you maybe able to." said Mandy in a friendly tone "You're a technical genius according to Sonic so I'm sure a hover car won't be much trouble for you to build."

Then suddenly, the door to the lab opened up and Sonic stepped in with two Mobians standing behind him.

"Hey Tails and Mandy! Geoffrey and Bunnie are back!" he announced.

Tails and Mandy turned around and their faces brightened. There behind Sonic were Geoffrey St. John the Skunk and Bunnie Rabbot. Mandy ran over to Bunnie and Geoffrey and gave them a greeting hug and Tails said hello to them.

"It's so good to see you two again." said Mandy "How did Adabat go?"

"It was more then just a lay on the beach luv, believe me." said Geoffrey grimly, remembering the whole ordeal with Ravage Bloodfang he and Bunnie had just been through*.

"But we had a lovely time thanks." said Bunnie "How's things been since Wilson rescued you from Eggman?"

"Excellent Bunnie." said Mandy happily "I'm back on the battlefield and I gave Eggman some much needed payback for lying about my wellbeing."

"I'll say she did." said Sonic who was casually leaning in the doorway "She told me she literally punched Eggman in the face."

"Crikey!" cried Geoffrey "You really did that to him Mandy?"

"I did and I have no regrets." said Mandy "No one says I'm dead when I'm not and gets away with it. And no one makes a cheap copy of me and deceives my friends either."

"Well I say good on you luv." said Geoffrey "I'm kinda surprised Sonic hasn't done that yet." he added, smirking teasingly at the hedgehog behind him.

"I've come close though." said Sonic casually "And I've broken many of his robots, that's a lot more then simply punching his ugly face in."

Geoffrey chuckled at Sonic.

"So how have ya'll been sugah-hog?" asked Bunnie "Was Chun-Nan any good?"

"More then any good Bunnie." said Sonic "Chun-Nan is a way past cool country. It was more then just a simple visit to the country though. I had to stop an evil kung-fu mistress from taking over Chun-Nan."

"Oh mah stars!" said Bunnie "Did ya'll do it?"

"Nyah…sort of." said Sonic casually "I had to get some help though but me and my friends trumped that kung-fu mistress once and for all. She's been placed in heavy lockdown so we won't be seeing her ugly face anytime soon."

"That's good news." said Geoffrey "We've done a lot of good these past days, me and Bunnie save Adabat, you save Chun-Nan and Wilson and Mandy make a mess of Robotropolis. What good we've done lately. So, where are your mates Sonic?" asked Geoffrey.

"I was taking them on a tour of the place but I left them to greet you and Bunnie." explained Sonic "Wilson's taken over for me."

"I'm kinda amazed you haven't shown them Royal HQ before." said Geoffrey.

"Eh, didn't have the time." said Sonic, shrugging casually.

"So Tails, what are you and Mandy doin'?" asked Bunnie "Somethin' with cars?"

"Mandy was giving me tutorials on building cars in case I ever want to have a go at it." said Tails "I really like the lab Royal HQ has. I might set up some of my equipment from home here."

"You can use the lab whenever you like." said Mandy "Anyone who is a Royal Fighter is free to access Royal HQ anytime they wish."

"Really?" said Tails excitedly "Oh thank you Mandy!"

"You're welcome Tails." said Mandy with a kind smile "I think me and you are going to be good friends indeed."

Sonic smiled at his friends. It felt good to have such wonderful friends that were willing to stand by each other's side no matter the cost and form an unbreakable bond between them. In his conflicts with Eggman, the one advantage Sonic would always have is teamwork. Speaking of team, he began wondering where Wilson was taking the others right now.

As for Wilson, he had led Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Cosmo and Ruben onto the roof of Royal HQ. He was showing them the lookout turret, a structure on the top of the building shaped a little like a castle's turret. There was only a seat and a telescope on the turret.

"And this is where we look-out for any sign of danger." said Wilson, pointing at the turret "The telescope has a powerful lens and you can see all the way to Kingdom Valley through it."

"That sounds like a powerful telescope." said Amy Rose, Sonic's fan girl and hammer swinger "Who usually sits up here?"

"There isn't a specific person for look-out duties." said Wilson "We usually take turns and when Royal HQ is empty, Nicole, Sally's lady-in-waiting, is put in charge of Royal HQ and look-out duties. She's a very good look-out since she's managed to find many dangers in the past for us."

"Can I look through the telescope?" asked Cosmo the Seedrian, a being from another world and Tails' love interest.

"Of course." said Wilson "Maybe you would like to be our look-out for the moment." he added with a chuckle.

Cosmo climbed up the steps in the turret and she sat down in the seat. She peered through the powerful telescope and to her amazement; she could see very faraway, clear as crystal. She beamed with amazement.

"I can see very far with this." said Cosmo "This is an amazing telescope isn't it?"

"It is indeed." said Wilson.

"Can I have a go next Cosmo?" asked Cream politely.

"Sure." said Cosmo, beaming "You'll love the view you get through this Cream."

"I bet you can see very far on Angel Island can't you Knuckles?" asked Amy "I mean, an island that floats, you're bound to get a good view on that aren't you?"

"The view is one reason the echidnas of Angel Island don't want Angel Island to go back down." said Knuckles the Echidna, guardian of Angel Island and protector of the Master Emerald "The view is too spectacular for them to want to settle back down."

"An island that floats?" questioned Ruben the Water Panther "How is that possible? Are you echidnas magical or something?"

"No quite, the island is kept afloat by the Master Emerald." explained Knuckles "I myself never really understood how it does that but the echidnas are glad it does, otherwise Angel Island will have to go back down to the ground which they don't want, they've come too accustomed to life in the sky."

"Interesting." said Ruben "I myself would prefer life near a river but I bet life in the sky is a wonderful feeling."

Before Knuckles could say anything, Cosmo screamed in terror, making everybody jump in surprise. Cosmo had gotten up from the seat and she was staring into the telescope, frozen in terror and unable to move.

"Cosmo? What's wrong?" asked Cream worriedly "Is there danger incoming?"

Cosmo stopped looking in the telescope and she turned around to face everybody. Her face was pale and she was trembling all over like leaves being blown in the wind

"M-M-Marik!" she gasped hoarsely "M-M-Marik the M-Martian is c-c-coming! He's h-h-heading towards C-C-Castle A-c-corn!"

Everybody except Ruben gasped in horror or surprise. Ruben just pulled a face at Cosmo. He hadn't met Marik yet so he didn't know who he was.

"Oh no!" shrieked Cream, putting her hands to her face in fright.

"Marik the Martian?" shrieked Amy "Oh not that creepy sadist again!"

"Who the ocean waves is Marik the Martian?" asked Ruben with a confused expression on his face.

"A demon." gasped Cosmo "I'll explain later, we've got to stop Marik immediately!"

"Well any enemy of yours is an enemy of mine rosebud." said Ruben "I'll help you defeat this so-called Marik."

"Good." said Amy "I'm looking forward to seeing you kick his backside in."

"Before we do anything, we've got to warn Sonic." said Wilson "Let's get going now! Castle Acorn is at stake!"

Nobody waited to be asked twice, Wilson, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Cosmo and Ruben all ran to the door that lead down from the roof into Royal HQ and down the stairs to warn Sonic, Tails, Mandy, Bunnie and Geoffrey of Marik the Martian.

As for Marik, he was walking at a slow, steady stride, an action unusual for the war-loving Martian. He had a hideous scowl on his face and electricity crackled furiously around his metal claws as he walked through the grassy meadow and towards Castle Acorn. The very sight of Castle Acorn brought back some memories to the Martian, some happy and some that made him growl furiously. Marik had not been seen in action since the battle of Central City with Egg-Dragon, Eggman's Chaos Emerald powered machine. The reason for that is Marik had been in hiding since then. He had managed to fix his voltage compactor after it had malfunctioned and blown into bits so now he was back to full power and since he had waited for a while, he thought Sonic would be unprepared for him. Marik breathed in deeply and sighed a happy sigh.

"Aaaah…revenge, the best scent in the universe next to a rotting carcass of a dead soldier." said Marik casually "And the scent of revenge is strong because I am going to finish what I started on Castle Acorn as well as finish off that infernal hedgehog."

He held his robot hand up to his face and electricity crackled around his claws. He grinned a wide toothy grin that could make a dinosaur scream in terror.

"And since my voltage compactor is fixed and I'm all rested up from the fight in Central City, I am at my strongest and Sonic will never see me coming." he crowed to himself "Revenge on all who have opposed me is certain I can tell! Ha, ha, ha, ha…"

His laughing trailed off as he headed on to Castle Acorn.

Back in Royal HQ, Wilson and the others had run to the lab where Sonic, Geoffrey and Bunnie were chatting and Mandy was letting Tails sit in her car and see what it felt like. Everybody stopped what they were doing and they looked at the dog in wonder.

"Whoa Wilson bud, what's the matter?" asked Sonic, holding his hands out to slow the dog down "Is Eggman attacking?"

"Worse then that!" cried Wilson.

"Marik is coming and he's heading for Castle Acorn!" shrieked Cosmo "I saw him through the telescope on the roof!"

"No way!" cried Sonic "Marik's coming?"

"Of all the awful things to happen…" sighed Geoffrey angrily "And just when we were getting some peace!"

"Who's Marik?" asked Mandy "Some enemy I don't know about but you lot do?"

Wilson was about to retort to her until he realized that the Mandy that had experienced Marik on the Chaos Emerald hunt was the Automaton, not the real Mandy so she wouldn't know a thing about the Martian. Instead he decided to simply let Cosmo explain everything.

"You tell her Cosmo." said Wilson "You know more about Marik then me."

Cosmo stood forward and looked up at Mandy, who was waiting to hear about Marik.

"Marik is a demon from Mars." she explained "He's highly ruthless, extremely sadistic and very, very vengeful. He loves war and hates peace and he has a grudge on me, Sonic and anyone affiliated with him."

"Sheesh, that guy has problems." said Mandy "And I will be happy to sort those problems out for him. He maybe a peace hater but I'm not letting him take our peace away!"

"Then let's not waste anymore time and do it to it!" cried Sonic "We've got a Martian to stop!"

Everybody ran out of Royal HQ as fast as they could possibly run only to find that Marik the Martian was within a few feet of the still incomplete New Mobotropolis. Everybody ran through the under construction city and to where Marik was standing. Marik had seen them coming and he just stopped dead in his tracks, waiting for his enemies to come. He was clearly not impressed with what they were going to do now. Everybody stood side by side as if to make a defensive wall and Sonic, who was in the middle, pointed at Marik.

"Hold it right there Martian brains!" he yelled "You're invading royal grounds! Pack up your bags and go before I…"

"Look Sonic, if you're going to perform your usual vapid display of valour and heroism then don't bother!" growled Marik "It's so old and tiring I know what you're going to say to me!"

"Puh, pity your mommy didn't tell you it's rude to interrupt." snickered Sonic.

Marik resisted the urge to tear Sonic to pieces. He just remained eerily clam and didn't move from his spot.

"So what are you doing here you freak?" asked Tails, putting on a brave face even though secretly he was terrified of Marik.

"I would have thought the obviousness of my presence would be clear to you weak minded dweebs right now!" snorted Marik rudely "But since you're too stupid to guess, I'll have to tell you: I am here to get rid of Sally Acorn, take over Castle Acorn, become ruler of Mobius and turn the planet into a war zone that's what!"

"Marik, news flash: you already tried that." scoffed Sonic "Why would you try the same failed scheme again?"

"Because I've been out of action for a while I thought you would be unprepared for my return." explained Marik "Unfortunately, you were prepared for my return so before I can accelerate my plans, I am going to have to rip you all apart! And I see you have a new face on your team." he added, pointing a clawed metal finger at Ruben who just frowned at him "Too bad he has the humiliation of being the colour blue. I hate the colour blue!" he growled, tensing up "Blue symbolizes peace and I so despise peace!"

"If you hate peace so much then why are you trying to stop us having peace?" asked Ruben furiously "What we do is none of your business so why should you stop us from having what we want just because you don't like it?"

"I am not stopping anybody from having peace." snapped Marik "We Martians are trying to get the idiots of the other planets in the galaxy to see that peace is a pathetic, idiotic thing to crave for and it's better to be a war lover! We're only doing the universe a favour by telling everybody the truth but sadly, nobody agrees with us so we have to smash them to bits to teach them a lesson for saying no to us!"

"The reason everybody says no to you Marik is because you're wrong!" said Cosmo bravely "Peace is not a bad thing at all, being a war lover is! If you keep up your war loving ways, you are eventually going to get yourself killed! So please leave Mobius and leave it's people alone or my friends will have to handle you very roughly."

"I will not take orders from scum like you Cosmo the seed-vermin!" roared Marik, baring his claws and clenching his teeth "You Seedrians are morons to take on us Martians and you're even more vacuous for craving peace! I will not leave Mobius until I wreck the place and make you all pay for the indignity you've caused me!"

"Then what are you waiting for jerk-bag?" sneered Sonic "Let's go! Prepare for a hedgehog style thrashing courtesy of Sonic the Hedgehog, soon to be your butt-kicker."

"If you're so desperate to die then I accept." said Marik dryly "I'll show you a proper Martian style beating!"

"Nobody will be doing anything!" bellowed a voice that Sonic was sick of hearing.

Sonic and Marik and everybody else turned their heads to see Dr. Eggman in his Egg-Mobile with Shadow the Hedgehog and Rouge the Bat by his side. Shadow hopped off the Egg-Mobile and looked at the Mobians and Martian. Everybody just stared in wonder at what Eggman had just brought with him.

"Who are they doctor?" asked Shadow.

"Our mortal enemies Shadow." said Dr. Eggman "These Mobians do their best to wreck my plans and make sure I do not conquer Mobius. My biggest threat is that blue hedgehog in the red sneakers, Sonic the Hedgehog. You must destroy him more then the others Shadow."

Shadow nodded and he stared at Sonic with his fiery red eyes. Sonic just stared back with a cocky smirk on his face.

"So who are you tall, dark and spiny?" asked Sonic.

"I am Shadow, Shadow the Hedgehog." introduced Shadow "I am a genetic experiment created by Dr. Eggman to destroy you Mobians and help him conquer Mobius."

"Genetic experiment?" questioned Tails "I didn't know Eggman made live beings as well as robots."

"He's a scientist, he can make whatever he wants mate." said Geoffrey in an unimpressed tone while shrugging.

"You wanna destroy us Mobians and help Eggman conquer Mobius?" said Sonic "That's nice but I have this big problem with people who try to destroy me, my friends and everybody else and conquer my home planet so I'm afraid I'm going to have to stomp on you faker."

"Faker?" snarled Shadow "You dare to call me a fake? I am over fifty years old so I existed way before you did so you're the faker, faker!"

That little information surprised Eggman. Shadow was fifty years old? He certainly didn't look fifty! Who on Earth created him then?

"Wow, you're doing well for a guy who's fifty years old." sneered Sonic "You look about my age."

"That's because I am ageless." said Shadow "I do not physically age and my age can only be calculated by how long ago I was created. That in turn makes me…the ultimate life form."

That fact interested Eggman even more. An immortal experiment that never ages? Excellent! So when he conquers Mobius, Shadow will be able to take over from him when he dies and he'll always be around to rule Mobius in his name! Brilliant! Looks like Shadow was worth the goading and lying to after all!

"Ultimate life form huh? We'll see about that." said Sonic, preparing to fight.

Suddenly, before anyone could fight, Marik punched Sonic away and sent him hurling into Knuckles.

"I am not letting you weaklings mess this up!" snarled Marik "I will take the liberties of destroying Shadow for you since I cannot rely on you Mobians to do anything right!"

"Oooh what a cheeky little scumbag!" grumbled Mandy, clenching her fists "I wanna punch HIM in the face now!"

"Well that will have to wait Mandy, Marik's doing us a favour for a change." said Sonic "Let's see how he does."

Marik stepped forward and glared directly into Shadow's red eyes. Marik liked the colour red, especially since it symbolizes hell, blood and fire but since Shadow was an enemy, he had to fight him and ignore the fact he had red eyes.

"Who are you then?" asked Shadow coldly.

"I am Marik the Martian, invader from Mars and I am turning Mobius into a war zone!" he claimed to the black hedgehog "I am not letting you and your oaf of a master ruin my plans by taking over Mobius for me!"

"Is that so?" sneered Shadow "Well, I beg to differ! Me and you shall duel. Winner conquers Mobius and destroys the Mobians. Do you accept Martian?"

"I accept with all haste!" yelled Marik "Prepare to die you cheap Sonic copy!"

That did it. Shadow spun into a black and red spiny ball and he charged straight at Marik in a spin-dash. He hit the Martian directly in the stomach and sent him hurling over eighty meters. Marik was completely shocked by the sheer power behind that spin-dash and after landing rather sharply on the ground and skidding to a halt, he just lay there and stared up at the sky, unable to move. Everybody gasped in surprise.

"Whoa! That is one powerful spin-dash!" shrieked Tails.

"That Shadow guy makes you look like a wuss Sonic!" teased Knuckles.

"Ha, ha, ha, very funny mister funny echidna." sniffed Sonic sarcastically.

Shadow dusted his hands off and smirked cockily.

"That wasn't too hard." he said "Now to take on the blue faker and his kindergarten group."

But Shadow should have known better then to claim victory without being absolutely certain he is victorious first. Shadow began advancing slowly on Sonic and friends but Marik appeared from nowhere and pounced on him. Marik had recovered and he was determined to make Shadow pay for that spin-dash. Marik pinned Shadow down to the ground and began to violently slash Shadow across his face with his metal claws. But after about three slashes, Shadow teleported out from underneath Marik, much to the

Martian's bewilderment. Shadow re-appeared behind Marik and dropkicked him, knocking the Martian's helmet off. Marik quickly put the helmet back on before anyone could see his horrible cranium and he got back to his feet. Marik roared loudly and launched punches at Shadow. Shadow threw punches back and the two fighters punched each other in several places while moving incredibly fast. Eggman, Alonzo and Rouge were impressed with Shadow's performance so far. For a fifty year old experiment that had been in a pod for goodness knows how long, his fighting skills were top-notch as if he had been fighting for ages. Marik gave Shadow an upper-cut to the chin and Shadow hurtled through the air but before Shadow could hit the ground, Marik grabbed his foot and slammed him down on the ground as hard as he could. Then he threw Shadow away and electrocuted him with his metal hand as Shadow hurtled through the air. Shadow landed painfully on the ground and rolled for a moment before stopping. Marik activated his jet shoes and hurtled towards Shadow but before he could reach him, Shadow swiped his arm and sent a few yellow arrow shaped beams hurling towards Marik while yelling "Chaos Spear!". The Chaos Spears hit Marik in the face and the Martian tripped over and landed on his face. Shadow got to his feet, ran over to Marik and grabbed him by the jacket before he could recover. Then Shadow gave Marik an uppercut of his own and sent Marik hurling about fifty feet through the air. Marik landed on his back and grumbled in pain as pain surged through his back like an electrical current. Marik picked himself up only to get spin-dashed by Shadow. Marik landed back on his back and he began to wonder how the hedgehog moved so fast. Shadow charged towards Marik and Marik sent a jolt of electricity crackling towards Shadow. Shadow teleported and re-appeared about an extra four feet ahead and continued charging. As he ran, Shadow skated as if he was on ice and his shoes were ice skates. It was due to his jet shoes giving him the ability to run fast and allow him to slide across the ground as if it was ice. Marik kept trying to shock Shadow but Shadow kept teleporting out of his way and re-appearing a few extra feet ahead before he could get hit. Shadow swiped his arm and sent more Chaos Spears hurling into Marik's face. Marik staggered backwards and before he could regain his vision, Shadow punched Marik directly in the face, causing Marik to spit out some drops of saliva and fall onto his side. Shadow tried to attack again but Marik swiped his arm at him and hit him with an energy wave. Shadow staggered backwards and Marik punched him before he could regain his senses. Marik began to punch Shadow furiously and quickly, desperate to make sure he couldn't attack back. Shadow however, teleported again and re-appeared behind Marik. He took Marik's legs out from underneath him with one swift kick and Marik fell onto his stomach. Shadow grabbed Marik's leg and tossed him away. Marik landed in front of Sonic and just to add insult to injury, Sonic decided to kick him in the head and then toss him back to Shadow. Shadow spin-dashed Marik before he could hit the ground and the Martian landed on his back. Marik picked himself up and swiped his arm at Shadow, sending an energy wave hurling towards him but Shadow blocked it with a Chaos Spear and then he spin-dashed Marik again. Marik skidded backwards and Shadow gave the Martian an uppercut the sent him hurling twenty feet into the air and crashing down a good distance away. Marik groaned and lay defeated on the ground. Shadow ran up to Marik and stood over his defeat opponent. Marik couldn't believe his bad luck. His plans were interrupted and he had just gotten defeated by a genetic Mobian experiment.

"Beaten…by an…experiment!" he grumbled "How…humiliating…!"

"Serves you right for daring to challenge the ultimate life form." boasted Shadow "I remember a few things from my creation, my creator designed me to be perfect and perfect I am! I don't age and I am the most powerful being in the known galaxy!"

"I…am going to…prove you…wrong!" roared Marik.

He tried to punch Shadow but Shadow grabbed the Martian's arm and squeezed it. He then grabbed Marik's arm with his other hand and…

CRACK!

Marik screamed in pain as his arm felt limp and flopped down by his side. Shadow had broken it. Now Marik would never defeat Shadow. Shadow then decided to knee Marik in the gut to finish him off. Marik landed on his back and passed out. The Martian was defeated at last. Shadow turned away from the defeated Martian and walked back over to Sonic and friends. Dr. Eggman and Rouge looked at each other in amazement.

"Well Shadow takes no prisoners doesn't he?" said Rouge "He just broke the Martian's arm and knocked him out."

"It's a good thing I managed to get Shadow to join me after all isn't it?" asked Dr. Eggman, grinning widely "He's going to do me a lot of good in my glorious conquest isn't he?"

Sonic and friends were amazed at what happened to Marik and they began to grow nervous as Shadow approached them with a villainous scowl on his face.

"What are we gonna do Sonic?" asked Tails worriedly.

"I say we should all take him on at once." said Sonic "He can't possibly match all of us. Bunnie, you start and then I'll attack and then everybody else join in."

"OK sugah-hog!" said Bunnie, running up to Shadow the Hedgehog at top speed.

Shadow just stood there and waited for Bunnie to attack him. Bunnie drew her robotic left arm back and punched at Shadow, her fist extended so she could keep her distance but still attack. Shadow dodged the attack and threw some Chaos Spears at Bunnie but Bunnie dodged the spears and punched at Shadow again, this time hitting him. Shadow was slightly taken aback at such a powerful punch but that didn't stop him from getting back onto his feet and getting ready to attack. Bunnie and Shadow stood their ground and stared daggers at each other, preparing to lunch the first attack. Then suddenly, Sonic spin-dashed Shadow from behind and knocked him over. Bunnie ran up to Shadow and grabbed him with her robot arm. Shadow squirmed in her grasp and Bunnie flew into the air with her metal jet feet. Bunnie flew about twenty-five feet in the air and threw Shadow straight down into the ground as hard as she could. Shadow crashed on the ground and groaned in pain. Shadow tried to get back up but Sonic spin-dashed him again, knocking him over.

"Everybody, attack and don't give him chance to fight back!" yelled

Sonic.

Everybody ran in on the offensive as Shadow was picking himself up. Bunnie flew towards Shadow and punched the black hedgehog with her robot arm again and Shadow staggered before falling on his hands and knees. Geoffrey and Knuckles reached Shadow first and they launched the first attacks. Knuckles threw one of his famous punches and Geoffrey threw his own punches too. Shadow teleported before the skunk and echidna could attack him again and he reappeared behind Geoffrey. Geoffrey threw himself down on his hands and knees to dodge Shadow's attack and he kicked backwards like a bucking horse to knock the hedgehog over. Knuckles tried to attack but Shadow teleported again, reappeared behind Knuckles and kicked him in the back of the head. Geoffrey tried to help but Shadow flipped behind Geoffrey and pile-dived him. Bunnie and Sonic then stepped in to try and attack Shadow but Shadow threw some Chaos Spears at them and Sonic and Bunnie were both struck. Tails flew towards Shadow but Shadow just smacked him and sent him crashing into the ground. Ruben dropkicked Shadow in the head and then gave him a kung-fu style chop to the back with his hand. Shadow threw some Chaos Spears at Ruben but Ruben blocked it with a wall of water and he threw a spinning water ball at Shadow. Shadow was stricken in the eye and he tumbled onto his side. Shadow picked himself up only to get elbowed on the head by Mandy. Shadow elbowed Mandy in the side, grabbed her head and head-butted her directly in the forehead. Mandy felt dazed and she grabbed her throbbing head. Wilson round-house kicked Shadow in the legs, tripping him up and Amy whacked Shadow in the back with her Piko-Piko hammer. Shadow got back to his feet and dropkicked Amy. Wilson tried to attack again but Shadow grabbed Wilson by his jaw and he tossed him into Amy. Cream threw her pet Chao Cheese at Shadow like a baseball but Shadow smacked Cheese away, sending the Chao crashing into the dirt and he spin-dashed Cream out of the sky. Tails got the drop on Shadow by striking him from behind but Shadow quickly retaliated with a punch to the cheek with the side of his fist. Tails landed on his feet but Shadow spin-dashed him on to his back. Sonic spin-dashed Shadow and the two spin-dashing hedgehogs bounced off each other. They landed on their feet and charged at each other in another spin-dash. Shadow overpowered Sonic and sent him crashing into the ground. Bunnie gave Shadow an uppercut from behind and Geoffrey uppercut Shadow from the front. Shadow threw some Chaos Spears at Bunnie and Geoffrey and both fighters were hit in the shoulder and side respectively. Shadow then grabbed Bunnie and Geoffrey's heads and bashed them together, causing them to slump on the ground a pained daze. Ruben let Shadow have it with a jet of water and Shadow was knocked off his feet. Shadow quickly recovered and ran up to Ruben at top speed. Ruben tried to jump out of the way with his water powers but Shadow was a fraction too quick and he spin-dashed him just as he was getting off the ground. Cosmo decided to distract Shadow by picking up some reasonably sized pebbles and throwing them at him. The pebbles hit Shadow and he turned around to see who was throwing them at him. He glared at Cosmo and advanced on her menacingly. Cosmo backed away, shaking but trying not to look too scared. Now Shadow's attention was diverted, Sonic spin-dashed him from behind and knocked him onto his stomach. Shadow picked himself up only to get spin-dashed in the gut by Sonic. Knuckles then pile-dived Shadow and threw him into Wilson, who was waiting for him. Wilson caught Shadow and threw him into Amy who hammered him as if he was a baseball and Shadow landed on his head. Shadow picked himself up just as Amy was running up to him with her hammer ready and he gave Amy a massive uppercut to the nose. That attack hurt Amy so much, she felt like her nose had been ripped off. Amy landed on her back and clutched her nose painfully. Sonic spin-dashed towards Shadow until suddenly, Rouge the Bat appeared from nowhere and screw-kicked him into the ground. Sonic spat out bits of grass and glared at Rouge who stood over him with a coy smirk on her sexy face.

"So what made you suddenly decide to turn traitor?" demanded Sonic angrily.

"Well there's the promise of getting Eggman's secret treasure and the fact I have taken a liking to Shadow boy." explained Rouge "Sorry hotshot but I'm with Eggman now."

"I didn't ask for your help Rouge!" growled Shadow "I can take these morons myself!"

"News flash shadow boy: you can't." noted Rouge "These guys are creaming you right now so you need me to provide some extra punch."

"I do not need help!" snapped Shadow "Now stay out of this! This is my fight and I will win it whether you wanna help or not!"

"Fine, fine." said Rouge crossly "Sheesh, you need to chill out for a moment!"

Shadow shot Rouge a death glare and continued his fight. He and Sonic spin-dashed each other again and bounced off of each other. They did this four times until Shadow finally over powered Sonic and ground him into the dirt. Tails tried to attack but Shadow punched him away and shot a Chaos Spear at an oncoming Knuckles. Knuckles dodged the spear and Shadow spin-dashed at the echidna. Knuckles held his hands up and caught Shadow while he was in spin-dash. Shadow pushed Knuckles back a little but Knuckles managed to overpower Knuckles and throw him away. Shadow hurtled accidentally into Eggman's Egg-Mobile and destroyed it. Eggman and Alonzo fell onto their backs and the Egg-Mobile lay in pieces around them. Shadow picked himself up and spin-dashed back towards Knuckles, only to get punched away by Bunnie Rabbot. Geoffrey loaded his crossbow and fired a dart at Shadow. The dart skimmed Shadow across the shoulder but it didn't hurt him too much. Amy and Cream tried to attack Shadow together but Shadow leaped out of their way, causing them to crash into each other. They both fell over each other and onto the ground. Shadow spin-dashed towards them only to get blocked by Sonic. Shadow spin-dashed again and knocked Sonic over onto his back. Mandy came in and kneed Shadow in the gut as hard as she possibly could. Shadow kicked her in the thigh and tried to punch her but Mandy blocked his punch and punched him in the face just as hard as she had punched Eggman in the face. Shadow staggered backwards and swiped his arm. Five Chaos Spears hurtled towards Mandy but she bent over backwards to dodge them. Wilson appeared from behind, clasped his hands together and fisted Shadow in the back of the head, knocking the hedgehog over and he tried to do it again but Shadow teleported, reappeared behind him and pile-dived him. Mandy kicked at him but missed and Shadow gave her an uppercut to the side of her head. Mandy rubbed her head in pain and grimaced. Shadow tried to attack the mouse and dog but Knuckles attacked him from behind with his spiked fists and knocked him over. Shadow picked himself up only to get blasted by Bunnie's arm cannon and spin-dashed by Sonic. Shadow landed on the ground and groaned. He got up on his hands and knees and glared at his enemies who all stood triumphant over him. Sonic looked down at Shadow with a cocky smirk on his face.

"Heh. We win, what a surprise." he sneered "So Shadow, are you gonna get lost and leave Mobius alone?"

"Never!" yelled Shadow, getting to his feet "This match isn't over faker! Especially since I haven't removed my inhibitor rings yet!"

He put his hand around the ring on his wrist and unclamped it. The ring fell onto the ground with a clatter. Shadow then unclamped the other ring on his other wrist and that ring fell to the ground with a clatter. Shadow becomes a very dangerous opponent when his rings are removed. Shadow tensed up, he clenched his fists, gritted his teeth and his whole body began to glow red. Sonic sensed this was something bad and he flinched.

"Everybody! Back!" he yelled "Shadow's gonna…"

"Chaos… BLAAAASSSSSSTTTTT! " bellowed Shadow as he unleashed all the energy he had.

A huge red energy blast came from nowhere and blew everybody away. Sonic and his friends hurled through the air like rag-dolls and they came down harder then falling stones. That blast was very powerful and it had done a lot of damage to Sonic and friends. They lay on the ground unable to move or get back up. Marik the Martian, who had come around from his beating had watched the whole thing and decided now was a good time to retreat since he couldn't fight with a broken arm. Marik fled and disappeared into the nearby forests of Green Hill Zone. When he would show up again was anyone's guess but he would definitely be back…

As for Shadow, he panted heavily and he fell onto his knees. Despite all that power he felt weak and lame. Unleashing his power and removing his inhibitor rings left him power drained. He would have to take a rest before continuing his fight. Shadow reached weakly for his rings but Geoffrey, who had managed to get onto his knees, aimed his crossbow at him and fired a dart at Shadow. The dart embedded itself into Shadow's shoulder and it put the power drained hedgehog to sleep. Shadow lay on the ground, knocked out cold. Dr. Eggman's jaw dropped in horror.

"Shadow!" he cried "He's all power drained and now he's been knocked out!"

"And I don't think I can take these guys on by myself, even if they are weakened." said Rouge "Any ideas tubby?"

"I think retreat is the best option now dear Rouge." said Eggman "Alonzo, carry me back to Robotropolis, Rouge you get Shadow and follow me!"

Alonzo groaned in despair as he hoisted Eggman off the ground and carried him away, straining as he did so due to Eggman's weight. Rouge picked up the knocked out Shadow the Hedgehog and his inhibitor rings and carried him away, following Dr. Eggman as they disappeared into the forests of Green Hill Zone. The moment Eggman left, Sonic and all his friends picked themselves up. Tails helped Cosmo up since she was having a bit of trouble.

"Are you OK Cosmo?" he asked.

"I'll be fine." said Cosmo weakly "Are you OK?"

Sonic managed to get back to his feet. He felt a little weak and he felt like just standing was hard work but he'd managed it.

"Guys…I think we should get back to Royal HQ and rest." he said quietly "We need to talk about this new threat we have to deal with now."

So everybody limped back to Royal HQ which to everybody's relief, was just a small walk away. They only had to go through the under-construction New Mobotropolis and to Castle Acorn and they were there so they didn't have far to go.

The moment everybody was inside, they all sat down on chairs or lay down on beds in the rest rooms around the back of the headquarters. Sonic then spoke to his weakened friends.

"Well this isn't good." he said "Eggman has a new weapon known as Shadow the Hedgehog, Rouge turns traitor and Shadow creams us all. He definitely doesn't kid around, he seems like a dangerous foe for anyone to face. He has my speed and skill and he also seems to have Chaos powers. He knows Chaos Spears and Chaos Blast."

"How is that even possible?" asked Tails "Eggman can't possibly have given Shadow Chaos powers! He hasn't got any Chaos Emeralds!"

"Who knows?" asked Sonic "But we do know that Shadow is deadly and we must defeat him or get him to ditch Eggman and join us at least."

"I know one thing we need to do." said Geoffrey "We need to warn Castle Acorn about Shadow so Queen Sally Acorn will be ready for the bloke when he returns."

"I'll give them a call immediately." said Wilson "I'll see if I can get us an appointment with the council tomorrow so we can discuss this new threat and think of the best way to deal with it."

Wilson picked himself up and staggered out of the room to phone Queen Sally.

"Here's one advantage we have over Shadow." said Sonic "He seems to get weak when he removes those rings he has on his wrists. If we can trick him into doing that all the time we can beat him as long as we don't get hit by his Chaos Blasts."

"That sounds like a good tactic Sonic." said Mandy "We can only hope it works though. I bet Shadow won't be stupid enough to do that again."

Sonic nodded grimly in agreement. This conflict with Shadow was going to be a long battle indeed and how they were going to win didn't seem possible but Sonic knew there had to be some way and they would find that out soon enough and use it to defeat Shadow once and for all…

Shadow Fight Part 1

Story 58: Shadow Fight Part 1

The next day arrived and Sonic the Hedgehog had gone to Castle Acorn to discuss about their new threat Shadow the Hedgehog with the Council of Acorn. While this was happening, everybody else had been staying behind in Royal HQ and waiting for Sonic to return. Tails the Fox, Sonic's best friend, had gone to Sonic's house in Green Hill Zone to set up his lab equipment so it was there when he visited Royal HQ's laboratory. While he was doing that, everybody was sitting in chairs in total silence and Knuckles the Echidna was pacing back and forth impatiently. They were waiting for Sonic to return and give them the news on what the council had told him. Unfortunately…patience was not one of Knuckles' strongest points. He finally got fed up of waiting and he grumbled loudly.

"What is taking Sonic so long?" he moaned "Surely a meeting with a council shouldn't take this long!"

"You don't know anything about council meetings here Knuckles." mumbled Mandy Mouse, Royal Fighter and car mechanic "Council meetings here can go on for a while. Especially with that rude porker on the council never shutting his big fat trap when he's told to."

"Well that isn't helpful is it?" yelled Knuckles, almost causing Mandy to fall out of her chair "Shadow the Hedgehog's probably all rested and powered back up now and all we're doing is sitting around doing nothing? We need to take action and defeat that experiment thing once and for all!"

In his rage, he slammed his fist on a high-tech electrical drill that was lying on the counter nearby. The drill was bent, buckled and in pieces now and to make matters worse, the drill belonged to Tails, who had seen this happen and he got angry.

"Knuckles! I needed that!" whined Tails angrily.

"Whoops." said Knuckles, looking at the destroyed drill on the counter.

"Someone needs to keep their temper down." Geoffrey St. John the Skunk whispered to Bunnie Rabbot.

"I heard that!" yelled Knuckles.

"Everybody, can we please calm down?" asked Cosmo the Seedrian, a being from another world "Getting angry and anxious isn't going to make things any better. I'm sure Sonic will be back in no time and we can plan our next move."

"I agree with Cosmo." said Cream the Rabbit "I'm sure we won't be waiting any longer. Mr. Sonic will be here any minute now."

Then as if right on Que, Sonic the Hedgehog entered the lab. Unfortunately, he didn't seem to be very happy. His face was as dark as a thundercloud. He stormed past everybody and slumped on a chair in the corner of the room. Tails sensed what was wrong with Sonic and he ran over to help him.

"Hey Sonic? Is there something wrong?" asked Tails.

"Not just wrong Tails, mondo wrong!" yelled Sonic angrily "The stupid council wants us to take NO action against Shadow until we can find a weakness on him and use it to defeat him!"

"What?" cried Tails "Why would the council want us to do that?"

"Because they're afraid we might get seriously hurt or killed trying to destroy him." said Sonic in a mock frightened woman's voice "They reckon from what I've said that Shadow is too dangerous to fight and no one should battle him! How stupid is that? Me and everybody in this room fought him to a stand still and we only lost to him because of that dumb Chaos Blast, but we know how to avoid that if he does it again, so why can't we fight him again?"

"So if we're not allowed to fight Shadow, then what can we do?" asked Tails.

"The council has said they'll send whatever spies they can find to find out Shadow's weakness and use that on him." explained Sonic

"But if Shadow's allowed to run free with no one fighting against him, there won't be any spies to spy on him!"

"Well I'm not letting the stupid council stop me from kicking Shadow's butt!" screeched Sonic's girlfriend Amy Rose, summoning her trademark Piko-Piko hammer to her hand "I'm fighting him whether we're authorized or not!"

"I don't think that's a good idea." said Wilson the Dog, Mandy's boyfriend "The council are very strict and if we disobey them we could get severely punished! Or worse, demoted!"

"Oh Wilson, don't tell me you're going to let a band of idiot politicians stop you from doing what's right?" scolded Mandy, getting up from her chair and pointing sharply at Wilson "Council or no council, I'm not letting Castle Acorn's staff stop me from doing what we should be doing which is fighting against Eggman and his new weapons of mass destruction!"

"Wow, you don't kid around when you're mad do you Mandy?" said a very impressed Sonic.

"You got that right blue dude." said Mandy, turning her attention to Sonic "In fact, I say me and you should go and fight Shadow ourselves and show the Council of Acorn how stupid they are!"

"And I say I agree." said Sonic "Get yourself armed Mandy, we're going to grind Shadow into the dirt!"

Mandy ran out of the room to get herself some weapons. The moment she left, Ruben the Water Panther spoke up.

"I admire your bravery and determination Sonic but aren't you concerned about the trouble you may end up in?"

"When me and Mandy stomp all over Shadow the council will realize they made a pea-brained decision and they'll thank us for it." said Sonic smugly "Don't worry Ruben, I'm specialized in disobeying council orders and getting away with it so I'll be fine."

"Ah hope you will be sugah hog." said Bunnie with concern in her voice "Because ah can't stand the thought of you making the council mad."

"One thing's for certain, you won't be able to beat the Shadow bloke up if ya don't blinkin' know where he is." noted Geoffrey "The blighter could be anywhere by now."

"Good point Geoff." said Sonic "Tails, care to use the computer monitors to find out where Shadow is?"

"OK." said Tails.

He wondered over to the amazingly powerful and hi-tech computer monitors in the corner of the lab. Those monitors had been very helpful to the Royal Fighters in the eight month conflict with Eggman as they managed to pin-point many locations and show them what was going on and where they had to be. Since Tails was a computer whiz, he had no trouble working the monitors and soon he was scrolling through the contents to try and find out where Shadow the Hedgehog was at this moment. While Tails worked on the monitors, Mandy reappeared into the lab. Sonic looked at her and his eyes widened at what she was suddenly armed with. Mandy had equipped herself with a shield that was coloured white with a red circle in the centre on her left arm and some brass knuckle attachments on her right hand. Sonic wolf-whistled in amazement at the mouse.

"Nice weapons Mandy but, why did you pick those in particular?" asked Sonic.

"The shield will protect me with Shadow's spin-dashes and Chaos Spears." explained Mandy "And the brass knuckle attachments will make my punches harder."

"I see." said Sonic "Let's hope that weapon combo works or you're chilli-sauce."

As for Tails, he had found out where Shadow was and he seemed very frightened about it.

"Sonic! I've found him!" cried Tails "He, Eggman and Rouge are heading for Spagonia!"

"Spagonia?" cried Sonic "What the spin-dashes are they going to Spagonia for? Spagonia's not important!"

"Well Eggman always has a reason to attack something so we'd best find out what it is." said Mandy "Let's go Sonic."

"You be careful Mandy." said Wilson "Shadow is a dangerous foe and he won't take your resistance lightly."

"I'll be fine Wils, I have Sonic with me." Mandy insisted "Sonic always wins in the end so Shadow won't lay a finger on me."

Sonic then scooped Mandy up bridal style, surprising the mouse a little.

"We need to get to Spagonia mondo quick Mandy so I'm gonna have to carry you." said Sonic.

"Alright then." said Mandy "Let's go Sonic!"

"Let's do it to it!" cried Sonic, running out of the lab while carrying Mandy.

Sonic ran through the corridors of Royal HQ and outside into the open air. Now he was outside, he could run off at his trademark speed. He shot off like a bullet, earning an excited scream from Mandy as they rocketed through Mobotropolis and into Green Hill Zone on their way to Spagonia. The moment Sonic and Mandy were gone, everybody began wondering what to do to themselves.

"So…what's on the activities list?" asked Ruben jokingly.

Nobody answered. They all just sat there and began waiting. This wait, the wait for Sonic and Mandy to return and what the council's reaction would be was going to be one of the longest waits of their lives…

A short while later, Sonic and Mandy arrived at the village of Spagonia. The village had been under repairs after Scourge the Hedgehog, Sonic's evil brother had wrecked it* and it seemed to be doing just fine, the clock tower was under construction and a lot of houses had been rebuilt from Scourge's rampage. That surprised Sonic as he had expected to see Shadow, Eggman and Rouge wrecking everything and causing a riot. Instead, everything seemed to be under control as if Shadow, Eggman and Rouge weren't here after all.

"What gives?" asked Sonic "Where's Egg-butt, Shadow and Rouge? Tails said he pinpointed their location to here!"

"Tails said they were HEADING to Spagonia he didn't say they were AT Spagonia." noted Mandy "For all we know, we've got here before them."

"But if Eggman was already heading to Spagonia, he should have arrived long before we did." noted Sonic "Are they somewhere else or are they hiding and lying in wait for us."

"Doubt it since they don't know we're here." said Mandy "They must be somewhere else. Well let's find them before all hell breaks loose."

With that said, Sonic and Mandy began looking all around Spagonia in search of Eggman and his comrades. They went around the streets of Spagonia looking in any possible hiding place including behind houses, in houses, on the roof of houses, behind market stalls and in alleyways. Every time Mandy looked somewhere, she kept her shield raised so she would be ready to defend herself from any surprise attacks that could launch at her and due to Sonic's speed, he could look in several places at once to save Mandy looking in a few places. A few minutes later, they gave up searching and met back at where they arrived.

"Find anything blue dude?" asked Mandy.

"Not so much as a black and red quill." said Sonic glumly "Eggman's picked a good hiding place I'll give him that, I can't find him anywhere."

"Maybe Eggman wasn't planning on going to Spagonia." suggested Mandy "Maybe he was going somewhere else and Tails mistakenly thought he was heading to Spagonia when really, he's heading somewhere else."

"Maybe that's it Mandy." said Sonic "Well in that case, we should go back to Royal HQ and ask Tails to track Eggman again and see if he can…"

Then suddenly, they heard an explosion far off in the distance. Sonic and Mandy looked to their right and saw a thin trial of smoke coming from the distance.

"Should we check it out?" asked Sonic.

"Definitely." said Mandy "I sense this being Eggman's doing."

So Sonic and Mandy ran through the village of Spagonia and to where the explosion was coming from.

A few moments later, Sonic and Mandy ran out of the village of Spagonia and came across a large dam that stood proudly above everything else a few hundred meters away from the village of Spagonia itself. To their horror, Eggman, Shadow and Rouge where there too. Eggman was sitting back and relaxing in his hover-pod while Shadow and Rouge were attacking the dam. Shadow spin-dashed against it and Rouge screw-kicked it. Their attacks didn't seem to be doing much damage to the dam though. The dam was doing a good job of withstanding their powerful attacks but even a strongly built dam wouldn't survive constant punishment from Shadow and Rouge. If they kept this up, the dam would break away eventually and if it broke away, the water behind it would flood the village! Sonic knew what had to be done, he had to stop Shadow and Rouge before they broke the dam.

"There they are!" yelled Sonic "They're attacking the Spagonian dam!"

"Why are they doing that?" asked Mandy "What's making them want to attack a dam and flood an innocent little village?"

"Eggman's evil, what more do you need?" asked Sonic "Well let's kick their butts and save the village!"

With that said, Sonic spin-dashed towards Eggman and he hit his Egg-Mobile. Eggman yelped as he fell out of the Egg-Mobile and onto the ground with a thump.

"Hey Egg-Brains!" yelled Sonic "What's the big idea? Why are you attacking a dam?"

"Quite simple rodent." said Dr. Eggman with a wide smile on his face "I'm getting Shadow and Rouge to break the dam so I can flood Spagonia! And the reason why I'm doing that is just for the fun of it! I'm giving Shadow the pleasure of unleashing his full power on whatever I decide just for the fun of watching him destroy things!"

"Wow, even for you that is sick!" yelled Sonic "Well I'm going to blend my fist into your face!"

So Sonic drew his arm back and punched Eggman directly in the face…only to knock his head clean off his body! Mandy was so horrified at that she thought she was about to gag. That is until she and Sonic both noticed that there were wires underneath Eggman's head. The neck where the head had once been had wires sticking out of it too. That meant…

"Eggman's a robot?" shrieked Mandy "Does that mean the real Eggman isn't here?"

"What the power rings is going on here?" demanded Sonic to the beheaded Eggman robot.

"Quite simple Sonic." said the head of the Eggman robot "The Eggman, Shadow and Rouge you see before you are simple androids I built to distract you while me, Shadow and Rouge infiltrate Royal HQ and destroy your friends!"

"What?" shrieked Sonic "That tears it! No joker gets the joke on me!"

And with that he furiously kicked the robot Eggman's head into the dam where it bounced harmlessly off it and rolled away somewhere.

"Mandy, we've gotta juice!" ordered Sonic "Our friends maybe in trouble!"

"Right Sonic." said Mandy "I had a feeling this was all a trap. The Eggman we know wouldn't flood a city, he'd kill any potential people he could kidnap and roboticize that way."

But before anyone could move anywhere, the Shadow bot spin-dashed Sonic from behind and pinned him to the ground. The Rouge bot screw-kicked Mandy in the back and pinned her to the ground. Neither robots could talk but they snarled vicious robotical snarls at Sonic and Mandy. Sonic and Mandy struggled in the robot's grasps but they couldn't force them off themselves.

"Let us go you bolt brains!" ordered Sonic "We've got a place to be and it's not here!"

The robots ignored him and the Shadow bot forced Sonic's arms behind his back. The Rouge bot forced Mandy's arms behind her back. Mandy then wrestled her shield arm out of the Rouge bot's grasp and whacked the robot with her shield. She then pushed the Rouge bot of herself and got back to her feet. She punched the Shadow bot off Sonic with her brass knuckle attachments. The Shadow bot fell off Sonic and rolled across the ground.

"Thanks Mandy." said Sonic.

"You're welcome Sonic." said Mandy "Keep on your toes though; this is going to get intense."

The Shadow and Rouge bots picked themselves up and lunged at Sonic and Mandy who lunged back ready to attack them…

Back at Royal HQ, the other fighters had been doing something to occupy themselves while they waited for Sonic and Mandy to return from their mission in Spagonia. Cream, Cheese and Cosmo were playing tiddlywinks, Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson and Ruben were playing a game of cards and Knuckles just stood in the corner and kept quiet, grumbling to himself. Tails remained on the computer monitors to keep track of Sonic and Mandy and Amy sat beside him, watching the screen and hoping that Sonic and Mandy were doing alright.

"Hey Tails, can you find out what's going on at Spagonia?" asked Amy.

"Hopefully I can." said Tails, taping furiously on the keyboard.

The screen flashed through various pictures and sights as Tails taped on the keyboard before finally displaying Spagonia to him. Tails leafed through the many pics of Spagonia displayed on the monitor and he found Sonic and Mandy fighting the Shadow and Rouge robots at the dam. The fight was very intense and Sonic, Mandy and the robots were moving at such a terrific speed, it was pretty hard to see what was going on. The very sight made Tails stare in wonder.

"There they are." said Tails "They're at the Spagonian dam fighting Shadow and Rouge."

"A dam's a bit of an odd thing for Dr. Eggman to attack." said Amy "Is he plotting to flood the village?"

"I wouldn't be too surprised if he is." said Tails "But flooding a village doesn't seem like the kind of thing Eggman would usually do. When he invades villages, he kidnaps the inhabitants and roboticizes them just like he did to the village I once lived in."

"I'll never forget the time that fat idiot invaded Knothole and tried to roboticize me and the other inhabitants." said Amy, folding her arms and scowling at the very memory that crept into her head.

"Let's just hope Sonic and Mandy can stop Shadow and Rouge." said Tails as he watched the fight on the monitor "Or the villagers will spend the rest of their lives underwater."

"Here's one thing I wonder." said Amy, peering closer at the computer monitor "Where's Eggman? Didn't you say he was heading to Spagonia along with Shadow and Rouge?"

"I did." said Tails "Either Eggman's watching off screen or he's attacking elsewhere."

Then suddenly, the sound of a laser blast hit Royal HQ from outside and the attack shook everybody about as well as startle everybody.

Tails and Amy leaped out of the chairs and onto their feet as everybody picked themselves up.

"What the hoo-ha was that?" cried Bunnie.

"I think something's shooting at us!" shrieked Tails "We're under attack!"

"What could possibly be shooting at us?" cried Knuckles.

"Eggman I guess." said Geoffrey "But how can that be possible? The bloke's in Spagonia!"

"There's only one way to find out." said Ruben "We're going to have to see for ourselves."

With that said, Tails, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Wilson, Geoffrey, Bunnie and Ruben all dashed out of the Royal HQ lab and out of the headquarters to see what was going on. What they were met with was a shock to all of them. There, standing before Royal HQ were the real Shadow the Hedgehog, Rouge the Bat and Dr. Eggman who was sitting in his Egg-Mobile. The Egg-Mobile was armed with laser cannons on either side and he was shooting at Royal HQ with them.

"Dr. Eggman? Shadow? Rouge?" cried Tails.

"How can you three clowns be here when you're in Spagonia?" demanded Knuckles angrily.

"We're not in Spagonia." explained Dr. Eggman "The Eggman, Shadow and Rouge that Sonic and Mandy are dealing with are robot replicas I made to distract them."

"But if the ones in Spagonia are fakes then how come the monitors picked them up as the real you, Shadow and Rouge?" asked Tails.

"I fitted my Egg-Mobile with a scrambling device." explained Dr. Eggman "It scrambles all radars and communication relays so your monitors will never pick me up on them and you won't be able to call anybody as my device will scramble your cries for help. Now Sonic's a good distance away from here, I can destroy Castle Acorn and Royal HQ and then roboticize you all!"

"Not on yer blinkin' life you blighter!" yelled Geoffrey, aiming his crossbow at Dr. Eggman.

He didn't get a chance to fire though. Shadow threw a Chaos Spear at Geoffrey and he was hit in the stomach and sent hurtling backwards in into the Royal HQ building. Shadow bent down in a battle ready stance and prepared to attack.

"Shadow, you and Rouge will take out the Mobians while I destroy Royal HQ and Castle Acorn." ordered Dr. Eggman.

"With all due respect doctor, I can do this alone." boasted Shadow, earning an angry glare from Rouge.

"No you can't." said Dr. Eggman "You had a lot of trouble taking everybody yesterday and if you need to remove your inhibitor rings, you'll need some back up from Rouge while you put them back on."

Shadow glared angrily at Dr. Eggman but he said nothing to his "creator".

"As you wish." he muttered.

"That's much better Shadow boy." said Rouge teasingly "I bet me and you together will be too much for those feeble fighters."

"Just stay out of my way if you know what's good for you!" snarled Shadow.

With that said, Shadow spin-dashed towards the Mobians and they all leaped out of the black hedgehog's way before he could hit anyone. Shadow bounced off the wall and hurtled towards Bunnie Rabbot. Bunnie reacted just in time and walloped Shadow with her metal arm. Shadow hurtled into the ground and skidded across it, forming a huge mound of dirt and leaving scrap marks in the soil. Shadow picked himself up just as Bunnie was preparing to attack Shadow again. Before she could do anything to the black hedgehog, Rouge screw-kicked her from behind and knocked the cyborg rabbit over. Ruben shot a jet of water at Rouge but the water-panther missed the bat as she flew out of his way. Then Rouge spun around while flying and walloped Ruben in the face. She didn't have much of a victory as shortly after attacking Ruben, Knuckles leaped up and gave the jewel thief a well-deserved uppercut for all she had done to him in the past. Ruben landed on her back and Knuckles prepared to pile-dive her until Shadow spin-dashed him from behind and knocked him onto his face. Knuckles picked himself up and tried to punch Shadow but Shadow teleported and reappeared behind Knuckles just as Knuckles finished his punch. Shadow walloped Knuckles from behind and knocked him onto his face again. While Knuckles was down, Shadow kicked him very sharply, causing him to roll onto his back and groan in pain. Tails and Cream both charged at Shadow whilst in flight but Shadow spin-dashed them both out of the sky. Then he grabbed them by their necks and bashed their heads together, causing Tails and Cream to cry in pain and Shadow tossed them both into Royal HQ back-first. Tails and Cream crashed into the wall and slid down to the ground. Amy tried to whack Shadow with her hammer but she missed and Shadow walloped her with a powerful punch. Amy hurtled into the wall and landed beside Cosmo. The blow had left Amy stunned and Cosmo sat beside her to comfort her while she recovered. Geoffrey, who had recovered from Shadow's earlier attack, ran into battle with Wilson beside him and they both pounced on Shadow. They pinned Shadow to the ground and Wilson drew out his trademark spinning blade weapon which was a double-sided pole he threw at his enemies. He held one of the blade's to Shadow's throat. The black hedgehog glared at Wilson with his hellish red eyes.

"You're beaten Shadow!" declared Geoffrey, aiming his crossbow at Shadow's head "Surrender and the Kingdom of Acorn MIGHT be merciful."

"There won't BE Kingdom of Acorn weaklings!" yelled Shadow, smirking evilly at them "Me and Rouge are just the distraction!"

"What do ya mean you crazy bloke?" demanded Geoffrey.

He was suddenly interrupted by a loud KRA-KOOM sound that shook everybody. Geoffrey and Wilson turned to their right and saw Dr. Eggman opening fire on Castle Acorn with the laser cannons built into his Egg-Mobile. Eggman cackled loudly as he began shooting the castle madly with his laser cannons.

"Ha, ha, ha! Take that Castle Acorn!" he bellowed with laughter "That'll teach you to defy me and remain standing while I burnt the rest of the city down!"

The laser cannons were doing some damage to the centuries old building. There were holes in the walls and bricks lay everywhere. Eggman fired the laser cannons again and the lasers struck the huge walls of the castle, sending bricks flying everywhere and leaving a huge gaping hole in it. The castle's residents, Queen Sally Acorn and her lady-in-waiting Nicole the Lynx were horrified at what was going on and they ran out of the castle to take some cover as it was not safe for them in the castle anymore.

"Everybody, evacuate!" shrieked Sally "Hide in the city until the threat's been dealt with!"

Everybody in the castle didn't hesitate to obey Sally's orders and they evacuated the castle with the queen and her lady-in-waiting as Eggman fired another laser. Sonic's friends were horrified at what Eggman was doing and they immediately set to stopping him.

"Wilson, keep the blackguard pinned down while I deal with Eggman!" ordered Geoffrey, running over to Dr. Eggman in his Egg-Mobile while Wilson kept Shadow pinned down.

Unfortunately, the dog didn't manage to keep Shadow pinned down. Shadow teleported out from underneath Wilson and reappeared in front of Geoffrey. The skunk jumped in surprise and Shadow gave Geoffrey an uppercut to the chin that sent him hurling backwards about twenty feet. Tails and Knuckles stepped in to fight and Tails flew behind Shadow to tackle him. Shadow turned around and swiped at Tails but he missed and Knuckles pounced on Shadow. He pinned the black hedgehog to the ground. Bunnie Rabbot deployed her arm cannon and fired at Dr. Eggman's Egg-Mobile. She hit the Egg-Mobile and completely destroyed it. Dr. Eggman yelped in surprise as his Egg-Mobile fell to bits underneath him and he landed painfully on the broken remains that littered the ground. Shadow and Rouge were not pleased at the fact they had failed to keep everybody busy while Eggman destroyed Castle Acorn. Castle Acorn was still intact and there were only a few large holes that could easily be repaired in a matter of days. Shadow punched Knuckles off of himself and threw him into Tails. He then ran over to Dr. Eggman and helped him back onto his feet. Rouge landed beside Dr. Eggman.

"What do we do now Eggman?" asked Rouge "Your lil' ol Egg-Mobile is in tiny little pieces. Should we keep this fight up?"

"Yes." said Dr. Eggman "I have a Plan B and it's commencing now!"

He whipped a remote control device out of his pocket and pressed a button. A loud whooshing sound was heard in the sky above everybody and they all looked up to see what it was. A large squadron of robots that folded up in flight flew over everybody and they began dropping bombs on the ground below them. The Mobians all shrieked in terror and they ran for their lives as the flying robots dropped bombs on them. The bombs missed them narrowly but the force of the explosions narrowly behind them sent them hurling across the ground. They all landed on their backs and the fleet of Eggman robots all unfolded from their flying forms and landed on the ground. The robots were all red and yellow in colour save for the lead robot which was gold and red. They were a humanoid shape equipped with laser cannons and shields and they had the ability to fold up into a plane shape and fly as they had done earlier. Dr. Eggman grinned inanely at the Mobians who all stared at the fleet of robots.

"Meet my fleet of E-2000 robots." he announced "They are powerful robots with powerful weapons and they will destroy Castle Acorn and Royal HQ for me now my Egg-Mobile is down!"

"We'll see about that Eggman!" yelled Knuckles.

"Everybody, stop the robots before they can attack!" ordered Tails.

Geoffrey, Bunnie and Wilson were the first to attack. Wilson threw his spinning blade at the lead robot but the golden robot, known as E-2000R, held up its shield to defend itself from the attack. Bunnie blasted at some E-2000s with her powerful arm cannon but they all raised their shields to defend themselves. Geoffrey tried firing darts at the robots but again, they raised their shields to defend themselves from the skunk's attacks.

"Get into the air my marvellous squad and destroy Castle Acorn and Royal HQ!" ordered Dr. Eggman.

The robots all obeyed him and they folded up into a plane shape. They shot off into the sky to take up an air strike and to get out of the Mobian's reach. Tails and Cream flew up after the robots in a vain attempt to stop them but Rouge flew after them and took the fox and rabbit out with a screw kick to the heads each.

"Nah, ah, ah." said Rouge smoothly as Tails and Cream plummeted to the ground "You're grounded children so that means no flying up after Eggman's pretty little robots."

Ruben summoned a wave of water and he used it to catch Tails and Cream and lower them to the ground before they could crash into the ground. Rouge didn't like that and she flew down to attack Ruben but the water-panther was ready for her. After Tails and Cream were safely on the ground, Ruben threw his arms up and the wave he had used to break Tails and Cream's fall shot up and whacked Rouge, sending her hurling up into the air in a cartwheel and crashing straight on top of Dr. Eggman. Rouge picked herself up only to get a Piko to the back of the head from Amy, who had recovered from Shadow's powerful punch earlier. Shadow then threw a Chaos Spear at Amy and the spear skimmed her across the shoulder, causing Amy to scream in pain. Shadow ran up to Amy in his trademark skating fashion but Bunnie Rabbot pile-dived him from the side and sent him sprawling on the ground. Rouge tried to screw-kick Bunnie but Bunnie gave the treacherous bat a bone-shattering uppercut with her robot arm. That attack had cracked some of Rouge's teeth and she landed rather sharply on her back. Shadow spin-dashed Bunnie from behind and ground her into the dirt. Tails picked himself up and observed the chaos going on as Shadow and Rouge battled Bunnie, Amy, Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson and Ruben and Eggman's E-2000 drones began to open fire on Royal HQ and Castle Acorn with their powerful laser cannons. They were in even more trouble then before now.

"This is terrible!" cried Cream "Castle Acorn and Royal HQ are going to be destroyed if we don't do something!"

"I wish Sonic was here." moaned Tails "He'll be able to handle this.

Still, we can't give up, we've gotta stop those robots before Castle Acorn and Royal HQ are reduced to sad miserable ruins."

"But how?" cried Cream "We can't defeat Shadow and Rouge and if we try to stop the robots, they'll just stop us!"

"We'll think of something." Tails assured Cream "I know we'll come up with a plan."

They needed a plan and fast or Mobotropolis would lose its last standing building to Dr. Eggman…

Meanwhile in Eggman's insidious robotical city of Robotropolis, Alonzo the Butler Bot, Eggman's snivelling servant and punching bag was watching the two fights going on simultaneously on the huge, powerful monitors in Eggman's headquarters. Alonzo had not been invited to come on the mission with Eggman, Shadow and Rouge since he wouldn't be of any use on the mission. Alonzo was furious with that of course and he wanted to come and prove to Eggman what a useful servant he could be. As is, he was stuck in the base watching all the fun he was missing out on. Shadow and Rouge were holding their own against Sonic's friends and Sonic & Mandy were under siege from the Shadow and Rouge bots in Spagonia. The fights were completely in the villain's favour so far and Alonzo was not pleased to be missing out on it all. He grumbled to himself as he stared at the monitors and watched what was going on.

"It's not fair!" he grumbled "I've been at Eggman's side since he was five and have served him faithfully day after day and he leaves me behind while he gets to destroy Castle Acorn and Royal HQ!"

He glared at the monitor that showed Shadow fighting Sonic's friends. Right now he was yanking on poor Bunnie's ears and making her scream while keeping Knuckles and Ruben away by throwing Chaos Spears at them.

"Why does HE get to go just because he's as powerful as Sonic with added abilities?" grumbled Alonzo as he watched Shadow beat everybody up "I'm far more loyal to Eggman then he is! Eggman didn't even create Shadow and yet he brought him along for the mission!"

He clenched his fists and thumped the keyboard angrily.

"Well I'll show Shadow who's Eggman's best minion around here!" he yelled to himself "I'll take a great big Eggman robot that will be certain to take down Sonic the Hedgehog and defeat the blue blackguard myself! Then Eggman, the ungrateful, bloated buffoon, will think twice before leaving me behind again!"

And with that Alonzo zipped out of the room to get an Eggman robot. Eggman had many great robots to use but he knew exactly which robot he would use to destroy Sonic with…

Back in Spagonia, Sonic and Mandy were still fighting the Shadow and Rouge bots. They were very tough bots and they did a good job at resisting most of their attacks due to their tough hide and sturdy construction. Sonic and the Shadow bot spin-dashed each other and sent each other flying away. Sonic skidded across the grass and the Shadow bot bounced off the dam. They charged at each other again in a spin-dash. They hit each other but the Shadow bot's spin-dash was strong and it sent Sonic rolling backwards. As for Mandy, the Rouge bot was proving to be more then she could handle. The Rouge bot screw-kicked at Mandy and due to being a robot, her screw-kick looked more like a drill bit and she could give anybody a very nasty cut should she hit them. Mandy raised the shield and blocked the robot's attack. The Rouge bot kicked at Mandy's shield but she didn't harm the mouse in anyway. Mandy lowered the shield and punched the Rouge bot with her brass knuckle attachments but even they didn't seem to be laying a dent on the robot. The Rouge bot kicked upwards and hit Mandy in the face. The mouse staggered backwards and fell over onto her back. The Rouge bot tried to screw-kick Mandy but she raised the shield again to defend herself. Then Sonic appeared from nowhere and spin-dashed the Rouge bot away from Mandy. The Rouge bot picked herself up and flew towards Sonic with its metal fangs bared. Sonic back-flipped and kicked the Rouge bot in the head, sending it cart wheeling backwards. Mandy picked herself up and tried to help Sonic but the Shadow bot spin-dashed towards her, forcing her to turn around and block the attack with her shield. The Shadow bot bounced off Mandy's tough shield and landed behind her. The robot tried to attack Mandy again but the mouse held the shield up to defend herself. The Shadow bot hit the shield while charging at Mandy but the charge knocked the mouse onto her back. Mandy picked herself up only to get an uppercut from the Shadow bot and sent flying backwards into the dam. The impact had left the mouse feeling a little sore and she rubbed her throbbing back, grimacing as she did so. Sonic got mad and he spin-dashed the Shadow bot. The Shadow bot walloped Sonic with its fist and Sonic hurtled onto his stomach. He lay there groaning in pain and the Shadow bot pinned him down with its foot. The Rouge bot stood beside him, baring its fangs and hissing at Sonic. Mandy picked herself up and saw Sonic in trouble. Thinking fast, she threw the shield at the Shadow and Rouge bots and the shield conked them both in the head. The robots fell over and Sonic spin-dashed them both before they could get back up. Sonic grabbed Mandy's shield, leaped away from the robots and ran over to Mandy. He handed her the shield and Mandy reattached it to her arm.

"Those robots are tough!" cried Sonic "I can't lay a dent on them no matter how hard I spin-dash them!"

"I have a feeling they're built in a similar fashion to Metal Sonic." thought Mandy "Metal Sonic was hard to hurt and these guys are hard to hurt. We need a plan and we need it now."

"But what can we do?" asked Sonic "My spin-dashes don't work and your knuckle and shield combo doesn't work either."

Mandy put a finger to her chin in thought.

"If only we could remove their heads…" she mused to herself "That would destroy them for sure…"

"Pity you didn't bring a sword." sighed Sonic "We could have used that to destroy them."

Mandy nodded in agreement. She began wishing she had brought a sword with her. But there were more ways to sever something then just with a sword. Mandy looked down at the shield attached to her arm. She felt all the way around the shield. The shield wasn't exactly sharp but if she threw it like a Frisbee at the robots, it might be enough to sever their heads.

"I have an idea but I'm not that sure it'll work." said Mandy "I'm gonna try throwing the shield at their necks and see if it'll knock their heads off. A robot's neck is never very strong after all."

Months of fighting with Eggman robots had taught her that.

"Sounds like a plan Mandy girl." said Sonic "Let's try it."

The Shadow and Rouge bots both charged at Sonic and Mandy but Sonic spin-dashed the Shadow bot away and Mandy blocked the Rouge bot's attack with her shield. Then Mandy unclipped the shield from her arm and she threw it at the Rouge bot like a Frisbee. The shield hurled towards the Rouge bot and it hit the robot in the neck. It didn't sever the robot's head off but it had done some considerable damage to the robot's neck. Now the Rouge bot's head flopped around feebly and loosely. Sonic saw that and he spin-dashed at the Rouge bot. He hit it smack in the head and knocked its head clean off its body. The robot collapsed onto the ground, no longer functioning and dead as a doornail. The Shadow bot was furious with that and it kicked Sonic sharply in the back. Sonic retaliated with a kick to the leg and the Shadow bot fell onto its face. Mandy picked her shield up and threw it at the Shadow bot. The shield it the Shadow bot's neck and almost knocked its head off. The Shadow bot fell onto its knees, its head falling forward and clinging onto its socket by a few threads. Sonic spin-dashed the robot's head off, disabling it and putting it out of action, permanently. Now the two robots were defeated, Sonic and Mandy could leave and get back home and stop the real Dr. Eggman, Shadow the Hedgehog and Rouge the Bat from destroying Castle Acorn and Royal HQ.

"Well that was an annoying distraction." said Sonic "But fun nonetheless. Let's go Mandy, our friends will need us."

"I'm sure they're doing fine." Mandy assured Sonic "But that doesn't mean we shouldn't help out. Let's skedaddle."

Sonic picked Mandy up bridal style and Mandy wrapped her arms around Sonic so she was holding on tight to him as he ran. Sonic ran off at his trademark speed…but he didn't get very far. A huge robot jumped out of nowhere and landed straight in front of Sonic, sending him and Mandy hurling backwards and landing onto their backs. The robot was shaped like the fearsome dinosaur Velociraptor. It had a huge head full of steel teeth, two long lanky arms with razor sharp claws and clawed feet. Like a real Velociraptor, its third tow stuck up and the claw on it was even larger then the others. It had a long spiked tail that was likely used as a club. It had Gatling guns on its back and shoulders and a laser cannon on its cranium. The cockpit was in its chest and Sonic could see the recognizable figure of Alonzo the Butler Bot in the cockpit. Alonzo cackled a pathetic, crappy evil laugh that wouldn't scare even a baby.

"Hello Sonic the Hedgehog." he purred "How nice to see you separated and so far away from your friends."

"Alonzo, what the chilli-dogs are you doing here?" demanded Sonic.

"I'm doing Eggman a favour and destroying you while he's busy in Mobotropolis." said Alonzo "And I've picked the perfect robot to do it, Egg-Raptor! This robot is not only heavily armoured and loaded with weapons, it's extremely fast, much faster then you and its claws will make short work of your soft fleshy bodies!"

"So you think you snooty moron!" retorted Mandy "We've crushed many of Eggman's baby toys for a while now! What makes you think this robot will be any better?"

"The fact it's faster then Sonic my child." purred Alonzo "Now, stand still while I blow your heads off."

Sonic ignored him and spin-dashed Egg-Raptor directly in the chin. The blow didn't do much harm to Egg-Raptor and the machine quickly shook off the attack. Alonzo grumbled.

"I don't like disobedient wretches!" he yelled "Prepare to have the humiliation of falling to Eggman's lowly servant you mongrels!"

Sonic charged at Egg-Raptor again and Egg-Raptor roared at him, preparing to fire its many guns at the hedgehog…

Shadow Fight Part 2

Story 59: Shadow Fight Part 2

"Mandy! Heads up!" cried Sonic the Hedgehog as he leaped onto Egg-Raptor's shoulder and tried to disarm one of its shoulder cannons "There's more bullets headed your way!"

"I can see that." snapped Mandy Mouse, raising her shield up to defend herself from the bullets fired by Egg-Raptor's Gatling guns.

Egg Raptor was proving to be a handful for Sonic and Mandy right now. It had a lot of Gatling guns and Sonic was finding it difficult to dodge all the bullets. There were so many bullets firing everywhere that Mandy practically had to keep her shield permanently raised to defend herself. She began wishing she had brought a pistol or two with her, preferably the very strong pistols she used during the raid on Robotropolis the other day*, so she could shoot Egg-Raptor with it. As is, she had to rely on Sonic to disarm Egg-Raptor before she could attempt to do anything to the giant dinosaur machine. As Egg-Raptor kept firing its guns, Sonic saw to destroying them as he clung on to the dinosaur bot's shoulder. Sonic spin-dashed the shoulder gun and destroyed it. But being one gun short wasn't going to do much of anything so Sonic set to attacking the guns on its back and other shoulder. Egg-Raptor had about four guns on its back and it had another one on its other shoulder still functioning. Sonic spin-dashed the back mounted Gatling guns and destroyed them. Now Egg Raptor had only one gun left. Alonzo could see what Sonic was up to so he aimed Egg Raptor's only remaining gun at Sonic and began shooting rapidly at him. Sonic dodged the bullets with ease and he destroyed the last Gatling gun with a spin-dash. Alonzo got mad and he made Egg-Raptor do a sudden jerk that shook Sonic off the robot and sent him falling onto the ground. Egg Raptor looked down at Sonic and roared at him, showing off its gleaming silver teeth that looked like dagger blades.

"I'll teach you to mar Egg-Raptor's weaponry!" yelled Alonzo "You may have destroyed the Gatling guns but the head mounted laser cannon will finish you off!"

And with that he activated it and the laser mounted on Egg-Raptor's cranium fired a powerful orange blast at Sonic and Mandy. Sonic zipped off and Mandy, knowing her shield wouldn't protect her from such a giant laser blast, ran out of the way as the laser blast fired at her. Sonic then had an idea. He scooped up Mandy before the mouse could even figure out where he was and he ran off at his trademark speed before Egg-Raptor's cannon could finish firing. Now he had escaped Egg-Raptor, it was straight onto Mobotropolis to save his friends, Castle Acorn and Royal HQ. Unfortunately, Egg-Raptor's cannon had stopped firing and Alonzo soon realized he was all alone at the Spagonian dam.

"Huh? Where are those mangy Mobians?" he cried.

He peered at Egg-Raptor's radar which showed him where Sonic and Mandy were. They were just heading through Spagonia and heading north east to Mobotropolis.

"They're escaping are they?" purred Alonzo "Well they won't get far! Egg-Raptor is fast enough to match Sonic's speed!"

And with that he pulled on some levers and Egg-Raptor turned around and ran off in a heavy, bone shaking and swift sprint that a real Velociraptor would do when it ran. Egg-Raptor thundered through Spagonia, ploughing through anything that got in its way and no sooner had it started running but it caught up with Sonic and Mandy. Sonic heard loud stomping behind him and he turned around to see what it was. To his amazement, it was Egg-Raptor, sprinting after him and roaring loudly at him.

"What the heck?" cried Sonic "That thing can keep up with me?"

"I guess Egg-Raptor is a super sonic machine!" shrieked Mandy "A machine this big with legs that long can run fast enough as it is but the fact it can keep up with you, the fastest thing alive, is incredible!"

"Well I guess we can't outrun it so we HAVE to stop it before we go back to Mobotropolis." said Sonic, screeching to a halt and putting Mandy down.

Egg-Raptor leaped into the air and landed behind Sonic and Mandy with an earth-shaking thud. Sonic and Mandy fell onto their backs and Egg-Raptor turned around to face them. Alonzo hooted with laughter at the hedgehog and mouse.

"I told you this thing could run as fast as Sonic!" crowed Alonzo "You'll never escape me! You will have to take me down if you want to help save Mobotropolis from Eggman, Shadow and Rouge!"

"Be my guest Alonzo." sneered Sonic casually "Mandy, be a pal and distract him will you?"

"With pleasure blue dude." said Mandy with a wink.

She threw her shield at Egg-Raptor like a Frisbee and the shield hit the dinosaur robot in the optic. The shield boomeranged back to Mandy and the mouse caught it. Egg-Raptor roared loudly and Alonzo grumbled as the machine shook off the attack to its eye. Then Mandy threw the shield at Egg-Raptor again and hit it in the other eye. Egg-Raptor roared in pain and shook its head madly and the shield came back to Mandy. Before Egg-Raptor could finish recovering from the attack, Sonic spin-dashed Egg-Raptor directly in the leg, tripping it up and sending it falling onto it's side. The machine was about to pick itself up but Sonic spin-dashed it again, forcing it back onto its side. Sonic then aimed at its head and spin-dashed towards it but Egg-Raptor smacked him away with its tail and Sonic crashed into the ground face first. He left a huge mound of dirt and he had some scrap marks on his muzzle. Mandy ran over to help him up.

"You OK Sonic?" she asked.

"I'm fine Mandy." said Sonic "Let's get back to the battle."

Then suddenly, Egg-Raptor got back to its feet and lunged at Sonic with the largest claw on its foot. Sonic dodged the claw and the claw embedded itself into the ground. Alonzo cursed his bad luck and pulled on a lever to make Egg-Raptor yank its claw out of the ground. Sonic spin-dashed at Egg-Raptor again but Egg-Raptor smacked Sonic away with its spiked tail. Sonic landed on his feet and he spin-dashed Egg-Raptor again. He hit it in the shoulder but his attack didn't seem to do much damage. Egg-Raptor fired at Sonic with its head mounted laser but he missed and hit a tree. The tree fell down and almost landed on top of Mandy but the mouse dodged it just as the tree landed with a crash on the ground. Egg-Raptor fired at Sonic again but he missed again and Sonic spin-dashed Egg-Raptor in the head, sending the machine staggering backwards but he quickly shook it off and regained it's senses.

"Spin-dash all you like Sonic boy." crowed Alonzo "You won't destroy Egg-Raptor, its armour is just too thick for you to penetrate."

"We'll see about that." muttered Sonic as he charged at the dinosaur machine again in a spin-dash.

"Ugh!" cried Tails as Rouge the Bat knocked him out of the sky and onto the ground yet again.

The fight had been going horribly wrong for the fighters these past minutes. The squad of E-2000 robots were blasting everything in sight and being a nuisance to the Mobians and Shadow and Rouge were proving to be quite a challenge to get by. Every time Tails or Bunnie flew up to stop the E-2000 robots from attacking Castle Acorn and Royal HQ, Rouge the Bat would fly after them and screw-kick them out of the sky. And Shadow was no easier to get by since he would be on hand with his spin-dashes and Chaos Spears. Ruben the Water Panther tried to shoot some water at the E-2000 robots but Shadow threw a Chaos Spear at him and the spear struck Ruben in the cheek, knocking him onto his side. Knuckles retaliated by giving Shadow an uppercut from behind, sending the black hedgehog falling onto his face but then Rouge got the drop on him with a screw kick from behind. Amy then walloped Rouge with her hammer but Shadow got back to his feet and walloped her with his fist. Then he saw Cream the Rabbit flying up to the E-2000 robots with her pet Chao Cheese by her side, hoping she could do something about the robots. Shadow threw a Chaos Spear at Cream and the spear skimmed her across the side. Cream yelped and began to descend back down to the ground. Shadow threw another Chaos Spear at Cream but he missed and hit the powerful telescope mounted on the roof that the Royal Fighters used for lookout duties.

Wilson the Dog saw this and he wasn't pleased at all.

"Aw! We needed that!" whined Wilson.

Shadow just spin-dashed towards Wilson but the dog evaded his attack and threw his trademark spinning blade weapon at Shadow. The double-bladed pole weapon skimmed Shadow across the shoulder and the black hedgehog experiment cried out in pain. Now he was vulnerable, Geoffrey St. John aimed his arm mounted crossbow at Shadow and prepared to shoot him with a stun dart that would put him to sleep. But before he could pull the trigger, Rouge the Bat screw-kicked him from behind and knocked him onto his stomach. Geoffrey elbowed Rouge off of himself, got back to his feet and threw the bat straight into Shadow just as he was getting back up. The skunk panted heavily.

"This fight's getting us nowhere!" he gasped "We can't fight off Shadow and Rouge and try to save the two most important buildings in Mobotropolis at the same time!"

"We need a plan." said Wilson "I hope Tails has come up with one at last."

"I have actually." said Tails, who had just picked himself up and dusted himself off "We can't get to the E-2000 robots because Shadow and Rouge keep distracting us. We need to distract them and I've got a way how."

"What's the plan then mate?" asked Geoffrey eagerly.

"I will pretend to fly after the squad and get Rouge to chase me." said Tails "Knuckles, Ruben, you, Wilson, Amy and Cream will keep Shadow busy and Bunnie will fly up there and destroy the robots with her arm cannon."

"Ah like the sound of that plan sugah." said Bunnie "Ah just hope it works."

"I'm sure it will." said Tails, twisting his tails around one another and taking flight.

Rouge had just gotten a jet of water in the face by Ruben and sent falling onto her back. Before she could do anything, Knuckles socked her in the nose with his famous spiked fists. Rouge lay on her back, clutching her face and groaning. Tails then called down to her.

"Hey Rouge! I'm going to stop the E-2000 robots from attacking Castle Acorn! You'd better come and get me!"

Rouge scowled at Tails and she flapped her wings and took flight.

"Haven't had enough of being ground into the dirt have you kiddo?" she sneered "Well I'll be happy to kick you out of the sky again!"

Tails smirked at the bat and flew off as fast as he could. Rouge flew after Tails, desperate to catch him and knock him out of the sky again. As for Shadow, he gave Amy an uppercut to the chin and he spin-dashed Cream into the ground. Knuckles leaped on Shadow from behind and punched him as hard as he could. Shadow soon found himself getting a face-full of dirt. Knuckles then picked Shadow up and tossed him towards Geoffrey. The skunk leaped up and dropkicked Shadow before he could hit the ground. Shadow landed on the ground and groaned in pain. Wilson tried to attack him but Shadow teleported behind Wilson and kicked him onto his face. Ruben got the drop on Shadow with a ninja style kick and a kung-fu chop to the head but Shadow was quick to retaliate with a smack to the face and knee to the gut. As for Amy, she had an idea of her own.

"Hey Cream, I've got something." said Amy "You carry Cosmo and Cosmo carry me and then you swing us around and I'll smack Shadow with my hammer."

"OK Miss Rose." said Cream, flapping her long floppy ears and flying over to Cosmo the Seedrian who was on the sidelines since she couldn't do much to help.

Cosmo had overheard Amy's plan so she knew full well what was going on. Cream put her hands on Cosmo's waist and carried her off the ground. Then Cosmo held Amy by the waist and Cream carried them both off the ground. Cream flew over to Shadow who was just fending off Geoffrey and Ruben with a Chaos Spear attack. Cream then did what Amy said and began swinging Cosmo and Amy around in a circle. Amy summoned her hammer to her hand and Cream flew closer and closer to Shadow as she swung her friends around. Shadow saw them coming but he was too late to react and Amy walloped him with her hammer. Amy's hammer combined with Cream's flying and swinging abilities made the blow much harder and Shadow was sent hurling a good distance away. The girls broke the formation and they high fived each other gleefully.

"I knew it would work!" screeched Amy "That was great!"

"I think we should do that again next time we fight." said Cream.

"We can only hope that that was enough to take Shadow out for a while." said Cosmo glumly, knowing that Shadow was bound to recover from a move so powerful.

As for Bunnie Rabbot, she could see that Tails' plan was working beautifully and now she was clear to attack the E-2000 robots that were attacking Mobotropolis. Seizing her chance before she lost it, Bunnie flew up to the squad of robots with her rocket feet and she deployed her arm cannon. The robots saw Bunnie Rabbot coming towards them and they instantly began opening fire on the cyborg rabbit with their powerful laser cannons. Bunnie dodged every single shot and she began blasting the robots with her arm cannon. Her arm cannon was a powerful, formidable weapon and it didn't take much effort to take just one of the robots down. Just one blast and that was it, it was reduced to smithereens and sent falling from the sky. The Castle Acorn evacuees were watching Bunnie's marvellous performance from down below and so was Dr. Eggman. He wasn't pleased at all.

"Destroy that infernal rabbit my robot army!" bellowed Dr. Eggman.

The robots didn't wait to be asked twice and they began firing more rapidly at Bunnie. The Rabbot evaded their blows and she blasted three robots into smithereens with one blast of the cannon. The wreckage and debris of the robots crashed down harmlessly onto the ground. The lead robot, which was gold and red and labelled E-2000R decided to transform into normal mode and fight Bunnie hand to hand. Bunnie blasted four more E-2000 robots out of the sky and turned around to face the E-2000R unit only to get whacked in the face by its shield. Bunnie spiralled through the sky but she regained her balance and fired at the E-2000R unit. E-2000R raised its shield above its face and successfully defended itself from the blow. Bunnie was surprised to see the robot withstanding her blasts.

"Ah guess ya'll are stronger then the normal drones." she deduced "Sho, nuff. Ya'll are still no contest for lil' ol me."

And with that she transformed her cannon back into an arm and she flew towards E-2000R at top speed. She walloped the robot as hard as she could with her robot arm and sent the robot back-flipping backwards in the sky. E-2000R regained its balance and shot a powerful purple laser at Bunnie. The Rabbot evaded the blow by ducking and she gave E-2000R an uppercut that almost took its entire head off. E-2000R retaliated by punching Bunnie in the face and then kneeing her in the gut. Bunnie swiped at E-2000R only to miss and get smacked by E-2000R's shield. Two E-2000 units, the only ones left in the squad decided to help their leader by blasting at Bunnie. Bunnie deployed her force field generator and defended herself from the attacks. But seeing as she had three opponents at once, she knew she couldn't fight E-2000R and defend herself from the remaining E-2000 units so she had to do something and fast. E-2000R tried to shoot Bunnie with its cannon but the Rabbot ducked, leaving it to accidentally shoot one of its comrades and completely destroy it. The last E-2000 unit flew towards Bunnie only to get grabbed by the wing by Bunnie and thrown straight into E-2000R. The two robots spiralled through the air and Bunnie shot at them with her arm cannon. Her blast destroyed the last E-2000 unit but E-2000R survived due to it having stronger armour. Bunnie and E-2000R flew towards each other and they both punched at each other.

Down on the ground, Rouge was still chasing Tails and the two were just flying around Royal HQ like a pair of birds chasing each other. No matter how fast Rouge flew, she just couldn't seem to catch the little fox. Tails turned his head around and blew raspberries at the bat.

"Nyah, Nyah! Can't catch me!" he jeered.

"We'll see about that little boy." scoffed Rouge with a sly smirk.

She had a devious idea. The bat stopped chasing Tails and she flew around Royal HQ in the opposite direction so she was flying towards Tails from the front instead of behind. Tails looked over his shoulder as he flew around another corner, noticing with satisfaction that he appeared to have lost the bat. He turned his head back around only to see Rouge coming towards him and he was too late to react. Rouge flew over Tails and dropkicked him into the ground. Tails ended up with a face full of dirt and he groaned to himself. Rouge stood over the defeated fox and she cackled smoothly at him.

"That'll teach you not to try and out fly foxy boy." she sneered "I am the better flier and I will always beat you."

Tails said nothing for his face was buried in a mound of dirt.

"You leave Tails alone you traitorous witch!" yelled Amy, walloping Rouge in the back with her Piko-Piko hammer.

Rouge fell onto her face and groaned. She tried to get up but Knuckles pounced on Rouge and forced both her arms behind her back.

"I knew I should have locked you up for your previous crimes instead of letting you go the time I met Sonic!" he yelled at the traitor he now had pinned down to the ground.

"Whatever knuckle boy." muttered Rouge.

As for Tails, Amy helped the fox back onto his feet.

"You OK?" she asked affectionately.

"Yeah." mumbled Tails, rubbing the dirt off his face "Just annoyed at constantly getting knocked out of the sky by Rouge the Ratty Bat."

"You'll beat her some day." said Amy "Care to help us beat Shadow?"

"Sure." said Tails "Speaking of which, where is he…"

Then right on cue, Shadow spin-dashed towards Tails and Amy and ploughed through them as if he was a bowling ball crashing through a pair of skittles. Tails crashed into Royal HQ and Amy landed on her side. Knuckles released Rouge and linked arms with Shadow. The two began to push on each other but they couldn't get the best of each other. Rouge tried to help Shadow by attacking Knuckles from behind but Geoffrey shot a dart at Rouge. The dart split open and a rope wrapped around the bat's body. Now Rouge was all tied up and unable to fight. Geoffrey pulled on the rope and Rouge was brought down onto her side.

"That's you out of action luv." smirked Geoffrey "Now be a good girl and stay there while we beat Shadow up."

Rouge just scowled at Geoffrey and tried to struggle free from the rope but it had wrapped itself tightly around her and no amount of struggling would help her. Shadow looked over his shoulder and noticed Rouge was in trouble and he was about to run over and help her but Knuckles, taking advantage of the situation, tightened his grip on Shadow's hands and he swung Shadow around and straight into the wall beside him. Then he proceeded to throw Shadow away, sending him sprawling across the ground. Shadow landed on his side and skidded painfully to a halt. He picked himself up only to be surrounded by Wilson and Ruben.

"If I were you Shadow I'd surrender." said Ruben, getting ready to squirt water at him "We are a Wall of Steel and you are a feeble traveller. You try to break us but your efforts are in vain as we are too solidly built for you to destroy."

"Um…what he said." said Wilson, pointing the spinning blade weapon at Shadow "Step down and you'll spare yourself anymore pain."

Shadow scowled at the dog and water panther. He looked over at Rouge, who was tied up and unable to get free and then he looked up at Eggman's robot squad which had been reduced to just E-2000R which was having a tough time against Bunnie. The plan was in total jeopardy, the logical choice right now would be to surrender. But surrender was not something Shadow did. And he knew how to deal with the Mobians.

"I will never surrender!" yelled Shadow "The plan maybe in jeopardy but I'm still too much for you fools to handle!"

He then got back to his feet and removed his inhibitor rings. Wilson and Ruben immediately panicked and they turned around and ran for it.

"BACK! EVERYONE BACK!" shouted Wilson "SHADOW'S GOING TO CHAOS BLAST US AGAIN!"

Everybody did as they were told and they ran for their lives as Shadow tensed up and began to glow red. They all ran behind Royal HQ and took shelter as Shadow released all the energy in him.

"Chaos… BLAAAASSSSSSTTTTT! " he yelled as all the energy in his body released and violently spread out.

He didn't hit anything as nothing was in range so he was wasting his energy. Bunnie, who was still having her sky fight with E-2000R, could see what was happening and she had an idea. E-2000R tried to attack Bunnie but the Rabbot grabbed E-2000R by the arm and threw him down to the ground where Shadow was Chaos Blasting. Unfortunately for E-2000R, he landed in Shadow's path and got destroyed by the Chaos Blast, much to Dr. Eggman's annoyance. Shadow finally stopped Chaos Blasting and he fell down onto his knees, power-drained and helpless. Dr. Eggman quickly ran over to Shadow and he grabbed his inhibitor rings. He handed them to Shadow and the black hedgehog snapped them back onto his wrists. The fighters emerged from behind Royal HQ and to their dismay, saw Shadow standing there all powered back up and as determined as ever. He ran over to Rouge and ripped the rope wrapped around her to pieces, freeing her. Shadow and Rouge stood in battle ready stances, ready to beat the crap out of their enemies. The fighters did the same and Bunnie Rabbot flew down to join them. There was just one problem though. The colossal battle had left everybody worn out and exhausted. Bunnie's extensive use of her robot limbs had left her tired out and everybody else weren't feeling ready for a battle. Tails could see the problem and his whiskers drooped down in despair at what he was looking at.

"This is great! Just great!" he muttered crossly "Shadow's gotten his rings back so he's all powered up again and we're all worn out! If we try to fight him again he'll just Chaos Blast us and we'll be unable to defeat him!"

"If we keep this fight up anymore Shadow will cream us all." said Bunnie "What should we do sugah?"

"What indeed?" jeered Eggman mockingly "You may have foiled both my attempts to destroy Mobotropolis' only surviving building and Royal HQ but will you press on to defeat the invincible Shadow the Hedgehog and his assistant Rouge the Bat and therefore, foil their attempts to help me destroy the buildings I desire to wreck?"

He hooted with mocking laughter at his worn out enemies. Tails sighed with defeat and raised his hands in surrender. Everybody else didn't like the way this appeared to be going.

"We surrender." said Tails "You win. You can have Royal HQ but leave Castle Acorn alone and you can have it."

Everybody gasped in horror. Was Tails mad? Did he just swan-dive into Lake Crazy or something? Why was the fox letting their sworn enemy have Royal HQ?

"Very well." said Dr. Eggman "Shadow and Rouge, get into Royal HQ and make yourselves at home. We're moving into the headquarters."

The hedgehog and bat obeyed their master and they ran into the building before anyone can stop them.

"That's that then." said Dr. Eggman "As for you horrible bunch, you mongrels are on my property so go away before I tell Shadow to Chaos Blast you all!"

"You don't have to tell us twice you blackguard!" snarled Geoffrey.

And with that, Tails, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Wilson, Geoffrey, Bunnie and Ruben all left Royal HQ behind and headed to the nearby forests of Green Hill Zone. Dr. Eggman grinned like the Cheshire Cat as his enemies all slunk off in defeat and disgrace.

"Aaaah." he said happily "It's good to be victorious for once. I've now taken over Royal HQ, the very headquarters of the Royal Fighters Service. Just think how many advantages I'll have over the Mobians now I'm in their own base!"

He cackled with laughter and strode pride fully into Royal HQ. He switched on a communications device mounted on his wrist and he spoke into it.

"Alonzo my dear servant." he loudly announced into it "I have some good news for you! I've just taken over Royal HQ and kicked the fighters out! Come over here and meet up with me immediately!"

Alonzo didn't answer for he was not at Robotropolis right now. Dr. Eggman fumed and he roared into the communicator.

"Don't ignore me Alonzo!" he bellowed "Get over here and meet up with me NOW!"

Still no answer. Dr. Eggman began to get suspicious. He ran into the Royal HQ lab, which Shadow and Rouge had just been occupying and began to tap furiously on the powerful computer monitors.

"What's up Dr. Eggy?" asked Rouge.

"Alonzo's not responding to me." replied Dr. Eggman "I'm looking for him on the monitors to see if he's at Robotropolis."

After a minute of searching, he got a display of Robotropolis up onto the monitors and searched through it. There was no sign of Alonzo anywhere.

"He's not in Robotropolis." said Dr. Eggman "He must be elsewhere."

He began taping a few more keys and he found out where Alonzo was. He was in Spagonia fighting Sonic and Mandy with Egg-Raptor. Eggman's face went redder then the fiery pits of hell and steam poured out of his ears.

"What the blazes is that chrome klunk-head doing in Spagonia?" he roared "Is he trying to destroy Sonic for me?"

"Must be." said Rouge "Why is that something to get mad about?"

"I DIDN'T GIVE ALONZO PERMISSION TO USE EGG-RAPTOR AND DESTROY SONIC WITH IT!" bellowed Dr. Eggman "And I want to destroy Sonic myself! I'm not content letting my lowly servant bot do it for me! It'll make me look like an incompetent imbecile and a total oaf! Shadow, go to Spagonia, fetch Alonzo and bring him straight to me so I can punish him for disobeying orders and doing things without my express permission!"

"Yes doctor." said Shadow, zipping out of the lab and out of Royal HQ in the blink of an eye.

He charged away from Royal HQ and headed over to Spagonia where Alonzo and Sonic were brawling. Alonzo was in so much trouble once Shadow arrived back to Dr. Eggman with the butler bot in tow…

Back in Spagonia, things hadn't been going any easier for Sonic and Mandy. Egg-Raptor was proving to be a tough robot to battle as it withstood most of Sonic's spin-dashes and it was back on its feet shortly after being knocked over. Mandy's weapons weren't really helpful since a shield is meant for defence more then attack and her brass knuckle attachments weren't any good against such a large target. Egg-Raptor's head mounted laser cannon was lethal and Sonic and Mandy had to avoid it whenever it was fired which if anything put more pressure on the two. Any other attack by Egg-Raptor such as its clawed feet and spiked tail weren't as lethal but still ones to look out for. Running away from the robot didn't do any good either since Egg-Raptor could run as fast as Sonic so Sonic gave up trying to out run the machine. Sonic skidded to a halt as Egg-Raptor caught up with him again and he stared tiredly up at the dinosaur machine. Alonzo hooted with laughter at the blue hedgehog.

"What's the matter Sonic?" he sneered "Worn out? I guess Egg-Raptor is just too much for you! Ho, ho, ho!"

"You know what Alonzo, you really are annoying when you're on the battlefield do you know that?" said Sonic in an irritated tone.

"He's even more annoying then BECK-E from Grand Metropolis." muttered Mandy, scowling at Alonzo crossly.

"How dare you!" yelled Alonzo "You're the irritating ones you Mobian rats!"

And with that, he thrust the levers forward and Egg-Raptor lunged at them with open jaws. Sonic and Mandy dodged and Egg-Raptor ended up with a mouth full of grass and dirt. Egg-Raptor opened its jaws and let all the grass and dirt fall out onto the ground and it lunged at Sonic with the huge claw on its foot. It missed Sonic and impaled itself in the ground. Egg-Raptor pulled the claw out of the ground and tried to attack again, only for Sonic to spin-dash it in the leg, causing it to fall backwards and land on it's back. Egg-Raptor madly scrambled about to get back onto its feet but not before Sonic could spin-dash it in the underside. Egg-Raptor picked itself up only to get spin-dashed in the back of the head by Sonic who had managed to climb on its back so it could hit the head. Egg-Raptor fell forward and its head hit the ground nose first. That attack had clearly shaken Alonzo and he shook his head madly to regain his senses. His optics wouldn't stop spinning though.

"Ooooohhhh…." he groaned "Stupid hedge-hooooooooooggggggg…."

Since Alonzo wasn't ready yet, Sonic could attack Egg-Raptor without any problems at all. Sonic spin-dashed it once again in the leg and Egg-Raptor fell down on one knee. The loud thud that followed Egg-Raptor's knee hitting the ground seemed to snap Alonzo back into reality and he was back on the attack. Egg-Raptor stood back up once again and walloped a spin-dashing Sonic with its spiked tail. Sonic hurtled into the roof of a house and he almost crashed through it. That attack earned a startled glance out of the window and up at the roof from the occupant of the house to see what was going on and he was rather surprised to see a blue hedgehog in red sneakers standing on it. Sonic saw the person looking at him and he shrugged casually.

"Sorry." he said "Bye, bye."

He leaped off the roof, leaving the gobsmacked occupant to just stare at him. Sonic ran up to the monstrous Egg-Raptor once again and the dinosaur bot attacked Sonic with its clawed feet. It missed yet again and Sonic spin-dashed Egg-Raptor's underbelly. That attack shook the robot and Egg-Raptor staggered about, trying not to fall over. As for Mandy, she had an idea on how to down the robot dinosaur. She climbed up Egg-Raptor's leg and leaped onto the machine's arm. She was now directly above the cockpit window mounted in Egg-Raptor's chest. All she had to do was break the window and yank Alonzo out of the cockpit and Egg-Raptor would be unable to move since no one would be at the controls. Mandy clung onto Egg-Raptor's arm tightly with her left arm and she punched the cockpit window with her right hand, which had the brass knuckle attachments. That one punch left heavy cracks on the window. A couple more punches and the window would be destroyed. Alonzo immediately fretted at the fact Mandy was trying to break into the cockpit. The mouse smirked evilly at Alonzo and she punched the window two more times. The window was reduced to shards of glass that rained down on the ground below Egg-Raptor. Alonzo panicked and thrust a lever forward. That lever controlled Egg-Raptor's arms and the arm Mandy was clinging onto swung sharply to the left, flinging the purple mouse off itself and straight into the ground. Mandy groaned in pain, furious her plan had failed. And yet it presented a big opportunity for Sonic the Hedgehog. Alonzo was now vulnerable to the hedgehog since the window was broken so if Sonic could spin-dash into Egg-Raptor's chest he could destroy Alonzo and then destroy Egg-Raptor from the inside. Sonic noticed what Mandy had done and he spin-dashed towards Egg-Raptor's open chest. Alonzo aimed the head mounted laser cannon at Sonic and he fired it. The cannon blast hit Sonic and sent him hurling into the ground. Mandy cried out in horror as Sonic got blasted. The blast had left the hedgehog singed and weakened and he feebly tried to get back up but he couldn't. Egg-Raptor raised a clawed foot in the air and aimed straight at the downed hedgehog before him.

"Eggman's biggest mistake hedgehog, was not finishing you off sooner!" yelled Alonzo "Well I, Alonzo the Butler Bot will now rectify that mistake!"

"No!" cried Mandy "Stop! Please!"

She ran over to Sonic to help him but she stepped on an exceptionally large stone and her foot swerved sharply to the right. Mandy fell over and grabbed her throbbing ankle, grimacing and clutching it bitterly while trying to hold in the pain. She had just twisted it and now the mouse couldn't walk properly. All she could was lay there helplessly as Egg-Raptor prepared to stomp Sonic into the ground and squash him flat. Then suddenly, a black and red spiked ball appeared from nowhere and hit Egg-Raptor in the back of the head, knocking it over onto its front and causing Alonzo to fall out of the open cockpit and onto the ground. Sonic picked himself up and feebly crawled away before Alonzo could do anything. The butler bot picked himself up and shook himself. Then suddenly, Shadow the Hedgehog landed directly in front of him, his ruby red eyes burning with fury at Alonzo. The butler bot began to shake furiously as Shadow glared at him.

"Um…h-h-hi Shadow." he squeaked "How fortunate of you to arrive! Now me and you can crush Sonic together and please the great Dr. Eggman!"

"I'm not here to help you Alonzo." hissed Shadow "I'm here to collect you and bring you to Dr. Eggman so you can answer for your crimes."

"What?" cried Alonzo "Crimes? What crimes? I'm a perfect little soul I am! What crime have I possibly committed?"

"Well there's using Eggman's robots without authorization combined with you attacking Sonic without any given instruction." said Shadow bluntly, grabbing Alonzo by his pointed head and hoisting him off the ground "You are going to answer to him personally you disobedient scrap pile."

"What? No!" cried Alonzo as Shadow ran off with the butler bot in tow "I'm only doing what I was built for! To serve Dr. Eggman faithfully! I'm trying to destroy Sonic in Eggman's name! Don't rat me out on this! Please! NOOOOOOOOOOOOOO…."

Alonzo's voice trialled off as Shadow skated off into the distance with the butler bot under his arm. Sonic picked himself up and pulled a confused face.

"Why did Shadow just save my life?" he wondered "I thought he was with Eggman now. Unless…Eggman's not content with Alonzo destroying me." he deduced "I bet ol' eggy wants to do it himself so he got Shadow to stop Alonzo from doing the one thing he can never do. Eggman's gonna regret his stupidity once I kick him outta Mobius at long last! I bet he'll be wishing he let Alonzo kill me when he had the chance…"

"We get it Sonic." interrupted Mandy "We're safe, we're alive and all that now can we go back to Mobotropolis and help our friends?"

"Sure Mandy." said Sonic.

He ran over to the pained mouse to help her back onto her feet. He held his hand out for Mandy to take. Mandy took Sonic's hand and tried to stand up but her twisted ankle was hurting too much and she fell back onto her knees, groaning and moaning in pain.

"Mandy, you're hurt!" said Sonic "What happened?"

"I twisted my ankle." said Mandy "I can't walk. I won't be able to fight either; more's the pity since I love fighting."

"That's too bad." said Sonic affectionately "I'll carry you home. Hold on tight!"

He scooped Mandy up bridal style and ran off at his trademark speed, leaving the abandoned Egg-Raptor behind to do nothing but lie there and probably rust away unless someone retrieved it. Mandy clung on to Sonic tightly as Sonic ran through Spagonia and back home to Mobotropolis. They hoped that things were going well back home…

…which they weren't of course. Tails, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Bunnie, Geoffrey, Wilson and Ruben had all taken shelter in the nearby forests of Green Hill Zone, safe and out of sight from Dr. Eggman and Shadow and needless to say, everybody immediately began to rant at Tails for his abysmal decision to let Eggman have Royal HQ.

"What were ya thinkin' ya bloomin idiot?" yelled Geoffrey, grabbing Tails by the shoulders and shaking him so hard, his head almost snapped off "Why did ya let Eggman have Royal HQ ya crazy fox?"

"Yeah!" added Wilson "Royal HQ is deathly important and letting Eggman have it my cost us the war!"

Tails couldn't give any answer for Geoffrey had shaken him so much he felt dizzy and he felt too ashamed to say anything.

"Guys, please leave Tails alone." said Cosmo "You're upsetting him and that's not going to make things any better."

"I agree." said Ruben "The only way to fix things is to take things steadily and lightly first and then make the big push later."

Geoffrey and Wilson stopped yelling at Tails and they quietened themselves up. Cosmo held Tails' hand gently, giving the fox a nice soothing feeling and quietly asked him.

"Why did you let Eggman have Royal HQ?"

Tails sighed sadly and looked at his girlfriend.

"I had no choice." said Tails "We're too banged up to fight Shadow and if we kept on going, we may not have made it to the end. So I felt it was better to let them have it now, wait until we heal and then take it back."

"But what if we can't take it back?" asked Amy "Then you will have made a pig's ear out of all this!"

"Sonic will be able to save Royal HQ." said Tails "Once he joins us, taking Royal HQ back will be a breeze."

"Speaking of Sonic, what's keeping him?" asked Knuckles "A lousy robot copy of Shadow and Rouge shouldn't be enough to keep him at bay, he must have destroyed them by now!"

Before anyone could say anything, Sonic arrived on the scene with an injured Mandy in his arms and he skidded to a halt before everybody.

"The hedgehog is here everybody!" he cried "Sorry me and Mandy are late, Alonzo held us up with an Eggman robot."

"It's about time you showed up Sonic." said Knuckles crossly.

"Mandy!" cried Wilson happily, running over to her as Sonic put her down.

He noticed his friend was hurt and he sat down beside her as Mandy rubbed her throbbing ankle better.

"You're hurt! What happened?" asked Wilson "Did you hurt your ankle?"

"Unfortunately yes." muttered Mandy "I fell over a stone, a very big stone. Oooh! It hurts!" she moaned.

As Wilson comforted Mandy, Sonic spoke to the others.

"So what happened while we were gone?" asked Sonic.

"Eggman, Shadow and Rouge have taken over Royal HQ." said Tails grimly "We're too weak to fight them so we had to surrender and wait until we heal."

"They've taken over Royal HQ?" cried Sonic "Oh man, if only I'd have been here! I could have saved the day as always and Eggman would have been running home in defeat to Robotropolis by now!"

That was the least of Sonic's worries now. Now Queen Sally Acorn had found everybody and she did not appear to be very happy with Sonic at all. Sonic noticed Sally was there and he smiled weakly at her.

"Um…hi Sal?" he said feebly.

"Come with me Sonic." said Sally coldly "You've got a lot of explaining to do for what you and your friends have just done."

Sonic then remembered that he, Mandy and just about all of his friends had gone against the council's earlier decision of not to engage Shadow under any circumstances so now he and all his friends were in trouble. Sonic shrugged in defeat and followed Sally as she walked back to the damaged Castle Acorn which was still standing much to everybody's delight. Sonic could only hope that the council would be merciful and not too mad at his actions…

 I bet you remember BECK-E from Tales from Mobius Arc 1: The Malicious Metropolis Masquerade don't you…?

Oh uh! This doesn't look good for several people! Sonic's in trouble for disobeying the council, Alonzo's in trouble with Dr. Eggman now and Royal HQ has been taken over! What more could go wrong? I had to ask didn't I...? Join me next time as Sonic faces the council and attempts to get Royal HQ back.

Lost Weapons Part 1

Story 60: Lost Weapons Part 1

All was not well at Royal HQ, the Royal Fighters Service Headquarters which had recently been taken over by Dr. Eggman and his new henchmen Shadow the Hedgehog and Rouge the Bat. Shadow had just brought Alonzo the Butler Bot, Eggman's "loyal" servant to him for punishment for trying to attack Sonic without authorization from his master Dr. Eggman. Moments ago, Alonzo had attacked Sonic the Hedgehog and Mandy Mouse at Spagonia with Egg-Raptor even though he wasn't given clearance to do so. Right now, Eggman was raging for Earth at Alonzo and the terrified butler bot just gazed up at him, petrified with fear at how angry his master was. Shadow and Rouge just watched wordlessly. Rouge seemed a little frightened by the whole ordeal whereas Shadow in some twisted, sadistic fashion appeared to be enjoying the whole thing.

"You are my servant Alonzo and if I WANTED you to kill Sonic, which I didn't, I would have ordered you to do so!" yelled Eggman "You do not do anything unless I order you to do so! From now on, you wait for a command! Is that clear?"

"Y-y-y-yes master!" whimpered Alonzo "I-I-It's just you were o-o-occupied at the time, a-a-and an oppor-tu-tu-tunity presented it s-s-elf s-so I acted! I thought I w-w-would do y-you a f-f-favour and g-g-get r-r-rid of Sonic for you!"

Dr. Eggman gave Alonzo a terrific clout to the face and sent the missile shaped robot on two wheels falling onto his back with his head spinning around and around.

"NO ONE RIDS ME OF SONIC BUT ME! IS THAT UNDERSTOOD!" roared Dr. Eggman, his face redder then hell itself.

"Yes master!" croaked Alonzo "Please don't smash me to bits!"

"I can't be bothered to smash you right now Alonzo." said Dr.

Eggman in a huff "I have this brand new base to explore and get used to so I've got to have a look around the place. I was going to give you a very important role in Royal HQ Alonzo," Eggman added, glaring at him from behind his glasses "But your behaviour recently has made me change my mind. You're not welcome in my new home, you can go back to Robotropolis and serve the head Eggman robot that I've built to run the place while I'm gone while I run this base and convert it into my new headquarters."

"B-b-but sir…" protested Alonzo.

"NO BUTS ALONZO!" screamed Dr. Eggman, pointing at the door "GET OUT AND DON'T COME BACK! I DO NOT WISH TO SEE YOU AGAIN!"

Alonzo desperately wanted to argue back but he knew it was pointless. He hung his head down low and he trundled miserably out of the lab. The door slammed shut behind him. Alonzo trundled down the corridor and out of the building. The moment Alonzo left, Dr. Eggman dusted his hands off and huffed angrily.

"I built Alonzo to be my loyal servant." he said to himself "Why is he not being loyal to me?"

"If I didn't know any better I'd say he's being loyal to himself." said Rouge "I have a sneaky suspicion he's plotting against you."

"Don't be a twonk Rouge!" snapped Eggman "Alonzo, that tin-plated wazzock hasn't got the nerve to plot against me! He's too afraid of me to do so!"

"I see." said Rouge "So, who's going to be your loyal servant now Alonzo's fired?"

"Shadow is." said Dr. Eggman "After all it is his purpose, to serve me faithfully and to the bitter end."

Shadow's eyes widened. Loyal servant to Dr. Eggman? Was that his lost purpose? It could be but Shadow had a feeling that it was not that. Maybe his lost purpose was something more then being a loyal servant. Maybe…Shadow decided to just shake it off and accept this new purpose for now until he found out his real lost purpose.

"If that is my purpose then I will serve you faithfully doctor." said Shadow "I am your servant and I will fight your fights and carry out your plans, under your orders that is."

"Now that is more like it!" cried Dr. Eggman "I'm so glad I created you now Shadow! Now be a good boy and stand on guard duty while your glorious master explores the rest of this base."

"As you wish." said Shadow, leaving the lab to stand guard outside of Royal HQ.

Meanwhile, Alonzo was trundling miserably though the grassy meadows that led to Green Hill Zone, mumbling and grumbling and saying naughty words that cannot be mentioned for the sake of the kiddies reading this fanfic and even randomly saying the word "pants" over and over for no particular reason (he's weird when he's angry.).

"Stupid, ungrateful master!" moaned Alonzo "I try to do him a big favour and he punishes me for it! Well I'll show that fat &^$%£!£)! I'll take control of an Eggman robot and use it to destroy him and Sonic and then I'll take control of his proxy empire! And I have a very good idea on where to go, a place that Dr. Eggman has long since forgotten about since the fall of the Mistress of Darkness and the failed drill operation…"

And with that, Alonzo sped up his little wheels and he zipped off to a place Eggman had completely under his control until Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse ruined everything…Grand Metropolis…

Meanwhile in Mobotropolis, Sonic the Hedgehog was standing before the Council of Acorn, the government body of Mobotropolis and facing them for disobeying their orders. Earlier the council had authorized no action to be taken against Shadow the Hedgehog since they didn't want to risk anybody's lives and they thought the subtle approach would have been better but Sonic and his friends went against those rules and fought Shadow anyway.

"So Sonic the Hedgehog." said Queen Sally Acorn, the Queen of Mobotropolis and head of the Council of Acorn "Why did you deliberately disobey the council's orders? Did you not care about the fact we care about the safety of our people and most importantly you?"

"I disobeyed you guys because you guys were being stupid!" argued Sonic "I'm probably the only one who has a chance against Shadow the Hedgehog and how are we gonna stop him if we don't do anything? And why do you need to find out what his weakness is? I already told you it about five times the last time I was here! We don't need to spy on him and find out what his weakness is because I already know it."

"You're foolish to think you can stand up to your superiors like this Mr. Hero-Hog!" snorted the council douche lord Hamlin Pig "I'd watch your tone before you get into more trouble then before!"

"Hamlin! SHUT UP!" yelled everybody in the council.

The rude and egotistical pig shut his big snout up and grumbled to himself.

"May I say a word your highness?" asked Julian Mongoose, a council member.

"Yes Julian." said Sally.

"While it was wrong for Sonic to disobey the council's orders," said Julian "I can't help but think he made the right choice. I believe that Sonic was right and we were wrong. Or should that be Hamlin was wrong since taking no action against Shadow was his idea?" he added, giving Hamlin a cold stare.

The pig just snorted at him and stuck his nose in the air.

"I second that." said Penelope Platypus, another council member.

"I um…third that." said Dylan Porcupine, another council member "Coming to think of it," said Sally, thinking for a moment "Sonic was right after all. He knows how to beat Shadow and is the only person capable of doing so…"

She turned to Sonic and sighed in a defeated tone.

"Sonic, I'm sorry I didn't listen to you in the first place." said Sally "I should know better then to trust Hamlin over you. I hereby say that you are dismissed of all charges and this case is dismissed."

"Thank you Sal." said Sonic with a wink "I knew you'd make the right choice Queenie. Now if you don't mind, I'll be taking Royal HQ back from Dr. Egg…"

"Wait, wait, wait, wait, wait." said Sally quickly "Taking Royal HQ back? What do you mean?"

"Oh man! I almost forgot!" muttered Sonic, face-palming himself in annoyance for forgetting to bring up such an important subject "Moments ago, I just got word from Tails that Eggman, Shadow and Rouge have taken over Royal HQ and I'm gonna get it back!"

The council all gasped in shock at that startling revelation.

"Not Royal HQ!" cried Sally's lady-in-waiting and Mobotropolis beauty Nicole the Lynx "That place is vital to the Royal Fighters Service! Just think of the chaos Eggman can cause now he's taken over the place!"

"Exactly." said Sonic "Which is why I'm going to get it back. Wish me luck council guys."

He prepared to run off but he was stopped by Nicole who spoke up since she had an idea.

"Wait a minute Sonic." the lynx said "This turn of events presents us a perfect opportunity to sabotage his forces at his home. Maybe you and your friends could go over to Robotropolis and make a mess out of it and since Eggman won't be there to keep things under control, his city will be in chaos!"

"That's a good idea actually Nicole." said Sally supportively "But we need someone to get Royal HQ back."

"Me and Bunnie will do the honours." said Sonic "Everybody else can attack Robotropolis. Who knows, maybe the mess my friends make at Robotropolis will draw Eggman out of Royal HQ and therefore, make my job a whole lot easier."

"Let's hope that happens." said Sally "We cannot let Royal HQ remain in Eggman's hands or the Royal Fighter's Service will be in jeopardy."

"Well I'll be off now." said Sonic "See ya later Sally, I'll inform you the moment Royal HQ is free of Eggman's grasp!"

"Good luck Sonic." said Sally with a warm smile on her beautiful face "You'll need a lot of it."

Sonic winked at Sally, gave her his trademark thumbs up sign and he ran out of the council room at top speed. He couldn't wait to see the look on Eggman's face when he and his friends trash his precious robot city…

Meanwhile, Alonzo had travelled a good distance away from Mobotropolis and he didn't go back to Robotropolis like he was instructed to, he went off to Grand Metropolis instead. Grand Metropolis was the second largest city on Mobius with Central City being the largest. At one point during Eggman's tyranny, Grand Metropolis succumbed to his forces and due to how late the Royal Fighters of Grand Metropolis formed, the city had pretty much all but been conquered and all their efforts did was delay the inevitable. When Wilson and Mandy came to help some time ago, things changed for the better. They along with Mandy's sister Marion, who had been turned into an Eggman agent known as the Mistress of Darkness only to defect back to the hero side, destroyed the drill that was to be used for the drilling operation and that in turn did quite a lot of damage to Eggman's forces. Marion sadly lost her life in the process but her sacrifice had been worthy for Eggman's forces had been significantly reduced and General Bostock and his men destroyed the base and freed Grand Metropolis from Dr. Eggman's grasp. Eggman had stupidly decided to abandon everything and not set foot in Grand Metropolis again and the wreckage of Eggman's base and forces had been left there to rust away into nothing. Alonzo was here because he knew of a certain weapon that Eggman had built and for some reason decided to forget about after the destruction of his Grand Metropolis forces. A weapon that could destroy Sonic or indeed any Mobian very easily. The only problem was, that weapon might have been destroyed along with the base when Bostock's men blew it up. The only way to find it though was to look for it. Alonzo finally arrived at Grand Metropolis and the first thing he was met with was the destroyed drill that lay in giant pieces everywhere and the destroyed base that Eggman had set up there. Alonzo sighed sadly at the sight of such wreckage. The sad remains of an impenetrable fortress that could not possibly have fallen gave Alonzo a heavy feeling of loss, as if he and Eggman had lost a huge part of their army.

"Aaaah Grand Metropolis." said Alonzo to himself "However did its forces fall? It's amazing how that infernal dog and mouse managed to jeopardize everything just by destroying the drill. It's also a great pity that we lost the Mistress of Darkness, one of Eggman's best agents ever in the scuffle. She was one great villainess and we could do with her right now."

Alonzo trundled down the smooth slope that he was standing upon and he trundled towards the wreckage of Eggman's forces. As he trundled towards the mess, he came across a familiar pink robot wearing a tutu that had lost its head in battle. The head lay in halves beside the robot. This robot was of course BECK-E, the Mistress's annoying servant bot who betrayed her due to the treatment she had received from her master. BECK-E had ultimately been killed by Wilson during the battle of Grand Metropolis and nobody missed her, not even Eggman and he was the one who built BECK-E to serve the Mistress faithfully.

"Oh my dear BECK-E." said Alonzo to the dead body of the tutu-wearing servant bot "You were an obnoxious little brat but that obnoxious streak of yours charmed me in some way. If you were still alive, we could rule the Eggman Empire together, like a married couple or something. I think me and you would have been the perfect couple, regardless of how irritating you are."

Alonzo turned away from BECK-E's sad remains and trundled

onwards to the destroyed base that was only a few feet away from him. The base was once a grand base with robot production lines and roboticizer chambers and it was one of Eggman's most glamorous bases ever. Now it was nothing more then a miserable pile of debris waiting to be cleaned up. Roboticizer cages lay in pieces on the ground, robot soldiers littered the remains and the whole thing looked like a sea of metal and rubble stretching as far as the eye can see. It really made Alonzo sad to think that this pile of debris was once one of Eggman's strongest holds over Mobius. But he put that thought to the side as he was not here to mourn over losses, he was here to find something even though he had doubts he would find anything functional in the piles and piles of broken metal, twisted machinery and chunks of debris.

"Now if my memory serves me correctly and by a sheer amount of good luck, I should find the thing I'm looking for in this wreckage." said Alonzo "I doubt it'll be working though but it never hurts to look."

Alonzo zipped towards the wreckage as fast as his little wheels would let him and he dived into the wreckage…and ended up hurting himself in the process.

"Ouch!" he cried "Note to self: do not dive into metal and debris!"

He rubbed himself better and began digging furiously through the wreckage. Alonzo may be a small robot but he was an expert digger and no matter how big the wreckage was, he would be through it in a matter of minutes, a lot faster then a construction vehicle to be precise. Alonzo's arms moved in circles at a terrific speed and they were sending chunks of metal, rubble and debris hurtling backwards over his shoulder. Alonzo began to dig and dig into the debris until he hit something and he stopped.

"Aha! I've found it!" he cried.

He grabbed the thing he hit and yanked it out of the piles of debris. He had found a dead Robian jaguar. This Robian like all Robians had once been an innocent flesh and blood Mobian but now it was dead, it would never be de-roboticized. Alonzo scowled at his find and he tossed the dead Robian away.

"Not what I'm looking for." he muttered.

He continued to dig at his speedy pace, moving his arms at a lightening pace and throwing debris over his shoulder. Fifteen minutes later, he bumped into something else during his dig.

"Is this what I'm looking for?" he wondered.

He pulled the thing out of the wreckage. It was another dead Robian only this one was a dingo. Alonzo scowled again and he threw the Robian away.

"Well there were a lot of Robians here at the time so I shouldn't be too surprised if I keep coming across them." said Alonzo.

And with that, Alonzo started digging yet again. He began to despair as he moved on through the wreckage. Maybe he wouldn't find what he was looking for after all. But he'd only just started so he couldn't give up now, he had to keep trying until he was absolutely certain what he was looking for was gone for good. Another fifteen minutes alter, Alonzo bumped into something else. He pulled the thing out of the wreckage and stared in wonder at it. The thing he had found was a red and black robot with a round body, huge bulky arms, thin legs, long feet, spiked wrists, clawed hands, a small flat yellow head with optics and it had jets in its back. The machine had the symbol for Omega on its shoulders. The robot was very dusty and worn looking but amazingly, it didn't have a spec of damage on it, suggesting it was an extremely tough machine. This truly was a formidable looking machine and that was precisely the thing Alonzo was looking for.

"Yes!" cried Alonzo "I've found it! E-123 Omega, the strongest Eggman robot ever created is still in one piece! I remember Eggman built this machine to use as a last resort and it was only to be used in desperate situations. It's heavily armed and strong enough to withstand an explosion it seems, it's only got a few scratches and that's it. Pity the bloated buffoon couldn't be bothered to look here and see if it had survived the wreckage. He just assumed it had perished along with everything else when the base went ka-boom. Now I've found him, I can get him to kill Sonic and Eggman and then I, Alonzo the Butler Bot shall rule the Eggman Empire!"

With that said, he eagerly pressed some of the keys on Omega's back to see if he could get him to come online. To his good luck, it worked. Alonzo pressed the right button and Omega whirred into life. His optics began to glow orange and it stood up on its own two feet, making whirring noises as it did so. Omega turned around to face Alonzo, who was grinning like an excited school boy as he saw the great machine move. Omega looked down at Alonzo and spoke in his trademark robotical voice.

"Function status: Activated and ready for battle. Unit Identification: E-123 Omega. Status: Awaiting orders."

"Excellent!" purred Alonzo evilly; rubbing his three fingered hands together.

Eggman and Sonic's days were numbered now Omega was online. He couldn't wait to send the machine into action…

Back in Mobotropolis, Sonic's friends had been wondering what was going on in Castle Acorn right now. They had remained in their hiding place so Eggman wouldn't send Shadow to attack them and they waited anxiously for Sonic to return.

"What do you think is going on at Castle Acorn?" asked Sonic's best friend Tails the twin-tailed fox.

"Knowing the Council of Acorn, they'll be chastising Sonic for going against their vote and being their usual pig-headed selves." muttered Mandy Mouse, folding her arms and pouting.

"You seem to have a bitter hatred of your own government don't you Mandy?" asked Ruben the Water Panther "Does Mobotropolis have bad politics or something?"

"No, Mobotropolis have great politics, it's just the council can be hard to reason with sometimes and they're just a pain when they're in a stubborn mood." said Mandy, tenderly rubbing her still throbbing ankle which she had twisted earlier during her fight with Egg-Raptor.

"We should know, we've had to follow them for eight months straight." said Wilson the Dog, Mandy's boyfriend.

"The council Angel Island has is a bit similar to yours behaviour wise only they're a bit harsher to those who go against their votes." said Knuckles the Echidna, Guardian of Angel Island "You should be glad you never have to answer to them, they always win in an argument."

"Politics, they can never be reasoned with." said Mandy glumly.

"Hey everyone! Mr. Sonic's coming back!" Cream the Rabbit announced.

Everybody looked up and saw Sonic the Hedgehog running to them at his trademark speed. He skidded to a halt and stopped just in front of his amazed friends.

"Sonic!" cried Tails happily "How did it go at Castle Acorn?"

"They let me off this time." said Sonic happily "They finally got it through their heads that their decision was dumb and I was right. We're free to fight Shadow to our heart's content."

Everybody looked stunned to say the least.

"Well…that's unusual for the council to admit they were wrong." said Geoffrey St. John the Skunk "Is there summet up with them?"

"Nah." said Sonic "It's not hard to admit you're wrong, especially when Hamlin's the one who came up with the dumb idea."

"I'm totally in agreement there." said Mandy with a chuckle.

"So my handsome hero, what's the plan?" asked Sonic's biggest fan and hammer swinging heroine Amy Rose.

"Nicole came up with an excellent idea." said Sonic "Since Eggman's not at Robotropolis, she suggested we could go over to Robotropolis and trash the place just to sabotage his forces and he won't be there to keep everything in check so Robotropolis will be in Robo-Chaos."

"I like the sound of that!" smirked Knuckles, punching his fists together with a big smile on his face "I can't wait to trash some Eggman butt-bots!"

"But what about Royal HQ?" asked Bunnie Rabbot, cyborg rabbit and beauty "We need to get it back or Eggman's dun get the advantage over us sugah-hog."

"I know." said Sonic "Which is why I decided that me and you will kick Eggman, Shadow and Rouge's butts outta Royal HQ and back to Robotropolis, which will probably be in pieces once my friends are finished."

"Me?" asked Bunnie, a little surprised that Sonic had chosen her in particular "What did ya'll pick lil ol' me for?"

"You're the strongest." said Sonic casually "And I think it'd be best if the strongest and fastest take out Shadow and Rouge if we're to get Royal HQ back."

"What? I'm the strongest!" retorted Knuckles "I can punch through boulders for crying out loud!"

"Nah, Bunnie's stronger." said Sonic with a crude smirk at Knuckles "She's punched through iron gates that are strong enough to withstand my spin-dashes."

"Humph!" fumed Knuckles "Maybe after this me and you should arm wrestle to see who's the strongest." he jokingly said to Bunnie.

"Yer on sugah." chuckled Bunnie "No harm in a friendly contest after all."

"So now everything's settled, we can do it to it." said Sonic "When do you guys plan to go?"

"Right now." said Amy, summoning her Piko-Piko hammer to her hands "I'm itching to smash Eggman's property just to make him mad!"

"Are you sure we're properly prepared for this?" asked Wilson "I mean, Mandy can't walk because of her twisted ankle and we don't have any bombs to blow Eggman's base up."

"Our bomb supply is in Royal HQ." muttered Mandy "We can't get any to use."

"I have some explosive darts on me luckily." said Geoffrey brightly, unzipping his backpack and loading his crossbow with some of them "All I have to do is fire them at something and press a button on the back of my crossbow and "bang!" thing's blown up. I may need to use a lot due to how big Eggman's head quarters are."

"That's lucky." said Ruben "But poor Mandy can't join us because of her injuries. What can she do if she can't fight?"

"She may have to stay here." said Geoffrey "She won't be of much use with a twisted ankle."

"Oh woe is me." muttered the purple mouse, scowling to herself.

"Never mind Mandy, you'll be with us in spirit." said Wilson, giving the mouse a quick peck on the cheek "And I'm sure you'll recover in time for our next fight."

"Yeah." said Mandy, softening up a little "Good luck everybody and trash that stupid robot city for me will you?"

"Gladly." said Amy with a devious expression on her pretty face.

"OK then everybody, let's do it to it!" cried Sonic "Good luck in Robotropolis everybody!"

"Good luck with Shadow Sonic." said Tails "We'll be back as soon as possible."

With that said, Tails, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Wilson, Geoffrey and Ruben all ran off through the forests of Green Hill Zone and on their way to Robotropolis in the Northern Border of Megapolis. Cosmo the Seedrian, Tails' love interest and plant girl didn't go anywhere.

"Um…why aren't you going to Robotropolis with the others Cosmo?" asked Sonic with a confused expression on his face.

"I won't be of much help to everybody." said Cosmo "I'll stay here and keep Mandy company instead."

"Suit yourself." said Sonic "See you later girls, I've got a headquarters to get back!"

"See you Sonic." said Mandy "And give Eggman an extra hard spin-dash for me, I still feel bitter about him lying about my well-being."

"Will do." said Sonic "Come on Bunnie, its juice and jam time!" he cried, running off at his trademark speed.

"Yee-haw!" cried Bunnie, activating her rockets and flying off after Sonic.

After Sonic and Bunnie left, Cosmo and Mandy just sat by a tree and began wondering what to do to pass the time.

"So Cosmo." said Mandy "What do you like to do?"

Cosmo thought for a moment and thought of something.

"Maybe I could tell you a bit about myself and my race?" she asked.

"OK then kid." said Mandy "I'm sure you've got some interesting stuff to tell."

Cosmo thought again, wondering where to start. Mandy just smiled to herself. She always knew when a kid had a lot to tell and it was always fun listening to them when they told their stories. Deep down though, she was wishing she could have joined the others in Robotropolis and helped wreck the city. Nevertheless, she knew she could relay on her friends to do a good job and she was looking forward to hearing what they had to say about the whole mission once they returned.

"Questioning query: Who are you tiny pointy thing?" asked Omega, looking at Alonzo and observing him up and down.

"I, marvellous Omega, am Alonzo the Butler Bot, your master and soon to be ruler of the Eggman Empire." announced Alonzo.

After switching Omega on, Alonzo had decided to trick Omega a little and hopefully get the marvellous robot to work for him or his plan to get rid of Eggman and Sonic wouldn't work.

"Error: You are not my master." Omega correctly noted, pointing a huge clawed metal finger at Alonzo and making him jump in fright "My master is the glorious Dr. Eggman. I am programmed to serve him and I will serve him to the max."

Drat! My lie hasn't worked! cursed Alonzo in his head Time to try the next one!

"Yeah, of course he is, I don't know what I was thinking Omega." said Alonzo sheepishly "I have some bad news for you though Omega. Dr. Eggman has abandoned you."

"Impossible!" bleeped Omega in anger "Dr. Eggman built me and programmed me to serve him. Why would he abandon me?"

"Because he foolishly thinks you're worthless." lied Alonzo "He decided you were a waste of time and he decided not to use you. As you can see, you're in the wreckage of the base you were stored in."

He swept an arm all around himself, showing Omega the wreckage he was standing upon. Omega's small robot head rotated a full 360 degrees to survey his surroundings.

"The base was destroyed by Eggman himself." lied Alonzo "He wanted to get rid of you because he thought you were such a junk heap. He doesn't like you at all Omega. He's abandoned you and forgotten all about you."

Omega's huge arms began to shake with rage. Robots don't usually have emotions but Eggman built all his robots to have emotions so they would seem less like robots and more like children to him.

"Dr. Eggman hates me and he tried to obliterate me?" he yelled at the top of his robotical voice "How dare he! Statement: I will destroy him and make him pay for trying to eviscerate me! Prioritizing: Must destroy Eggman and prove to him I am the mightiest of all his robots."

Alonzo grinned evilly to himself. His beautiful plan was working as well as a newly built and tested remote control car. Yes!

"I'm glad you see it my way Omega." said Alonzo "I've been abandoned by Dr. Eggman too so me and you together can destroy him and make him pay for his folly! What do you say Omega? With my brains and your brawn, we're bound to defeat him!"

"Assessing proposal: Acceptable." droned Omega "Explanation: Me and you are partners and we will obliterate the enemy, Dr. Eggman."

"Excellent Omega!" cheered Alonzo "But there's more then just Eggman we have to worry about. There's the notorious Sonic the Hedgehog."

"Questioning query: Who is Sonic the Hedgehog?" asked Omega.

"He is a blue hedgehog with super speed and he lives to serve Dr. Eggman." lied Alonzo "He also has some friends who wish to serve Dr. Eggman too. We need to destroy them as well as Eggman. What do you say?"

"Prioritizing: Anyone affiliated with Eggman as an enemy of ours." droned Omega "Conclusion: Eggman and all his forces will be purged with fire!"

"Good boy!" cried Alonzo "Now we have one more thing to do before we leave."

"Questioning query: What is that then?" asked Omega.

"We need to test your fire power to make sure everything still works." said Alonzo "Destroy that pile of debris over there." he ordered, pointing to the remains of the giant drill that the Mistress of Darkness attempted to use to drill up a large oil supply.

Omega obeyed and deployed his weapons. Omega had a huge amount of weapons built into his body. He had missiles launchers and Gatling guns in his arms and laser cannons in his body. His huge arms would be useful for hand to hand combat too. Omega fired his entire arsenal at the wreckage of the drill and blew the debris into pieces. There was a terrific explosion caused by the lasers, missiles and bullets that were fired at the remains and the drill's wreckage had been reduced to even smaller pieces of debris. In fact, some of the debris had been educed to sprinkles of dust by Omega's colossal barrage. Alonzo smiled evilly to himself. This was perfect! He had Eggman's mightiest machine at his command and ready to use on Eggman and Sonic! Those two were as good as dead once Omega arrived on the scene!

"Well done Omega." said Alonzo "Now follow me, I know where our enemies are."

Omega obeyed and followed Alonzo, who zipped off on his little wheels. The two left the wreckage of Grand Metropolis behind and headed to Mobotropolis. Alonzo couldn't wait to watch Omega kill Dr. Eggman and Sonic, the two people he loathed more then anything in the world. The whole thing would be like a fireworks display once Omega fired his barrage of weapons at Eggman and Sonic…

In Royal HQ, Dr. Eggman had toured the entire base and he was pretty impressed with what the base had to offer. He was particularly impressed with the weapon supply that Royal HQ had and the laboratory was on thing he loved as well. Shadow and Rouge had just been lounging around in the lab waiting for Dr. Eggman to finish his tour and whereas Rouge was getting bored, Shadow didn't seem bored at all. He was a very patient waiter after all.

"Hey Shadow boy, aren't you getting bored of waiting for Eggman to finish touring this dump?" muttered Rouge.

Shadow ignored her. Rouge scoffed at the black hedgehog's ignorance. Then she suddenly realized something. Now she was alone with Shadow, she could try and get Shadow to dump Dr. Eggman and go off with her and be her partner in crime on jewel hunts. She had to take the opportunity now before Dr. Eggman arrived back.

"Hey Shadow." said Rouge in her sexy seductive voice "Now we're alone, I've got something to ask you."

"What is it?" sighed Shadow an annoyance.

He was really finding Rouge to be an annoyance right now. Rouge looked around to make sure no one was about and then she spoke.

"Do you really think Eggman is your creator?"

"If he says he is, he is." snapped Shadow "Why would he say he created me when he didn't?"

"Eggman's known for being a liar after all." said Rouge, truthfully "And he's lying to you about your creation, I think. I have a feeling he's not the one who made you, I keep thinking he's…"

Shadow wasn't listening. He blanked out once again and began hearing that strange voice in his head again.

I am your creator… boomed the voice in his head …and you will serve me faithfully and loyally my brilliant creation…

That voice was beginning to get on Shadow's nerves. Why did he keep hearing it all the time and what was it on about? Was it a memory from creation or something? Nevertheless, Shadow kept telling himself to ignore the voice until further notice but he couldn't help but succumb to it and have it booming through his head like a pounding drum.

"Shadow?" asked Rouge.

Shadow snapped out of it.

"Huh? What?" he mumbled.

"Oh that is so rude!" muttered Rouge "Didn't anyone ever tell you it's not polite to ignore people when they're trying to talk to you?"

"I was never taught any manners." said Shadow "I don't even know what "manners" are."

Boy will he be a disaster at the dinner table then! joked Rouge in her mind.

Then suddenly, before she could repeat what she was saying to Shadow before he blanked out, Dr. Eggman arrived back into the lab.

"Well you two, it seems we've captured ourselves quite a base!" he announced loudly "Look at all the things they have! They've got a great weapons supply and the lab here is pretty top notch for one built by Mobians! I think I'll live here from now on and leave Robotropolis as a spare base for me."

"We're riveted eggy boy." said Rouge sarcastically "Now have you got anything interesting to say?"

Dr. Eggman fumed angrily at Rouge's cheeky remark.

"I'd watch your tone batty or you'll be in big trouble!" warned Dr. Eggman.

Then suddenly, the huge computer monitors began to beep furiously as if it was warning Eggman of something.

"Intruders!" cried Dr. Eggman "It's a good thing I reset the intruder alarm so that it will warn me of any Mobians coming. Who is it Rouge?"

Rouge taped a few keys on the keyboard and the monitor displayed what was going on outside. It showed them a picture of Sonic the Hedgehog and Bunnie Rabbot coming towards Royal HQ.

"It's Sonic and the cyborg girl." said Rouge "They're heading this way."

"Are they?" sneered Dr. Eggman "How valiant of them to come and try to take their precious base back from me! Ha, ha, ha! Shadow, eviscerate them both!"

"Will do doctor." said Shadow, running out of the lab at top speed.

"Should I help him?" asked Rouge.

"No Rouge you may not help him." snapped Dr. Eggman "You'll embarrass him. He can handle Sonic by himself. You can stay here and man the laboratory while I watch Shadow crush Sonic and Bunnie."

Rouge scoffed at Eggman, folded her arms crossly and stuck her nose in the air. Dr. Eggman left the lab and strode down the corridor as he headed for outside Royal HQ. He was looking forward to watching Shadow, his most brilliant weapon crush Sonic and Bunnie together. Today looked like it was going to reward him another victory so shortly after his first one…

Outside, Shadow stood guard in front of the door to Royal HQ and he stood there waiting with his arms folded. He waited for Sonic and Bunnie to arrive and in a matter of seconds, they did. Sonic skidded to a halt and Bunnie touched down beside him. They both stared at Shadow who scowled at them with his cold red eyes. Sonic and Bunnie bent down in battle ready stances and prepared to cut loose on Shadow. Dr. Eggman exited Royal HQ and stood by the door to watch the fight. This was a fight he could tell he was going to enjoy and he wanted to savour every minute of it.

"Hey up Shadow." said Sonic with a cocky grin "Nice to see you again."

"Sarcasm will get you nowhere blue hedgehog." snarled Shadow "Now get off my master's property faker or I will spin-dash you into the ground!"

"OK we will." said Sonic in a mocking tone "If we were ON your master's property that is. You're on our property so you get lost."

"We took your base Sonic so it's ours!" yelled Shadow "I'll take your life as well if I have to!"

"Ya'll are taken nobody's life shadow-hog!" yelled Bunnie "Now you, Eggman and Rouge get out of Royal HQ before we do our worst on ya'll!"

"I have a better idea, I'll fight you for Royal HQ!" yelled Shadow "Winner gets the base and loser gets destroyed! How about that faker?"

"You're on stripes." said Sonic "And stop calling me faker, faker!"

"You have the nerve to call me faker when I've been around for far longer then you have?" exclaimed Shadow "I am the Ultimate Life form and I'll make you see who the real faker is!"

"Then enough talk and let's bash each other's brains out." said Sonic.

Shadow did not wait to be asked twice. He charged towards Sonic on his jet shoes and gave the blue hedgehog a massive punch to the face. That punch left Sonic stunned and gobsmacked and the next thing he knew, he was lying on the ground looking up at the sky. Shadow smirked triumphantly and prepared to stomp on Sonic's head. Bunnie Rabbot gave the black hedgehog an uppercut to the side of the head that sent him hurling a good distance away from Sonic. Bunnie then bent down to help Sonic stand up. Sonic rubbed his cheek, still stunned by that powerful punch.

"Are ya'll OK sugah-hog?" asked Bunnie worriedly.

"I'm fine, just shaken." said Sonic "Man that guy can punch!"

"Good thing ah can punch harder!" laughed Bunnie "Look how far ah've sent shadow-hog flyin'!"

She pointed in front of here and Sonic could see Shadow lying there about fifty feet away from where he and Bunnie were.

"Let's get the drop on him before he gets up!" exclaimed Sonic "Bunnie you take the right, I'll take the left!"

"No problem sugah-hog!" cried Bunnie, running up to Shadow as fast as her robotic legs would let her.

Sonic revved up his feet and ran after the Rabbot. Shadow picked himself up and saw Sonic and Bunnie coming towards him with their fists raised and ready to punch his daylights out. Bunnie was coming to him from the right and Sonic was coming to him from the left. Shadow didn't show any signs of fear since he had a sure fire ace up his sleeve. He merely teleported out of their way just as Sonic and Bunnie were coming for him. Bunnie punched at Shadow with her robot arm but since he had just teleported out of their way she ended up punching Sonic directly in the face instead. That blow cause Sonic to lose a couple of teeth and give him a large bruise on his cheek. Sonic lay on his side, completely overwhelmed by Bunnie's colossal punch. Bunnie immediately freaked and bent down beside the stricken hedgehog.

"Oh ah'm so sorry Sonic! Ah'm so sorry!" she cried "Ah didn't mean to miss! Shadow darn moved before we could get him!"

"Yeah I know." muttered Sonic "Stupid teleporting thingy he does."

Shadow reappeared behind Bunnie and he sharply elbowed her in the back. The Rabbot cried out in pain and then she cried out again as Shadow walloped her on the head. The Rabbot fell down on her knees and she began rubbing her head while grimacing. Sonic got mad and he lashed at Shadow with a punch to the nose. He hit Shadow and caused the black hedgehog to yelp. Shadow punched back but Sonic blocked it with his arm. Then Sonic and Shadow began to furiously punch at each other at lightening speed. The two hedgehogs kept punching and blocking each other and neither one could get the upper hand on each other. Sonic then kicked at Shadow but Shadow ducked so Sonic's leg swept right over him instead of hitting him. Shadow tried the same trick but Sonic bent backwards to dodge the attack. Sonic and Shadow kicked at each other both at the same time and they hit each other's legs. Bunnie got back to her feet and she lunged at Shadow with her robot arm. Shadow grabbed the arm and swung Bunnie straight into the ground with a slam. Sonic spin-dashed Shadow and knocked him onto the ground. Shadow got back to his feet and he spin-dashed at Sonic who was getting ready for another spin-dash. The two hedgehogs spin-dashed each other several times before Shadow finally overpowered Sonic and slammed him down into the ground. Before Sonic could get back up, Shadow spin-dashed him again. Bunnie then activated her arm cannon and blasted Shadow before he could spin-dash Sonic again. Shadow was sent hurling away but he landed on his feet and skidded backwards to a halt. Bunnie ran up to Shadow with her arm cannon still deployed and she blasted at Shadow again but Shadow blocked the blow with a Chaos Spear. Bunnie kept rapidly blasting Shadow but Shadow kept throwing Chaos Spears at the blasts to stop them dead in their tracks. Bunnie could see her attacks weren't working so she turned her cannon back into an arm and she punched at Shadow only for the black hedgehog to swiftly leap over her head and kick her in the back of it, sending her falling down face first. Bunnie got back to her feet only to get an uppercut from Shadow. Bunnie began hurling into the air but Shadow grabbed her leg before she could fly away from him and he slammed her into the ground. Then he threw her straight into Royal HQ. Bunnie crashed into the wall and slid down to the ground. She moaned in pain and Dr. Eggman laughed at her. He was enjoying this epic showdown so far. Sonic spin-dashed towards Shadow only for the black hedgehog to spin-dash him back and knock him into the ground. Sonic got back to his feet just in time to block a dropkick from Shadow. He then tried to punch Shadow in the stomach but Shadow smacked his arm away and punched Sonic in the stomach. Then Shadow roundhouse kicked Sonic in the head and knocked him over onto his back. Sonic got back to his feet and he ran off at his trademark speed. Shadow ran after him with his jet shoes activated. Sonic was hoping to gain some good distance from Shadow and then charge at him in an all powerful mover but Shadow was following him so the attack wouldn't work. Sonic looked over his shoulder and was surprised to see Shadow keeping up with him. The black hedgehog really was fast wasn't he?

"Nice, you can run as fast as I can." Sonic complimented.

"No blue hedgehog, I can run FASTER then you can." boasted Shadow.

He then proceeded to overtake the speedy Sonic with no effort whatsoever. Sonic was absolutely gobsmacked by that. He was no longer the fastest thing alive now. Shadow then did a very sharp U turn and he charged straight at Sonic. He grabbed the blue hedgehog and he ran back towards Royal HQ with the hedgehog over his shoulder. Shadow then leaped very high into the air, spun around like a spinning top and tossed Sonic straight into Royal HQ.

Sonic crashed into a wall and landed on his bottom. He grimaced tensely and he rubbed his aching back. Bunnie saw Sonic was in trouble and she rushed over to his aid. She helped Sonic get back to her feet and Sonic dusted himself off. Shadow then charged towards Royal HQ at top speed. Sonic was ready for him this time. He jumped just as Shadow was about to attack him and he flew gracefully over the black hedgehog, causing Shadow to crash into the wall. Shadow grumbled at his epic failure and he tried to attack Sonic again but Sonic kicked him back into the wall. Bunnie then grabbed Shadow by the neck and slammed him into the wall as hard as she could, making cracks in the wall in the process. Then she threw Shadow away from Royal HQ and the black hedgehog landed on his back. Bunnie and Sonic ran over to Shadow to attack him before he could get up but Shadow beat them to it and he got to his feet. He then threw some Chaos Spears directly at Sonic and Bunnie. The spears hit their feet, causing them to trip up and roll over the grass and dirt beneath them. Sonic and Bunnie came to a halt on their fronts and before they could get up, Shadow pinned Sonic's head down with his foot and made a threatening gesture to Bunnie that suggested "Dare get up and I'll squash him" so Bunnie didn't dare move. Shadow smirked at his defeated opponents and he looked down at Sonic.

"I win faker." he sneered "Now you can either get out of here or die. It's your choice and I'm giving you ten seconds to decide."

But before Shadow could even begin the countdown, he was blasted away by a powerful laser blast. Shadow was sent sprawling on the ground and Sonic and Bunnie got to their feet, wondering what was going on. Then suddenly, they got blaster by a laser each and ended up lying beside Shadow. They all sat up and stared at what they were suddenly faced with. It was E-123 Omega standing there with his laser cannons deployed and a murderous look in his optics. Dr. Eggman's eyes widened so much you could see them even with his glasses on.

"Omega?" he blurted "Impossible! You were destroyed when the Royal Fighters blew the base in Grand Metropolis up!"

"Correction: I survived." droned Omega "Much to your dismay. You abandoned me and tried to have me destroyed so now I will destroy you in revenge for trying to do away with me Dr. Eggman!"

"I did not abandon you at all Omega!" protested Eggman "I…uh… merely though you had perished along with everything else in the base! I should have known better then to jump to conclusions and assume the worst…"

Omega began to advance on Dr. Eggman menacingly, his feet making a clanking stomp noise with every step he took. Dr. Eggman backed away from Omega only to end up with his back pressed against the wall. Dr. Eggman stared straight at Omega in fear. He had nowhere to go and Omega was about to blow him to pieces. Alonzo had hidden behind Royal HQ and he poked his head around the corner to watch Omega kill Dr. Eggman.

"Prioritizing: I do not believe your quotes of untruth." droned Omega "Conclusion: you are my enemy and I will purge you with fire!"

"No! Omega please have mercy!" cried Dr. Eggman "Don't kill your own master!"

"Correction: You are not my master." droned Omega coldly "I have no master now, I am solo and I will wipe out you and the entire Mobian population and rule your empire. Now prepare to be decimated Eggman!"

Alonzo grinned wickedly as Omega aimed his cannons at Eggman's head and prepared to blow the fat scientist to pieces. Alonzo had told Omega not to reveal to Eggman who his master was so that should things go awry, Eggman would think Alonzo was still loyal to him and he would be in the clear and Omega had thankfully remembered that. And now here was the moment Alonzo had been waiting for, the deaths of Sonic and Dr. Eggman! But before Omega could even fire his cannons, Shadow spin-dashed Omega and knocked him away from Dr. Eggman. Alonzo swore under his breath.

"Doctor, get inside!" ordered Shadow "I'll handle the robot!"

Eggman immediately ran inside so he would be safe from Omega. Omega picked himself up and he clenched his fists angrily.

"You are trying to delay my objective." droned Omega angrily "Prioritizing: You will be decimated for your insolence!"

"Just try it bot brain!" snarled Shadow "I am the ultimate life-form and I…"

Shadow should have known better then to stand there boasting about himself because while he boasted, Omega lunged forward, grabbed Shadow with his huge hands and slammed him directly into the wall. Then he tossed Shadow into the air as if he was playing volleyball and Shadow hurtled about thirty feet into the air and crashed down to the ground faster then a falling meteor. That attack had shaken Shadow and the black hedgehog was finding it hard to get back up. Omega activated his jet pack and he flew towards Shadow, ready to attack him again. As for Sonic and Bunnie, they just watched the fight with interest and they couldn't help but wonder who Omega was and what he was here for.

"What in the hoo-ha is that?" asked Bunnie.

"According to Dr. Eggman, its called Omega and it seems to be an insanely powerful robot bent on killing his own master." said Sonic "That must suck for the fat man really badly. Well since Omega's content on getting rid of Shadow for us I guess we can go now and leave him to it." he said casually, getting up and ready to leave.

"Sonic! We can't do that!" cried Bunnie, grabbing Sonic's arm and stopping him "What if Omega blows Royal HQ sky-high in an attempt to kill Dr. Eggman? And what happens when he kills Eggman? He'll probably target us next and we'll need Eggman's help if we're to defeat it and he won't be able to help us if he's dead!"

"That's a good point Bunnie." said Sonic "Well, I guess we'll have to swallow our pride and team up with Shadow-butt until we get rid of Omega."

With that said, Sonic and Bunnie charged towards Omega who was slamming Shadow into the ground like a rugby ball. Sonic spin-dashed Omega and Bunnie blasted Omega away with her arm cannon. The huge robot tumbled backwards and landed on his front. Shadow scowled at Sonic and Bunnie ungratefully and Sonic just smirked at him.

"Hey Shadow, care to form a truce until butt-bot's in butt-bot pieces?" asked Sonic, holding his hand out for Shadow to shake.

"Save your sympathy faker!" growled Shadow, smacking Sonic's arm away "I will not side with my enemies! I'll destroy you, Bunnie AND Omega all at once if I have to!"

"Designating targets: Three bags of flesh to unleash my arsenal on." droned Omega, picking himself up and getting ready to attack "Deduction: Must eviscerate them all. Priority 1: Destroy Mobian targets!"

Omega ran towards Sonic, Shadow and Bunnie with his arms above his head and his claws bared. Bunnie gave Omega a terrific uppercut that sent him hurling backwards and she ran off to engage the robot again. Sonic and Shadow resumed fighting with Shadow kicking at Sonic and Sonic blocking the blow.

"The fight for Royal HQ just got harder!" cried Sonic as he dodged a kick to the legs from Shadow.

This fight was certainly going to be a handful for Sonic and Bunnie as they had a powerful robot and a genetic experiment to deal with…

Meanwhile, Tails, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Geoffrey, Wilson and Ruben arrived at the huge iron gates of Robotropolis, the one thing keeping them out of the city. It had been a while since Tails, Amy and Cream had been to Robotropolis* and to them, the city still looked as horrible and intimidating as ever. Knuckles had been to Robotropolis but he had never been in the city itself since Charcaronda had waylaid them at the time so this would be his first time in the city, same with Geoffrey St. John. Wilson remembered his mission with Mandy and Team Chaotix in Robotropolis where they destroyed a comm. tower and this time, he would be destroying more then that.

"Here we are everybody." said Tails "Robotropolis, Eggman's base and robotical city."

"To me that translates as: Welcome to Robotropolis, a city that needs to be smashed!" growled Knuckles, flexing his muscles "Let's get in there and cut loose!"

"We need to break down those iron gates first." said Wilson "If only Bunnie was with us, she could break through the gates easily."

Knuckles just simply marched up to the iron gates and gave them a sharp thump with his spiked fists. It took only two punches and the gates were open, giving the Mobians the perfect opportunity to attack the city and destroy as much as they could.

"Let's go everybody!" cried Tails.

"For freedom and for Mobius!" yelled Amy, twirling her hammer around.

Everybody ran into the city, yelling at the top of their voices and preparing to attack. Eggman robots all over the city flinched in fright and they began to open fire at the attackers. But the Mobians had had plenty of practice smashing robots so they would have no chance whatsoever against these invaders…

Lost Weapons Part 2

Story 61: Lost Weapons Part 2

"OK, a fight between Shadow the Hedgehog and a big annoying robot was not the fight I came for today!" cried Sonic the Hedgehog as he dodged a spin-dash from Shadow the Hedgehog and a laser blast from E-123 Omega.

The fight with Shadow and Omega had been going chaotic. Sonic and Bunnie Rabbot were having a real tough time taking on two strong opponents at once while trying to defend each other. Omega's many weapons were hard to dodge, especially when he fired them all and whenever anybody dodged Omega's attacks. Shadow would then get the drop on the blue hedgehog and cyborg bunny before they could get ready for an oncoming blow. Sonic jumped on Omega's head and leaped into the air, only to get a kick to the face from Shadow.

"You're just whining because I'm kicking your…"

But before Shadow could finish what he was saying, Omega flew up after him and clouted him with his huge arms.

"AUGH!" cried Shadow as he was knocked down to the ground.

Omega then tried to attack Sonic but Bunnie gave Omega a terrific punch that sent Omega hurling backwards.

"Ya'll leave the hedgehogs alone gruesome!" screeched Bunnie.

Omega skidded to a halt and he stared in wonder at the cyborg rabbit that had just punched him.

"So much power coming from a being who is 60% metal and 40% organic." he droned to himself "How is this possible?"

As for Sonic and Shadow, Shadow punched at Sonic only for Sonic to bend over to his right side to dodge the attack. Sonic then turned around and slugged Shadow in the stomach. Then he kicked the black hedgehog away and sent him sprawling on the ground.

"Look Shadow, we're in trouble from Big Boy over there and you're duking it out with me!" cried Sonic "I thought you wanted to smash Omega in order to defend Dr. Eggman!"

"I do wanna smash Omega!" snapped Shadow "I just haven't had enough making you eat dirt yet! Besides, your cyborg friend's fending him off for me. That means I can whale on you all I…"

Shadow was interrupted by a massive smack from Omega's giant arms. Omega then deployed his Gatling guns and began to fire masses of bullets at Shadow. Shadow dodged all the bullets and spin-dashed Omega in the centre of his torso. Bunnie Rabbot flew into the air, deployed her arm cannon and began firing at Omega. She hit him twice in the back, causing an angry Omega to turn around and start firing at her. Due to Bunnie's fast flying, she dodged every shot that was fired and she flew down towards Omega with her cannon still deployed. She blasted at Omega but Omega deployed his own laser cannons and blasted Bunnie's laser blast to stop it from hitting her. Bunnie raised her feet and landed foot first on Omega's face, knocking him onto his back. Bunnie then hoisted Omega off the ground with her robot arm and tossed him towards Sonic, who spin-dashed the mighty robot. Surprisingly, his spin-dashes didn't seem to do any damage to Omega's tough hide. Omega landed on his face and he picked himself up. Shadow threw some Chaos Spears at Omega but all they did was bounce harmlessly off his armour. Omega turned around, aimed his cannons at Shadow and blasted him. Shadow teleported out of the way and re-appeared just inches in front of Omega. Shadow gave Omega a terrific uppercut that sent the robot staggering backwards but Omega regained his balance and let Shadow have it with a sucker punch. Shadow hurtled backwards and landed beside Sonic. Sonic smirked mockingly at Shadow and he spin-dashed towards Omega. Omega smacked Sonic away and the hedgehog hurtled straight into Royal HQ once again. Bunnie Rabbot tried to attack Omega but Omega grabbed her with one hand and slam-dunked her into the ground. Shadow spin-dashed Omega but the robot didn't fall over and he regained his balance, only to get spin-dashed by Shadow again from behind. Omega fell onto his front and Shadow stood over him like a warrior standing over his fallen victim.

"It's going to take more then a lousy robot to stop me." boasted Shadow.

"Great, now Omega's down, we can spin-dash each other to bits!" yelled Sonic, spin-dashing Shadow from behind.

Shadow landed on his face and he groaned in annoyance at Sonic's cheap shot. Sonic and Shadow spin-dashed at each other once again and Bunnie Rabbot ran in to help Sonic should he need it. Unfortunately, Omega wasn't defeated like Shadow thought he was. Omega got to his feet and socked Bunnie in the face. He then turned around and held his hands out as Sonic and Shadow spin-dashed at each other. They accidentally ended up spin-dashing into Omega's hands and the robot grabbed them both. He then proceeded to slam them both together and throw them away. Sonic and Shadow landed on the ground and skidded to a halt. Their faces were covered by a mound of dirt they had made by skidding across the ground.

"So much for Omega's down." muttered Sonic, his voice muffled by the dirt.

"It's…so strong!" exclaimed Shadow "How did Eggman even make it so powerful?"

"I'm willing to bet it's supposed to be able to take me and my friends on." said Sonic "Eggman usually does that with his best toys such as Metal Sonic whom I'm glad to be rid of."

"So what if it is?" growled Shadow "I'll destroy it anyway! I'm the ultimate life form and nothing can defeat me!"

"As if." sneered Sonic.

Shadow sharply thumped Sonic in the back of the head with his elbow. Shadow then got back to his feet and skated towards Omega on his jet shoes. He and Bunnie were having a wrestling match. They had linked arms with each other and they were trying to overpower one another. Omega appeared to be winning as he was pushing Bunnie backwards with little difficulty. Shadow spin-dashed Omega directly in the side and sent the huge robot tumbling over onto his side. Shadow tried to attack Omega again but Omega whacked Shadow away. Omega got back to his feet only to get blasted by Bunnie's arm cannon. That shot appeared to tire Bunnie out though as she began to pant and wheeze heavily. She fell down on her knees and gasped for breath. Omega picked himself up and observed Bunnie with interest.

"Analysis: Rabbit Cyborg creature seems to tire after excessive use of her weapons." he notified more to himself then anybody "Deduction: Must eliminate her before she recovers."

He aimed his cannons and Bunnie and prepared to blow her into atoms but Sonic spin-dashed Omega in the head and momentarily dazed the robot. Omega began warbling mindlessly to himself as he tried to regain his senses. Sonic knelt down beside Bunnie, who was still panting.

"What's up Bunnie?" he asked "Tired again?"

"Yes…sugah hog…" gasped Bunnie "Mah weapons…have left me exhausted…when ah rest up ah should just use mah arm…then ah won't…tire mah-self out…"

"You rest for a minute Bunnie." said Sonic "Me and Shadow have got this."

Just as he said that, Shadow spin-dashed Sonic from behind and knocked him over.

"Wrong, I'VE got this!" growled Shadow.

Omega ran up to Shadow with his arms out ready to grab him but the black hedgehog spin-dashed him once again. Sonic picked himself up and muttered to himself.

"I bet my friends are having more fun in Robotropolis then I am right here."

Sonic was right to say that because his friends were having more fun in Robotropolis then he was in Mobotropolis. Since Tails, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Geoffrey, Wilson and Ruben were here to cause a big deal of collateral damage to the city, they were free to do what they liked without holding back and since Eggman wasn't there to bring any of the big robots out, they had nothing to worry about. Tails was leading the group as well as joining in the fighting and everybody else just followed his orders. Right now, everybody was just smashing Eggman robots, the only things standing in their way to Eggman's headquarters. There were Egg-Pawns by the thousand all armed with various weapons and there were also the larger varieties of Egg-Pawns armed with enormous hammers and the transforming E-2000 drones with their shields and laser cannons. Knuckles the Echidna ran towards a squad of Egg-Pawns and let them have it with his trademark spiked fists. They were reduced to scrap metal in a matter of seconds by his mighty punches.

"Ha, ha! Take that Eggman robots!" cried Knuckles with joy as he gave another Egg-Pawn an uppercut that was so powerful it took its entire head off.

Geoffrey St. John the Skunk armed his arm-mounted crossbow and shot a dozen Egg-Pawns with stun darts, putting them all to sleep as he shot them.

"I always did find smashing Eggman robots fun." said Geoffrey to himself as the Egg-Pawns all collapsed.

He then proceeded to smash them all to pieces with a good punch and a hard stomp on the back before they could wake up. Wilson the Dog deployed his trademark spinning blade weapon and he threw it towards a squad of Egg-Pawns all armed with lances. The Egg-Pawns freaked and ran for their lives but the double-bladed pole sliced them all to pieces as it cleaved through them all. The spinning blade sliced through the robots and boomeranged back to Wilson. The orange dog caught it and smiled at what he had just done.

"When you have a spinning blade, you're always going to win." he said to himself.

As for Ruben the Water Panther, he had a very easy time with the Egg-Pawns that were coming his way. Since water is the best weapon to use against electricity, all he had to do was send a wave of water hurling over the Egg-Pawns and that was it, they malfunctioned and dropped dead. Ruben laughed to himself.

"Ah when you have water powers, anything mechanical has no chance against you." he crowed "Although I wonder why Dr. Eggman didn't make all his robots water-proof. He did so with that peacock bot I remember battling before*."

An Egg-Pawn with a blaster gun crept up behind Ruben and shot him on the shoulder with it. Ruben cried out and fell onto his knees, clutching his shoulder and grimacing in pain. The Egg-Pawn ran up to Ruben in an attempt to blast him again but Ruben just pointed over his shoulder with his good arm and squirted the robot with a jet of water. The Egg-Pawn malfunctioned and collapsed to the ground. Ruben got back to his feet and scowled at the soaking wet Egg-Pawn that lay lying on its back dead as a doornail.

"Piece of tin." he said to himself "I'm glad they're not invading Chun-Nan and making a mess out of it."

Amy and Cream were having a very easy time with any Eggman robot coming in to attack them. Cream picked Amy up and took flight with her long flappy ears. Cream then spun Amy around and around like she was a tornado in the sky and Amy summoned her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand. The girls then edged closer and closer to their attackers and any Egg-Pawn foolish enough to be too close to them ended up getting a face full of mallet. The robots were smashed by Amy's incredible hammer and any other Egg-Pawns nearby ran for their lives. Cream put Amy down and the girls high-fived each other.

"We rock Cream!" cheered Amy.

"That was fun! I wanna do it again!" squealed Cream excitedly.

"Chao!" piped her pet Chao Cheese.

Unfortunately for the girls, a giant Egg-Pawn armed with an equally as large hammer stomped towards them. Cream stared at the robot and freaked, Cheese panicked but Amy stood her ground and held her hammer at the ready. The robot then tried to smash them with its enormous hammer but the girls dodged the attack, leaving the Egg-Pawn to smash the ground and leave a huge pothole in it. Amy then retaliated by whacking the robot with her hammer. The robot wobbled about precariously and then fell onto its back where it would have a tough time getting back up.

"I'll teach you to wave your big fat hammer around like a maniac you crazy robot!" screeched Amy, running onto the robot and holding her hammer up high.

The Egg-Pawn stared helplessly at Amy as it tried to get back up but the pink hedgehog smashed its head to pieces with her Piko-Piko hammer, killing the robot instantly. Amy smirked at the dead robot she stood upon and she flipped her hair around while preening.

"This is why I'm the best hammer wielder there is." she gloated.

"Well done Miss Rose!" cheered Cream happily "You're the best!"

"Chao, Chao!" cheered Cheese.

Amy smiled with pride. This is why she liked Cream; the young rabbit was so supportive of her.

"Thank you Cream." said Amy "Now let's smash some more bots!"

"Yay!" cheered Cream.

As for Tails, he didn't really see the need to get involved as everybody was managing things themselves right now. He just flew around watching the fight and piecing together a plan in his head. The team had to do more then just destroy some Eggman robots, they had to cause collateral damage to the city and make sure the damage would be devastating enough to hinder Eggman for a while. As Tails observed the chaos going on around him, he began thinking very hard to himself.

"Hmmm…" he thought as he took a good look around Robotropolis while flying with the aid of his famous twin-tails "Maybe we could… sneak into Eggman's headquarters and blow that up…that is the most important building in Robotropolis and if we destroyed it…that would hinder Eggman's forces big time. We'll do that then." he deduced "Now we have a plan." he said, beaming proudly at himself.

Tails should have known better then to fly low to the ground while thinking at the same time as a giant Eggman robot appeared from nowhere and grabbed him by his tails. Tails yelped as he stopped flying forwards and ended up dangling upside down by his twin tails which were being held by a BI-CEP drone, an Eggman robot with huge arms and mainly used for hand-to-hand combat. BI-CEP drones were tough enough to stop Sonic even in a spin-dash as one demonstrated way back during Tails' first visit to Megapolis which had been a while ago now. Tails squirmed in the robot's grasp but he couldn't get free.

"Let go of me! Let go!" cried Tails.

The BI-CEP drone just stared emotionlessly at him and just to torment him, he began to shake the fox around while he was holding his tails. Tails was swung back and forth and back and forth as if he was a bag of sweets being swung about by the person holding it. BI-CEP stopped shaking Tails and laughed a mechanical laugh at the captured fox.

"Ruben! Help!" shrieked Tails.

Ruben, who was just nearby and had just fended off a jousting squad of Egg-Pawns, heard Tails calling for help and he scampered over to aid him. He saw the BI-CEP drone holding Tails by his tails and the water panther let the giant robot have it with a wave of water. The robot was drenched by the wave and the water short-circuited its circuits and caused it to drop Tails and malfunction and self-destruct. The robot fell to the ground and lay in miserable smoking pieces. Tails rubbed his tails better and smiled appreciatively at Ruben.

"Thanks Ruben." he said "I'm so glad you joined us."

"Don't mention it Tails." said Ruben brightly "We water panthers aim to do good and good is what I aim to do, especially in the name of my clan. I bet they'd be so proud of me if they saw me now."

"They would." said Tails quickly "Now Ruben, gather everybody up. I have a plan."

"Roger." said Ruben, running off to get everybody.

Knuckles, Wilson and Geoffrey were all fending off a mass squad of Egg-Pawns and they were smashing them to pieces as they came to them. Ruben joined in by squirting the robots and causing them to blow up.

"Thanks for the water works but we've got this Ruben." said Knuckles "No offence."

"None taken." said Ruben "Tails has a plan by the way, we have to move on."

"Oh really?" said Geoffrey "This is the part where things get exciting."

"Amy! Cream! Come on!" Wilson called over to the girls as they took down an Egg-Pawn wielding a giant mallet "We're moving on now!"

Amy and Cream heard them and they followed the boys as they ran back over to Tails who was still standing over the wet remains of the BI-CEP drone that Ruben had destroyed.

"So what are we doing Tails?" asked Ruben.

"If we're gonna hinder Eggman's forces, I figured the best thing to do would be blow Eggman's headquarters sky-high." explained Tails "We should break into the base, find anything explosive and get Geoffrey to plant an explosive dart on them. Then once we're out of the building, Geoffrey can set the darts to go and we'll blow the base into smithereens."

"Great idea Tails!" said Amy supportively "I think we should stay out here and keep the rabble off your back though."

"OK then." said Tails "Geoffrey, you're with me, the rest of you, just do what you like."

"Roger." said Geoffrey, following the twin-tailed fox as he flew towards Eggman's base.

"Ah that's nice." said Knuckles with a smirk "That means I can smash more Eggman robots!"

"Then what are we waiting for?" cried Amy "Let's go!"

Amy, Cream, Knuckles, Wilson and Ruben all ran into battle, screaming battle cries at the top of their voices as more Eggman robots ran in to attack.

As for Tails and Geoffrey, they had effortlessly managed to break inside the base and they crept through the main hangar bay and headed for a corridor.

"So, what are we lookin' for mate?" asked Geoffrey quietly.

"Anything explosive." said Tails "Maybe a generator or a delicate piece of machinery. I'm glad I'm not gonna be the one planting the bombs as I'm not keen on destroying machines unless necessary."

"I see how you feel, you make machines after all." said Geoffrey "At least you're destroying Eggman's machines and not your own."

Tails nodded as they continued creeping down the corridor. Little did they realize is that they were being watched by an Eggman robot that looked eerily like Dr. Eggman himself. He was the head Eggman robot was left in charge of things whenever Eggman was away and he was not content in letting Dr. Eggman's base get destroyed by a couple of Mobians so he crept silently after them. They would never see him coming and he would kill them both in an instant…

"These are the times were I preferred it when Eggman was the only one to worry about!" grumbled Sonic who had just been slammed into the ground by E-123 Omega.

The fight hadn't really been any different from earlier. It had pretty much been Sonic and Shadow and Omega all fighting each other and not anyone in particular, they just switched opponents as they went along and took turns beating the snot out of each other. Bunnie Rabbot had just been sitting on the sidelines resting up and she feared the worst as the fight continued to spiral hopelessly out of control. It seemed grim for Sonic as he continued getting pounded by Shadow and Omega respectively. Luckily for her, she had finally rested up and was ready to fight once again. Bunnie got to her feet and charged towards Omega who was having a wrestling match with Shadow the Hedgehog. Bunnie extended her robot arm a good long distance so she could attack from a safe distance and she clopped Omega in the head. The mighty robot fell down on his side. Before Shadow could do anything, Bunnie swung her still extended arm and walloped Shadow in the face. The Rabbot then ran over to Sonic and helped him get back to his feet.

"Bunnie, good to see you back on the battlefield." said Sonic with a weak smile.

"It's a good thing ah don't need to rest much sugah-hog." said Bunnie brightly "Now we can take those two clowns down together!"

"You said it Bunnie!" agreed Sonic "Let's do it to it!"

Sonic and Bunnie then ran towards Shadow and Omega who were just standing up. Sonic spin-dashed Shadow in the gut and Bunnie walloped Omega with her robot arm. Sonic then pinned Shadow down to the ground with his hands and said to him.

"Look stripes, I'm getting tired of us trying to fight everybody at once so I decided to make things simpler, we'll fight and Bunnie can take care of Omega."

"As you wish." said Shadow, smirking "Omega will be Bunnie's funeral and I can stomp all over you as I see fit! Then once I'm done, I'll destroy Omega and save the doctor from him!"

Shadow then teleported out from underneath Sonic, leaving the hedgehog baffled. Shadow reappeared behind Sonic and dropkicked him in the back.

"Urgh! Cheap shot!" grumbled Sonic "Fight fair for once you cheater!"

Sonic leaned back on his hands and kicked Shadow but the hedgehog defended himself with his arms held out in a cross shape. Sonic then punched at Shadow but Shadow blocked his blows with a swift block of the arm each time Sonic tried to attack. Shadow then slugged Sonic in the stomach and then smacked him with the side of his fist. Sonic fell down on his hands and knees but he quickly recovered and kneed Shadow in the groin. Shadow screamed in pain and he fell down on his knees, trying to fight the pain in between his legs. Seizing the chance, Sonic gave Shadow an uppercut and then spin-dashed him. Shadow landed on his back but he quickly recovered and threw some Chaos Spears at Sonic. Sonic dodged the spears and the two hedgehogs spin-dashed each other.

As for Bunnie and Omega, they were proving to be a very fierce rival pair. They were both equally as strong as each other and they both had powerful weapons. Bunnie decided not to rely on her arm cannon though so she wouldn't tire herself out and just relied on her mighty metal punches. Omega however, relied on his huge arms and weapons. Omega fired a missile at Bunnie but Bunnie deployed her force field generator and blocked the attack. Bunnie transformed her arm back to normal and let Omega have it in the face with a powerful punch. Omega was sent hurling backwards and he skidded across the ground on his back. Omega sat up straight just as Bunnie was running up to him. Bunnie punched him back down on his back and then stood on top of him, glaring at the powerful Eggman machine. Omega stared back up at Bunnie.

"So much power." he droned "I like your strength fuzzy/metal hybrid. Me and you could be a powerful team and we could destroy Eggman together."

"Ah don't work with Eggman robots." said Bunnie flatly "And ah don't believe in destroying mah enemies, even if they deserve it."

She then deployed her arm cannon and aimed at Omega's head, preparing to blow the robot's head to pieces and kill him instantly. Alonzo freaked and decided to interfere. He pulled a wrench he used for repairs out of his side compartment and threw it straight at Bunnie's head before she could kill Omega. The wrench hit the Rabbot and distracted her long enough for Omega to grab her by the waist and hoist her off of himself. He then got back to his feet while still holding Bunnie in his grasp. Bunnie tried to point her arm-cannon at Omega but her arms were trapped by her side due to the fact Omega's claws were tightly clasped around her body so she couldn't move her arms. She struggled feebly in the robot's grasp as Omega glared emotionlessly at her.

"Analysis: You rejected my offer and tried to decimate me." he droned "Conclusion: You will perish for this!"

"Nugh! Let me go you ugly old trash can!" grunted Bunnie, squirming in Omega's grasp.

Omega ignored her and deployed his Gatling gun in his other arm. He aimed it at Bunnie's head and prepared to blast her head off until Shadow spin-dashed Sonic straight into him. Sonic hit Omega in the side and knocked the robot onto his side, causing him to drop Bunnie. Sonic picked himself up and charged back at Shadow. The Rabbot picked herself up and grabbed Omega by the arm. She spun him around in a perfect circle and then tossed the machine straight into Royal HQ where he crashed into a wall and almost went straight through it. Omega picked himself up and charged straight back into battle. As for Alonzo, he had been enjoying the fight dearly and he began thinking to himself.

"What a marvellous show this is." he purred to himself "And while I'm quite content to watch Sonic, Shadow and Bunnie get bludgeoned into nothing, I can't help but notice how well they're holding against Omega. They really are valorous beings aren't they? Willing to take on even the deadliest of foes just to save whatever it is they're protecting. If I can turn Omega to my side then maybe I should try it on Shadow or even Sonic! Sonic may need some convincing but I'm sure I'll find a way to get him onto my side."

As for Dr. Eggman, he poked his head nervously out of Royal HQ to see how the fight was going on. Alonzo spotted him and instantly hid back behind the corner of Royal HQ so Eggman wouldn't see him. Dr. Eggman should have known better then to show himself though because Omega spotted him and instantly freaked.

"Dr. Eggman detected! Commencing full barrage attack!" he announced rather loudly.

Dr. Eggman immediately retreated back into Royal HQ but even a base of operations as solidly built and hi-tech as Royal HQ wouldn't withstand the full barrage of Omega's arsenal. Omega literally deployed every single weapon in his body and aimed at Royal HQ. Alonzo zipped away from Royal HQ so he wouldn't get caught up in the explosion. But before Omega could fire anything, Bunnie Rabbot blasted his weapons with her arm cannon. She destroyed all his missile launchers and torso mounted laser cannons. The resulting destruction of Omega's weapons ended up severely damaging the robot and causing his torso to smoke. Despite this, Omega appeared to have withstood the attacks and still seemed to be in fighting condition.

"How dare you foil my attempts to decimate Eggman!" scolded Omega, pointing sharply at Bunnie.

"Well ah couldn't let ya'll destroy Royal HQ along with Eggman so ah had to stop you!" snapped Bunnie "Now ya'll stay away from Royal HQ until this fight is over!"

"Analyzing proposal: Acceptable." droned Omega "I will not touch the building until this battle is over. Priority: Once I crush you with my bare hands, I will destroy the building with Eggman inside!"

"That's mighty fine with lil' ol me!" said Bunnie with a brave smile on her face "Let's tussle some more!"

The two rivals charged at each other and linked arms with one another.

Inside Royal HQ's laboratory, Dr. Eggman was worryingly pacing up and down while Rouge watched the fight between Sonic, Shadow, Bunnie and Omega rage on with neither sides gaining the upper hand on each other. The bat had been enjoying the battle and yet wanted to join in and help Shadow defeat Omega so he wouldn't kill him should he gain the upper hand.

"The suspense is killing me!" wailed Dr. Eggman "This fight looks like it's going to go on forever! We must do something and stop that deranged Omega from trying to kill me!"

"Why don't you let me join in flabby man?" asked Rouge smoothly "I bet I'll be great help to Shadow the Hedgehog in this fight."

Dr. Eggman looked at the sexy bat with the heart-shaped breastplate and thought for a moment.

"I can't imagine Shadow being content with this." said Eggman "But desperate times call for desperate measures. Rouge, you may join in the battle."

"Thank you doc." purred Rouge, running out of the lab faster then you could say "You're only supposed to blow the bloody doors off!"

Rouge ran out of Royal HQ and flew towards Omega who had just slam-dunked Bunnie into the ground. Rouge screw-kicked Omega in the back and knocked the machine onto his front. Bunnie picked herself up and was pretty surprised to see Rouge the Bat helping out.

"Thank ya'll Rouge." said Bunnie.

Her response was a kick to the face from the jewel-thief.

"I'm not here to help you honey." said Rouge "I'm here to help Shadow so my opponents are Shadow's opponents."

Bunnie was furious with this and she socked Rouge in the face with her metal arm. Rouge got mad and she screw-kicked at Bunnie but the Rabbot dodged the attack and punched Rouge in the cheek. While the girls brawled it out, Omega picked himself up and crept away from them. He was planning to destroy Royal HQ while Bunnie and Rouge were fighting but he didn't get the chance to. Sonic and Shadow were spin-dashing each other and while doing so, they spin-dashed into Omega by accident. Shadow dropkicked Sonic into the ground and then threw a Chaos Spear at Omega. Omega got back to his feet and whacked Shadow with his arm. Sonic spin-dashed Omega but he didn't do much harm to the amazing robot and Omega blasted him with a laser cannon. Sonic lay on the ground grumbling to himself.

"Stupid robot!" he muttered "Showing up and making my life harder! If I survive this, I'll be the luckiest hedgehog alive!"

He picked himself up and spin-dashed Shadow who was just throwing Chaos Spears at Omega. Bunnie and Rouge then both attacked Omega and Omega attacked them back while fending off Sonic and Shadow. Alonzo cackled with delight and he clapped like an excited little kid.

"Go on Omega! Cream them all!" he cheered.

Omega grabbed Rouge and slam-dunked her into the ground and then gave Bunnie an uppercut powerful enough to knock someone out but Bunnie was a tough woman so she managed to stay active. Sonic spin-dashed Omega once again and landed behind him as Shadow spin-dashed Omega also.

"I really wish we had some backup right now!" muttered Sonic to himself as everybody began to gang up on Omega…

Mandy Mouse had spent a pretty boring hour sitting around doing nothing while Cosmo the Seedrian told her all about herself and her species. Mandy had twisted her ankle after a mission in Spagonia and had to sit out of the mission in Robotropolis and Sonic's attempt to get Royal HQ back. Cosmo had decided to sit out of the mission in Robotropolis since she felt she wouldn't be of any use and had tried her best to keep Mandy entertained but her efforts seemed futile as the mouse looked like she was ready to fall asleep.

"Oh Mandy I'm sorry, am I boring you?" asked Cosmo.

"Sort of, yeah." said Mandy glumly "Don't take this the wrong way sweetie, I appreciate your efforts and I'm pleased to see you care about me but I'm not the kind of girl who sits around listening to stories and lying around doing nothing for minutes on end."

"All the girls on my planet are like that except mother." said Cosmo "Mother is the only serious women on my planet so because of this,

I assume all girls on other worlds are like the girls on my planet."

"Well most girls are like that." said Mandy "I just have that particular tomboyish streak that most girls never seem to have."

"I bet you really wish you were in Robotropolis destroying robots right now." said Cosmo softly.

"I am in all honestly Cosmo." said Mandy "I can just picture the whole scene that's going on without me right now! My handsome boyfriend Wilson using that cool spinning-blade of his to slice robots apart, Geoffrey using his combat skills to smash the robots to bits, Amy going berserk with that hammer of hers, Cream doing whatever it is she does to help in battle, Knuckles destroying robots with his spiked knuckles and that cute little water panther Ruben using his water powers to short-circuit Eggman's forces! Oh if only I could be joining them right now! It's just a pity I had to twist my ankle and end up being unable to walk."

She twitched her foot slightly but that just sent a flush of pain up her ankle and she quickly grabbed her ankle and grimaced tensely.

"Ooofff! Ouch it still hurts!" she wailed "Boy I twisted it good didn't I? Oh, ow!"

"Do you want me to get something damp to ease the pain?" asked Cosmo politely.

"No little Cosmo, I'm fine." Mandy insisted, not wanting Cosmo to fuss over her like an overly cautious housemaid "Although you could do me a big favour and get me something to use as a crutch so I can stand up."

Cosmo was up on her feet and off through the forest in a jiffy. Mandy smiled graciously at the little plant girl that was being so kind to her right now.

"Such a wonderful little girl." she said to herself "If I ever have a kid, I want him or her to be just like her, as well as like me of course."

Cosmo wasn't gone for very long. When you're in a forest, it doesn't take long to find something to use as a crutch. Cosmo had found a long tree branch that had long since fallen off and she picked the branch up. It pained her to see fallen tree branches as it made her think of the poor trees and how it was like losing an arm or a leg to them but it made her feel good to think she was putting the branch to good use. She dragged the long branch back to Mandy and dropped it down by the mouse's feet.

"Will this do?" asked Cosmo.

"Definitely." said Mandy, picking the branch up and standing up on her good leg while using the branch to keep herself up "Thank you Cosmo."

"Why do you want to stand up anyway?" asked Cosmo.

"To tell you the truth, I'm curious as to what's going on at Royal HQ so I want to see if everything's going well." said Mandy "You coming Cosmo?"

"Of course." said Cosmo.

Mandy then limped off with the tree branch by her side. Cosmo followed her and the two headed off through the woods and to Royal HQ where a big fight was going on and they'd soon end up in it…

Meanwhile in Robotropolis, everything was going the Mobians' way. Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Wilson and Ruben had been doing a brilliant job at keeping the robots at bay while Tails and Geoffrey were preparing Dr. Eggman's headquarters for destruction. The fox and skunk had had a thorough search of the base and they found something that looked delicate enough to destroy and blow the base sky-high. They had found a generator room with four hi-tech and very powerful generators that powered the base. If they destroyed the generators, the explosion would tear the base apart so they decided to set things up in the generator room. Geoffrey loaded his crossbow with the exploding darts and he shot eight darts, two in each generator and he and Tails left the room. The closed the door behind them and ran down the corridor.

"Alright mate, once we get out of the base, I'll push this button." said Geoffrey, pointing to the button on his crossbow "The darts will all explode and the generators will be blown to smithereens."

"Great." said Tails "I'm kind of amazed how easy a time we're having here. We haven't had much trouble getting through Eggman's forces and our operation here was way too easy."

"I guess Eggman's forces are slobby when they have no one to command them." suggested Geoffrey.

The skunk and fox continued running down the corridor until something appeared in the doorway and stopped them dead in their tracks. Tails and Geoffrey skidded to a halt and stared in surprise at their confronter. The thing that had stopped them dead in their tracks was a robot that resembled Dr. Eggman. It was just as tall as Eggman himself and had a spherical body, spherical shoulders with spikes on them, a spiked head, missile launchers on its back, spikes on the top of its feet and a metal moustache similar to Dr. Eggman's own moustache. It was equipped with a shield on its left arm and it wielded a spiked mace. It didn't do anything except stand there ominously and glare at it's victims with its single visor eye. This was the head Eggman robot that Dr. Eggman used to run things whenever he was gone. Tails and Geoffrey were quite taken aback by the appearance of such a robot and began wondering what it was.

"What is that thing?" asked Tails.

"A robot that's begging for a bruising that's what!" declared Geoffrey, loading his crossbow with an explosive dart "I'll take it down!"

Geoffrey shot the Eggman bot but the Eggman bot defended itself with its shield. The dart embedded itself into the robot's shield and Geoffrey was about to press the button on his crossbow that would cause the dart to explode until Tails stopped him.

"No Geoffrey, you'll set the darts in the generator room off as well as the dart in its shield." noted Tails "And you'll blow the base up and kill us as well as the robot if you do that."

"In that case, we've gotta get past the bloke and out the base then I can set the darts to blow." Geoffrey deduced "Let's go for it Tails!"

Geoffrey tried to run past the Eggman bot but the Eggman bot simply held a hand out and grabbed the skunk by the throat. He then slam-dunked Geoffrey straight into the floor and pulled out its mace. It raised the mace above his head and prepared to smash Geoffrey into the floor but Tails kicked it in the head and made it stagger backwards. Geoffrey picked himself up and tried to kick the Eggman bot but the Eggman bot raised its shield and defended the blow. The Eggman bot slugged Geoffrey in the stomach and elbowed Tails who was trying to attack it from behind. Tails fell to the floor clutching his face and Geoffrey doubled over clutching his stomach. Tails then sprung back into action and tail-whipped the Eggman bot in the head but the attack didn't seem to do much to the powerful Eggman-shaped robot. The Eggman bot walloped Tails with its mace and Tails was sent hurling into a wall. He groaned hoarsely and lay there weak and defenceless as the Eggman bot advance on him and prepared to club him to death with the spiked mace it wielded. Geoffrey saw the perfect opportunity to escape but he noted that he couldn't leave Tails behind so instead he leaped onto the Eggman bot's back and pulled on its head. The Eggman bot flailed about madly trying to get Geoffrey off of himself but the skunk managed to hold on tight. The Eggman bot grabbed Geoffrey with one of its hands and it tossed Geoffrey down the corridor. Geoffrey got to his feet and ran for it in an attempt to get out of the base so he could set the darts to blow but the Eggman bot pressed a button on the wall that made a steel door close, trapping Geoffrey and Tails in the corridor with it. Geoffrey cursed his bad luck and looked back as the Eggman bot ran up towards him, spinning it's mace around.

"Man! if only I could get the darts to explode individually and that way I could fire a dart in this door and blow it down without setting off the ones in the generator room at the same time!" moaned Geoffrey "It's a blinkin' shame the darts I plant all explode at once when I pull the trigger!"

The Eggman bot swung it's mace at Geoffrey but the skunk dodged the blow and the mace hit the door instead. It dented the door but only slightly and Geoffrey ran past the robot and back up the corridor. The Eggman bot flew after him with jets on its back and it raised the mace, preparing to smash the skunk into the ground. Tails had recovered from the Eggman bot's mace attack and he flew up the corridor towards the Eggman bot and Geoffrey. The Eggman bot swung it's mace at Geoffrey but it missed and hit the floor just inches behind Geoffrey. Tails flew feet first into the Eggman bot's head and landed a kick slam on its head. The Eggman bot hurtled down into the floor with a crash. The robot wasn't down though. It picked itself up and glared at Tails. It swung it's mace at Tails but it missed and hit the wall instead. Tails tried to attack the robot again but the Eggman bot clopped him with its shield. Tails landed face first on the floor and he lay there wondering which part of his face to rub first.

"Ouch!" he cried "That's one tough robot!"

"You can say that again mate!" exclaimed Geoffrey, dodging a kick from the Eggman bot "It doesn't seem to take any of our blows and it appears to be an intelligent robot too because it blooming sealed off our way out of here further up the corridor!"

"What? Oh no!" whined Tails "We're trapped in here! How are we gonna get out?"

"You ask me mate!" shrieked Geoffrey as the Eggman bot tried to club him with its mace.

Tails began to think fast as the Eggman bot continued playing cat and mouse with Geoffrey. Tails eyed the missile launchers on the robot's back and had a bright idea. If he could trick the robot into firing a missile at the door that was trapping them in the corridor with the robot, the missile would blow the door to pieces and he and Geoffrey would be free to escape.

"Hey bot brains!" cried Tails "If you're so tough then why don't you lob a missile or two at me? You'll have to catch me first!"

He twisted his tails around one another and flew off down the corridor. The Eggman bot got furious and it stupidly did what Tails told it to do and fired a missile. The missile soared out of its launcher and roared down the corridor after Tails. Geoffrey immediately freaked.

"The kid's bone idle!" he cried "He's gonna get blown to pieces by the missile!"

The missile chased Tails down the corridor, picking up speed faster and faster by the minute. Tails looked over his shoulder and noticed the missile was gaining on him and fast. Tails made a desperate dive up to the ceiling and the missile, which to his sheer luck wasn't a heat seeker, charged on straight past him and landed slab-bang in the middle of the door that was sealing him and Geoffrey in the corridor with the Eggman bot. The door wasn't bomb-proof so it was blown into a thousand tiny metal pieces that littered the stainless steel that the floor was made of. Tails beamed happily at the fact his plan had worked.

"Hey Geoffrey!" Tails called down the corridor "The Eggman bot's missile has destroyed the door! We're free to go now!"

"Crikey! That's a good bit of luck isn't it?" said Geoffrey happily as he charged down the corridor with the Eggman bot following him.

Tails and Geoffrey ran as fast as they could down the corridor but the Eggman bot was much too quick for them. It flew straight over their heads and landed in front of them, blocking their way and stopping them from escaping. It whacked the floor with its mace which brought Tails and Geoffrey to a hasty stop.

"Any more bright ideas?" asked Geoffrey desperately.

"No sorry!" answered Tails "I'm all out!"

The Eggman bot swung its mace at them again and narrowly missed the skunk and fox. Tails actually felt the whoosh of the mace by his side as it swung down and hit the floor and he jumped like a frightened cat. Tails ran back down the corridor and the Eggman bot chased after him. Geoffrey then suddenly realized something.

"I'm such a thick-head!" the skunk blurted, smacking himself on the head "I have more types of dart then just exploding darts! I'll just stun the Eggman bot with a stun dart and that's it, our problem is sorted!"

In a flash, Geoffrey lowered his arms and let his backpack fall off his shoulders and onto the floor. He opened his backpack and pulled out a stun-dart. He loaded his crossbow with the stun-dart and he put the backpack back on his back. He then ran down the corridor to catch up with the Eggman bot and Tails. He ran a very long way because the chase between the Eggman bot and Tails had taken them to the end of the corridor. Unfortunately for Tails, he had run into a dead end and he was now cornered by the Eggman bot. The Eggman bot raised its mace and prepared to club Tails into the floor, giving Geoffrey the perfect opportunity to shoot the Eggman bot with his stun-dart. Geoffrey fired his crossbow and the stun-dart embedded itself into the robot's back. The dart emitted an EMP pulse that surged through the Eggman bot's circuits and knocked it out. The robot fell onto the floor with a clunk and its visor switched off, meaning it was no longer online. Tails sighed with relief and he ran past the Eggman bot.

"Thank you Geoffrey!" exclaimed Tails "I was about to become a very nasty stain on the floor until you saved me!"

"Think nothing of it mate." said Geoffrey "It's just a good thing I always bring a stun-dart in case I need one."

The skunk and fox then ran back down the corridor only this time, there was nothing to stop them so they made it all the way through the corridor and into the main hangar bay of the base. They ran through the hangar bay and outside into the open air of Robotropolis which was filled with robots firing lasers, waves of water, swinging hammers, spinning blade weapons and spiked fists. Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Wilson and Ruben had destroyed yet another squad of Eggman robots but they were getting worn out. After smashing another robot, Amy began to pant.

"Hey…guys?" she puffed "I…think we should…fall back…"

"Now's a good time." said Ruben, spotting Tails and Geoffrey running towards them "Tails and Geoffrey are coming back, their operation must be complete."

"Awesome!" cried Knuckles "Now we can skedaddle and blow the place sky-high!"

The Mobians all ran off with Tails and Geoffrey just catching up to them. The Egg-Pawns were all surprised to see the Mobians all retreating but they didn't do anything about it, they just danced about with joy, thinking they had won the battle. The Mobians all ran out of Robotropolis and Geoffrey pressed the button on his crossbow. The darts embedded in the generators in the generator room and the lone dart embedded in the Eggman bot's shield all exploded and set off an even bigger explosion that tore through the Eggman headquarters and sent the place erupting into a giant fireball that expanded to a great height. The Mobians were all spellbound by the sheer sight of the explosion that tore through Eggman's headquarters and reduced it to a smouldering wreck of girders, debris and smithereens.

"Whoa!" gasped Ruben "I don't think even MY water powers would be able to put THAT out!"

"Well at least its Eggman's property that's on fire." scoffed Knuckles "He likes to destroy our cities and homes so he had this coming for a long time."

"Yeah!" agreed Amy "Eggman deserved this!"

"Our mission was a success." said Tails happily "We did it! Just wait till we tell Castle Acorn!"

"I can imagine the entire council being happy with our success." said Wilson "And I bet Queen Sally will be over the moon over this."

"I wonder if Mr. Sonic has gotten Royal HQ back yet?" asked Cream quietly.

"Even if he hasn't Eggman will be forced to return to Robotropolis and rebuild his headquarters." noted Tails "Eggman can't possibly stay in Royal HQ with the thought of his city in turmoil nagging at him. Let's go and deliver Sonic the good news everyone!"

The Mobians all ran off and headed back for home in Mobotropolis.

What a bit of good news they had to tell for Castle Acorn and Sonic the Hedgehog! They could almost imagine Dr. Eggman's expression when he realized that his city was in chaos right now…

"Nothing can stand to my invincible power!" Omega gloatingly announced as he smacked Rouge out of the sky and sent her crashing into the ground.

He then proceeded to do the same thing to Bunnie Rabbot. Bunnie crashed into the ground yet again and she groaned to herself. The fight had still been going no better for Sonic and Bunnie. Shadow and Omega were proving to be a tough pair of opponents, even if they weren't working with each other and Rouge the Bat was just being a pain attacking Sonic and Bunnie in turn. She was helping Shadow after all so she was more helping Shadow then helping Sonic and Bunnie. Regardless, not even Rouge the Bat could match Omega's great power and despite the damages done to him earlier by Bunnie destroying some of his arsenal, he was still standing. Omega was a very persistent robot with a tremendous amount of stamina. It would take a while for Omega to finally fall. Sonic tried to spin-dash Omega in order to help Bunnie and Rouge but Shadow interfered by spin-dashing him away and grinding him into the dirt.

"Oooofff! Shadow, I'm trying to destroy Omega!" moaned Sonic "Isn't that what you're trying to do as well?"

"Yes but I just feel like kicking your ass." said Shadow sadistically "Now stop whining like a baby and fight you weakling!"

Sonic happily obliged and gave Shadow an uppercut to the nose.

Shadow stumbled backwards, clutching his nose and Sonic was just about to let him have it in the face with a punch until Rouge the Bat screw-kicked him.

"You're not punching my boy Sonic the Hedgehog." said Rouge with a sly smirk on her face.

She was about to attack Sonic again until Bunnie walloped Rouge in the back of the head with her robot arm.

"Ya'll leave sugah-hog alone traitor!" yelled Bunnie.

Rouge got mad and pounced on Bunnie but the Rabbot bent over and kicked Rouge and sent her hurling over her head. Sonic and Shadow began fighting each other again only to get interrupted by Omega clawing at them with his fearsome claws and they ended up spin-dashing him. Omega shot them both with lasers and then flew towards Bunnie and Rouge who were having a little catfight in midair. Omega shot them both with lasers and they collapsed to the ground. Bunnie retaliated by upper cutting Omega and then punching Rouge in the cheek. Omega punched Bunnie and held his arm up to defend himself from a spin-dash by Sonic. Shadow threw some Chaos Spears at Omega but they didn't do any damage of any kind to Omega's tough armour. Omega walloped Shadow and sent him crashing into Rouge the Bat. Sonic spin-dashed Omega in the back and knocked him onto his front and stood on his back.

"Hey Bunnie, this fight is getting us nowhere!" puffed Sonic "We need to get help!"

"But our friends are away and we can't call for help because Eggman's in charge of Royal HQ." noted Bunnie "Shadow and Rouge won't let us get near the building."

"Then I guess we'll just have to carry on fighting." said Sonic, jumping off of Omega just as he was getting up to his feet.

Bunnie drew her arm back and socked Omega directly in the face, sending him hurling about twenty meters backwards. Shadow then dropkicked Bunnie in the back and Bunnie punched Shadow off of herself. Rouge tried to help but Sonic spin-dashed the bat away from Bunnie.

Unbeknownst to anybody, Mandy and Cosmo arrived at Mobotropolis at long last and they were just coming up the hill to see how the fight for Royal HQ was doing. They were met with an incredible fight that was going on between Sonic, Bunnie, Shadow, Rouge and Omega. The girls stared in amazement at the incredible fight going on and their immediate thought on the fight was who the robot was.

"Well, this looks hectic!" blurted Mandy "Sonic, Bunnie, Shadow, Rouge and some Eggman robot are engaged in a heated epic battle!"

"That robot looks too tough for them to defeat." said Cosmo "And it doesn't seem to be on Eggman's side either as it is fighting Shadow and Rouge as well as Sonic and Bunnie."

She said this as Omega whacked Sonic and Bunnie away and blasted Shadow and Rouge with his cannons.

"Well whoever's side it's on, it must be destroyed." said Mandy "It can hold it's own against Sonic, Shadow, Bunnie and Rouge all at once, that makes it too dangerous to remain functioning."

"But how are we going to destroy it?" asked Cosmo.

"You sneak into Royal HQ and get me a bomb." ordered Mandy "Did Wilson show you were the weapon's storage is when he took you on the tour yesterday?"

"Yes." said Cosmo.

"Good now go!" ordered Mandy "I must have a bomb! It maybe the only chance Sonic will have against the robot!"

Cosmo nodded and ran off towards Royal HQ while Sonic, Shadow, Rouge, Bunnie and Omega continued fighting each other. Cosmo ran into the building and ran down a corridor, straight past the lab which earned a curious peek out of the door from Dr. Eggman. He saw Cosmo running down the corridor and then she stopped and turned to her right, opened a door and ran inside. Eggman scratched his head in thought.

"What is that plant girl doing here?" he wondered.

The room Cosmo had run into was the weapons storage room and she began looking quickly through the shelves. She found a steel box labelled with the word "explosives" and she pulled the box down from the shelf. Cosmo pulled a detonator out of the box and put the box back on the shelf, remembering to close the lid as she did so. She then grabbed the detonator and ran back down the corridor with Dr. Eggman watching her. Cosmo ran past Dr. Eggman and out of Royal HQ, making the fat scientist wonder what was going on. Outside, Cosmo ran back towards Mandy who was lying down on the grass to keep herself hidden from Shadow, Rouge and Omega. Cosmo narrowly managed to dodge getting hit by Omega as he was spin-dashed by Sonic and she dropped down beside Mandy. Panting and gasping, she gave Mandy the detonator.

"Will…this…do?" she puffed.

"It will." said Mandy happily "Cosmo, you're a star. Now let's hope I can get this right first shot, I only have one try at this."

Mandy primed the detonator and set it to explode in thirty seconds. She got up onto her knees and raised the detonator up to her ear. She held her hand out to aim properly and aimed at Omega who was preparing to blast Sonic and Shadow away. Mandy swallowed a nervous lump in her throat and threw the detonator. She closed her eyes, unable to see what was going to happen. The detonator hurtled through the air and neatly attached itself onto Omega's back with fifteen seconds to spare. Omega began rapidly firing his Gatling guns at Bunnie and Rouge who were trying to attack him.

"You cannot defeat me." boasted Omega "I am E-123 Omega, the ultimate creation by my traitorous master Dr. Eggman. I am invincible, I am invulnerable and I am going to destroy Eggman and then all of Mobius and rule the Eggman Empire! All of Mobius will serve me and my faithful subjects…"

His gloating was suddenly cut off by an explosion that tore through his body and blew his entire right arm off. Omega bellowed in pain and fell down on his side as his circuits began to fry and explode from the detonator. Omega's entire right arm had been destroyed, a huge chunk out of his right side had been torn out and all that was left of him was his left side and legs. Omega lay on the ground in a miserable smoking, flaming wreck. Omega had finally been destroyed. He was dead at long last. Alonzo couldn't believe his eyes. He went wild with rage and he began to have a robotic fit.

"NO!" whined Alonzo "How could this happen? Omega was doing so well! How could this plan backfire on me so badly? No, No, Noooooooo!"

Mandy opened her eyes and was relieved to see a destroyed Omega lying on the ground in flames.

"YES!" cheered Mandy "I did it! I destroyed the robot!"

Sonic and Bunnie saw Mandy and Cosmo lying in the grass and they ran up to the girls.

"Mandy! Cosmo!" said Sonic in surprise "Boy am I glad you two showed up! We needed the extra hand!"

"How did ya'll destroy Omega?" asked Bunnie.

"I asked Cosmo to get me a bomb and she did." explained Mandy "I threw the bomb at Omega and it destroyed him. Who is Omega anyway?"

"A brilliant creation that decided to go rouge on me." answered Dr. Eggman who had heard the explosion from in the lab and had come out to see what had caused the explosion. He was pleased to see Omega finally dead and non-functioning.

"I built Omega as a last minute resort and he was supposed to come out when all hope was lost." explained Dr. Eggman "But after my forces in Grand Metropolis were destroyed, I assumed he had perished along with the base so I gave up on him. He survived and I should have known he would because I had placed him in a bomb shelter for in case the base got destroyed and for some reason he turned rogue on me! I am not rebuilding Omega again because he might go rouge on me again!"

Rats! thought Alonzo, thumping the wall in anger My plan is in jeopardy! Oh well, back to the drawing board. I may as well run off back to Robotropolis so Eggman won't suspect anything about me. I'll start plotting once I'm there.

With that, Alonzo trundled off while no one was looking and headed off to Robotropolis. He was in for a nasty shock though. As for Dr.

Eggman, he said something else now.

"Now Omega is gone, I can deal with some pest control." said Dr. Eggman "Shadow, Rouge, be good helpers will you and get rid of Sonic, Bunnie, Mandy and Cosmo will you?"

"With pleasure doctor." said Shadow, cracking his knuckles.

But before he could do anything, Tails, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Geoffrey, Wilson and Ruben all showed up from nowhere and arrived at Royal HQ where everybody else was. Sonic smiled at the sight of his friends and wondered what they were going to say.

"Sonic!" panted Tails "We did it! We've destroyed Eggman's headquarters in Robotropolis!"

"Sweet!" congratulated Sonic, giving Tails a thumbs up sign "That's the first bit of good news I've heard all day!"

Dr. Eggman's jaw dropped and his glasses almost fell off in surprise.

"Wh…wha…?" he burbled.

He couldn't speak. He was so shocked he thought he was going to die of shock.

"You heard Tails!" yelled Sonic, pointing sharply at Dr. Eggman "Your home sweet home is a burning wreck! You see, Nicole came up with the bright idea that we should make a mess out of Robotropolis as payback for stealing Royal HQ from us! And according to Tails, my friends have destroyed your headquarters! So what's it gonna be eggy? Keep Royal HQ? Or run back to Robotropolis and get things under control once again?"

Dr. Eggman was in turmoil. He didn't want to lose Royal HQ to Sonic but he didn't want his home city to be in chaos and carnage. If his base of operations was out of operation then he wouldn't be able to make anymore Eggman robots and call for any of his forces so reluctantly, he had to retreat.

"Fine!" blurted Eggman "Take Royal HQ back! But mark my words, I will get it back!" warned Dr. Eggman "And that's a promise!"

With that, he stomped off angrily with Shadow and Rouge following him. Sonic and friends waited until they disappeared into the forests of Green Hill Zone and they all cheered with delight.

"We did it!" cheered Amy "We've got Royal HQ back!"

"Looks like making a mess out of Robotropolis was a good idea after all!" said Tails happily "We got Royal HQ back and Eggman's going to be seriously delayed for a time!"

"You said it Tails." said Sonic with a thumbs up sign "I oughta give Nicole a tonne of thanks for the idea. It worked to P-E-R-F-ection!"

"Um Sonic? What the heck is that?" asked Knuckles, pointing at the smoking remains of Omega which Ruben promptly squirted water all over to put the fire out.

"Long story sugah." said Bunnie casually "We'll explain later."

"Right now we have more important things to think about." said Sonic.

"Which is?" asked Cream.

"How to defeat Shadow and eliminate Eggman's greatest weapon once and for all…" said Sonic with his voice in a low tonne of pitch.

Shadow was too dangerous to leave into Dr. Eggman's hands after all so Sonic and friends had to get rid of him or Eggman will NEVER be defeated…

Dun! Dun! DUUUUUUNNNNN! This is it ladies and gentlemen! The final showdown between Sonic and Shadow! Who will triumph? Join me next time as Sonic tries to defeat Shadow the Hedgehog! Read and Review.

Trivia: I went through hell and back trying to get Omega into this series! Really I did! My first drafts for Heroes of Mobius last year featured Omega having his own story titled "Omega" where he and Sonic just...fought and then he'd have some bit parts throughout the series and eventually get killed off in a Tales from Mobius arc but it just didn't work out and Omega blended into the story very poorly so I decided to just abandon all hope of ever putting Omega in Heroes of Mobius. Then I thought of giving Alonzo a Tales from Mobius arc, which ended up becoming this recent two part story, which featured him getting Omega online and getting him on Dr. Eggman only to get into a fight with Sonic and Shadow and eventually get defeated. My reason for killing Omega off after a measly two stories is because I just don't know what to do with him so I felt like Omega just had to die. Sorry Team Dark fans but Team Dark will never be complete. Please don't kill me for this, I tried to get Omega to work in this story but I failed. So sorry. :(

Defeat Shadow

Story 62: Defeat Shadow

Dr. Eggman, Shadow the Hedgehog and Rouge the Bat had returned to Robotropolis and they were met with a terrible sight. Eggman noticed that his iron gates had been busted down thanks to Knuckles and the city was littered with destroyed robots. But that wasn't the worst of it; the worst of it was the huge flaming wreck of what was once his proud and glorious headquarters. What was once the centrepiece of Robotropolis was now a colossal flaming wreck of smoke and fire. Dr. Eggman stared in horror at what his headquarters had just been reduced to and he could feel himself burning with rage. Even Shadow was pretty surprised at this and for some reason, the image of a huge fire was giving him a flashback and that mysterious voice began booming around his head once again.

Yes Shadow … the voice boomed Once you're completed … you will purge Mobius with fire … and burn every thing in sight …

Shadow then snapped back into reality and looked at Dr. Eggman who was trying to refrain himself from throwing a fit. Eggman then looked at the ground and noticed something. A red spiked head with a metal moustache. He ran over to the head, bent down and picked it up. It was the head of the head Eggman robot he left in charge of Robotropolis whenever he was away. Just the sight of the destroyed robot made Eggman feel as if he had lost a lifelong friend or something. Eggman's face contorted with sorrow and he sadly put the head back down on the ground. The head Eggman robot was one of his favourite creations after all and now it was destroyed. He would have to build a new one but that would require his robot production line which he didn't have now his headquarters were destroyed. As for Alonzo the Butler Bot, Eggman's "loyal" servant, he saw Eggman grieving over the losses of his precious base and Eggman robots and he felt now was the time to make a dramatic entrance. Alonzo zipped up to Dr. Eggman on his two little wheels and he tapped him on the shoulder. Dr. Eggman got back to his feet and looked at Alonzo. Even though he loathed Alonzo with his life, he was strangely happy to see him again only he didn't show it, instead he kept his serious face on and picked Alonzo up and hoisted him up to his height.

"Alonzo! What happened here?" demanded Dr. Eggman.

"I dunno!" blurted Alonzo truthfully "I was just trundling home to Robotropolis and then when I arrive, I find the base has been destroyed!"

Alonzo didn't stick around after Omega's destruction and thus missed what Tails had just said to Sonic after he and the others returned from their Robotropolis mission so even he didn't know what happened. Dr. Eggman put Alonzo down and pointed sharply at a nearby Egg-Pawn.

"You there! What happened?" asked Dr. Eggman.

"Some-of-Sonic's-friends-came-here-and-des-troyed-the-base." droned the Egg-Pawn "They-also-des-troyed-many-of-your-Egg-Pawn-soldiers."

"Curse those Mobians!" cried Dr. Eggman "Why is it every time I* get a victory it somehow manages to slip out of my fingers and back into Sonic's?"

"Beats me doctor." said Rouge casually "Looks like you've got a huge mess to clean up."

"Yes Rouge, I do have a huge mess to clean up." muttered Dr. Eggman crossly at the bat who was being rhetorical to him "Egg Pawns! Put that fire out and start rebuilding my base!"

"Yes-sir." droned the Egg-Pawns that were left.

They all plodded off and got some hoses to put the giant fire out.

"Where do we stay while the base is re-built?" asked Alonzo

"In the back-up base at the other side of the city." said Dr. Eggman "It's like I always say, never build something without a back up plan.

Come on everyone."

Dr. Eggman walked off with Shadow, Rouge and Alonzo following him. As they walked past the huge fire and to the other side of the city, Alonzo's mind began racing like mad. The traitorous servant bot was thinking on his next plan on how to get rid of Dr. Eggman. And the revelation of a backup base seemed to be giving him ideas.

So Eggman has a back-up base does he? Alonzo thought to himself Now that's a lovely piece of news! Whenever the fat idiot is busy working on his next project, I can work on a project of my own and I'll do it in the back-up base while Eggman works in the main base once it's rebuilt. And this project will be enough to end even the mighty Sonic the Hedgehog!

This brilliant plan he was coming up with would have to wait though because for now, the main base needed rebuilding and Alonzo would have to keep up the subtlety and make sure Eggman had no idea about his true motives or he'll be scrap metal. Once his plan could come into action, he would destroy everybody and be in charge of the Eggman Empire...

Meanwhile, Sonic the Hedgehog and Tails the Fox had informed the Council of Acorn about their recent adventure and how they had managed to get Royal HQ back, earning a hearty praise from everybody including Queen Sally Acorn. After their meeting with the Council, Sonic and Tails decided to pay a visit to Royal HQ and discuss about Shadow the Hedgehog, the one person they desperately needed to be rid of. They arrived at Royal HQ, pleased to see the base back to normal and no Dr. Eggman in it and they went into the lab where their friends Knuckles the Echidna, Amy Rose, Cream the Rabbit and her pet Chao Cheese, Cosmo the Seedrian, Wilson the Dog, Mandy Mouse, Bunnie Rabbot, Geoffrey St. John the Skunk and Ruben the Water Panther had been waiting for Sonic and Tails to return so they could begin making plans on how to defeat Shadow.

"Sonic, you're back!" said Amy happily.

"That's right everybody." said Sonic "The Council of Acorn were pleased to hear that we've got Royal HQ back and made a mess out of Robotropolis. Everybody including that dorky pig Hamlin cheered when me and Tails gave the news."

"They were especially pleased with the damage we did to Robotropolis." said Tails "I bet Eggman won't be bothering us for a while. He'll be working on fixing his headquarters."

"Well that's good." said Mandy "We need a break from that fat moron."

"How's your ankle Mandy?" asked Sonic.

"Healing well thanks." said Mandy, giving it a gentle rub "I'm able to stand up now but it still hurts a little."

"It's healing much quicker then I thought it would." said Wilson "At the rate you're going you'll be up and fighting in a couple of days."

"I like forward to that." said Mandy "I hate sitting around doing nothing, it bores me."

"You're not the only one." said Sonic, sitting down at the table next to Amy, who was clearly happy to have her hero sit next to her, and Tails sat down next to Cosmo who was happy to see him again "Now everybody, let's discuss about Shadow the Hedgehog."

Everybody sat down to the table and Sonic spoke up.

"What do we know about Shadow the Hedgehog?" he asked.

"He's a genetic experiment that never ages?" said Bunnie, hoping she'd remembered correctly.

"He looks like Sonic only with black fur and red stripes and a quill do?" suggested Ruben.

"He can teleport short distances and use Chaos Blast." said Knuckles.

"He has a scary deep voice?" said Cream pointlessly.

"That's not important!" snapped Amy.

"Sorry." said Cream.

"He's a dangerous ally for Eggman and he must be stopped." said Tails.

"Great, we know plenty about Shadow-butt." said Sonic with a cheeky grin on his face "But we don't know how to beat Shadow do we?"

"He seems capable of taking us all on and beating us all." said Tails "Even Marik the Martian couldn't beat Shadow and all fighting him did ended up with him getting his arm broken. I bet Shadow would to that to us if he wanted to"

"And if we fight him all at once and don't give him a chance to fight back, he just Chaos Blasts us." noted Knuckles "We know how to counter that attack though by getting out of range and letting him tire himself out but once he puts those ring things back on his wrists, he's all powered back up again."

"I could always shoot the bloke with a stun-dart and put him to sleep after he tries to Chaos Blast us." suggested Geoffrey "It worked the first time remember?"

"That is a good idea." said Sonic "But I bet Shadow will be ready for that and he'll dodge the dart before it could hit him. In fact, he might not even Chaos Blast us, knowing that we'll try to dodge the blow and leave him worn out."

"We don't seem to have any other methods of defeating Shadow so I think we should try that." said Mandy "We trick that creepy hedgehog into Chaos Blasting us and make sure we're out of the way and while he's tried, Geoffrey stuns him with a stun-dart before he can put his wrist rings back on and in turn, puts him to sleep. While he's napping we then haul him to a nice and secure prison cell and he can stay there for eternity. Plain and simple." she added with a gloating smile on her pretty face.

"But won't Shadow just Chaos Blast his way out of the cell?" thought Cosmo "His Chaos Blast is very powerful and it'll easily destroy a prison cell."

"I don't think so." said Tails with a finger to his lips and thinking hard "Shadow seems to get power drained whenever he removes his rings so once he removes his rings and we knock him out and take him to prison, he won't have the power left to Chaos Blast his way out of the cell because he won't have his inhibitor rings to power himself back up."

"Even though I have doubts about this plan, it might just work." said Knuckles "It's the only chance we have and we've gotta take it."

"I actually concur with knuckle-head." said Sonic "We'll try that plan. But where should we get Shadow to fight us? We can't battle in Mobotropolis, the new city's not finished yet and Royal HQ's still patching up from the damages it received from our last battle."

"I have an idea." said Wilson "How about the old construction site near Stardom Village? We'd have a lot of things to take shelter behind while we fight Shadow and I'm sure we can use the surroundings to our advantage."

"When did ya'll know there was a construction site near Stardom Village sugah?" asked Bunnie.

"I've known it was there for a while." said Wilson "I saw it a good number of times as a kid whenever my parents took me to Stardom Village and I remember it so well."

"In that case, we get Shadow to fight us in that construction site." said Sonic "Good idea Wilson."

Wilson's tail wagged like a happy dog's tail always does.

"I hope the owners of the construction site won't mind the damage we might accidentally cause in our battle there." said Cream worriedly. She was a very respectful child after all and hated the thought of making people angry.

"No worries Cream." Sonic assured the rabbit "They'll just assume it was an Eggman attack and we'll be in the clear. Now we have a plan, let's do it to it everybody!"

"Yeah!" everybody cried in unison.

They all got up from their seats, left the lab, left Royal HQ and set off for Stardom Village. This fight was one Sonic was looking forward to dearly and he could almost imagine Shadow's angry face as he was beaten and put behind glass in a damp prison cell in an MPD (Mobian Police Department) station in Empire City or Central City or anywhere that was free and the very thought made Sonic laugh to himself…

Fiona Fox's life had been absolute garbage to her since she abandoned the Royal Fighters Service*. Ever since she left the team, she spent most of her time scavenging for food since she no longer had a home to live in. You see, she was stricken with financial problems and she was unable to pay a rent so she had to relinquish her home and become homeless. Her outfit consisting of a black crop top with black leather trousers, black fingerless gloves and black shoes with a buckle on them and a belt with a belted skirt around her waist literally became her permanent outfit since she couldn't buy new clothes to wear as she had no money left. At least it saved her a tonne of washing up as all she had to do was find a nice clean lake to wash her clothes in and that was it, they were fit to wear again. Life on the lam wasn't easy for her either as she often got caught for stealing food by the sellers and chased by them. Sometimes she got away, other times she got caught and beaten. There was one time where she resorted to stealing priceless jewels for the sake of getting money so she could live and she had to evade Melchett the Hedgehog and a squad of policemen. She only just made it but since then, she had been wanted by the jewel store owner she stole from and Melchett had been on the lookout for her since. Fiona had taken refuge in Rainbow Wood which was part of Green Hill Zone and only came out of her hiding place if she needed to steal food at all. True there was food in the wood for her but she didn't fancy the idea of having a permanent diet of berries and fruit so when she fancied something else to eat, she left her hiding place and robbed whatever store she came across. Fiona returned to her hiding place in Rainbow Wood with a loaf of bread, a block of cheese and a couple of ham slices she had just robbed from a supermarket in Empire City. She almost got caught by Melchett once again but she managed to escape and now she had returned to her hiding place, ready to tuck into her stolen food. Fiona, who was perishing with hunger right now, just devoured her stolen food at the speed of a pack of African Hunting Dogs. She didn't really care how she ate as long as she had something to eat. After Fiona devoured every last crumb, she lay back miserably against a tree and sulked to herself. Sulking about her life had literally become one of her personal hobbies.

"My life sucks." she moaned to herself "Ever since I ditched that stupid fighter's service, I've been in rock bottom! I have no home, no money and I'm literally a street rat now! I have to hide in this desolate wood just so the dumb cops can't find me and I have to steal just to eat! Oh why did I leave the Royal Fighters Service?" she whined, feeling very sorry for herself "If I was still in the Royal Fighters Service then I'd probably still have some dough on me right now! Then again, with my abysmal fighting, I'd be dead by now but then, if I took some lessons and improved my skills, I'd probably be a better fighter and I wouldn't be dead. Oh I am such a fool!" groaned Fiona, putting her hands on her head in an exasperated manner "I am such a great big dunce! It's my own fault I'm a street rat and now I'm going to die a street rat and the only person to blame is myself!"

She sighed a frustrated sigh and folded her arms in a huff. She frowned at herself and remained lying by the tree she was leaning against. She could feel some tears coming to her beautiful blue eyes. Fiona had spent most of her days crying due to what she had been going through right now and she had cried so much these past months, it was amazing she still had any tears left to cry. Fiona wiped her eyes dry before the tears could fall and began to think to herself.

"Maybe I should go back to the Royal Fighters Service." she wondered "That way I can redeem myself, get myself off the streets and clear myself of any inevitable charges I'll be facing should I ever get arrested. But will anyone want me back?" she asked herself "I bet they won't, they'll be all like "We don't take quitters into our group!" and all that crud! Knowing Sonic, he'll be ready to accept me back but I can't imagine Geoffrey St. Jackass or Mandy being so civil. Those two morons were never really fond of me anyway, especially Geoffrey. What I wouldn't give to have my hands around his wretched throat for all the grief he's given me!" she growled to herself, clenching her fists angrily and imagining herself throttling Geoffrey to death.

"In fact, coming to think about it," Fiona suddenly said to herself "It's not my fault I left the Royal Fighters, it's that skunk's fault! He was always the first to criticize me whenever I messed up and that stupid mouse Mandy would sort of join in and those two ended up lowering my self esteem and making me leave the group! So it's their fault I'm going to die a street rat not mine! I don't know what on Mobius I was talking about earlier! If I ever make it back into the service, the first thing I'm going to do is get some much needed payback on those two!"

"Then again…" Fiona thought to herself "…that would make me a villain and it would just make my bad image even worse so no, I shouldn't get payback on Geoffrey and Mandy. If I manage to rejoin the Royal Fighters and improve myself then maybe they'll be a lot nicer to me. The only thing wrong though is will they be willing to let me join again?"

Then suddenly, there was a rustling sound heard just a few feet from where Fiona was and Fiona flinched in fright.

"EEK! The cops!" she squealed "They've found me!"

She lay down flat on the ground and kept low behind a bush. She could feel herself shaking all over. How had the blasted cops managed to find her? They never looked for criminals in Rainbow Wood! Maybe she had accidentally left a clue or two as to where she was hiding and they had used it to find her? But Fiona had been tidy about herself whenever she hid in the wood so she couldn't have left any clues. Fiona then though maybe it wasn't the cops looking for her and it could be something else. She peeked nervously through two gaps in the bushes and saw what was making the noise. She saw a green hedgehog in a black leather jacket with flames on the arms, big black and green boots and red sunglasses that rested on his forehead. Following him was a ginger fox with neat black hair, styled whiskers and two tails. Those two were none other then Scourge the Hedgehog and Ginger the Fox! Scourge was Sonic's evil brother and Ginger was Tails' wormy, toady, egotistical, jealous grump of a cousin who had a very abysmal view on life and needed to grow up badly or at least get a punch in the face. Fiona freaked. She recognized Scourge from newspapers she had found in dustbins she scavenged in and read and had read all about Scourge's attempted ransack of Castle Acorn with Ginger by his side. She knew that Scourge was evil and he had to be stopped. She may not be a Royal Fighter anymore but that didn't mean she couldn't be a hero. Maybe if she stopped Scourge and took him to jail, that would be enough to convince the Royal Fighters she wasn't useless and she could prove how strong she was! There was no time to lose; Fiona had to take this opportunity before she lost it. No more life on the lam, once she arrested Scourge, her life would improve itself at long last. Fiona stayed down and waited for Scourge and Ginger to walk past her. Ginger, not surprisingly, was whining like a spoiled little brat (insert angry growl here readers!)

"Scourge, I hate it here!" whined Ginger "This forest is making my intelligence drop and it's making me feel like a homeless little tramp!"

"Oh will you shut the bloody hell up you annoying little whinge-bag!" snarled Scourge, punching Ginger in the face to shut him up "All you do is whine, whine, whine and I'm sick of it! Just stop whining and SHUT UP!" he bellowed at the ginger coloured fox.

Ginger shook like a leaf and rubbed his throbbing face. He decided to shut up and stop driving poor Scourge mad.

"The reason we're walking through this mangy old wood is because we're going to Mobotropolis!" Scourge reminded Ginger "I have a plan and it requires us taking over the Royal Fighters Service headquarters, aka Royal HQ and the only way to get through it is to walk through the forests of Green Hill Zone so you'll have to live with it you irritating little worm!"

"Y-y-yes Scourge!" squeaked Ginger.

Scourge just promptly kicked Ginger in the crotch, causing the ginger coloured fox to fall on his knees and clutch his tenders. He groaned in pain and tried not to scream.

"What was that for?" he wailed.

"For being a wimp!" snapped Scourge "Now come on weakling before I leave you there to get eaten by bears or wolves or whatever lives in these forests."

Ginger got scared and he leaped back onto his feet in a jiffy. Scourge and Ginger then began strolling off. Fiona leapt out of the bushes and ran after Scourge. Scourge heard her coming and before he could do anything, Fiona tackled him down onto the ground, earning a girly shriek from Ginger. Fiona forced Scourge's arm behind his back and pinned him down. Ginger, being a coward, stood back and left Scourge at Fiona's mercy.

"Alright Scourge the Hedgehog, the jig is up!" yelled Fiona in a pretentious brave voice "Either you come quietly or I'll break your arm!"

"Oh get off me you crazy loon!" yelled Scourge, wrestling his arm effortlessly out of Fiona's grasp and punching the fox off of himself.

Fiona picked herself up and wrestled with Scourge but her attempts were in vain. Scourge grabbed Fiona by the arms and through her into a tree. He grabbed her throat with his hands, pinned her to the tree and began to strangle her. Fiona feebly struggled against Scourge's grasp. Ginger grinned like an idiot and cheered.

"Give it to her Scourge!" he cried "Rip her head off!"

"Shut up!" snarled Scourge "I'll handle the wretch myself!"

Ginger shut himself up and put his hands behind his back. Scourge turned back to Fiona and stared into her blue eyes. He himself had blue eyes and it amazed him as to how similar her eyes looked to his but he couldn't let that fool him. Fiona was trying to get him arrested and he was not about to let her.

"Alright you wretch, how do you know my name and why are you trying to apprehend me?" demanded Scourge.

"I've read all about you in the newspapers and I'm just trying to arrest you so I can redeem myself for all the bad stuff I've done!" explained Fiona fearfully staring straight at Scourge.

"Are you now?" snarled Scourge "Well then, I guess I'll have to kill you then girl! I warn you though, this will be VERY painful!"

"No! Please! I'm sorry, I'm sorry!" shrieked Fiona "I'm sorry I tried to do something so foolish! Please don't hurt me! Please!"

Scourge was having none of it and he raised his fist, ready to punch Fiona's daylights out. Fiona closed her eyes and awaited for Scourge to punch her. She shook like a leaf and her forehead rained with sweat. Scourge was about to let Fiona have it until Ginger stopped him.

"Wait, wait Scourge!" cried Ginger "Don't hurt her!"

"Why not runt?" roared Scourge.

"In case you weren't listening to her properly, I believe she said she wanted to redeem herself for all the bad things she's done." noted Ginger "This could mean that she's a bad girl like we're bad boys. Why don't you ask her?"

Scourge grumbled at his wormy sidekick but he strangely enough, listened to him and looked back at Fiona. The young fox opened her eyes and was surprised to see Scourge wasn't trying to kill her right now. She began to calm down, her heart still pounding like mad.

"Alright woman, who are you and what do you do?" asked Scourge.

"My n-name, gulp!, is Fiona F-Fox." said Fiona nervously "I-I used t-to be part of the R-Royal Fighters Service but I-I-I quite the team and since then, I've been nothing but a lowly street rat stealing goods and hiding from cops."

Scourge took all of this information in and began to think. Maybe he could manipulate this fox into working for him. She seemed like a bad girl and maybe he could get her to join him. After all, having a female sidekick wouldn't be a bad thing, especially since Fiona was drop-dead gorgeous in his eyes. As Scourge stared at Fiona, he only just realized how beautiful she looked. Scourge was the kind of boy who tried to impress the ladies and have them all over him but maybe he could have an actual female sidekick on his side and have Fiona be more then just a trophy unlike the other girls he hung around with in his youth. Scourge then let go of Fiona's neck and spoke to the frightened fox.

"So you're a low-life are ya?" he asked smoothly, making Fiona shudder "Interesting. And you quit the Royal Fighters did ya? Why was that then?"

"I was useless and a lot of people put a lot of grief on me." said Fiona bitterly "I quit the team in order to save myself but now I wish I hadn't. I've lost all my money and my home and I have to steal my own food now and after robbing a jewellery store in order to get some money, I've ended up getting myself wanted and Melchett the Hedgehog is after me now!"

"Well Fi, I can make your life so much better." lied Scourge, flashing her a toothy grin that made Fiona feel weak at the knee "You see, I'm the world's strongest hedgehog and soon to be ruler of Mobius. Once I conquer the world and become ruler of Mobius, your life will never be the same again. So I say ditch your old life and start anew with me and I'll help you get your own back on all who have wronged you, especially the Royal Fighters Service."

"I can't join you!" blurted Fiona "You're-you're-you're a bad guy! I can't join the life of a villain!"

"Face it Fi, it's either join with me or spend the rest of your life as a street rat." sniffed Scourge

"And trust me, you'll love the life of a villain much better then the life of a hero. You'll be stronger, you'll force people to respect you and no one will ever cause you grief again!"

"Yeah!" piped in Ginger.

"Who's the dorky kid?" asked Fiona rudely. She clearly wasn't pleased at Ginger at all.

"Hoi!" cried Ginger "How dare you talk to me like that you filthy woman! I am Ginger the Fox, Scourge's loyal sidekick and soon to be assistant ruler of Mobius…"

"SHUT UP!" roared Scourge.

He gave Ginger an uppercut that knocked him out and sent him hurling backwards a few feet. Scourge turned back to Fiona who was thinking about what Scourge had said to her.

"He's a tool to my schemes, nothing more." said Scourge "Don't talk nicely at him, don't even treat him nicely. He's my little pet that I get to smack around all the time."

"Oh I see." said Fiona "So back onto this villain business..." she added, thinking about what Scourge had said to her "If I join you and help you conquer Mobius, can I be your queen?"

"Whatever you wish Fi." said Scourge with a smile.

"And I'll be able to get my own back on all who have wronged me?"

"Check."

"And I'll also be well-respected by everybody and they'll all bow in respect to me?"

"You betcha!" declared Scourge "So what do you say now Fiona? Do you wish to stay good and continue scavenging in the forests? Or do you wish to betray everybody and join a life of fun, destruction and malice? Go on, make your choice Fiona."

Fiona began to think hard to herself. On the one hand, she knew the perks of being a villain and what happened to most villains in the end. On the other hand, her life was absolutely terrible right now and nothing was going to improve it. She then began to remember all the bad things her former comrades had said to her during her time in the Royal Fighters Service. She especially remembered what Geoffrey and Mandy always said to her. But most of all, she remembered how Sonic the Hedgehog had not paid much attention to her in the service and never stood up for her whenever she was picked on. She wanted to pay everybody back, especially the Royal Fighters for the grief they had given her and Melchett the Hedgehog for trying to arrest her. Fiona scowled at the memories and quickly made her mind up. She decided to abandon all hopes of redemption and join Scourge the Hedgehog. After all, what was the point of trying to tighten loose ends if you just couldn't do anything right? Fiona held her hand out.

"I choose…to join you Scourge." said Fiona.

"Well done Fiona!" cried Scourge, shaking her hand "You're a smart girl! I think me and you are going to become good friends already!"

Fiona just slyly smiled to herself. Boy was Sonic and friends in for a surprise when she returned to Mobotropolis with villainous intentions! She could tell already she was going to enjoy this new life with Scourge the Hedgehog…

Back in Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman, Alonzo, Shadow and Rouge had set up base in the back up base at the end of Robotropolis. The base was half the size of the main headquarters but it was still as functional and hi-tech as the main headquarters and for the time being it would have to do. The only thing the back up base didn't have that the main headquarters did have was a production line but it did have a roboticizer chamber so Eggman was still capable of roboticizing his captives. Alonzo liked the look of the base and had a feeling that he'd be able to hide whatever he built for any plans he had very well in this base. This base would be perfect for Alonzo's secret hiding place. Shadow and Rouge didn't think much to the base but Eggman didn't really mind, he wasn't expecting the two to feel at home after all.

"Well this is my back-up base." said Dr. Eggman "Not as good as my main headquarters but it'll have to do for now."

"So what do you want me to do Dr. Eggman?" asked Shadow.

"I want you to wait a moment." said Dr. Eggman "I'm going to find out where Sonic and his friends are and then send you to destroy them. They're probably at Royal HQ but you never know until you look. When I find out where Sonic is, I'll inform you immediately Shadow."

Dr. Eggman left the room. Alonzo was now alone in the room with Shadow and Rouge. Shadow just kept on his serious face and he folded his arms.

"So are you in charge pin-head?" asked Rouge teasingly.

"Shadow's in charge." said Alonzo "I'm going to sleep. I'm running low on battery power and I need a recharge."

With that Alonzo shut his eyes, withdrew his arms into his body and his wheels folded up into his body. He now looked like a missile standing upright with a tuxedo and a hair style painted on it. Rouge began to wonder why Alonzo suddenly wanted to take an afternoon nap but she just shrugged casually and decided to forget about it. After all, since Alonzo had shut himself off and Dr. Eggman had left the room, she could now try to convince Shadow to ditch Dr. Eggman and join her on her treasure hunts instead. Rouge rubbed her hands and tapped Shadow on the shoulder. Shadow just glared at her with his red eyes that burned like a wildfire.

"What do you want?" snapped Shadow angrily.

"Geez, touchy aren't you?" scoffed Rouge "I only wanna tell you something handsome."

"Well this better be interesting." said Shadow hastily "I haven't got time to waste right now."

"Do you really believe that you were created by Dr. Eggman shadow boy?" asked Rouge.

Shadow looked stunned as if the question Rouge had asked was an ungodly shocking one. He shook it off and answered her anyway.

"I have a feeling he's not my creator." said Shadow "But I don't remember who my creator is so I can't make any conclusions until I get anymore evidence as to the origins of my past."

"I know that." said Rouge "Which is why I have a cunning plan which will refresh your rusty old memory."

"What plan might that be then?" asked Shadow.

"I say me and you ditch bot boy and become partners in crime." suggested Rouge "I'm a jewel thief and treasure hunter and I think me and you will be very good at this game together."

"But how will that regain my memories?" asked Shadow.

"It won't really but when we're not stealing jewels and priceless artefacts we can go on an adventure and look for clues to your past." explained Rouge "Maybe we could search all over Mobius and see if anything jogs your memory and we can find out who really created you and what your real purpose is. For all we know, maybe your purpose is to be a treasure hunter like me…"

Unbeknownst to the bat, Alonzo was hearing everything Rouge was saying to Shadow. Alonzo hadn't really shut himself down as he had made it out to be. He was pretending to be asleep while really he was listening to everything Rouge was saying. His audio receptors and mind were still switched on while the rest of his body wasn't so he could hear everything Rouge was saying and he was recording everything in his mind so he would have the proof for Dr. Eggman. The reason for him spying on Rouge is he had suspicions about Rouge after taking a close look at the way she was acting on the way to the back-up base. She had constantly been looking at Eggman and then shifting to Shadow simultaneously as if she was getting nervous about something so Alonzo decided to spy on Rouge and confirm his suspicions. Even though he was against Eggman, he was doing this to fool Eggman into thinking he was still loyal to him by getting Rouge arrested and making Eggman think he was still a devoted servant. He cackled evilly in his mind as Rouge continued talking to Shadow.

"…so I say me and you ditch Dr. Eggman and start a life of treasure hunting." said Rouge "I'm sure you'll have fun with it and I'm sure we may find clues to your past as we hunt. What do you say Shadow boy? Doesn't that sound like fun?"

Shadow had listened to everything Rouge was saying and he didn't know what to do. Was his purpose really stealing jewels? And would he find the answers to his past if he tagged along with Rouge? Or was he just a tool for the sly and sexy bat? Was Rouge trying to manipulate him into her own goals? Or was she trying to help him? Shadow had no idea if he should stay with Dr. Eggman, the one who claims to be his creator, or Rouge the Bat, the one who awakened him from stasis. Before he could answer anything though, Dr. Eggman's voice boomed from a megaphone in the ceiling.

"Shadow the Hedgehog, I have located Sonic and friends." he said "They're at a construction site in Stardom Village. Come to the lab and I'll give you the directions."

Shadow walked off without saying a word to Rouge the Bat, as if he had completely forgotten about the conversation they had just had with each other. Shadow left the room and took the elevator to the lab, leaving Rouge and Alonzo alone together. Rouge grumbled to herself.

"Why does that Eggman have to ruin every opportunity I get to convince Shadow to ditch him and run off with me?" she moaned "Can't a girl get any privacy anymore?"

That ' s all I needed to hear … purred Alonzo in his evil mind.

Rouge left the room in a huff, leaving Alonzo alone in the room. Alonzo put himself back online and he pulled a comlink out of his side compartments. He spoke into it.

"Master?" he said into the comlink "I have a shocking revelation for you sir…"

Meanwhile, Sonic and friends had arrived at Stardom Village and Wilson had led everybody to the construction site that he had been talking about earlier. The construction site looked old and was full of construction vehicles that didn't seem to have been used for some time. There were a couple of bulldozers, four cranes all carrying flatbeds at the end of their hooks, large excavators that looked as big as houses, enormous dump trucks with huge wheels and large dumpers and even cement mixers with their huge rotating barrels that mixed cement mix and water up to make cement. The site looked as if some building work was going on and yet, nobody appeared to be here right now, as if all construction work was abandoned for unknown reasons.

"So this is your little old construction site is it?" asked Sonic "Huh, cool."

"If this is a construction site then why is there no work going on?" asked Tails.

"I don't know myself Tails." said Wilson, thinking about it "But I vaguely recall it having something to do with the company going bust and therefore, abandoning all work that was going on here. Due to the Eggman war, I don't think anybody can be bothered to continue with building work here."

"So if we accidentally wreck the place while fighting Shadow, we won't upset anybody." said Cream, sighing with relief.

"So what do we do now Sonic?" asked Knuckles "Just sit around and wait for Shadow to find us?"

"Um…yes actually." said Sonic "And knowing Eggman who always has a way of finding us somehow, he'll somehow find us and direct Shadow there."

"I hope it doesn't take too long." muttered Knuckles "I'm desperate to get into some action and kick some shadow butt!"

"I'm just the same knuckle head." laughed Sonic "Now, does everybody remember the plan?"

"Yes." replied the group.

"Good." said Sonic "Like Knuckles has said before, it may not work but we have to try whatever chance we have. Shadow must be taken down…"

While Sonic talked to everybody, Mandy stared at a colossal red excavator which had its scoop bucket raised high above the ground. She stared thoughtfully for a moment and then had an idea.

"Hey blue dude." said Mandy "I've got a way we can subdue Shadow."

"You have?" said Sonic, turning around to see Mandy looking at the excavators.

"Sure." said Mandy "Someone could operate that excavator, get a tonne of soil and then drop it on him. We then dig into the soil until we find Shadow and then Geoffrey shoots him before he can squirm his way out of the soil."

"That's a great idea!" Sonic complimented.

"But we need ignition keys to get the vehicles started." noted Tails "And knowing the owners of these vehicles, they probably took the keys with them so we can't get the vehicles working."

"Oh yeah, I can't believe I didn't think of that." muttered Mandy, her big round ears drooping down in despair.

"We don't need ignition keys." said Wilson "Those kind of excavators work with the touch of a button."

"They do?" said Tails, surprised at that fact "How do you know that Wilson?"

"I read about them in a book I once owned as a kid." explained Wilson.

"Well that's convenient." said Mandy happily, running off to the excavator.

She climbed up the ladder on the side of the excavator that led to the cockpit. Mandy opened the door and let herself into the cockpit. She sat down in the driver's seat and pressed the ignition button. The excavator's huge engine roared into life and the enormous machine was functional once again. This gave Mandy an excited feeling in her gut as she took the controls and made the excavator rotate around 90 degrees and prepare to dig. She had always wanted to drive a huge vehicle and the fact she was driving one of the largest excavators on Mobius made her excited. Mandy pushed on the levers that controlled the excavator's arm and the arm, with a loud hiss and hum of the hydraulics, lowered down to the ground and the huge teeth of the scoop bucket embedded themselves into the dirt. The scoop dug down into the dirt and scooped up a huge pile of it. There was enough dirt to bury a small car under. The arm raised the dirt pile up into the air with a whirr and a clank. Mandy then rotated the excavator back 90 degrees so it was back to facing forwards once again. Sonic looked up at the raised excavator arm carrying a huge pile of dirt in its scoop bucket.

"So that's that plan set up then." said Sonic "We'll easily bury Shadow and subdue him with all of that dirt."

"I'll be amazed if we don't end up squashing the bloke flat!" blurted Geoffrey "We've got enough dirt to crush a hover-car!"

"Oh relax Geoff, we're not going to drop all the dirt." said Sonic "We're just going to drop enough dirt on Shadow to keep him down. We don't wanna kill Shadow, we just wanna put him in a nice comfy prison cell that's all."

"Um…Mr. Sonic?" piped Cream nervously who was flying with her long floppy ears and looking over the fence that surrounded the construction site "I hate to be the…bearer of bad news…but Shadow is coming this way and he looks mad!"

Sonic and friends all looked to their right and surely enough, Shadow the Hedgehog was coming towards them at top speed in skating fashion and he looked like he was ready to kick some serious backside! Shadow ploughed straight through the fence, not bothering to go through the gate, and he skidded to a halt just in front of Sonic and his friends, who all just bent down in battle ready stances and prepared to begin the inevitable showdown. Shadow just glared at the heroes and smiled gloatingly at them. Coincidentally, he ended up standing directly under the excavator's arm, giving Mandy a perfect opportunity to drop dirt on him.

"Hello blue hedgehog," purred Shadow "How nice of you to gather your play buddies around for a get-together beating. Don't worry though, I "promise" I won't hurt them too much!"

"How the heck did you find us Shadow?" asked Knuckles.

"Dr. Eggman managed to pin-point you on his computer monitors." explained Shadow "One thing I can't help but wonder is why you picked this place to have our fight Sonic?"

"I like our fights to have stylish surroundings." lied Sonic "And I thought a construction site would be a nice place to have a fight. Do you like it?"

"Enough talk blue hedgehog!" snarled Shadow "We're here to fight, not waste time talking! I have a purpose assigned to me by Dr. Eggman and that is to destroy Mobian kind and help Dr. Eggman conquer Mobius! And my conquest will start right here with your deaths!"

"OK then Shadow, let's fight!" yelled Sonic, preparing to launch at Shadow.

Shadow bent down in a battle ready stance and was about to charge at Sonic until Mandy thrust the levers forward and the excavator's scoop bucket tipped down slightly. It was down enough for about half the amount of dirt it had scooped up to slide out from the scoop and drop down straight on top of Shadow who was much too late to react and move out the way. Masses of dirt landed on top of Shadow and soon enough, he was completely submerged under a huge mound of dirt. It looked like he was buried in a giant molehill. Shadow wouldn't be getting out of that in a hurry. Sonic just laughed at his unlucky opponent.

"Ha, ha, ha, ha! We win already Shadow!" gloated Sonic "What a surprise! OK Geoff, dig him out and shoot him with a stun-dart already."

"Right-o mate." said Geoffrey, digging into the pile of soil that Shadow was trapped under.

But after only three clumps of dirt had been moved, the underneath of the dirt pile started to glow red. Geoffrey freaked and ran away, knowing what was going to happen. Sonic saw it too and couldn't believe his eyes.

"No way!" he blurted "How…?"

"… BLASSSSSSTTTTTTTTTT ! " roared Shadow from under the dirt pile.

Shadow activated his Chaos Blast and threw the entire dirt pile off of himself, sending huge clumps of dirt raining everywhere and blowing everything near him away, including Sonic and friends. The Mobians all crashed into a wall and the excavator Mandy was in was destroyed by the blast but the mouse had managed to bail out before Shadow activated his Chaos Blast so she lived. Shadow had somehow managed to remove his inhibitor rings despite being buried by dirt and he let loose his deadly Chaos Blast. Shadow reattached his inhibitor rings and looked very angry, so angry in fact it looked like his face was about to change from black to red.

"How dare you try to crush me with a primitive dirt pile!" growled Shadow, pointing sharply at Sonic the Hedgehog "Just for that, I'll make sure all of your deaths will be extremely painful and very gory!"

He then spin-dashed straight into Sonic just as the hedgehog was picking himself up and preparing to fight. Sonic crashed straight through the fence and landed outside the construction yard. This earned Shadow an angry response from Amy Rose and she tried to hammer the hedgehog into the ground with her hammer. Shadow just effortlessly dodged Amy's attack.

"Hey! Fight fair you monster!" screeched Amy, hammering the ground after missing Shadow again "You should give Sonic a chance to fight before you fight.

"I'm not supposed to fight fair!" retorted Shadow, giving Amy a massive uppercut that sent her hurling about fifty feet backwards and landing next to a steel girder "I fight how I wish to fight and that is with brute force!"

Ruben then stepped into the battle by giving Shadow a ninjutsu style kick to the face that knocked the black hedgehog onto his back.

"I wouldn't rely on just brute force alone Shadow." said Ruben, drenching Shadow with a jet of water out of the palms of his hands "Because that won't guarantee you victory all the time, It'll just make you angry and confused and cause you to lose focus on your objectives."

"Oh shut up!" snapped Shadow, throwing a Chaos Spear at Ruben.

Ruben dodged the spear and gave Shadow a kung fu style chop to the face. Shadow retaliated with a punch to the face that made Ruben splutter and then Shadow slugged the water panther in the stomach, winding the water panther and making him gasp. Bunnie Rabbot ran up to Shadow and prepared to punch him in order to save Ruben but Shadow teleported out of the Rabbot's way, causing her to accidentally punch Ruben with her robot arm. Ruben hurtled through the air and crashed head first into a bulldozer's scoop. This in turn knocked him out cold and Bunnie gasped in shock at what she had just accidentally done. Bunnie ran over to Ruben and knelt down by his side to see if he was alright,

"Ruben!" she cried "Ah'm so sorry ah didn't mean it! Shadow teleported outta mah way before ah could hit him!"

Ruben couldn't say anything since he was knocked out. He just lay there as motionless as a statue and with a particularly dead look on his face. To Bunnie's relief, he was still alive but he would be out for a while. Shadow seized the opportunity and spin-dashed Bunnie in the back, causing her to fall forward onto the knocked out Ruben. Bunnie picked herself up and tried to punch Shadow but she missed due to the hedgehog's unbelievable speed and Shadow spin-dashed the Rabbot once again. Tails and Knuckles stepped into fight and they both had their fists bared, ready to let Shadow have it. Shadow, once again, teleported out of their way and Tails and Knuckles ended up accidentally punching each other in the face. Knuckle's punch hurt Tails much more then Tails' punch hurt him and Tails ended up lying on the ground, writhing in pain and choking back tears.

"Tails! You alright buddy?" asked Knuckles worriedly.

"I'll be OK." said Tails "That Shadow's getting sharper I can't help but notice."

Shadow re-appeared behind Tails and grabbed the fox cub by the scruff of his neck. Knuckles tried to attack Shadow and save Tails but Shadow grabbed Knuckles's head and slam-dunked him into the ground. He then proceeded to throw Tails straight into the barrel of a cement mixer truck. Tails landed in the barrel with a clunk and he groaned to himself, rubbing his head and body to ease the pain. Shadow then attempt to destroy the cement mixer truck by throwing Chaos Spears at it in hope of causing it to explode with Tails inside. But before Shadow could throw any Chaos Spears, Knuckles punched Shadow in the cheek and sent him staggering sideways. Shadow recovered only to get an uppercut from the echidna. Shadow hurtled into the air and landed on a pile of cement bags. Shadow picked himself up, picked a cement bag up and tossed it straight at Knuckles! Knuckles punched the bag away but the bag was just to distract him so Shadow could spin-dash him. Knuckles was too late to react and Shadow hit him directly in the torso, knocking him backwards. Wilson and Mandy then double-teamed Shadow with a pair of kicks each but Shadow just swiped his foot at them and kicked them both across the faces with one kick. Mandy retaliated with a punch to the face but Shadow got his own back with a punch to the stomach and then he yanked on Mandy's large round ears, making her yelp. Wilson got mad and tried to bite Shadow but Shadow threw a Chaos Spear at Wilson and hit him in the muzzle. Wilson yelped like a puppy who's gotten its tail trapped in the door and he fell onto his bottom. Mandy managed to wrench herself out of Shadow's grasp and she elbowed the black hedgehog directly in the eye, stunning him momentarily. Mandy roundhouse kicked Shadow in the legs, tripping him up and bringing him down and Mandy pinned him down with her foot. She clenched her fist and prepared to let Shadow have it once again but Shadow teleported from underneath her, causing her to accidentally punch the ground and give herself a sore fist instead. Mandy gripped her hand and grimaced in pain. Shadow reappeared behind Mandy and dropkicked her in the back. Wilson pulled out his trademark spinning blade-weapon and he threw it at Shadow but Shadow ducked, causing the weapon to miss and impale itself into the ground. Shadow smirked evilly at Wilson and then he ran over to the weapon. He grabbed the double-bladed pole weapon and he threw it at Wilson. Wilson shrieked in terror and ran off just as his weapon was about to hit him. He won the chase and the weapon embedded itself into the ground again. Wilson pulled it out and braced himself as Shadow ran towards him. Wilson feebly pointed the weapon at Shadow, hoping he would accidentally run into it and impale himself on it but Shadow leaped over Wilson and soared over him. He kicked Wilson in the back of the head, causing the dog to fall onto his face and Shadow snatched Wilson's spinning blade. He was about to stab the dog with his own weapon until Cream the Rabbit kicked him in the head. Shadow dropped the weapon and Cream yanked on his black and red quills. Shadow growled furiously at Cream and he tried to punch the rabbit but Cream flew away, causing him to miss and punch himself accidentally. Cosmo then decided to distract Shadow by throwing a clump of dirt into the black hedgehog's eyes. She hit him and Shadow was now momentarily blinded. That move was more then enough time for Amy, Cream and Cosmo to gather together for their swinging hammer move that they did to Shadow before. Cream carried Cosmo and Cosmo carried Amy. Cream swung Cosmo and Amy around and Amy summoned her hammer to her hands. They edged closer and closer to Shadow, who was still rubbing the dirt out of his eyes. Unfortunately, Shadow heard them coming and he leaped backwards, causing the girls to miss him and crash into a heap on the ground. Shadow finally managed to rub the dirt out of his eyes and he spin-dashed Amy, Cream and Cosmo as if they were just a bunch of skittles. Amy landed on her stomach and Cosmo and Cream landed on their backs. Tails flew out of the cement mixer truck's barrel and he flew towards Shadow with his fists at the ready. Shadow retaliated first with a leap into the air and an uppercut to the chin that brought Tails crashing down onto the ground. Bunnie Rabbot and Geoffrey St. John tried to double-team Shadow with a pair of punches each but Shadow stood upside down on his hands and did a split-kick as they were coming to them, hitting both Bunnie and Geoffrey. Shadow then proceeded to grab Bunnie by the robot arm and swung her over onto her back with a slam. Geoffrey tried to help her but Shadow swung Bunnie directly into Geoffrey, knocking the skunk off his feet. The two lay on the ground in a heap. Shadow laughed at his opponents.

"Look how pathetic you are!" he sneered "You can't even stand to me! That proves I'm the ultimate life form and I am the superior being in the known galaxy! With my powers and the doctor's leadership, our conquest of this planet is certain and I will have fulfilled my long lost purpose!"

"Oh do you ever shut up Shadow?" said Sonic mockingly, spin-dashing Shadow and knocking him off his feet.

The two crashed into the ground and rolled over each other in roly-poly but Shadow won that one by grabbing Sonic as they were rolling around, getting to his feet and throwing Sonic into a steel girder. Sonic hit the girder with a clang and he felt the wind being sucked out of him. Shadow then grabbed Sonic by the neck and pinned him to the girder.

"Your resilience is beginning to annoy me hedgehog!" growled Shadow "It's time I put you down! Any last words?"

"Yeah." said Sonic "How much does a head butt hurt?"

He then proceeded to head butt Shadow directly in the nose. Shadow screamed in pain and clutched his throbbing nose and Sonic then punched the hedgehog as hard as he could. Shadow hurtled backwards for seven feet. Sonic ran up to Shadow but Shadow leaped out of Sonic's way and reached for the low hanging flat board that was being held aloft by a crane. Sonic leaped after Shadow just as Shadow grabbed the flat board and pulled himself onto it and Sonic grabbed the edge of the flat board. He pulled himself on only to promptly get kicked off by Shadow. Sonic fell back down to the ground but he wasn't down for long. Sonic leaped back onto the flat board just as Shadow leaped off and landed on another flat board held slightly higher up by another crane. Sonic leaped onto the flat board and Shadow leaped off of it. He landed on a very long and wide flat board held a dizzying height above the ground by a third crane. Sonic leaped onto the bed but Shadow once again leaped off of it and landed on an even longer and even wider flat board carried by the fourth and last crane in the yard. Sonic leaped onto the flat board and looked down at the ground. He and Shadow were about eighty feet off the ground, a very dizzying height indeed and should any of them fall, they would be dead meat at the bottom.

"This is where we shall fight blue hedgehog." said Shadow "Pry you don't fall off and make an unpleasant confrontation with the ground below."

"You'll be the one who's kissing the ground Shadow!" yelled Sonic, running forward to punch Shadow.

Shadow just caught Sonic's fist in his hand and gave Sonic's arm a sharp twist. Sonic yelped in pain and Shadow punched Sonic. Sonic slid backwards and stopped at the edge of the board. Sonic ran back towards Shadow and the two hedgehogs began to have a heated battle. They began rapidly punching at each other faster then kung-fu masters and they continuously began to block each other's blows while throwing punches of their own. Down on the ground below, everybody else was looking up at the two hedgehogs and wondering what was happening. Sonic and Shadow were too high up for them to see what was going on so they couldn't begin to guess who was winning.

"What's going on up there?" asked Cream "Is Mr. Sonic winning?"

"I don't know Cream." said Amy "I have a bad feeling that Sonic needs help tough. I've gotta get up here and help my Sonic. Tails, you fly me up there pronto!"

"OK Amy." said Tails.

He held Amy tightly by the waist and he flew straight up to the flat board that Sonic and Shadow were fighting on. Sonic and Shadow continued to throw punches and fail to hit each other as they continued to block each other. Sonic eventually managed to get a successful hit on Shadow but the blow didn't do much to him. Shadow swung his leg at Sonic but Sonic bent over backwards to dodge the kick. Sonic punched Shadow again but Shadow jumped over Sonic, landed behind him and kicked him as hard as he could. Sonic hurtled forward and almost fell off the flat board. Without even knowing it, he found himself clinging onto the edge of the flat board with his fingers. He desperately tried to pull himself back onto the flat board but Shadow stood over him with an evil smile on his face.

"Goodbye Sonic." he hissed evilly "It was fun while it lasted."

He stomped on Sonic's fingers, causing him to let go of the flat board and plummet straight down from eighty feet to the ground. Bunnie Rabbot saw Sonic falling and she flew up to him with her jet rockets and just managed to catch him in the nick of time. Shadow saw this and he growled in anger at the fact Sonic had just been saved. Then suddenly, before he could see them coming, Tails and Amy flew up towards him and Amy whacked Shadow with her hammer. Shadow was sent hurling off the flat board and he plummeted down to the ground. Shadow crashed through a wooden floor to an under construction building and he landed with a sharp thump on the concrete floor at the bottom. Shadow grimaced in pain and tried to get back up but the fall had done a good deal of pain to him. Then suddenly, the wooden floor above him caved in without warning and fell straight on top of Shadow. Then the girders keeping the floor upright caved and landed straight on top of the pile of wood. Tails and Amy watched the commotion from their height and they were speechless to see what they had just done.

"Oh…my…gosh!" blurted Amy.

"Did…did we just…kill Shadow?" gasped Tails in surprise.

"I bet we did." said Amy "No one, not even a genetic experiment thingy or whatever he was can survive a fall from this height and get a bunch of wood and girders falling on top of him."

Tails flew Amy back down to the ground where Sonic and friends were waiting for them. Sonic greeted them with a cheery grin on his face.

"Nice move there Tails and Amy!" congratulated Sonic "You got Shadow good and hard!"

"I think we did more then just that Sonic." said Amy "I think we killed him. He plummeted straight down eighty feet and ended up with a bunch of wood and a couple of girders falling onto him. Look over there."

She pointed to the under-construction building that Shadow had crashed through. Sonic could see the pile of wood and the two girders that had fallen down and Shadow was presumably underneath the pile. Sonic grimaced at the gruesome image of Shadow crushed to death under the wood.

"Well I can definitely say that Shadow boy's dead." said Sonic "No one could have survived falling from eighty feet and getting crushed by wood and girders."

"Good riddance!" scoffed Knuckles "He can't be our problem anymore! Dr. Eggman is back to square one now!"

"I don't know about you guys but, I wish we could have found a more peaceful solution to stopping Shadow." said Cosmo gently "I wish we could have tried something like talking him out of his objectives and probably get him to join the side of good. Shadow would have been very useful to the Royal Fighters and he would be a deadly opponent to Dr. Eggman."

"Shadow can't be redeemed." said Tails softly "He would have just scoffed at us and beat us up. I don't think we could have convinced him to change."

"Well Shadow's gone and that's it, end of story, we can go home now." said Sonic "Let's go and tell the Council of Acorn what's happened."

Nobody waited to be asked twice. The Mobians all left the construction site and headed home to Mobotropolis to give the good news out. Bunnie picked up the still unconscious Ruben and left the site. Before leaving the site, Sonic looked over his shoulder at the pile of wood Shadow was presumably buried under. He began to wonder to himself if Shadow could have been redeemed after all. But now he was dead, they would never get the chance. Sonic just shrugged it off and left the construction site and followed his friends home to Mobotropolis. The moment everybody left though, a gloved hand with a golden ring around the wrist punched its way through the pile of wood it was buried under…

Back at Robotropolis, Rouge the Bat had been sitting around the lab waiting for Shadow to return. Shadow had been gone for a while and the bat was beginning to worry. Shadow obviously needed help and he needed it now. She had to go and help Shadow out and fast! Rouge stopped waiting around and ran over to the lab door, ready to make a break for it. The door opened just as she reached it and there stood Dr. Eggman, looking down at Rouge and glaring at her. Alonzo stood behind him with a gleeful smirk on his face. Rouge looked worriedly up at Eggman and wondered what was happening.

"Hi doc." she said calmly "What's the occasion?"

"Rouge, I'd like a word with you." said Dr. Eggman coldly.

He grabbed Rouge by the arm and hauled her out of the lab and down a corridor.

Oh uh! thought Rouge worriedly I ' ve been found out! Eggman ' s gonna kill me now!

Eggman dragged Rouge down the corridor by her arm with Alonzo following him and trying hard not to look at Rouge and grin evilly. . Who knew what the bat was in for right now but anyone could guess it wouldn't be pleasant…

The Shadow Still Stands

Story 63: The Shadow Still Stands

The Stardom Village construction site was thought to have become the final resting place of the dangerous Shadow the Hedgehog after a heated a hectic fight with Sonic the Hedgehog and friends which resulted in him getting whacked off a high hanging flat board and sent crashing down to the ground and getting piled on by a bunch of wood and a couple of girders. Somehow though, Shadow had managed to survive all of that. He punched his way out through the wood and he pulled himself back onto his feet while shifting huge planks of wood away. After dusting himself off and freeing himself from the wood pile, Shadow growled ever so furiously. He was very mad at his loss but it wasn't due to the fact that he got knocked off a high place, it was the fact he got knocked off a high place by a pink girl with a big hammer. A defeat by Sonic's hands would have been less humiliating but getting defeated by Amy Rose? That was the epitome of humiliating! Just the thought of the fact he got beaten by a girl made Shadow's skin crawl and made him want to destroy things in anger.

"Beaten by a girl!" he mused "How humiliating! It's bad enough that the blue hedgehog is a thorn in my side but I got knocked off a flat board and almost killed by a pink female hedgehog! Sonic and his friends will pay for this!"

He could feel his Chaos energies pulsing through his veins as he tensed up angrily. He then suddenly felt a wave of pain surge over his back and he grimaced in pain. The fall had hurt him very badly and he would need to go home and rest back in Robotropolis.

"I'm hurt." muttered Shadow "I'd best return to…to…Robo…um… what was the name of the doctor's city again? Speaking of which… who's this doctor I'm thinking of?"

The fall from the flat board hadn't just severely hurt Shadow and almost cost him his life. It had caused him to have memory loss all over again. The only thing he hadn't forgotten was his name, Sonic's name and what happened to him five minutes ago. He had forgotten about Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman, Alonzo and even Rouge the Bat, the one who had awakened him from stasis. Shadow began to think hard, trying to remember Dr. Eggman and Robotropolis but he just couldn't remember. His mind was blank after that nasty fall.

"I can't remember my creator and where he lives." said Shadow "How am I going to return to…wherever my creator lives if I can't remember? I need to go for a look around this planet and ask some questions. Maybe someone can jog my memory."

Shadow stopped waiting around and he skated off on his jet shoes in a random direction. He didn't know who he wanted to ask but he didn't really care on that either as he could ask anybody on the subject matter. It was a huge pity that the direction he was running in just happened to be the direction to Ruben the Water Panther's home country…Chun-Nan…

Back in Robotropolis, Rouge the Bat had been strapped by her arms and legs to a steel bed that was raised upright and a bright light was shining in her eyes, making it hard for her to keep them open. Rouge struggled feebly in her bonds but try as she might, she couldn't get free. She wasn't strong enough. She was a prisoner now, a prisoner at Dr. Eggman's mercy. Speaking of Eggman, how did he manage to figure out that she was plotting against him? Had someone snitched on her? If that was the case then who did it and how did they manage it? Then Rouge remembered Alonzo shutting himself off earlier. Alonzo probably didn't shut himself off as he had made it out as, instead he was pretending to be shut down so he could spy on Rouge and tattle on her to Dr. Eggman like a goody-goody two shoes. Well how dare he! Once she got free, she would screw-kick Alonzo until there was nothing left of the snitching little worm! The only trouble was, she couldn't get free. Dr. Eggman glared at his prisoner with his arms folded. Rouge just shot him a steely glare and struggle in her bonds.

"Ugh! Let me go Dr. Eggman!" she grunted "Is this anyway to treat one of your minions?"

"You're not my minion anymore Rouge!" snapped Dr. Eggman "You are a traitor and a liar and you will be punished for it!"

"Traitor? Me?" purred Rouge innocently "How awful, wherever did you get a horrible idea like that tubby boy?"

"Alonzo tells me that you've been trying to get Shadow to abandon me and join you!" shouted Dr. Eggman "And don't you dare lie to me by saying you weren't because he has recorded evidence of your mutiny!"

Alonzo smirked gloatingly at Rouge. Rouge shot the butler bot a death glare but because she was restrained, she couldn't look very scary to him. Dr. Eggman continued.

"I promise you my secret treasure should you serve me faithfully and this is how you repay me?" exclaimed Dr. Eggman "How ungrateful can you get you flying rat?"

"I only joined you because I wanted Shadow boy on my side." said Rouge smoothly "I had a sneaky suspicion your "secret treasure" was nothing more then a pretence to trick lil' ol me into serving you so I decided to pretend I was fooled and I tagged along just so I could attempt to get Shadow to run off with me. You've been had Eggman, I was never on your side to begin with. As I always say, I'm a jewel thief, but I'm not a villain."

Dr. Eggman took all of this in well and instead of getting angry at Rouge, he smiled awkwardly at her, making the bat feel extremely uncomfortable and afraid. This was not looking good at all.

"Well Rouge, you were right to be suspicious about me secret treasure because it WAS a lie!" laughed Dr. Eggman "I thought that with you being a treasure hunter, you'd fall for that lie of mine but apparently you didn't. You're smarter then I took you to be. Well since you're not on my side for real, I'll have to force you to be on my side for real!"

"What do you mean?" asked Rouge coyly "Dress me in uniform and turn me into an Eggman robot?"

"No Rouge." said Dr. Eggman "I am going to roboticize you! And as it so happens, you're in the roboticizer chamber right now so we can begin the process!"

"What?" shrieked Rouge "No! Please! Not the roboticizer! Anything but the roboticizer!" she begged desperately, sweating madly.

"Alonzo, activate the roboticizer!" bellowed Dr. Eggman.

"With pleasure sir." purred Alonzo loyally.

Alonzo zipped over to a control panel and he pressed a button. A diamond glass cage began to descend down from the ceiling above Rouge's head and close around her. The frightened bat struggled madly in her binds but she just couldn't free herself. The cage closed around Rouge, trapping her even more now and Alonzo pressed the "activate" button on the control pad. The roboticizer cage began to glow a brilliant blue glow as Rouge was zapped by electricity. She howled at the top of her voice as the cage was engulfed in a bright light. After a moment of bright flashing, the glow died down into nothingness and the roboticizer cage opened up. Rouge the Bat was no longer lying strapped to the bed. In her place was a roboticized version of Rouge. Flesh and bone had been replaced by metal and oil and her beautiful blue eyes were now optics that glowed an icy blue colour that made her look cold and deathly serious. She was completely silver and white in colour now and her wings looked as sharp as a flint. She was now Mecha Rouge. Mecha Rouge pulled on her bonds and effortlessly ripped them out of their sockets, freeing herself and she stood up from the bed, her robotical joints whirring and her feet clanking as she stood up straight. She stood in a ready for duty position and she droned in a robotical voice at Dr. Eggman.

"Mecha-Rouge-on-line-and-wait-ing-for-orders."

"Welcome to the Eggman Empire my dear!" Dr. Eggman announced in a welcoming manner "You have no orders yet so standby and await my command Mecha Rouge."

"I-o-bey." droned Mecha Rouge.

She remained where she was and stood as still as a statue. Dr. Eggman walked away, very pleased with himself and he left the roboticizer chamber with Alonzo following him.

"I must say master, that was a good move." said Alonzo "Rouge is a strong woman in battle so Mecha Rouge will be even stronger. Sonic and friends will have their hands full won't they?"

"They certainly will Shadow." said Dr. Eggman "After all, you know what they say! The more the merrier! Now come along my loyal servant, we've got to find Shadow. He hasn't come back to me yet so I'm assuming he's in trouble and needs my help. We're going to go and look for him."

Where he would find Shadow would be the last place Eggman would expect to find Shadow though, the holy country of Chun-Nan…

"No, no Mushu that doesn't like right." said kung-fu master and dagger thrower Bladefeather the Falcon to his silent companion Mushu the Iguana who was at the top of a large statue and adjusting the head "The head looks a little boorish at this angle. Try making it face the front."

Mushu nodded and with a strain and a push, he pushed the head of the statue so it now faced the front. The statue that Mushu was on was a statue of their beloved and well respected emperor Dalon Tai who was the emperor of Chun-Nan and a much loved figure amongst the locals. Bladefeather and Mushu had decided to build a statue of the emperor in his honour and they were building it near his home which was the Pagoda of Prosperity. Sonic and friends had saved it from the nefarious Zira the Ruthless when they visited Chun-Nan* and since then, Chun-Nan had been having no problems whatsoever. Everything had just been going as normally and everybody was pleased about it. After Mushu adjusted the statue's head, Bladefeather stepped back to admire the statue. The statue of Emperor Tai was sculpted in a noble pose which was Tai having his hand over his chest and holding the flag of Chun-Nan, which was a real flag and not made out of stone. Bladefeather smiled at his and Mushu's work.

"Hey Mushu, come down here and admire this radiant work of ours old friend." Bladefeather called to the iguana.

Mushu climbed down from the statue and stood back to admire it along with Bladefeather. It had only just dawned on him as to how wonderful the statue truly looked and how it captured Emperor Tai's personality to a T. It truly was a great tribute to their great emperor and all carved out of stone. Mushu smiled widely and gave Bladefeather a pair of thumbs up.

"I agree with you Mushu, its magnanimous and meritorious work isn't it?" said Bladefeather "Emperor Tai will be most proud of this honouree piece of sculpture which we have carved with our own hands."

Sadly, Emperor Tai wasn't here at the moment. He was out in the village to see how things were coming on. His daughter, the beautiful Princess Matilda had stayed behind and she came out of the pagoda to see how the statue was coming on. The statue looked amazing to her and she was very pleased with the hard work Mushu and Bladefeather had just done for her father.

"This is amazing!" cried Matilda "You two did a very good job on the statue. Well done, my daddy will love this!"

"I know he will my elegant princess." said Bladefeather, politely kissing Matilda on the hand "We've worked callously on this and Mushu, the real artist behind the statue tried his hardest to make sure that every tiny little detail on the statue was absolutely perfect, didn't you old friend."

Mushu just nodded.

"I can't help but wonder what made you wanna make a statue in my father's honour anyway." said Matilda "I appreciate the thought but, what made you wanna do it Bladefeather?"

"Just the fact I am unwaveringly loyal to our emperor and I thought he deserved something noble and glorious to show my appreciation for his reign over Chun-Nan." said Bladefeather "There's nothing unrighteous about it is there?"

"Not at all." said Matilda "I'm just amazed as to how kind you are. I'm so glad you don't work for Zira anymore."

"Nobody's more pleased about that fortunate turn of events then me." said Bladefeather "Zira threw me into obscurity and I was in depredation when I was forced to serve her along with Mushu but after the righteous and valorous acts of Sonic the Hedgehog and his friends, we managed to break Zira's hold over us. Now Zira has been defeated, Chun-Nan has nothing to worry about now."

Sadly, that wasn't going to be the case. For out of nowhere, Shadow appeared and ran up to the Pagoda of Prosperity. He leaped onto the pagoda, jumped off of it and accidentally crashed into Tai's statue. He knocked the head clean off of it's body and sent it crashing down on the ground, almost landing on top of Matilda until Mushu managed to get her out of the way just in time. The head shattered into a million pebbles and rocks, running Bladefeather and Mushu's hard work and leaving the statue headless. Bladefeather immediately got mad and he tugged on his feathers while hoping about in a hissy fit.

"Oh of all the unrighteous and peevish things to happen!" cursed Bladefeather "Chun-Nan was beginning to recuperate from all of Zira's wrong doing and now somebody takes it upon themselves to wreck mine and Mushu's hard work! I am going to personally castigate the person responsible for this pernicious and repugnant act of theirs!"

Mushu spoke to Matilda in sign language, signing out the words "Are you OK?" with his hands.

"I'm fine thank you." said Matilda "But who's the heartless brute who just decided to wreck my daddy's statue?"

"Who knows?" grumbled Bladefeather "But once I catch the canaille responsible for this, I will not be very lenient on him!"

Mushu got to his feet and saw something. He tapped Bladefeather on the shoulder, earning a shot from an angry face at him. Mushu then pointed to the thing he was looking at and Bladefeather looked at what Mushu was looking at. They were both looking at Shadow the Hedgehog who stood before them with a blank expression on his face. The sight of such a creature was baffling to the kung-fu masters but Bladefeather didn't let that bother him. Instead he drew out a pair of daggers and prepared to fight.

"Well, well, well." he said coldly "It appears we have a pretentious little mendicant who's begging for an acerbic beating."

"Pretentious?" asked Shadow "What do you mean bird brain?"

"I mean you look vaguely like Sonic the Hedgehog but really, you aren't Sonic the Hedgehog." noted Bladefeather "That's very pretentious to me."

"You're right, I'm not Sonic the Hedgehog." said Shadow "I am Shadow the Hedgehog, the ultimate life form and a being with a lost purpose. I'm here to ask some questions."

"Oh are you know you vulgar, pedantic little brat?" snarled Bladefeather "Well vis-à-vis what's just happened, you've wrecked my statue and almost killed Princess Matilda in the process so you must be castigated for it. You penance will be too great for me to describe shadow hog."

"Look here you pompous old windbag, I'm not here to fight!" yelled Shadow "I'm just wondering where my creator is and what my purpose is and I wanna ask some questions!"

"Well tough luck you boorish, perfidious, abhorrent little demon!" snapped Bladefeather "I do not accede people who just throw their weight around trying to aggrandize themselves and go wrecking other people's property! I am going to educate that abysmal mind of yours with some much needed manners! Mushu, you join me."

Mushu nodded and bent down in a battle ready stance beside Bladefeather.

"Matilda, get inside." ordered Bladefeather "The vehemence of this fight maybe too much for you to stomach."

Matilda did as she was told and she ran back into the safety of the pagoda while Bladefeather and Mushu prepared to cut loose on Shadow. Shadow bent down in a battle ready stance, wondering why Bladefeather and Mushu wanted to hurt him. Maybe the statue he had damaged was of some importance and he had riled them by damaging it but that gave them no reason to engage him in battle! Still, if they were so desperate to get their faces pounded then he would be happy to oblige. Bladefeather threw a dagger at Shadow but Shadow swiped his arm and stopped the dagger with a Chaos Spear. The dagger was reduced to shards of metal. Bladefeather gasped in horror and Mushu just stared opened mouthed at what just happened.

"The mendicant just…shattered my dagger!" he choked "That is some aberrant power behind that little boy!"

"I tried to warn you." said Shadow coldly "But you wouldn't listen you stuck-up little fool! Now you'll get the pounding you so desperately want!"

With that said, Shadow charged towards Bladefeather at top speed and tackled him. Bladefeather hurtled backwards into the Pagoda of Prosperity and almost crashed straight through the wall. Mushu growled a feeble, weak growl due to the fact his voice box had been damaged by Zira and he ran up to Shadow with his fists clenched and his teeth bared. Shadow jumped into the air and dropkicked the kung-fu master in the head but a mere kick to the head was nothing special to Mushu as he was a kung-fu master and thus, was tougher then the average person. Mushu quickly recovered and whacked Shadow with his tough tail. To Shadow, Mushu's tail felt more like a club and he was sent hurling backwards. Shadow landed on his back and Mushu advanced menacingly on him. He cupped his hand around his fist and gritted his teeth. Shadow stared up at Mushu and Mushu drew his arm back, ready to let Shadow have it in the face. Shadow rolled over, causing Mushu to miss him and punch the ground by accident and Shadow socked Mushu in the face. Mushu shook his head but Shadow leaned back on his hands and kicked Mushu in the gut. Mushu fell over onto his back and Shadow stood over him with a cocky grin on his face.

"How did that feel lizard boy?" he sneered.

Mushu just stared at him wordlessly and he picked himself up. He glared at Shadow with his reptilian eyes but Shadow didn't show any signs of fear. He was just puzzled as to why Mushu wasn't giving him any cocky response or something like that.

"Well?" asked Shadow "Aren't you going to say something?"

"He can't dark boy." Bladefeather answered for the mute iguana "He is unable to verbally communicate due to a fight that ended with him getting his voice box damaged so you'll have to get used to Mushu's silence."

"He can't talk eh?" said Shadow "Oh well, at least he can't annoy me with insults of any kind."

"Mushu may not be able to talk but that doesn't mean he's not a good fighter Shadow." said Bladefeather dryly "And you're about to find that out."

Mushu then proceeded to give Shadow a powerful kick to the gut and Shadow hurtled backwards a good few feet. Shadow skidded to a halt and he ran back to Mushu. Mushu stood to the side and let Bladefeather smack Shadow away with his wing. Shadow ended up crashing face-first into the ground, Bladefeather then pinned Shadow down to the ground with his sharp talons and he proceeded to pick Shadow up, using his other leg to remain standing. Bladefeather then flapped his wings and lifted himself off the ground slightly and he spun Shadow around in a perfect circle. He then let go of Shadow and tossed him a good distance away from the pagoda. Shadow landed at the bottom of the hill that the pagoda was on top of and he came to a stop just near the lake that wasn't far from the hilltop. Bladefeather flew down to the ground whereas Mushu just ran down to the bottom of the hill. Shadow picked himself up just as Bladefeather and Mushu landed straight in front of him with angry expressions on their faces.

"You know what Shadow? I think we should cease this abominable fight." said Bladefeather "We don't want to inflict a high level of pain to you just for wrecking a statue and you cannot possibly refute us as we're kung-fu masters so I suggest we propose an armistice to arbitrate the conditions of your defeat and your departure from this holy country."

"Well I say no!" yelled Shadow "You asked for this so you'll get what you wished for feather head!"

"So be it." snarled Bladefeather "You'll only regret it later you obstinate imbecile."

Shadow, Bladefeather and Mushu all charged at each other, yelling at the top of their voices and lunging into the air towards each other…

Back at Mobotropolis, Sonic the Hedgehog and his friends Tails the twin-tailed fox, Knuckles the Echidna, Amy Rose, Cream the Rabbit, Cosmo the Seedrian, Wilson the Dog, Mandy Mouse, Geoffrey St. John, Bunnie Rabbot and Ruben the Water Panther (who had just recovered from his unfortunate collusion with a bulldozer earlier although his head was wrapped in bandages) were standing before the Council of Acorn, Castle Acorn's house of government and delivering them the "good" news.

"Queen Sally Acorn." said Sonic, bowing down respectfully to the queen squirrel who was on the high bench with the other council members and her lady-in-waiting Nicole the Lynx beside her "We have some mondo good news for you."

"Really?" said Sally with a twinge of excitement in her gut "Please explain. We're all eager to hear it."

"We've just defeated Shadow the Hedgehog in a fight." said Tails "Although we more then just defeated him though."

"We actually killed him." added Amy "Tails flew me up to Shadow and I hit him off a high place with my hammer and he fell to the ground and ended up getting buried by wood and a couple of girders. I don't think he could have possibly survived that, even if he claims to be the ultimate life form."

The council murmured amongst each other in glee.

"That is good news." said Nicole "Now Shadow is gone, we only have Dr. Eggman to worry about now."

"But what about that double-crossing bat Rouge?" asked Knuckles furiously "She's probably still working for Eggman and she's just as big a problem to deal with and I should know, I've had tussles with her for years on Angel Island."

"Knuckles, don't sweat it buddy." said Sonic reassuringly "Rouge can actually be handled, Shadow couldn't so we had to get rid of him. Rouge, maybe we can hopefully talk her out of working for Eggman. Maybe promise her some fancy jewels or something."

"Alright then." said Knuckles "But I'm still going to throw her in a prison cell of Angel Island for all the bad she's done in her life!"

"You do that if you want knuckle-head." said Sonic casually "I'm not bothered about that bat."

"So Royal Fighters, do you have any other news to give?" asked Sally Acorn.

"No your highness, that's all we came to give you." said Geoffrey, bowing politely to the queen squirrel.

"Well in that case, that's it for now." said Sally "Thank you for delivering us this good piece of news Sonic."

"No problem Queenie." said Sonic casually.

"This meeting is over and you're all dismissed." said Sally proudly "Have a nice day everybody and we look forward to seeing you next…"

Then suddenly, a messenger who was a boar dressed in a royal outfit burst frantically into the room. He looked frantic as if he'd just heard that the castle was about to blow up any second now.

"Gorton, what is it?" asked Sally with a tone of concern in her voice.

"I've just got a message snort! from Chun-Nan!" blurted the boar, pulling a letter out of his pocket "I just grunt! received it from a messenger bird ten minutes ago snort!. Apparently, the villagers of Chun-Nan oink! had reported seeing a black hedgehog with red stripes up at the Pagoda of Prosperity grunt! and is attacking the local heroes Bladefeather and Mushu!"

Ruben was the first person to react to that startling piece of news and everybody else gasped after him. Even the council gasped in surprise.

"No way!" shrieked Sonic "Shadow's still alive?"

"Impossible!" cried Tails "No one can survive an eighty foot fall and getting piled on by wood and girders!"

Ruben however, seemed more horrified at the fact Shadow was attacking Chun-Nan then the fact Shadow was still alive.

"My…my home country is…under attack?" he gasped "This is horrible! Shadow's probably attempting to assassinate Emperor Tai and Princess Matilda! I must go and save Chun-Nan at once!"

"No Ruben, you need to rest." said Cosmo hastily "Your head's still recovering from that sharp bump you've had after crashing into a bulldozer."

"But I must save my country!" protested Ruben "I may not live in Chun-Nan anymore but I must still show my love and appreciation to the country by helping to defend it!"

"Tell you what Ruben old buddy." said Sonic with a nice smile on his face "I'll go to Chun-Nan for you and stomp on Shadow and show him what happens to those who mess with the people of Chun-Nan. I promise that Shadow will be kicked out of Chun-Nan faster then you can say "Let's do it to it team!"."

Ruben thought for a moment. He knew he could rely on Sonic to save the day but he wanted to save Chun-Nan from Shadow. Regardless, his mother had taught him that acting with a serious injury is guaranteed a very painful and dis-honouree defeat so he had to reluctantly sit out of this mission and let his head recover before fighting again.

"OK Sonic." said Ruben "I'll trust you to save my former home from destruction."

"Good boy Ruben." said Sonic "Well I'll be juicing, see ya everybody!"

"Wait!" cried Bunnie Rabbot "Can't we come with ya'll?"

"No, I'll handle this myself." said Sonic "Not to mention Bladefeather and Mushu will be able to hold their own against Shadow so they'll be all the help I need. See ya later guys and gals!"

With that said, Sonic ran out of the council room at his trademark speed. After Sonic left, Sally spoke up.

"Never mind everybody." she said kindly "There's always a next time. Now since there's nothing else to discuss, you're all free to go now. Goodbye and wish Sonic luck in Chun-Nan everybody."

Everybody obeyed their queen and they left the room. As they walked through the hallway to the doors of Castle Acorn, Ruben began to wonder what was going on in Chun-Nan right now and if Emperor Tai and Princess Matilda were alright. If not then Sonic would be on hand to save them as always. It was just a worrying thought that Shadow was attacking Chun-Nan. The only question was…why? They may never know the answer but all that mattered was that Shadow was ejected from Chun-Nan immediately before he harmed anybody…

Meanwhile in Rainbow Wood, Scourge the Hedgehog, his dweeby sidekick Ginger and their newest recruit, the former Royal Fighter and down-in-her-luck Fiona Fox, were preparing for Scourge's next big scheme. Fiona and Ginger stood to attention while Scourge explained what his plan was.

"OK you foxes, my good thinking has helped me come up with an excellent idea which will guarantee me the throne of Castle Acorn and my first step to conquering the world." said Scourge, pacing back and forth and flipping his sunglasses over his eyes.

"What is this excellent idea?" asked Fiona, looking forward to hearing what Scourge had to say.

"This excellent idea…" purred Scourge with a flashy grin on his face that made Fiona feel faint "…involves us taking over Royal HQ, the supposed clubhouse that Sonic and his fluffy buddies cuddle up together in after missions. Once we gain control over Royal HQ and beat Sonic's friends into a bunch of pulps, we'll be able to command the Royal Fighters Service and they'll have to serve us no matter the consequences."

"Oh brilliant Scourge! That is a brilliant idea! You're a genius!" applauded Ginger, happily.

"Shut up fool." snapped Scourge "I already told you the stinking' plan so you should already know it dweeb."

"Sorry, I keep forgetting." protested Ginger.

"Why is this dork with you again Scourge?" asked Fiona, mystified as to why the all powerful Scourge the Hedgehog would be hanging out with some dweeby little kid.

"He's there for stress relief, nothing more Fi." said Scourge "Although he can be a teensy bit helpful when he's in the right place."

"You got that right." said Ginger with a gloating grin on his face.

Scourge ignored him and began talking to Fiona again.

"Before we do anything though, I have a few things to clear up first Fi." said Scourge, pointing sharply at her and giving her a steely stare from behind his sunglasses "One: you'd better not be joining me just so you can get the drop on me to redeem yourself and get yourself back in the R.F.S. or you'll know about it!"

"Scourge, I would rather cut my arm off then dare try to mutiny against you!" shrieked Fiona "I am not attempting to get the drop on you, the R.F.S. are nothing to me anymore, I'm a villain now and that's that!"

"Good." said Scourge "Makes you smarter then the others. Second: How strong are you babe?"

Fiona seemed to have missed the fact Scourge called her babe as she answered him without saying anything about being called babe.

"I'm strong enough to defend myself." said Fiona "I once beat up a tough cop named General Chipper in order to save myself from getting arrested. He's pretty strong for a chipmunk."

"Yeah he is." muttered Scourge, remembering his time in prison before he escaped "So you're strong are ya? That's good, I don't take wimps in my gang."

"You don't need to tell me." said Fiona "However, I think I need a little bit of training though so I'll be a little tougher then before. After all, I need all the strength I can get if I'm going up against my former comrades."

"Training eh?" mused Scourge "Well that can be arranged Fiona. First though, let's see how hard you can hit."

"OK." said Fiona agreeably "What do you want me to do?"

"Kick Ginger as hard as you possibly can." ordered Scourge with a sadistic grin on his face.

"WHAT?" shrieked Ginger "Scourge, when I joined you, this is not what I signed up for! I wanted to be your sidekick, not your punching bag!"

"Oh grow up Ginger and know your place." snapped Scourge "Fiona, kick him as hard as you can!"

Fiona didn't see much point in just kicking Ginger for the hell of it but if she was to show Scourge how hard she could kick, she had to do it. She drew her foot back and kicked Ginger right in the tender spot. Ginger screamed like a five year old girl and he fell onto his knees, clutching his tender spot. If there was anyone who kicked him in the groin harder then anybody who's ever done it, it would have to be Fiona. Scourge could kick him pretty hard but Fiona's shoes had steel toe caps so that made things all the more painful. Scourge just laughed like a school bully at Ginger.

"Oh Fiona that was priceless!" he cackled, wiping a tear out of his eye "You can kick pretty hard…for a girl that is."

"Um…thank you?" said Fiona, slightly offended by the remark but didn't dare show it in fear of angering Scourge "So what do you want me to do now? Punch Ginger as hard as I can?"

"No, I think Ginger's had enough abuse to him for one day." said Scourge in a fake tone of sympathy "I think I'll give him a rest now. What I do want you to do though is punch ME as hard as you can and I'll be able to see how tough you are."

"What?" exclaimed Fiona "I can't punch you Scourge, you'll cripple me for this!"

"No I won't babe." said Scourge "I'm a tough guy, I can take Sonic's spin-dashes so a punch won't be that bad. Go on Fiona, hit me as hard as you can and prove to me you're tough enough to be on my side!"

Fiona gulped nervously and clenched her fists feebly. She really didn't want to punch Scourge but she had to otherwise she'd never convince Scourge she was tough enough for him. With reluctance and a heavy sigh, Fiona drew her arm back and feebly thumped Scourge on the shoulder. Scourge just laughed at her.

"Is that the best you can do?" he sneered "Punch me harder you weakling!"

Fiona frowned at Scourge and she drew her arm back. Without a moment's hesitance, she socked him directly in the face, actually knocking the stunned hedgehog off of his feet and onto his back! Fiona gasped at what she had just done and began fearing the worst. She instantly knelt down beside Scourge and began panicking.

"Scourge? I'm sorry, I didn't mean to punch you that hard! Don't kill me for this!" shrieked Fiona.

Scourge just sat up straight and felt his cheek which was throbbing like mad, ignoring Fiona's worries.

"No one's ever hit me as hard as that before…" he mused to himself and then he said to Fiona "Good punch Fi. You've got the power of a man in ya."

"I have?" said Fiona, relieved that Scourge wasn't going to deck her for punching him "Well I guess being on the run 24/7 pays off for you."

"Well Fiona, you're tough enough to be in my gang." said Scourge happily "I'm glad you've joined me. But there's more to being strong then just punching and kicking very hard. How well can you fight Fi?"

"I dunno really." said Fiona "I haven't had many fights and most of my missions with the R.F.S. ended up with me needing to be rescued."

"Well in that case, maybe me and you should have a friendly contest to see how well you can fight." suggested Scourge "Don't worry Fi, I'll go easy on ya just because you're my sidekick."

Fiona wasn't so sure about this idea. For all she knew, Scourge could be lying through his teeth and end up cutting loose on her but she would never prove how good at fighting she was unless she showed Scourge her fighting skills. So whether she wanted to or not, she would have to fight Scourge. Thank goodness it was only a training match and not a serious fight.

"OK Scourge, I accept." said Fiona "I'll warn you though, I may give you a few nasty bruises."

"Go ahead, I can take it." bragged Scourge.

Scourge and Fiona stared each other down and bent down in battle ready stances. Ginger had recovered from his very painful encounter with Fiona's foot just in time to watch the fight. Scourge and Fiona then lunged at each other, ready to show off their fighting abilities…

Back in Chun-Nan, the fight between Shadow and the kung-fu masters was only getting more hectic by the second. Bladefeather and Mushu were pretty surprised as to how well the black hedgehog was holding out against their kung-fu strength. No matter how hard they hit him, the black hedgehog was still standing and fighting. Shadow gave Bladefeather an uppercut to the beak that startled the falcon momentarily and then Shadow grabbed Bladefeather's wing and flipped him over onto his back. Shadow then threw Bladefeather straight into Mushu and the falcon knocked the iguana off his feet and onto his back. Bladefeather wasn't down for long though, being a kung-fu master he had a lot of stamina. He picked himself up and summoned a pair of daggers to his hands.

"Right, that is it!" growled Bladefeather "This abysmal conflict has gone on for too long! It's time to end this variance with my signature move!"

He then spun himself around like a spinning top and began shooting daggers in every direction at once. Mushu ducked down to the ground so he wouldn't get skewered by the daggers and Shadow just teleported out of Bladefeather's way. He reappeared above the spinning falcon, using his jet shoes to hover momentarily and then he dropkicked the falcon, stopping his dangerous move and bringing the falcon down onto his back. Bladefeather dropped whatever daggers he was about to throw and he groaned in anger.

"Just give up already feather brain!" growled Shadow "You can't beat me! I'm too powerful! Now stop being such a fool and lay-off or I'm going to have to seriously hurt you, even though I don't really want to have to right now!"

"Nothing is too vigorous for a kung-fu master!" retorted Bladefeather "We'll fathom you eventually dark warrior!"

Shadow just scoffed and prepared to kick Bladefeather's head in an attempt to knock him out so he could leave but Mushu appeared from nowhere and landed a powerful punch to Shadow's face, knocking the black hedgehog off of Bladefeather and sending him rolling across the ground. Mushu helped Bladefeather back to his feet and the two kung-fu masters prepared to continue fighting. Shadow picked himself up and was just about to start fighting again until he was spin-dashed from behind by Sonic the Hedgehog. The super speedy hero had finally arrived at Chun-Nan at last. Shadow looked up at Sonic and gritted his teeth in anger.

"Sonic!" he growled.

"Hey Shadow." said Sonic with a mocking wave "What's the occasion? You on vacation or something?"

"Sonic the Hedgehog." said Bladefeather in a respecting tone "How magnanimous it is to see you again noble warrior."

"Hey Bladefeather." said Sonic "What's Shadow doing to bother you two then?"

"Well the canaille decided to take it upon himself to wreck Emperor Tai's statue, which Mushu and I have spent long callous hours making and it almost ended up killing Princess Matilda in the process so we took it upon ourselves to educate the boorish little brat with some heavily needed manners. Amazingly, he's managing to hold his own against us. He's a very vigorous fighter with an unbearable tone of fiduciary in his bloodstream."

"Yeah, Shadow's a toughie." said Sonic "My friends and I have been in conflict with him this past day and we thought we finally defeated him once and for all but somehow he's still alive."

"Unfortunately for you." put in Shadow, spin-dashing Sonic in the back and knocking him over "Your pink hedgehog friend almost killed me and she caused me to have some memory loss! I can't remember anything other then my name, your name and the battle in the construction yard so I decided to run around and ask some questions to see if anyone knows anything about my past and I ended up in a fight with those two kung-fu guys. Now you're here, I may as well make you pay for almost killing me Sonic the Hedgehog!"

Sonic had listened to what Shadow had said to him. He's lost his memory and can only remember his name and his own name? Maybe Sonic could use that to his advantage and probably convince Shadow to join him.

"Hey Shadow." said Sonic "I've got some good news for ya."

"Make it quick." said Shadow "I'm running out of patience."

"You know that you have some lost purpose or something like that?" asked Sonic.

"Yeah?" asked Shadow.

"Well I know what your purpose is." lied Sonic "Your purpose is to protect Mobius from Dr. Eggman. You was created for that very purpose Shadow and we're going to help you complete your objective."

Shadow seemed to take this in well but something didn't seem right about it. There seemed to be a catch somewhere.

"If I'm supposed to protect this planet…then why did you and your friends try to kill me?" asked Shadow.

Sonic pulled a worried face at Shadow. He'd been caught in the act! Shadow wasn't buying any of it!

"Uh…um…" thought Sonic desperately. He couldn't come up with any lie to tell Shadow.

"You're lying to me aren't you?" said Shadow coldly "My purpose is something entirely different isn't it?"

"No!" protested Sonic "Your purpose is to protect Mobius! I swear it!"

"Then why did you and your friends fight me in the construction yard?" demanded Shadow angrily "You must have had a reason of some sorts! Is it because you envy me or something?"

Sonic tried to come up with a convincing lie for Shadow but he couldn't come up with one. Shadow then marched up to Sonic and grabbed the hedgehog around the neck. He hoisted Sonic up to his height and clenched his fist.

"You're a deceiving little hedgehog Sonic and I am going to whup you for this!" yelled Shadow, preparing to punch Sonic's daylights out.

"Put the hedgehog down." ordered a female voice Shadow was unfamiliar with.

Shadow strangely did as he was told and he faced the person who told him to put Sonic down. To Sonic, Bladefeather and Mushu's surprise, it was Princess Matilda standing before Shadow with a brave face on. She didn't look afraid of Shadow and she didn't look afraid to fight either. Shadow stared at Matilda in wonder but he shook it off and glared at her.

"Look lady, this fight is with me and Sonic only." declared Shadow "If I were you, I'd stay out of it. You wouldn't want to get hurt do you?"

"I cannot stand idly by and let you beat up innocent people dark warrior." said Matilda calmly "I am going to finish off this fight."

"Princess, don't be such a senile little fool!" cried Bladefeather "You're not able to fight!"

Matilda ignored the falcon's pleas and continued.

"I don't want to have to resort to fighting though dark warrior." said Matilda softly "We can settle this peacefully and I wish to do just that. Please stop beating up these nice people and leave Chun-Nan and you can save everybody a lot of grief."

"I'm not going to take orders from you!" snarled Shadow "And if you're going to get in my way then I'll be forced to hurt you! Do the sensible thing and step down and I won't have to harm you."

Matilda refused to move. She just casually flipped her hair to the side and stood there, waiting to make a move. Shadow got mad and he skated up to the mongoose in the purple dress, ready to beat the snot out of her. Shadow raised his fist and…Matilda lashed out and grabbed him by the neck with one arm. She lifted Shadow off the ground and then slammed him onto the ground. Shadow gasped in surprise at what had just happened. Matilda then threw Shadow backwards a few feet. Shadow skidded to a halt and ran back towards Matilda. Matilda just stood there and waited for him to come. Shadow was about to attack but Matilda gave Shadow a tremendous uppercut to the chin that felt like an iron fist and seemed to knock a lot of sense out of Shadow. He staggered backwards and fell onto his back in stunned surprise. Shadow tried to pick himself up but Matilda pinned him down with her foot.

"Please, for your sake, stay down." she said bluntly.

Sonic's jaw dropped in surprise. This was absolutely unbelievable. Shadow just got subdued by Princess Matilda with little to no effort! The blue hedgehog didn't know what to say about that unbelievable act.

"Wow! You guys didn't tell me Matilda could fight!" blurted Sonic.

"Even we didn't know that!" exclaimed Bladefeather "Matilda my blossom flower, however did you learn how to fight like that? You've never shown any fighting abilities or even spoke of having any before!"

"That's because I was supposed to keep this trait secret." said Matilda "But circumstances have forced me to reveal myself. And in answer to your earlier question, I've been given kung-fu lessons in secret since I was five. My daddy took me to a top-secret kung-fu school that nobody knows about and I was trained by a vigilante kung-fu teacher who never shows himself to others and has forbidden me to mention him by name. The reason for this is should anyone attack the Pagoda of Prosperity and I'm the only one around, I can fight them off and they'll never expect it as I don't look like a kung-fu warrior of any kind."

"You must have underwent some very vigorous and callous training Matilda because you're stronger then me and Mushu." complimented Bladefeather "But that just mystifies me as to why you never thought of fighting Zira or me and Mushu when we were forced to work for her."

"Because I couldn't bear to hurt two dear friends of mine." said Matilda "The thought of doing so was too awful. And I'm not at Zira's level of kung-fu yet. I'm still in training and thus, fighting Zira at my current level would guarantee me getting my neck broken so it wasn't the case of I didn't think of fighting Zira, it was the case of I COULDN'T fight her. Hopefully after I train some more, I'll reach her level of kung-fu and be able to take her on, provided she ever escapes from prison that is."

"I see." said Bladefeather "Still, you with kung-fu skills is a startling revelation but in a meritorious way. I bet your father would be glorified at your valour today."

"He probably would." said Matilda, looking down at the pinned Shadow the Hedgehog under her foot "But I wish I didn't have to resort to this. There was easily a way to settle this peacefully. Pity dark warrior here was too obstinate to back down when he had the chance."

Shadow just glared at the mongoose princess but said nothing at all.

"Well now you've just taken down Shadow for me, I'll happily take him back to Mobotropolis so he can stand trial for all the crimes he's done." said Sonic the Hedgehog "Thanks for your help Matilda. You're way past cool."

"Thank you hero of the west." said Matilda with a slight blush on her beautiful face.

But before Sonic could attempt to apprehend Shadow, a laser blast shot from nowhere and blew him, Bladefeather, Mushu and Matilda away. The shot accidentally caught Shadow too and blew him away. They all landed in a heap and Sonic looked up to see who it was. It was none other then his sworn enemy Dr. Eggman who was flying in his Egg-Mobile with his snivelling sidekick Alonzo. The Egg-Mobile had its laser cannons deployed and it kept them pointed threateningly at Sonic, Matilda, Bladefeather and Mushu. Shadow picked himself up and stared at Dr. Eggman in wonder. He looked familiar to him somehow and so did Alonzo and Eggman's Egg-Mobile. Had he seen them before? Bladefeather, Mushu and Matilda had no idea who Eggman was seeing as he's not been anywhere near Chun-Nan the entire time he's been on Mobius but they immediately assumed he was bad news so they prepared to fight. Sonic picked himself up and frowned at his arch enemy.

"Hello there Sonic the Hedgehog!" Dr. Eggman announced in a stupidly loud manner.

"Eggman!" yelled Sonic "What are you doing here?"

"So I take it this is the nefarious Dr. Eggman that is trying to throw Mobius into a pernicious state hedgehog?" asked Bladefeather, holding two daggers by their blades and preparing to throw them.

"You got that right feathers." said Sonic "This is the man I've been in conflict with for months on end and he's the man who wants to turn Mobius into Robo-topia."

"You got that right Sonic." sneered Dr. Eggman "To your delight though, I'm not here for a fight. I'm just looking for my dear Shadow the Hedgehog and now I've found him, I'll be going now."

Shadow's eyes widened a little. The memories were coming back to him. Dr. Eggman was his supposed creator and he claims his purpose is to destroy all of Mobius and help him take it over! He'd gotten his lost purpose back again! But if that was the case then why did Dr. Eggman shoot him as well as the others? Maybe it was by accident so Shadow didn't let the question bother him. He was just pleased to get his memories back.

"Doctor." said Shadow slowly.

"Hello Shadow, my glorious creation." said Dr. Eggman with a big smile on his face "So nice to see you're alright. Now come along, you need some rest and I've got building work to be getting on with."

Shadow got to his feet and walked over to Dr. Eggman. Sonic just stared at him confusedly.

"Huh?" mused Sonic "I thought Shadow butt said he'd lost all memories except for his name, my name and the fight in the construction yard!"

"If I were to guess hero from the west, maybe Shadow recognizes Eggman and it's brought some of his memory back." suggested Matilda as Shadow climbed into the Egg-Mobile "I didn't know the dark warrior was working with Dr. Eggman though."

"Eggman claims to have created him." said Sonic "I'm not really sure if it's true though I mean, Eggman creates robots, not live Mobians!

Then again, Eggman can be unpredictable sometimes and I bet he wanted to try something new so he made Shadow. But one thing bugs me…" he said, thinking hard "How does Shadow have Chaos abilities such as Chaos Blast when Eggman hasn't got any Chaos Emeralds to give him those abilities? He'd need a Chaos Emerald or two to experiment with so he can give Shadow the powers during his creation."

"If that is the case then that must mean the boy is being deceived." said Bladefeather "No matter though, Mushu here will make Dr. Eggman spill the rice on us."

"How?" asked Sonic.

Bladefeather just smiled and turned to Mushu who was watching Shadow and Eggman as still as a statue and as silent as a grave.

"Seize him old friend." he ordered.

Mushu nodded at Bladefeather and he leaped into the air in a ninja manner. He somersaulted and landed on the Egg-Mobile just behind Eggman, making the vehicle wobble about slightly and he turned around to he was looking down at Eggman. Before Eggman could do anything, Mushu grabbed Eggman's arm and forced it behind his back, making the fat scientist scream in pain. Shadow tried to help Dr. Eggman but Mushu whacked him away with his tail and wrapped his other arm around Dr. Eggman's neck, putting him in a headlock. Bladefeather stood forward with Sonic by his side.

"OK Dr. Eggman, you answer whatever question Sonic has and you'd better answer it truthfully or Mushu will take it upon himself to break your arm." threatened Bladefeather "Don't make me admonish you again."

Dr. Eggman just whimpered in Mushu's tough grasp. He didn't say anything.

"Alright egg-brains." said Sonic "Did you create Shadow the Hedgehog or not?"

Dr. Eggman refused to answer at first but then Mushu gave his arm a very sharp twist and Eggman yelped in pain. If he wanted to save himself a broken arm then he had to answer.

"OK, OK! I admit it!" shrieked Dr. Eggman "I didn't create Shadow! I found him beside a capsule with Rouge the Bat and I decided to manipulate him into my own goals after learning he had no memory!"

Mushu let go of his arm and jumped back over to Bladefeather. Dr. Eggman gasped for breath. Shadow stared at Dr. Eggman in fury. He could feel the Chaos Energies surging through his veins and his blood boiled.

"You…you lied to me?" he growled "You're…not my creator?"

"Yes Shadow, I lied to you." said Dr. Eggman "But no hard feelings about that right?"

He smiled weakly at Shadow, hoping that it would tempt Shadow not to attack him. Shadow didn't buy Eggman's act and his first response was to spin-dash Eggman's Egg-Mobile into pieces in blind rage. Dr. Eggman yelped as his machine was torn to pieces bit by bit and reduced to a mess of metal, circuitry and fragments. Eggman found himself lying on the ground looking up at the sky and Alonzo found himself doing the same thing. Shadow then glared at Dr. Eggman with his fiery red eyes and he raised his arm, preparing to harm Dr. Eggman. Dr. Eggman covered his face in fear and whimpered as Shadow prepared to harm him. But Shadow just lowered his arm and pointed sharply at him.

"You're not worth it." he said coldly "But I will get my own back on you doctor. From now on, I am against you and I will do what I can to bring your empire down and that is a promise! Now get out of here before I change my mind!"

Dr. Eggman did not need a second warning. He immediately picked himself up and Alonzo picked himself up too.

"Alonzo, carry me back to Robotropolis!" ordered Dr. Eggman.

"Carry yourself back to Robotropolis you lazy git!" snorted Alonzo, zipping off on his two little wheels.

Dr. Eggman grumbled at his sidekick but said nothing and just ran after his fleeing minion. Shadow just stood there with his arms folded and an angry scowl on his face as the two villains fled for it. He then looked down at his feet in despair. He thought he'd found his lost purpose but now Eggman turned out to be a lie, he was back to square one.

"I can't believe the doctor tricked me like this." muttered Shadow "He didn't create me after all. But if he didn't create me then who did? And if my purpose is not to destroy Mobius then what is my purpose?"

Matilda strode over to Shadow and looked the black hedgehog in the eye. Shadow looked back at Matilda, wondering if she was going to hurt him again but the fair and kind-hearted mongoose just put her hands on his shoulders and spoke to him.

"You may have a lost purpose but that can be a good thing dark warrior." said Matilda softly "If you have no purpose then you can decide what your purpose can be and you have all the freedom you wish. If you want my advice I say, you choose who you want to be Shadow, you don't have to be what everyone else wants you to be, you be who you wish to be."

Shadow took in Matilda's advice very well and he thought it over. She had some very valid points there. Maybe Shadow didn't need to have a purpose assigned to him. He could just be his own person and no one could rule over his life. Shadow then made up his mind and he looked at Sonic the Hedgehog.

"Blue hedgehog, after taking the mongoose's advice I have decided this." he said to Sonic "I will fight against Eggman and make him pay for deceiving me like this. This does not make us allies, but we are not enemies either. I will go my own ways and help you the best I can. And while I'm at it, I'll see if I can find the true origins of my past."

"Suit yourself Shadow." said Sonic casually "Can't wait to see you on the battlefield."

Shadow just smiled dryly at Sonic and he skated off at top speed on his jet shoes.

"So long Sonic." Shadow called to him over his shoulder "Until the next time."

Sonic just waved his former enemy goodbye. Shadow skated off into the distance, disappearing from sight. Sonic and Matilda watched Shadow disappear and after he left, Sonic spoke up.

"Well that was a pretty easy day for me." said Sonic "Just wait till the guys back home hear the good news. Shadow's no longer on Eggman's side."

"The dark warrior is certainly shrouded in mystery." said Matilda "I bet there's more to him then we know about. Do you think you'll see him again Sonic?"

"Oh yes Matilda." said Sonic "Some day…"

But when that would be was a mystery. For now, Sonic had to wish Shadow luck and hope that he would eventually find what he had been looking for. At least he was no longer an enemy but that didn't mean Eggman was beaten yet, Eggman would be back and who knows what sinister trick he had hiding up his sleeves…

Meanwhile, Scourge and Fiona had been having a pretty intense fight with one another. Fiona had started off rather feebly and was getting beaten pretty easily by Scourge and the evil hedgehog let loose an onslaught of insults to deliberately make her mad and thus, make her more determined to beat him. The more Scourge insulted Fiona, the more effort she seemed to be putting into her fight and to Scourge's surprise, the fox was holding her own against him now. Fiona was proving to be tougher then she made herself out to be. Ginger had been enjoying the fight and wondered who was going to win. Fiona kicked at Scourge but the green hedgehog leaped out of her way and jumped towards her. He kicked her in the face and sent her staggering backwards. Fiona clutched her face and then suddenly ended up getting a face full of punches from Scourge.

Fiona thought back with a kick to the gut but Scourge easily recovered from the blow and kicked at Fiona, missing by inches as Fiona dodged him. Fiona kicked Scourge in the back, knocking Scourge onto his back and she tried to pin him down but Scourge reached behind him and grabbed Fiona's arm. He then flipped Fiona over his head and onto her back. Fiona picked herself up and lunged at Scourge but she unfortunately missed after Scourge ducked. Scourge then kneed Fiona in the gut and elbowed her on the back at the same time, giving Fiona a double dose of pain and the green hedgehog dropkicked her in the head, knocking Fiona off her feet and sending her rolling across the ground. The red vixen was truly battered and beaten and despite her best efforts, her strength was beginning to falter. Fiona tried and failed to get back to her feet and Scourge advanced on her menacingly with an evil grin on his face.

"Ha, ha, ha!" he crowed "Pathetic, absolutely pathetic Fiona! You have no skills whatsoever! You punch hard but you fall even harder! No wonder you were a lame Royal Fighter! I bet Sonic the Hedgehog would be very disappointed in you if he were watching this fight. You are a failure Fiona and that's all you'll ever be!"

Secretly, he was impressed at how Fiona had managed to hold out against him the past few minutes but he wanted Fiona to try harder so he tried the insults once again in order to make Fiona angry and desperate to beat him. Fiona was getting mad at Scourge's insults and somehow, she was getting her strength back.

"So Fi, got anything to say before I kick you out of this gang?" sneered Scourge.

"I…am…not…PATHETIC!" screeched Fiona.

She leaped back onto her feet and socked Scourge directly in the face before the hedgehog could even see her coming. But that didn't stop Fiona. She began punching Scourge over and over and over, not giving him a chance to fight back as she was moving much too fast for him to keep up with. Then Fiona yelled loudly and walloped Scourge in the face with a powerful kick, sending him falling onto his back and causing his sunglasses to fall off. The kick seemed to overwhelm Scourge as he was too stunned to get back up. He didn't know Fiona could be so strong when she wanted to be. Fiona then pinned Scourge down to the ground and began having a hissy fit at the green hedgehog.

"How's this for pathetic Mr. Egotist?" yelled Fiona angrily "Now you'd better stop insulting me or I'm gonna do worse to you!"

Scourge shook off the amazing blow Fiona had dealt him and he looked at her. Fiona just remained scowling at the green hedgehog. Scourge grinned evilly at Fiona.

"You know what?" he said to her "You do know how to fight after all. That was brilliant stuff Fi! You really are ready to join me."

"Oh? I…I am?" said Fiona in surprise "Um…thank you."

She then released Scourge and helped the green hedgehog back onto his feet. Ginger applauded Fiona with a gormless grin on his face.

"Bravo Fiona! Well done!" he cheered "You belong with us now!"

"Thank you squirt." said Fiona sarcastically "So Scourge what do we do now?"

"We wait until tomorrow." said Scourge, lightly rubbing his arm "Me and you beat each other pretty badly so I think we need to chill out a moment. Besides, we have the element of surprise as no one expects us to be coming so we can let the plan sit aside for a while. Tomorrow, as they say, is just another day."

Fiona nodded agreeably. She couldn't wait to return to Royal HQ and get her own back on her former comrades for making her miserable and making her life turn into hell for her. And now she was teamed up with the baddest of bad, Scourge the Hedgehog, her revenge was certain and Sonic and friends would pay very dearly indeed…

With inspiration from Ultimate Black Ace, I gave this chapter a slight rewrite which involves Mushu getting Eggman to crack in a more realistic way though I have chosen not to rewrite Matilda's role though as I can decide who strong she is and if I want her to be able to beat Shadow then that's what I'm going to do. Not to mention, I don't believe in princesses who can't fend for themselves as that is so cliché and sexist so that's why I made Matilda a badass. If apologize if anyone has a problem with this but I'm not changing Matilda's character whatsoever.

HQ Heist Part 1

Story 64: HQ Heist Part 1: Heroes Out to Sea

"Trust the Council of Acorn to assign me with a mission involving water!" moaned Sonic the Hedgehog as the fighter jet that his best friend Tails the twin-tailed fox was flying soared towards a huge oil rig in the distance.

"Sonic, we're not even going into the water so don't sweat about it." said Tails without turning around to Sonic who was in the seat behind him.

A few hours ago, the Council of Acorn, Castle Acorn's government house had received a message from one of the Royal Fighter groups abroad saying that a huge oil rig under the command of Dr. Eggman had been detected 80,000 miles out into sea and Sonic, Tails and Ruben the Water Panther were the only ones available for the missions right now so Tails had taken an R.F.S. fighter jet and was now flying towards the rig's coordinates with Sonic and Ruben joining him. Needless to say, Sonic seemed more worried about the fact they were flying over an endless stretch of water then the fact they were heading towards Dr. Eggman territory thousands of miles out into sea. Ruben was baffled by Sonic's worries and wondered what was up with the hedgehog.

"Water's a wonderful thing Sonic." said Ruben "Why ever do you seem so worried about it?"

"Well there's the main course of "I can't swim" served with a side order of "I hate getting wet"." replied Sonic "And the fact we're thousands of miles out into sea isn't very settling to me."

"Look Sonic, our mission is to blow Eggman's oil rig up and that doesn't require us going underwater so stop worrying!" snapped Tails "We'll be on the oil rig which stands a good height above the water so you're safe as safe can get Sonic."

"Ehk! Wrong answer!" jeered Sonic jokingly "I don't think an oil rig under Eggman's control is gonna be very safe for any of us."

"Um…yeah you're right Sonic." said Tails, feeling a little daft for not thinking about that obvious fact "I mean the place will be crawling with Eggman robots great and small. I wouldn't be too surprised if Eggman himself is here so we're gonna have to be extra careful on this mission."

"Careful?" sneered Sonic "That's a new word to me. What does it mean?"

"Sonic!" snapped Ruben "Be serious here! An oil rig is gonna be very dangerous territory and you know it so stop acting so laid back!"

"Oh relax Ruben." scoffed Sonic, putting his hands behind his head and folding his legs in a casual manner "My super speed, your water powers and Tails' quick thinking will make this mission a walk in the park. Eggman's robots have no chance against the three of us."

"I'm just glad Shadow the Hedgehog won't be helping Eggman since according to you, he abandoned Eggman after discovering the fact he's not his creator." Tails said to Sonic "This mission will be a whole of a lot easier for us without that unbeatable experiment on Eggman's side."

"I wouldn't say Shadow's unbeatable since Princess Matilda made easy work out of him." noted Sonic, remembering how swiftly Matilda had managed to subdue Shadow during his ruckus in Chun-Nan yesterday.

"I'm still amazed to hear that Matilda's able to fight!" exclaimed Ruben "Even I didn't know Matilda was a kung-fu warrior! I wonder who trained her to become a warrior?"

Before Sonic could give any answer, the R.F.S. jet was stricken by a laser and the whole jet rocked to the side, making everybody cry out in surprise. Tails thrust the levers to the side to stabilize the jet and get it flying in the correct position once again.

"Whoa! That's some mondo shooting!" blurted Sonic "What's going on Tails?"

Tails peered at the jet's amazing radar which could pick up even the tiniest things and to his horror, there were a fleet of robotical planes detected and according to the radar, they were coming towards them at top speed!

"It's a fleet of Eggman robots!" shrieked Tails "We're being ambushed!"

"I should have known Eggman would launch an attack on us before we can even touch down." muttered Ruben "An oil rig is too precious for him. Oil powers machines after all."

"And that's why we're going to destroy it." said Sonic "So ol' eggy won't have any oil to give to his robots. I hope we can destroy the oil rig without damaging the environment, I mean oil isn't exactly water's best friend is it?"

"We'll have to think on that later!" cried Tails "We need to evade the Eggman robots that are shooting at us!"

He turned the jet around and began flying away from the oil rig and seven red jet-shaped Eggman robots flew after the jet. The Eggman robots were shaped like Eurofighter Typhoons with eyes in the cockpit window and they had sentient minds so they were able to think and fly around without a pilot. They didn't even need a pilot; they could do everything a normal fighter jet could do on their own. The lead Eggman-jet, which was coloured gold instead of red, was the fastest of the Eggman-jets and in no time, it was directly on the R.F.S. jet's tail. The Eggman-jet began shooting at the R.F.S. jet with built-in lasers on either side of the nose cone. Tails was a skilled pilot and he managed to manoeuvre the R.F.S. jet around and around and even in circles through the air to avoid being shot at. Tails then pressed a button on the control pad and a laser gun deployed from underneath the R.F.S. jet. It rotated around and pointed directly at the pursuing Eggman-jet. Tails pressed some buttons on the control levers with his thumbs and the laser gun began firing rapidly at the Eggman-jet. The Eggman-jet, unfortunately, was just as good a flier as Tails was and it managed to evade the gun's shots. The Eggman-jet had more then just lasers to fire at the R.F.S. jet. It had missiles stored under its wings and it fired a missile at the R.F.S. jet. To Tails' bad luck, the missile was a homing missile so it would keep following the R.F.S. jet until it finally hit it and destroyed it. But Tails knew how to stop the missile. He fired the laser gun and the gun shot the missile. The missile exploded the moment it was hit and the Eggman-jet flew straight into the explosion. The Eggman jet couldn't see the R.F.S. jet through the fire and smoke it had just flown into but the main worry for the robotic jet was the debris and shrapnel from the missile that would likely be flying towards it so it flew straight up out of the fireball that started to die down. Tails looked at his radar to see the Eggman-jet flying straight up, meaning to him that the explosion of the missile getting stricken by his laser didn't destroy it. But Tails had more to worry about. The other six Eggman-jets were flying around towards the R.F.S. jet head on. Tails cried out in surprise and pulled on the levers. The jet soared up into the air and began flying over the Eggman-jets. The Eggman-jets flew straight past the R.F.S. jet as it soared over them. The Eggman-jets circled around and began shooting at the R.F.S. jet as rapidly as they could. The R.F.S. jet began firing back but one jet with one gun wouldn't put up much of a fight against six jets all armed with a laser on each side of their nose cones. The lead Eggman-jet joined its group and began firing at the R.F.S. jet along with its comrades. The R.F.S. jet kept firing back at the attackers and it managed to actually shoot one of the jets and destroy it but Tails knew he wouldn't be able to hold out well against six other jets. He had to land on the oil rig and escape the fleet immediately. But landing on the oil rig without getting shot down wouldn't be an easy task. It would take a lot of skill to get past the fleet without losing the jet in the process.

"Tails, I think we should land!" cried Ruben "We can't get keep up this chase forever!"

"I think I have an idea!" said Tails as he manoeuvred out of the way of another laser blast "Sonic, can you spin-dash all the Eggman-jets?"

"I sure can!" said Sonic with a reassuring smile on his face "Just open up the cockpit and I'll be able to spin-dash these jokers!"

Tails nodded and opened the cockpit window. Sonic climbed out of the cockpit and on top of the jet's fuselage. Sonic could feel the wind whooshing past him as he crawled across the top of the jet. Sonic then leaped into the air and spin-dashed towards the lead Eggman-jet as it flew towards the R.F.S. jet. Sonic cleaved straight through the golden jet-shaped robot as it tried to shoot down the R.F.S. jet and the Eggman-jet was reduced to bits and pieces that fell down from the sky and into the sea below, never to be found again. But Sonic didn't stop there, he headed towards another Eggman-jet while in spin-dash and he destroyed that one too. But even Sonic's spin-dashes have a limited range and he soon ran out so he made a leap for another Eggman-jet and he managed to grab onto the jet-shaped robot's wing as it flew past him. The Eggman-jet failed to notice it had Dr. Eggman's worst enemy clinging onto its wing and continued to try and shoot down the R.F.S. jet with its lasers. Unfortunately for the jet, another Eggman-jet saw Sonic clinging onto the jet's wing and it aimed at Sonic, hoping to destroy him. Sonic leaped off the Eggman-jet he was on, leaving the other one to accidentally shoot it to pieces. Sonic spin-dashed towards the firing jet and destroyed it with one fell swoop. The last two jets realized what was going on so they stopped chasing the R.F.S. jet and flew towards Sonic who was spin-dashing towards them. Sonic destroyed one jet and then bounced onto the other, destroying it and putting an end to the Eggman-jet squad. Sonic laughed at his victory and used his homing attack to make a frantic leap towards the oncoming R.F.S. jet. He managed to land on the jet's cockpit window and he gave a thumbs up sign to Tails. Tails beamed with joy.

"Well done Sonic!" he congratulated.

"Thank you, you're too kind." joked Sonic "Now can we land on this oil rig already? I can't bear to be above water for a second longer!"

Tails just sighed in annoyance and he flew the jet towards the oil rig. The oil rig was enormous. It was twice the size of Earth's largest oil rig. It looked pretty much like your average oil rig only it carried Dr. Eggman's infamous Eggman Empire logo on the stations and towers mounted on the rig. Sonic pulled a face. He despised that logo and the fact it had Eggman's face on it just added to the doctor's egotism. He was going to have a lot of fun destroying the rig that's for sure. And the very thought of preventing Eggman from having oil supplies for his precious robot army made the blue hedgehog hoot with laughter. The R.F.S. jet flew around an unoccupied area of the rig and landed on the enormous station. The moment the jet came to a halt, Sonic leaped off of the cockpit window and onto the steel floors of the rig. It felt good to be back on solid ground. Tails and Ruben climbed out of the jet and Tails slung a bag of detonators on his shoulder. They were going to use the detonators to destroy the oil rig. Sonic poked his head around the side of the building they were parked behind. He could see swarms of Eggman robots working like crazy, carrying this and that and running here and there. Only two robots didn't appear to be working though and they were Alonzo the Butler Bot, Eggman's scheming minion and Mecha Rouge, Eggman's latest addition to his army. Alonzo was obviously in charge of the oil rig and he was barking commands every five seconds as robots ran past him frantically doing their jobs. Mecha Rouge just stood beside him as silent as a statue.

"You there! Load that crate onto the Eggman ocean liners!" barked Alonzo to an Eggman robot carrying a crate "We've got an order to fill and we cannot delay! Eggman wants his oil and he wants it now so get a move on!"

The robot nodded quickly and ran off like a jackrabbit. Alonzo then shouted at another Eggman robot.

"You! Start loading the crates faster!" he yelled "We're on a tight schedule here and if we're so much as a second late, Eggman will have our necks!"

"Yes-sir." droned the robot, running off to do his job.

Alonzo then turned to Mecha Rouge, who had been doing absolutely nothing the whole time the rig had been in operation today. The fact that she was doing nothing made Alonzo livid.

"Why are you standing around doing nothing you lazy wreck?" he shouted "Get down to the oil tanks and start filling up the oil barrels to load into the crates so my crate loaders can load the Eggman ships!"

"I o-bey." droned the roboticized bat, flying off down to the oil tanks stored in the legs of the oil rig.

Alonzo only made Mecha Rouge do that so she had something to do. Whenever the little butler bot was in charge, Alonzo's head ended up being too big for his body. He was very bossy and big-headed whenever Eggman put him in charge of anything and he didn't like to see robots doing nothing so even if there was no need to assign a job to anybody, he would assign the robot a job just so it was doing some work. The Eggman Empire wouldn't be a pleasant place to be if Alonzo ran the empire instead of Dr. Eggman. Sonic had been watching the whole thing go off and he was amazed at the sight of so many robots running around doing this and that. He was surprised at the fact Alonzo was in charge of the operation more then anything but Alonzo was never much of a threat to the hedgehog so Sonic didn't let that bother him. Regardless, Alonzo would be a dangerous foe since he had thousands of minions on his side to do the bidding for him so Sonic couldn't act rashly on this, he would reluctantly have to take this nice and slow or risk getting caught. Sonic turned back to his friends.

"You may not believe this but, Alonzo's in charge of this joint." reported Sonic.

"Alonzo? Seriously?" sneered Ruben "If that snooty moron's in charge then this rig is as good as destroyed!"

"Um…I'm gonna say yes and no for that." said Sonic "While Alonzo's no biggie for us, he's got a tonne of Eggman robots on his side and he appears to have a roboticized Rouge the Bat on his side too."

"Roboticized…what?" piped Tails, his twin tails straightening in surprise "Rouge is a robot now?"

"Looks like it." said Sonic "I guess Rouge did something to upset ol' eggy man and Eggman roboticized her to get his own back. Rouge is a toughie in battle so Mecha Rouge is gonna be no easier."

"Well that's not good to know." said Tails "Mecha Rouge will be a threat to us and a whole station of Eggman robots are sure to overwhelm us. If we're to do this mission, I think the best approach would to be to do the whole mission secretly. We'll have to sneak past everybody and set up these detonators." he showed Sonic the bag he had on his shoulder "We can set them up anywhere we like, the oil rig will be destroyed regardless of position. These are strong detonators after all. Mandy says you can level a skyscraper with just two of these."

"Sweet." said Sonic "But if we blow this joint up, the oil's gonna spill into the ocean and oil spills are a mondo bad thing. I should know, I've seen an oil spillage before, it's not a pretty sight."

"Then how can we do this mission without spilling the oil everywhere?" wondered Tails.

"Don't ask me." said Ruben "My water powers won't be any good against oil. If we could maybe empty the rig's oil supplies before destroying the rig then we won't do any harm to the ocean."

"That would require finding out where the oil is kept." noted Sonic "Although I overheard lord snooty-face saying they're loading the oil onto some Eggman ocean liners."

"Then maybe we should let Alonzo load the oil and ship it to Eggman so when we destroy the rig, we won't spill any oil anywhere." suggested Tails.

"If that's the best way to do this mission without damaging the environment then we should do that." said Sonic "Although we're gonna have to wait around for the ships to finish being loaded. And waiting is not one of my favourite things to do you know."

"Well whether you like waiting or not, you're gonna have to do it." said Ruben sternly "The purpose of this mission is to destroy the rig, not destroy the rig and make a mess in the ocean so if letting Eggman's forces empty the oil supplies and ship it off is the only way of doing so then we're gonna do that."

"OK Mr. Water Squirter." said Sonic hastily waving his arms around "No need to get touchy."

Ruben sighed and glanced over at Tails.

"How you can stand this hedgehog really mystifies me." he said.

"Sonic can be hard to reason with sometimes but he means well." said Tails "You're just gonna have to be patient with him Ruben."

Then suddenly, Tails felt the cold steel of a gun barrel being pressed against the back of his head and his first response was to raise his hands in fright. Sonic and Ruben jumped in surprise and looked at what was threatening Tails. A huge Eggman robot with shoulders that curved inwards, a visor for eyes, spiked head, huge arms and small legs was pointing a sniper rifle at Tails. It looked deathly serious and it seemed desperate to shoot the poor fox.

"Do-not-move-in-tru-ders." droned the sniper bot "Or-this-fox-will-lose-his-life."

But a robot armed with a sniper rifle was the least of Sonic's worries right now. All the workers had heard the sniper bot warning Sonic and they all ran over to the back of the station to see what was going on. Alonzo wondered why the workers were all running off somewhere and he followed them to see where they were going. The worker bots surrounded Sonic, Ruben and Tails and they all pointed their guns at the Mobians. One robot marched over to Tails and snatched the bag of detonators from him. Alonzo's face brightened at the sight of his surrounded enemies and he pushed and shoved his way through the crowd to get to Sonic and friends. Sonic turned around and glared at Alonzo whereas Alonzo just smiled back at him evilly.

"Well, well, well." he purred "It seems I have some intruders on my oil rig. Well Sonic, do you know what happens to Mobians who stick their ugly, furry faces where they don't belong?"

"I'm gonna take a wild guess and say we get killed." muttered Sonic.

"You read my mind hedgehog." sneered Alonzo sarcastically "Because that's exactly what's going to happen. Before that though, what are you doing here?"

"You don't tell us anything so we're not gonna tell you anything." said Sonic "But we are gonna get out of here. Ruben, be a pal and drench these tin soldiers will you?"

"With pleasure." said Ruben, cracking his knuckles "Here comes a tidal wave Alonzo!"

He swiped his arms forward and sent a tidal wave whooshing over all the robots. The wave knocked all the robots over and they all slid across the deck of the rig. Amazingly though, they didn't malfunction and explode. Ruben couldn't believe his eyes and Sonic & Tails just joined in with Ruben's surprise.

"Wha…wha?" he blustered "Don't tell me everybody on this rig is waterproof!"

"You're absolutely right." sneered a sopping wet Alonzo as he picked himself up "What good is a robot in the middle of the ocean if it's not water resilient? Your powers are useless water panther."

"I may not be able to short circuit you but water is useful for more things then short circuiting robots Alonzo." said Ruben, pointing at Alonzo and blasting him with a jet of water.

Alonzo was sent hurling backwards and he crashed into a stack of oil barrels. The barrels were sent scattering all over the deck and Alonzo groaned like a wailing ghost. The sniper bot aimed its sniper rifle at Ruben and it shot at him. The sniper blast hit the ground just inches behind Ruben and Ruben was sent hurling into the air. He landed sharply on his back and the impact somehow caused his purple aqua-collar to unclip and come off. The collar rolled with a clatter across the deck and Alonzo grabbed it. Ruben got back to his feet and realized his collar had fallen off. Alonzo waved it at him teasingly.

"Hey! Give that back pinhead!" yelled Ruben, lunging for Alonzo but missing as Alonzo stepped to the side.

"Hey! I find that term offensive!" grumbled Alonzo "And if this collar is important to you then I won't give it back. I think I'll wear it on my wrist if you don't mind."

Ruben tried to nab Alonzo and snatch his collar back but the sniper bot shot at Ruben and hit him. Ruben was stricken by the blast and he was sent sprawling across the deck. Sonic and Tails could see that Ruben needed help so they ran in to help the water panther. Unfortunately, the sniper bot shot at them and hit the ground just behind them. Sonic and Tails flew through the air and landed right on top of Ruben just as he was trying to get back to his feet. The Mobians were in a heap and the Eggman robots all ran over to them. Sonic had only just stood up but he was tackled down to the ground by a horde of Eggman robots. Tails and Ruben were quickly subdued as well and in no time, all three Mobians were restrained and pinned down to the ground. The sniper bot decided to add insult to injury by destroying the R.F.S. jet with one blast of the sniper rifle. The jet erupted into flames and debris, overwhelming the Mobians with shock. They were trapped on the oil rig now the jet was destroyed, they wouldn't be able to get off the rig now. Alonzo admired the destroyed jet for a moment and then he turned his attention to the Mobians. He had Ruben's aqua-collar clipped around his wrist. He thought it looked nice on him and it gave him great pleasure to see Ruben's angry face when he showed it to him.

"Well my moronic Mobians, you've been captured, by me!" gloated Alonzo "That's a bonus for me! Dr. Eggman will be amazed at my excellence when he sees you three in my grasp."

"Oh stop boasting you big-head." muttered Sonic "You didn't even capture us, your cronies here did."

Alonzo scowled at Sonic but said nothing.

"Just take those fools to the detention room." ordered Alonzo "I'll tend to them shortly; I've got some last minute stacks of barrels to load onto the ships."

The robots obeyed and they dragged Sonic, Tails and Ruben away whereas Alonzo zipped off to see to the barrel loading.

"Great!" muttered Sonic "We haven't been on this thing for five minutes and already we're in trouble!"

"Don't worry Sonic." said Tails "We'll get out of this. I know we will."

"Pity Alonzo nicked my aqua collar." muttered Ruben "I have a feeling I'm gonna need my H2o powers right now."

Sonic sighed in a defeated tone as the robots dragged him, Tails and Ruben away. Things looked grim for Sonic and friends now but things were about to get even grimmer for the Mobians back home…

Back in Mobotropolis, fellow Royal Fighter Mandy Mouse was in the lab of Royal HQ and keeping an eye on Sonic's progress at the oil rig. She couldn't see what was going on but she was managing to keep in touch with Sonic by looking at the computer's radar and speaking through a microphone attached to an earpiece she was wearing. To her amazement though, not long after Sonic, Tails and Ruben had touched down on the oil rig, the comlink started to go static and the R.F.S. jet had disappeared from the radar, suggesting that Sonic was in trouble. Mandy decided to see what was going on so she spoke into the microphone.

"Hey blue dude, do you read me?" she asked "Is everything alright? Sonic? Hello?"

Mandy received no answer. The mouse began to fear the worst. She took the ear piece off and set it down on the desk. He ears drooped down in despair.

"It…it can't be!" she spluttered "Sonic, Tails and Ruben can't be dead! They've only been on that thing for about five minutes!"

She stared back at the radar. It was displaying Sonic, Tails and Ruben on the radar, much to Mandy's relief but the dots representing them were surrounded by masses of red dots, presumably representing Eggman robots. That meant Sonic, Tails and Ruben were alive but were surrounded by Eggman robots. They were probably in trouble or even worse, captured. Mandy didn't let that worry her though. She knew that Sonic could destroy Eggman's robots easily so Sonic would get out of this scrape in no time. She just wondered why the comlink had gone static and why the R.F.S. jet had disappeared off the radar.

"I do hope Eggman's forces didn't destroy the jet they flew in." she said to herself "Otherwise they're stuck on that oil rig. But the jet isn't on the radar so it probably is destroyed! I think we may have to send some reinforcements otherwise Sonic, Tails and Ruben are trapped on that rig."

There was a knock at the door.

"Come in." said Mandy with her eyes still fixed on the monitors.

The door opened without any noise at all and in stepped Wilson the Dog, Mandy's boyfriend and spinning blade wielder.

"Hello Mandy." said Wilson, walking up to the purple mouse who kept her eyes glued to the computer monitor "How's everything going?"

"From the looks of the radar, blue dude's surrounded by Eggman robots and the jet appears to be destroyed." reported Mandy.

"The jet's destroyed?" shrieked Wilson "How are Sonic, Tails and Ruben gonna get off the oil rig once they complete their mission?"

"Tails could probably fly them off but the poor kid can't fly forever." said Mandy "We're gonna have to send someone to back them up."

"Well I can't go because I'm needed for over duties." said Wilson "Why can't you go?" he asked.

"Because I'm needed here to keep an eye on Royal HQ." noted Mandy "You and I both know we cannot leave Royal HQ unguarded, someone must be on guard at all times."

"Oh right," said Wilson, thinking quickly again "Hmm…maybe we can send the Chaotix?" he suggested "I'm sure one of them knows how to pilot a plane."

"I'll give them a try then." said Mandy.

She tapped some keys on the keyboard the monitor displayed a symbol of a ringing phone and the words "Awaiting call". The phone ring symbol then vanished after a few rings and was replaced by a still-image of Vector the Crocodile, Team Chaotix's boss.

"Yo this is Vector, head of the Chaotix Detective Agency, how may we help you?" asked Vector.

"Sonic, Tails and Ruben have gone on a mission and I think they need help." said Mandy "Can anyone in your team fly a plane?"

"Um…no why?" asked Vector.

"Sonic, Tails and Ruben are on an oil rig 80,000 miles out into sea." explained Mandy.

"Is that so?" asked Vector "Well we own a speedboat so we could use that instead. Can you tell me where this oil rig is?"

Mandy paused for a moment as she studied the map of Mobius that was displayed on the monitors. The map showed her the oil rig just 80,000 miles northwest from Kingdom Valley which was a forty-five minute drive away from Mobotropolis.

"It's 80,000 miles northwest from Kingdom Valley." replied Mandy "I'm sure you'll be able to get there."

"We will be able to Mandy." said Vector "Thanks for your call and we'll let you know when we get there. Chao!"

And with that, Vector hung up.

"Well that's a relief." said Wilson "That Chaotix are able to help us after all. Sonic, Tails and Ruben are as good as saved now."

"I just hope they'll be able to complete the mission and hold out long enough for the Chaotix to arrive." said Mandy concernedly "We must destroy that oil rig or Eggman will continue getting oil supplies for his robots."

"True that." said Wilson "Well I'm off to meet up with Geoffrey and Bunnie." he added, turning to go "They're helping with repairs to Castle Acorn after Eggman damaged it* and I want to help them. See you later gorgeous."

"See you cute stuff." said Mandy sweetly as Wilson left the lab.

Mandy was now alone in the lab. There was nothing for the mouse to do accept keep watch on the monitors and see how Sonic and friends were doing. She felt bad at the fact she was unable to help her friends but she felt good at the fact she'd managed to get help for Sonic. The Chaotix would easily be able to help Sonic on his mission and since they had a speedboat, they'd be able to get Sonic, Tails and Ruben off the oil rig safely so all wasn't lost yet. It all depended on the sheer hope that the Chaotix would make it in time and Sonic and friends were alright.

But that would be the least of Mandy's worries right now. Just outside Royal HQ, three evil mercenaries arrived just outside the hi-tech building. These three were a dangerous trio indeed, well one wasn't dangerous but the other two were. There was Scourge the Hedgehog, Sonic's evil brother with an unwavering hunger for world domination, Fiona Fox, Royal Fighter quitter and recent turncoat and Ginger the Fox, Tails' dorky cousin with a poor view on the world and an obnoxious personality. Scourge admired Royal HQ for a moment, grinning evilly and flipping his red sunglasses over his blue eyes. Fiona took a quick glance at Scourge while he wasn't focused on her. She'd only just realized how dreamy Scourge looked when he put on that fiercely evil grin that made him look like a cannibalistic serial killer. In fact, ever since she'd joined him, Fiona had been finding herself falling for Scourge but she didn't want to show it in fear of embarrassing him, angering him or humiliating him. She had a sneaky feeling that Scourge probably did have a fondness for her, hence the reason he called her pet names like "babe" and "Fi". As for Ginger, she just saw him as an annoying little kid who loves to hang out with the big boys and she wished that Scourge would just get rid of the ginger furred twerp already.

"Here it is Fiona and Ginger." purred Scourge "Royal HQ, the main base of operations for that wimpy Royal Fighters Service my brother works for. I bet this feels like visiting a long lost home again doesn't it Fi?"

"This is not my home anymore, it never was." scoffed Fiona "I'd rather burn the place down."

"Well once Royal HQ has served the purpose I need it for then I'll be happy to arrange that." said Scourge with a smirk on his evil face "Fiona, you and Ginger get in there and secure the lab. I'll be out here keeping out any outside help such as Sonic the dork-hog."

"Do I have to work with snot-face?" whined Fiona.

"Yes you do Fiona." said Ginger rudely "Now come on my dear, our victory awaits us through these doors."

"Oh knock it off and talk properly you worm!" snapped Scourge "You don't speak to your superiors like that!"

Ginger scowled at Scourge and just stormed through the doors with Fiona following him. Scourge stood guard outside the doors and waited for someone to try and get past him. He had a feeling he'd be waiting for a while so he breathed in deeply, folded his arms and stood there. He would get bored eventually but he was waiting for a reason so he had to try and ignore his boredom.

In Royal HQ, Ginger began to think angry thoughts in his head. Ever since Scourge's failed attempt to conquer Castle Acorn, Scourge had been treating him horribly. Scourge saw Ginger as a potential sidekick at first but now, Scourge saw Ginger as an annoying little kid that followed him everywhere and was nothing more then a punching bag to him. Ginger also had a feeling that Fiona joining the team might affect his friendship with Scourge. Scourge seemed to be treating Fiona nicely but he was treating Ginger poorly. Ginger then began wondering if joining Scourge was a good idea in the first place. Well if joining Scourge meant revenge on his cousin then it would be worth putting up with the abuse until Tails was put in his lowly place and he was above his cousin so Ginger decided not to bother about the subject anymore. He and Fiona wondered down the corridor until they found the lab, the most important room in Royal HQ. Fiona and Ginger crouched down on the floor beside the door and they began talking in whispers.

"You go in there first and warm anyone in there up for me." whispered Fiona "Then I'll come in and give them all a shock."

"Brilliant strategy Fiona." whispered Ginger "I'll signal for you to come by curling the tips of my twin tails."

"OK then, get in there and just do whatever you like." hissed Fiona "Don't mess up or Scourge will have our necks. Got it?"

"Do you even need to ask Fiona?" sniffed Ginger, opening the door of Royal HQ quietly and tip-toeing into the lab.

Ginger closed the door behind him and walked up to Mandy, who was standing up and peering at one of the computer monitors, while making no effort to be quiet whatsoever. He wanted Mandy to hear him after all. To his delight, Mandy did hear him. Even though Ginger wasn't making much noise, Mandy's sensitive ears picked up the sound of his smart black shoes. She didn't turn away from the monitor though.

"Wilson, you're back already." she said without turning around "That was fast. Was Castle Acorn not as damaged as it was speculated? "

Ginger didn't answer Mandy. Instead, he gave Mandy's legs a swift roundhouse kick, taking them out from underneath her and causing the mouse to fall onto her side with a sharp thump that winded her. Mandy coughed and rolled onto her back to see Ginger smirking at her rudely. Mandy scowled at him.

"Hey, what's your problem kid?" she demanded angrily "I only mistook you for someone else, you didn't need to trip me up for it!"

"I did need to mouse girl because I am here to take this base from you." announced Ginger "I was ordered to do so by Scourge the Hedgehog whom to your delight, is not here right now." he lied, wanting to keep Scourge's presence secret "Once I take over this base, he'll be there to congratulate me."

"Scourge the Hedgehog." mused Mandy "I've heard about him. Isn't he Sonic's evil brother or something? Wants to take over the world or something along those lines?""

"Correct." said Ginger "I however, am Ginger the Fox, Tails' cousin and the only person on Mobius with a brain. I am Scourge's loyal sidekick and I am taking Royal HQ for him."

"Over my dead body!" yelled Mandy, leaping onto her feet and slugging Ginger in the stomach.

She then grabbed Ginger by the neck and tossed him into a wall. Ginger hit the wall and fell back down to the floor. Fiona opened the door a crack and peeked into the lab. To her dismay, Ginger was already getting his butt whupped. Ginger leaped back onto his feet and tried to attack Mandy but the mouse was much too skilled for someone as abysmal as Ginger. Ginger swiped at Mandy with his tails only to miss and get kicked in the shoulder by Ginger. Ginger was thrown against the wall and Mandy cornered him. Desperately, Ginger curled the tips of his tails to signal Fiona's turn to come in. Fiona got the signal and ran into the lab. Mandy glared down at Ginger with her yellow eyes.

"OK you little brat, you get out of here and I won't have to hurt you." she said coldly "I don't like hurting children so please don't make me have to hurt you."

Fiona reached out and tapped Mandy on the shoulder. Mandy turned around and to her surprise, Fiona Fox was standing there with a casual smile on her face. Mandy lit up like a sunrise.

"Fiona!" she said in surprise "You're back! Guess you couldn't take being a quitter anymore."

"You could say that Mandy girl." said Fiona smoothly.

"Well Ginger, looks like the odds are against you aren't they?" sneered Mandy "You can't possibly beat two of us can you?"

"Oh it's not me who needs to beat two opponents up." crowed Ginger with a gormless smirk on his face.

"Oh really?" said Mandy mockingly "I guess you need counting lessons young man because there's me and Fiona…"

Before she could finish saying anything, Fiona drew her arm back and walloped Mandy in the face as hard as she could. The horrified mouse cried out in pain and fell onto her hands and knees, clutching her face. Ginger laughed at Mandy and Fiona cracked her knuckles.

"I couldn't take being a quitter anymore Mandy." sneered Fiona, pulling on Mandy's tail and yanking her back onto her feet "But I couldn't go back to the good life either."

She punched Mandy as hard as she could again. Mandy spluttered after that punch and Fiona then grabbed Mandy by the arms and slammed her against the wall as hard as she could. She then slammed Mandy against the wall again, making the mouse gasp and Fiona pinned Mandy's arms against the wall, preventing her from moving. Mandy struggled in Fiona's grasp but the vixen was somehow, managing to hold her there.

"Ugh…why Fiona? Why?" blustered Mandy, trying to struggle free.

"My life is in a rut and it's all because of you guys!" shouted Fiona, kneeing Mandy sharply in the stomach, making Mandy cough and spluttered hoarsely "You along with Geoffrey lowered my self esteem with your backlashes and made me quit! Ever since the day I quit, I've been stealing to eat and evading the cops! This service offers nothing to me, you offer nothing to me and neither does that overrated blue idiot Sonic! I'm with Scourge the Hedgehog now! He offers me revenge on you for what you've done to me and he offers me power! I will not rest until the whole Royal Fighters Service goes up in flames and with Scourge the Hedgehog, I can make that happen!"

"So lost you are." said Mandy smoothly "We didn't make you quit, you made yourself quit. You could have easily tried to redeem yourself but you were too sad and angry to do so, so you threw your life away and decided to run off with the villains to get the quick reward. Ultimate cowardice in my opinion."

"Shut up!" screeched Fiona, slamming Mandy against the wall again "You don't know what it feels like to have no money and have to live in the middle of the stinking woods while having to steal my own food and avoid getting caught by the cops! If you were in my shoes I bet you'd do the same thing!"

"No I wouldn't." said Mandy, glaring at Fiona "I would try and improve my life instead of throwing it away. But since you're too clouded to even try, I guess I'll have to knock some sense into you."

She then proceeded to head butt Fiona directly in the nose. Fiona screamed in pain, let go of Mandy and clutched her nose, a tear coming out of her eye as she grimaced. Mandy then punched Fiona in the face as hard as she could, then she stood on her hands, flipped over and landed a powerful kick blow onto Fiona, knocking the vixen onto her back. Fiona tried to get up but Mandy pinned Fiona down with her foot. She didn't keep Fiona down for long. Fiona kicked Mandy in the backside, causing the mouse to fall forward and onto her face. Fiona picked herself up and kick-slammed Mandy on the back. The mouse tail-whipped Fiona on the hand, making the vixen grimace and suck her hand better and then Mandy clasped her hands together and walloped Fiona in the cheek. Fiona staggered backwards and fell against the computer desk. Mandy tried to attack Fiona but Ginger distracted her with an attempted attack. He flew towards Mandy and punched at her, forcing her to duck and cause Ginger to miss. Fiona lunged at Mandy but Mandy gave Fiona an uppercut to the chin that caused the vixen to fall back against the computer desk and groan in pain. Mandy then pressed a button on the control pad and held it in.

"Attention Royal Fighters! Royal HQ has been compromised! Immediate assistance required!" shrieked Mandy.

"Help can't help you." sneered Fiona, leaping onto her feet and seizing Mandy by the waist.

She carried Mandy away from the desk and threw her into the wall. Mandy crashed into the wall and fell down to the floor. The mouse picked herself up and lunged at the treacherous vixen. Fiona and Mandy grappled hands with each other and pushed on each other's arms as they tried to over power each other.

"My head man Scourge is outside Royal HQ and he'll make short work of whatever reinforcements there are so you're stuck with me sunshine." crowed Fiona.

"Then I guess I'll have the pleasure of beating the snot out of you!" growled Mandy, kicking Fiona in the thigh.

Fiona bent down and grimaced and Mandy gave Fiona a sucker punch that brought her down onto the floor. Mandy tried to attack

Fiona again but Ginger sneaked up behind Mandy and yanked on her ears.

"Ouch!" she cried, elbowing Ginger in the eye "Don't pull my ears you wretched boy!"

"Ow!" retorted Ginger, clutching his eye. "Don't elbow me in the eye you wretched girl!"

Mandy's response was to grab Ginger and hold him in front of herself as Fiona tried to punch her again. Fiona punched Ginger in the mouth and the punch definitely seemed to hurt Ginger. He lost a couple of teeth and he cried out in pain.

"Ow my teeth!" he winced.

"Sorry Ginger." said Fiona sarcastically.

Mandy threw Ginger to the side and tried to punch Fiona in the eye but Fiona bent over backwards to dodge the attack and then she flung herself forward, smacking Mandy in the face with her head. Mandy was brought down onto her back and Fiona tried to grab her but Mandy blocked her and the girls began grappling with each other. Fiona was trying to keep Mandy on the floor and Mandy was trying to push Fiona off herself. As she struggled, she couldn't help but think to herself.

I wish blue dude wasn't out to sea on an oil rig right now!

As of this moment, Sonic was definitely needed but he wasn't there so she would have to deal with this threat herself. Luckily she had backup but…

…the only thing preventing help from coming was Scourge the Hedgehog. Wilson and two other fighters Geoffrey St. John the Skunk and Bunnie Rabbot had received Mandy's distress signal and they abandoned all help they offered for the repairs to Castle Acorn in order to save Royal HQ.

"I can't believe it!" cried Wilson "I turn my back for a few minutes and Royal HQ's under attack! I hope Mandy's OK."

"She can handle herself." assured Geoffrey "But I will make the blokes who are doing this pay for daring to hurt our friend and take over our base!"

"Ah wonder who's behind it all?" wondered Bunnie "It can't be Shadow-hog, sugah-hog says he's on our side, sorta."

"And it can't be the Eggman bloke because he'll likely be repairing his base after we blew it up." noted Geoffrey.

"And I don't think it can possibly be Marik the Martian." said Wilson "Shadow broke his arm* the other day and a broken arm takes a while to heal so he won't be up and at em yet."

"Then who could it possibly be?" wondered Geoffrey as he, Bunnie and Wilson finally arrived at Royal HQ.

Geoffrey sound found the answer to his question. There, standing guard in front of Royal HQ's doors, was Scourge the Hedgehog. He smirked at the trio and kept his sunglasses over his eyes. Behind his sunglasses lay a villainous scowl that could make the faint-hearted shudder. Scourge's presence seemed to shock Wilson, Geoffrey and Bunnie to the point they didn't know what to do but they quickly snapped out of it.

"Hello worms." said Scourge dryly.

"Scourge the Hedgehog." said Geoffrey bluntly "I might have been able to guess since you were the last suspect on my list."

"Oh suck it skunk boy." snapped Scourge "And don't bother telling me why you're here because I know. You're here to save Royal HQ from me and stop me taking over the world, yadda, yadda."

"Thanks for that." said Wilson, deploying his trademark spinning blade weapon "Now what have you done with Mandy?"

"Mandy?" said Scourge, not knowing who Wilson was talking about since he never learnt Mandy's name yet "Who's she then?"

"My girlfriend." said Wilson "And she's in Royal HQ. You better not have hurt her or else!"

"Well if your girlfriend's in there then chances are, Fiona and Ginger are dealing with her." replied Scourge "I did order them to deal with anybody in there after all."

Geoffrey, Bunnie and Wilson were taken aback by what Scourge had just said.

"Fiona?" blurted Bunnie "Fiona's back and…she's betrayed us and joined you?"

"That's the right answer." said Scourge in a joking manner "Now onto your next question, how hard does my spin-dash feel?"

He then proceeded to spin-dash Bunnie directly in the gut, knocking Bunnie backwards for a few feet. The Rabbot lay on her back, rubbing her tummy better. Scourge stood over her with a smirk on his face. Bunnie just looked back up at Scourge and scowled at him.

"So ya'll managed to get Fiona to join you." she said "Not surprising since she quit on us. So I guess we're gonna have to beat you and her up."

"Correct cyborg features." sneered Scourge "But you're not getting into Royal HQ, you're stuck out here with me. If you can beat me then you can get in there and help your friend but that's not gonna happen since I'm the strongest being on the planet!"

"We'll see about that mate." said Geoffrey, loading his arm mounted crossbow weapon and firing a stun-dart at Scourge.

Scourge leaped out of the way, causing the dart to miss and hit the ground.

"Nice try skunk boy but you can't get the drop on me twice." he crowed, remembering the time Geoffrey subdued him with a dart which resulted in his defeat after his first attempt on Castle Acorn.

"Then I guess it's up to my fists!" yelled Geoffrey, lunging at Scourge and punching at him but missing after Scourge dodged him.

Bunnie got back to her feet and gave Scourge an uppercut with her robot arm. Scourge retaliated with a punch to the jaw on Bunnie Rabbot. Bunnie punched Scourge back and Scourge roundhouse kicked Bunnie in the legs, tripping the Rabbot up and bringing her down onto her back. Geoffrey tackled Scourge from behind and knocked the green hedgehog down onto his stomach. Geoffrey forced Scourge's arm behind his back and pinned him down. Bunnie picked herself up and pointed at Wilson.

"Wilson, ya'll go and help Mandy." she ordered "We've got this."

"You sure?" asked Wilson unsurely.

"Positive sugah." said Bunnie "Ah'm tough enough to beat lil ol' Scourge here and Geoffrey will be able to subdue him with a dart or two."

Wilson was convinced that Bunnie was right and he ran into the headquarters. Scourge wrestled his arm out of Geoffrey's grasp and he punched him in the face with the side of his fist. Geoffrey tried to pin Scourge back down but Scourge managed to push the skunk off of himself and get back to his feet. He just managed to catch sight of Wilson running through the doors and into the building. Despite this, he didn't bother about the dog since he didn't think Wilson would be able to help out much in the HQ. Instead, he decided to keep fighting Bunnie and Geoffrey in order to keep them out of Royal HQ so they can't help Wilson and Mandy. Fiona and Ginger wouldn't be able to hold their own against four people at once, especially Ginger since he had no fighting skills or strength whatsoever. Geoffrey lunged at Scourge with a punch but the hedgehog grabbed Geoffrey's hand and twisted it sharply to the right. Geoffrey yelped and tried to get Scourge to let go of him but Scourge just held on tighter, squeezing harder and harder. Bunnie punched Scourge, causing him to let go of Geoffrey and sending him skidding across his side. Bunnie tried to attack Scourge again but Scourge kicked at her, knocking her backwards. Geoffrey fired a dart at Scourge but Scourge jumped out of the dart's way and spin-dashed towards Geoffrey. Geoffrey leaped out of Scourge's way and the green hedgehog skidded to a halt. Scourge spin-dashed back towards Geoffrey but Bunnie punched him away, leaving Scourge to spin-dash into the ground. Scourge picked himself up and charged into Bunnie. He grabbed her and they fell to the ground in roly-poly. Scourge and Bunnie rolled over and over until Scourge jumped up and threw Bunnie straight into Royal HQ. Geoffrey grabbed Scourge by the ankles and tripped him up. Scourge fell on his face and Geoffrey, still holding Scourge's ankles, tossed him away. Scourge landed on his feet and charged towards Geoffrey. Geoffrey got ready to punch Scourge but Scourge leaped into the air and dropkicked Geoffrey in the head. The skunk fell onto his back and Scourge pinned the skunk down on the ground.

"If I were you stinky, I would cease this futile effort to stop me and surrender." crowed Scourge "You can't beat me, I'm everything Sonic is only stronger."

"We will not surrender to you!" yelled Bunnie, walloping Scourge with her robot arm.

Scourge hurled through the air and crashed into the wall of Royal HQ. Scourge pulled himself out of the wall and ran towards Bunnie in a mad dash. Bunnie just stuck her foot out and caused Scourge to trip over. Scourge landed on his face and grumbled to himself. Bunnie grabbed Scourge by the jacket and hoisted him up to her height.

"Ya'll get outta here before you hurt yourself Scourge." warned Bunnie "Ya'll failed to become king before so ya'll will fail again."

"Do you guys ever shut up?" grumbled Scourge, head butting Bunnie in the forehead and causing her to let go of him.

Scourge then proceeded to elbow Bunnie in the gut and then punched her in the muzzle with the back of his fist. Bunnie tried to react but Scourge was too fast and he grabbed her by the arm and hurled her over onto her back. But he didn't stop there, he began to spin Bunnie around in a circle and then he tossed her straight into Geoffrey who was trying to help Bunnie. Scourge laughed at his downed opponents.

"Since you're too stupid to surrender to my awesome power, I'm going to have to beat you both black and blue." said Scourge smoothly "Brace yourselves, this is going to hurt."

He spin-dashed towards Bunnie and Geoffrey before they could get up…

Meanwhile, Team Chaotix had followed Mandy's directions and they were soon out to sea on their speedboat. Espio the Chameleon, the Chaotix ninja and spy, was driving the boat whereas Vector was keeping an eye out for the oil rig and Charmy Bee, the Chaotix klutz, was just whooping with joy and getting on Vector's nerves. The speedboat's powerful motor roared louder then a pride of lions as the light but speedy marine craft rocketed through the endless stretch of the ocean. They had been travelling across the ocean for thirty minutes by now and at long last, they spotted the oil rig. Vector pointed straight ahead.

"I think that's our location boys." said Vector "Head over there Espio."

"Roger that." said Espio.

He continued driving straight forward and the speedboat headed towards the enormous oil rig. In a matter of moments, the speedboat arrived at the oil rig and Espio parked the boat directly under the oil rig and next to one of the legs that kept the station up. Espio killed the motor and the speedboat fell into silence. The Chaotix looked straight up at the oil rig above their heads and then at the red and yellow ocean liners that were held up to the station and wondered what to do.

"So Vector, goy any bright ideas?" jeered Charmy.

"Oh don't take the mess Charmy!" growled Vector "I think Espio will be the best man for this job. You get up on the station and find out where Sonic, Tails and Ruben are and get them off of this station."

"Roger." said Espio "I will go invisible so no one will see me."

He proceeded to do just that, turn invisible and he stepped out of the boat and began to walk up the leg of the oil rig they were parked near. Being a chameleon, Espio was able to climb up smooth surfaces without any problems at all. Vector and Charmy couldn't see Espio for he was invisible but they knew where he was heading. Espio climbed up onto the station while still invisible and Charmy looked at Vector.

"So, what are we gonna do?" asked Charmy.

"Sit there and wait." said Vector "Espio's the only one who can do this quietly and we'll just get found out or something so we have to let Espio do this on his own."

"Aw!" grumbled Charmy "Boring! I wanna go up there and help Espio!"

"Charmy, be quiet or I'll throw you into the water!" growled Vector.

Vector should have known better then to raise his voice in Eggman territory for his shouting had ended up alerting some Eggman robots of his and Charmy's presence. Some Eggman robots equipped with jet packs and giant blaster rifles flew down to Vector and Charmy and they pointed their guns at the crocodile and bee. Charmy cried out in surprise and Vector raised his fists, ready for a fight. Trouble was, they were on water and a speedboat wasn't really the best place to have a fight on. Vector knew he would have a lot of trouble taking out the robots without a decent place to stand on. Charmy didn't have to worry about that since he could fly but he wouldn't be able to hold his own against so many robots.

"Raise-your-hands-pris-o-ner." ordered an Eggman robot, its rifle primed and ready to shoot Vector and Charmy.

Vector knew a fight was futile so he wasn't on the right terrain and Charmy wouldn't be much help. So reluctantly, he held his hands up in surrender. Charmy raised his hands in surrender too. The Eggman robots were pleased to see Vector and Charmy succumbing to their numbers and they reached out to seize the prisoners and take them to the detention room. Espio had heard the commotion and looked down to see what was happening, staying invisible so he wouldn't be found out. He wasn't pleased to see Eggman robots flying up to the oil rig with Vector and Charmy in their grasp but since he was still free he'd be able to help them. The robots flew past the invisible Espio and the ninja chameleon leaped onto the back of one robot. The robot felt Espio land on him and it turned around to see what it was, only to find no one was there so it shrugged and continued flying off. Espio was now being taken to where the robots were going, in that case, he'd be able to free his friends. He wondered if Sonic, Tails and Ruben were in a similar position…

Sonic, Tails and Ruben had been thrown into a room with no windows and a glass door, making it look like a prison cell in an MPD station. Their hands had been cuffed behind their backs and to their dismay, they were laser cuffs so they couldn't break them and since Ruben had lost his aqua-collar, he couldn't use his water powers to short-circuit the cuffs. They were stuck in the cell with no means of escape. Alonzo peered through the door, pleased to see his enemies completely defeated and unable to escape. He laughed at them.

"Oh what pleasure it is to see you three lovely Mobians all locked up like wild animals." he sneered "If only Dr. Eggman could have luck like this. But his stupidity always gets in the way of his victory. Good thing I'm a whole lot smarter then him so your deaths will be certain this time…"

"Blah, blah, blah. Shut up Alonzo!" moaned Sonic "You're getting on my nerves!"

"You shut up hedgehog!" snapped Alonzo "I'm in charge of this rig so you answer to me!"

"We'll never answer to you!" retorted Tails, struggling feebly in his bonds "Now let us go!"

"What do you think I am? Mentally unstable?" scoffed Alonzo "You must think I have five bolts in my head loose if you think I'm going to so much as think about letting you go! You're all staying there and that's that!"

Then suddenly, further up the corridor, a door opened and Alonzo could hear the sound of robotic feet clanking down the corridor. Alonzo turned around to see what was going on. Sonic, Tails and Ruben began wondering what was going on and they soon found their answer. The robots that had captured arrived in the detention area with Vector and Charmy bound up in laser cuffs and they opened the cell door and threw them straight into the cell. Vector and Charmy crashed into Sonic and Ruben and knocked them on their backs. Sonic gasped in surprise whereas Alonzo just smiled as he shut the door again.

"Vector? Charmy?" cried Sonic "What are you two doing here?"

"We can't explain right now." whispered Vector "Wait until the pointy slop bucket's gone."

"More prisoners!" cheered Alonzo "How wonderful! I recognize you two and all." he added, pointing at Charmy and Vector "You're the Chaotix if I remember correctly."

Vector didn't answer him.

"I though there was three people on your team though." noted Alonzo "Where's the chameleon?"

"We're not telling." said Charmy "And you'll never find him, he's invisible."

"Is he?" mused Alonzo "Well, I have a brilliant way of finding an invisible chameleon. A splodge of oil should render him visible easily. Everybody, get out there and find that chameleon!" ordered Alonzo.

"Yes-sir." droned the robots.

They all left the room in search of Espio. Alonzo pressed a button on the wall and then said to the prisoners.

"I feel it is pointless for me to say that Eggman doesn't want me to get rid of you for him. But Eggman's not here so I don't care what he wants me to do, I can do what I like here. I'm going to kill you all and I'll lie to Dr. Eggman by saying you all drowned in an attempt to destroy this oil rig."

"Oh yeah?" said Sonic "How are you gonna do that then?"

The moment he said that, two holes opened up in the wall and thick black oil began pouring out of the holes like water coming out of a tap and spilling all over the floor. Everybody gasped in horror at what was happening.

"You'll all drown in oil." chortled Alonzo "Back on Earth, Eggman's home planet, oil spillages killed many animals and now it's going to kill you five. I would stay and watch your oily demise but I've got duties to attend to. Bye, bye and have fun swimming in oil instead of water!"

Alonzo chortled to himself and wheeled out of the room, leaving the prisoners behind in the cell which was beginning to fill up with oil. It looked like this would be the end of Sonic the Hedgehog as the oil continued pouring and pouring all over the floor and beginning to rise up to their ankles…

Talk about being caught between a rock and a hard place! Sonic, Tails, Ruben, Vector and Charmy are about to become victims of the dreaded oil and Royal HQ is under siege! What the heck's gonna happen next? Join me next time for more awesomeness! Reviews are welcome.

Author's note: I Re-uploaded this chapter due to a tiny mistake I made. The mistake is the cell has a barred door and is filling up with oil. If the cell had a barred door then the oil would just run out through the door and it wouldn't fill up the cell and drown everybody so I corrected the mistake by making it a glass door instead of a barred door. Just thought I'd inform you before you question me about it. :)

HQ Heist Part 2

Story 65: HQ Heist Part 2: No Help Can Come

Sonic the Hedgehog looked around the room desperately for a way out as more and more oil began to spill into the cell. The oil was rising fast and everybody's feet were covered by the thick, gooey oil that was filling the cell up. The only way out, of course, was the door but it was likely to be Diamond Glass and Sonic couldn't spin-dash with his arms cuffed behind his back so he wouldn't be able to break the door down. Vector the Crocodile, despite having his arms cuffed behind his back, was still able to use some of his strength. He bashed his shoulder against the door in an effort to break it but all he was doing is just giving himself shoulder ache. After one last failed attempt to bash the door down, Vector stopped trying and he panted.

"That's one tough door!" he panted "I didn't even lay a scratch on that thing!"

"It's Diamond Glass! I knew it!" muttered Sonic "We're never getting out of here now!"

"If I was to die right now, I'd much rather be drowning in water then oil right now." wailed Ruben "If only that pin-headed moron didn't steal my aqua-collar! I could short circuit our cuffs and probably get us out of here at the same time."

"I don't think you could Ruben." said Tails unsupportively "There's nothing to short circuit here except our laser cuffs so we'd still be trapped."

"I don't wanna die! I don't wanna die!" shrieked Charmy frantically "When's Espio gonna hurry up and save us? He's not captured!"

"I dunno Charmy." said Vector "Maybe Espio doesn't know where we are and is trying to find us."

"He'd better do it quickly because this oil's rising higher and higher!"

cried Sonic, looking down at his legs which were now submerged by the oil.

The oil was pouring faster and faster every second, meaning the room was filling with oil faster and faster. Things were beginning to look desperate now. There was no way out, no way of escape and no hope for the trapped Mobians. The room was beginning to fill up with oil and it was filling up faster and faster. In a matter of moments, the oil was now up to everybody's chests. Once it reached their heads then that would be the end of it. Seeing as they were going to die, Sonic decided to give his last words.

"Guys, if we don't make it out of here then I want you to know, that you're all way past cool." said Sonic "Especially you Tails."

"Thank you Sonic." said Tails "You're the best friend I've ever had."

Sonic just smiled feebly at Tails as the oil began to rise up to their chins. Everybody knew they'd be unable to escape the oil so they just decided to hold their breath and let the oil submerge them. They all did so as the oil rose up to their mouths. Seconds later, the oil rose over their heads and completely submerged everybody. They were all holding their breaths but they wouldn't be able to hold them forever. Once they released it, they'd drown and choke in the lethal oil they were submerged in. But then suddenly when it looked like the end was nigh, the oil stopped pouring into the room and suddenly all ran out into the corridor, taking Sonic and friends with it. They were swept out of the door and down the corridor and into a wall. The oil was all over the floor and Sonic, Tails, Ruben, Vector and Charmy were covered from head to toe in oil. Anyone seeing them would think they had black fur or in Vector's case, scales. Sonic picked himself up and shook the oil off his head.

"What just happened?" he asked, squeezing some oil out of his quills.

"The door just opened and all the oil spilled out." said Tails, wagging his twin tails to shake the oil off "Why did that happen though?"

"Because I opened it." came a deep voice that Vector and Charmy were all too familiar with.

There, standing at the control pad next to the cell door, was none other then Espio the Chameleon. He had finally managed to find the detention room and had opened the cell door to let everybody out. Vector and Charmy let out cries of joy.

"Espio you amazing little ninja you!" cheered Vector "I knew you'd save us!"

"We were about to drown in oil!" shrieked Charmy "What kept ya?"

"Well while I was invisible, I saw some Eggman robots carrying you and Charmy away," explained Espio "So I hoped onto the back of one robot but it didn't carry me to the detention room. Only the ones carrying you two did so I had to find the room myself. And when I eventually found it, I had to hack into the door's code which took me a while so I apologize for taking so long."

"Better late then never as they say." said Ruben "Now, can you get us out of these cuffs?"

"I can indeed water panther." said Espio.

He pulled a ninja knife out of his glove and stabbed the small metal sphere that wrapped the lasers around Ruben's wrists. The cuffs were destroyed and they turned off, freeing Ruben's arms. Espio did the same to everybody else. Now they were all free but they were all sticky and covered in oil. Espio just looked at them grimly.

"I hope you're not gonna ask me to give you all a bath." he muttered.

"We aren't actually." said Sonic "But we need to get this oil off or we're gonna leave some very sticky clues for Alonzo to pick up."

"Good thing I smuggled this from Alonzo when I was looking for the detention room." said Espio, holding up his arm and showing Ruben something.

Ruben peered at Espio's wrist and to his delight; he saw his aqua-collar attached to it. Ruben eagerly unclipped it and snapped it onto his neck. He could feel the whoosh of an ocean wave surge through his veins after he clipped the collar back on.

"You retrieved my aqua-collar!" he said happily "Thank you Espio, but how did you know it was mine and that it wasn't just a part of Alonzo?"

"I've never seen Alonzo with a purple wrist before and I've heard all about water panthers and what there powers are and what powers them." explained Espio "Not to mention, nobody I know wears a collar so I instantly knew it was yours."

"Wow, you're smart." complimented Ruben "Well mother always said chameleons have unmatched intelligence."

Now Ruben had his aqua-collar back on, he could use his water powers once again. He waved a hand at Sonic and Tails and sent a wave of water sweeping over them. Tails laughed like a child being squirted by a hose pipe whereas Sonic cried like a cat that's been in water. That one wave of water managed to get all of the oil off their fur and Sonic and Tails were squeaky clean now.

"Thanks Ruben." said Tails, admiring his now clean fur.

"As much as I hate getting wet, I'm glad to be rid of that oil." said Sonic, shaking his quills dry "I'd rather be wet then be covered oil."

Ruben beamed like a sunrise and he then proceeded to sweep a wave of water over Vector and Charmy. Vector enjoyed that wave since he was a crocodile and crocodiles love water and Charmy was as happy as kid in a swimming pool. That wave of water had managed to clean Vector and Charmy good and now there was not a splodge of oil on them. Now all that was left was Ruben himself. Ruben pointed at his cranium and drenched himself with water as if he was in a shower. Now Ruben was all cleaned and he was pleased to be looking at his blue fur and purple stripes once again.

"Much better." said Ruben "So now we're free, what do we do now? Do we continue the mission?"

"I don't think we can." said Tails "The robots stole my bag of detonators."

"Why do you have a bag of detonators?" asked Charmy "Are you planning to blow something up?"

"We're supposed to blow this oil rig up so Eggman can't get any oil for his robots." said Sonic "But we got caught and then you ended up getting caught. Speaking of which, why are you here anyway?"

"Mandy noticed something was wrong so she asked for us to go and see what we could do." explained Vector "We've got a speedboat for you to get off this station with."

"Sweet." said Sonic "Our jet's destroyed so your speedboat is the only way off the rig. But we can't leave the rig without completing the mission. We need to get the bag of detonators back so we can complete the mission."

"Let's just hope Alonzo hasn't gotten rid of the bag." said Tails "Or we'll never be able to blow the rig up."

"In that case, you all stay there and I'll see if I can find it." said Espio "Those robots will never see me."

He then proceeded to turn invisible and walk out of the room. Sonic, Tails, Vector, Charmy and Ruben stayed put in the oil stained detention room, waiting for Espio to return and hopefully, have the bag of detonators with him. If the bag was gone then they would have no choice but to abandon the mission and retreat back to Mobotropolis. Sonic was not the kind of person who liked to leave missions uncompleted so he hoped that Espio would be able to find the bag or he would have to explain why they had returned to Mobotropolis without completing the mission…

"Urgh!" cried Mandy as she was thrown against a wall once again.

The fight in Royal HQ had not been a pleasant fight for poor Mandy Mouse these past few minutes. She had managed to hold her own against the R.F.S. traitor Fiona Fox but her little helper Ginger the Fox, Tails' cousin, had been helping Fiona by distracting Mandy and giving Fiona the chance to go to town on the mouse. As of this moment, Mandy was finding it pretty hard to hold on and after that slam in the wall, Fiona grabbed Mandy by the neck and began to throttle Mandy. Mandy gasped hoarsely and she tried to get Fiona's hands off her throat but the vixen was just too strong for her. Mandy had been weakened quite considerably thanks to Ginger's distractions and Fiona's violent fighting so her attempts to get Fiona off of her neck were futile. Fiona flashed Mandy a sick, twisted grin as she attempt to throttle the mouse to death.

"How about that Mandy?" she sneered "You've survived giant killer robots made by Dr. Eggman and this is how it ends, you get throttled by your former comrade! Isn't that a sad way to go you mousey moron?"

"Hurk…Ugh!" choked Mandy as she tried to get Fiona to let go "Fiona…please…don't do this…let…go of me…"

"I don't think so." said Fiona "You're one of the ones I want revenge on the most so therefore, I'm getting rid of you first. I bet you regret chastising me for my failures now don't you?"

"Ack! Fiona…every bad…thing I said…" croaked Mandy weakly "I… take it all back…OK? Just…please stop…doing this and come… back to…us…" she pleaded.

"That's not gonna work on me now Mandy!" yelled Fiona "I'm with Scourge now and nothing is going to change that! Especially you!"

Mandy just gave Fiona a feeble, pleading expression as the vixen continued to throttle her. Ginger began cheering like a kid who's watching his big brother beat a bully up for him.

"Give it to her Fiona! Throttle that mouse!" he cheered evilly "Make her choke!"

"I am doing you dweeb." snapped Fiona "Shut up and let me concentrate!"

She was suddenly interrupted by someone grabbing her by the shoulder, hauling her away from Mandy and holding a long thin blade to her throat. It was none other then Mandy's boyfriend Wilson the Dog with his trademark weapon, the spinning blade, and he held Fiona at blade point. Mandy's battered face brightened up at the sight of Wilson with Fiona in his grasp and holding his weapon close to her throat. Fiona struggled feebly in Wilson's tough grasp but that just prompted the dog to hold the blade even closer to her neck. Fiona gulped nervously, if she continued to struggle, Wilson would likely behead her so she stopped struggling.

"Don't move traitor!" yelled Wilson "You have got a lot of explaining to do for this Fiona Fox!"

"You let Fiona go!" shouted Ginger, trying to punch Wilson.

"You stay out of this kid!" retorted Wilson, kicking Ginger before he could get him.

Ginger fell down on the floor, writhing in pain. Wilson turned his attention back to Mandy, who was just picking herself up and rubbing her left arm slightly. Despite Fiona's beatings, she still had the strength to stand up.

"Thank you Wilson." said Mandy "You saved my life."

"Anything for you Mandy girl." said Wilson kindly "Now do me a favour and get me a pair of laser cuffs. This treacherous vixen could do with a timeout."

Mandy ran out of the room and headed to the storage room where the laser cuffs were kept. Ginger picked himself up and tried again to punch Wilson but Wilson heard him coming and he turned around with Fiona still in his grasp. Ginger lunged at Wilson but since Fiona was in front of the dog, he accidentally punched Fiona in the belly. Fiona gasped and spluttered after the punch. Despite Ginger's inability to fight, he could punch pretty hard. Ginger suddenly realized his mistake and was quick to apologize.

"Fiona! I'm sorry, I was trying to hit the dog!" he shrieked.

"Just…shut up and stand back before you do anything else wrong!" wheezed Fiona.

Ginger reluctantly did as he was told and he stepped back from Wilson. Wilson kept the blade held to Fiona's throat and his other arm wrapped around her to ensure she would never get away. Fiona tried to find a way out of this tough spot without getting her head cut off but Wilson was holding her in such a way that escape would be futile. She could try and stamp on Wilson's feet but Wilson would probably slit her throat accidentally so she decided not to risk it.

"I like your new attitude by the way Wilson." said Fiona sarcastically "Couldn't take being a wimp anymore?"

"I maybe faint hearted but I know when to be brave." said Wilson grimly "And besides, you don't scare me so I can take you on with no worries at all."

"Cute." muttered Fiona "Bet you wouldn't be like this if Scourge was attacking you right now. Speaking of which, how did you get past him?"

"Bunnie and Geoffrey are keeping him busy outside." explained Wilson "I managed to sneak past and make it in here to help Mandy."

Just as he said Mandy's name, the mouse returned into the lab with a pair of laser cuff spheres. Ginger then suddenly took the opportunity to try and trip Mandy up and steal the laser cuffs by tackling her from the side but Mandy was quick to see him and she tripped him up. Ginger landed on his face and Mandy forced his arms behind his back. She placed the laser cuff sphere in-between his wrists and the sphere emitted a laser that wrapped around the fox's wrists. Ginger was stuck now and laser cuffs couldn't be broken so he would never get free. Now Ginger was subdued, Mandy strode over to Fiona and Wilson turned the fox around. Mandy forced Fiona's arms behind her back and placed the laser cuff sphere in-between Fiona's wrists. The lasers wrapped around Fiona's wrists and the fox found herself unable to move her arms. She was completely stuck just like Ginger was. Mandy then proceeded to roughly push Fiona against the wall and sit her down. Ginger was placed next to Fiona by Wilson. The two foxes scowled at Wilson and Mandy angrily but the dog and mouse just smirked at them back. They then gave each other a high-five.

"That's those two dealt with." said Wilson "What do we do now?"

"I would say help Bunnie and Geoffrey but I can't leave those two alone in Royal HQ." noted Mandy "I know they're restrained but even a restrained villain can cause some damage. I think we should stay here until someone from the MPD can pick them up. Maybe Melchett the Hedgehog or something."

"I'll make a call immediately." said Wilson.

He ran over to the computer monitors and prepared to make a call to the MPD station in Empire City. But before Wilson could say a single word, Fiona jumped back to her feet and rammed Mandy in the side before the mouse could do anything. She dropped the remote that worked the laser cuffs and Fiona quickly pressed a button on the remote with her foot. The laser cuffs switched off, freeing Fiona and Ginger's arms and Fiona grabbed Mandy in a chokehold. Mandy gagged and struggled but Fiona's grasp was too stronger for her, especially since she had been weakened by Fiona earlier. Ginger picked up one of the laser cuff spheres and forced Mandy's arms behind her back while Fiona held her. The lasers activated and wrapped around Mandy's wrists. Now Mandy would never be able to get free. Wilson immediately saw what was happening and he pointed his spinning blade at Fiona.

"Let Mandy go or I'll run you through so much people can use you as a knife block!" he yelled.

"You stand down or I'll break her neck!" threatened Fiona, making a threatening gesture with her arms "It's possible to do so in this position you know!"

"Wilson, don't give in, call someone for help!" shrieked Mandy.

Fiona tightened her grip, making Mandy gag even harder.

"Be quiet!" she yelled "So Wilson, do you want to try and stop me and lose your pretty little girlfriend? Or will you sit and stay like a good little doggy?"

"You've got five seconds!" said Ginger evilly.

He held his left hand out and began counting. Wilson began to fret.

What should he do? He couldn't give up and let the two foxes take over Royal HQ. Then again, once Bunnie and Geoffrey defeated Scourge, they would be able to stop Fiona and Ginger so it didn't matter if he gave up, they still had hope.

"Five…" Ginger's thumb curled into the palm of his hand "Four…" down went his pinkie. "Three…" down went another finger "Two…" he now only had two fingers up "One…"

"Stop! I give!" blustered Wilson "Please for the love of god, don't kill Mandy!"

"Good boy." taunted Fiona "Now…sit." she ordered in her best dog-owner-giving-a-command voice

Wilson did what he was told and he sat down on the floor like a dog usually would do. He grumbled to himself. He hated being given pet dog like commands, it annoyed him. The moment Wilson sat down, Ginger ran over to him and put the laser cuffs on his wrists. Now Wilson was subdued, Fiona dragged Mandy over to a door in the right hand corner of the lab. She flung the door open and threw Mandy inside. Ginger tried to carry Wilson but he couldn't because he was too weak so Fiona gave him a hand. They two foxes threw Wilson into the room and they shut the door. Fiona turned a notch on the door, locking it and trapping Wilson and Mandy in the room. The room Wilson and Mandy were in was merely an empty closet so they wouldn't find anything useful to use. Fiona laughed to herself and dusted her hands off. She straightened her hair and walked over to the computer monitors. She sat down in a chair and looked at the screen. The monitors hadn't changed one little bit; they looked just the same as they always did. When she was on the team, she always did like the lab but now she wasn't a Royal Fighter anymore, the lab meant nothing to her. She just casually sat in the chair and relaxed.

"Now Wilson and Mandy are taken care of, all we have to do is wait for Scourgey boy to beat up Bunnie and Geoffrey and this base is ours." she said smoothly.

"Why does Scourge want this base anyway?" wondered Ginger "Isn't he trying to take over the world? How's a mere base gonna help him?"

"Scourge will explain once he's got the place." snapped Fiona "Scourge knows what he's doing, I think, and we have to do what he says or get thrashed by him."

Ginger nodded in agreement, he knew what would happen if he disobeyed Scourge. Ginger then began to wonder how Scourge was doing right now outside of Royal HQ…

…and knowing the little twerp, he'd probably be thrilled at what was going on if he was outside watching it right now. Scourge the Hedgehog was managing to put up an excellent fight against Geoffrey St. John and Bunnie Rabbot. Geoffrey wasn't really much of a challenge for Scourge whereas Bunnie was the one he had to worry about. Bunnie's incredible strength made her a tough opponent for Scourge. Scourge spin-dashed towards Bunnie but the Rabbot activated her force field generator to shield herself from the attack. Scourge bounced off the force field and landed behind Bunnie. Scourge charged at Bunnie but the Rabbot smacked him away with her robot arm. Scourge landed on his face and ended up getting a mouthful of dirt. Geoffrey quickly loaded his crossbow and attempted once again to stun Scourge with a stun dart but Scourge quickly recovered and dodged the dart. Scourge charged at Geoffrey but the skunk dodged his attack by leaping out of the way. Scourge skidded to a halt and charged at Geoffrey again. Geoffrey grabbed Scourge by the shoulders and kneed him in the stomach. Then he gave Scourge an upwards chop that seemed to stun Scourge momentarily. Then before Scourge could attack again, Geoffrey punched him as hard as he could. Scourge flew backwards and landed on his back. Despite that beating, he still wasn't down. Being Sonic's brother paid off for Scourge, especially since he had Sonic's moves and stamina. It was hard for anyone to bring Sonic down so Scourge would be just as difficult. Geoffrey panted and groaned as Scourge got up again.

"This is ludicrous! The bloke's still up and at it despite our best efforts!" grumbled Geoffrey.

"Well we can't give up sugah." said Bunnie "Royal HQ's dependin' on us to save it from Scourge, Fiona and Ginger. If we let them have it then the Kingdom of Mobotropolis is doomed!"

"I can't subdue the bloke with my darts as he's just too fast for them." said Geoffrey "We've gotta tire him out or summet. Or maybe you pin him down and I shoot him."

"Ah'll try mah best Geoff." said Bunnie "Ah hope ah can do this."

"With your strength you'll be able to subdue Scourge easily." Geoffrey assured the Rabbot "It's just getting hold of him that's the hard part…"

"You got that right sucker!" taunted Scourge, spin-dashing Geoffrey in the head.

The skunk was knocked right off his feet. Bunnie tried to punch Scourge but Scourge ducked and let Bunnie have it in the gut. Bunnie doubled over in pain and Scourge proceeded to uppercut Bunnie while she was bent over clutching her tummy. Bunnie clutched her face and Scourge then grabbed her organic arm and gave it a sharp twist. He wrapped his other arm around Bunnie's neck, putting her in a chokehold. Bunnie gagged and fought to ignore the pain in her organic right arm which Scourge was twisting. Scourge laughed at Bunnie's pain and then decided to taunt her to add insult to injury.

"You could have saved yourself all of this pain if you had chosen to succumb to me Rabbot." sneered Scourge "As a matter of fact, who's the pea-brain who decided to give you a bad pun as a name? Sonic's no doubt, he's always making the bad jokes."

"Urk! Mah name has always been Bunnie!" gagged Bunnie as Scourge's grip tightened "Everybody just nicknamed me Bunnie Rabbot because of mah robot parts!"

"Yeah as if I couldn't guess." snorted Scourge sarcastically "Now, are you going to surrender? Or do I have to break your arm in order to make you do so?"

Scourge didn't get an answer from the Rabbot for Geoffrey had taken this opportunity to finally shoot Scourge with a stun-dart. The dart embedded itself in Scourge's back and the green hedgehog cried out in surprise as he felt a sudden pin prick. He then let go of Bunnie Rabbot and collapsed to the ground in a deep slumber. Geoffrey smirked at the subdued hedgehog.

"Good thing I got him too." said Geoffrey "That was my last stun dart."

"Ah'm glad Scourge is finally down now." said Bunnie "Now we can haul his ugly butt to jail where he belongs."

"I'm taking the blighter to jail, you can help Wilson and Mandy take down that traitor Fiona and Scourge's sidekick Ginger." said Geoffrey, picking Scourge up and draping him on his shoulder "Hopefully the dart's effects will keep him asleep until I get him to an MPD station."

To Geoffrey's bad luck though, Scourge suddenly woke up and booted him in the head, causing Geoffrey to drop Scourge and fall on his face. Scourge pinned the skunk down on the ground with his foot, grinning evilly at the skunk. Geoffrey turned his head around to look over his shoulder at Scourge, who was pinning him down to the ground.

"N-n-no way!" piped Geoffrey "How did my dart's effect wear off so quickly?"

"The thick leather of my jacket stopped the dart from fully going in." sneered Scourge, pulling the dart out of his back and throwing it away "Only the tip went into my back and it gave me a quick shock that made me collapse. Now you can't stun me anymore since according to you, this was your last one."

"Oh damn it!" muttered Geoffrey.

"Well ah guess we have to keep on fightin' then." said Bunnie "Put em up Scourge!" she yelled, raising her arms and getting ready to fight.

"Whatever you say Rabbot." said Scourge, releasing Geoffrey and raising his fists.

Scourge and Bunnie ran towards each other with their fists raised but Scourge ran at sonic speed so he got to Bunnie quicker and he punched her first, directly in the shoulder. Bunnie clutched her shoulder but had no time to react for Scourge attacked again by doing a back flip directly in front of her, which in turn caused Bunnie to get kicked in the face as his feet swung past her. Bunnie fell onto her bottom but she was quickly back on her feet and she punched at Scourge, only to miss and get rammed in the side by the green hedgehog. Bunnie retaliated with a wallop to the face from her robot arm. Scourge grunted after the punch and he fell onto his side. Bunnie then proceeded to grab Scourge's ankles, swing him over onto his other side and slam him on the ground. Unfortunately, Scourge took the opportunity to roll into a spin-dash while Bunnie was still holding him, causing her to let go of Scourge. Scourge propelled forward and then ricocheted back towards Bunnie. The Rabbot deployed her force-field generator and surrounded herself with a pink force field. Scourge bounced off the force field and crashed into the ground behind Bunnie. Scourge picked himself up only to get tackled down to the ground by Geoffrey. Geoffrey then grabbed Scourge in a headlock. Scourge gagged and tried to wriggle free but Geoffrey managed to hold onto Scourge.

"Let go of me wretch!" yelled Scourge.

"Oh I don't think so Scourge." said Geoffrey "You're beaten and that's all there is to it. Bunnie, get me some laser cuffs now!" he ordered.

"OK Geoff." said Bunnie, running off to Royal HQ to get the laser cuffs.

She didn't get far though. The moment Bunnie opened the door to Royal HQ, Fiona leaped out of the building and tackled her down to the ground. Ginger just stood behind Fiona waiting to do something. Bunnie just stared up at Fiona and frowned at her. Fiona just smirked at her back.

"Going somewhere Bunnie?" sneered Fiona "I don't think so."

"Fiona!" growled Geoffrey "I was wondering when you'd show up! What have you done with Wilson and Mandy you traitor?"

"Oh they're just locked away safely in a closet somewhere in the HQ." replied Fiona "They're alright don't worry, it's just they can't help you."

"You locked them in a closet?" blurted Geoffrey "Oh that's going too far! When I get my hands on you Fiona you'll be sorry you double-crossed us like this!"

"Oh shut up Geoffrey and let go of Scourge." ordered Fiona.

"No chance Fiona!" retorted Geoffrey, tightening his grip on Scourge which in turn made Scourge gag "Scourge is going to prison and you'll be joining him!"

"As if." snorted Fiona, running towards Geoffrey as fast as she could go.

Geoffrey held Scourge in front of himself, leaving Fiona to accidentally kick Scourge in the face. After Fiona's incredible kick, Geoffrey elbowed Scourge in the back of the head, knocking the green hedgehog down and leaving him with a slight headache. Fiona realized what she had just done accidentally and she bent down to help Scourge.

"Scourge baby I didn't mean to kick you!" she cried "I was aiming for Geoffrey."

"I know Fi." snapped Scourge "Now stop embarrassing me and get your act together!"

Fiona nodded and was about to get back up until Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and pointed it at the vixen's head. Fiona was forced to stay down on her knees with her hands up. Scourge could see where this was going so he stayed down on his knees and raised his hands. Bunnie was pleased to see that her threatening gesture was working.

"Thanks ya'll." she said to Scourge and Fiona "Now stay there if ya'll know what's good for you."

Unfortunately, Ginger took the opportunity to fly up to Bunnie and yank on her ears. Bunnie screeched in pain and tried to whack Ginger away but Ginger was just out of her reach. Fiona immediately leaped onto her feet and let Bunnie have it in the gut with a powerful kick. Ginger let go of Bunnie's ears and the Rabbot fell down on her back. Geoffrey tried to help her but Scourge fisted the skunk in the back of the head, bringing Geoffrey down on his hands and knees. He laughed at the downed skunk and rabbit.

"You can hardly handle me so let's see how well you handle all three of us." crowed Scourge.

"Suit yerself mate." said Geoffrey challengingly "Come on Bunnie, let's beat these blighters!"

"Sho' nuff." said Bunnie, picking herself up and getting ready to fight.

Scourge, Fiona and Ginger all prepared to attack while Bunnie and Geoffrey waited for the right moment to lunge. Then all five Mobians charged towards each other and the fight began. All hell was going to break loose at this very minute…

Meanwhile, Eggman's oil rig was bustling with workers. The robots were rushing around here and there loading the final supplies for the rig's next shipping to Robotropolis, Eggman's robotical city and base of operations. Alonzo the Butler Bot, Eggman's snooty sidekick barked orders at the rushing workers as they carried barrels and barrels of oil to the huge ocean liners held above the water on the sides of the oil rig. Once the cargo was loaded, the ships would drop into the ocean and set sail to shore. Once the ships arrived at shore, the robots would then carry the oil themselves to Robotropolis and deliver it to Dr. Eggman personally. Alonzo was pleased to see how quickly everybody was working, especially Mecha Rouge for she was the fastest worker of them all. Mecha Rouge's swift flying allowed her to go back and forth really quickly and her great strength allowed her to carry more barrels then the average Eggman worker robots. The ocean liners would be ready to launch in a matter of minutes and Eggman would get his new oil supplies for his robot armies in no time. As Mecha Rouge loaded another stash of barrels, Alonzo began to mutter to himself.

"It's nice to be in charge of something for once." he said "It'll be much better when I'm in charge of not just a mere oil rig, but the entire Eggman Empire. And once my little project which I've safely hidden in the back-up base and codenamed: Project Annihilation is complete, my rule over my master's empire is certain."

Mecha Rouge then flew up towards Alonzo and stood to attention in front of the pointy-headed robot. Alonzo scowled at her.

"Why aren't you working?" he snapped.

"I-have-a-re-port." droned Mecha Rouge "The-first-Eggman-ocean-liner-is-ready-for-launch."

"Is it now?" said Alonzo happily "Well let's launch the ship while we wait for the others to get loaded."

Alonzo turned around and zipped over to the clamps that held the ships above the water below. Alonzo pressed a button on the control pad and the clamps released the first ocean liner. The huge orange and yellow ship dropped down from the oil rig's height and landed with a giant splash on the water below. After the giant splash had died down, the ship immediately went into motion and began pulling away from the oil rig. Despite the ship's immense size that matched that of an Earth oil tanker, it was surprisingly fast, moving at a speed of thirty knots. Eggman was capable of building many a brilliant invention, especially ocean liners that could move at a greater speed then the average ocean liner. The ship would arrive at shore in half an hour with Eggman's weekly supplies. Alonzo watched the ocean liner pull away and he smiled to himself.

"I love it when everything runs like clockwork." he said to himself "Everything's running as expected and Sonic and his friends can't stop me since I've drowned them all in oil. Maybe I should check on them in a minute to see the aftermath. I bet I'll get a very oily sight…"

As he talked to himself, an invisible Espio the Chameleon sneaked past him and tiptoed through a door and into a room. The room was completely empty save for a tonne of supplies. These ranged from empty barrels waiting to be filled with oil, crates the barrels were to be stored in after being filled and weapons for the robots to arm themselves with. Espio turned visible, for no one was in the room so he wouldn't be caught by anybody, and he observed his surroundings. He saw a peg on the wall and there was a bag hanging on the wall. Espio crept over to the peg and grabbed the bag. He unzipped the bag and looked into it. The bag was full of detonators. This must be the bag of detonators Tails had been talking about earlier. He, Sonic and Ruben needed the bag to complete their mission so Espio zipped the bag back up and unhooked it off the hook. He then turned himself invisible again and slung the bag on his shoulder. Sadly, he couldn't turn the bag invisible so anyone who spotted him would notice the bag was seemingly floating by itself and he'd get caught but Espio was skilled in getting out of tight situations so he didn't have to worry too much about getting found out. Espio then decided to do something else before leaving. He unzipped the bag once again, took one detonator out of the bag and dropped it into a barrel. That was one detonator set up for the oil rig's destruction. He would let Tails do the rest. Espio opened the door and let himself out of the room. He looked both ways to make sure the coast was clear and he ran off as fast as his feet could carry him. Alonzo heard a slight pitter-patter of Espio's feet as the chameleon ran for his life but he shook it off, dismissing it as nothing to bother about. He turned his attention back to the ocean liners, which were near to being fully loaded. The second liner would be ready for launch in no time and soon that one would be on it's way to deliver the oil supplies to Dr. Eggman.

Espio ran all the way back to the detention room and he let himself into the room. He quickly closed the door behind him and ran down the corridor. He came to a stop as he saw the door that led to the cell Alonzo had locked everybody in and he opened it. He turned himself visible and ran into the cell room. Sonic and friends were pleased to see Espio had successfully managed to retrieve Tails' bag of detonators. The ninja chameleon handed the bag over to Tails and Tails took the bag from Espio and slung it on his shoulder.

"Thanks Espio." said Tails.

"No problem." said Espio "We need to be quick though. Alonzo's already launched one ocean liner and right now as we speak, it's heading to shore to deliver some oil supplies to supposedly Dr. Eggman. I've already hidden one of the detonators in a storage room."

"Nice one Es but we're actually waiting until all the ships are launched." explained Sonic "It's so we can blow the rig up without causing an oil spill into the ocean. You know how bad oil spills are."

"Yeah, oil's icky stuff!" gagged Charmy, making sickly noises as he thought about it "We don't wanna spill that stuff into the nice clean ocean do we?"

"Of course not." said Tails "So how many ships are being loaded with oil Espio?"

"I think I saw about four ships being loaded." said Espio as he though about it "One's already gone so there's three ships left to be loaded."

"That shouldn't take too long." said Sonic "While we're waiting, we can load the detonators and then get off the rig. Once we're off the rig, we can set the charges to blow and the rig will be in pieces!"

"I just hope those robots haven't sunk my little speedboat yet." said Vector grimly "I have a horrible feeling that they have though."

"You set the detonators and I'll see if our speedboat's still there." said Espio, turning invisible once again.

The invisible chameleon left the room and Sonic and friends followed him. Tails took two detonators out of the bag and attached them neatly to a wall each before leaving the room. The detonators had to be placed strategically in several different places on the oil rig in order for the explosion to be more devastating. Now the detonators had been planted, Tails followed everybody else out of the detention area. The Mobians left the detention area and found themselves on the main deck of the oil rig. Sonic bent down on one knee and poked his head around the corner of the structure they were hiding behind. There were workers rushing around loading the final supplies on the ships. The second ocean liner had already been launched and now the third ship was nearing completion. They couldn't set the detonators anywhere on the decks as they would be spotted in no time so they had to go somewhere else.

"Hey guys, I think we should go somewhere else." said Sonic "There's too many robots out there, we'll be caught instantly."

"I'll just set one detonator right here." said Tails, attaching a detonator to the wall on their side.

The detonator attached nicely to the wall and was ready for activation.

"So where shall we go now?" asked Vector.

"Maybe down there." said Ruben, pointing to an unoccupied section of the oil rig "There's no one working over there."

Everybody ran across the decks and towards the unoccupied area. This area was just another section of the oil rig. There were clamps to hold a ship on the side barrier and there was a barrel filling station where the barrels could be filled with oil. All one had to do was put the barrel under the huge oil tank that was held a few feet off the ground and the oil tank would fill the barrel with oil through a hose nozzle that pointed straight down to the ground. Since no barrels needed filling, no one needed to operate this area. Sonic was pleased with their good luck right now.

"This area will do." said Sonic "Start setting up detonators Tails before someone catches us."

"OK." said Tails.

"I'll keep watch." said Ruben as Tails ran off to set the detonators up "Any robot that sees us will get swept away by my water waves."

"Good idea Ruben." said Sonic "After all, water is a robot's worst enemy."

Tails took a detonator out of the bag and flew up to the oil tank. He placed the detonator on the tank and flew back down to the deck.

He placed another detonator on an empty crate that would be full of barrels had they not been filled already and then he flew off to place another detonator. He placed three on different sections of the side barriers and he placed one near the oil tank. He placed two on random parts of the deck and attached a final one to the wall of the structure. Tails felt that that was enough detonators for this area and decided it was time to move on.

"That's enough for this bit." said Tails "Let's move on."

"OK Tails." said Sonic "Come on Ruben." he called to the water panther.

Ruben obeyed and ran off with Sonic and friends as they headed to another section of the oil rig.

"I have a good idea on where to place the detonators." said Ruben as Sonic and friends ran for it "How about you place a few detonators on the legs of the station itself? I bet that'll do some damage to the rig."

"Good idea Ruben." said Tails "I'll do that then."

He twisted his tails around one another and took flight. He flew off the decks and down towards the water below the rig. Tails flew towards one of the oil rig's legs and fished out a detonator from the bag on his shoulder. Tails attached the detonator onto the leg and then began to wonder if he should attach anymore on. Tails looked into his bag. He only had six detonators left. He decided to attach a detonator to each leg. He had already attached on so he flew off to attach another. He flew all the way around under the oil rig, attaching a detonator each to the other three legs of the rig and then he decided to attach the last three detonators at random points under the oil rig above him. That was all of the detonators set up at last. Now all they had to do was get off the rig and they could set the whole station to go kaboom. Tails was suddenly startled by an enormous splash that came seemingly from nowhere. The third ocean liner had just been launched and it sped off across the ocean to its designated destination. Tails watched the ship sail away before flying out from under the oil rig and back onto the decks. Just as he flew back on the decks, he suddenly realized something. The Chaotix said they had arrived on a speedboat. While flying around under the rig, he didn't see a speedboat of any kind. That obviously meant their only means of escape had been foiled. Tails landed on the decks and spoke to Sonic.

"Sonic, I've set the last of the detonators but while I was under the rig, I didn't see any speedboats." reported Tails.

"Didn't see any speedboats?" repeated Sonic "That must mean the Eggman robots must have sunk it or something. Well that's just great! We lose the jet and now we lose a speedboat! How are we gonna get off this rig now?"

"I dunno Sonic. I'm stumped." said Vector, shrugging sadly.

Then suddenly out of nowhere, Espio the Chameleon reappeared beside Vector, making the crocodile jump slightly.

"I'm sorry to report that the speedboat is gone Vector." said Espio "We can't get off."

"Thanks Espio but Tails already told us that." said Vector.

"Oh." said Espio "That unfortunate turn of events means we're stuck here now."

"I've set all the detonators to go but I can't set them off if we're still on here, I'll kill us all." said Tails sadly "We must find another way off this thing."

"Maybe we could stowaway on one of the ocean liners that's delivering oil to Eggman." suggested Sonic.

"That's not a bad thought." said Ruben "We're gonna have to be quick though, there's only one left and I think it's about ready to launch."

"In that case, let's do it to it!" yelled Sonic.

He ran off at his trademark speed and charged towards the last remaining ocean liner which was just about ready to go. The others ran after him, desperate to catch the ship. Sonic charged through some worker robots and straight past Alonzo. The butler bot was whisked off his wheels and sent rolling across the decks like a missile on its side. Alonzo picked himself up and stared in disbelief.

"Sonic's alive?" he gurgled "Impossible! He should have drowned in oil right now!"

Sonic leaped onto a worker bot's head and leaped onto the ocean liner which had just finished being loaded with oil barrels. Unfortunately, he didn't get to stay on. Mecha Rouge spotted Sonic on the oil rig and she flew up towards Sonic. She grabbed the hedgehog by the arms and flew him off the ocean liner. Alonzo ran over to the side barriers and quickly released the docking clamps that were holding the ocean liner above the water so that the ship could deliver the oil supplies and eliminate any hopes of escape for Sonic and friends. Tails, Ruben and the Chaotix arrived just in time to see the ocean liner pull away from the oil rig at full speed.

"No! We're too late!" cried Tails "We missed the ship!"

"Indeed you did my mangy Mobians." said Alonzo with a gloating smirk on his metal face "Now you're stuck here with me. What a delightful turn of events this is. Although I'm quite mystified as to how you managed to survive the cell of oil though." he added grimly.

"I helped them at the last minute." said Espio, deploying a shuriken and getting ready to throw it "Now you tell us how we get off this rig or I'll disembowel you bit by bit!"

"You will do absolutely nothing chameleon boy." said Alonzo "Unless you want Sonic to meet a watery grave."

Everybody turned around and saw Mecha Rouge holding Sonic by his arms above the water. The roboticized bat was getting ready to drop Sonic. Sonic squirmed in the Robian bat's tough metallic grasp but a Robian had a tight grasp so Sonic wouldn't be able to get free no matter how hard he struggled.

"Sonic!" cried Tails helplessly.

"Ha, ha, ha." chortled Alonzo dryly "So Mobians, do you surrender?

Or does Sonic end up becoming another victim of the deadly water? Make your choice and do it quick because I'm not a patient robot you know."

"I've already made my choice and I say none of the above!" yelled Ruben, thrusting his arm forward and letting Alonzo have it with a wave of water.

Alonzo was sent hurling backwards and he slid all the way to the other side of the decks and flying over the side barrier. He just managed to grab onto the barrier and save himself from plunging into the ocean waters. Now Alonzo was distracted, Ruben turned his attention to Mecha Rouge. He aimed at her and fired a jet of water out of both his hands but the roboticized bat let go of Sonic and flew out of Ruben's way, causing the water panther to miss and Sonic to fall into the ocean. Tails watched in horror and he immediately leaped over the barrier and twisted his tails around one another. He flew down to the waters just as Sonic landed in the water and he grabbed Sonic's hand just as the hedgehog was submerging under the ocean. Tails pulled Sonic quickly out of the water and flew him back up to the oil rig but Mecha Rouge screw-kicked him from behind, causing Tails and Sonic to fall back into the water. Espio and Charmy decided to distract Mecha Rouge so Tails could have a chance to save Sonic. Espio threw shuriken at Mecha Rouge and Charmy flew around the Robian bat to keep her attention diverted. Charmy then shook his butt at Mecha Rouge in a taunting manner, prompting the bat to try and catch him. Charmy flew away with Mecha Rouge chasing after him. Now Mecha Rouge was distracted, Tails could now fly Sonic to safety. He flew out of the water with Sonic in tow and he landed back on the decks of the oil rig. He settled Sonic down and the blue hedgehog coughed and spluttered.

"Cough! Thanks Tails!" he gasped "I thought I was done for!"

"Don't mention it Sonic." said Tails happily "And it makes a nice change for me having to be saved from drowning all the time*."

"Yeah, talk about irony." agreed Sonic.

Alonzo had managed to pull himself back onto the rig and he charged towards Sonic in a mad rage. He had his sharp metal fingers bared and he was yelling a very bad sounding battle cry. Sonic just promptly gave Alonzo an uppercut as the robot servant tried to attack him. Alonzo hurled backwards and landed with a clang on his back.

"When will you learn to get a life Alonzo?" muttered Sonic.

Alonzo picked himself up and glared at him.

"Right! That is it!" he grumbled "If I can't drown you then I guess I'll have to destroy you! Eggman robots! KILL HIM!" he bellowed at the top of his portly gentlemanly like voice.

All the Eggman worker robots surrounded Sonic and friends and pointed their weapons at them. Mecha Rouge saw the robots surrounding Sonic and friends and she gave up on the chase after Charmy and flew down to join them. Charmy could sense what was happening and he flew down to join his friends. The robots all prepared to fire whereas Sonic and friends prepared to cut loose. One thing's for sure is that the oil rig was about to become a battlefield of dangerous proportions once the fists started flying and the lasers started firing…

"Ha, ha, ha! Take that again wimps!" cackled Scourge as he dropkicked Bunnie Rabbot into the ground.

Now Fiona and Ginger were helping Scourge in his fight, Geoffrey and Bunnie were having a hard time keeping up with the trio of enemies. Scourge had already given them a hard time but now he had helpers, this time was getting even harder. Every time Geoffrey or Bunnie struck a vigorous blow on Scourge or Fiona, Ginger would be on hand to attack them from behind and distract them, giving Scourge and Fiona a chance to fight back. And fighting Ginger wasn't much of an option as he was hard to get hold of and Scourge and Fiona seized every possible opportunity they had to attack their enemies so they had to keep their attention cleanly focused on Scourge and Fiona. But even that was becoming difficult as Ginger just carried on and on being a pain in the backside for Geoffrey and Bunnie. As Geoffrey was knocked down once again by Scourge, the skunk grumbled to himself.

"I wish I hadn't used up all my stun darts! I could stun all three of them if I had a dart spare!"

"I wish sugah-hog was here." grunted Bunnie "He could help us beat those three easily."

"Speaking of Sonic, where is he?" asked Fiona, grabbing Bunnie's ears and giving them a yank, making Bunnie squeal "It's not like him to not help his friends is it?"

"Sonic's elsewhere right now!" grunted Bunnie, elbowing Fiona in the gut to make her let go of her ears "He's on a mission but when he gets back, you'll end up wishin' you hadn't messed with us!"

"By the time Sonic gets back, I'll be victorious and you'll be ground into the dirt!" bellowed Scourge, spin-dashing Bunnie in the head and knocking her down.

Geoffrey jumped up and tried to attack Scourge but the green hedgehog dodged Geoffrey's attack and slugged the skunk in the stomach. Bunnie got to her feet and was about to help Geoffrey until Ginger came from nowhere in another attempt to distract her. Bunnie heard him coming and preceded to uppercut the fox with her metal arm before he could even lay a finger on her. That attack seemed to knock a lot of sense out of Ginger as he suddenly found himself lying on his back wondering which way was up. Now Ginger was finally out, Bunnie and Geoffrey could fight without distraction. Even then, their chances for victory were slim at the best. Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and blasted Scourge with it. Scourge hurtled backwards and charged back towards Bunnie. Geoffrey rammed Scourge in the side before he could even get close to Bunnie. Fiona tried to attack Geoffrey with a kick but Geoffrey grabbed Fiona's leg and tripped her up. Fiona suddenly found herself lying on her back and Geoffrey tossed her away. Scourge picked himself up and growled angrily.

"That's it! Time for the Death Tornado!" he yelled.

He ran around Bunnie and Geoffrey in a circle and supersonic speed. Geoffrey and Bunnie knew what was coming for they had been taken down by Scourge's Death Tornado before. They had to get out and fast before the move could be completed but once Scourge's Death Tornado began, there was no way out. As Scourge picked up speed, he became a giant green blur circling around endlessly. Bunnie grabbed hold of Geoffrey and tried to fly him out of the tornado but as Scourge picked up speed faster and faster, the wind currents in the centre of the tornado became too strong for Bunnie to over come and she found herself spinning around and around in Scourge's deadly tornado move. After a minute or two, Bunnie and Geoffrey hurled out of the tornado and crashed into the ground. Scourge stopped running around and came to a halt. He panted heavily. Doing a Sonic Tornado move often left him worn out but his enemies seemed to be defeated at last. Bunnie and Geoffrey couldn't get up. They weren't even awake, they had been knocked out by the blow. Fiona bent down and helped Scourge stand back up.

"There you are Scourge." said Fiona "I must say, brilliant idea to use the Sonic Tornado on them. You've finally beat them."

"Thank you Fiona." said Scourge "And by the way it's Death Tornado, not Sonic Tornado. Death Tornado sounds cooler."

"Sorry." said Fiona quickly "So shall we lock up Geoffrey and Bunnie just like I locked up Wilson and Mandy?"

"Yes." said Scourge "They'll be important for this master plan of mine."

With that said, Scourge and Fiona picked up the unconscious Bunnie and Geoffrey and carried them into Royal HQ. Ginger just remained lying on the ground where he was. Scourge came back out of Royal HQ and dragged Ginger into the building by his hair. Scourge and Fiona carried Bunnie and Geoffrey into the lab and Fiona put a pair of laser cuffs on them both. Now Geoffrey and Bunnie were bound up, Fiona threw them both into the closet along where Wilson and Mandy had been locked up in. Fiona locked the door and sighed happily.

"Everything's going like clockwork isn't it Scourge?" she said.

"You got that right babe." said Scourge with an evil grin on his face "Sonic's not here to stop us, we've locked up some Royal Fighters and now the HQ is ours. Now it's time for the next part of my scheme. Get me any of the prisoners we have."

Fiona obeyed and unlocked the door. She went into the closet and dragged Mandy out of it. The mouse was confused as to why she was suddenly being let out of the closet but she had a feeling it wasn't for a good purpose. Scourge glowered at Mandy with his cold blue eyes.

"OK mouse girl, you're necessary for the next part of my master plan." he said "You better do as I say or you won't live to see the next day."

"I have no choice." said Mandy glumly "I'm all beaten and bound up so I'm gonna have to do what you say, even though I'm not happy to do so. So what do you want me to do?"

"Call any of the Royal Fighter sub-groups abroad." said Scourge "Fiona, which one do you think mouse girl should call?"

"I recommend Grand Metropolis." suggested Fiona "I've heard that they're a good team."

"In that case, call the Royal Fighters of Grand Metropolis." Scourge said to Mandy sharply "They'll do nicely for the next stage of my master plan…"

What Scourge needed a Royal Fighter group for, Mandy didn't know but she could tell that it was not for a good cause…

HQ Heist Part 3

Story 66: HQ Heist Part 3: Scourge in Charge

Royal HQ.

A proud base of operations for the Royal Fighters of Mobotropolis.

And now it was in the control of the insidious hedgehog Scourge the Hedgehog, Sonic's evil and conquest hungry brother. He was accompanied by Fiona Fox, a beautiful young vixen who had betrayed everybody she once worked for just to get her own back on the R.F.S. and Ginger the Fox, Tails' moronic cousin whom had a passion for getting beaten up and being used as a punching bag by Scourge whenever the hedgehog was in a bad mood. They had just beaten up fellow fighter Geoffrey St. John the Skunk, Bunnie Rabbot, Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse and locked them all in an empty closet in the lab. Mandy had been taken out of the closet and was being forced against her will to make a call to one of the R.F.S. groups in the other countries. Mandy couldn't type anything on the keyboard since her arms were cuffed behind her back by unbreakable laser cuffs so Fiona had to make the call instead. Mandy, with Scourge holding her by the neck threateningly, told Fiona the phone number to General Bostock, the leader of the Royal Fighters of Grand Metropolis and Fiona typed it in on the keyboard.

"OK toots, once somebody answers the phone, you tell them to come over here at once." hissed Scourge, tightening his grip on Mandy's neck to make her choke "Try not to sound scared and try to sound urgent and in need of assistance, pretend I'm not here throttling you right now or you'll know about it. Capisce?"

"Yes Scourge." said Mandy glumly "Let go of me please."

Scourge let Mandy go. He knew that Mandy wouldn't dare try anything funny so he didn't need to hold her by the neck to make her cave in to him. After Fiona dialled the number on the keyboard, the computer monitors displayed the phone ringing symbol and the sound of a phone ringing rung around the room. The ringing stopped after three rounds and the phone ringing symbol disappeared and in it's place, was displayed a picture of General Bostock. His voice rung out through the monitors.

"Hello, this is General Bostock, leader of the Grand Metropolis Royal Fighters, how may I help you?" he asked gruffly.

"Bostock, this is Mandy Mouse speaking." said Mandy in her best impression of a fighter in peril right now "Royal HQ is under siege and I need some back up. Please can you come and help?"

"We'll be over as fast as we can." Bostock answered "We're more then happy to help a good friend of ours."

The image of Bostock disappeared and the sound of a phone hanging up was heard. Scourge smiled happily and he dragged Mandy back over to the closet. He opened it and threw Mandy back inside. He locked it and cackled happily.

"Excellent!" he cackled "Everything is running smoother then a shiny metal floor! When this Bostock guy arrives, he'll have to do as I tell him or the fighters will die!"

"I really do applaud your efforts Scourge." said Fiona in a congratulating tone "This plan of yours is sheer genius. You're smarter then that fat loser Dr. Eggman."

"Of course I am Fiona." gloated Scourge "I am the strongest, fastest and smartest being on Mobius and make no mistake about that! It's thanks to my superior traits that I will be on top of the world in a matter of moments!"

"And because Sonic isn't here, he can't stop us." said Ginger pointlessly.

"Stop being rhetorical Ginger!" snapped Scourge "And even though my dweeby brother will be back soon, which I hope he won't be, we'll be too much for him. No one, not even Sonic can stop me now!"

From the looks of things, it seemed that Scourge was right. The situation did seem pretty hopeless now and if Sonic didn't get home in time then Scourge would be bathing in victory right now…

"Yow! Watch it with that thing! You almost hit me!" shrieked Sonic the Hedgehog as a robot armed with a sniper rifle tried to shoot him.

Things were getting chaotically hectic on the oil rig. The Mobians and robots had erupted into battle and the decks of the oil rig were now a huge battlefield for Eggman's forces and the Mobians. Alonzo, being the coward he is, had just run into the storage room to hide from the colossal battle that was raging on the decks. Lasers fired here and there and Sonic and friends threw punches, kicks and whatever attacks they had. Ruben the Water Panther had made short work of some of the robots by squirting water at them so hard they were swept overboard and sent crashing into the water but the remaining robots had managed to work out what Ruben's tactics were so they stayed away from the side barriers to avoid getting pushed over the edge by Ruben's water powers and since they were water proof, Ruben couldn't squirt them and short circuit them here and there. Ruben squirted a few jets of water at the robots and he managed to knock them off their feet and send them sliding over to the side barriers but the robots just managed to get back onto their feet and run away from the side barriers before Ruben could try and knock them overboard. Ruben could see that his water powers weren't going to help him at this point so he decided to use his novice style ninjutsu and kung fu instead. Two robots armed with rocket launchers on their wrists fired a missile each at Ruben but the water panther gave one of the missiles an uppercut, knocking it backwards and sending it crashing into the other missile, causing them to explode. Ruben leaped back to avoid getting hit by the explosion. The two robots ran forwards to try and attack Ruben but the water panther leaped over them, causing them to crash into each other and fall over one another. Ruben grabbed one robot and gave it a kung-fu style punch, sending the robot crashing head first into the side barrier, crushing its head and killing the robot. The other robot swiped at Ruben but it missed and Ruben seized its arm. He kicked the robot in the side, causing it to fall down on one knee and Ruben pounded the robot's head with its own arm. Ruben then finished it off by kicking it ninja style and sending the robot hurling into the side barrier. It hit the barrier too hard and ended up flying over the edge and into the water where it smashed into pieces due to how hard it hit the water.

As for the Chaotix, they were having a relatively easy time. Swarms of robots tried to attack them but Espio's ninjutsu, Vector's strength and Charmy's aerial skills were making them too hard to attack. Whenever a robot of any kind got close to Vector, the crocodile just socked them in the face with his fists and destroyed them. Espio threw shuriken at the robots and brought them down in a matter of seconds and Charmy, due to his flying speed, just caused a lot of robots to accidentally shoot themselves when trying to shoot him and Charmy let the robots have it with his stinger. His stinger was very effective against the robots despite not being so large. A gang of large robots armed with sniper rifles similar to the one that caused Ruben to lose his water collar earlier* stomped onto the decks and they began rapidly shooting at the Chaotix in an attempt to kill them. Vector ran for cover whereas Charmy Bee stayed airborne and Espio dodged the sniper blasts with little effort. Vector picked up the body of a dead robot and he threw it at one of the sniper drones. The sniper drone stopped firing long enough to smack the body away. That gave Vector the changed to grab the sniper drone's weapon with his big enormous jaws and yank it out of the robot's hands. He held the gun like a baseball bat and he hammered the robot with it. After about five enormous whacks, he ended up smashing the sniper rifle to pieces. The sniper drone punched Vector with its enormous metal fist and the crocodile was sent flying backwards. Espio avenged Vector by throwing a pair of shuriken at the robot's head. The shuriken exploded on cue and the sniper drone was brought down on its back, smoke pouring out of the dead robot's body where the head once was. Another sniper drone was furious at what just happened and it pointed its sniper rifle at Espio in an attempt to shoot him but Charmy Bee kick slammed it in the back of the head, causing the robot to stagger forwards and nearly fall over. That attack alerted Espio and he pulled out a dagger out of his glove. He threw the dagger at the robot's head and the dagger plunged straight through the sniper drone's face. The resulting attack brought the sniper drone down at last. Vector got back to his feet and tore of one of the dead sniper drone's arms. He ran up to a pair of them that were shooting at him and he walloped one of the drones with the robot arm he had. The sniper drone dropped its sniper rifle and Vector grabbed the rifle. He bashed the robot with it, breaking the sniper rifle in the process again and he bashed the robot with the robot arm again. The other sniper drone tried to shoot Vector but Vector tripped the first drone up by walloping its legs, causing it to fall in front of him and take the blast meant for Vector. The drone was destroyed by the blast. The drone was furious that Vector had caused it to kill it's own team mate and it tried to shoot the crocodile but it missed and Vector charged shoulder first into the robot's legs, tripping it up and bringing it down on it's stomach. Espio threw a shuriken at the drone and the shuriken embedded itself into the sniper drone's head. It exploded shortly after embedding itself into the drone's head, killing the drone. The Chaotix all cheered happily at their success but they had to get back into the battle quickly as more robots were coming by the second.

Sonic and Tails were teaming up together for the horde of robots that were coming for them. Sonic made short work of any robot attacking him by spin-dashing them into pieces and Tails helped by distracting them with his aerial skills. A robot armed with a mace tried to hammer Tails with it but it missed as Tails flew out of the way and it hit the deck instead, leaving a very nasty dent in it. Tails tail-whipped the mace bot and distracted it long enough for Sonic to spin-dash the robot into pieces. Five sniper drones surrounded the blue hedgehog and pointed their snipers at him. Sonic however just leaped out of their way before the robots could shoot him. He then ran around the sniper drones in a perfect circle. The drones began to wonder what Sonic was doing. The blue hedgehog was using his all powerful Sonic Tornado move. He ran around and around and around the five robots until he became a blue blur. The blur expanded upwards and became a tornado. The five robots were swept up in the tornado and sent spinning around and around. The sniper drones were thrown out of the tornado and sent crashing down on the decks were they smashed into pieces. Sonic stopped running around and the tornado faded away into nothing. Sonic looked with satisfaction at his work and he chuckled to himself.

"The Sonic Tornado never fails does it Sonic ol' boy?" he said to himself.

Tails landed beside Sonic and the two best friends gave each other a hi-five.

"Way past awesome Sonic!" cheered Tails.

"Thank you Tails." said Sonic "Sadly, this isn't over yet. There's more robots coming by the second and we still haven't got a way off of this rig."

"I'm sure we'll find a way Sonic." said Tails "There must be another means of escape somewhere."

Their discussion was interrupted by a robot armed with a hammer. It swung it's hammer down and tried to squash Tails and Sonic into the deck but they dodged the attack and the robot hit the deck instead, leaving a very large dent in it.

"Hey! We're trying to have a private discussion here!" yelled Sonic, spin-dashing the robot in the head and sending it staggering backwards.

As for Alonzo, he was watching the battle from inside the storage room and he wasn't pleased to see that Eggman's forces were sorely losing. He clenched his metal fists and grumbled angrily.

"How hard is it to kill a stupid little hedgehog?" he moaned "Cannon drones!" he bellowed into a communicator "Get onto the decks and KILL that filthy, stinking, wretched rodent of a hedgehog NOW!"

Shortly after bellowing the order, some new robots trundled onto the decks. These robots looked like actual wheeled cannons only they had optics built on top and they were all coloured a brilliant gold colour. The cannon drones all wheeled onto the decks and pointed their weapons at the Mobians. Before they fired though, Alonzo gave another order.

"Mecha Rouge!" he barked into his communicator "Stop standing idly by and help the other robots!"

Mecha Rouge, who had been standing on a high structure and watching the battle rage on below her obeyed and she flew down towards the battling Mobians and robots. The cannon drones had all lined up and they fired their cannons at the Mobians. The Chaotix saw the cannon blasts coming and they dodged the attacks. The cannons hit the decks and blew a hole in them. Sonic and Tails dodged the attacks aiming at them and Ruben knocked the cannon blast aiming at him away with a wave of water. The cannon drones fired again but Sonic dodged the attack and Ruben managed to grab one of the blasts. One of the kung-fu lessons he had taken had taught him how to grab powerful blasts and throw them away so he was capable of doing just that. Ruben threw the cannon blast directly back at one of the cannon drones and the cannon-shaped robot was destroyed instantly. Alonzo poked his head out of the door and was getting mad at the fact his attacks weren't working.

"Kill that hedgehog! Somebody kill him!" bellowed Alonzo.

The cannon drones doubled their efforts by firing more and more cannon blasts while taking care not to hit their own comrades. Sonic was miles too fast for the cannon blasts so he managed to dodge them all and Ruben just grabbed them and threw them away or threw them at the structures on the oil rig just to damage the station. The Chaotix were having an easy time dodging the cannon blasts due to Espio's speed and Charmy's flying skills. Unfortunately, Mecha Rouge took the liberty of interfering. The roboticized bat screw-kicked Vector and knocked the crocodile over. A cannon drone seized its chance and fired at Vector. Ruben jumped in just in time to catch the blast and save Vector from getting hit. Ruben then proceeded to throw the blast at Mecha Rouge but the roboticized bat dodged the attack and the blast hurled straight into the water. Mecha Rogue flew down and grabbed Ruben by the arms. She threw the panther into the water and did a sharp U-turn around back to the oil rig to attack somebody else. It would take more then throwing Ruben into the ocean to bring him down as the water panther used his water powers to shoot himself out of the water and back onto the decks. Sonic just managed to dodge another onslaught of cannon blasts but Mecha Rouge had decided to target him next. The mecha-bat screw-kicked Sonic and knocked him over. Sonic punched at Mecha Rouge but he missed and Mecha Rouge kicked him in the forehead. She then deployed a pair of laser cannons out of her forearms and began rapidly shooting at Sonic. Sonic dodged the blasts and spin-dashed Mecha Rouge. The mecha-bat was sent hurling backwards but she skidded to a halt and charged back towards Sonic. She was abruptly halted as a cannon drone tried to shoot Sonic but it missed and hit a pile of dead robots, sending robot parts flying everywhere. Mecha Rouge then resumed her attack. She rammed Sonic in the side with her head and then clawed him across the chest. Sonic yelped in pain and dropkicked Mecha Rouge in the face.

"I think I preferred you when you were flesh and blood Rouge!" puffed Sonic as he blocked an attempted slash attack from Mecha Rouge "I wonder why Eggman roboticized you? I thought you were on his side! Well given your treacherous nature, I bet Eggman roboticized you to make sure you stay on his side." he added as Mecha Rouge tried to claw him again.

Mecha Rouge just ignored Sonic and kneed him in the gut. Sonic kicked Mecha Rouge back and tried to knee her in the gut but kneeing a robot in the stomach is a daft move because the attack would hurt an organic being more then it would hurt a robot and Sonic found that out as he found himself bent down on one knee while rubbing his throbbing one better. Mecha Rouge kicked Sonic while he was down and sent him sprawling across the decks. She then shot Sonic with her lasers but her lasers weren't lethal enough to kill, just hurt so Sonic found himself clutching his side after Rouge shot him. Sonic tried to pick himself back up but Mecha Rouge shot him again, forcing him back down. Tails flew in from behind and kick-slammed Rouge from behind. Mecha Rouge was brought down on her stomach and Tails helped Sonic back onto his feet.

"Thanks bud." said Sonic.

"You're welcome." said Tails "I wonder why Dr. Eggman roboticized Rouge anyway? Rouge is on his side now?"

"According to Knuckles, you can never trust that bat." said Sonic grimly "She's the kind that lies and manipulates to get what she wants and Eggman probably caught onto that so he probably roboticized Rouge while he had the chance to make sure she stays on his side."

"Well liar, thief and deceiver or not, Rouge is an innocent Mobian and we can't leave her like this." said Tails "We've got to de-roboticize her."

"We'll do just that whenever we get the chance." said Sonic "Until then, we've gotta keep fighting her."

"Sonic! LOOK OUT!" shrieked Ruben from further up the decks.

Sonic and Tails turned into Ruben's direction and saw a cannon blast from a cannon drone coming towards them. The blast was clearly aimed for Sonic as it was hurling towards him at blinding speed. Tails pushed Sonic out of the way and took the blast himself. The blast hit the poor fox and he was sent hurling backwards into the side barrier. Tails was thrown over the side and sent hurling towards the water but Charmy Bee saw him and flew after him. Charmy managed to catch Tails just before he could land into the ocean and the bee carried him back onto the decks. He gently lay Tails down on the deck and stared in horror at what had just happened to Tails. Sonic got to his feet and ran over to him. Ruben could see that Sonic needed some cover so he decided to distract the cannon drones. The cannon drones fired again but Ruben grabbed two of the blasts and throw them at the drones, blowing them up as they hit them. While Ruben kept the drones at bay, Sonic and the Chaotix looked over poor Tails.

"Poor Tails. He doesn't look so good." said Charmy sadly, a rare expression for the happy go-lucky bee.

Tails had been horribly burnt by the blast and he appeared to have been knocked out. His fur had been blackened and there were red patches in some places. These were the seriously burnt parts. Tails wasn't breathing but his heart was till beating. The fox was alive but he wouldn't be if he stayed on the rig with all the cannon blasts going on. Sonic looked at Tails sadly and felt like he was about to tear up.

"Tails?" he said, his lips trembling "You…you OK buddy…?"

Tails didn't answer. Sonic could feel himself shaking with fear. Fear over the fact his best friend maybe dead. Tears were forming in the hedgehog's eyes.

"You guys…he's not…dead…is he?" asked Sonic shakily.

Espio felt Tails' wrist to see if he could feel a pulse. He felt it but very weakly.

"He's still alive but if we don't get off this rig and get him to a hospital then he won't make it." said Espio grimly.

"Then we've gotta get off the oil rig and now." declared Sonic "I can't risk the lives of anyone else."

"But we can't get off the rig." said Vector helplessly "Our speedboat's gone, the ocean liners are gone and there's no other mode of transport here."

"I can't fly us all the way back to shore." said Charmy "I'll never make it, it's too far away and I'll get tired before I can get there."

"There must be another way off!" yelled Sonic "Alonzo must have another way of escaping! I mean, what if his boats sunk and he wouldn't be able to escape?"

"That's a good point." said Vector "Maybe he has a jet or something."

"I'll search the oil rig and see what I can find." said Espio, turning invisible "Try and hold on for me."

"We'll try Espio." said Sonic as the invisible chameleon ran off to see what he could find.

"I'll protect Tails." said Vector, picking up the unconscious fox "Charmy, you help Sonic and Ruben."

"OK boss." said Charmy loyally "I'll help Sonic and Ruben smash those dorky bots for ya!"

With that said, Sonic charged back into battle with Charmy Bee buzzing after him. There were only a few cannon drones left and Ruben was getting worn out after catching all their cannon blasts and throwing them back at them. He had managed to destroy one more drone but after that, he fell down on his knees and began gasping for breath.

"Gasp! Why does that move always tire me out after a while?" he puffed.

The cannon drones seized the opportunity to shoot Ruben and kill him but Sonic stepped in and spin-dashed them all into pieces. The cannon drones were all completely destroyed. Charmy Bee just laughed like an idiot.

"Ha, ha, ha! It's always funny when you destroy robots Sonic!" he laughed.

"You know what Charmy, I agree with you." said Sonic "I especially enjoy Eggman's reactions when I smash his baby toys."

Alonzo saw the destruction of the last remaining cannon drones and he was livid with rage. The butler bot looked like he was about to lose his wick right now.

"Is it really that difficult to kill a hedgehog?" he grumbled "Well that's it! Send out of the next batch of cannon drones and then send in the heavy duty units!" he bellowed into his communicator.

After Alonzo gave that order, more cannon drones wheeled onto the decks but they were accompanied by some huge, bulky robots armed with hand held rotary cannons. They looked like they were seriously armoured and looked tough to beat. Sonic, Ruben and Charmy stared in disbelief at the giant heavy duty units. They robots all glared at Sonic with their visor eyes and they pointed their rotary cannons at the Mobians.

"Yikes! Look at the size of that pea-shooter!" shrieked Charmy "It looks deadly!"

"Run for it!" shouted Ruben frantically.

The heavy unit drones fired their cannons and let loose an astonishing round of bullets in a matter of seconds. The cannon drones joined in with the shooting by firing their cannon blasts. Ruben heard one coming and he grabbed one of the blasts double-quick. He threw the blast at one of the heavy units and the drone was destroyed by the blast. The robots continued firing rounds of bullets and cannon blasts respectively with Alonzo standing behind them and barking orders.

"Kill them! Kill them all!" he bellowed.

The robots kept up the pace and Sonic, Charmy and Ruben tried their hardest to dodge the attacks that were raining all over them. Unfortunately, Charmy got hit in the wing by a bullet and he was brought crashing down onto the deck. Ruben scooped the bee up and dived for cover behind a pile of debris. Sonic dived for cover behind a structure where Vector was hiding with the still unconscious Tails. The robots could see that Sonic and friends were hiding so they stopped firing and advanced on them. Sonic could hear them all coming.

"OK, now this is ridiculous!" blurted Sonic "We'll never get past these robots!"

"I don't think even I'll be able to keep this up." said Ruben "I can't keep catching cannon blasts and throwing them back, It wears me out and pretty soon, I'll end up being vulnerable. My water powers aren't much good seeing as they're water proof and all I do is knock them over more then anything."

"I can't fly anymore because my wing got shot." muttered Charmy "Stupid robots."

"Where is that Espio?" wondered Vector "We need a way off and we need it now!"

"Vector, Espio has no idea where to look for a way off the rig so he could be on this search for hours." retorted Sonic "I don't think we'll last that long though."

"So you're saying we're dead then?" asked Ruben "That's it? You're giving up?"

"I'm not giving up, I'm just pointing out we can't keep this up forever." corrected Sonic "We'll be dead if we keep this up and even if we destroy this lot, Alonzo will probably send even more robots."

Then suddenly, the Mobians all heard something coming out from under the rig. They ran over to the side barrier and peered over it. What they saw was a sight they would never have expected to see in a million years. There was Espio, down on the water in a large pod shaped marine-craft. It was an emergency escape pod used for escapes should the rig be destroyed or something go horribly wrong and the occupants need to evacuate.

"I found an escape pod!" Espio called up to everyone "Get in before someone shoots at me!"

The only trouble was, the oil rig was high up and there was a guarantee that should the Mobians jump, they might miss the pod and land straight into the water and really hurt themselves. Ruben however had an idea. He summoned a wave of water and scooped Sonic up with it. The wave sloped down from the rig to the pod and Sonic slid down from the rig and into the pod. Vector and Charmy followed Sonic down to the pod but Ruben decided to do one last thing before escaping. The cannon drones and heavy units had finally caught up with them and the cannon drone fired at Ruben. Ruben caught the blast and threw it straight back at the drone. The blast destroyed the drone and the other robots found themselves being covered by smoke and fire. They couldn't see a thing so Ruben had the perfect chance to escape. He jumped off the rig and fired jets of water to slow down his fall. He landed into the pod and Espio closed the hatch. The escape pod sped away from the rig as fast as it could go. Sonic then remembered the detonators they had set up and he looked in the bag that Tails still had around his shoulder. He found the remote that activated the detonators and he pressed the activate button. The detonators that Tails had planted all over the oil rig went off all at once and the rig erupted into a colossal fireball that seemed to reach to the stars. Mecha Rouge had flown Alonzo off the rig before he could get caught in the explosion but the oil rig had been reduced to a fiery wreck of debris and shrapnel that floated around on the ocean waters. The fire that the oil rig had erupted in would be burning for a while. Alonzo looked over his shoulder as Mecha Rouge flew him away and he groaned to himself.

"I hate that hedgehog!" he bellowed "Oh my gosh! I sound just like my feeble headed master! Damn it!" he cursed.

Mecha Rouge ignored him and flew the butler bot back home to Robotropolis.

As for Sonic and friends, they had watched the oil rig explode and they were pleased to see that they had completed their mission. Sonic wiped his forehead and sighed heavily.

"I am NEVER going on an oil rig again!" he puffed "That was way too close!"

"At least we've stopped Eggman from getting anymore oil for his robots." noted Ruben "It would have been nicer if things went to plan though."

"I'm just glad that everybody made it off alive." said Sonic, looking at Tails who was still unconscious but he was breathing at last "When we get to shore, we need to get Tails and Charmy to the hospital."

"I don't need to go to the hospital!" protested Charmy.

"Yes you do Mr!" growled Vector "Your wing's in bad shape!"

Charmy fumed to himself but said nothing.

"I hope everything's alright at home." said Sonic "If not then I'm gonna be very mad right now!"

The escape pod continued cruising through the water the Mobians headed home for Mobotropolis. But they wouldn't be getting a welcome back greeting unfortunately…

Back in Mobotropolis, General Bostock and his right hand man Commander Mortimer had arrived at Royal HQ at long last. They parked their hover car beside the base and they armed themselves with a Tommy gun each. The two chipmunks tip-toed up to the doors of the base and they pressed themselves against it.

"OK Mortimer." whispered Bostock "We should expect hostile resistance from whatever it is that's attacking the base so keep your senses alert and you gun ready or we're toast. You got that?"

"Every word of it sir." said Mortimer, priming his Tommy gun.

"Excellent Commander." whispered Bostock "Now, on the count of three, we burst through the door and order the villains to surrender. Ready?"

"What a dumb question to ask, of course I'm ready Bostock!" scoffed Mortimer.

"Very well then." said Bostock, preparing to charge through the door "Three…two…one!"

The two chipmunks burst through the door and raised their guns, ready to blast the invaders. They didn't see anybody around though, the corridors were completely empty. They had a feeling the invader was either lying in wait for them or fighting Mandy in another room. The two chipmunks crept through the corridor as quietly as they could and they came across the lab. Bostock decided to check the lab first as when it came to hi-tech bases, the enemy often targeted the lab as the lab is a very important room for any base. Bostock burst into the lab and raised his Tommy gun. To his surprise, he saw Scourge the Hedgehog, Fiona Fox and Ginger the Fox all standing there with big grins on their faces. Bostock looked at them funny and Mortimer poked his head into the lab to see what was going on.

"Eh? Who are you three and where's Mandy?" asked Bostock, lowering his weapon.

"Oh Mandy's in good hands don't worry." lied Fiona "And in answer to your first question, I'm Fiona, this is Scourge and this is Ginger." she introduced, pointing to herself, to Scourge and Ginger as she said the names.

"Are you new recruits for the R.F.S.?" asked Mortimer.

"Well I wouldn't say new since I used to be one of you." said Fiona smoothly "And Scourge and Ginger aren't new recruits."

"If that's the case then what are you doing on R.F.S. property?"

demanded Bostock angrily "The rules of the service clearly state only members of the R.F.S. can access bases and labs and other places under the service."

"We're here to take over Mobotropolis." said Scourge, flipping his sunglasses over his eyes to make himself look darker and slightly eerie "We've just taken over the HQ and now we're going to move onto Castle Acorn."

"You what?" blustered Bostock, raising his weapon and itching to fire it "You can't do that! I'm gonna have to court martial you three for this!"

"I'm gonna take this moment to try and figure out what the hell "court martial" means." said Scourge in a sneering tone "While I'm at it though, I'm gonna give you the run down on what's going to happen here."

"The only thing that's going to happen around here is you three standing trial for trespassing on R.F.S. property!" bellowed Mortimer "Now stand down before we shower you all with bullets!"

"Heroes say the stupidest things don't they Scourge?" sneered Ginger.

"Not as stupid as the things you say fool." snapped Scourge "Now guys, before you start popping my guts full of lead, I've got an announcement."

Before he could say anything, there was a slight pounding noise coming from the closet in the corner of the lab. Bunnie had gotten to her feet and began pounding on the door with her shoulder. Bostock heard it and looked in the closet's direction.

"What was that?" he asked.

"Four fellow Royal Fighters." answered Fiona "Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson and Mandy are in that closet and they'll die unless you agree to Scourge's terms."

"Not on my watch!" yelled Bostock, pushing past Scourge and running to the closet.

He was about to unlock the door and wrench it open until he spotted something attached to the door. It was a red rectangular shaped object with a string attached between the wall and the edge of the door. The object had a skull and crossbones logo on it. Bostock let go of the handle and stared at the object. Scourge could see what Bostock was looking at and he grinned evilly.

"I see you've just worked out we've rigged the door." crowed Scourge "As you can see, there's a bomb attached to the door and the pull cord is stretched between the door and the wall. If you dare try to open that door, the cord pulls and…well, I guess you can imagine what gruesome event happens next general!"

He then proceeded to laugh like a maniac while Bostock stared at him in horror.

In the closet, Bunnie heard what Scourge had just said to Bostock and she was horrified to hear that.

"Yer not gonna believe this Geoff but Scourge has done rigged the door with a bomb!" she blurted to the skunk "We can't get outta here without blowing ourselves up!"

"The door's rigged?" cried Geoffrey "Blimey, that Scourge bloke's clever isn't he?"

"A lot cleverer then I though." muttered Wilson "Now how can we get out of here?"

"Hopefully Bostock and Mortimer will have a way." hoped Mandy "Otherwise we're stuck in here forever."

Outside the closet, Bostock pointed his gun at Scourge and prepared to shoot Scourge like mad.

"You let those poor souls go!" he bellowed "Trust me, you don't want me to pull the trigger to this thing!"

"And trust me, you don't wanna make me set off that bomb." Scourge snarled softly "If you two squares don't do as I command or make any attempts to break those losers out of the closet then I'll set off the bomb. You don't wanna be in the building when it goes off do ya?"

Bostock's arms began to tremble as he prepared to shoot Scourge. He could easily just shoot Scourge and end this charade right now but even then, Fiona or Ginger could possibly set off the bomb just before he could shoot them. Scourge scowled at Bostock and decided to confiscate his weapon. He zipped up to Bostock and snatched his Tommy gun. He then preceded to spin-dash it into pieces. Mortimer fired several rounds at Scourge but the supersonic hedgehog dodged the bullets with ease and charged into Mortimer. Mortimer was sent flying backwards into the wall and Scourge broke his weapon. Bostock and Mortimer were both weapon-less now. Scourge dusted off his hands and glared at Bostock.

"I'm giving you my last warning slob!" he growled "Give in to my demands or that bomb goes off! I mean it!"

Bostock stared helplessly at Scourge. He couldn't give in to a villain's demands but on the other hand, he had no choice. If he didn't do as Scourge said, the R.F.S. would lose some very valuable team members and Royal HQ would be destroyed. Royal HQ was too valuable and so were the captives so Bostock had no choice but to surrender. He raised his hands to show Scourge that he was surrendering.

"OK, we give." grumbled Bostock gruffly "What do you want?"

Scourge grinned like a demon at Bostock.

"You will go over to Castle Acorn and kill everybody in it." he hissed at them "And you'd better do so otherwise this base goes kaboom."

Bostock looked like he was about to erupt on the inside. Scourge wanted him to kill everybody in Castle Acorn? This hedgehog was one vile, malicious monster of a hedgehog wasn't he? Bostock definitely didn't want to do this but he had no choice. If he didn't cede to Scourge's demands, four brave-hearted heroes would lose their lives and Royal HQ would be gone. Even though he knew he was going to regret this, Bostock had to do it. He couldn't risk costing the lives of some fellow Royal Fighters.

"Very well Scourge." muttered Bostock "Me and Mortimer will see to it that Castle Acorn has no one alive in it."

"Good." snapped Scourge "Now get to it before I spin-dash your spines into bits!"

"How can we kill the residents of Castle Acorn if you've just broken our weapons?" demanded Mortimer.

"Arm yourselves with new weapons then you dolts!" snapped Scourge "Just get to the given task and get to it NOW!"

Bostock and Mortimer hurried out of the lab with Fiona following them. Fiona led them to the weapons storage room and let them choose a weapon. She had a remote that activated the bomb with her for in case Bostock and Mortimer attempted to mutiny against her and Scourge at the last possible second. Bostock and Mortimer armed themselves with hand held rotary cannons, a very heavy duty weapon that fired many rounds a second and could do a great deal of damage and they left the weapons storage room. The two chipmunks immediately ran out of Royal HQ and headed to Castle Acorn. Fiona watched them leave before returning to the lab to give Scourge the news.

"Those two idiots are on their way to Castle Acorn." reported Fiona "They're going to do what you've told them."

"Good, good, good." purred Scourge "This plan is working beautifully! Why didn't I ever do this plan in the first place? It's evil, diabolical and brilliant!"

"As brilliant as it is Scourge, I see a flaw in your plan." said Ginger "What if the chipmunk guys evacuate the residents of the castle without us knowing about it? They'll be able to trick us and the plan will be all for naught!"

"You didn't need to tell me that you moron because I already thought about that!" lied Scourge "Fiona can watch them on the lab's computers since she'll know how to work those things. I'm no good on a computer. If we catch them trying to deviate then we'll just push them back into place with a threat or two."

"Oh." said Ginger "You really are clever Scourge."

"I know! STOP BEING RHETORICAL!" bellowed Scourge at the top of his voice.

"Sorry!" squeaked Ginger.

Fiona immediately set herself on the lab's computers and she taped on the keyboard. The monitors displayed an image of the glorious Castle Acorn. Fiona then taped some more keys on the keyboard and the monitor displayed an image of what was going on inside of Castle Acorn. She then managed to get several screens to display, every screen showing a different room of Castle Acorn. The treacherous vixen smiled darkly at her success.

"Ha, ha! I've managed to hack into Castle Acorn's security cameras!" cheered Fiona "Now we can see what they're doing no matter what room they're in!"

"Good job Fi." applauded Scourge "Now that'll make those two do the mission against all haste. They'll kill the Castle Acorn residents, including that stupid queen Sally Acorn and they'll have to stand trial for it, and while that's happening, I will crown myself the new King of Mobotropolis and all of Mobius will bow beneath my feet!"

The captive fighters had heard everything from inside the closet and what they had heard only horrified them.

"I can't believe it!" cried Bunnie "Scourge is forcin' poor Bostock and Mortimer against their will to kill the people of Castle Acorn!"

"That Scourge is a devil!" shrieked Wilson "No wait, he's not a devil, he is THE devil! He's going to take over Castle Acorn and rule the world!"

"Well mates, I think this is it." muttered Geoffrey "I can't see anyway out of this one."

"We're bound in laser cuffs and locked in a closet that's rigged with a bomb so we can't escape." grumbled Mandy "Blue dude's away with Tails and Ruben and the Chaotix are helping them and we can't call Amy Rose while we're in here so we can't call for help. All we can do is hope Sonic can get back in time or the end of Castle Acorn is certain."

"Somehow, I doubt even Sonic can save us now." said Geoffrey glumly "Well how about that then mates? We survived the deadliest of Eggman robots and we get defeated by Sonic's brother. Well I guess Eggman's not that big a threat to us if a Mobian can get closer to victory then he can."

"Well at least that means Mobians are better then his species." said Mandy for no particular reason "It would have been better if it was a good Mobian proving that theory though."

"Ah agree sugah." said Bunnie "Ah liked it better when Eggman was the only villain we had to worry about."

"Well sadly, that isn't the case." said Wilson grimly "Our time is up and Scourge is going to become king of the world. What a way to go."

The others just exchanged sad, pitying glances. It seemed that all hope for them was gone and nothing could stop Scourge now. In a matter of moments, Scourge would be crowning himself king and Sonic would be too late to stop him…

Bostock and Mortimer arrived at Castle Acorn and sneaked inside without anybody seeing them. They closed the door behind themselves and looked around. They were in the giant hallway and Queen Sally didn't appear to be anywhere in sight. Nor did anyone else in the castle. It was just the two of them alone in the hallway together. Bostock then began talking to Mortimer rather quietly.

"Alright Mortimer, now we're out of Scourge's sight, we can worm our way out of this." said Bostock "We tell the Queen and her staff to evacuate the castle and we bring back fake evidence to suggest their deaths and once Scourge is fooled and the moment he lowers his guard, we kill him and rescue our trapped comrades."

"You are utterly brilliant Bostock but somehow, I doubt Scourge is stupid enough to fall for fake evidence." noted Mortimer "We'll have to work hard on it being convincing."

"Agreed." said Bostock "Trouble is, what can we use for fake evidence? Maybe when I search the rooms for the queen I'll find something."

The two chipmunks tip-toed through the hallway and headed for the staircase until Mortimer noticed something.

"Hey! That security camera up there's watching us!" he blurted, pointing up at the ceiling above the entrance to the room at the top of the staircase.

Bostock looked in Mortimer's direction and noticed a security camera mounted on the ceiling and it was pointing straight at them. Bostock stepped back down the stairs, watching the security camera as he backed away. Then Bostock ran to the right. The camera rotated and pointed at him. Bostock ran back to where he was before. The camera followed him. It was as if the security camera was watching his every movement and no matter where he went, the camera would follow him.

"I think Scourge is using the cameras to watch us." said Bostock grimly "He's on to us! He's making sure we do the task he's given us!"

"Well can't we just shoot all the cameras and stop him spying on us?" suggested Mortimer stupidly.

"Has your brain been consumed by a black hole?" snapped Bostock "If we take out the cameras, Scourge will realize what we're up to and he'll blow up Royal HQ and kill the captives! We have no choice but to do this repugnant mission or risk losing an important base and some good friends of ours."

"I am so going to regret this." muttered Mortimer priming his rotary cannon and readying it.

"I've never had something to regret so badly since the time I betrayed you all and sold you to the late Mistress of Darkness, AKA Marion Mouse." grumbled Bostock, loading his rotary cannon.

"My mind still heaves thinking about that." muttered Mortimer.

"You go found the Council of Acorn Mortimer, I'll deal with the Queen and her lady-in-waiting." ordered Bostock.

"Yes sir." said Mortimer "Let's pray someone will save us from having to do this." he added sadly as he ran down the staircase and ran off to another room.

Bostock nodded sorrowfully as he ran through a door and pounded down a corridor. He could feel his eyes burning with tears as he searched for Queen Sally Acorn and her lady-in-waiting Nicole the Lynx. He really didn't want to do the mission but he couldn't let Scourge kill some fellow fighters and blow up an important base so whether he liked it or not, he had to do it otherwise Scourge would kill the captive fighters.

Further down the corridor, Sally and Nicole were having a relaxing time in the lounge together. Sally was looking out of the window and watching the construction work going on a few feet away from the castle. New Mobotropolis was nearing completion and the new city was looking fabulous. It would be an excellent replacement for Old Mobotropolis which Dr. Eggman had completely destroyed and hopefully, it wouldn't get destroyed in the same way Old Mobotropolis did. Nicole could see what Sally was looking at and she got up from the comfortable chair she was sitting in and looked out of the window with her best friend.

"New Mobotropolis is looking good isn't it Sally?" she asked politely.

"It sure is Nicole." said Sally with a smile "I can't wait for it to be finished. I bet my parents would love to have seen New Mobotropolis completed." she added with a downhearted tone in her voice.

"I think they would have love it too Sally." said Nicole supportively "And I bet they'd love to see how well you're doing in their place."

"I know they would." said Sally "I just can't help missing them though. They shouldn't be dead* and I shouldn't be ruling New Mobotropolis, I should still be a princess and my parents should be ruling over New Mobotropolis while I patiently await my turn to rule. I wish that awful creature Marik the Martian didn't kill them though, they didn't deserve to be killed, especially by an alien creature that I've never heard about before."

Sally could feel herself beginning to well up. Despite being Queen for Mobotropolis now, Sally's self esteem hadn't been notoriously high. At times she'd feel confident in herself but other times, she'd get memories of Marik's savage murdering of her parents and she'd feel down on herself. Nicole had tried endlessly to raise Sally's spirit but her attempts were just in vain. Nicole didn't see much point in trying now since Sally would just shrug off her words of kindness.

"Nicole?" asked Sally "Do you think I'm not fit to be queen?"

"Do I think you're…why ever would you think something like that?" asked Nicole as if Sally had just asked her a daft question like 'Do apples have money inside them?'

"I mean, I try my hardest to follow my parent's footsteps but I just can't stop feeling like I shouldn't be in this position right now." explained Sally "I really feel like I'm too inexperienced and too young for this duty and I should probably stand down and let someone takeover my position."

"Sally, giving up like that is not a good example to set for your subjects." said Nicole sternly "If your parents were in your shoes, I don't think they'd relinquish their titles like that would they?"

"No, they'd stay strong no matter what." mumbled Sally.

"Exactly, so you should be strong, for them." said Nicole supportively "Please Sally, for me, promise you'll be strong for your parents and all your subjects. Promise?"

Sally looked at Nicole, the lynx looking back at her with huge pleading eyes. Whenever Nicole did those eyes, Sally couldn't help but succumb to her friend. This time, Sally didn't try to resist, she knew Nicole was right and the best thing to do would be to stay strong for her parents.

"OK Nicole. I promise." said Sally truthfully.

"Thank you Sally." said Nicole, giving her friend a hug "I knew you'd pull through eventually."

"I couldn't have done it without you Nicole." said Sally happily.

Their tender moment was rudely interrupted by the sound of a door being kicked open and in burst Bostock, armed with a rotary cannon and looked sorry for himself. Sally and Nicole jumped and they stared at the chipmunk in the combat fatigues and giant gun. He just glared at them.

"Hello General Bostock of Grand Metropolis." said Sally politely "What's the meaning of this?"

"I'm sorry to say this your majesty, but with great reluctance, I hereby discharge you from duty." said Bostock grimly.

He pointed the rotary cannon at Sally and pulled the trigger. Nicole immediately sprung into action as the cannon's barrel spun away and several rounds were fired at the squirrel queen. Sally and Nicole pressed themselves down on the floor as Bostock blindly began firing a dozen bullets at once. The bullets ripped through the walls and made holes in everything Bostock fired at. The chipmunk general was so blinded by grief and reluctance he wasn't really trying to aim at Sally and he was just firing at anything he liked. Bostock stopped firing the bullets and let Sally get to her feet.

"Bostock! I demand an explanation for this!" shouted Sally "Why are you trying to kill me?"

"I cannot explain." said Bostock feebly "He is watching us and if I don't do this task, they'll die."

"He?" asked Nicole "Who's "he" and what do you mean by "they"?"

Bostock ignored her. He pointed his weapon at the lynx and fired a dozen rounds. Nicole dropped down on the floor to dodge the blasts and she kicked a chair towards Bostock. The chair hit Bostock and knocked him over, causing him to drop his gun. Nicole grabbed the weapon quickly and threw it out of the window where it landed with a heavy crash on the ground and broke in two.

"Sally! Get out of here now!" ordered Nicole "I'll cover you!"

"You be careful Nicole!" cried Sally as she ran out of the room.

She charged down the corridor as fast as she possibly could whereas Nicole stayed with Bostock. Bostock threw the chair away and tried to run after Sally but Nicole abruptly locked the door, trapping herself in the lounge with Bostock.

"You will have to go through me first Bostock." she said coldly.

"So be it." said Bostock gruffly "I apologize for this but I have no choice. I am sorry Nicole, but I have to do this."

He then proceeded to slug Nicole very sharply in the stomach. The lynx wheezed loudly and she was brought down on her knees gasping and choking. She felt like someone had hit her with a purse full of bricks. Now Nicole had been subdued, Bostock flung the lynx onto her shoulder and unlocked the door. He let himself out of the lounge and ran down the corridor. He charged down the staircase and ran into Mortimer.

"Mortimer, did you find the council?" asked Bostock.

"Nope." said Mortimer "They're not here. I guess the council has a day off or something today. Why have you got the lady-in-waiting with you?" he added, pointing at Nicole who was draped over Bostock's shoulder "Scourge wants us to kill EVERYBODY in Castle Acorn so we have to kill Nicole as well."

"Scourge?" wheezed Nicole "You mean he's making you do this?"

"I'll let him explain everything to you dear." said Bostock. He turned back to Mortimer and said "I'm taking Nicole because the Queen has escaped and hopefully, she'll be able to tell us where he is."

"I see." said Mortimer "I hope Scourge won't kill us for this."

Bostock nodded and carried Nicole out of Castle Acorn and to Royal HQ with Mortimer following him. Sally had not left Castle Acorn like Nicole had told her to, instead she had hidden around the corner and watched to see what was going on. She watched Bostock carry Nicole to Royal HQ and waited until Bostock and Mortimer had gone inside. The moment the chipmunks went inside, Sally ran over to Royal HQ and crept inside. She crept down to the lab and dropped down on the floor next to the door. She listened out as Bostock and Mortimer dropped the still winded Nicole on the floor at Scourge's feet. Scourge was not happy to see that Bostock had just brought a resident of Castle Acorn to him.

"You morons!" he bellowed "I told you to kill everybody in Castle Acorn! Not bring the lady-in-waiting to me! Did I fail to give you the details clearly enough?"

"We're sorry Scourge but…" began Mortimer.

"Do you want Scourge to blow up Royal HQ and kill Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson and Mandy?" asked Fiona coldly "Because it seems like it."

"We've…we've brought her here for a reason Scourge." reported Bostock "I tried to kill the Queen but Nicole distracted me and told her to run somewhere. I thought it would be best to bring her to you and make her tell you where she's told Sally to run to."

"Really?" purred Scourge, clearly happy at the thought of making someone talk "In that case, I think an interrogation is in hand for the lynx here." he said sadistically.

Nicole stared in fright at Scourge and her ears drooped back in fear.

"P-please Scourge, I-I don't know where S-Sally is." she said truthfully "I told her to run for her life so she could be a-a-anywhere."

"We'll see about that babe." sneered Scourge "Fiona, tie the brat up, Ginger, get me a couple of tasers. I'll make this lynx talk if it's the last thing I do!"

Fiona obeyed and grabbed Nicole by the arms and hauled her onto her feet whereas Ginger ran out of the lab and into the storage room to get two tasers. Sally could see that she had to flee for it before she got caught. She got to her feet, ran out of Royal HQ and ran for her life.

"I can't believe it." she said to herself as she ran as fast as she could through New Mobotropolis and into the grassy meadows that surrounded it "Scourge has taken over Royal HQ, Ginger's with him, Fiona appears to be a traitor, they've taken over Royal HQ, forced Bostock and Mortimer to work for them and now they're going to torture poor Nicole over something she doesn't know! I need to get some help and fast! But Sonic, Tails and Ruben are not back from the oil rig mission yet and four of the best fighters are captives! Maybe Amy Rose and he friends Cream and Cosmo can help." she thought "Yes, I'll call them! They're all I've got left!"

Luckily, Sally knew where Amy lived so she headed to Knothole Village to get the hammer swinging heroine. If Amy, Cream and Cosmo couldn't stop Scourge then they'd have to wait for Sonic to come home and even then, he'd probably be too late to do anything…

HQ Heist Part 4

Story 67: HQ Heist Part 4: Taking Back The Base

Scourge the Hedgehog watched with creepy satisfaction as Fiona Fox snapped a pair of hands cuffs on Nicole the Lynx's wrist. She snapped one cuff on Nicole's wrist, raised her arm over her head and attached the other cuff to a bar attached to the wall. Fiona then proceeded to do the same to Nicole's other arm. Nicole was now handcuffed by her arms to the wall and unable to get free. Bostock and Mortimer watched with pity as poor Nicole was bound up like that and waiting interrogation. The lynx looked terrified and seeing her frightened face made Bostock and Mortimer feel really bad about themselves for bringing her to Scourge.

"Is this really necessary?" asked Bostock gruffly.

"The best way to make somebody talk is to hurt them." snapped Scourge "How else can I make the lady-in-waiting talk? Ask her nicely? You can't get information out of people just by asking them, they're not gonna be stupid enough to tell you what you want! Unless they're weak willed of course but I doubt lynx girl will be willing to tell me where the Queen is."

"I can't tell you where Sally is because I have no idea." said Nicole truthfully "Please un-cuff me."

"I will once you've told me what I want to know toots." said Scourge dryly.

"I swear upon my soul it's the truth!" cried Nicole desperately "I only told Sally to run for her life! She could be anywhere by now!"

"And you're going to tell us where she is!" yelled Scourge, jamming his face into Nicole's in order to scare her "Where is that Ginger with the tasers I required?" he yelled again.

"I'm here Scourge! Calm down!" yelled Ginger the Fox, running quickly into the lab with a taser in each hand.

He'd had a hard time finding the tasers but he'd finally found them. He threw the tasers to Scourge and Scourge passed them over to Fiona. Fiona looked at the tasers wondering why Scourge gave them to her.

"Why are you giving me the tasers?" asked Fiona.

"Because I'm letting you zap the poor lynx with them." said Scourge with a creepy grin on his face.

"OK then." said Fiona "You just tell me when to do it and then when to stop."

"Whatever." said Scourge "OK lynx girl…"

"My name is Nicole." interrupted Nicole crossly "Please use it."

"OK, Nicole!" repeated Scourge, using Nicole's name this time "I'm going to ask you really nicely now, where is Queen Sally?"

"How many times do I have to say it?" grumbled Nicole "I don't know! Do you not understand the meaning of those words?"

"I do Nics and do you understand the meaning of these words: I'm not buying your bad act toots?" snapped Scourge "Fiona, taser her!"

Fiona obeyed and pressed the two tasers against Nicole's tummy. She turned them on and Nicole was zapped by a very painful electric shock from the two tasers. Nicole screamed at the top of her voice as electricity surged up her tummy. Her screams could even be heard by the captive Mobians in the bomb-rigged closet. Geoffrey St. John the Skunk had been listening to what was going on outside and what he was hearing wasn't very pleasant.

"I can't believe this! They're torturing poor Nicole!" reported Geoffrey.

"That Scourge has no heart hasn't he?" shrieked Wilson the Dog "How could anyone hurt that kind-hearted lynx?"

"Why are they torturing her?" asked Mandy Mouse.

"Scourge seems to have an idea that Nicole knows where Sally Acorn's hiding." explained Geoffrey "Nicole claims to have told her to run for it so she doesn't know where the Queen is. I believe her but Scourge doesn't seem to be in the mood for believing poor Nicole."

"If ah wasn't trapped in this closet ah would be whopping Scourge's ugly butt into Spagonia right now!" yelled Bunnie Rabbot "That devil-hog deserves a good beating for what he's done to us and poor Nicole!"

"We wouldn't be trapped in this closet if it wasn't rigged with a bomb." muttered Mandy "Oh how I wish blue dude was here right now! Why did he have to be away at the same time Scourge had to take-over Royal HQ?"

"Well nobody knew this was going to happen did they?" said Wilson grimly "Scourge just by sheer coincidence picked a good time to unfurl his plan. And it's a really good plan too because it's actually working."

"Ah hope Queen Sally Acorn's gettin' some help right now." said Bunnie softly "We really need some help right now."

Outside the closet, Scourge had told Fiona to stop what she was doing and the vixen stopped zapping Nicole with the tasers. She held the tasers away from Nicole and waited for Scourge to tell her to use them again. Nicole gasped and spluttered for breath. Her tummy felt like someone had shoved a million needles into it due to how much the tasers hurt. Scourge then grabbed Nicole's ears and yanked on them sharply. Nicole fought hard to avoid giving Scourge the satisfaction of hearing her scream. Scourge let go of Nicole's ears and then grabbed her face.

"Nicole, when I want the location of Queen Sally, I want it!" shouted Scourge "Now tell me where the Queen's hiding and you'll save yourself a lot of pain!"

"I keep telling you, I have no idea!" said Nicole hoarsely "Why won't you believe me?"

"Because you must think I'm bone-headed if you think I'm going to believe you!" snapped Scourge "If you told Sally to run for it before the chipmunk guys could get her then you must know where she is!"

"How can I possibly know where Sally is if I just told her to run for it?" retorted Nicole.

Scourge was about to argue back until he suddenly realized that Nicole was right. Regardless, he still wasn't willing to believe her, he was too stubborn for that.

"Fiona, taser her again!" ordered Scourge.

"No! Please! Not again!" whimpered Nicole, tugging desperately on her handcuffs.

Fiona ignored the lynx and zapped her again with the tasers. Nicole screamed loudly once again as the tasers painfully shocked her tummy. Bostock and Mortimer looked at each other, wishing they could do something about the situation.

"I can't bear to watch Nicole getting tortured." said Bostock with sympathy "I'm out of here."

"Same here." said Mortimer.

The two chipmunks ran out of the lab in order to get away from the horrible scene before them. Scourge raised his hand as a sign of telling Fiona to stop and the vixen did as she was told. She stopped zapping Nicole and the lynx stopped screaming in pain. The lynx stared down at the floor, panting and gasping.

"For the last time, WHERE IS QUEEN SALLY?" bellowed Scourge, making sure he yelled loud enough to hurt Nicole's long sensitive ears.

Nicole just remained silent and kicked Scourge in the stomach. Scourge doubled over and spluttered hoarsely. Nicole was quite a good kicker and Scourge didn't take long to figure that out after such a powerful kick. Scourge glared at Nicole whereas Nicole glared back. The lynx wasn't afraid to stand up to the supersonic bad guy at all. Scourge just turned his back on Nicole and walked away.

"Make her talk Fiona. Whatever it takes." he hissed at her.

Fiona nodded and switched on the tasers. Nicole decided it would be futile to resist so she just let Fiona zap her once again. Nicole wouldn't talk because she had no idea where Sally could possibly be. She just hoped Scourge would finally get the message although it didn't seem likely given his obstinate nature…

Meanwhile, Sonic the Hedgehog and friends had finally made it back to shore after their near death experience on the oil rig and they had run all the way through Kingdom Valley and back to Mobotropolis. It had been a long run but they all eventually made it back to Mobotropolis. They all arrived at the under construction New Mobotropolis. Sonic stretched and sighed happily.

"I can't tell ya how good it is to be back on solid ground again." said Sonic, tapping the ground with his foot "Can't stand being around so much water you know."

"Yeah, just a pity not everybody's in good condition." said Ruben the Water Panther, noting that Tails, Sonic's best friend and mechanic, was still unconscious after being hit by a cannon blast back on the rig.

"Should we take Tails and Charmy to the hospital?" asked Vector the Crocodile, leader of Team Chaotix.

"I don't need to go to the hospital!" moaned Charmy Bee, the Team Chaotix youngster who had gotten his wings shot by a robot back on the rig.

"Yes you do and that's final!" yelled Vector angrily.

"Tails needs medical attention and he needs it desperately." said Ruben, feeling the unconscious fox's pulse "His heartbeat is getting weaker and weaker."

"In that case, you take Tails to the hospital and take care of him for me." ordered Sonic "Vector, you take Charmy. Espio, you go with them if you want."

"If it's alright with you Sonic I'd like to stay here and report to the Council of Acorn about our mission on the oil rig." said Espio.

"OK then." said Sonic "The Council needs to know on your involvement with the mission and how you saved us all from drowning and managed to get us off the oil rig."

With that said, Ruben and Vector left, the crocodile carrying Tails and Charmy in each arm and they left for Empire City, the nearest city to Mobotropolis since New Mobotropolis hadn't been completed yet and there wasn't a hospital ready yet. The moment Vector and Ruben left with Charmy and Tails, Sonic and Espio headed off to Castle Acorn.

"I wonder what Queen Sally's gonna think about our success in disabling that oil rig?" wondered Sonic.

"I bet she'll be most pleased with us." said Espio "She always is when we have good news to deliver."

Before Sonic and Espio could arrive at Castle Acorn however, they heard the sound of feet pounding through the grass towards them. Sonic and Espio turned to their left and saw Queen Sally Acorn running towards them with Amy Rose, Sonic's biggest fan and hammer swinger, Cream the Rabbit, Amy's best friend and overly polite cutie and Cosmo the Seedrian, Tails' leafy extra-terrestrial girlfriend following her. They all looked frantic and like something bad was going on and that made Sonic wonder what was the matter.

"Hey girls, what's the occasion?" asked Sonic hastily "You having a slumber party or something?"

"God I wish." muttered Amy, summoning her trademark Piko-Piko Hammer to her hands.

"Sonic, I'm so glad you're back at last!" blustered Sally, brushing her hair out from over her eyes "You'll not believe what's happened here while you were gone!"

"What's going on like?" asked Sonic, fearing what the news was.

"According to Miss Sally, your nasty brother Scourge has taken over Royal HQ!" squeaked Cream.

"And he's holding Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson and Mandy hostage!" added Cosmo.

"Scourge…what?" blurted Sonic "He's holding…what?"

The shock he'd just received from the news the girls had just given him was enough to knock him over with a feather. Even Espio was shocked at what had happened. He remembered Scourge all too well from the time he, Vector and Charmy almost caused Sonic and Tails to spontaneously combust in Spagonia*. Sonic snapped out of his shocked state and managed to speak properly.

"So Scourge has taken over Royal HQ and is holding four of my friends hostage?" asked Sonic, making sure he got the details right.

"That's right." said Sally "And that's not all. Fiona Fox has joined Scourge, Ginger's with him right now, they've got Bostock and Mortimer to do their bidding and they're torturing poor Nicole to try and make her reveal my whereabouts!"

"What? That's mondo un-cool!" shouted Sonic "Scourge is going down for this! As for Fiona, I'll make sure she regrets betraying us like this!"

"Who's Fiona?" asked Amy, hoping Fiona wouldn't turn out to be some old flame of Sonic's or something like that.

"Former Royal Fighter." said Sonic bluntly "She quitted the service because she was always getting caught and she felt like she was useless. I didn't think she'd betray us and join Scourge though. Since she's a traitor though, I'm gonna have to kick her butt for it. Let's go over to Royal HQ, kick Scourge's butt out of the base and save our friends!"

"Sonic, we can't just barge into Royal HQ!" shrieked Sally "Scourge has five potential hostages, seven even, if he wants to include Bostock and Mortimer that is! The odds are against us here! If we try to save everybody, Scourge will kill them all!"

"In that case, we need a plan." thought Sonic with a finger to his lips

"We need to save the hostages in order to attack Scourge without any hinders. One of us may have to distract Scourge while someone else frees the hostages."

"I'll be the distraction." volunteered Espio, bowing nobly "I'll turn invisible and attack him from behind. He'll think someone's trying to attack him and he'll look for me. While he does that, you all can save the hostages and we can save Royal HQ from Scourge's evil grasp."

"Espio, this plan may just work." said Sally "It's a little risky but it's a risk we've gotta take if we wanna stop Scourge from taking over the entire R.F.S."

"We'll wait outside the headquarters and you call for us when you're ready." said Sonic, cracking his knuckles and smiling heroically "I am so looking forward to kicking Scourge's butt once again!"

"Hopefully after you kick Scourge's butt, you can haul him back to jail and hopefully he'll STAY there!" declared Amy, twirling her hammer around.

"Amy, don't twirl your hammer around." said Sonic with his hands up defensively "You make me nervous."

"Can I twirl it in front of Scourge?" asked Amy.

"Do you even need to ask?" laughed Sonic. He then turned to Espio and said "Good luck in there buddy."

"Thank you Sonic." said Espio "Let us hope we can beat Scourge this time."

Espio then proceeded to turn invisible. He walked off to Royal HQ with everybody following the sound of his footsteps. They all arrived at the headquarters and Espio sneaked quietly through the door. To anyone watching, it would have looked like the door had just opened and closed all by itself. Sonic and the girls just remained outside and lay low, waiting for Espio to signal them to come in and battle Scourge. Sonic was looking forward to this match, he just hoped he'd be able to beat him this time…

In the lab of Royal HQ, Nicole's pained screams died down as Fiona finished shocking her yet again with the twin tasers she had been given. Nicole looked terrible. Her tummy was slightly singed and blackened from the constant shocking and she seemed to have great trouble keeping her head up and her eyes open. If she wasn't handcuffed to the wall by her arms she would have slumped onto the floor against the wall right now. Fiona appeared to be getting ticked off right now. She had been shocking Nicole for ten minutes and the lynx still refused to talk. Fiona threw the tasers angrily onto the floor and she grabbed Nicole by the neck, just about throttling her. She shook her head furiously while screaming at her.

"What do I have to do to make you crack long ears?" she yelled "Will you tell me where the Queen is or do I have to push this interrogation to an even more painful stage?"

She stopped shaking Nicole's head and gave the lynx a moment to breathe. Nicole raised her head, seemingly struggling to do so, and looked at Fiona with tears in her eyes.

"Fiona…please…" she sobbed feebly, struggling to speak clearly "I…don't know….where Sally is…Please…stop hurting…me…I can't…tell…you anything!"

Fiona looked at the snivelling lynx and she put a finger to her lips. She thought for a moment and decided that Nicole wasn't worth her time anymore. Fiona turned away and left the bound up lynx to cry to herself and she wondered over to Scourge and Ginger, who appeared to be leafing through the Royal Fighters Service's personal records on the computer monitors. Scourge had decided to see if he could find any weaknesses in the Royal Fighters and use them against them. Scourge and Ginger seemed to be amused at what they had learnt about the fighters.

"So the dog in the closet, Wilson by name, is a bit of a skitter bug is he?" chortled Scourge "That's helpful, I know how to beat him swiftly then! I find it odd how he's in love with the mouse girl, Mandy her name is apparently. A dog and a mouse is an odd pair isn't it? Still, that could be helpful too."

"Especially in an interrogation." said Ginger sadistically "I'm thrilled to find out that Tails is afraid of ghosts and thunder! When Halloween comes, I'll give him a good spook or two!"

"Sonic's lame twin-tailed friend is afraid of ghosts?" snorted Scourge "What a baby! Ghosts aren't real! And I already knew about his fear of thunder after the time I nearly killed him and Sonic in Spagonia."

"Really?" said Ginger "Pity you never told me, I could have used this easily to get my own back on my dweeby mistake of a cousin!"

"Ginger, is Tails really all you're bothered about?" scoffed Scourge "You don't hold grudges on many people do ya? I have a grudge on just about anyone who's against me, Sonic being the main one."

"Ahem. Excuse me a minute." interrupted Fiona politely.

"What is it babes? I'm busy!" snapped Scourge.

"I've zapped that weak-bodied lynx Nicole for ten minutes straight and she still won't crack." reported Fiona "I don't mean to sound supportive of her but, I'm actually convinced she doesn't know anything. Anyone in her position would have cracked by now but Nicole won't talk and when she does she just tells me the same thing over and over, she doesn't know where the queen is and she can't tell us anything."

Scourge frowned at Fiona's report but decided not to do anything about it since Nicole was just getting them nowhere.

"So what if Nicole doesn't know where Sally is?" grumbled Scourge "If we can't get Nicole to lead us to Sally then we'll have to get Nicole to lead Sally to us. We'll hold her ransom and demand for the queen to come and surrender herself to us or Nicole will die."

"Good idea Scourge." said Fiona "Should I stuff her in the closet with the others?"

"Nah, leave her where she is." said Scourge "I like her like that." he added with a sinister grin, suggesting he had a demonic fondness of seeing bound up women.

Nicole had unfortunately heard everything and she was not pleased to hear that she was going to be used as bait to draw Sally out. Why ever did she have to get kidnapped by Bostock? If she'd managed to fend off the chipmunk general then none of this would have happened! As Scourge continued researching about the Royal Fighters, the invisible Espio had crept into the lab as silently as he could and he took note of his surroundings. He saw Nicole cuffed to the wall and he saw the closet in the corner of the lab rigged with what was supposedly a bomb. Espio guessed that Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson and Mandy were in the closet, there was no other reason for the closet to be rigged with a bomb. He had to get Scourge out of the room and disable the bomb and get everybody out. And he had a cunning plan. Scourge stopped researching and he strode away from the computer monitors. Ginger followed him for no particular reason and Scourge strode up to the barely conscious Nicole. The lynx kept her head lowered and her gaze fixed onto the floor. Scourge made sure he was a good few steps away from Nicole so the lynx couldn't kick him again.

"Well Nics, since you can't tell me where Sally is, I'll have to get Sally to come to you." he said "I'm pretty sure she'll happily come out of hiding just to save someone as pretty as you. You are a good friend of hers according to your profile on the computer monitors so you'll be perfect bait for that foolish queen."

Nicole just kept her mouth closed and decided not to speak, she felt it was best not to. Espio, still invisible, crept up behind Scourge and punched the green hedgehog in the back of the head. Scourge was so startled he almost fell over. He held his hands out and they hit the floor, stopping him from falling on his face. Nicole wondered why Scourge had just seemingly flung himself onto the floor. Scourge straightened himself up and turned around sharply. Ginger was standing behind him and he appeared to be admiring his gloves for some reason. Scourge glared at Ginger. He thought the fox had punched him so he decided to get his own back.

"Hey! Dork!" he yelled at the ginger furred fox.

"You talkin' to me?" asked Ginger, looking up from his hands.

"Yes I am runt!" snapped Scourge "Why the hell did you just punch me?"

"I most certainly did not punch you at all!" retorted Ginger "I would rather smile and wave at my overrated cousin then punch you!"

"Well you're the only one standing behind me so you must have punched me!" bellowed Scourge "I couldn't have just been punched by thin air!"

Scourge then proceeded to sock Ginger in the face. Nicole's face tensed up and she made a hissing "Oooh!" noise as if thinking "Boy that's gotta hurt!" and imagining Scourge punching her like that. Ginger lay on the floor staring up at the ceiling and rubbing his throbbing face. Scourge turned back to Nicole and cleared his throat.

"Now where was I Nicky? Oh yes." he said "Once I kill Queen Sally and become King of Mobius, I'll personally make you my slave girl…"

Espio thumped Scourge in the back of the head on again. Scourge ended up falling on his face and landing in front of Nicole's feet. Scourge found himself staring at Nicole's feet for a moment before picking himself up and scowling at Ginger again.

"Stop thumping me you disloyal ninny hammered twit!" he roared at Ginger.

"Stop blaming me for these mysterious attacks!" shouted Ginger "I'm not punching you at all!"

"Fiona! Is Ginger attacking me from behind?" demanded Scourge furiously.

"I'd love to say yes but that'd be a lie." said Fiona "I was watching closely when you got punched the second time and Ginger was nowhere near you. Something punched you but I couldn't see anybody. I think there's an invisible person in here."

Just as she said the last part of the sentence, the invisible Espio sneaked up to Fiona and tripped the vixen up. Fiona screamed as her legs suddenly ended up flying up in the air and she fell on the floor with a thud. Scourge stared in utter astonishment at what just happened. He clearly saw that Fiona had been tripped up by thin air. There clearly was an invisible person in the lab.

"Fiona? Ginger? I think there's an invisible man in here!" squeaked Scourge "And I think it wants us outta here!"

Ginger suddenly found himself being kicked from behind by an invisible Espio and to add insult to injury, Espio grabbed Ginger's twin tails and he spun Ginger around and around in a circle. To Scourge and Fiona, it looked like Ginger was being twirled around by thin air. Espio let go of Ginger and the fox landed with a slam into the wall. Ginger slid down the wall and slumped on the floor. He groaned like a zombie. Scourge began to get nervous. There was clearly an invisible man in here and he hadn't had any experience in dealing with invisible opponents so he was completely unprepared for Espio's attacks. Regardless, Scourge didn't know what the word fear meant (he actually does, he's too stubborn to admit it) so he raised his fists challengingly and yelled.

"Hey invisible guy! Show yourself you limey coward!" he roared "Only a coward uses invisibility to win his battles!"

Espio ignored Scourge and grabbed the hedgehog by the collar of his jacket. The ninja chameleon threw Scourge straight into the wall and the green hedgehog crashed into it head first, smashing his sunglasses in the process. Scourge picked himself up only to get slugged in the stomach by Espio. Nicole had been watching the whole kerfumble with wonder as to her; it looked like Scourge was getting beaten up by thin air. Scourge lay on the floor clutching his stomach and Espio then proceeded to yank on Scourge's quills. Unfortunately, Fiona had an idea on how to find Espio. She watched as the invisible chameleon yanked on Scourge's quills and she lunged out in a flying kick. She hit Espio in the head and the chameleon was sent hurling into the wall. That attack caused Espio to turn visible. Scourge picked himself up and saw Espio, lying near the door rubbing his head. Scourge's blood boiled like a stew in a witch's cauldron.

"YOU!" he bellowed "You're one of the guys that foiled my attempt on Sonic's life in Spagonia!"

"Yes, Yes I was." said Espio coldly "And now I am going to foil your attempt to take over the kingdom."

"Oh are ya?" sneered Scourge "I doubt that! I'll make chameleon soup outta ya when I'm through with you!"

"Sonic! NOW!" yelled Espio, poking his head out of the door and yelling down the corridor.

Sonic and the girls heard the message and they burst into Royal HQ immediately. They ran into the lab and they glared angrily at Scourge, Fiona and Ginger. Bostock and Mortimer had seen them come in and they were thrilled to bits to see help had finally arrived. Even Nicole's face brightened at the sight of Sonic and her friend Sally Acorn. Sonic folded his arms and smirked at Scourge.

"Hi Scourge! Am I interrupting anything?" sneered Sonic.

"Sonic, you showed up at last brother!" snorted Scourge "Good thing too, I was beginning to worry about you. I was worried that something terrible had happened to you and you wouldn't be coming to watch me take over Mobius."

"My heart bleeds for you." scoffed Sonic "Now get your ugly mug out of Royal HQ now and things won't get unpleasant!"

"Especially for you!" added Sally, pointing sharply at Scourge "I can't begin to describe what punishments the Council of Acorn will come up with for you, you vile devil-hog!"

"Cute." sniffed Scourge sarcastically "I have an announcement though. I have four of your friends locked up in that closet over there." he said, pointing to the closet in the corner of the lab.

Sonic spotted it and he zipped over to the closer before anyone could blink. Sonic was about to open the door and free everybody until he noticed the bomb attached to the door with the string stretched over the gap between the door and the wall. Sonic instantly managed to work out it was a bomb and he stepped back from the door.

"As you can see, the closet is rigged with a bomb." crowed Scourge

"If you dare try to open the door and save your friends, the bomb will go off and kill you all. And it'll destroy Royal HQ but that doesn't matter to you does it?"

"You're one sick twisted hedgehog Scourge!" yelled Sonic "I find it impossible to believe I'm related to you!"

"And I find it impossible to believe I'm related to you!" retorted Scourge "Now stand down and surrender or Fiona will set the bomb off!"

With that said, Fiona showed everybody the remote control for the bomb in her hand. Amy saw it and tried to hammer Fiona and steal the remote but Fiona made her stand back by threatening to press the button.

"Stand down sugar-girl!" she warned "Or the bomb goes off!"

Amy stayed where she was and she lowered her hammer. Sonic folded his arms and glared at Fiona.

"So why did you decided to betray us then Fiona?" he demanded angrily "I thought you were better then this!"

"I betrayed you because being good got me nowhere!" snapped Fiona "I defer to the dark side and look where I am now! I'm on the winning side and soon to become Queen Fiona, assistant ruler to King Scourge of Mobius! Scourge offers me power and glory! What do you losers offer me? Nothing! Nothing at all that's what! And don't you dare try to get me to change my mind because it won't work Sonic! I sucked as a hero and all it did was cause me grief and misery I am never going back to that sad, miserable life I once had!"

"Wow, you really are a miserable, misled wreck aren't you?" sniffed Amy "No wonder Sonic never talked about you before."

Fiona decided to ignore Amy's insult as Amy wasn't worth it.

"So Sonic, are you going to stand down or do I get to blow this dump up?" asked Fiona threateningly.

"Do I get to choose neither?" asked Sonic.

Before Fiona could retort to him, Sonic suddenly yelled "Oh Espio!"

Fiona pulled a face at Sonic, wondering what was going on and before she could find out, an invisible Espio kicked her from behind, knocking the vixen into the floor and he snatched the remote. Espio turned visible and broke the remote in front of Fiona's face with one fell ninja style chop. The remote collapsed onto the ground in pieces.

"No!" screamed Fiona.

"Yes Fiona, you can't set the bomb off now." sneered Sonic "Now if you'll excuse me," he said, zipping off towards the closet "I'll be getting everybody out of the closet now."

Unfortunately, he didn't make it for Scourge had run after him and had rammed him into the wall. Sonic crashed into the wall and fell onto the ground, groaning to himself in pain.

"At the end of this day, you'll be joining everybody in the closet!" yelled Scourge, seizing Sonic by his quills and lifting him up by them.

He threw Sonic against the wall and pinned him there by his throat. Scourge was going to attempt to throttle Sonic to death now. Fortunately for Sonic, Bostock and Mortimer burst in and decided to interfere with Scourge's plans. Mortimer pointed his rotary gun at Scourge and yelled at him.

"Release Sonic or you get a back full of bullets!" he ordered.

Scourge grumbled under his breath. He should have known that Bostock and Mortimer would mutiny against him at the first available opportunity but somehow, he failed to see that coming. Regardless, Scourge wasn't willing to let a guy armed with a gun beat him so Scourge let go of Sonic, turned around and spin-dashed Mortimer in the gut before Mortimer could even get ready to pull the trigger. Scourge was as fast as Sonic after all. Mortimer hurtled backwards and crashed just inches in front of a wall. Mortimer picked himself up only to get spin-dashed by Scourge again. His weapon was in the way so Scourge ended up breaking the huge rotary gun into pieces, leaving Mortimer weapon-less now. The chipmunk commander wasn't pleased to be weapon-less so he tried to attack Scourge by punching him but Scourge grabbed Mortimer's arm and swung him over onto his back. Mortimer tensed up as a sharp flood of pain surged through his back. Sonic's first reaction as to spin-dash Scourge in the gut and knock him off of Mortimer. Scourge retaliated by spin-dashing Sonic back. Fiona and Ginger tried to step in and help Scourge but Espio threw some shuriken at the foxes to keep them back. Fiona and Ginger stopped what they were doing and ran away as the sharp, deadly ninja stars hurled towards them and tried to slash them. Sally Acorn ran over to the bound up Nicole and set to trying to free the lynx. Unfortunately, the handcuffs were too tough for Sally to break and they needed a key to open them so Sally couldn't free Nicole. Espio could see that Sally needed help freeing Nicole so he threw a shuriken at the chain in between the handcuffs. The shuriken broke the chain on the handcuffs holding Nicole's right arm to the bar on the wall, freeing the lynx's right arm. Espio proceeded to do the same to the other pair of handcuffs, freeing Nicole's left arm as well. Nicole was pleased to be free at last and she rubbed her wrists tenderly to ease the pain better. Nicole was still pained from her torture though and Sally could sense that by how Nicole seemed to be trying really hard to stay standing up.

"Nicole, are you alright?" asked Sally concernedly.

"I'm…I'm OK Sally." said Nicole weakly "Just a little weak from being zapped in the stomach by a taser for ten minutes straight."

"I can't believe Scourge was heartless enough to do that to you Nicole!" blurted Sally "You shouldn't have had to suffer like that! I'm so sorry I couldn't help you!"

"Sally, you and I both know I'm the only one who can fight out of us two so you couldn't do anything about it anyway." said Nicole "But thanks for getting back up to come and save me and get Royal HQ back."

"You're welcome Nicole." said Sally with a smile "I'm just glad Sonic finally made it back from his mission on the oil rig or we would never get Royal HQ back. I wonder where Tails and Ruben are."

"I'm sure Sonic can explain it to us later." said Nicole "Right now, I think we should leave, this is no place for us two."

"No Nicole, we're staying here and helping Sonic." said Sally "I wish to get my own back on Scourge for trying to usurp me once again."

"OK Sally." said Nicole "We'll stand and fight then."

"How cute, the Royals are getting their royal hands dirty!" sneered Fiona, kicking Sally in the back and knocking her over "Oh well, that just means Scourge gets to beat the royals up as well!"

"You leave the Queen alone Fiona!" yelled Nicole, elbowing the vixen in the gut.

Fiona doubled over in pain, amazed as to how powerful that elbow in the gut from Nicole was. Before Fiona could recover, Nicole socked the fox in the face and then proceeded to grab her by the arm and toss her over onto her back. Ginger tried to help Fiona but Nicole gave Ginger an uppercut to the chin and the ginger furred fox fell over onto his back. Ginger picked himself up and tried to attack Nicole but Nicole put a hand on Ginger's shoulder and kneed him in the gut. Ginger wheezed loudly and he slumped on the floor, clutching his aching belly. Fiona got back to her feet and tried to attack Nicole by leaping at her with her foot stretched out to kick but Nicole smacked Fiona's foot, causing the fox to flip over backwards and land on her front on the floor. Despite Nicole's best efforts, she wouldn't be able to keep it up as she was weakened from the taser torture earlier. The lynx fell down on one knee and panted. Fiona picked herself up and was pleased to see Nicole had succumbed to them. Fiona ran up to Nicole, ready to let her have it but Sally kicked the vixen from the side and sent her skidding across the floor. Sally helped Nicole back to her feet and they wondered off into a corner to stay out of the battle. Fiona and Ginger tried to attack them but Espio grabbed their tails and threw them both into the wall. Espio decided it would be best that he fought Fiona and Ginger for the time being since Sonic, Team Rose and the two chipmunks were busy with Scourge. Fiona and Ginger tried once again to attack Sally and Nicole but Espio stepped in and let them have it with his ninjutsu skills. He gave Fiona and upwards chop and he walloped Ginger in the face with a sideways chop. Fiona kicked Espio in the back and then yanked on his tail. Espio kicked Fiona in the legs, tripping her up and bringing her down on the floor. Ginger punched at Espio but Espio dodged the attack and then smacked Ginger in the face with a ninja-style punch. Espio then proceeded to kick Ginger in the legs, elbow him in the back and then throw him into the wall. Fiona tackled Espio from the back and punched him in the face. Espio punched Fiona back and then drew out a dagger and pointed it at Fiona's throat. Fiona instantly raised her hands and stood down. Unfortunately, Ginger tried to distract Espio by attacking him from behind. Espio heard Ginger coming so he leaped out of his way and caused Ginger to crash into Fiona. The foxes rolled across the floor in a heap. Espio then grabbed their heads and bashed them together just to stun them. The resulting head bash just ended up knocking them both out instead. Now the foxes were defeated, Espio could see to getting the trapped Royal Fighters out of the closet.

Meanwhile, Sonic and Scourge were in a heated battle with Team Rose and the two chipmunks providing additional help. Scourge clasped his fists together and walloped Sonic in the stomach, causing Sonic to fall down on the floor and gasp hoarsely. Scourge tried to do something else to Sonic but Amy whacked him with her Piko-Piko hammer and sent him crashing into the wall. Scourge pulled himself out of the wall but before he could attack, Cosmo grabbed a cuboid object from a table in the corner of the lab and threw it at Scourge. The cube hit Scourge in the forehead and the green hedgehog gripped his throbbing head, rubbing it furiously to ease the pain. Cream threw Cheese at Scourge but Scourge grabbed the Chao before he could hit him and he threw Cheese away. Cream flew towards Scourge and kick-slammed him in the face only to get walloped by Scourge's fist. Amy tried to hammer Scourge into the floor with her hammer but Scourge elbowed her in the gut, causing her to drop her hammer and fall on her knees, gasping hoarsely. Cosmo picked up Amy's hammer and threw it at Scourge but Scourge smacked the hammer away and spin-dashed the poor Seedrian. Cosmo crashed into the wall and she grimaced in pain. Scourge then grabbed Cosmo by the throat and hoisted her off the floor. Cream tried to help Cosmo but Scourge grabbed Cream by the head and slammed Cosmo into her. Scourge then kicked the two girls away, causing them to roll over on the floor in a heap together.

Sonic spin-dashed Scourge in the back and knocked him over. Sonic grabbed Scourge by the jacket and slammed him into the wall. He then picked up Amy's hammer and tossed it to the pink hedgehog. Amy caught it and tried to wallop Scourge with it. She missed and Scourge kicked Amy in the head. Sonic grabbed Scourge in a chokehold and held him back. Amy then proceeded to whack Scourge three times in the stomach with her hammer as hard as she could. She then walloped Scourge in the face with her hammer. Scourge growled and he wrestled himself out of Sonic's grip. He gave Amy an uppercut that seemed to bedazzle the hedgehog and he punched Sonic in the side of his head. Sonic spin-dashed Scourge and then homing attacked him. Scourge was sent hurling into the table in the corner of the lab and he broke the table after crashing into it. Sonic then pinned Scourge to the broken remains of the table with his foot and glared at him.

"Give up Scourge, you can't win!" declared Sonic.

"Says who?" snorted Scourge.

He grabbed Sonic by the ankle and threw Sonic's leg upwards, causing the blue hedgehog to fall backwards. Scourge leaped to his feet and grabbed Sonic by the throat.

"Royal HQ is mine Sonic!" snarled Scourge "Get outta here before you end up becoming a blue furry mess staining the floors!"

"Eat mallet Scourge!" yelled Amy, walloping Scourge with her hammer.

Scourge skidded across the floor on his side. Amy helped Sonic back onto his feet.

"We need help." said Amy "Scourge is too powerful for us."

"No worries Miss Rose." said Cream "Mr. Espio's trying to get the trapped fighters out of the closet right now."

She pointed to the closet where Espio was kneeling down by the door and trying to remove the bomb from the door. Scourge saw him and he ran over to Espio. Espio heard Scourge coming but he was too late to react and Scourge grabbed Espio by the neck. He threw Espio away and he grabbed the door handle. Sonic ran up to him but Scourge threatened to open the door and made him stop.

"Dare come a step closer and I'll open the door and set the bomb off!" threatened Scourge.

Sonic was itching to beat the snot out of Scourge but he couldn't let the green hedgehog set the bomb off. It would kill everybody and destroy Royal HQ. Espio however, had a last resort. He threw a shuriken at the bomb and the shuriken embedded itself into the bomb. The bomb sparked and made a horrible noise and everybody braced themselves, fearing it would actually go off. But the bomb didn't do anything else. Scourge just scowled and unlocked the door. He opened the door and…nothing happened. Espio's shuriken had short-circuited the bomb and broken it. The bomb would never go off now. Scourge scowled even harder and he locked the door back up.

"So what if you've broken the bomb, you'll never get past me!" boasted Scourge.

"Wanna bet Scourgey Wourgey?" sneered Sonic.

"Don't call me that blue!" snarled Scourge.

"Call you what Scourgey Wourgey?" snickered Sonic.

Scourge got mad and charged towards Sonic. Sonic just stood to the side, stuck his foot and tripped Scourge over. Scourge fell over and rolled across the floor like a football. Scourge crashed into the wall face first.

"Someone get Geoff, Bunnie, Wilson and Mandy out of there now!" yelled Sonic.

Cosmo obliged and she ran over to the closet. Scourge tried to catch her but Sonic ran in his way, grabbed him and carried him away from the closet. Sonic threw Scourge into the wall but Scourge bounced off the wall and spin-dashed Sonic away. Cosmo quickly unlocked the door and flung it open. Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson and Mandy instantly burst out of the closet before Scourge could stop them.

"Boy does it fell good to be out of that closet!" gasped Geoffrey "I can't stand being in the dark for so long!"

"Thank you Cosmo." said Mandy "I don't think I could have taken it any longer in that closet!"

"You're welcome." said Cosmo politely.

Sonic spin-dashed Scourge away and ran over to his freed friends. He noticed that they were all bound up in laser cuffs and he groaned in annoyance.

"Laser cuffs?" he whined "Oh that's just great! You can't fight with your arms behind your back like that!"

"How do we turn them off?" asked Amy.

"There's a remote for the cuffs." said Wilson "I don't know what Fiona did with it though after she put the cuffs on us."

"Is that it over there?" asked Cream, pointing to a blue remote lying on the floor near the broken table.

"It is." said Sonic, quickly running over to it and pressing a button on the remote.

Everybody's laser cuffs switched off and Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson and Mandy were now free to fight once again. Scourge just leaped in and landed upside down in a hand stand in between Wilson and Mandy and he did a split kick, walloping them both with his feet.

"Throw as many chumps at me as you can, I'll take you ALL on if I have to!" bellowed Scourge, elbowing Bunnie in the gut and then giving Geoffrey and uppercut to the back.

Bunnie punched Scourge with her robot arm and sent him crashing into the wall. Wilson deployed his spinning blade weapon and he threw it at Scourge. Scourge dodged the weapon and tried to attack Wilson but Geoffrey and Mandy double-teamed him with a kick each. Scourge crashed into the floor and Bunnie picked him up. She threw him towards Sonic and Sonic spin-dashed Scourge upwards, slamming him into the ceiling and cracking it slightly. Sonic landed on the floor and let Scourge break free from the ceiling and crash down on the floor. Scourge picked himself up and spin-dashed Bunnie, Wilson, Geoffrey and Mandy all at once. Sonic spin-dashed Scourge but Scourge was in spin-dash so they bounced off of each other. Scourge and Sonic spin-dashed and bounced off of each other over and over until Scourge finally overpowered Sonic and pile-dived him into the floor. Wilson threw his weapon at Scourge only to miss and get kicked in the gut by Scourge. Mandy tried to attack but Scourge grabbed her arm and flung her over onto her back. Bostock and Mortimer charged towards Scourge with Espio and Team Rose joining them. Scourge jumped out of their way and caused everybody to crash into each other, causing a great big kerfumble as Bostock, Mortimer, Espio and Team Rose ended up in a tangled heap on the floor. Scourge laughed at them only to get spin-dashed from behind by Sonic. Scourge spin-dashed Sonic back only to get an uppercut from behind by Bunnie Rabbot. Scourge got mad and growled angrily. He could see that this fight was going to end every badly for him so he had to use his piece de resistance. He began to run around Sonic and the tangled heap of Team Rose, Espio and the two chipmunks in a circle at top speed. Sonic could see what Scourge was doing so he ran around Scourge in a circle at top speed. The two hedgehogs began running around each other at stop speed, forming a blue and green blur around each other. Team Rose, Espio and the twp chipmunks could see that a Sonic Tornado was coming so they all ran out of the centre before they could get caught up in the tornado. Sonic and Scourge continued circling around each other until they ended up forming a blue and green tornado and spun around and around at a terrific speed. The tornado spun and spun until Sonic and Scourge ended up throwing each other out of the tornado and into a wall each. Thy both crashed into the wall and slumped down on the floor. Scourge appeared to be knocked out whereas Sonic just appeared to be tired and worn out. Seeing as Scourge had finally been subdued, Bostock grabbed a two laser cuff spheres that were lying on the floor after Sonic had turned them off and released his friends. He put Scourge's arms behind his back and cuffed them with the laser cuffs. He then put the other sphere in-between Scourge's ankles and the lasers wrapped themselves around Scourge's ankles. Scourge would be unable to move now when he eventually woke up. Mortimer noticed the still knocked out Fiona and Ginger so he grabbed a pair of laser cuff spheres and cuffed Fiona and Ginger while they were still unconscious. Scourge and his whole team had now been defeated and subdued. The heroes had won at long last.

"Well that's that then." said Bostock gruffly "I'm so glad this crisis is over."

"We've got Freedom HQ back!" cheered Bunnie "We defeated Scourge! We've won the day!"

"Actually Bunnie, I wouldn't say we defeated Scourge." said Geoffrey "Sonic did. His Sonic Tornado managed to overpower the blighter at long last."

"It seems to have tired poor Sonic out though." noted Cosmo, looking at Sonic who was lying against the wall trying to get up.

Sally ran over to Sonic and helped the hedgehog back onto his feet.

"Whew! That was way past cool!" gasped Sonic "Me and Scourge using our Sonic Tornados together! I can't believe we even managed to do something like that! I kinda wonder why it seemed to have hurt Scourge more then it hurt me though."

"Just be thankful that it did." said Sally "We've won, the day is saved and Royal HQ is free from Scourge's wrath!"

"Yeah it is." agreed Sonic "We beat Scourge again! And now somebody has decided to laser cuff him, we can call old Melchett the Hedgehog to take him away and haul his ugly butt back to jail!"

"And hopefully he'll stay there." huffed Nicole.

"I think ol Melchy will have learnt from his mistakes and will try harder to make sure Scourge stays in jail." assured Sonic "Let's call him before Scourge wakes up."

No sooner had Melchett the Hedgehog, chief of police and head of the MPD station of Empire City, been called, he arrived at Royal HQ with his goofy sidekick Big Dave the Gopher and his assistant General Chipper the Chipmunk beside him. General Chipper loaded Fiona and Ginger into his police hover car and Melchett stuffed Scourge into his car. Scourge had come to and he was not pleased to see that he was going back to prison. He glared at Sonic who was smirking triumphantly at him.

"This isn't over yet blue!" snarled Scourge "I'll be back and trust me, the next time we meet will be the last time!"

"Well in that case don't hold your breath." sneered Sonic "I think you're gonna be in jail for a long time."

"He will be Sonic." said Melchett briskly "Scourge will be dead by the time his sentence is up! And don't think you'll escape again Scourge because I have a cell specially prepared for you! And even though the control collar has been outlawed, I have allowed myself to borrow one from Mr. Florenzi and I'll use it on Scourge so he can't use his powers to escape. I think I should make the control collar legal again since they can be useful in keeping criminals in order."

Melchett closed the car door and climbed into the driver's seat.

"So long Sonic." said Melchett "And thanks again for giving Scourge back to me. I'll make sure he stays in prison this time."

"And I'll be counting on you to keep your word." said Sonic "So long for now Melchett."

Melchett waved goodbye and he drove away with Scourge grumbling to himself in the back seat of the car. General Chipper followed him in his car with Fiona and Ginger grumbling to themselves. Sonic and friends watched as Melchett drove away into the distance. He sighed happily to himself.

"And that, I believe, is the end of Scourge the Hedgehog." he said "Thank goodness. I never have to worry about him anymore."

"He's definitely a guy I hope to never encounter again." muttered

Mandy "He's worse then Dr. Eggman."

"I even think he's worse then that Marik bloke." muttered Geoffrey "Scourge is one heck of a scoundrel isn't he?"

"Well he's gone for now." said Sally "The kingdom is safe at last. By the way Sonic." she suddenly asked "Did you succeed in destroying Eggman's oil rig?"

"I did indeed your majesty." said Sonic with a bow "Although Tails almost died on the mission."

"I was about to ask about Tails and Ruben." said Sally "Where are they?"

"Ruben took Tails to hospital after we arrived back here." said Sonic "They're at a hospital in Empire City. I wanna go see how my little bro is doing right now. Hey Cosmo, you wanna come?"

"Sure." said Cosmo "I'm sure Tails would be thrilled to see me again."

With that said, Sonic picked Cosmo up bridal style and he ran off at top speed to Empire City. Everybody just stood and watched him go. Now Royal HQ was saved, everybody could go back to their normal business and plan for their next fight with the real enemy, Dr. Eggman…

Sonic and Cosmo arrived at the hospital in Empire City where Ruben and Vector had taken Tails and Charmy. Sonic found the room Ruben and Tails were in and he and Cosmo went into the room. Ruben's face brightened at the sight of them.

"Sonic!" beamed Ruben "What kept you? I was beginning to think you weren't coming."

"I got sidetracked." said Sonic "I'll explain later. How's Tails doing?" he asked.

"Tails hasn't stirred at all since the oil rig incident but he's still alive."

said Ruben "He's just resting for now and the doctor's say he should make a steady recovery."

Sonic and Cosmo went over to Tails' bed and peered at him. Tails had bandages wrapped around his torso and tails and he was lying there sleeping. He was breathing nice and steadily and the heartbeat monitor showed that his heart was still beating. Tails was alive but Sonic wasn't happy to see Tails all bandaged up and hurt. Cosmo gently touched Tails' hand and stared sadly at him.

"What happened to him?" she asked.

"He got hit by a cannon blast." explained Sonic "He took the blast that was meant for me. Doing so almost got him killed but it did some good as if that were me on that bed right now, Royal HQ would still be under Scourge's control."

"So Tails inadvertently ended up saving the day." said Cosmo "I bet he never expected that to happen. I wish he was awake though."

"I wish he was too Cosmo." said Sonic "I hate it when Tails' is out of it."

Then suddenly, Tails' head twitched to the side and he began to moan sleepily. Sonic, Cosmo and Ruben stared at Tails as the fox began to wake up. Tails' eyes opened slightly and he turned his head to one side. He groaned drowsily.

"Hrrrrmmm….I'm dead…" he whispered hoarsely to himself "I'm up in heaven with the angels now."

"Tails." said Cosmo soothingly "It's me cute stuff. Cosmo."

"Cosmo?" mumbled Tails "Are you dead too?"

"No Tails, I'm alive and so are you." said Cosmo sweetly "You're in hospital."

"I…I am?" said Tails, sitting up.

A sharp surge of pain flooded up his back and he was forced to lie back down in his bed.

"Take it easy bro, you got hurt pretty bad." said Sonic "That cannon blast almost killed you. I'm thrilled you're still alive buddy."

"I'm glad I'm alive too Sonic." whispered Tails "How long will I be here for?"

"You should make a steady recovery Tails." explained Ruben "The doctors said you'll be OK in a few days time. Amazing really, I would have expected a cannon blast to do more damage then that."

"I'm glad you're OK though Tails." said Cosmo, kissing the fox's hand affectionately.

"I'm glad I'm OK too." said Tails weakly "So Sonic, did we do it? Did we destroy the rig?"

"It was a close call but we did it Tails." said Sonic "Eggman's rig is a sad wreckage floating in the middle of the ocean."

"Yay!" cheered Tails feebly which caused him to cough loudly.

"Sssh, Sssh, Sssh, take it easy Tails." said Cosmo softly "You're still recovering."

"Sorry." said Tails "So did I miss anything while I was out Sonic?"

"Well Scourge, Fiona and Ginger had taken over Royal HQ and captured some of our friends so I had to stop him." said Sonic.

"Who's Fiona and what happened at Royal HQ?" asked Tails.

"Well it's a long story bro." said Sonic "But I'll tell you it anyway and let you hear what you missed out on while you were passed out…"

A Gun For Hire Part 1

Story 68: A Gun For Hire Part 1

Quiet days were a rarity for treasure hunter Lennox Meers the Meerkat as he was the leader of a team of treasure hunters that worked for a treasure hunting organization but right now, Lennox was just sitting at his desk, leaning back lazily with his feet up and drumming his fingers on the desk. He was waiting for his bosses to give him an assignment but so far, he didn't have any tasks to do. Lennox Meers was a cream coloured meerkat with black ears and a brown tail tip. He wore a brown wide brimmed hat with a black stripe on it, a spiked collar around his neck, a golden belt, long brown gloves a black cloak that covered his arms but only came down to the back of his knees and brown shoes with metal attachments at the toes. Lennox was the leader of Team Diamond, a team that worked for an organization called H.U.N.T. H.U.N.T. stood for "Hidden and Unified Nations in Treasure Hunting" and he went around Mobius hunting for treasures and doing missions for his bosses. He had his own team and his team mates were a notorious bunch of criminals and treasure hunters. One was a sexy female purple raccoon named Roxy and she had red hair which was styled in a pony tail and black and cream stripes around her eyes. She wore long black gloves and a black bodysuit that came up to the chest and thick leather boots. Her tail had black stripes. The other was a huge muscular orange rabbit named Owen Pounder. Owen only wore gloves and a green vest. He had a white cotton tail and a mullet. He was the brawn of the group but was surprisingly clever for a brute. He was often mocked for being a rabbit since rabbits are cute and cuddly so not many people took him seriously…until he gave them an uppercut that is. The last was a grey furred bat named Alistair Drakken who didn't wear any clothes but he wore a metallic mask. His face had been horribly disfigured and scarred in an accident so he wore the mask to hide his hideous face. The mask had a microphone in it that amplified his voice and made it sound deep, intimidating and ominous so he scared a lot of people that way. He was the flier of the group. He was fast as lightening and impossible to keep up with in the sky. These four were a dangerous treasure hunting team for anyone who had the misfortune to meet them. Right now, it didn't seem like anyone would have the misfortune of meeting them because they didn't have any tasks to do. They were all just lounging around the office waiting for something to happen save for Owen who was elsewhere right now. As time slowly ticked by, Lennox continued lazing around in his chair and drumming his fingers on his desk. He couldn't stand boredom and he wished his bosses would give him a task to do already. Lennox slammed his hand on his desk and sighed in annoyance.

"Lazy days, you can't help but hate them can't you?" he sighed.

His voice was deep and commanding which made him sound very intimidating for a meerkat.

"You're telling me Lenny." sighed Roxy who had removed her gloves and appeared to be checking out her nails "That's the only thing wrong with being a treasure hunter, when there's no treasure to hunt, you've got nothing to do."

"You got that right hot stuff and don't call me Lenny." snapped Lennox "It's Lennox, not Lenny, understood?"

"Yes." sighed Roxy in annoyance.

There were times where her leader's attitude just got under her skin and made her mad. Still, it was suicide to argue with the leader so Roxy didn't say anything more. She just put her gloves back on and began humming to herself. As for Alistair, he was just hanging upside down from the ceiling and snoring away. Alistair had a habit of sleeping when he had nothing to do but when he was given a mission, he was wide awake and would stay like that until the mission was completed. Lennox wondered how Alistair could sleep so much and yet in battle, show no signs of being sleepy at all. Then suddenly, just as it seemed boredom would continue to consume him, Owen burst into the office. He looked frantic and he scared Lennox so much the meerkat almost feel out of his chair. He gripped his hat tightly before it could fall off. Owen's frantic behaviour even woke up Alistair and he ended up falling off the ceiling and onto the floor where he groaned an ominous groan of pain.

"What on Mobius is the matter Owen?" cried Lennox "You're not having a repeat of the time you found an onion ring in your French fries are ya?"

"Um…that's one thing." said the brutish rabbit quickly "But I've got something more important to tell you. There's a woman who wishes to see us."

"Is there?" said Lennox, raising an eyebrow "Well let her in then."

"OK." said Owen, leaving the room to let the visitor in.

Lennox beamed to himself. Finally, this boredom would be over! Lennox moved his feet off the desk and sat up nicely so he would look presentable and not like a lazy person. Owen returned into the office with the visitor. The visitor was none other then the notorious bounty hunter Lola Gunn! She had once been hired to kill Sonic and Tails* and ended up getting thrown in jail only to escape with help from Marik the Martian. Lola hadn't been active as of recently but now, she was paying a visit to the most dangerous treasure hunting group ever. Lennox stared at Lola in admiration.

"Hello beautiful." he said flirtingly, raising the brim of his hat so he could get a better look at Lola.

"Don't start with that nonsense." snapped Lola "I didn't come here to have stupid little boys hitting on me."

"Man you mean business woman!" laughed Roxy "I think me and you will get along just fine."

Lola ignored the raccoon and kept her steely gaze on Lennox, the meerkat waiting to hear what the skunk in the bodysuit had to say.

"I am Lola Gunn, a bounty hunter." she introduced herself "You may have heard of me…"

"Whoa, whoa, whoa. Bounty hunter?" asked Lennox "Sorry missy but we don't dabble with your kind, we're Team Diamond, a team that works for H.U.N.T., Hidden and Unified Nations in Treasure Hunting, and we hunt for profits, not kill for profits. If you want us for anything bounty hunter related then you can leave."

"I'm not here to give you a bounty hunter task." said Lola hastily "I'm here to make an amend."

"Are ya?" purred Lennox "Well before you make your amend, I have a question for ya. How did you find us in the first place?"

"I have my ways." said Lola bluntly "And now here's my amend: I wish to form an alliance with you four."

"An alliance?" asked Alistair in his deep growly voice which was made even more deep and growly by his mask "What kind of alliance would that be then?"

"I'm hoping that you four can help me get some much needed payback on somebody." said Lola "Somebody that you may have heard of."

"You want revenge eh?" mused Lennox "Well, we don't kill people unless necessary but this maybe a necessary kill you're requesting for us."

"Who do you want revenge on?" asked Owen.

"Sonic the Hedgehog." Lola answered in a vapid tone.

The whole team gasped in unison at that response, surprising Lola a little as she wasn't expecting them to have heard of Sonic. Lennox lowered the brim of his hat and began muttering crossly.

"I've heard of that hedgehog." he muttered "Then again, who hasn't? He's the hot shot Hero of Mobius who foils the schemes of Dr. Eggman. We fear ever running into him and having our schemes ruined by him so we have been plotting death on the hedgehog to prevent him from ever getting in our way."

"Sonic doesn't know us yet but there might be a time he will." said Roxy "So we plan to get rid of him before he can discover us and stop us from doing what we do best, hunting treasures and stealing priceless jewels. Why do you want revenge on Sonic honey?"

"He foiled my attempts to kill him and his twin-tailed friend for the biggest bounty of my career and I wish to kill him to get my own back." explained Lola "I can't do it alone though so I've come to you guys for help."

"If you wish for us to help you kill Sonic then we accept without second thought." boomed Alistair.

"I'm so glad you see it my way." beamed Lola.

"We don't work for free though Lola." said Lennox coldly "I expect a sack full of gold from you when this job is over. Think you can get us one?"

"Definitely." said Lola "I have plenty of gold from my previous kills so once Sonic is dead, I'll give you a sack full of gold. So will you four help me get the head of Sonic the Hedgehog?"

"Yes!" yelled the team in unison.

Lola chuckled at their response.

"Then let's get started…" she said in a low sinister tone of voice…

"Boy does it feel good to be up and at them again!" cried Tails as he kicked the football towards Ruben the Water Panther.

Two weeks had passed since the destruction of Eggman's oil rig and the foiling of Scourge's takeover of Royal HQ and Tails had made a steady road to recovery while in hospital. He had just recently been released as he was now fit enough to leave the hospital and he was just as good as new now. To celebrate Tails' release from the hospital, Sonic had gathered some of his friends around for a game of football. He, Tails, Ruben, Cream and Charmy made one team while Amy, Cosmo, Espio, Vector and Bunnie Rabbot made the other. Geoffrey St. John, Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse stood on the sidelines and watched the game play unfold before them. They had set up the pitch just outside the back of Royal HQ and they had used a two pairs of cones to mark the goals. The game play was even sided so far but just because it was like that now didn't mean the tides wouldn't turn in anybody's favour. Tails had just kicked the ball to Ruben and the water panther, who had removed his aqua collar and given to Geoffrey for safe keeping so he couldn't use his water powers to cheat, dribbled on with the ball at his feet. Despite being a newcomer to football, Ruben appeared to be getting the hang of it really quickly. Cream ran beside Ruben, waiting for the panther to pass the ball to her. Bunnie and Amy chased down Ruben for the ball. Ruben could see that he wouldn't be able to keep the ball away from them for long so he passed the ball over to Cream. Cream caught the ball and dribbled on. Bunnie Rabbot caught up with Cream and snatched the ball off of her. She then dribbled away from her goal and towards the other goal. Sonic was the goalie for his team as it wouldn't be fair if he was playing due to his speed and Espio was the goalie for his team. Bunnie dribbled past Charmy and Charmy chased after Bunnie. The cyborg rabbit kicked the ball away from Charmy and towards Cosmo. The Seedrian flinched fearfully and ended up missing the ball. Cosmo was a newcomer to football and she didn't really like the idea of kicking a ball around as it could hurt somebody. Tails seized his chance and grabbed the ball after Cosmo missed it. Vector tried to steal the ball from Tails but Tails passed it to Cream and Cream passed it onto Ruben before Bunnie could grab it. Ruben then proceeded to kick the ball straight past Espio into goal. Sonic's team had scored another point!

"Yay!" cheered Sonic's team.

Espio slunk off to retrieve the ball. The chameleon grabbed the ball and he returned to the pitch with it.

"Sonic's team is now winning 10-9." announced Geoffrey as he was the referee "We have five minutes left of the match. Play on."

The skunk blew his whistle and Espio kicked the ball back into the pitch. The ball bounced off the ground and headed towards Cosmo. The nervous Seedrian didn't want the ball so she quickly kicked it away…and accidentally gave it to Tails. The fox grabbed the ball and ran off with it. Amy fumed angrily.

"Cosmo, you're supposed to pass to one of your team mates!" she yelled.

"I'm sorry Amy, I wasn't thinking properly." whimpered Cosmo

"Please don't smash me for this!"

""Just get back in the game Cosmo!" snapped Amy, running off to chase down Tails.

Tails dribbled as quickly as he could with Amy furiously trying to keep up with him. Tails looked over his shoulder and saw Amy coming to him. She wouldn't catch him in time so Tails was free to just kick the ball into the goal right now. Tails kicked the ball but Espio caught it in his hands.

"Nice save mate!" congratulated Geoffrey.

Espio just grinned and threw the ball back into play. Vector caught it and the crocodile lumbered off with the ball. He wasn't as fast as the other players so Tails, Ruben, Cream and Charmy could catch him up easily. Charmy ran after Vector and made an attempt to seize the ball. Vector booted the ball away and Charmy tripped over after attempting to kick it. Amy caught the ball and she dribbled away as Cream chased her down. Cream could not run as fast as Amy so she wouldn't be able to catch her. Amy dribbled on but was forced to make a pass as Tails tried to tackle her from the side. Amy passed the ball onto Bunnie and the Rabbot kicked it straight past Sonic into goal. Amy's team cheered. Sonic just slumped on the grass and grumbled.

"Nice try sugah hog!" laughed Bunnie.

Sonic picked himself up and grabbed the ball.

"Good shot Bunnie." said Sonic "You're pretty much the only one who can get past me!"

"Well ah am a sharp striker ain't I?" said Bunnie.

"Hence the reason I'm glad you're on my team." boasted Amy.

Geoffrey blew his whistle.

"Score is ten all." he said "We have two minutes left, this will be the decider. Play on!"

He blew his whistle and Sonic threw the ball onto the pitch. The ball bounced off the ground and Charmy caught it. Vector and Amy charged towards Charmy and the bee panicked. He kicked the ball accidentally into the side lines and the ball hit poor Mandy on the head. The ball rolled back into the field and the mouse grumbled, rubbing her throbbing head.

"This is why I hate football!" she moaned "The ball freaking hurts when it hits you!"

"At least you're not playing Mandy." said Wilson, kicking the ball back into play "You're more likely to get hurt on the pitch then on the sidelines.

Mandy nodded agreeably. She hadn't had a pleasant experience with football growing up so she despised the sport with all her heart but she respected those who enjoyed it as she was not an opinionated character who forced her opinions on everybody. As for the football, Cosmo now had it but this time, she kicked it to one of her team mates. Bunnie caught the ball and ran towards the goal. Ruben charged past Bunnie and seized the ball. Ruben ran away from his goal and dribbled towards the other goal where Espio stood, waiting to catch it should he kick it to him. Vector lumbered after Ruben but he wasn't quite fast enough to catch him. Ruben passed the ball to Charmy and Charmy dribbled on. Amy seized the ball from Charmy and kicked it towards Vector. The crocodile attempted to capture it but he had his jaws wide open and he ended up catching the ball in his jaws instead. Vector spat the ball out and Bunnie caught it. She dribbled on but she accidentally got the ball caught under her foot and she fell over. Charmy seized the ball and passed it onto Cream before Amy could catch him and Cream kicked it towards Tails. Tails then made the killer shot and kicked the ball straight past Espio and into the goal. Tails punched the air excitedly.

"Yay!" he cheered "I did it!"

Amy's team just clapped.

"Well done Tails." said Amy.

"Good shot sugah." applauded Bunnie.

Geoffrey blew his whistle.

"Time!" he called "Sonic's team wins 11-10. Well played mates. Very well done all of you. Good match."

The players all shook hands with each other and congratulated their efforts. It had been a good game of football.

"That was a lot of fun." said Sonic "We should do this more often."

"I like how this was a game to celebrate my release from the hospital and I ended up scoring the winning goal." said Tails.

"How did you end up hospitalized anyway?" asked Amy.

"You know the oil rig mission me, Sonic and Ruben went on two weeks ago?" said Tails "Well during that mission, Sonic almost got hit by a cannon blast but I pushed him out of the way and took the blast meant for him. It was kind of bone-headed though since I almost died after that."

"But it was so selfless and brave of you." said Cosmo, wrapping her arms around Tails' arm and making the twin-tailed fox blush "I love people who are selfless and brave. Sonic must be proud to have a friend like you Tails."

"I am indeed Cosmo." said Sonic "Without Tails, I'd pretty much be dead already. I can't count all the times he's saved my life already. He saved me from Scream Roller the day I first met him de-roboticized me when I was Mecha Sonic*, he saved me from drowning and saved me from getting hit by a cannon blast. And I'm sure there are some other things I haven't mentioned that Tails has done to save my life."

"Yeah, the time I fixed the altered timeline caused by Metal Sonic using Eggman's time-altering machine." said Tails.

Sonic gave Tails a puzzled look.

"Pardon?" he said.

Tails was about to answer until he remembered that nobody remembered that cataclysmic event except him since he set time right and erased the altered timeline from existence so he didn't answer that question.

"Never mind." said Tails quickly.

Sonic decided to move on to a different subject now. He turned to Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy.

"So how's the old base doing since Scourge's heist guys?" he asked.

"Well we managed to clean up the mess Scourge, Fiona and Ginger made and the base is fully operational now." said Mandy "Bostock and Mortimer are pardoned and Castle Acorn has been repaired from whatever damages Bostock and Mortimer did when they were forced to try and kill everybody inside."

"I wish I was there to help." muttered Tails, pouting "I would have loved to beat Ginger up again."

"Well Tails, he's in jail now where he belongs so you can laugh in his face about it." said Sonic with a wink.

"I'm glad I haven't met Ginger yet." said Cosmo "He sounds like a horrible person."

"He is Cosmo." said Tails grimly "He did some horrible things to me as a kid and he wants me dead now! I'll never forget the time he tried to kill me*! I'm glad I'll never see him again now he's in jail."

"I'm glad Scourge is in jail so he can't try to kill my Sonic anymore!" shouted Amy "One a side note my handsome hero, who's Fiona Fox? You seem familiar with her. Is she an old friend of yours?"

"She was an old friend of mine." said Sonic bitterly "She used to be a Royal Fighter but after eight months of service, she quit on us because she felt like she was useless and didn't deserve to be on the team. Why she's hooked up with Scourge though is beyond me. Does she really think going with Scourge will improve her life?"

"Well it certainly won't!" yelled Amy "Going with Scourge is throwing her life away! That green jerk will just make her life worse!"

"I'm more confused as to the fact Scourge even took her in." said Sonic "Maybe Fiona wanted revenge on us and Scourge is using her to his advantage. I feel sorry for Fiona. I feel the poor fox is being manipulated by my jerk of a brother."

"I wouldn't try talking sense into her." said Mandy grimly "I tried and she just wouldn't listen to me. Fiona's lost to us now."

"Not like I care." muttered Geoffrey, folding his arms "That girl was useless to us and all she did was hinder us, not help us."

"Well Fiona got her comeuppance along with Scourge." said Ruben "They're both living in a dark lonely prison cell now. Maybe a few years in jail may put some sense back into her."

"I hope so." said Sonic "So, who's up for another game?"

Everybody except Team Chaotix raised their hands.

"What's up Chaotix?" asked Sonic.

"We've gotta shoot now Sonic." said Vector "We need to be back at the office to make sure we're there in case we've gotta case. We are detectives after all."

"OK then Chaotix." said Sonic "I'll see you later then."

"So long Sonic." said Vector with a wave "We'll see you again some time."

Vector, Espio and Charmy all left Royal HQ behind and headed back to Stardom Village. Charmy's wing had been fixed after it got shot on the oil rig so the bee could fly once again. He flew beside Espio and Vector as they walked away. The moment Team Chaotix left, Sonic spoke up.

"What game should we play now?" asked Sonic.

"I have a basketball in the storage room." said Wilson "Maybe we can play basketball."

"Do we have any hoops?" asked Cream.

"We do indeed." said Wilson "I'll go and get the equipment. I'll be right back."

And with that, the dog ran into Royal HQ to get the basketball equipment so he and his friends could play a game or two…

Meanwhile, Lola had told her new cronies where Sonic the Hedgehog lived and the treasure hunters had immediately set off to find it. Lola had been to Sonic's house when she tried to kill Tails before so she wouldn't forget where her enemy lived. Team Diamond had searched all over Green Hill Zone and while it had been a long search for Sonic's house, they had eventually managed to find the place. The house was only one storey with pale yellow walls, a blue door, two windows and a blue roof. The very look of the house surprised Lennox as he was expecting Sonic to live in a fancier house then that. He had even pictured Sonic living in a mansion before they arrived. Regardless, Lola knew where Sonic lived so this must be the place.

"So this is where the hot shot hero lives?" murmured Lennox "Pretty drab looking for the dwelling of such a famous figure of Mobius."

"Oh well, if this is his house then it's his house." said Roxy "Let's break in and kill the hedgehog."

Lennox grabbed Roxy by the hair and pulled her to him. He glared into the raccoon's frightened eyes.

"I give the orders around here! Got it?" he snarled.

"Yes sir!" squeaked Roxy.

The meerkat in the wide brimmed hat and short cape let go of Roxy and the raccoon immediately began flattening her hair down as some of it stood up after Lennox had grabbed her by it. Lennox turned to Owen.

"Break the door down Owen." he ordered, pulling a revolver out of his cloak pocket.

"With pleasure boss!" said Owen with a brutish grin on his face.

He cracked his knuckles and marched over to the door. Alistair and Roxy armed themselves with weapons, ready to kill Sonic. Roxy was armed with a black baton and Alistair was armed with some arm mounted blades that pointed backwards. Owen clenched his fist and began to swing his arm around and around. He aimed for the door, drew his spinning arm back and…stopped what he was doing and just simply grabbed the door handle. He yanked the door off its hinges and threw it away, laughing like a thug. Lennox, Roxy and Alistair all charged into the house, brandishing their weapons and they scanned the living room. Lennox kept his revolver pointed and crept silently around the room. Roxy crept into the kitchen with her bat raised. She searched the entire room, even under the sink for Sonic the Hedgehog. Alistair crept into the bedroom and searched through it, tearing up the bedcovers and searching through the cupboards as he did so. Lennox remained in the living room and looked everywhere. He couldn't find a soul inside the room anywhere. The meerkat began to grow suspicious and he sat down on the sofa. He rested his chin on his hand and his brilliant mind began to buzz with theories on where Sonic could possibly be. Roxy and Alistair returned into the living room. Roxy's face was glum whereas Alistair, you couldn't tell what expression he had on his face since he wore a mask but he was probably annoyed right now.

"There's nobody here." said Roxy, attaching the bat to a strap on her back and sitting down on the sofa beside Lennox.

"The house is empty sir." droned Alistair, sitting beside Lennox "Sonic must be out or something."

"Indeed he is." said Lennox, putting his revolver away and frowning "This house is one storey and it only has three rooms. He can't possibly be hiding anywhere else. There's nowhere else to hide."

Owen stuck his head through the door frame.

"Found him?" he asked.

"No Owen we haven't found him." snapped Lennox "Sonic's not here."

"Then where the heck can that rat be?" blurted Owen desperately "There's no other house in Green Hill Zone! He could be anywhere, maybe in the forest somewhere!"

"Well Lola Gunn has a job for us to do so we have to find that miserable rodent." said Lennox "The hedgehog must be somewhere. I hope he's not fighting that Dr. Eggman villain. If that's the case we'll never find him now."

"I have one theory on where that blue idiot could be." said Roxy all of the sudden "Maybe he's at Castle Acorn. Sonic's bound to be good friends with the royals so maybe he's visiting them or something."

"Somehow, I doubt he'll be at a castle but there's no harm in looking." rumbled Alistair "If he's not there then we'll hold the royals hostage and demand for Sonic's location."

"In that case, we'll go to Castle Acorn and search for him there." said Lennox, getting up from the sofa "I can still remember that glorious time where we broke into Castle Acorn and robbed the place eighteen years ago." he said with a dark smile on his face

"That was a good heist wasn't it?" purred Roxy "Especially as that was my first outing with you boys."

Lennox nodded, remembering how well Roxy had done on her first mission when joining H.U.N.T. Lennox, Roxy and Alistair left the house and Owen put the door back into place. He couldn't fix the door but it didn't matter since Sonic would have no idea who broke the door. Team Diamond left Sonic's house behind and they headed off through the forest.

"Where are we going boss?" asked Owen.

"To Castle Acorn." said Lennox "We're going to see if Sonic's there and if he isn't, we'll force the royals to help us find him."

Owen smiled evilly.

"I love it when we blackmail people." he purred darkly "It's a lot of fun watching people cower in fear as we threaten them!"

Lennox just nodded and the four treasure hunters headed on through the forest on their way to Castle Acorn. Sonic may not be home but he maybe at Castle Acorn and once they found him, they would capture him and bring him to Lola Gunn and she would shoot him dead…

Back at Royal HQ, Sonic and friends had just had a basketball match. The match had been Sonic, Bunnie, Wilson and Cosmo vs. Amy, Mandy, Ruben and Cream with Geoffrey being referee once again (Geoffrey's not much of a sports person.) Sonic's team had won yet again with a score of 40-36. The moment the basketball game was over, Wilson tidied the equipment away. Sonic sighed happily.

"Two great games, what more could we ask for?" he wondered.

"Makes a change from constantly fighting Dr. Eggman." said Amy brightly "It feels good to be having some time to ourselves and just doing what we want."

"Sadly, this can't last." said Tails "Eggman will undoubtedly attack again and we'll end up in another fight with him."

"So we'd best make the most of this while we can." said Sonic "Maybe after we've had a spot of lunch, we can have a baseball game or something."

"Oh no you don't Sonic the Hedgehog!" yelled Amy, pointing at Sonic "A game of baseball isn't really fair if you play as you'll easily be the fastest midfielder on the pitch! The other team will have no chance!"

"OK, I'll think of something else to play." said Sonic, wondering into the headquarters "While I'm at it, I'll see what's going on in the lab."

Sonic wondered into the headquarters. Wilson, Ruben, Geoffrey, Bunnie and Mandy had gone into the headquarters to keep the laboratory running and see if there were any missions for them or any messages waiting for them. Tails, Amy, Cream and Cosmo stayed outside.

"While we're waiting for lunch to be ready, why don't we have our own baseball game?" asked Amy "We can use my hammer as a bat and we can have two teams with two players each. Me and Cream vs. Tails and Cosmo, how about that Tails."

"Whatever you say Amy." said Tails "Me and Cosmo will take you down Amy!" he declared with a competitive grin on his face.

"I don't wanna take anyone down." said Cosmo quietly.

"Cosmo, we're not gonna literally take them down!" laughed Tails "We're just having a bit of fun that's all."

"I'll be the first to bat." said Amy "Cosmo, you bowl."

"I bowl? What does that mean?" asked Cosmo.

The Seedrians didn't play baseball or sports of any kind so Cosmo had no idea what the rules of sports games were and what certain words meant.

"It means you throw the ball you ditz!" grumbled Amy.

"Go easy on her Miss Rose, she's new to sports." said Cream.

Amy said nothing more and she got ready to bat. Tails ran inside and got a baseball from the games room. A minute later, Tails returned to the pitch with a baseball in his hand. He stood in the middle of the pitch that Amy had made with a few cones marking where the home runners should run when they hit the ball. Tails gave the ball to Cosmo and Cosmo stood in Tails' place while the fox stood further back in midfield position. Amy bent down in a batting position and prepared to whack the ball with her giant red and yellow hammer. Cosmo drew her arm back and threw the ball about ten inches away from her. Cosmo hadn't been concentrating properly and thus, ended up doing the weak throw. Amy fumed angrily at Cosmo's feeble effort. The Seedrian could throw a wok at somebody and hit them so surely she could throw a baseball!

"Cosmo, throw harder you wimp!" yelled Amy.

"Sorry!" cried Cosmo, running over to the ball and picking it up.

She ran back into position and she threw the ball, much harder this time. Amy swung her hammer and hit the ball. The ball shot into the air like a bullet being fired up at the sky and the pink hedgehog ran around the cones while Tails ran off to try and catch the ball as it fell back down to Earth. Tails managed to catch the ball and he ran back towards the pitch. Amy had just run all the way around the pitch and she was about to give it a second go but she saw Tails coming towards her so she stopped to save herself from being caught out. Tails threw the ball back to Cosmo but the Seedrian wasn't ready and she ended up getting hit in the forehead by the ball. Cosmo cried in pain and she clutched her forehead. Tails immediately panicked and he ran over to comfort his girlfriend. Amy just face-palmed herself. How did Cosmo manage to miss a shot like that? The Seedrian needed a lot of practice she could tell. Tails bent down beside Cosmo and patted her on the back.

"I'm sorry Cosmo, did I hurt you?" he asked.

"A little." said Cosmo, rubbing her forehead "It was my fault; I should have been watching what you was doing."

"I'll try and make sure I don't hit you next time." said Tails, handing the ball back to Cosmo "Just make sure you're ready to catch it."

"OK." said Cosmo, standing back up.

"My team has one run." announced Amy "You'd best hope you can hit better then I can. Cream, it's your turn to bat now." said Amy, handing her Piko-Piko hammer over to Cream.

Cream took the hammer and wondered onto the pitch. It only just dawned on Cream on how heavy Amy's hammer was and the rabbit girl began to worry that she wouldn't be able to swing it properly. Cosmo got ready to throw the ball.

"I'm sorry if I hit you at all Cream." said Cosmo.

"Don't worry Cosmo." said Cream sweetly "I won't get mad."

Cosmo threw the ball at Cream and the rabbit swung the bat a fraction to early and missed the ball. Amy caught the ball and Cream just saved himself from falling over due to the weight of the hammer.

"Strike!" yelled Amy.

She threw the ball back to Cosmo and Cosmo caught it this time. Cream got ready to bat and Cosmo got ready to bowl. Cosmo threw the ball at Cream and the rabbit tried to hit it. She missed again and Amy caught it.

"Strike!" yelled Amy.

She threw the ball back to Cosmo and the Seedrian caught it in her hands. Cream prepared to swing one last time. Cosmo threw the ball and Cream missed it yet again. She swung the hammer too hard and she ended up falling over. Amy caught the ball.

"Strike!" yelled Amy "Batter out!"

"Aw, I failed." muttered Cream, slinking off and giving Amy her hammer back.

"Never mind Cream, there's always next time." said Amy reassuringly as she prepared to bat again.

Meanwhile, Team Diamond had arrived at Mobotropolis at long last and they headed towards Castle Acorn. Seeing the castle again brought back some fond memories to Lennox as he remembered an old heist on the castle sometime ago. The four hunters were about to go into Castle Acorn until they noticed Tails, Cosmo, Amy and Cream playing baseball near Royal HQ. The very scene made Lennox curious and he and his team mates wondered over to investigate. They headed away from Castle Acorn and towards Royal HQ which was only a few paces away. The four hunters hid behind a corner of the building and they watched the baseball game unfold before them. Cosmo threw the ball at Amy and Amy whacked the ball high into the air. Tails ran off to try and catch the ball and Amy ran around the pitch.

"Who are those four twerps then?" asked Roxy.

"They look like little kids to me." said Owen "Who they belong to I dunno but I know I've never seen them before."

"I don't know who the rabbit and plant creature are but I know who that twin-tailed fox and that pink hedgehog are." said Lennox "They're Tails and Amy."

"Who are they" asked Alistair.

"Friends of Sonic the Hedgehog." said Lennox "I've heard of them just like I've heard of Sonic. Tails is Sonic's friend and Amy is Sonic's would-be-girlfriend. If those two are here then Sonic can't be far."

"This gives me an idea." said Owen "Why don't we kidnap Tails and Amy and use them to draw Sonic out and when he comes to save them, we can get him!"

"Great idea Owen." said Roxy "I have a better idea though; we kidnap Tails and Amy and bring them to Lola Gunn. Then once Sonic comes to rescue them, Lola can just shoot him the moment he arrives."

"Good thinking you two." said Lennox "But we can't kidnap them here. We'll create a scene and catch the attention of anybody that's possibly in this building."

"In that case, you three hide in the forest and I'll lure them to you." said Roxy "Once I bring them to you, you all pounce on them and tie them up. Then we bring them to Lola Gunn."

"Good plan Roxy." droned Alistair "We'll wait for you on the outskirts of Green Hill Zone."

"Let's go boys and wait for Roxy to bring Tails and Amy to us." said Lennox, getting up and running off.

Lennox, Owen and Alistair all left Royal HQ and ran back to Green Hill Zone. The moment the boys left, Roxy rubbed her hands together and crept out of her hiding place. Cream was getting ready for another bowl and Cosmo was preparing to throw the ball. Before anyone could do anything, Roxy began shrieking at the top of her voice.

"Help!" she cried "Oh please, somebody help me!"

Cream and Cosmo stopped what they were doing and Tails and Amy looked at Roxy. The raccoon stared helplessly at the four friends. She continued to shriek.

"I'm in need of help!" she cried "Can any of you four nice people help a poor, helpless woman such as myself?"

"Well sure miss." said Tails "What's the problem?"

"My mother's been kidnapped by an Eggman robot!" lied Roxy "She needs help and I can't do anything about it! I've heard about you and how heroic you are little boy and I've heard about how heroic you are as well miss. Can you two help me?"

Despite being a treasure hunter, Roxy happened to be an exceptionally good actress. In fact, she once trained to be in actress but went bankrupt before her career could go anywhere, hence the reason she's with H.U.N.T. now. Her acting seemed to be paying off because Amy seemed to be buying her act.

"Well if there's an Eggman robot that needs pounding then me and Tails can help you!" declared Amy, taking her hammer from Cream and swinging it heftily "Come on Tails, this poor girl needs help!"

"Shouldn't we get Sonic to help us?" asked Tails.

"No Tails, we can handle this ourselves." boasted Amy "Besides, if I can save a poor woman's mother by myself then Sonic will be fawning over me, impressed with my heroism!"

Tails just face-palmed himself whereas Roxy just smirked at Amy.

These kids are such dunce heads! laughed Roxy in her mind Especially the pink hedgehog girl! This was much easier then I thought!

"So miss…" began Amy.

"My name is Roxy." introduced Roxy.

"Nice to meet you Roxy." said Amy "I'm Amy Rose, Sonic's girlfriend…"

"Would-be-girlfriend." corrected Tails.

Amy frowned at Tails and the fox recoiled quickly. The look Amy gave to Tails could kill somebody it was that scary. Amy kept her temper in and turned back to Roxy, leaving Tails to breathe a sigh of relief.

"As I was saying, we'll help save your mother." said Amy "Can you show us where Dr. Eggman went?"

"Sure." lied Roxy "He took my mother that way. Follow me." she said, pointing to Green Hill Zone.

Roxy bounded off with Amy and Tails running after her. Cream and Cosmo just stood there and watched Amy and Tails follow Roxy off to Green Hill Zone. Cosmo began to think to herself. Something seemed awfully suspicious here. Anyone usually crying for help would call for Sonic wouldn't they? Why did she pick Tails and Amy? And how did Roxy even manage to find Royal HQ? Something didn't add up here.

"Cosmo, should we tell Mr. Sonic about this?" asked Cream.

"No Cream, Tails and Amy can tell him everything." said Cosmo "Although I wonder why Roxy picked Tails and Amy to help her in particular."

"Maybe they were the first people she ran into and thought they could help." suggested Cream "After all, she did say she had heard of their heroism."

"I know Cream." said Cosmo "It's just, something seems a little bit wrong here. Maybe it's just me I dunno. Let's get some lunch and we'll wait for them to come back."

So Cosmo and Cream left the custom made baseball pitch and went into Royal HQ where lunch was just being served.

Down at Green Hill Zone, Roxy, Tails and Amy arrived in the outskirts of the forest. They all stopped for a quick breather before carrying on.

"So this is where Eggman took your mother?" asked Amy.

"Yes." puffed Roxy "He went through the forest and I think he's waiting to get me too. You two go first, I'll watch your backs."

"OK." said Amy "Tails, let's go."

Amy kept her Piko-Piko hammer ready and she, Tails and Roxy crept into the forest. Amy and Tails kept their senses on high alert for any sign of an Eggman robot or Eggman himself. Amy seemed really keen on doing this whereas Tails looked a little nervous. He had been tagged by Eggman robots in the forest before so he feared this would happen again. Nevertheless, Amy was on his side so he at least had some back up and Amy was extremely capable of taking care of herself, especially since she had that big scary hammer so he would be OK. As Amy and Tails crept into the forest, Roxy just stood there and waited as they crept on. She then cupped her hands around her mouth and yelled.

"Now boys!"

Before Tails and Amy could figure out what Roxy just said, Lennox, Alistair and Owen leaped down from the tree branches and they surrounded them. Lennox drew out two revolvers and pointed them at Tails and Amy. Owen flexed his biceps and Alistair bared his fearsome claws. Tails and Amy stood back-to-back and they prepared for a fight.

"Who are you three creeps then?" demanded Amy furiously.

"That is classified information." snapped Lennox "All you must know is we're here to kidnap you and hold you hostage."

"And I happen to be with these three lovely boys." sneered Roxy, walking up to her team mates.

"You're with them…so you tricked us!" shouted Tails "This whole thing was a trap! How could you?"

"We're mercenaries kid, it's our job to trick people." snapped Roxy "Get them boys."

"Roxy, do I have to remind you yet again I give the commands?" snapped Lennox.

"No sir." muttered Roxy.

"Get them team mates!" ordered Lennox.

Owen raised his arms and he advanced menacingly on Amy. Amy furiously whacked the muscular rabbit with her Piko-Piko hammer, sending him flying backwards and crashing into a tree, which he ended up knocking over. The tree crashed onto the ground, taking several smaller trees with it.

"Don't you dare touch me you dirty bunny!" shrieked Amy.

Alistair pounced on Amy from behind and he wrapped his arms around her. Tails grabbed Alistair's ears and he yanked on them, causing Alistair to yelp an ominous, groaning sounding yelp and let go of Amy. Amy walloped Alistair as hard as she could with her hammer and Tails grabbed her by the arms.

"Quick, let's get outta here before they catch us!" cried Tails, twisting his tails around one another and taking flight.

He carried Amy off the ground and up through the trees. Lennox furiously tried to shoot them with his twin revolvers but he missed every shot and Roxy couldn't help because she didn't have a gun. Tails and Amy disappeared through the trees and Tails flew on away from Green Hill Zone and towards Royal HQ. Lennox began to get mad.

"Don't just stand there Alistair! GET THEM!" he bellowed.

"Yes master." droned Alistair, flapping his fearsome wings and swooping after Tails and Amy.

No one in the world could fly faster then Alistair, not even kung-fu master Bladefeather the Falcon so Tails and Amy were toast up in the sky. Tails pressed on as he neared Mobotropolis but Alistair caught up with him and tackled him from behind. Tails and Amy plummeted down to the ground like a bird that's just been shot dead. Tails and Amy crashed into the ground and Alistair flew down after them. He grabbed them by the scruffs of their necks and he carried them back to Green Hill Zone. Upon arrival though, Amy whacked Alistair's leg with her hammer, causing Alistair to let go of her and she fell down towards the trees below her. Tails thumped Alistair's other leg with his fist and Alistair let go of him. Tails flew down to catch Amy but he was a little too late. Amy ended up getting caught in a tree branch by her dress. Anyone seeing this would probably burst out laughing. Amy began to glow red with embarrassment as now she was stuck in a tree by her dress, people down below would be able to see her knickers. Tails flew over to Amy and he unhooked her dress from the tree. Before he could fly down and put Amy down, Alistair charged into Tails and walloped him. Tails found himself plummeting to the ground yet again and he crashed into a pile of leaves with Amy crashing on top of him. Alistair swooped down to grab Tails and Amy but Amy walloped him with her hammer before he could even touch them. Alistair hurtled over them and crashed face first into a tree. His mask saved him a lot of pain. Roxy ran up to Amy and she drew out her baton. The raccoon in the bodysuit swung her bat at Amy but the pink hedgehog blocked the blow with her hammer. Tails got to his feet and left Amy to battle Roxy. The two girls whacked each other's weapons.

"A bat? Is that all you've got?" snorted Amy.

"I could say the same about that stupid hammer of yours!" retorted Roxy, pushing Amy away and trying to whack her with her baton.

Amy whacked the bat before it could hit her. She hit it so hard that she knocked it out of Roxy's hands. But the racoon didn't seem the least bit worried. Amy tried to whack Roxy with her hammer but the racoon dropkicked her in the face, causing her to drop the hammer. Roxy grabbed it and Amy backed away fearfully. The racoon held the hammer above her head and was about to let Amy have it until Tails tackled her in the legs, causing Roxy to fall over onto her stomach. Amy grabbed her hammer and tried to hammer Roxy's head in but Owen Pounder, who had recovered from Amy's earlier attack, appeared from nowhere and let Amy have it with an enormous punch. Amy was sent hurling backwards and she skidded to a halt on her back. Tails retaliated with a kick to the gut but Owen was so solidly built, he didn't even feel that attack. He grabbed Tails by the head and slammed him down on the ground. Then he tossed Tails away. Tails landed on his feet and he flew towards Owen, ready to attack but Alistair tackled him yet again.

"You're just too easy kid." he jeered as Tails crashed into the ground yet again.

Tails tried to get up but Owen seized him and held him with both hands. The super-strong bunny's grasp was much too tough for Tails to get out of. Amy saw Tails was in trouble and she ran over to help him but Lennox stepped in and stood in her way. Amy tried to hammer Lennox but she missed as the meerkat dodged. Lennox then put a foot on Amy's hammer and pinned it down. Amy tried to wrench her hammer out from under Lennox's foot but the meerkat just pointed a revolver at her head. Amy immediately freaked and froze to the spot.

"I wouldn't do that if I were you girl." snarled Lennox menacingly "I can't imagine you'll have much of a chance of surviving a bullet through your head."

Amy had no choice but to surrender. She let go of her hammer and raised her hands in surrender. Now Amy had surrendered, Roxy stood in and forced both of her arms behind her back. She tied them together with rope and forced Amy down on her knees. Lennox just picked up her hammer and threw it away. As for Tails, Alistair and Owen had tied his hands behind his back and forced him down on his knees. Now Tails and Amy were subdued, Lennox pulled something out of his pocket and he spoke into it.

"Lola Gunn are you there?" he asked.

He got an answer that only he could hear as he had the device to his ear.

"We have two special guests I think you'd like to see." he said "And they're your key to Sonic's demise."

Lola laughed darkly on the other side of the device. She then said something to Lennox.

"We're in Green Hill Zone." said Lennox "We're in the area facing Mobotropolis. You shouldn't have much trouble finding us."

He then put the device away. Tails and Amy hadn't heard a thing Lennox was saying but they had a feeling that call he just made wasn't a very pleasant one. Amy glared furiously at Lennox.

"OK meerkat, why have you kidnapped us?" she demanded.

"Didn't I already tell you?" snapped Lennox "We're holding you two hostage. That's why we've kidnapped you."

"Why are you holding us hostage?" asked Tails nervously.

"We'll let our little friend tell you." said Owen.

"And what little friend might that be then?" asked Amy.

Just as she said that, something whooshing through the leaves and branches darted over their heads. The thing then leaped into the air, did a somersault and landed on the ground in front of Tails and Amy. It was of course, Lola Gunn. The bounty hunter turned around and faced Team Diamond's captives. Amy immediately got angry and she glared at the skunk.

"You!" she screamed.

"That's right pinkie, it's me again." sneered Lola "Thought you'd seen the last of me?"

"You know her?" asked Tails.

"Yes I do." said Amy bitterly "She was the bounty hunter Eggman hired to kill you that night you almost died!"

"Sh-sh-she is?" squeaked Tails.

"I am indeed little boy." said Lola "Eggman hired me to kill you and Sonic that night. I almost succeeded too but Sonic and his poorly dressed girlfriend her decided to stop me."

"I am not poorly dressed!" snapped Amy.

"Little girl, you need to learn that adults have a much better sense in fashion then little teenagers like you." said Lola coldly.

"So have you come to kill me again?" asked Tails nervously.

"Not this time boy." said Lola flatly "I want revenge on Sonic the Hedgehog for costing me the biggest bounty of my career and you two are going to bring him to me."

"Are we heck?" screeched Amy, trying to attack Lola but the bounty hunter just pulled a pistol out of her pouch and pointed it at her.

Lola always had spare weapons and although Sonic had broken her pistols during a fight with him, she had equipped herself with spares and in her backpack, she had a spare rifle too. Amy stayed down on her knees and shook like a leaf.

"The only reason you're still alive is because I need you right now." purred Lola in a chilling voice "Don't make me have to decide you're useless to me."

"OK!" squeaked Amy.

"Here's a question I have Lola." said Tails "Who are these guys?"

He motioned to Team Diamond who stood behind him and Amy with dirty glares on their faces.

"I'm sorry boy but I can't tell you." said Lola "These guys wish to remain anonymous to you. All I can say is I've formed an alliance with these four to help me kill Sonic. I'm usually solo but with Sonic, I need reinforcements so I hired them to help me. We all want Sonic dead so all of us benefit from the hedgehog's death. Lennox, gag them both." she ordered.

Lennox obeyed and he pulled a pair of blindfolds out of his cloak pocket. He wrapped a blindfold each around Tails and Amy's mouths. Now the fox and hedgehog couldn't speak. All they could do was make muffled noises from behind their gags. Lola then lowered the straps on her backpack and bent over backwards so the backpack would fall off. The backpack slid off her back and onto the ground. She then opened one of the side pockets on the backpack and she pulled out a notepad and a pen. She scribbled a note and then handed it over to Alistair.

"Take this to Sonic's house and give it to Sonic." she ordered.

"But Sonic isn't home." noted Alistair.

"I'd deliver it to that building next door to Castle Acorn." said Roxy "Chances are, Sonic's there since we found these two there." she motioned to Tails and Amy.

"Then deliver it there then." ordered Lola impatiently "If Sonic isn't there then just tell whoever's at that building to give it to Sonic."

"Yes Lola." droned Alistair.

He held the note in his clawed feet and he flew off to Royal HQ. Lola watched as Alistair flew away and she turned back to her backpack. She unzipped the backpack and pulled out her new rifle which was in half so it would fit in the backpack. She clipped the rifle halves together to make it whole and she put the backpack back on her back. She held the rifle and pointed it menacingly at Tails and Amy. The two captives panicked. Lola laughed and turned the rifle away from them.

"I'm not gonna shoot you two…yet." she said "But once Sonic arrives, he'll be dead before he gets within a few feet of you. I really must thank you four for helping me in my revenge."

"Don't mention it Lola." said Lennox "We're just happy to help you kill someone we want to kill. Once Sonic's gone, we won't have to worry about him foiling our heists."

Lola just grinned dryly. All she had to do was wait for Sonic to come and then, she could shoot the hedgehog dead…

Alistair arrived at Royal HQ but instead of knocking on the door and giving the note to whoever was in the headquarters; he just slipped the note under the door and flew away. He didn't see any point in just handing the note to anybody so he decided to just let someone find it and give it to Sonic. He hoped that Lola wouldn't be kept waiting for long. In the headquarters, the Royal Fighters were having a spot of lunch and they were just finishing their meal until Mandy heard the note being slipped under the door. Mice have excellent hearing after all and Mandy could easily hear a tiny noise like that. Mandy left the table and spotted the note lying at the foot of the door. She picked the note up and looked at it. It said it was for Sonic so Mandy took the note over to the table and passed it to Sonic, who had just eaten his last chilli-dog.

"Hey blue dude, you've got a letter." said Mandy, passing the note to Sonic.

"A letter? For me?" said Sonic in surprise "Well that was unexpected. I wonder who it's from."

He took the note from Mandy and he read it. What he read made his heart stop and his stomach do a back flip. The note read these terrifying words all written by the hand of Lola Gun:

Dear Sonic,

This is a note from Lola Gunn, your old enemy. I have kidnapped two of your friends. I have kidnapped the twin-tailed fox whom I tried to kill once and your poorly dressed girlfriend. I am holding them against their will in Green Hill Zone. If you want to see them alive then come to Green Hill Zone, alone and unarmed and face me. You have one hour. DON'T keep me waiting! If you do then your friends will end up lying on the ground dead with their blood staining the grass! The clock is ticking…

Yours hoping to put a bullet in your head, Lola Gunn (Bang, bang, bang! I shoot to kill and kill for profits!)

A Gun For Hire Part 2

Story 69: A Gun For Hire Part 2

"Dear Sonic, This is a note from Lola Gunn, your old enemy. I have kidnapped two of your friends. I have kidnapped the twin-tailed fox whom I tried to kill once and your poorly dressed girlfriend. I am holding them against their will in Green Hill Zone. If you want to see them alive then come to Green Hill Zone, alone and unarmed and face me. You have one hour. DON'T keep me waiting! If you do then your friends will end up lying on the ground dead with their blood staining the grass! The clock is ticking…Yours hoping to put a bullet in your head, Lola Gunn Bang, bang, bang! I shoot to kill and kill for profits!" Sonic the Hedgehog read out loud as he read the note that had mysteriously ended up on the doorstep.

"Who's Lola Gunn?" asked Mandy Mouse.

"A bounty hunter who almost killed Tails one time*." said Sonic "Me and Amy managed to fend her off and save Tails with some help from Mariah the Medicine Cat. It appears she's back though."

"And she's got Tails and Amy!" squealed Cream the Rabbit.

"And she'll kill them unless you go to her!" cried Cosmo the Seedrian.

"According to the note, I have to face her alone and unarmed." said Sonic, looking at the killer note again.

"Why does this Lola Gunn person only want you sugah-hog?" asked Bunnie Rabbot "Did ya'll tick her off really badly or somethin?"

"I wouldn't be surprised if I did." said Sonic grimly "I did stop her from killing me and Tails so she probably has a score to settle with me. Well if Lola wants a pounding, she'll get one!"

Sonic jumped up from his chair, not bothering about knocking it over and he stormed off to the door.

"Nobody kidnaps my friends and holds them hostage!" grumbled Sonic "I'm gonna spin-dash Lola so hard she'll have permanent memory loss!"

Sonic was about to storm out of the door and charge off until Geoffrey St. John stopped him by grabbing the hedgehog's arm and holding him back.

"Have you back flipped of Intelligence Mountain and swan-dived into Lake Stupid mate?" cried Geoffrey "You can't go and face that bounty hunter alone!"

"And why not Geoffrey?" snapped Sonic.

"Think about it mate, she wants you and you alone." noted Geoffrey "Doesn't that sound a little suspicious?"

"No, it sounds like Lola's inviting me to a party and I don't wanna be late!" retorted Sonic "Now let me go Geoffrey St. John!"

"No mate!" said Geoffrey sternly, tightening his grip on Sonic's arm "This whole thing sounds and smells like a booby trap and I'm not letting you run into it! If you do, you'll just end up with a head full of bullets!"

"Well then what am I supposed to do?" demanded Sonic "Sit there and hope Lola changes her mind?"

"No." said Geoffrey "You sit down and wait. I'll go and confront this Lola Gunn woman myself."

"Why Mr. St. John?" asked Cream politely.

"I'm gonna see if I can reason with her." said Geoffrey "See if I can get her to back down or summet. Hopefully get her to let Tails and Amy go and abandon her goals."

"Some how, I can't see that happening." said Wilson the Dog "Bounty hunters aren't exactly the easiest to reason with."

"Well we don't know if we don't try." said Geoffrey "If all else fails, I'll call you blokes for help."

"Yeah right, that'll work." snorted Mandy "How will we be able to hear you from here to Green Hill Zone? We're not exactly next door to it are we?"

"I'll equip myself with this little device." said Geoffrey, showing everybody a ring shaped device with a button on it "When I press this button, it'll sound an alarm off in the lab and that'll mean I need your help."

"Sounds like a plan sugah." said Bunnie brightly "Ah hope it works."

"OK then mates, I'll be off." said Geoffrey "Wish me luck, I'm gonna need a lot of it."

Geoffrey was just about to head out of the door until Cosmo left the table and ran up to him. The skunk looked at her in wonder.

"What do you want flower?" he asked.

"I wish to come with you too." said Cosmo "I want to be there for poor Tails and I'll see if I can help you reason with Lola."

"Oh no Cosmo, you're not going." said Sonic sternly "I'm not risking you getting caught either. I can rely on Geoffrey as he's had experience in sticky situations but you're not exactly the world's greatest fighter are you? Heck, you can't even punch somebody."

"Sonic mate, the lass is with me." assured Geoffrey "She'll be fine. Not to mention, if we give her something to throw at Lola, she'll catch the bounty hunter completely off guard once she throws it at her!"

"What can I throw at Lola?" asked Cosmo.

"A wok maybe." suggested Sonic "You threw one at an enemy in Chun-Nan and it worked perfectly."

"Nah, a wok's too conspicuous." said Wilson "Take this baseball." he said, tossing one to Cosmo.

The Seedrian caught it in her hands.

"A baseball? How classic." muttered Mandy "Yet again, it's always a good distraction."

Cosmo slipped the baseball a pocket on the back of her white and green skirt.

"We'll call ya when we need you mates." said Geoffrey "See ya later."

"Good luck Mr. St. John." said Cream sweetly.

"We've got ya back." said Sonic "I hope you can save Tails and Amy."

Geoffrey nodded and he and Cosmo left Royal HQ and headed off to Green Hill Zone. The moment the two left, Cream immediately asked.

"Do you think Mr. St. John and Cosmo will be alright?"

"I wish I was going." muttered Sonic "But Geoffrey's sure Lola's got a trap set for me and he's willing to spring it. At least he's got a way of calling us if he needs us. Let's just hope Geoffrey can get Lola to stand down and let Tails and Amy go."

Sonic had a strong feeling in his gut that Lola wasn't the type of person that could be reasoned with. He had a feeling that Lola would just kill Geoffrey and Cosmo without listening to a word they had to say…

Meanwhile in Green Hill Zone, Lola Gunn was pacing around and around, clearly bored, as she waited for Sonic to arrive. Tails and Amy remained on their knees, bound and gagged and growing more nervous minute after minute. Team Diamond just sat by a tree and waited for something to happen. Alistair was hanging upside down on a tree branch like all bats do. Every few minutes, Lola would pass Tails and Amy and threateningly point her rifle at them, just to make them jump in fright. She got bored of doing this though so to make things more fun, she pointed her rifle at them and then shot just narrowly above their heads just to scare them. The blast singed their craniums and Tails and Amy began to shake like a bunch of leaves blowing about in the wind. Lola clearly appeared to be enjoying this. After all, her favourite toy is a gun after all. After singeing Tails and Amy's craniums, Lola rested on her rifle as if it was a cane and she sighed to herself.

"This is why I prefer to hunt my victims rather then wait for them to come to me." she muttered "I don't have to put up with this agonizing wait."

"Lola, do keep it in mind that Sonic might not be at that building yet and the note is just waiting for him to read it." noted Lennox Meers the Meerkat "For all we know, we could be waiting for a while. I wouldn't be too surprised if we ended up waiting until dusk…"

"Oh shut up you rejected car insurance website mascot!" snapped Lola "Sonic's a speedy boy and once he finally reads that note, he'll be here in a matter of seconds! Green Hill Zone's only a hearty jog away from that building next to Castle Acorn."

"I know." muttered Lennox, lowering his hat to shade his eyes from the sunlight "I'm just saying, Sonic could be anywhere right now."

"I wouldn't be shocked if it turned out he's fighting an Eggman robot again." muttered Roxy the Raccoon "That's all he ever does isn't it?"

"If that's the scenario then I'll be waiting for a long time." grumbled Lola "Maybe it would have been wise enough to find Sonic and give him the note so I know he will have read it and will be on his way to save his poor little friends."

She gave a steely gaze to Tails and Amy. The captive fox and hedgehog just mumbled behind their gags and gave Lola a worried look. Their expressions didn't seem to melt Lola's stony heart at all as she just glared harder at them.

"Don't give me that look you two." snarled Lola, pointing her rifle at them "You'll make me sick!"

Tails and Amy decided that angering Lola would be suicide so they stopped looking at her with worried expressions. Just when it seemed that the wait would continue, Roxy leaped to her feet and cupped her hands around her eyes. She could see Geoffrey and Cosmo coming towards them but she couldn't tell what they were as they were too far away.

"Hey guys, there's two individuals coming towards us." announced Roxy.

"Is Sonic one of them?" asked Lola hopefully.

"No, it looks like a skunk and a thing coming." said Roxy, trying as hard as she could to make them out.

"Oh well, I'll just add them to our hostage collection." said Lola dryly "You know what they say, the more the merrier. The more hostages we have, the quicker we'll draw Sonic out of hiding."

"In that case, we'll hide and you tell us when to ambush them Lola." said Lennox, hiding behind the tree his team were sitting by "Hide Team Diamond!" he ordered to his cronies.

Alistair heard him and he straightened himself up on the tree branch he was hanging from. Roxy hid beside Lennox and Owen hid behind some thick bushes. Lola just stood there with her rifle by her side. Shortly after Team Diamond hid themselves, Geoffrey and Cosmo finally arrived on the scene, earning some muffled cries of excitement from Tails and Amy. Geoffrey and Cosmo stopped in their tracks and the skunk glared at Lola. Lola glared back, her gaze like Medusa's. Geoffrey just folded his arms and kept on a straight face.

"So you're Lola Gunn I presume?" he said "You're much prettier then I thought you'd be."

"Oh shut up!" snapped Lola "I'm in no mood for being flirted with!"

She pointed the rifle at Geoffrey but the skunk didn't look the least bit bothered.

"Who are you anyway?" demanded Lola.

"The name's Geoffrey St. John." introduced Geoffrey "Royal Fighter.

And this is Cosmo the Seedrian, she's not from this planet."

"I can see that." said Lola coldly, staring at Cosmo with loathing "She's a freak! Look at her! She's got rosebuds for ears and leaves for hair! She looks like a mutant flower bed!"

Cosmo looked like she had been shot through the heart after hearing those insults. The Seedrian was not going to let Lola get away with this, she was going to make a stand and she was going to do it now.

"I'm not a freak!" she yelled at Lola "Just because I look different to you doesn't mean I'm a freak! I don't think your kind are freaks because they look different so don't call me a freak because I look different!"

Tails made a muffled sound that sounded like he was trying to say "Yeah! You tell her Cosmo!". Lola just thumped Tails on the head with the barrel of her rifle.

"How dare you snap it me you little creature!" growled Lola "No one speaks to me like that!"

She pointed her rifle at Cosmo and prepared to shoot her until Geoffrey ran in and grabbed the rifle's barrel. He shoved it upwards, causing Lola to shoot up at the sky and Geoffrey kicked Lola in the stomach, causing her to let go of the rifle. Geoffrey pointed the rifle at her and kept her down on the ground. Lola just glared at Geoffrey but stayed where she was.

"We read the note you gave us Lola." said Geoffrey "And I can see what your little plot is. You want to draw Sonic out and then shoot him don't you?"

"Wow, an intelligent boy! I'm so shocked to actually be face to face with one!" said Lola sarcastically clapping at Geoffrey "Yes Geoff, I want to kill Sonic the Hedgehog in revenge for preventing me from killing his twin-tailed friend. And I'm not about to let you and your pet freak stop me!"

"Get your facts straight trigger girl, Cosmo is not my pet and she's not a freak!" snapped Geoffrey "She's a person like we are and if you don't stop bad-mouthing her I'll fire this blasted thing!"

"Go ahead, shoot me." dared Lola "We Mobians have been shooting each other for years now, why not add another Mobian on the list of shot Mobians?"

Geoffrey's finger itched to pull the trigger but his mind told him no so the skunk didn't shoot Lola. He lowered the rifle slightly.

"I'm not gonna shoot you luv." said Geoffrey "I'm not like you. But I am gonna free Tails and Amy and haul you to a police station where you'll do time for your crimes!"

"Yeah right, I was incarcerated once and I escaped." sneered Lola "No one can capture me and keep me under lockdown."

"Oh we'll see about that lass." said Geoffrey "Now come quietly and this won't get difficult."

"Things won't get difficult for me, but they will for you." snorted Lola "Team Diamond! Get him!" she yelled.

Team Diamond leaped out of their hiding place and Owen Pounder seized Geoffrey by wrapping his arms around the underneath of Geoffrey's arms and hoisting him off the ground, causing him to drop Lola's rifle. Lola grabbed the rifle and pointed it at Geoffrey and Lennox stood beside her. Roxy and Alistair stood behind Cosmo menacingly and the Seedrian stood still. Geoffrey struggled in Owen's grasp but the rabbit was much too tough. Alistair grabbed Geoffrey's arm and spotted the device on his wrist. Alistair took it off and crushed it in his claws.

"There, now you can't call for back-up." he rumbled.

"Oh damn it!" muttered Geoffrey "So who are these four clowns then?" he asked Lola.

"We are a classified team with a classified career." said Lennox bluntly "Who we are and what we do is none of your nosey business Royal Fighter."

"All you need to know is we're helping Lola kill Sonic so he can't get in our way later." said Owen, tightening his grip on Geoffrey's arms "And she's going to reward us handsomely for it!"

"So you're bounty hunters too?" asked Cosmo.

"No." said Lennox "Our real job is classified child so don't you dare ask me for it. You're not getting that information from me."

"Right." said Geoffrey "I won't ask then. So Lola, what are ya gonna do with me?"

"Take me to Sonic the Hedgehog Geoffrey St. Jackass or I'll kill the hostages." threatened Lola, pointing her long rifle at Tails' head, making the fox shudder "This is your only warning, if you refuse, I'll shoot them."

Tails and Amy began to shake with fear. Geoffrey decided now was the time for trying to make Lola stand down.

"Lola, you don't have to do this mate." said Geoffrey "You don't have to be a bounty hunter, there are better ways in the world to get money then just killing people and getting rewarded for it you know."

"No there isn't." said Lola coldly "The only way to get profits is to hunt for it."

"That is so wrong Lola!" cried Geoffrey "I'm part of the R.F.S. and I get paid for it. And what about all the other blokes in the world who do jobs? Do they get profit from their work?"

"Not enough of it." said Lola icily "Bounty hunting is where the highest price is. That's why I became a bounty hunter. I'm obsessed with money and I always felt the jobs on offer never offered enough. Bounty hunting offers lots and lots so I became a bounty hunter and now I'm one of the richest, if not the richest, girl on the planet! I got that my way, not yours and I do not plan to change that!"

"If you're obsessed with money you should have joined us." said Lennox "We've got more money then you can possibly imagine."

"Hmm…" mused Lola "I'll think on that." she said. She turned back to Geoffrey and said "Got any more feeble junk to throw at me?"

"Yeah actually." said Geoffrey "Why are you so obsessed with killing people?"

Lola fumed. She hated it when people asked her that question. Regardless, she decided to answer the skunk.

"I used to be part of a street gang when I was younger." she said "We all played with guns and loved to shoot things as we pleased. We then decided to shoot somebody for the fun of it. I loved it, the sight of a person getting shot by my very gun seems to give me a huge rush of adrenaline and a huge feeling of excitement so we decided to just go around shooting what we liked. One day though, my whole gang was shot by the cops in a fierce gun fight. I barely escaped with my life although I still have the scars from the bullet wounds I received in my shoulders and back and I vowed that I would shoot anybody I liked, especially cops just to avenge my gang. And being a bounty hunter means I get paid to shoot people so I got the job and the rest is history."

"Wow, you let a gun rule your life girl." muttered Geoffrey "You are one sad skunk."

"Maybe I am." said Lola, flicking her long white hair back over her shoulder "But why do I care? I enjoy it and I don't plan on stopping. Now, bring me Sonic the Hedgehog or the hostages will end up staining the grass with their blood!"

As much as Geoffrey was determined to save Tails and Amy, he was not willing to let Lola kill Sonic the Hedgehog. He refused to talk. He remained tight lipped and put on a serious face. Lola fumed at him.

"Fine, have it your way." she muttered.

Lola pointed her rifle at Tails and Amy and she prepared to shoot them both until Cosmo stepped forward and got down on her knees.

"Wait!" she begged, her eyes filling with tears "Please Miss Gunn, don't kill my friends! Please I beg you! I'm down on my knees and begging for mercy, please don't make me beg any harder!"

"You can shut up you alien freak!" snapped Lola "I'm not interested in what an extraterrestrial has to say."

"Lola, please, if you have any pity in your heart, don't kill Tails and Amy!" begged Cosmo, her eyes becoming a waterfall as tears trickled down her cheeks "I know you have a grudge on Sonic but that doesn't mean you have to kill the innocent! Tails and Amy shouldn't have to die because Sonic did what was right! And Sonic shouldn't die for stopping you from killing Tails for money! You don't have to kill somebody just for getting in your way Lola! Please, have mercy and please leave my friends alone!"

Cosmo's begs and pleas for mercy just made Lola even angrier. She was itching to shoot Cosmo right now. Yet seeing the snivelling Seedrian beg for mercy over Tails and Amy made Lola decided to do something just to hurt her. Lola turned to Lennox.

"Hey Lennox. Who should I kill first?" she asked.

"I dunno Lola." said Lennox "I think I'll let The Decider make the choice for us."

"Ah yes! The Decider!" cheered Owen "I love The Decider!"

He lifted his hat off his head and pulled a small golden coin out from the black stripe around the top of the hat which was really a black band. Lennox put his hat back on his head and held the coin in front of Cosmo. The side Cosmo could see had an image of Alicia Acorn, Sally's mother's face on it.

"He dies." he pointed at Tails.

He turned the coin around and showed Cosmo the other side which had an image of a crown on it.

"She dies." he pointed at Amy "Let's hope the coin doesn't pick the one you want to live the most."

Cosmo just stared at the meerkat, petrified with shock. Lola wasn't going to listen to her and instead was going to let Lennox decide who she should kill first! So much for reasoning with her! Lennox placed the coin on his thumb and finger and he flicked the coin into the air with his thumb. The coin spun around five times in the air and Lennox caught it in his hand. Lennox placed the coin on the top of his other hand and he lifted his hand up to see the coin. It had landed Alicia Acorn side up.

"Heads." said Lennox, placing the coin back in his hat "Tails dies."

Cosmo felt like someone had just ripped her entire head off.

"No!" she wailed "Please! Anything but that! Not Tails!"

Lola ignored the snivelling Seedrian and she pointed the rifle at Tails' head. Tails began to sweat madly and he struggled in his bonds but try as he might, he couldn't get free. Lola prepared to pull the trigger until Cosmo, out of sheer desperation, fished the baseball out of her back pocket and threw it straight into Lola's eye. The bounty hunter cried in pain and she clutched her throbbing eye. Geoffrey kicked Owen in the knee in order to make the rabbit let go of him and he pushed Owen away. Geoffrey pounced on Lola and tackled her to the ground. Lola pushed on Geoffrey to try and get the skunk off of herself but Geoffrey was too strong for her. Owen stomped onto the scene and tried to punch Geoffrey but the skunk heard him coming so he moved out of the way, causing Owen to miss and accidentally punch Lola instead. The punch was so hard, it almost knocked Lola out. She felt like she was about to die right now.

"Sorry Lola." said Owen, picking her up "It wasn't my fault, I tried to hit the skunk guy."

As for Geoffrey, he quickly untied Tails and Amy and the two took their gags off.

"You two, run to Royal HQ and get Sonic!" ordered Geoffrey "Cosmo, you go with them! I'll keep these jerks busy!"

"OK Mr. St. John." said Cosmo.

"Be careful Geoffrey." said Tails, grabbing Cosmo by the arms and carrying her off the ground as he flew into the air with his twirling twin tails.

Amy grabbed Cosmo's ankles and Tails ended up carrying her as well as Cosmo. The fox flew off as fast as he could with the girls in tow. Lennox clenched his fists angrily.

"Alistair! Stop them!" he ordered.

Alistair obeyed and flew off after Tails, Amy and Cosmo. Geoffrey tried to stop the bat but Roxy lunged at him and gabbed his legs, tripping the skunk up. The raccoon took the bat off her back and tried to whack Geoffrey with it but Geoffrey grabbed Roxy's wrist and held her arm in place, preventing her from hitting him. Geoffrey pushed Roxy off of himself and got back to his feet. Roxy tried to batter him yet again but Geoffrey dodged the bat attack and he punched Roxy in the face.

"Sorry luv, I don't usually treat girls this way." said Geoffrey "Only bad girls."

He then proceeded to punch Roxy again. Roxy spiralled around in a dizzy circle and she crashed near a tree. She fell down on her side and groaned in pain. Owen got to his feet and gave Geoffrey an uppercut so hard, Geoffrey felt like his entire jaw had shattered to pieces like a broken window. The skunk hurled through the air and landed painfully on his side. Owen ran up to Geoffrey but the skunk managed to shake off the blow to him earlier and he aimed his crossbow at the muscular rabbit. He fired a stun dart at Owen and the dart hit Owen in the neck. The dart stunned Owen and the rabbit fell onto his stomach in a deep sleep. Lennox immediately drew out his twin revolvers and he pointed them at Geoffrey. Geoffrey just smirked at him.

"Heh! I like the twin revolvers. They match your cowboy hat." he mocked, taking note of Lennox's wide brimmed hat.

"Do not mock my attire and weaponry you little stinker!" snapped Lennox "I will blast you without hesitance unless you surrender!"

"Suit yourself mate." said Geoffrey, aiming his crossbow at Lennox's face "Think you can shoot me before I can shoot you?"

But to add insult to injury, Lola Gunn showed up from nowhere and pointed her rifle at Geoffrey St. John. The skunk froze and stared helplessly at the two enemies pointing guns at him. His arm shook nervously.

"Heh. A little…um…Mexican stand-off we seem to…have…" he said nervously, sweating a little "And it…seems to be…one…sided… against me…"

"Enough with the bad jokes skunk!" snapped Lola "Surrender or we'll blow your head off!"

Geoffrey raised his arms in surrender, knowing he couldn't possibly hope to win against two people pointing a gun at him. He could possibly shoot one first but then he'd get shot by the other so it was useless. However, the Royal Fighter had a sneaky trick up his sleeve. Lola and Lennox lowered their guns and prepared to grab him until Geoffrey aimed his crossbow at them and fired a flash-bomb in their eyes. The flash blinded them both for a moment and they clutched their eyes.

"Sorry. I left the flash on." joked Geoffrey "That shot should make a good photo though."

He then proceeded to uppercut Lola in the chin before she could regain her vision. Lola landed sharply on her side and dropped her rifle. Geoffrey grabbed the rifle and walloped Lennox with it before the meerkat could regain his vision. He then smacked a tree with the rifle and ended up breaking it just to stop Lola from using it. Unfortunately, that didn't mean Lola was weapon-less. She still had her twin pistols by her side. Lola regained her vision and fired her twin-pistols at Geoffrey. The skunk dodged the blasts from the pistols but Lola started rapidly firing in an attempt to tag him. Geoffrey began firing darts back in order to slow Lola down. Lola kept stopping her rapid fire to dodge the darts and Geoffrey ran for it. Unfortunately, he didn't get far. Roxy appeared from nowhere and tripped him by taking his legs out from underneath him. Geoffrey landed on his stomach and Roxy sat on his back. She grabbed his arm and forced it behind his back, making him yelp in pain. Roxy then proceeded to twist his arm to hurt him even more. Geoffrey cried in pain but he wasn't going to give up so easily.

"Give up hot shot?" sneered Roxy.

"Nah mate, you're just getting me warmed up!" sneered Geoffrey, wrenching his arm out of Roxy's grip.

He then raised his leg backwards and the heel of his boot smacked Roxy in the back. Roxy rolled off of Geoffrey and the skunk got back to his feet. He grabbed Roxy in a chokehold and he began to vigorously rub his knuckles on Roxy's cranium, making the raccoon squeal loudly.

"Ow! Ow! Stop it you wretch! You're ruining my hair!" shrieked Roxy.

"So what? You can just fix it later luv." sneered Geoffrey.

Then suddenly, someone grabbed him by the neck and hoisted him off the ground, causing him to let go of Roxy. It was Owen Pounder! The rabbit was awake at last! The dart's effects had worn off and he was looking very angry. Owen grabbed Geoffrey's ankles and slammed him on the ground as if Geoffrey was a roll of newspaper being used to swat a fly. Owen then tossed Geoffrey away and the skunk ended up crashing into the ground rather sharply on his side. The skunk groaned in pain and he tried to get up but the bones in his body didn't seem to want to knit right now. Lennox strode up to Geoffrey and he pointed his twin revolvers at him.

"Do. not. move." he said slowly and coldly.

Seeing as Geoffrey was too weak to fight, he had no choice but to surrender. Geoffrey raised his arms in a forfeit. Lennox then grabbed Geoffrey and quickly tied him up with the ropes used for Tails and Amy earlier. He tied Geoffrey's arms behind his back and he wrapped some rope around the skunk's body just to make sure he was more secure. The skunk bent down on his knees and fumed as Lennox finished tying him up. He was going to be a hostage now unless Tails, Amy and Cosmo got help.

Meanwhile, Tails, Amy and Cosmo had escaped Green Hill Zone and were on their way to Royal HQ but Alistair Drakken had caught up with them and Alistair grabbed Tails' arms with his clawed feet. Doing this caused Tails to let go of Amy and Cosmo. Cosmo's skirt spread out, causing her to float down to the ground and Amy remained holding onto Cosmo's ankles so Cosmo would float down with her and they both wouldn't crash. Alistair carried Tails up into the sky, the fox trying to get free by spinning his tails faster and faster to pull himself out of Alistair's grip.

"Ugh! Let me go!" cried Tails "Let me go!"

"No chance cretin." growled Alistair in his modified voice "You're coming back to Green Hill Zone with me. Can't have you tattling on us and bringing in reinforcements can we?"

"Let go of me!" ordered Tails, squirming madly "If you wasn't holding me right now I'd pound your ugly head in!"

"Silence you irksome little runt!" snapped Alistair "Or I'll swoop into the ground and use you as a cushion!"

Then suddenly, he was hit in the backside by something very hard. It was none other then Amy's infamous Piko-Piko hammer. Amy had summoned it from airspace (she can do that you know) and had thrown it at Alistair's bottom in order to make him let go of Tails. The blow had done just that and now Tails was free, he walloped Alistair's masked face with his fist. Big mistake as all that did was hurt Tails' fist.

"Ow!" he cried "What's your face made out of? Titanium Alloy?"

"This is a mask cretin." rumbled Alistair lowly "I wear it to hide my horribly disfigured face. It also makes my voice more intimidating."

"No it doesn't!" retorted Tails, kicked Alistair in the face this time "It makes you sound like a dork who's trying to sound cool!"

Alistair retaliated with a slash to the cheek on Tails. Tails screamed in pain as his cheek streamed with blood from three fresh cuts. Alistair then dropkicked Tails and sent him falling down to the ground. Cosmo ran forward and caught Tails in her arms. The two ended up falling over each other and stopping with Cosmo on top of Tails. The two stared at each other in a loving trance. If they weren't in danger now, this moment would have been perfect. Alistair swooped down and grabbed Cosmo by the waist. Amy threw a hammer at him but she missed and Alistair carried Cosmo up into the sky.

"Surrender now or I'll drop her!" he threatened.

"Go ahead!" sniffed Amy "Tails will just catch her before she can crash down stupid!"

"Well in that case, I'll kill her instead!" growled Alistair Drakken evilly "I'm sure my razor sharp claws will pierce her soft little neck really easily!"

"No!" cried Tails, flying up into the sky after Alistair "Let her go you creep!"

"You asked for her child then here she is!" roared Alistair, throwing Cosmo straight into Tails.

Cosmo crashed into Tails and the two ended up falling down to the ground again. Tails and Cosmo crashed into the ground and the impact was so hard, it appeared to have knocked them out. Alistair cackled evilly, his deep, growling laugh rumbled through the sky as he cackled. He swooped down and tried to grab Tails and Cosmo but Amy stopped him by trying to hammer his face in. She missed and Alistair swiped at her with his wing. The attack stunned Amy momentarily but the pink hedgehog recovered and tried to wallop him with her hammer. She missed again and Alistair grabbed her by her bangs. He lifted Amy off the ground and he slammed her down into it. Amy tried to wallop Alistair again but the bat caught her hammer in his hands and yanked it out of her hands. He then grabbed Amy by the arms and carried her back to Green Hill Zone. He flew back into the forest and he carried Amy over to where his team mates and Lola Gunn were. He let go of Amy and sent her falling down to the ground like a falling tree branch. Owen caught her and sat her next to the tied up Geoffrey St. John. Alistair then proceeded to fly back out of Green Hill Zone and pick up Tails and Cosmo. He grabbed Tails with one foot and he grabbed Cosmo with the other. He carried them both back to Green Hill Zone and he dropped them off at Lola and his team mate's location. Tails and Cosmo were both knocked out so they wouldn't be going anywhere. Team Diamond didn't have anymore rope with them so Lennox tied Amy's arms behind her back with the blindfold he had used to gag her earlier. As for Tails and Cosmo, he put their arms behind their backs and tied them together with the blindfold he'd used to gag Tails earlier. They were long blindfolds after all so it was long enough to tie two people's hands together. Amy fumed angrily.

"Man! How many times am I gonna play the damsel in distress today?" she moaned.

"Well that's just great!" muttered Geoffrey "You got caught before you could get Sonic for help! Now we're never going to get out of this are we?"

"SILENCE!" bellowed Lennox, pointing his twin revolvers at the skunk.

Geoffrey stopped talking and he remained on his knees, still as a statue and silent as a grave. Amy did the same. Lola Gunn marched up to the four captives and she drew out her twin pistols.

"Thank you for that feeble escape attempt Geoff." she said coldly "Now I have more hostages. Sonic will have to come out now he knows four of his friends are captives."

"Just you wait you trigger-happy witch!" snapped Amy "Sonic will spin-dash you into mush Lola!"

"Fat chance of that pinkie." muttered Lola "Sonic will surrender himself and I will shoot him dead. And once Sonic's dead, I'll kill you four just to add insult to injury. And once that's over, I'll be satisfied at long last and I can get back to my daily business. I really do have my new friends to thank though, this wouldn't have been possible without them."

"We're just happy to help you rid yourself of an enemy we wish to be rid of." said Lennox "Once Sonic's gone, we'll move onto Eggman as he's also a threat. Sonic's just a bigger one so he should be killed first which is why we're helping you Lola."

"I know Lennox." said Lola "And I thank you for it. Thanks to you, Sonic will end up being a stuffed head mounted on my wall."

The two villains cackled evilly in unison. They could just imagine the glorious scene of Sonic getting shot dead by Lola's pistols, completing Lola's revenge and giving Team Diamond fewer threats to worry about…

Back at Royal HQ, Sonic, Bunnie, Cream, Wilson, Mandy and Ruben had all been sitting around waiting for Geoffrey to call them. The wait had been absolute torture for them and Sonic's already short patience was beginning to wear thin. Geoffrey should have called him by now. Something must have gone wrong, very, very wrong. Sonic stamped his foot furiously and got up to his feet.

"That's it! I'm outta here!" he said furiously.

He was about to run off until Bunnie grabbed him by the arm.

"Wait sugah-hog!" she cried "Ya'll can't go and face that Lola Gunn person!"

"Bunnie, Geoffrey hasn't called us yet so he must be in trouble!" retorted Sonic "Now let go of me, I'm going to help him!"

"Sugah-hog, if ya'll go and face Lola Gunn, she might shoot ya." noted Bunnie.

"Nah she won't." boasted Sonic "Eggman's best robots couldn't shoot me, I'm just too fast for them and I'm much too fast for Lola Gunn!"

"But Mr. Sonic, she has Tails and Amy hostage." noted Cream "It's likely she'll kill them if you don't surrender to her."

"Then what am I supposed to do Cream?" demanded Sonic furiously "Just stand there and keep Lola waiting? That's real helpful that is!"

"Boys! Girls! Settle down!" cried Mandy, slamming the table with her hands "If it's really helpful to you lot, I have a plan."

"You do?" said Wilson in surprise "What is it then?"

"Gather around everybody." said Mandy.

Everybody leaned over the table and Mandy began talking to them in whispers. Sonic stood up straight and smiled.

"Mandy, that's a brilliant plan." said Sonic with a thumbs up "Let's go everybody! Our friends need some help!"

With that said, everybody ran out of Royal HQ and headed towards Green Hill Zone where Lola was waiting for them…

In Green Hill Zone, Lola Gunn was waiting for Sonic to come for Tails and Amy just like the note she'd sent to him had stated him to. Tails and Cosmo had come to only to see they had been tied together by a blindfold and they were at Lola Gunn's mercy yet again. The minute the two had woken up, Lola pointed her twin pistols at them just to make them jump. Scaring the living daylights out of her victims had brought strange fascination to the bounty-hunter skunk. Geoffrey was not amused with Lola's sadistic ways at all.

"Oy! Leave the poor kids alone!" yelled Geoffrey defensively.

"Shut up or I'll start picking on you St. John!" snapped Lola, pointing her pistols at Geoffrey's face.

Geoffrey didn't flinch or show any signs of fear. After eight months of heavy conflict with Dr. Eggman, he was used to having guns pointed at him by now.

"Once Sonic is finally dead, I think I'll kill you first." said Lola "You don't half irritate me Geoffrey!"

"I could say the same about you lass." muttered Geoffrey.

Lola decided not to kill the skunk right now as she wanted to have the satisfaction of watching his horrified face when she shot Sonic dead. Roxy the Raccoon suddenly leaped to her feet and peered into the distance. She could see Sonic the Hedgehog coming.

"Hey Lola, you can quit moaning about waiting now, Sonic's coming." announced Roxy.

"It's about time." muttered Lola "That blue idiot's not as fast as he claims to be."

Sonic zoomed through the trees and ran up to where Lola Gunn and Team Diamond were. He screeched to a halt, accidentally flinging soil all over Roxy who didn't think to stand out of the way as he zoomed past and he glared angrily at Lola Gunn. Lola glared back.

"Hello Sonic." she purred, flicking her hair to the side.

"Hello Lola." muttered Sonic "I guess you're up to no good again eh?"

"I am you blue twerp." said Lola with a dark grin on her face "I have four of your friends as you can see and if you don't stand down and pay the price for what you did to me, I will take it upon myself to kill them all."

"Yeah, I kinda guessed that after the unsubtle note you gave me." snapped Sonic "I have my own proposition. You let the hostages go and then I'll surrender."

Lola pretended to think for a moment before answering sharply "No."

"Fine, then nobody's happy." sneered Sonic "I won't stand down unless you let the hostages go."

"Then I'll make you stand down!" yelled Lola "Owen, grab him!"

Owen Pounder obeyed and he grabbed Sonic with his huge hands. He hoisted him off the ground and held him at arm's length away from him. Sonic squirmed in Owen's tough grasp but the muscular rabbit was much too tough, even for him. Lennox, Roxy and Alistair all showed themselves to Sonic and Sonic stared at them all.

"Who are they then? Your clubhouse buddies?" he jeered at Lola, earning an angry glare from the skunk.

"We are a classified team with a classified career." said Lennox "We wish to kill you so you cannot get in the way of our schemes so we teamed up with Lola Gunn to help bring you down."

"How can I get in your way if I don't even know who you all are?" demanded Sonic.

"You might wise up and discover us." noted Lennox "As secretive as we are, it isn't impossible for us to be found out so we wish to kill you. And since you want stand down for Lola, we will make you stand down for Lola."

He pulled out his twin revolvers and pointed them at Sonic. Lola pointed her twin pistols at Sonic and since Owen had Sonic subdued, the blue hedgehog couldn't move or run away at all. He was trapped. The hostages began to fear for poor Sonic.

"No! Please don't do it!" begged Tails.

"Don't kill Sonic! Please!" begged Amy.

Lola and Lennox ignored the pleading hostages and they were about to shoot Sonic until Sonic yelled at the top of his voice "Now team!" and out of nowhere, Cream & Cheese, Wilson, Mandy, Bunnie and Ruben all jumped out and pounced on Lola and Team Diamond. Mandy's plan was to let Sonic pretend to give himself up while they hid and when Sonic gave the signal, they pounced on the mercenaries. Bunnie dropkicked Owen in the back of the head, causing him to drop Sonic and Sonic leaped away from him. He zipped over to the hostages and he cut their bonds loose, freeing them all. Amy was the first to react, leaping on Sonic and grasping him in a hug.

"Sonic! You came to save us! Thank you, thank you, thank you!" she squealed, squeezing Sonic hard enough to rupture his lungs.

"Amy, can you thank me later? NOW IS NOT THE TIME!" screamed Sonic.

Amy let Sonic go and she summoned her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand. She and Sonic ran into battle, followed by Geoffrey and Tails. Unfortunately, Tails was yet again, pile-dived by Alistair Drakken. The fox glared angrily at the mask wearing bat.

"Me and you have some unfinished business little boy." growled Alistair.

"Funny, I was going to say the same about you!" retorted Tails, throwing a punch at Alistair.

Alistair blocked the punch and threw Tails' arm to the side, causing him to fall over. Cream decided to help Tails but Alistair smacked her with his wing and sent her sprawling.

"Fools! No flier on Mobius can match me!" he crowed, flapping his wings and flying off. Tails and Cream flew after Alistair but the speedy bat was already miles ahead of them, they would never catch the bat.

Down on the ground, Sonic, Amy, Geoffrey, Cosmo, Bunnie, Wilson, Mandy and Ruben all brawled it out with the rest of Team Diamond and Lola Gunn. Sonic and Amy were fighting Lola as they had unfinished business with her and the rest thought Team Diamond. Owen and Bunnie had gotten themselves into a boxing match, punching at each other and walloping each other in the face. Bunnie's punches were harder due to the fact her left arm was robotic but only her left arm was powerful. Owen had two powerful arms being as he worked out so he could give Bunnie a powerful punch with both fists and not just one. So whereas Bunnie could punch harder, Owen could throw more powerful punches as he had both fists to work with. Regardless, this was an even sided boxing match at the moment. As for Roxy, she and Mandy began to duke it out with each other with Roxy trying to hit Mandy with her bat but the mouse was too tough for Roxy. Roxy tried to bat Mandy but the mouse grabbed the bat, threw her arm aside and then kneed Roxy in the gut. Roxy gasped hoarsely as all the air in her lungs was sucked out of her. Wilson unsheathed his trademark spinning blade weapon and he held one of the blades at Roxy's throat in order to make her surrender. As for Lennox, he kept shooting rapidly at Ruben but the water panther kept dodging his attacks and he leaped into the air and dropkicked the meerkat in the face. Lennox fell onto his back and his hat fell off. Lennox grabbed his hat and put it back onto his head. He tried to grab his revolvers but Ruben squirted him with a huge jet of water, knocking Lennox back a few inches. As for Lola, she kept trying to shoot Sonic but the hedgehog was much too fast for her so she kept missing. Amy tried to wallop Lola with her hammer but she dodged the hammer strike and drop-kicked Amy in the face. Sonic spin-dashed Lola and knocked her over. He stole her twin pistols before she could grab them and he gave them to Amy. Amy threw the pistols on the ground and smashed them with her hammer. Lola had no weapons now. Lola leaped back to her feet and screamed angrily. She tried to punch Sonic in blind fury but trying to blindly attack somebody guarantees more of a chance of failing miserably then winning. Sonic put a hand on Lola's head and flipped himself over her. He landed behind her and punched her onto her stomach.

"Hey Gun-girl! If you're having so much trouble dealing with me, call your clubhouse buddies for help!" jeered Sonic.

"They are not my buddies!" screamed Lola "They are cannon fodder for me! I only need them to help me kill you and once I've done so, I'll kill them all so I don't have to pay them later!"

Unfortunately for her, Lennox overheard her and the look on his face was impossible to describe to you. Lola clasped her hands over her mouth in shock.

"Oops." she mumbled.

Lennox glared at Lola and he stomped over to her. Lola looked back at him with fear in her eyes. Never in her life had Lola been scared of anything.

"You…you plot to…kill us after you kill Sonic?" snarled Lennox "Your talk of…paying us was a pretence?"

"Y-y-y-yes." squeaked Lola "But I've changed my mind! I'm not going to now…"

"Save your lies bounty-hunter!" bellowed Lennox "This is why we don't dabble with bounty hunters! They can never be trusted! Well no one plots death on us and lives with it!"

He then proceeded to point his twin revolvers and Lola and shoot her rapidly. He shot Lola six times in the chest and neck and the bounty hunter skunk collapsed on the ground, dead at long last. Sonic was shocked to have seen all this happen. Still, at least he didn't have to worry about Lola anymore but he didn't want her dead, he just wanted her incarcerated that's all. Sonic glared angrily at Lennox.

"Hey creep! I don't like people who kill others!" he yelled "True Lola's an enemy of mine but I didn't want her dead!"

"What you want is insignificant to what we want." snapped Lennox "Now if you don't mind, I'll be escaping right now as this whole operation is compromised."

And with that, Lennox proceeded to flee for it. Sonic ran after the meerkat in the wide brimmed hat and short cloak, desperate to not let him get away. Lennox wanted Sonic dead so he may as well try and get him arrested so he'd have less threats to deal with. Lennox looked over his shoulder and saw Sonic running after him. Lennox pointed his revolvers behind him and began to rapidly fire at Sonic in an attempt to slow him down but when you can run at supersonic speeds, nothing can stop you. Sonic effortlessly dodged all the bullets fired at him and he leaped into the air. He spin-dashed Lennox, causing him to drop his revolvers and Sonic stomped on them both.

"Why do I love to smash guns so much?" wondered Sonic as he broke the two revolvers.

Lennox got back to his feet and Sonic tried to attack him. He punched at Lennox but Lennox grabbed Sonic's fist. Sonic punched at him with his other arm but Lennox grabbed his other fist. Now he had Sonic's fists stalled, he head-butted the hedgehog in the forehead, making Sonic cry in pain and then, while still holding Sonic, he kneed him in the gut. Sonic double over in pain and Lennox kicked Sonic over onto his side. Lennox's steel toe attachments made the kicks all the more painful. Lennox laughed maliciously as he kicked the downed Sonic repeatedly.

"Ha, ha, ha! You're the hero of Mobius hedgehog?" he sneered, kicking Sonic and sending him rolling across the ground "You're pathetic!"

He kicked him again.

"You're much weaker then I had anticipated!"

Another kick on poor Sonic.

"My organization shouldn't even be worried about you!"

He kicked Sonic the hardest he could possibly kick.

"Oh well, it means your demise at our hands will be all the more easier." crowed Lennox, kicking Sonic one final time.

Sonic grimaced in pain and he tried to stand up but Lennox pinned him down with his foot. Lennox drew out a shot gun he had kept spare in his cloak and he pointed it at Sonic's head.

"So, any last words before I blow your puny little brain out?" he purred.

"No but Amy might have something to say." said Sonic.

"What?" blurted Lennox.

Then suddenly, Amy appeared from behind and she walloped Lennox with her hammer as hard as she possible could. Lennox yelled at the top of his voice as he hurtled away from Sonic and he crashed head-first into a tree. Amy helped Sonic up onto his feet.

"Are you OK?" she asked nervously.

"I am now you're on the scene." said Sonic "You're a life saver Amy, D'ya know that?"

"Yes Sonic." beamed Amy "I do."

As for Lennox, the bedraggled meerkat picked himself up after his crash into the tree and he rubbed his head better. He could see that this battle was not going to end well for his team at all so he had to flee for it.

"Team Diamond! Retreat!" he yelled.

Roxy heard the order and she pushed Wilson's blade away from her neck. She ran off after Lennox. Owen punched Bunnie to the side and ran off after Roxy. Alistair threw Tails and Cream down into the ground and flew after Owen. The whole treasure hunting team fled as fast their legs would let them and Sonic just watched as Team Diamond fled for it. He decided to let them go as they were not worth it right now. Amy just stuck her nose in the air.

"Good riddance to bad rubbish!" she sniffed "I hope those creeps never show up again!"

"I know one creep who'll never show up again." said Sonic "Lola Gunn now the meerkat guy just killed her."

He and Amy walked back to the others and Amy saw Lola's dead body which was just lying there. Seeing Lola dead didn't bring any emotions of any kind at all to Amy as she hated her. All she said to that was.

"Humph! She deserved to get shot! She's been shooting people all her life so she deserved that!"

"Maybe she did." said Sonic "At least no one has to worry about her anymore."

"But we still have those four guys to worry about." noted Tails, clutching arm and rubbing it better "Who are they and who do they work for?"

"No idea Tails." said Sonic "They say they're classified. My best guess is to watch out for those four next time. They look like a dangerous group and they might even be worse then Lola."

"Worse or not, we'll bring them blokes down next time we meet them!" declared Geoffrey.

"You said it Geoff!" laughed Sonic "Now let's go home and forget about this whole affair.

And with that, everybody left Green Hill Zone and headed back to Royal HQ to get back to their normal business. As they headed home, Sonic couldn't get this one thought out of his head.

Who are Team Diamond? Who do they work for? And what do they want? …

An Unexpected Surprise

Story 70: An Unexpected Surprise

No sooner had the whole Lola Gunn and Team Diamond conspiracy been foiled, Sonic the Hedgehog had been requested to meet one of the older R.F.S. groups aboard. Apparently, the Northern Royal Fighters, a group stationed in Nekronopolis had requested for Sonic to come and see them as they had a surprise for him. Sonic responded to the call without hesitation and he, along with his best friend Tails and his self-proclaimed girlfriend Amy Rose had set off for Nekronopolis, a city in the north of Mobius, hence the team's name. The Northern Royal Fighters were a skilled group of infiltrators and soldiers consisting of a mongoose named Miranda, a rat named Kari, an eagle named Kate and two chipmunks named Thunder & Bolt.

Miranda was a fit bodied thirty-eight year old yellow-furred mongoose with long flowering hair that split in two halfway down behind her. She wore a backless, strapped black shirt with matching black trousers, chunky black boots with a red stripe on them and a belt with two attachments that wound around her thighs. She wore two steel bands around her upper arms and steel wristbands around her wrists. Miranda was the leader of the team and she carried her rank with pride and dedication but she had a good heart and cared deeply for her team mates.

Kari was a beautiful nineteen year old white furred rat who had ginger hair that curled up at the back. She wore a smart white shirt with a collar on, a skimpy little dark green skirt and a pair of purple slippers. She was a mechanic and could fix any broken down vehicle in a matter of seconds. She wasn't as advanced as Tails though as she was just learning mechanics but she was pretty good at her level. Kari had had a rough time growing up as rats on Mobius have a bad reputation and she was often teased and tormented for being a rat. Some people even had trouble trusting her because she was a rat but Miranda saw good in her and took her into the team to boost her self-esteem.

Kate was a green feathered eagle with a golden coloured beak and feathers that stood up in a spiky-like hairstyle. She only wore a red vest and some gym trousers. She was one of the world's strongest women, being on par with the likes of Knuckles the Echidna. Her muscles showed almost as much as Owen Pounder's. Kate wasn't much of a talker either, only talking when she felt like it or needed to. She and Miranda were friends in school so when Kate signed up for the R.F.S., Miranda happily accepted her.

Thunder & Bolt were a pair of chipmunk brothers. Thunder was orange furred with a yellow lightening bolt on his forehead. He wore claret gloves and white trainers with a thunder-bolt symbol on the sides. Bolt was red furred with two yellow bolts on his forehead. He wore yellow gloves with blue trainers that had a thin lightening deco on the sides. The two were fun-loving brothers who told bad jokes among each other. They seriously annoyed Miranda but she had to put up with them so she forced herself to tolerate their bad comedy. Despite their bad comedy, they were useful in battle as combined; they could emit a deadly lightening attack that helped the Northern Fighters greatly in battle so Miranda didn't mind them being on the team. She just didn't like their bad jokes.

As of this moment, the team were waiting for Sonic to arrive. Miranda was on watch-out with a pair of binoculars. She could see far into the distance but she couldn't see Sonic anywhere yet. Kari, Kate, Thunder & Bolt were still at the camp, waiting for Miranda to return. Miranda had been on look-out for a long time. That long time had come to an end for at long last; Miranda saw Sonic, Tails and Amy coming. She had met Sonic during the eight months they had been fighting Eggman but she hadn't met Tails and Amy yet so she didn't know who they were but she assumed they were friends as they were with Sonic. Sonic arrived at the Northern Royal Fighter's camp and he skidded to a halt just in front of Miranda. Tails, who had been flying after Sonic and carrying Amy, put Amy down and touched down beside Sonic. Miranda put the binoculars away and she grasped Sonic in a hug.

"Ah Sonic the Hedgehog you handsome little devil!" laughed Miranda "It's so good to see you again young man!"

"Same to you Miranda." said Sonic with a wink "You've never looked better."

"Ha, ha! Same charmer as always! You haven't changed one little bit since the last time we met haven't you Sonic?" said Miranda brightly.

"Nah ah Miranda, the hedgehog is here to stay." said Sonic.

"Excuse me Sonic, do you mind telling us who she is?" asked Amy, a little miffed seeing Sonic and Miranda hugging each other.

"Not at all Amy." said Sonic "This is Miranda Mongoose, leader of the Northern Royal Fighters."

"I first met Sonic seven months ago." said Miranda "If I recall correctly, he saved my life from the roboticizer didn't you little boy?" she added, teasingly stroking his forehead.

"I did indeed." said Sonic with a cocky grin on his face "And after that, you joined the R.F.S. and got your own team and everything."

"Indeed." said Miranda "So who are your friends Sonic?"

"This young man here is my best friend Tails." said Sonic, pointing to Tails "I saved his life from Dr. Eggman* and he's been on my side since that faithful day."

"I've saved Sonic's life many times just like he's saved my life many times and I'm a mechanic and inventor." said Tails "Although my inventions haven't helped much."

"A mechanic eh?" mused Miranda "I think you and Kari are going to be good friends little Tails."

"My name is Amy Rose." said Amy, introducing herself "I'm Sonic's biggest fan and soon-to-be-love interest."

"Nice to meet you Amy Rose." said Miranda, shaking the young girl's hand "Are you and Sonic…ahem…together?"

"Not yet but we soon will be, make no mistake on that!" boasted Amy "He took me on a date once and I hope to have another date with him soon!"

Miranda chuckled at Amy's claim whereas Sonic just fumed to himself. So much for downplaying the fan-girly behaviour! Oh well, Amy meant well and didn't mean any harm so Sonic decided to let it slide.

"If you and Sonic become a couple, you will be the luckiest girl in the world." said Miranda "I wish I was a few years younger so I could be with Sonic. I'm too old for him though. A thirty-eight year old and a fifteen year old is not an ideal couple after all."

"So Miranda." said Sonic quickly before this conversation could get uncomfortable "What do you wish to see me for?"

"Oh of course, I want to show you something!" said Miranda with a hearty chuckle "Well, come this way with me. Your friends can come as well."

Miranda led Sonic, Tails and Amy back to her private camp where her team mates were waiting for her. The camp just had a few large tents that were larger and much more sturdy and comfortable then the average camper's tent and there was also a bench laden with tools, a tool box, some equipment used for exercise and a box with covered with a cloth. Kari, Kate, Thunder and Bolt saw Miranda coming with Sonic, Tails and Amy and they all ran up to greet them. Sonic immediately said hi to the team mates and they began to erupt in conversation.

"Hiya Sonic!" said Kari excitedly "Long time no see!"

"Same to you Kari." said Sonic with a wink "How's it going Kate?" he said to the muscular eagle in the red vest.

Kate just waved and smiled at the hedgehog. Amy looked at Kate's huge biceps and grinned at her.

"I think me and you are going to get on just fine Kate." she said with a friendly smile on her face.

Kate looked down and smiled at Amy. Amy looked like she was going to be a good friend of hers. Thunder and Bolt began jumping about with excitement.

"Hey Sonic, it's good to have you in our neighbourhood again!" cried Thunder.

"It's good for anybody to have him in their neighbourhood!" laughed Bolt.

And with that, the two would-be-comedians burst out laughing. Sonic just weakly forced himself to laugh at the bad joke Miranda fumed at the two chipmunks.

"Quiet everybody!" she yelled in her strictest, sternest voice "Settle down! Give the guest some room to breathe!"

Everybody stopped huddling around Sonic and they settled down into silence. Now everybody had calmed down, Miranda spoke again.

"As you can, Sonic has returned." said Miranda happily "He's brought some friends of his with him. Their names are Tails and Amy and I'm sure they're going to be good company. Now, as you all know, we've brought him here to see something of ours. Kari, can you bring the thing we want to show Sonic?"

"Yes Miranda." said Kari politely.

She skipped over to the bench and grabbed the box with the cloth over it. Sonic, Tails and Amy looked at the strange box Kari was carrying. What could possibly be in that box?

"What's that?" asked Tails.

"A jack-in-the-box!" joked Bolt.

"Shut up Bolt." muttered Miranda "You know what it is you poor joker."

Kari, with a great strain had managed to carry the box over to Sonic. Whatever was in the box must be heavy as Kari seemed to have trouble carrying it. Kari put the box down, panting heavily, and she looked up at Sonic.

"We believe you maybe amazed at what's in here." puffed Kari.

She grabbed the cloth and pulled it off of the box, revealing it to actually be a cage. Sonic, Tails and Amy all stared in horror at what was in the cage. Their jaws dropped and their eyes widened in shock. Sonic almost felt like falling over at what he was suddenly looking at. The cage contained none other then Sonic's metallic nemesis, arch-enemy and robot-duplicate Metal Sonic! He was heavily damaged and scarred but he was still in one piece at least. He appeared to have been shut off as his eyes were blank. Sonic was so shocked at this he fell over onto his bottom. He couldn't keep his eyes off Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic had presumably perished after Egg-Timer was destroyed but he was here, sitting in a cage in the possession of Miranda Mongoose and her team and offline. Sonic began to gasp and splutter in shock.

"No…No…It…It can't be!" he cried "Not…Metal Sonic!"

"I had a feeling you'd be familiar with this creation." said Miranda grimly, looking at the cage "It looks like a creation of Dr. Eggman's."

"It is!" shrieked Tails "It's Metal Sonic, Eggman's deadliest creation ever! He can copy data and he can match Sonic in battle! He was destroyed the time we destroyed Egg-Timer though! How can he possibly be alive?"

"Well Tails it's quite clear he lived the destruction of this "Egg-Timer" because a few weeks ago, something fell from the sky and landed in my tent." explained Miranda "It just lay there dented, battle-scarred and damaged and we wondered what it was. We thought it was of importance so we kept it and decided to try and get it online again. We haven't had any luck though and we decided to call you and see if you could give us a hand."

"Why do you want to get Metal Sonic online?" asked Sonic "He's a demon! He'll kill us all if you wake him up!"

"He will?" shrieked the chipmunk brothers.

"We wanted to get, um "Metal Sonic", online so we could use him against Dr. Eggman." explained Kari "We immediately assumed he was an Eggman robot seeing as he looks like he's based on you so we thought we could use him. I can't get him online though. He's too damaged and I can't fix him either. I'm not skilled enough."

"Use Metal Sonic against Eggman…" mused Sonic "Hmm…"

Tails looked at Sonic uneasily. The hedgehog was clearly supporting Kari's idea here.

"Sonic? You're not thinking what I think you're thinking are you?" asked Tails.

"I am." said Sonic "Miranda and her team have a brilliant idea here. Use Metal Sonic against Dr. Eggman! If we used Metal Sonic, the only creation of his that stands a chance against me, against Eggman then Eggman's defeat is certain!"

"Is it?" asked Miranda unsurely, clearly not that convinced about Sonic's statement "Is this "Metal Sonic" thing is powerful as you claim it to be?"

"It is Miranda." said Amy "Fifteen of us could barely lay a finger on him and even after Sonic took him on a worldwide trip, he still managed to beat us all*."

"And he can copy people's data." noted Tails "So once we sick him on Eggman, he'll copy Eggman's data and use his strengths and weaknesses against him. This perfect opportunity to end this war is too good to pass up. We have to get Metal Sonic on our side."

"Perfect opportunity to end this war?" mused Miranda "Well, it appears finding Metal Sonic and keeping him for ourselves was for a great cause. How about that? My team has gotten us a weapon that can end this war for us. I bet we'll get a lot of medals for this."

"Medals?" piped Thunder, his ears pricking up "I hope I get a gold one!"

"I wouldn't be too surprised if you got a gold medal for the Most Annoying Soldier in the R.F.S." snapped Miranda "So Sonic, will you help us get Metal Sonic back online so we can use him against Eggman?"

"Don't see why not Miranda girl." said Sonic "After all, Metal Sonic is too tough for me so Eggman has no chance. Tails, I think you have a job to do."

Tails beamed with pride as he showed Sonic his trademark screwdriver. He would be the one to fix Metal Sonic, turn him good and make him a member of the R.F.S. The only problem was… would he be able to do it?

An hour later, Metal Sonic had been released from his cage and was lying on his front with Tails and Kari doing some fixing on his back. Sonic, Amy, Miranda, Kate and the chipmunk brothers just sat by the camp tents and talked to each other as they waited for Tails and Kari to fix Metal Sonic. Sonic was telling Miranda about his past adventures and the new friends he had made other time.

"…so then Scourge gets real mad at us because his plan is failing and then he tries to use a Sonic Tornado on my friends." explained Sonic, telling the Northern Royal Fighters about his recent victory over the insidious Scourge the Hedgehog "My friends escape and I use a Sonic Tornado on Scourge's Sonic Tornado. We build up a huge tornado between us and it gets larger and more ferocious until…BAM! We knock ourselves out of the tornado and crash into the wall! Scourge got it harder then me and it ended up knocking him out. We put him and his cronies in laser cuffs, call the cops and now Scourge is back in jail! It feels good to beat my brother up for some reason although I wish I could get him to redeem himself."

"Some minds just cannot be swayed." muttered Miranda "I'm horrified to hear Fiona Fox has betrayed us and run off with this Scourge person. Traitors are the worst kind of scum in the world. Anyone who betrays the good and joins the bad should be drawn and quartered in my opinion!"

"Eww!" gagged Amy Rose "How gross!"

"What? By drawn and quartered, she means she draws a knife and then cuts a quarter of a person's body off!" joked Thunder and Bolt.

They burst out laughing at their stupid joke. Kate just grabbed the chipmunk's heads and bashed them together to shut them up. The two chipmunks groaned in pain and they rubbed their throbbing heads again. Miranda resisted the urge to groan in annoyance.

"Those two wannabe comedians still an annoyance to you Miranda?" asked Sonic.

"Yes young man." muttered Miranda "They drive me crazy with their horrible jokes! Why do they even try? They never make us laugh."

"At least they have a sense of humour." said Amy supportively "Its better then having no humour at all."

"I suppose that's right Amy." said Miranda agreeably "It means things can never get dull around here when Thunder and Bolt have a quip or two."

"Yeah." said Amy, turning to Kate "So Kate, what do you do?"

Kate didn't answer Amy. Instead she just pulled a muscle.

"Um yes, I can see you have large biceps Kate. Can you answer my question pleaser?" asked Amy.

"Kate's a quiet woman Amy." said Miranda "She only talks if she feels like it. I'm used to it though as we were school friends growing up. Kate's our power member Amy and she is one tough eagle. If you ever join us on a mission against Eggman she'll be able to show you how strong she is."

"I look forward to seeing that." said Amy "I bet she makes short work out of those stupid Eggman robots with her strength!"

"She does Amy and believe me, I've seen it." said Sonic "So Miranda, has anything exciting to you happened while I've been having my fun?"

"Well last month, my team led a raid on an Eggman robot-production factory stationed in Megapolis and with help from that delightful fellow Thomas Tiger, we completely destroyed the factory." explained Miranda "It was one of the greatest moments of my R.F.S. career. Something else exciting also happened shortly after our victory over the factory…"

While everybody talked away, Tails and Kari worked on Metal Sonic. They both had screwdrivers and they had opened up a compartment in the back of Metal Sonic's head. They had also opened up his back to see if anything needed fixing. The open compartment of Metal Sonic's head showed that there was a lot of fried circuitry inside. The destruction of Egg-Timer had done a good deal of damage to Metal Sonic after all both inside and out side. Tails was amazed that Metal Sonic's limbs were still attached to his body despite his internal damages. Tails and Kari immediately began to poke around the damaged circuitry in the back of Metal Sonic's head.

"These internal wires are fried to the core." said Kari "If we could solder these wires back together, I bet Metal Sonic would power back up."

"I was beginning to think the same thing." said Tails "I'm sure the wires in his head are the most important pieces of circuitry in his body. His head is the largest part of his body so most of his circuitry will be in his head."

"You are one smart little boy do you know that?" giggled Kari, stroking Tails' head playfully "And so young too! Who educated you?"

"I dunno." said Tails, ruffling the fur on his head and straightening his bangs "I was just…born with this ability to understand technology and its complex structures and workings. I think I'm gifted with the ability to fix and repair stuff as well as understand the complexities of technology. You seem pretty smart at this stuff yourself Kari."

"Oh I'm only a mechanic." said Kari, picking up a soldering iron and switching it on "You, apparently, can actually invent things. I can't do something like that. I can only fix things, not build things from scratch. If you asked me to build a car, I'd fail miserably at it."

"Being able to fix stuff is good enough you know Kari." said Tails supportively as he tweaked with something on Metal Sonic's back with his screwdriver "Being able to fix things is important if you have technical equipment. If your team has a broken computer or anything, a mechanic will be needed to fix it."

"I know Tails." said Kari with a smile "I love being a mechanic and I'm glad I can use my skills to help my friends in their missions."

She began to soldering the fried and snapped wires in the back of Metal Sonic's head back together. The soldering iron poured some hot soldering metal over the wires and when it set, the wires would be back together. Tails continued to tweak with some of the circuitry and panelling on Metal Sonic's back. He had a feeling some important circuitry would be in Metal Sonic's back so he decided to see if he could fix it. He poked some panels with his screwdriver and pulled any bad wires out of Metal Sonic's back with a pair of pliers, one of his favourite tools. Tails set the wires down on the bench and fumbled about some more.

"So what kind of things have you made for the R.F.S.?" asked Kari out of interest.

"Oh I once made a machine that allowed me to eavesdrop on Dr. Eggmanonce but that ended up almost getting me killed." said Tails with a sad expression on his face "I don't wanna talk about it. I also made a plane called the Tornado but that ended up getting destroyed by Metal Sonic. I've never had the time to rebuild it."

"You've built an entire plane from scratch?" blurted Kari "That is so cool! I envy you Tails!"

"Please, don't Kari." said Tails with a blush on his white muzzle "I don't like making people jealous."

"I was just kidding Tails." said Kari, patting him on the back with her free hand "But still, being able to build a plane from scratch takes some serious skill to do doesn't it?"

"Yeah." said Tails, tweaking with something on Metal Sonic's back "I just wish I had the time to rebuild it. When you're the sidekick of the Hero of Mobius, time is short. Oh well, I love being with Sonic and helping him on his missions so I don't mind."

Tails then suddenly tweaked something on Metal Sonic's back with his screwdriver and that seemed to awaken Metal Sonic as the whole body shuddered and his black visor was alit with two red eyes. Tails and Kari jumped in surprise and Kari dropped her soldering iron onto the ground. Metal Sonic's scratched and dented arms began to twitch and he pushed himself up onto his knees, making a ominous whirring and clanking noise as his joints all began to clank and clink into life. Sparks began to fly out of his back as he began to move. Tails and Kari stepped back in fright, wondering what was going to happen.

"What did you do Tails?" shrieked Kari.

"I dunno! I must have tweaked something accidentally!" cried Tails "At least he's awake now! But is he still evil?"

Metal Sonic looked at Tails, his neck joints making a loud hissing and clanking noise as his head turned around to look at him. Despite Metal Sonic's horrendous body damage, he still remembered what had happened to him back at Robotropolis with the destruction of Egg-Timer and Tails foiling his altered timeline which he had created with Egg-Timer*. Tails' pupils shrunk in fear and his ears dropped back. He could tell Metal Sonic wasn't pleased with him. Metal Sonic made a horrible, grating, monstrous noise that sounded like a weak, feeble electronic roar and he leaped off the bench and onto Tails. Despite Metal Sonic's damages, he was still going to be a tough opponent. Metal Sonic then proceeded to throttle Tails and attempt to kill the poor fox. Kari panicked and began to whack him with a spanner. Metal Sonic felt the blow and that first whack from the spanner made steam pour from his back and sparks fly. Metal Sonic let go of Tails and turned to Kari. Kari tried to whack Metal Sonic again but Metal Sonic grabbed the wrench and snatched it off of her. He whacked her in the leg and knocked her over. Kari landed sharply on her shoulder and she grimaced in pain. Metal Sonic then proceeded to try and whack Kari on the head with the spanner but Miranda, who had seen the commotion happening, had leaped to her feet and drawn out an electro-prod she wielded. She pounced on Metal Sonic and stabbed him in the neck with the front end of the prod. She activated it and Metal Sonic found himself being overwhelmed by an onslaught of electricity. The electro-prod unfortunately had too high a voltage for a barely alive robot like Metal Sonic and the electricity ended up blowing a fuse inside Metal Sonic's damaged body and ended up putting Metal Sonic back into shutdown. The robot lay before Kari, motionless and as alive as a rotting carcass. Miranda collapsed the rod into itself and hooked it back onto her belt. She held a hand out and helped Kari get back onto her feet. Tails picked himself up and put his hands behind his back in shame.

"What happened Kari?" asked Miranda coldly.

"We were trying to fix Metal Sonic and he just suddenly came online and attacked us!" cried Kari, rubbing the horrible bruise on her thigh that had been caused by Metal Sonic whacking her with the spanner.

"It was my fault Miss Miranda." said Tails glumly "I accidentally tweaked something in him and it ended up putting him back online. I'm sorry this happened."

"It's OK little boy." said Miranda kindly "You didn't know what was going to happen. I still want Metal Sonic to be fixed but try not to put him back online until we can find a way to change his allegiance. OK?"

"Yes Miranda." said Kari.

"Good." said Miranda "I hope you can succeed this time."

She left Tails and Kari behind to fix Metal Sonic and rejoined Sonic, Amy, Kate and the chipmunk brothers. Tails and Kari just scooped up Metal Sonic and settled him back down on the bench. It appeared they would have to start again from scratch. This time, they had to try and avoid switching him back on…

Many hours had passed. So many in fact that it was dusk now. The sun was beginning to set and the sky turned a brilliant mix of pink and orange as night was coming. Miranda lit a campfire to keep everybody warm and to light up the camp so everybody could still see what they were doing. Tails and Kari had been working hours on end, not stopping once for a break, on the unconscious Metal Sonic. It had been a painstaking and nerve-racking process as Tails feared he would accidentally switch Metal Sonic back on so Miranda had stood guard with her electro-prod at the ready in case she had to shut him off again. But Metal Sonic hadn't once stirred since the little mishap earlier and Tails and Kari had finally managed to fix the robot. His armour needed replacing as it was still dented, scarred and damaged but his internal mechanisms were fully repaired at last. The only thing to do now was find a way to change Metal Sonic's allegiance and get him to work for Sonic instead of Dr. Eggman. Now Tails and Kari had fixed Metal Sonic, they left the repaired robot to lay there on the workbench and they wandered over to the campfire where Miranda and Sonic were frying a sausage each for their suppers. The sausage was on a stick and the two Mobians held the sticks over the fire so the fire could cook the sausages. Luckily for Sonic, they had bread cobs so he could make a hot dog out of his.

"Hey Miranda, you wouldn't happen to have chilli-sauce would you?" asked Sonic.

"Oh no dear Sonic, none of us here are fond of chilli or any kind of spice." said Miranda "Especially Kate, spices bring her out in a rash."

"Aw!" muttered Sonic "No chilli-dogs for me this time. Amy, remind me to bring a can of chilli-sauce next time we visit these guys."

"OK." said Amy, she then looked over at Miranda and said "Sonic's favourite food is chilli-dogs after all."

"I think I managed to guess after his less-then-thrilled reaction to me saying we don't have chilli-sauce." said Miranda "Had I known of his fondness of chilli-dogs, I'd have some chilli-sauce especially for him."

Tails and Kari arrived at the campfire and sat down by the lovely, warm fire.

"Hey guys, we've managed to fix Metal Sonic at long last." reported Tails.

"You've managed to fix Metal Sonic at long last?" echoed Sonic "Sweet! Now all we have to do is get the metal moron to change allegiances and work for us."

"How we're going to do something like that is beyond my realm of calculation." said Kari glumly "I have no idea how we're going to get him to work for us."

"We'll think of someway Kari." said Miranda supportively, looking at her sausage and noticing how brown it was now after being held over the fire for a while "There's always a way for something, even if finding it out isn't instantly. We'll find out how somehow."

She then proceeded to chomp on her sausage. It was properly cooked for it tasted how it should do.

"You got any ideas Tails?" asked Amy "I mean, when it comes to ways out or ideas, it's usually you who comes up with them."

"I may have one idea." said Tails slowly "Does anybody have a data-stick?"

"I do." said Kari "Why?"

"If we could upload some data on heroism into Metal Sonic's mind, we could re-programme him into being a hero instead of a villain." suggested Tails "I'm sure with a data-stick, I'd be able to do something like that."

"That young man, is a brilliant idea." said Miranda, who had just finished her sausage "Sonic, how you managed to find such an intelligent young man will forever mystify me."

"Eh, me finding Tails was just a very lucky and very timely coincidence." said Sonic with a casual grin on his face "I remain ever thankful I saved his life."

"And I remain ever thankful you took me in when no one else would." said Tails brightly "You've made my life perfect Sonic."

"What can I say? I'm just happy to make people's lives better." said Sonic "So, how are we gonna get some hero data to upload to Metal Sonic then?"

"Hmm…I don't really know." said Tails "But I'm determined to find a way. We can't give up now, not while we're so close to having Dr. Eggman's greatest weapon on our side…"

While Tails and the others talked to each other, something strange began to happen over on the workbench. Metal Sonic, who was laying offline on the bench suddenly, began to twitch slightly. His black visor was alight with two red eyes and he was beginning to move. Miranda's shock had put him in quite a coma but Tails and Kari's repairs on him had inadvertently helped him to recover from the shock quicker! Metal Sonic pushed himself up onto his knees and he turned his head around to see what was happening. He saw Sonic, Tails, Amy and the Northern Royal Fighters chatting to one another. He remembered Sonic and how much of a thorn in his side he was. He also remembered Tails and how he had foiled his plans and altered timeline. Metal Sonic got to his feet and hopped off the bench. He then proceeded to creep silently over to the Mobians. Thunder spotted him however and was quick to react.

"Hey Miranda! The robot's moving!" he cried.

"Don't be ludicrous Thunder, I shocked that robot hard enough to keep him shut off until we switch him back on." said Miranda "He can't possibly be moving right now."

"But he is Miranda!" shrieked Thunder.

"My brother's right, he's moving and for once, we're not kidding!" blurted Bolt.

Miranda sighed but she looked to her left to see if Metal Sonic was indeed moving and to her amazement, he was. Everybody else looked at Metal Sonic and surely enough, saw him creeping up towards them. Metal Sonic could see that he had just been found out so now was the time to just blatantly attack his enemies. Metal Sonic charged straight at Sonic in a spin-dash and he was sent hurling away from the campfire and into a tent. Sonic ripped straight through the tent and brought it crashing down on him.

"Aw! We needed that!" whined Thunder & Bolt.

Metal Sonic made a grating noise that sounded like he was trying to cackle but due to his un-repaired voice box, it came out as a screeching, clanking noise. Miranda deployed her electro prod and she switched it on. She tried to taser Metal Sonic yet again but Metal Sonic was ready for her. He grabbed the prod, snatched it out of Miranda's hands and tripped her up with it. Now Miranda was done, Metal Sonic proceeded to taser Miranda in the neck with her own prod. The electro prod's voltage was extremely high and if an organic being was zapped by it for too long, it would end up killing the victim and Metal Sonic knew that just by scanning the weapon's data. He intended to taser Miranda until she was killed but he didn't get the glory of succeeding as Amy Rose proceeded to sneak up behind him and hammer the insidious metal clone away. The electro prod hurtled into the campfire and Miranda passed out. The prod's electricity was still on and it ended up making the campfire bigger by igniting some of the wood it was burning. Amy pulled Miranda away from the expanding fire before it could burn her and Kate fished the scorched and burnt electro-prod out of the fire. It wouldn't work now since it had fragile circuits and a good campfire could easily burn the circuits out. Kari stared grimly at the burnt weapon.

"Looks like I'm going to have to fix that." she said "Hey Amy, how's Miranda?" she then asked in a very worried tone.

"She's OK, just knocked out." said Amy, feeling Miranda's pulse "That electro-prod is a serious weapon isn't it?"

"It's deadlier on organic beings then metal beings." said Kari gravely "Miranda's weapon can kill somebody in thirty seconds should they be shocked for so long. Miranda's just lucky you were there to save her or she would be dead!"

"And it would be our fault." said Tails glumly "After all, me and you fixed Metal Sonic and therefore, brought this madness on your camp."

"Well we brought this madness so I guess we'll have to fix it Tails."

said Kari bravely "I'll destroy that Metal Sonic thing if it's the last thing I do!"

Trying to destroy Metal Sonic seemed like it would be the last thing Kari would do as Metal Sonic had just picked himself up from Amy's attack and now he set his sights on the rat in the short skirt. Metal Sonic spin-dashed Kari and sent her hurling away and into the workbench. Metal Sonic then tried to attack Kari but Kate stepped in and gave Metal Sonic a giant uppercut that almost tore his head off. Metal Sonic landed with a clunk a few feet away from the others. Metal Sonic picked himself up only to get a spin-dash from Sonic. That spin-dash made Metal Sonic's head spin. Sonic then stood over Metal Sonic and smirked at his metal nemesis.

"Hey Metal Sonic, it's so good to be tussling with you again!" he sneered "I bet you won't fight so well now you're all busted up! True Tails and Kari fixed you but not all of you so you'll be a lot easier to handle then usual."

Metal Sonic's response was a laser blast from his torso. Sonic hurtled backwards and landed directly in front of the campfire. Metal Sonic then grabbed Sonic's quills and tried to shove Sonic's face into the fire. Sonic felt the searing hot heat as his face neared the blazing hot campfire. Sonic desperately tried to push away but Metal Sonic, even in his semi-repaired state, was still too strong for him. He was inching Sonic closer and closer to the fire. Any moment, Sonic would get burnt alive and sizzled like a lamb kebab. Thunder and Bolt stood together side by side and tensed up their bodies. They then fired a powerful, electrical bolt at Metal Sonic and they almost zapped him but Metal Sonic lifted Sonic up and used him as a shield, causing Sonic to get electrocuted by the chipmunk brothers. Sonic yelped as he was zapped and electrocuted by Thunder and Bolt and Metal Sonic, just stared at the chipmunk brothers on the other side of the campfire and scanned their data. He succeeded so now he would have electrical powers. Thunder and Bolt could see that they were zapping Sonic accidentally so they stopped what they were doing. Metal Sonic lowered Sonic and threw him into the campfire. Sonic leaped out of the fire before he could get seriously burnt and he ran around in a frantic circle to cool himself off. Metal Sonic just promptly spin-dashed Sonic while he was cooling off and he crashed into Miranda's tent. Metal Sonic advanced on Sonic with his claws bared but Thunder and Bolt zapped him with a quick bolt of electricity.

"Take that!" yelled Thunder, throwing a lightening bolt at Metal Sonic.

"We'll make a lightening rod out of you!" yelled Bolt, throwing a lightening bolt at Metal Sonic like a javelin.

The bolts hit Metal Sonic and due to his still damaged armour, they didn't harmlessly bounce off. They actually hurt him this time and left a few scars on his back. Metal Sonic turned around furiously and thrust his hands out. He then proceeded to zap Thunder and Bolt with a powerful surge of electricity. Thunder and Bolt weren't immune to other electrical attacks so they ended up getting painfully zapped by Metal Sonic. Kate stepped in and tried to uppercut Metal Sonic again but Metal Sonic grabbed her by the vest with one arm and tossed her into Thunder and Bolt while he still zapped them with his other arm. The green feathered eagle crashed into the two chipmunks and knocked them over like a bowling ball knocking the skittles over. Metal Sonic then proceeded to zap the three Mobians all at once. Kate squawked and Thunder and Bolt yelled loudly as Metal Sonic began to electrocute them again. Tails took to the skies with his twirling twin-tails and he socked Metal Sonic in the side of the head. Tails felt relieved he didn't repair Metal Sonic's armour so it was easier to damage him now and he could punch Metal Sonic without hurting himself. Metal Sonic's first response was to spin-dash Tails and knock him out of the sky. Then Metal Sonic blasted Tails with his torso laser and then he electrocuted the poor fox all at once! He really wanted to kill Tails for erasing his altered timeline and depriving him of his paradise. Kari saved the fox's life by grabbing a large wrench from the workbench and then whacking Metal Sonic with it. She jammed the wrench into Metal Sonic's neck and pinned him down to the ground. Metal Sonic gripped the wrench and tried to wrench it out from around his neck but he couldn't. Kari pressed on hard to make sure that Metal Sonic couldn't get free.

"Stop this!" she yelled "You demonic monster of science, stop hurting my friends or I'll smash you to pieces!"

When Kari was mad, she became a completely different person that only came out when she was mad. Metal Sonic however, was not going to succumb to a mere mechanical rat. He just gripped the wrench and proceeded to electrocute the wrench. The wrench acted like a lightening rod and the electrical attacks surged up the wrench and zapped Kari's hands, causing her to yelp and fling the wrench into the air as she grabbed her throbbing hands. Metal Sonic leaped onto his feet and took Kari's legs out from underneath her, tripping her up and bringing her onto her back. Kari gasped as her back and the ground made sharp contact with one another. Metal Sonic bared his claws and prepared to kill Kari until Tails kick-slammed him in the head, knocking him backwards. Sonic, who had recovered from his earlier onslaught and near-death experience with the campfire, spin-dashed Metal Sonic onto his face. A few bolts fell out of Metal Sonic's body and clattered on the ground. Sonic tried to spin-dashed Metal Sonic again but Metal Sonic blasted him from behind with his back laser. Tails tried to attack Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic grabbed his ankles and slammed him on the ground. Kate the Eagle tried to help Tails but Metal Sonic used Tails like a bat and whacked Kate with him. Then Metal Sonic electrocuted them both. Thunder and Bolt teamed up and tried to zap Metal Sonic with their combined attacks but Metal Sonic leaped out of their way before their attacks could hit him. Metal Sonic spin-dashed Thunder and Bolt and then grabbed them by their necks. He bashed their heads together and tossed them both into Sonic, who was trying to attack Metal Sonic. The hedgehog and chipmunks groaned in pain.

"Man, even when he's almost been blown up, he's still tough to beat!" grunted Sonic.

"I bet this guy could take on the entire R.F.S. and beat them all." muttered Thunder.

"I agree." murmured Bolt "This guy's a toughie."

"He won't hold forever." said Tails "We'll beat him eventually."

"But will we last that long?" shrieked Thunder "I bet we'll end up as a bunch of punching bags after this fight is over!"

Metal Sonic then preceded to spin-dash all the downed Mobians and then blast Sonic with the laser in his torso. Sonic rolled across the ground and grunted in pain after that attack. Metal Sonic aimed the palm of his hands at Sonic and he zapped Sonic with a painful electrical attack. Tails tried to attack Metal Sonic from behind but Metal Sonic blasted him with his back laser. Kate rammed Metal Sonic from the side and knocked him away from Sonic. Amy, who had been watching over the knocked-out Miranda, decided to step in and she summoned her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand. She ran over to Metal Sonic and prepared to hammer him in. Sonic ran towards Metal Sonic, ready to spin-dash him. Metal Sonic just dodged and leaved Amy to accidentally whack Sonic with her big hammer of death. Sonic didn't even know what had hit him. Not even Dr. Eggman's battle armour had hit him as hard as that. Sonic landed sharply on his side. Amy put a hand to her mouth in horror at what she had just done. Metal Sonic then grabbed Amy by the throat and slammed her onto the ground. Kari tried to help Amy but Metal Sonic gave her an uppercut to the chin and knocked her back. Sonic tried to spin-dash Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic spin-dashed him away. Sonic and Metal Sonic both spin-dashed each other and then they did it again. Sonic overpowered Metal Sonic as he was in better condition and Metal Sonic landed with a crunch on the ground. Some nuts and bolts fell out of his back and onto the ground. Metal Sonic was getting weaker and weaker by the second due to the fact he wasn't one-hundred percent repaired yet. He had to resort to desperate measures and fast. Sonic, Tails, Amy, Kari, Thunder and Bolt charged towards Metal Sonic in an attempt to destroy Metal Sonic at long last but Metal Sonic let loose a huge lightning attack. Everybody was electrocuted at once and they all screamed in pain. But Metal Sonic didn't stop there; he decided to keep it up in the hope that it would eventually kill them all. The electrocuted Mobians were screaming so loudly, Miranda ended up coming too and waking up. She sat up groggily and looked at what Metal Sonic was doing. She was horrified at what she was seeing. They were all being electrocuted! She had to do something and fast! Kate the Eagle wondered up to Miranda and bent down to her.

"Shall we get the heavy artillery?" she asked.

"Yes Kate." said Miranda "I'll go and get the heavy weapons. You stop Metal Sonic from electrocuting everybody."

"Yes Miranda." said Kate.

Miranda leaped onto her feet and ran into a tent that hadn't been wrecked yet. Kate ran over to Metal Sonic, who was still electrocuting everybody and she punched Metal Sonic as hard as she could. Metal Sonic felt like he had been hit by a robotical train as he hurtled backwards a good distance. The electric attacks stopped and Sonic, Tails, Amy, Kari and the chipmunks dropped down onto the ground, gasping for breath. The electrical attacks had drained them of what energy they had left and they were too weak to fight now. Sonic grunted and grimaced as he still felt static electricity surging up his fur.

"Guh! Uggh! I think…I preferred it…when Metal Sonic…couldn't use electric…attacks!" grunted Sonic.

"How…is he able…to do this…anyway?" gasped Amy "He…couldn't before…"

"I think…he copied…Thunder…and…Bolt's…data…" grimaced Tails, clutching his arms "Only…they have…electric attacks…"

Metal Sonic had picked himself up from Kate's amazing attack and he strode back over to his victims. Now they were too weak to fight, he could just easily kill them right now. Kate stood defensively in front of the Mobians and she prepared to fight. Metal Sonic just prepared to electrocute Kate until suddenly; Miranda Mongoose appeared onto the scene with a very large gun in her hands. The gun was designed similar to a handheld rotary cannon but it didn't fire bullets, it fired lasers instead.

"Die you vile monster!" snarled Miranda.

She fired the gun at Metal Sonic and Metal Sonic was blasted by a huge plasma cannon blast. The blast was so powerful; it ended up destroying him and blasting him to pieces! If Metal Sonic had been fully repaired, he would have survived the attack but he wasn't so he was destroyed. Metal Sonic lay down on the ground in bits and pieces. Miranda sighed with relief and she put the heavy weapon down by her side.

"It's destroyed! At last!" she gasped.

Sonic, with a great strain and struggle, managed to pick himself up and he stared at Metal Sonic's miserable remains. What was once an invincible robot with no weaknesses whatsoever had finally been reduced to bits and pieces. Now Metal Sonic could never bother Sonic again…unless Eggman built another Metal Sonic that is.

"Sweet!" gasped Sonic with a cough "You destroyed…Metal Sonic!"

"I know." said Miranda "But I wish I didn't have to. We could have used him against Eggman."

"We had no choice Miranda." said Amy weakly "Metal Sonic… couldn't be stopped…it was a case…of kill or be killed…"

"Yes it was Amy." said Miranda "Metal Sonic wanted to kill us so we had to kill him first."

"Oh well." said Sonic "We'll find a different way to destroy Dr. Fat-man."

"Yes…we will." said Tails "There's always…a way to solve something…and we'll find a way…to stop Eggman once and…for all…even if it means doing so without…Metal Sonic."

The Mobians all just stared at Metal Sonic's smoking and littered remains. Metal Sonic was a danger to them so they had to destroy him. And yet, he could have changed the war forever. Still, it couldn't have been avoided. They had destroyed him and now they had to find a different way to destroy Dr. Eggman's empire and kick him out of Mobius for good. But tomorrow, a greater enemy then even Dr. Eggman would finally make his move and the lives of Mobians everywhere would be in great peril…

Well...I bet you never saw THAT coming did you? Metal Sonic returning! Savour this moment though...this is the last you're going to see of him. :(Join me next time as we gear up to my next milestone: STORY 75! Reviews are welcome.

P.S. I re-uploaded this chapter to remove a grammer mistake and so I can ask Chaos Kai X something. You know you was wondering if you could use Marion in your fanfic? Who do you mean by Marion? Did you mean Miranda but put Marion by mistake or do you really mean Marion? Please answer, I'm confused as heck!

Rights for the Land Part 1

Story 71: Rights for the Land Part 1: The Unwanted Returns

" Imperator Ix!" boomed the voice of the famed guardian Locke the Echidna, father of Knuckles the Echidna and Guardian of Angel Island "Stop this madness! It isn't worth all this malice and warfare just to put Angel Island back in it's crater!"

" Silence underling!" bellowed Imperator Ix, ruler of Angel Island "I will not accede to the words of a mere guardian! Angel Island goes back on the ground and that is all there is to it! I am the ruler and I say it descends back into it's place!"

Angel Island had been raised off the ground to save Echidnaopolis from being hit by a comet and the echidnas became accustomed to life in the air. Imperator Ix, didn't like Angel Island being in the air as it was such an eyesore but the elders refused to let him down the island. In mad rage, the insidious Imperator slaughtered the elders and had decided to down Angel Island once and for all, whether anyone liked it or not. Imperator Ix used his magical powers on Locke and blasted him away from the emerald shrine. Locke landed sharply on his back and grunted as Ix stepped up the shrine and towards the Master Emerald. A young Knuckles the Echidna just watched, bewildered and completely overwhelmed at what was going on. Ix had reached the Master Emerald and he touched the giant green gem with his hand.

" I shall remove this magnanimous gem from it's shrine and make the island fall!" declared Ix "If Angel Island won't float back down, I'll make it fall down!"

" You can't do that Ix!" protested Locke "You'll kill everybody on the island, the island will destroy itself if it falls!"

" Then let the weak and foolish perish and the strong and mighty live on!" snapped Ix, pointing his staff at the Master Emerald and preparing to use his powers to remove the emerald from it's plinth "I'll just rebuild Angel Island and make it my own fortress! None shall oppose me and I shall be the most invincible being on the planet!"

He bellowed with laughter as Chaos Energy crackled around his body and he began to conduct his spell. Locke did not want Imperator Ix to cause the island to fall so he desperately resorted to one last method. Chaos Control. He ran up the shrine and recited the famous emerald chant.

" The servers are the seventh chaos! Chaos is power enriched by the heart! The server exists to unify the chaos!" he chanted "Chaos…"

" What are you doing fool?" blurted Ix.

" CONTROL!" cried Locke.

Imperator Ix wailed hoarsely as his entire body froze up and he ended up being frozen in time. Ix wouldn't be frozen forever but he would be frozen for a while. Locke's brother, Dr. Finitevus stood forward and snapped his bandaged fingers. A warp ring opened up under Ix and he fell through it. Ix disappeared from sight, never to be seen again.

" I have sent him into the darkest areas of the planet." said Dr. Finitevus "We'll never see him again Locke."

Locke could only nod weakly as his body felt limp and he fell to the ground. His Chaos Control on Ix had been pushed to the limit as Ix was so powerful and the result was sapping his life away. Knuckles ran over to his dad and hugged him sadly.

"Dad! Are you alright?" he cried.

" He's losing the will to live dear nephew." muttered Finitevus sadly "I think his Chaos Powers have used up too much of his energy."

" No!" wailed Knuckles "Father can't die, he just can't!"

" I'm sorry but he is Knuckles." said Dr. Finitevus sadly "I wish I could help him but it is too late. Locke, do you have any last requests before you join the elders in the afterlife?"

" Yes…" wheezed Locke "Raise…my son in…my name…and make…him…the new…guardian…of…Angel…Island…"

" Yes Locke." said Dr. Finitevus.

" Knuckles…you…be a…good…boy for…your Uncle…Finitevus… now…" gasped Locke as his heartbeat began to get slower and slower "Pro…tect…the Master…Emerald…become…the new… guardian…and defend…the emerald…from…anyone…who…tries… to…attack…it…"

Knuckles nodded sadly as Locke closed his eyes and breathed his last breath. Knuckles hugged the dead body of his father and sobbed loudly. Dr. Finitevus just shed a tear and looked sadly at his dead brother. Locke had been a great guardian but now his time was up and it was time for Knuckles to rise in his steed. It would be a long time but Knuckles would rise up and take his father's place and become just as great a guardian as his father before him…

That whole scene had never stopped haunting the guardian of the Master Emerald, Knuckles the Echidna. His father had come and passed just like that. He was only a kid the time his father died and he had to grow up without him. He had become the Guardian of Angel Island and was the protector of the Master Emerald, but he still couldn't help but miss his father. Dr. Finitevus, his uncle, had disappeared before his training was complete and he was never seen again. Where he was and what he was doing was far beyond Knuckles but since he hadn't called Knuckles or let him know how he was doing, chances are he was probably dead. Regardless, Knuckles had carried his position with honour and pride and he couldn't let his deceased relatives continue to haunt his mind or he would lose focus and mess up on his job. Yet at certain times, mostly quiet ones, Knuckles was haunted by that vision of Ix's last scene on Angel Island and Locke's final hour. He shed a small tear and he wiped it away as he thought about that depressing day.

"Oh dad, I wish you were still here now." said Knuckles sadly "I bet you would be proud at how Angel Island has been since Ix's disappearance and how I've progressed since my childhood. I bet you'd be very proud at my guardian skills."

Knuckles breathed in the still fresh air and gazed out into the horizon. Angel Island offered a fantastic view for anyone on the island. You could see all the way to Kingdom Valley from where Knuckles was. Unfortunately, Knuckles wouldn't have time to enjoy the phenomenal view for suddenly, eight strange warriors appeared from airspace and surrounded the Master Emerald shrine. These strangers were not like any being Knuckles had seen before. They were creatures all suited up in combat armour consisting of a black one piece suit with a helmet with a weird blue logo and heavy attachment on the back, wristbands and black boots. Their right arms had a cannon that was presumably attached onto their arms. They had zigzag tails similar to the tails of the echidnas and mongooses. They looked like a formidable group of marauders and it was quite clear they were not here to fool around or say hi, it looked like they were here for the Master Emerald. Knuckles flexed his muscles and clenched his fists. He gritted his teeth and glared at the marauders down below him. The marauders all aimed their cannon arms at Knuckles and they prepared to shoot at him.

"Guardian of Angel Island! Surrender the Master Emerald and we will not be forced to use heavy force on you!" growled one of the marauders, his voice deep and gravely.

"Not on your lives you weirdoes!" yelled Knuckles "Who are you and where did you come from?" he demanded.

"That is of no importance to you." snapped another marauder, his voice higher then the first but equally as growly "Just surrender the Master Emerald to us and we won't inflict pain of any kind to you."

"No!" bellowed Knuckles "You can all get off this island or I will leave permanent fist marks on your ugly faces!"

The marauders immediately began to open fire with their arm cannons. They fired big, blue plasma cannon blasts and Knuckles dodged them all by leaping off the shrine and lunging towards them. He struck the nearest marauder and socked it in the face. The marauder was knocked onto its back. Another marauder tried to blast Knuckles but Knuckles grabbed its arm and threw it into another marauder. The two marauders ended up rolling over each other. Three marauders shot at Knuckles but Knuckles dodged their attacks and gave on of the three marauders an uppercut that almost took its helmet off. He then grabbed the other two marauders by the heads and conked them together. The marauders clutched their heads and groaned in pain. Knuckles punched them both and sent them hurling towards the edge of the island. The last three marauders blasted at Knuckles. Knuckles dodged their blasts, just narrowly, and he socked one of them in the face. The other two marauders gave Knuckles an uppercut each with their normal arms and then one of them kicked Knuckles in the gut. Knuckles gasped in surprise but he recovered quickly from that attack and he kicked the marauder in the face. The last two blasted Knuckles with their cannons and sent him crashing into the shrine. Knuckles pulled himself free from the shrine and he threw a chunk of slab that had fallen from the imprint of himself in the stone at one of the marauders. The stone smashed against the marauder's head and knocked it out. The last marauder fired desperately at Knuckles, only to miss and Knuckles grabbed it by the arm. He swung the marauder onto its back with a heavy slam. The marauder gasped and spluttered as pain flooded up its back. Knuckles then grabbed the marauder by the neck and jammed his face into the marauder's face.

"Who are you?" he demanded "And where did you come from?"

"We are the Nocturnus Clan and we came from this very island Knuckles the Echidna." came a soft, feminine voice from behind.

Knuckles let go of the marauder and turned around only to find a new marauder had just appeared from nowhere. This marauder was a suited warrior like the others but this one had goat like horns on its helmet, two curved structures around the eye section, a weird looking logo on the forehead, no arm cannon and pink outlines around the logo and some of the white strips on its boots. Its wrist bands glowed pink in the middle. Knuckles glared at the new arrival angrily.

"Who might YOU be then? The man in charge?" he demanded.

"Woman, in charge." snapped the marauder "I am Procurator Shade of the Nocturnus Clan and we are here to prepare this island for Imperator Ix's arrival."

Knuckles' eyes widened in shock. He knew Shade and he also knew she was the daughter of Imperator Ix. If she was here…then Ix's return was inevitable! The echidna sorcerer was returning to ruin the lives of everybody on Angel Island! Well no way was he going to let him!

"So Shade, you've decided to return and avenge your dear old daddy!" sneered Knuckles "What's with the weird get up? You really think the fancy dress costumes will make you any more intimidating?"

"Our attire was designed especially for us by Lord Ix himself." said Shade grimly, pressing a button on her wristband that made her helmet shrink away into the middle, revealing her true head underneath. The helmet was now just a headband. Shade had lilac eyes, thin single eyelashes and her fur was orange instead of red. Her quills were tied together by the headband and they had peach tips.

"These outfits give us advanced strength and weaponry." continued Shade "So we shall be even more powerful foes then we were before. Your pathetic father may have banished us from Angel Island along with Lord Ix the day he was defeated but now he's gone, our take-over of this island is inevitable. Do not try to resist or we will be forced to exterminate you Knuckles."

"Shade, your father doesn't belong on this island anymore!" yelled Knuckles "And neither does your scum! Get off Angel Island or I'll have to punch you off!"

Shade just stood there and scowled at Knuckles coldly with her lilac eyes. Knuckles immediately got mad so he ran over to Shade and raised his fist. He was about to punch Shade directly in the face but Shade lashed out and grabbed his arm before he could hit. She then touched something on her hip and she and Knuckles were engulfed in a bright pink flash. Then they vanished into thin air, leaving Shade's minions behind on Angel Island. Shade and Knuckles then re-appeared down on the ground, off of Angel Island completely, leaving the Master Emerald prone to capture by Shade's minions who were still on the island. Knuckles shook his head and looked up only to see that he was no longer on Angel Island. He growled furiously at Shade.

"You witch! What did you do?" he demanded furiously.

"I warped us down here with my warp belt." explained Shade "Now your business is with me and me alone."

"You warp me back up there right now Shade!" bellowed Knuckles, grabbing Shade's arm and squeezing it "If you don't, I'll make sure my fists really, REALLY hurt you!"

"You're not going back up there guardian." said Shade coldly "You're staying down here. While my friends prime the island for Ix's arrival, I will keep you as far away from the Master Emerald as possible. When the time is right, we shall call Lord Ix into the play and the Nocturnus Clan's takeover of Angel Island, and Lord Ix's revenge, can commence."

"Over my mangled, twisted, rotting corpse!" retorted Knuckles.

He then proceeded to let go of Shade's arm and wallop her in the face with a powerful punch. The female suited echidna hurtled backwards and landed a good distance away. Shade leaped back onto her feet and watched as Knuckles charged up to her. Shade just charged back and lowered her head. Knuckles lunged forward with his fist but Shade had bent down so he missed and Shade rammed Knuckles in the gut with her shoulder. Knuckles gasped and doubled over, giving Shade the opportunity to elbow him on the back of his head. Knuckles soon found himself being pinned to the ground by Shade's foot. She drew out a pair of weapons, which were a pair of blades she held in each hand, and she pointed one at Knuckles' neck.

"I tried to warn you guardian." said Shade dryly "Now you shall suffer the consequences. Nocturnus, begin the chant." she said into a comlink she had hidden under her head band.

"Yes Procurator Shade." came the voice of one of her marauders.

"Chant? What chant?" asked Knuckles.

"The corruption chant." said Shade "Ix's evil, twisted version of the Master Emerald chant. When chanted enough times, the Master Emerald shall be a power house of dark Chaos Energy, just perfect for my father's return."

Knuckles freaked and he pushed Shade off of himself. The two echidnas then charged at each other and locked into combat while on Angel Island, the Nocturnus soldiers had pointed their arm cannons at the Master Emerald and were firing some sort of energy beam at it. The beams didn't destroy the Master Emerald, they were feeding the Master Emerald, feeding it some decidedly corrupt Chaos Power in order to make it a gem full of dark power for when Ix finally arrived…

"yawn! Top of the morning everybody." yawned Sonic as he climbed out of the tent and had a good stretch.

After the Metal Sonic mishap, Sonic, Tails and Amy had stayed overnight at the Northern Royal Fighters' camp as it was too late for them to go back. Two tents had been wrecked by Metal Sonic so the boys all shared one tent and the girls shared another. It was morning now and everybody was just having a spot of breakfast. Miranda Mongoose, the team leader, had gotten the campfire going again and had cooked bacon and eggs for everybody. Not a word was spoken as everybody ate their breakfast. Miranda was delighted to hear a chorus of "Mmms" from Sonic, Tails and Amy. That obviously meant they were enjoying her cooking. Her cooking was popular amongst her team, hence the reason she was always doing it at meal times. Sonic finished his breakfast and gave Miranda a thumbs up.

"You're one way past cool cook Miranda." he said "That was delicious!"

"Think nothing of it handsome." said Miranda "Only the best cooking for the best hero I say."

"So Miranda, what's on the activities list?" asked Sonic.

"Well we don't have any orders right now so I suppose we can lie back a little and chill out." said Miranda.

"Thanks Miranda but I'm not much of a lounging-around-doing-nothing type of person so I'll just go for a jog if you don't mind." said Sonic, leaping onto his feet and preparing to run off.

Before he could do anything, Kate the Eagle, the Northern Fighter's silent powerhouse, handed a letter to Miranda. The mongoose took the letter and she opened it. She peered at the letter and read it. She made some "Mmms" and "Oooh's" as she read the letter. But when she got to the last part, her whole body seemed to freeze up as if the letter had some paralyzing effect on her. Something about the letter seemed to be disturbing Miranda as she looked deathly scared all of the sudden. Sonic and Amy looked at each other and began to wonder what was up with Miranda all of the sudden.

"Um, Miranda? What's wrong?" asked Amy.

Miranda snapped out of her petrified state and looked up from the letter.

"This letter has a mix of good and bad news in it." said Miranda slowly.

"So what does the letter say?" asked Tails as he took a bite out of a fried egg.

"One of my star agents has found a Dr. Eggman robot production factory." explained Miranda "There's just one problem…it's in Black Acropolis!"

Sonic, Tails and Amy just stared at each other in wonder. They had never heard of this Black Acropolis before so they were curious to find out what it was.

"What's so bad about Black Acropolis then?" asked Sonic.

"Black Acropolis is the most dangerous place on Mobius." explained Kari the Rat, the team mechanic "It has two active volcanoes that erupt every five weeks, lava geysers are everywhere and its hell for anyone there! The ground is constantly covered by molten lava, which cools down and dries up and becomes hard black stone, hence the name Black Acropolis, but even that cannot stop the lava geysers coming through and toasting anyone that unluckily happens to be in the path of one! Many people call it the "Apocalypse Zone" as all that seems to happen in Black Acropolis is volcano eruptions, earthquakes and lava geysers! Nobody lives in that place as it is just not safe!"

"Well if Black Acropolis is that dangerous then why in the name of Chaos Emeralds did Eggman build a factory there?" blurted Sonic.

"Simple." said Tails "Because Black Acropolis is such a danger zone, no one will think of going there to wreck his robot production factory. Not to mention, Eggman must have some kind of protection as he's not stupid enough to build a valuable factory in the middle of a volcano zone."

"Good point Tails." said Sonic "Well, if it's a robot factory run by ol Eggers himself then I shall take the liberties of paying it a visit and wrecking it."

"Sonic! You can't go to Black Acropolis!" cried Thunder "It's suicide to go there and me and Bolt should know! We've been there before!"

"And we're not kidding!" shrieked Bolt "I still have burn marks on my back from that lava geyser that almost got me!"

"Well you two are still alive so you must have made it out somehow." noted Amy.

"We just got lucky!" snapped Thunder "We may not be so lucky the next time we go!"

"We are not going to Black Acropolis and that's that!" said Bolt, folding his arms and turning his back on everybody.

"As weird as it is saying this, I think the boys are right for once." said Miranda "Black Acropolis is just too dangerous. We can't go there, we'll end up in a fiery grave if we go there."

"But if we let the factory stay intact, Eggman will continue to get more robots." noted Sonic "We must destroy that factory!"

"If we try to destroy that factory, we may end up dying in the process!" shrieked Miranda.

Then all of the sudden, the mongoose's mood changed rather quickly and she suddenly calmed down.

"Then again, if we do die trying to destroy Eggman's factory, we will die for a good cause." mused Miranda "I mean, when I signed up for the Royal Fighters Service I swore that I would fight to the end, not matter what that end might be."

"So I take it we're going to this Black Acropolis?" asked Tails.

"Yes we are." said Miranda "We are going to destroy that Eggman factory, even if we die trying."

"NO!" cried Thunder and Bolt "ARE YOU CRAZY MIRANDA? We can't go to Black Acropolis!"

"We can, and we are." said Miranda coldly "And if you two don't come I'll kick you both out of this team. Understood."

"Er…yes Miranda." said Thunder and Bolt together.

"Good." said Miranda "Get packing everybody, we're going to Black Acropolis."

With that said, she got to her feet and she ran off to one of the still intact tents to pack some supplies they would need for the mission. Kari decided to go and pack some things as well. Kate remained where she was and Thunder and Bolt got up and strode off somewhere so they would let their worries out. Sonic, Tails and Amy just looked at each other and exchanged concerning glances.

"Do you think we'll…make it out of Black Acropolis alive Sonic?" asked Amy nervously.

"I haven't a doubt in my mind Ames." said Sonic "We've survived Eggman robots and such. Some lousy volcanoes are nothing to us."

"You can easily say something like that Sonic but the reality is never the same as what you speculate." noted Tails "Although I'd agree that it's gonna take more than a volcano to bring us down."

"You said it Tails." said Sonic "Just wait till Eggman finds out his precious factory is destroyed once we wreck it! He'll go absolutely coconuts!"

"I bet he will!" giggled Amy "That Eggman's factory is going down!"

Sonic was easily looking forward to this mission. Another Eggman robot production factory was just waiting to be destroyed by him. Pity he didn't know about the REAL danger that was happening right now…

Back at Angel Island, things were getting hectic by the second. Knuckles and Shade were locked in combat down below and the Nocturnus Clan were up on the island feeding the Master Emerald dark Chaos Energy so their master Imperator Ix would be able to use it against his enemies. As they fed the dark Chaos Energy to the Master Emerald, the Marauders began chanting a darker version of the Master Emerald chant that the guardian had to recite to the Master Emerald.

"The servants are the seventh Chaos." the suited echidnas chanted "Chaos is power controlled by our will. The server exists to enslave the Chaos."

They began to chant this chant over and over as they fed the Master Emerald dark Chaos Energy. The Master Emerald itself was trying to stop the dark Chaos Energy from corrupting it but the Nocturnus clan had overwhelmed it with their energy beams and their Chaos chant. If they kept this up, the Master Emerald would be a powerhouse of dark Chaos Energy.

On the ground, Knuckles dodged a couple of blade swipes from Shade and punched her as hard as he possibly could, sending Shade skidding backwards. Shade brought herself to a stop by plunging one of her blades into the ground and she charged back to Knuckles. Her blades began to glow purple at the tips and she swung them at Knuckles.

"Blade Rush!" she yelled.

She swung the blades and Knuckles was stricken by an energy wave from Shade's weapons. Knuckles stumbled over and fell onto his back. Shade then put her weapons away and she grabbed one of Knuckles' ankles. She then swung Knuckles over onto his stomach and slammed him as hard as she could. Knuckles could feel the wind in his body being knocked out of him as his furry little body made sharp contact with the hard stony ground he and Shade stood upon. But Shade didn't stop there, she then proceeded to throw Knuckles away for twenty feet and send him skidding across the terrain. Knuckles' skid was so painful, he felt like his entire back had been ripped off. He lay there groaning in pain and grimacing tensely as he felt his sore back. Shade warped herself over to Knuckles with her warp belt and she drew out her blades. She stared coldly at Knuckles, the echidna guardian only able to stare helplessly back at her.

"Shade. For the good of the echidna race, don't let your dad take over Angel Island!" begged Knuckles "Please, your dad's gonna bring more harm than good if he makes it over here!"

"Lord Ix wishes to have his throne back." said Shade in a tone of loyalty "He does not wish to harm anybody, he just wants to be ruler of Angel Island again like he should be."

"Shade, he was dethroned for a reason!" retorted Knuckles "He mutinied against us! He tried to break the rules, slaughtered the elders and tried to make the island drop! He'll try and do the exact same thing if he gets back on Angel Island!"

"For a guardian, you are so blind to reality." snapped Shade "Lord Ix may have done those things before, but he does not wish to repeat his previous ambitions. All he wants is to be ruler of Angel Island again and once he's ruler, he'll be happy, the Nocturnus clan will be respected like it should be and Angel Island will have a stronger guardian then you. In the sense that Ix will be the guardian."

"Well if that's the case then what's the dark Chaos Energy for?" asked Knuckles suspiciously.

"Lord Ix does not wish for me to reveal that fact to you." said Shade grimly "This question of yours shall be taken to your grave guardian."

Shade then proceeded to raise her blades up and prepare to swiftly slice Knuckles' head off with one hefty cleave of the blades. Knuckles was not going to let the daughter of Imperator Ix kill him so before Shade could kill him, he grabbed her arms and held them at arm's length away from his neck. He then picked himself up and he and Shade struggled against each other. Shade tried hard to slice Knuckles' head off but Knuckles was too strong for her. He kept her arms held firmly away from him. Knuckles then proceeded to head butt Shade in the nose, causing her to drop her blades and clutch her nose in pain. Knuckles then leaped up and dropkicked Shade in the forehead, knocking her onto her back. Knuckles grabbed Shade's dropped blades and he held them against the female echidna's throat. Shade lay pinned against the ground with her own weapon's pressed against her throat. The female echidna had no method of escape now. She didn't even dare use her warp belt in case Knuckles stopped her. Shade just glared at Knuckles with her lilac eyes. Knuckles had only just realized how beautiful Shade's eyes looked but now was not the time for admiration; Shade was the enemy so he had to deal with her, pretty eyes or not.

"Go ahead. Kill me guardian." dared Shade "Your father almost killed my father so how fitting is it that Locke's son is the one that kills Ix's daughter?"

"I would kill you if I didn't need you and believe me, I REALLY need you!" growled Knuckles "Warp me back up to Angel Island now! Or I'll…"

He pushed harder on Shade's neck with the blades he'd stolen off of her as a threatening gesture. Shade just scowled at Knuckles but she ceded to his demands, seeing as how she had no choice. It was either let the good guy win or lose her head. She touched her hip and Knuckles and Shade were once again, engulfed in a bright pink flash. The pink flash consumed them and they vanished into thin air.

The two echidnas then reappeared back onto Angel Island, right where the emerald shrine was. Knuckles looked away from Shade and saw the Nocturnus echidnas chanting their evil chant and feeding the Master Emerald dark Chaos Energy. The Nocturnus echidnas did not seem to have noticed that Shade and Knuckles were back on Angel Island. They were still chanting their chant.

"The servants are the seventh Chaos." they continued "Chaos is power controlled by our will…"

Now Knuckles was back on Angel Island, he could stop those echidnas. All he had to do was move them away from the Master Emerald and chant his chant to block out the dark Chaos Energy they had been feeding the emerald with. Knuckles dropped Shade's weapons and ran over to the Nocturnus echidnas. He punched one away from the emerald and sent it hurling into another echidna. Knuckles grabbed another echidna and threw him straight off the island and onto the ground below where he met his death. The last five echidnas stopped what they were going and they began shooting at Knuckles. Knuckles grabbed one echidna by the arm and threw him off the shrine. He grabbed two others by their arms and slammed them both together, dazing them both. He threw them off the shrine and he took out the last two echidnas by upper-cutting them both off of the shrine. He then pressed his hands against the Master Emerald and quickly began to chant as the emerald's glorious green glow was beginning to change to black.

"The servers are the seventh Chaos! Chaos is power enriched by the heart! The server exists to unify the Chaos!" he quickly chanted.

The blackness of the Master Emerald stopped getting greater and the whole thing seemed to ground to a halt as Knuckles chanted the emerald chant. It would take a few more chants then that to work so Knuckles decided to keep it up. He began chanting a second time but before he could finish, Shade suddenly pounced on him from behind and activated her warp belt. Yet again, they were engulfed in a bright flash of pink and they disappeared into thin air. The Nocturnus echidnas all picked themselves up and they continued with what they were going. Because they were one echidna short now, their process would talk a little longer then planned now but they didn't care, they were too keen to get the job done. Down on the ground, Knuckles and Shade reappeared and Knuckles shot Shade a death glare.

"OK! That does it! Stop it with the cheap warp belt trickery and stand down Shade!" yelled Knuckles "Get me back up there right now!"

"No." said Shade "You're staying down here and that's the end of it. I do wish I didn't leave my weapons behind but I don't need them for this fight. I will still defeat you anyway."

"We'll see about that Shade!" yelled Knuckles "When I'm finished with you, Ix won't even recognize you!"

With that said, Knuckles and Shade charged at each other like mad bulls and they punched each other in the face. They sent each other skidding backwards and they ground to a halt. The two echidnas charged at each other again in a mono y mono style and they leaped into the air. They linked arms with one another in midair and they both landed down on the ground whilst holding each other's arms. They pushed on each other, trying to gain the upper hand on each other while the Nocturnus Clan up on Angel Island continued their corruption chant. If Knuckles didn't get back on Angel Island soon, the Master Emerald would be corrupted and full of dark Chaos Energy and Angel Island would be ripe for the plucking for Imperator Ix…

Meanwhile, Sonic and friends had all packed for the journey and without a moment to lose, they had set off to Black Acropolis. Thunder and Bolt both led the way as they knew where Black Acropolis was and in a matter of thirty whole minutes, they arrived at the so-called Apocalypse Zone. They all stopped in front of a fence with a gate that was chained shut. The gate had a big heavy red sign on it saying "DANGER: KEEP OUT!" in big black letters. Black Acropolis was a danger to anyone going near it after all so the fence was there to keep anybody out of the zone. Sonic peered through the gaps in the fence and saw the lava geysers spewing out of the ground and shooting up into the air like a normal geyser shoots water into the air. The lava rained back down onto the ground, hissing loudly as the lava drops settled onto the hard, black, rocky terrain that surrounded it. The terrain, as mentioned by Kari, was made up of dried-up lava from all the past eruptions of the two volcanoes the zone had to offer and it had all become black and rocky. Sonic could also see the two volcanoes that Kari had mentioned. They were enormous, even bigger then Mount Adabat in Adabat and they were rumbling like mad. Sonic could feel the vibrations in his feet from the active volcanoes rumbling and getting ready to erupt again. Seeing Black Acropolis in person suddenly made Sonic feel nervous. Maybe come here wasn't such a good idea after all. But if Eggman managed to build an entire factory in Black Acropolis and come out alive then surely they could make it out alive. Not to mention Thunder and Bolt made it out alive when they went there so there was a chance that they could make it out alive too. Amy peered through the gaps in the fence and saw what Sonic was looking at. Seeing the volcanoes and lava geysers made Amy feel nervous too. She remembered her last encounter with a volcano* and since then, she had hoped never to go near one ever again. But now, they had to go in a forbidden zone with not only one volcano, but TWO volcanoes and a lot of lava geysers too!

"Oh Sonic, I don't wanna go in there!" whimpered Amy, hugging Sonic's arm to calm her nerves "It looks scary in there! There's volcanoes and lava and everything in there! I don't wanna go in there!"

"Amy, chill. We'll be alright." said Sonic, although secretly he was just as nervous as Amy was "Especially since the hedgehog is with you. I'm so fast, those volcanoes won't get a drop of lava on me."

"But nobody else can run like you Sonic." said Tails "So we'd be more vulnerable targets for the lava then you would be."

"Don't worry guys, I have a plan." said Sonic "I'll go in first and see if I can find Egg-Brains' little clubhouse and then I'll run back and get you all one by one and I'll quickly run you all to the factory before the volcanoes or the geysers can get you."

"I like that idea." said Miranda "Why didn't I think of that?"

"I guess I think as fast as I run." boasted Sonic "Everybody wait here, I'll find the factory."

With that said, Sonic knocked the gates down with one hefty spin-dash and he zoomed into the danger zone while everybody else stayed put and waited for Sonic to come back. Now the gates had been knocked down, Black Acropolis' nightmarish scenery was all the more visible to everybody. Tails saw the lava geysers shooting up into the air like fiery water fountains and he was well scared by the geysers. So scared in fact, he looked like his heart would bust its way through his ribcage. The geysers seemed to scare poor Tails greatly, especially the loud noise they made as they spewed up into the air. It sounded like an underground creature roaring up at the surface. Kari could see poor Tails was frightened half to death so she put her hands on his shoulders and spoke softly to him.

"Don't be scared Tails." she said softly "The geysers can't get us as long as we stay on the other side of the fence."

"I know. I know." said Tails, feeling his pounding chest and gasping for breath "It's just, they look so scary and that noise they make is spine-tingling! I'm gonna have nightmares for weeks after this!"

"There's no need to be scared of the geysers Tails." said Amy "My Sonic will protect us. He said it himself, when he comes back for us, he'll carry us over to Eggman's factory at top speed so the lava can't get us. Nothing can get my Sonic since he's so fast! He's one dashing hedgehog in more ways then one I always say." she suddenly said dreamily.

Thunder and Bolt looked at each other awkwardly, their minds abuzz with a joke they could make out of this. They failed.

"Tails is Amy always like this when it comes to Sonic?" asked Kari.

"She is." said Tails "They don't call her Sonic's biggest fan for nothing. She wishes to marry him although I myself can't see that happening as Sonic seems to find her annoying and is always running away from her."

"What did you just say Tails?" snarled Amy, her face going red with rage.

"Nothing!" squeaked Tails, sweat dropping nervously.

"Hey look, Amy's turned red!" cried Thunder with a silly grin on his face "Looks like someone's getting hot under the collar!

"And I thought the lava was the only thing that was hot around here!" laughed Bolt.

The two chipmunk brothers burst into loud obnoxious laughter. Their laughter just made Amy even angrier. She summoned her Piko-Piko hammer to her hands and she marched up to Thunder and Bolt with her eyes burning. Miranda grabbed Amy by the arm and held her back.

"No Amy." she said "Attacking someone for angering you is not the right thing to do. Leave Thunder and Bolt to have their fun. They're only joking."

"But…they…yes Miranda." said Amy, putting her hammer away.

Then suddenly, Amy heard the sound of Sonic the Hedgehog running back towards them. He sped through Black Acropolis and back to the gates. Amy's face brightened.

"He look, Sonic's back!" she cried.

"That didn't take long." said Tails "I guess Eggman's factory isn't as well hidden as I thought it would be. Either that or it's Sonic's super speed that enabled him to find it so fast."

Unfortunately, Sonic was stopped dead in his tracks. A lava geyser erupted from the ground and spewed straight up into the sky directly in front of him. Sonic could feel the heat on his face as the lava shot up into the sky. But the lava geyser did more then just shoot lava up and bring Sonic to a halt. The ground beneath his feet suddenly cracked and broke away from the hard, rocky terrain and Sonic suddenly found himself drifting away from the others and down a lava current that led towards one of the two volcanoes! The Mobians watched horrified as Sonic drifted down the river of lava that was on the other side of the rocky terrain, now visible to them since the ground had broken away. There was nothing nearby for Sonic to leap on. He was completely stranded on a chunk of rock in the middle of a lava river. Amy looked like somebody was about to stab her in the heart.

"THERE'S A RIVER OF LAVA HERE?" shrieked Amy.

"Um…did I forget to mention that?" asked Kari nervously, noticing she'd missed out the lava river when she talked about Black Acropolis earlier.

"Yes you did actually." said Tails crossly "But that doesn't matter, Sonic's in trouble! We need to stop him before he drifts to that volcano! Who knows what's gonna happen to him when he reaches it!"

"I had a sneaky feeling I'd end up needing a grappling hook for this." muttered Miranda, pulling one out of a backpack she was carrying on her back.

Miranda ran into the fiery death zone and ran to the part where the ground had broken away. Sonic was a good distance away from them now. He was much too far to jump off the slab of rock he was floating away on and he didn't want to risk a spin-dash in case of missing miserably and getting a fiery end to his life. Miranda stared helplessly at the drifting hedgehog and prayed hard that she had enough rope to each him. Miranda swung the hook end of the rope around in a circle, spinning it as fast as she could and she threw the hook towards Sonic as hard as she could. There was only just enough rope to reach Sonic and Sonic grabbed the hook as it hurtled to him. He gave Miranda a thumbs up sign to signal to her that he'd caught it. The mongoose sighed with relief.

"Thank goodness for that!" she puffed "Kate, you pull Sonic to shore!" she ordered to her green feathered friend "You're strong enough for this job!"

Kate obeyed and she wondered into Black Acropolis. She ran over to where Miranda was standing and she took the rope from Miranda's hands. Then using her mighty strength with which she was famous for, Kate pulled the rope towards her and began to pull the slab of rock back to shore. Sonic was a good distance away so it would take some time. Sonic held on tight to the slab as Kate pulled him to shore. In a matter of minutes, Sonic would be back on solid ground and then he and the others could destroy Eggman's factory. But then more trouble arouse. Some lava suddenly shot up from within the lava river just behind Sonic's slab, breaking a small chunk off and making the slab smaller. The river had geysers underneath it and they liked to randomly shoot up at any point possible. The lava that spewed up behind Sonic rained down over the hedgehog. Sonic curled up into a ball to avoid getting hit by the lava drops. Unfortunately, one of the lava drops hit the rope and burnt straight through it! The rope snapped and Kate found herself staggering backwards and landing on her back. Sonic ended up drifting back down the river of lava. Sonic began to grow increasingly worried. He was on a slab of rock, drifting down a river of lava and heading towards an active volcano! He'd be fried hedgehog if he didn't get off the slab and fast. The only trouble was, there was nowhere to leap onto, Sonic couldn't paddle the slab as he'd just end up scorching his fingers and there was nothing to paddle the slab with so he was stuck drifting down the lava. Sonic clutched the edges of the slab desperately as he continued heading towards the volcano.

"Well, I survive conflicts with Eggman robots, a sadistic Martian, my own brother, a robot faker, a genetic experiment hedgehog, a kung fu leopard, a bounty hunter, four mystery guys, a giant robot made up out of three others and this is how it ends!" said Sonic grimly "I get killed by a volcano! I bet no one would expect the fate of Sonic the Hedgehog to be like this!"

Back on the shore Kate picked herself up and Miranda watched helplessly as Sonic drifted off into the river. There was no hope for Sonic now. Her grappling hook had been burnt and she didn't have any spare. Kate could easily fly over and grab Sonic but the lava geysers posed a huge threat for the eagle so she decided not to risk it. Tails however, had other ideas. He twisted his tails around one another and he flew into Black Acropolis. He flew past Miranda and Kate and headed towards Sonic on the slab. Miranda saw the young boy flying into danger and immediately freaked. While she wasn't a mother, Miranda had a very big regard for kid's safety. If a kid was in danger or was risking his/her life, Miranda acted like a worried mother.

"Tails! Come back!" she cried "It's too dangerous! You might get hit by the lava geysers!"

"Don't worry Miss Miranda." said Tails "I'll be fine. I'm a good flier and I'll keep an eye out for…"

He suddenly ended up getting a lava geyser spew up right in front of his face. Tails screamed in terror as he felt the heat of the lava on his face. The lava stopped spewing and Tails quickly flew forward to avoid getting rained on by the lava that fell back down into the river. Tails flew down towards the slab of rock that Sonic was on. Sonic saw Tails coming towards him and he beamed happily.

"Tails, get me off of this thing before I become lava chow!" cried Sonic.

"I am doing!" retorted Tails as he headed towards Sonic.

But then something else decided to happen and make things more difficult for Sonic. A lava geyser erupted straight underneath the slab of rock he was on and the hedgehog was catapulted into the air, startling Tails and making him inch backwards. The lava shot Sonic straight into the air and sent him flying off the slab of rock. The slab fell back down and landed in the river where it bobbed back to the surface, glowing red from the heat of the lava. Sonic however, was sent hurling towards the lava nearer to the shore but he wasn't falling quite near enough. He was heading towards the lava just inches in front of the shore. Sonic saw his life flash before his eyes just as he began to head towards the lava. But before he could meet a fiery end, Kate the Eagle flew up and grabbed Sonic with her talons before he could land in the lava. The eagle manoeuvred around quickly just as another lava geyser shot up behind them and she carried Sonic to shore. Tails flew quickly back to shore, relieved to see that Sonic was saved at last. Kate put Sonic down and Sonic gasped for breath, seeing as how breathing in high temperatures wasn't easy and now he was in a cooler place, it was easier to breathe. Tails landed on the ground, relieved to be back to sure and pleased to see Sonic was OK. Sonic looked at Kate and smiled thankfully at the often quiet eagle.

"Thanks a bunch Kate." said Sonic "I appreciate it."

"No thanks necessary." said Kate softly "Any friend of Miranda's is worthy of saving."

Now Sonic was back to shore, Amy ran into Black Acropolis, completely ignoring the dangers the zone had to offer for her and she hugged Sonic tightly, almost suffocating the poor hedgehog.

"Sonic, I was so worried!" she cried happily "I thought you were done for but Ohmigosh you made it out alive again!"

"Amy, I'd be very thankful if you'd stop trying to suffocate me right now!" yelped Sonic "I can't breathe!"

"Sorry." said Amy, quickly letting go of Sonic and giving the hedgehog space to breathe "It's just, when you're in trouble, the fan-girl side of me gets the best of me and I can't help myself when you get saved."

"That's understandable." said Sonic understandably "Now I'm safe and sound, I'll just run you all over to the factory before anyone can get hit by any lava geysers."

Just as he said that, another geyser shot out from behind him, making him jump and leap into Amy's arms without him realizing it in a frightened manner.

"You know what, I'm getting tired of these geysers and their disturbingly good timing!" he gasped crossly.

He then suddenly realized he had leaped into Amy's arms and he quickly leaped back out of them. Amy however, seemed thrilled at the fact that Sonic had just done that, even if it was accidentally. Sonic fought hard to keep himself from blushing. Thunder and Bolt however, burst out laughing at Sonic's little moment.

"OK, as I was saying." said Sonic "Time to go to Eggman's stupid little robot factory."

He grabbed Tails by the hand and zipped off to the factory at top speed. A few seconds later he came back for Amy and carried her to the factory at top speed. He then came back for Miranda and carried her to the factory, then Kari, then Kate and finally Thunder and Bolt.

He had done the whole thing in just thirty seconds. Now the heroes all found themselves at Dr. Eggman's factory which was hidden in a rocky cannon behind one of the volcanoes. The surrounding cliffs that stretched up behind the volcano were shaped in an unusual way which enabled them to stop too much lava seeping over the edges and into the canyon below, which was probably why Eggman built the factory here in the first place. The factory itself was pretty large, not unusual by factory standards and it was coloured red, bronze, silver and yellow in a lot of places. The factory had the Eggman Empire logo on it and thick black smoke seeped out through giant funnels on top of the building. The factory was surrounded by a red force field. The force field was obviously there to protect the factory from lava flows and geysers. That explained how Eggman had managed to build a factory in Black Acropolis and prevent it from being stricken by lava. Sonic was impressed by Eggman's intelligence, the fat scientist wasn't such a klutz after all.

"A force field!" he said "Of course! That's how the factory can be in a place like this and remain standing!"

"That field obviously keeps the lava off of it and protects it from lava geysers." said Tails "Eggman thought of everything didn't he?"

"He did." muttered Miranda, not amused at all by Eggman's cleverness "Unfortunately for us, we can't get in there and destroy the blasted factory."

"Who says we can't?" sneered Sonic "The hedgehog has a front door for you all!"

"Where?" asked Kari.

"Here." said Sonic.

He spin-dashed into the ground and cleaved his way through the black, hardened, dried up lava from past eruptions that they were standing on. Sonic dug down a little and then he went straight forward underground. Then he reappeared by spin-dashing up through the ground and to the surface on the other side of the force field. The Northern Royal Fighters were amazed by that act of Sonic's.

"Brilliant! Brilliant that is!" cheered Bolt "It's a good thing he's on our side isn't it Miranda?"

"It certainly is." said Miranda with a bright smile on her pretty face "Now, let's crawl through Sonic's tunnel and join him inside the force field."

Tails and Amy went first. They got down on their hands and knees and they crawled into Sonic's tunnel. After a minute or so, they crawled to the end of Sonic's tunnel and Sonic helped them climb out of the tunnel and onto the surface. The Northern Royal Fighters then went in one at once. Luckily for Kate, Sonic had made the tunnel large enough for her to crawl in as she was a rather large eagle and she'd get stuck if it was only big enough for the others and not her as well. After another minute, they made it to the end of the tunnel and Sonic helped them onto the surface. Everybody was now inside the force field and free to walk straight into Eggman's factory and demolish it. The only thing was, since there was a force field over the factory, the fumes had nowhere to go as the force field was trapping them in so the air around the factory was completely and utterly toxic. Bad enough to kill if they breathed in too much of it so they had to get into the factory and fast. Luckily, the door was just inches from where they were so Sonic spin-dashed the door open and they all ran inside before they could choke to death on the polluted air outside. Sonic closed the doors to keep the pollution out and he coughed loudly.

"Ugh! Hack! Splutter!" he choked "Well…cough!...I never took Eggman to be a pollution lover! That air is death to anyone outside the factory but in the force field!"

"Not surprising really considering everything's sealed in the force field so the fumes have nowhere to go." noted Kari "Not to mention, this factory has been here for goodness knows how long so all those fumes have just been spewing out day after day and making the air worse."

"Talk about a design flaw." muttered Sonic "Oh well, toxic air's not going to give anybody grief here, considering the fact it's a robot factory so nobody needs to breathe in here."

"So what do we do now Sonic?" asked Amy.

"Blow the place sky-high." said Sonic "Or we could just switch off the force field and let the volcanoes finish it off for us."

"I think the latter is the best idea." said Kari "We'll have a better chance of making it out alive if we just turn the force field off and let the volcano erupt and destroy it."

"So that will be our objective." said Miranda "We'd best find the control room and find out how to shut off the shield."

"OK then team." said Sonic with a thumbs up "Let's do it to it everybody."

And with that, the team ran down the long stretching corridor and looked for the control room. This mission looked like it was going to be an easy one for them. A rarity for the R.F.S. But even the simplest looking situations had some horrible twist in store for them that would throw the mission into catastrophe and this factory had one that was lying in wait for them…

Back in Downunda, the very place Angel Island resided, Knuckles and Shade were fighting furiously while up on the island, the Nocturnus Echidnas were finishing off their corruption operation. The Master Emerald was pitch black and swimming in dark Chaos Energy now. It would take a lot of chanting to cleanse the Master Emerald from dark energy now. Knuckles was too focused on his fight with Shade to notice what was going on up on Angel Island. He and Shade punched at each other while defending the other's blows. Shade tried to roundhouse kick Knuckles in the head but the guardian bent over backwards to dodge the kick. Knuckles then grabbed Shade's foot and threw her leg upwards, causing the Procurator to fall backwards and onto her back. Knuckles tried to attack Shade again but Shade leaned back on her hands and sprang herself foot first into Knuckles' stomach. Knuckles doubled over and wheezed loudly but his gasping was quickly interrupted by Shade elbowing him on the cranium and then kicking him away. Knuckles picked himself up and dodged an oncoming blow from Shade. Knuckles jumped past Shade and roundhouse kicked her in the back of the head and knocked her over. Shade jumped back to her feet and punched Knuckles in the shoulder. Knuckles punched Shade back, in the waist and Shade clutched her waist, trying to fight the pain she was feeling now. Knuckles drew his arm back and gave the distracted echidna an uppercut that sent her hurling through the air like a tossed stone. Shade landed very sharply on her back and she grimaced tensely as pain flooded up her back. Knuckles advanced on Shade as she lay on the ground staring up at the sky in excruciating pain. Shade pushed herself up into a sitting position and she glared at Knuckles with he lilac eyes as the echidna guardian advanced on her.

"It's over Shade!" growled Knuckles "Give it up! You can't win! I'm too strong for you!"

"So it seems." said Shade dryly, picking herself up and staggering a little as she tried to get her footing.

"This battle is over." said Knuckles "Warp me back onto Angel Island right now! And this time, leave me on Angel Island!"

Shade just touched her hip and she vanished in a bright pink flash. Knuckles watched this happen and he growled angrily. He clenched his fists and gritted his teeth.

"Shade you coward!" he bellowed "Stop it with the teleporting and fight me you Nocturnus scum!"

Just after he said that, the Procurator reappeared behind him and pile-dived him in the back before he could realize what was happening. Knuckles fell onto his back and Shade pinned him down with her foot. Knuckles then felt the cold steel of a blade being pressed against his neck.

"Let me guess, you went to get your weapons." muttered Knuckles.

"Yes, I fight better with them." said Shade, pressing on of her blades against Knuckles' neck "Now don't move."

She raised her blades and prepared to behead Knuckles was once again but Knuckles reached out behind him, grabbed Shade's leg and tripped her up. Shade fell onto her back and Knuckles picked himself up. He tried to punch Shade but the Nocturnus echidna rolled out of the way, leaving Knuckles to punch the ground instead. Shade then used her Blade Rush attack on Knuckles and Knuckles was swept off his feet by the energy wave from Shade's blades. Shade then tried to cleave Knuckles in two with her blades but she missed as Knuckles rolled out of her way and Knuckles tried to kick her but Shade blocked the attack with her blades. Knuckles punched at Shade but Shade ducked and slashed his arm with her blades. Knuckles grabbed his arm and yelled loudly in pain. Shade took the opportunity to kick Knuckles while he was gripping his arm in pain. Knuckles lay on his side, clutching his arm and Shade tried to cleave him in two again but Knuckles dodged her attacks. He then grabbed Shade's arm and punched her in the hip. This is in turn, ended up activating her Warp Belt. The two echidnas ended up disappearing in a bright pink flash and they reappeared back onto Angel Island, the exact place Knuckles wanted to be on right now. They appeared just paces away from the shrine and Shade doubled over, clutching her hip. Knuckles smirked triumphantly at Shade.

"Ha! I'm back on Angel Island Shade!" Knuckles cackled.

"Ugh! I can see that." grunted Shade "You've broken my Warp Belt so now I can't warp you back down!"

"Even better." sneered Knuckles "So now nothing can stop me from…"

He turned around and froze in horror at what he saw. The Nocturnus Echidnas had just finished their ritual and the Master Emerald was no longer a brilliant green colour. It was completely black in colour. The emerald had been filled from top to bottom with dark Chaos Energy. Dark Chaos Energy was a more dangerous force to be reckoned with then ordinary Chaos Energy due to its evil and destructive nature and Knuckles would need to chant quite a lot to cleanse the Master Emerald. That is, if he would be able to cleanse the Master Emerald! Knuckles was so shocked at this sudden turn of events, he couldn't speak. Shade however, was pleased with this. Her clan had succeeded. Now her father, Imperator Ix could finally show up. She touched the side of her headband.

"Father?" said Shade "It is time."

The moment she said that, a massive bright flash appeared from nowhere and blew Knuckles away. Knuckles skidded to a halt on his back and he picked himself up only to see the one thing he never wanted to see again. Imperator Ix himself! Ix was a formidable figure to anyone that laid their eyes upon him. He was dressed from head to foot in armour. His armour was dark purple and unusually designed. He had gold wrist cuffs with thin blue decals, heavy boots with gold armour pieces at the toes and heels, and he had two long flowing structures on the front of his armour tipped with light blue symbols. He had a flowing cape at the back which was vaguely arrow shaped at the end and he had a heavy gold collar. He wore a helmet with three long prongs that were curved and pointed behind him. He carried a staff that had an almost complete circular structure at the end. The helmet had glowing light blue eyes, presumably the eyes of Ix himself. If he wasn't wearing his helmet right now, you could probably see a smirk of pure evil on his face. Knuckles just stared in horror at the Imperator that stood before him. After all these years, he was back at last and here to ruin the lives of everybody on Angel Island! The Nocturnus Echidnas bowed down to Ix respectfully and so did Shade. Ix raised his staff triumphantly and bellowed out in his big, deep, booming voice.

"I am Imperator Ix! I have been wrongfully banished from this island and I have come back to claim it and become the ruler of Angel Island once again!"

This...does...not...look...good...Imperator Ix is back, the Master Emerald has been corrupted and Sonic is way out of Knuckles' reach right now! How can he save Angel Island now? Find out next time on Sonic the Hedgehog: Heroes of Mobius! Read and Review.

P.S. So sorry for the delay! I've been focusing more on Tales from Mobius recently as I've been behind on it. I'm all caught up now and from now on, you'll get a pattern like this: Heroes of Mobius, Tales from Mobius, Heroes of Mobius, Tales from Mobius and so on. It won't be like that all the time though, only when I have a Tales from Mobius arc in mind.

Rights for the Land Part 2

Story 72: Rights for the Land Part 2: An Imperator's Claim

Knuckles the Echidna, Guardian of Angel Island and protector of the Master Emerald sat on the ground and stared in horror as his worst nightmare stood before him in front of the Master Emerald. The insidious Imperator Ix, traitor of Angel Island and the very person who slaughtered the elders, the leaders of the island, and tried to make the island fall was back and ready for revenge! The Nocturnus Clan all bowed down to him with Shade the Echidna up front. She was Ix's daughter and the most loyal out of the clan to their master after all.

"Lord Ix." said Shade "It is an honour to have you back on this very island with us."

"At ease Shade." boomed Ix gently "We have more pressing matters at hand right now."

Shade obeyed and she stood to attention. The Nocturnus Echidnas did the same and Ix stepped down from the shrine and strode up towards Knuckles. His cold blue eyes were like ice as he stared down at Knuckles. Knuckles was usually a brave soul but the sight of Imperator Ix physically terrified him. He had been scared of Ix when he was a kid and he was still scared of the Imperator now. But he couldn't let his fear of Imperator Ix stop him from saving Angel Island, he had to stand up to Ix and kick him out of Angel Island before Angel Island fell into turmoil. Knuckles picked himself up and raised his fists, trying not to shake with fear. But Ix could sense his fear and he laughed at the frightened guardian.

"This is the new guardian of Angel Island?" he sneered "Ha, ha, ha! It's only Locke's little boy and I can see he doesn't have Locke's courage in his bloodstream at all! He's shaking like a leaf at the mere sight of me!"

"Ix! You are trespassing on sacred grounds!" yelled Knuckles, trying to hide his fear "You know what the penalty is for returning to Angel Island even though you've been banished from it!"

"Yes I do worm." snorted Ix, slamming his staff down on the ground ""He who is banished and returns to this island is met with execution" is the scared oath of the elders. But there ARE no elders this time around! I killed them all so they cannot execute me Knuckles!"

"I know they can't, but I can!" bellowed Knuckles, leaping at Imperator Ix with his fists bared and ready to strike.

Ix just merely whacked him away with his staff and Knuckles was sent skidding across the ground and near the edge of the island. Ix's staff was a powerful weapon and not one to be taken lightly. Knuckles picked himself up and prepared to fight again as Ix advanced on him menacingly. Shade followed him with her blades at the ready. She wanted to see if she could help her father deal with Knuckles.

"So Ix, how did you manage to comeback then?" asked Knuckles "Uncle Finitevus sent you to the darkest areas of Mobius if I recall."

"Correct Knuckles." boomed Ix "Your bothersome uncle used a warp ring and sent me into the deepest cave on Mobius which is 500 miles deep. However, Shade and the Nocturnus Clan used a warp ring they'd stolen from Angel Island to get to the cave and bring me back to the surface. I was frozen in Chaos Control for a while though but the Nocturnus Clan used their dark Chaos Energy to break your father's spell and I was free. I thought it would be better to lay low for a while so I went back to the cave is was destined to rot in with the Nocturnus clan and I began tutoring them and training them to be powerful, strong and swift so they'd be well prepared for whoever is guarding Angel Island right now. Ten years past and now I'm back on Angel Island with my Nocturnus clan beautifully trained and ready to destroy you!"

"Yeah right, the Nocturnus Clan can barely lay a finger on me!" sneered Knuckles "I'm too tough for your precious clan! Only Shade is a real challenge for me and yet she can't beat me so your training hasn't paid off at all Ix!"

"Oh but it has mite." crowed Ix "I now have a Master Emerald full of dark Chaos Energy thanks to my minions and now I have a powerhouse of dark Chaos Energy, I shall be invincible and anyone who dares to use the Master Emerald will end up joining my side!"

"Are you saying that the Master Emerald will turn anybody who tries to use it evil now?" shrieked Knuckles, his dreadlocks quivering with rage "You sick monster! I'll smash you for this!"

He punched at Ix but Ix just caught his fist and threw it to the side. He then swiftly tripped Knuckles up with one smack to the legs from his staff and Knuckles was quickly brought down on his back. Ix then proceeded to kick Knuckles so hard he fell off the side of Angel Island but he gripped on quickly before he could fall down. Ix strode up to Knuckles and stared down at the helpless echidna that clung onto the ledge for dear life. Knuckles looked back at him fearfully, hoping Ix wasn't going to do what it looked like he was going to do.

"No! Please! Don't do it!" begged Knuckles.

"My plan is in motion. I will not let a bothersome speck of dust like you get in my way now." boomed Ix coldly.

He then proceeded to stomp on Knuckles' fingers and cause him to let go of the ledge he was clinging onto and fall off Angel Island. Knuckles screamed at the top of his voice as he plunged down to the ground and fell presumably to his death. Ix bellowed with laughter as Knuckles disappeared from sight and he turned around and walked away from the ledge, his long cape trailing behind him as he walked. Shade followed him.

"What do we do now master?" asked Shade "Now Knuckles is gone and the Master Emerald is ours, what's our next task?"

Ix looked at his daughter with his icy blue eyes.

"We kill all the other guardians." he said "I know Angel Island well enough to know that there is never only one guardian. There will always be back up guardians and we are going to destroy them. Once the guardians are all dead, Angel Island will be mine once again and no one can stop me because I am too powerful, Locke is dead and the Master Emerald will just increase my army instead of giving anyone a fighting chance!"

"Yes father, Angel Island will be yours at last." said Shade loyally "The echidnas of this island will be very sorry they banished us all like this."

"They will indeed Shade." said Ix evilly "Now come forth Nocturnus! We have some guardians to kill and my chaos energies are giving me an idea on where they are!"

With that said, Ix and the Nocturnus clan all marched on into the forest in search of the back-up guardians of Angel Island. With Knuckles gone, those poor guardians wouldn't have an ounce of a chance against such a powerful echidna in armour with immense levels of Chaos Energies…

Meanwhile in Black Acropolis, the land of obsidian, Sonic the Hedgehog, Tails the Fox and Amy Rose and their news friends the Northern Royal Fighters had broken into an Eggman robot production factory which was located in this death zone and shielded by a force-field to prevent it from being consumed by lava should a volcano erupt. They were looking for the control room so they could shut off the force-field and let the factory get destroyed by a volcano eruption. According to Kari though, the volcanoes erupted every five weeks so when they would erupt was anyone's guess right now. The lava geysers were likelier to finish off the robot factory as they were always erupting and spewing out lava. So far in their search, the heroes hadn't found anything but the control room was bound to be somewhere so they continued to look. Tails opened a door and poked his head inside. The room he was looking in was just an empty closet. He shut it again.

"This isn't the control room." said Tails.

"Huh, the control room's definitely well hidden." said Sonic "None of the rooms in this corridor are the one we're looking for."

"It's probably down another corridor or near the back of the factory."

suggested the Northern Royal Fighter team-leader Miranda Mongoose "It has to be somewhere, every factory has a control room. You can't run a factory without one."

"I agree." said the Northern Royal Fighter mechanic Kari the Rat "I think we'll split up so we can speed up our search. Sonic, you, Tails and Amy go right, we will go left."

"Suit yourself Kari." said Sonic casually "If any of you need me, just give me a call and I'll be with you faster then you can say "Chilli-dogs."

"I believe that easily since you can run at the speed of sound." chuckled Miranda "OK teams, let's split up and search these corridors. We must find the control room quick before Dr. Eggman finds out we're here."

With that said, Sonic, Tails and Amy went down a corridor in the right and the Northern Royal Fighters went down a corridor in the left. The corridor the Northern Royal Fighters were searching through didn't seem to have as many doors as the first corridor they looked down. This obviously meant that there weren't many rooms to look in. It seemed that Miranda and her team wouldn't need to look through many rooms as there weren't as many as the first corridor.

"OK team, let's start searching." said Miranda, creeping over to the nearest door and opening it.

Kari the Rat, Kate the Eagle and the chipmunk brothers Thunder and Bolt did as they were told and they picked whatever door they came across and looked in it to see if they could find the control room. Every door the Northern Royal Fighters looked in was either empty or nothing of interest. After checking one last door, Thunder closed it and turned to Miranda who had just looked in another room.

"None of these rooms are what we're looking for." said Thunder "I don't think the control room is in this corridor."

"I agree with you Thunder." said Miranda, closing the door after she'd finished looking into the room she was looking in "Well, at least Sonic doesn't have to look down here once we tell him the control room isn't in this corridor…"

Then suddenly, the floor opened up underneath the fighters and they all found themselves suddenly falling down into the floor! The floor had opened up and the Northern Royal Fighters found themselves in a pit that was ten feet deep and featureless save for four walls and the floor. Miranda picked herself up and shook her head.

"Well, I didn't see that coming." she muttered "But what do you expect in a robot production factory owned by Dr. Eggman?"

"It's gonna take more then a lousy pit to keep us down!" declared Bolt "Kate can easily fly us all out of here!"

The green feathered eagle nodded in agreement. Unfortunately, things decided to get worse for the trapped fighters. The top of the pit, which was their only way out, was suddenly blocked by flame jets that spouted out from flamethrowers built into the walls near the top of the pit! There was no way the Northern Royal Fighters could possibly escape from the pit now there were flame jets blocking the way! They'd sooner be burnt alive should they try to escape. Miranda stared at the jets despairingly. They were well and truly stuck in the pit now. Then suddenly, the flamethrowers started to slowly descend down the walls and towards the trapped fighters. The flamethrowers had a track that led down to the bottom of the pit and they slowly began to slide down towards Miranda and her team. Once they reached the bottom, the whole team would be burnt alive! They had to escape now and their only hope was Sonic, Tails and Amy. Miranda cupped her hands around her mouth and screamed as loud as she possibly could, hoping that Sonic would hear her.

"SONIC! HELP US!" she screamed.

Sonic, who was further down the corridor and looking in a room, faintly heard Miranda shrieking and he poked his head out of the room he was looking in. Tails and Amy both heard the screaming too.

"That sounds like Miranda." said Tails "I think her team may have run into some trouble!"

"It sure does sound that way." said Sonic grimly "I should have expected something like this to happen in a robot production factory built by Dr. Egg-Brains."

So with that said, Sonic ran out of the room he was looking in and he zipped down the corridor to the pit in the floor where Miranda's team was trapped. Unfortunately, the factory decided to add insult to injury by activating another trap. Flame jets built into the ceiling aimed straight down at the floor and they activated, spewing blazing hot fire out towards the floor. Sonic quickly stopped himself and leaped back before he could run into the flames. Sonic stared up at the jets helplessly. The flame-jets had blocked his way with a wall of fire. Any attempts to get through would just result in a very badly burnt body or worse. But Sonic was not going to sit idly by and let his friends get toasted in a pit. He was going to save Miranda's group, even if he burnt himself alive trying to do so. Tails and Amy saw the flame jets and stared in horror at them.

"Flame jets in the ceiling! How are we gonna get past them without barbequing ourselves?" shrieked Amy.

"I have an idea." said Sonic "Amy, throw your hammer at the jets."

"O.K." said Amy, easily seeing what Sonic's bright idea was.

Amy summoned her trademark Piko-Piko Hammer to her hands and she threw it like a boomerang at the flame jets. The hammer smashed three of them as it hit them and they switched off, leaving a gap in the wall of fire for Sonic, Tails and Amy to easily walk through without any harm whatsoever. Sonic, Tails and Amy ran through the gap and they arrived at the pit that the Northern Royal Fighters were trapped in and they stared down into the pit. The flame jets were descending down towards the trapped fighters. The jets were already halfway down the pit. Another five feet and the Northern Royal Fighters would be toasted! Sonic stared at his trapped friends helplessly. Amy wouldn't be able to smash the jets as they were too far down for her to reach with her hammer. They had to shut them off in someway or another.

"Sonic, how are we gonna stop those flame jets from reaching Miranda and her team?" asked Amy desperately.

"We have to shut them off." said Sonic "Tails, see if you can find a way to turn those jets off!"

"OK Sonic." said Tails, scanning the walls for any possible controls for the flame jets.

It didn't take long for Tails to find the control panel. It was located on a wall near to the pit. The control panel was there so that should an Eggman robot or anyone affiliated with Eggman accidentally fall in, the person in charge of the factory could use the panel to shut off the trap. Unfortunately for Tails, it would only work for any of Eggman's staff in the factory or Dr. Eggman himself so he wouldn't be able to use it to shut off the trap. Tails pressed some keys desperately on the panel but the control panel refused to let him in. He couldn't shut off the trap with the control. Tails however, had an idea.

"Amy, can you whack this control panel for me?" asked Tails.

"Sure but why?" asked Amy, raising her Piko-Piko hammer "Doesn't that control panel work the flamethrowers in the pit?"

"It does but I can't use it, it won't respond to me." replied Tails "I'm sure that we can shut it off if you destroy the control panel."

"Let's hope it works." said Amy, readying herself for a hammer strike.

She swung her big, beefy hammer and smashed the control panel with one big whack of the hammer. The panel was completely busted and it fell off the wall and onto the floor with a soft thunk. The moment the control pad broke away, the flame jets in the pit turned off just as they were a few inches above the Northern Royal Fighter's heads. They would have been burnt alive if Tails' idea didn't work. Sonic peered down the pit and was pleased to see that the jets had turned off and Miranda's group was safe once again.

"Tails, Amy, you did it!" cried Sonic.

"I know we did." said Tails modestly "I'm kinda amazed it worked in all honesty."

Now the flame jets were off, Kate the Eagle proceeded to flap her wings and fly off the floor of the pit. She grabbed Miranda by the arms with her talons and flew her off the floor. She carried Miranda out of the pit and flew back down for the others. She grabbed Kari by the arms and carried her out of the pit and then she went back down for Thunder and Bolt. Thunder grabbed one of Kate's legs and Bolt grabbed the other and Kate proceeded to effortlessly carry them both out of the pit. Thunder and Bolt weren't very heavy after all. Now everybody was out of the pit, Miranda gave Tails and Amy a hug each to say thanks for their efforts.

"Thank you so much you two!" said Miranda breathlessly "We were about to be toast down in that pit until you two managed to shut the flame jets off!"

"You're welcome Miranda." said Tails "I'm just glad Amy has a big hammer with her at all times."

He then motioned over to the control pad to show Miranda what he meant.

"Now everyone's safe, we can continue looking for the control room." said Sonic "But we'd best keep our eyes open for more booby traps as I have a feeling in my quills that there's bound to be more in this factory."

"Cor-rect-hedge-hog." droned a metallic, feminine voice that made everybody jump out of their skins "There-are-other-traps-in-this-factory-and-I-am-one-of-them."

Further up the corridor, a metallic figure emerged from one of the rooms and advanced on the Mobians menacingly. It was none other than Mecha Rouge, Rouge the Bat in a robotic body. Rouge had been roboticized by Dr. Eggman a few weeks ago* so now she was a mindless drone under Eggman's control. Right now, it seemed that she was in charge of the robot factory as she was here to deal with Sonic and friends. Sonic bent down in a battle ready stance.

"So Mecha Rouge, I take it your in charge of this joint?"

"A-ffir-ma-tive." droned Mecha Rouge "Dr.-Egg-man-has-put-me-in-charge-of-this-fac-tory. He-has-al-so-ordered-me-to-elim-in-ate-any-intruders. The-fire-traps-failed-so-I-will-des-troy-you-all-my-self."

"So I take it you're the one who tried to burn my friends alive." said Sonic in a calm but firm voice "Seriously not cool Rouge! Not that you can help it really as you've been roboticized and forced to serve Dr. Eggman."

"That's a Robian?" asked Kari.

"It is." said Sonic "And some day soon, I'm gonna get Rouge out of that robot body. Right now, I don't think I can so we'll just have to fight her if we wanna get to the control room and shut the force-field off."

Mega Rouge bared her claws and charged towards Sonic. Sonic just spin-dashed Mecha Rouge in the gut and sent her flying backwards into a wall. Mecha Rouge pulled herself free from the wall and charged towards Sonic again. Sonic tried to spin-dash Mecha Rouge again but the roboticized bat dodged his attack and Sonic ended up accidentally spin-dashing the ceiling. Amy tried to hammer Mecha Rouge into the ground but Mecha Rouge dodged her hammer and kicked Amy in the head, making her let go of the hammer and sending her rolling across the floor. Tails tried to attack Mecha Rouge but Mecha Rouge grabbed Tails by the arm before he could punch her and he swung him into the floor. Miranda stepped in with a flying kick to the head that knocked Mecha Rouge onto her side.

"Looks like we're in for a tough battle here." she muttered "If only Metal Sonic didn't break my electro-prod, I could do with that weapon on me right now."

"Remind me to fix the weapon once we get home." said Kari.

Mecha Rouge picked herself up and tried to claw Miranda across the belly but the mongoose dodged the attack with a quick step backwards. Kate stepped in and gave Mecha Rouge an uppercut that almost took the Robian bat's head off. Mecha Rouge spun around in a dizzy circle and collapsed onto the floor. Kate advanced on the dazed Mecha Rouge and was about to smash her to pieces until Sonic stopped her.

"No Kate, don't destroy her!" yelled Sonic "She's a roboticized Mobian! We want to de-roboticize her, not destroy her!"

Kate understood what Sonic was talking about and she held back. Sonic grabbed the dazed and confused Mecha Rouge by the shoulder and hoisted her up onto her feet. The Robian didn't seem to know which way was up. Kate's uppercut had clearly taken effect on her.

"Wow, you hit her pretty hard Kate." said Sonic "I don't think she'll be up and at em any time soon. Let's leave her lying around while we turn the force-field off."

Unfortunately for Sonic, Mecha Rouge recovered a lot quicker than he anticipated. Mecha Rouge suddenly took flight while Sonic was still holding her and she used her screw-kick attack. Because Sonic was holding on to her, the hedgehog was spun-around by Mecha Rouge and thrown off of her and straight into the still open pit. Sonic landed with a crash at the bottom of the pit. A ten foot deep pit was not going to keep Sonic down for long or indeed any period of time at all. Sonic effortlessly leaped out of the pit and landed in front of Mecha Rouge, who was glaring at him with her icy blue optics.

"You wanna play rough huh?" sneered Sonic "I'll give you rough Mecha Rouge!"

With that said, Sonic and Mecha Rouge charged towards each other like a pair of bulls…

Back on Angel Island, all the Guardians on the island had gathered around and were discussing a few things about Angel Island and its current status. Like Imperator Ix had said earlier, Angel Island never had just one guardian. There was always a group of guardians, it's just that the guardian of highest authority would be the head guardian and the current head guardian was, as we already know, Knuckles the Echidna. Once Knuckles' time was up, the next in line would take the line of duty and then the next and the next and so forth. It was a nicely balanced circle of guardians that would forever go on and guard the Master Emerald from all who tried to steal the powerful gem. Right now, all the guardians who were charged with guarding the emerald when Knuckles was granted a day-off, had gathered around a stone plinth with some stone benches circled around the plinth. This was their meeting place and it was located in the middle of the forests of Angel Island. An echidna named Harvey who was in his prime and had purple stripes on his dreadlocks, was in charge of the meeting and he began the discussion.

"Attention fellow guardians." he said "I have gathered you all here because there are some pressing matters we have to discuss about Angel Island. Are you all here?"

"Yes Harvey." said the group of echidnas, who were all different ages, heights, colours and appearances.

Harvey scanned the group of echidnas that sat around the plinth. He noticed that there was one missing.

"Where's Knuckles?" asked Harvey.

"I dunno." said an echidna named Garth who was maroon coloured and he wore a ragged brown robe "He must have forgotten that we were all going to have a meeting here."

"Wrong I'm afraid you ridiculous guardians!" boomed a terrible voice that they had all thought they had heard the last of years ago "Knuckles is a nasty stain on the ground below Angel Island thanks to me!"

The guardians all leaped up from their stony seats and stared in horror at the horrifying sight before them. Imperator Ix and the Nocturnus clan were standing before them with their weapons at the ready and they looked like they were ready to kill. Harvey's striped quills shook with fear. Like all the other people on Angel Island, he was scared stiff of Imperator Ix.

"N-n-n-no! Not you!" he cried.

"Yes, it is me Harvey." sneered Imperator Ix "I have returned and I have come to slaughter another group of echidnas! I bet you'll be a lot easier then the elders!"

The group of guardians all stared fearfully at Imperator Ix as his staff glowed a brilliant, sickly green colour and the Nocturnus clan's weapons all glowed an icy, cold blue colour…

As for Knuckles, despite falling off of Angel Island after Ix had stomped on his fingers, he had miraculously survived his terrifying plunge although the fall had left him bruised and knocked out. Had it not been for the Chaos Energy in his veins that he'd gotten from years of guarding the Master Emerald, he would be dead right now. He had finally come to after a few minutes of unconsciousness and he sat up straight while trying to get the bones in his body to knit. He rubbed his eyes to clear his blurred vision and he looked around, noticing that he wasn't on Angel Island anymore. He was lying in the ruins of Albion, a ruined little village that Angel Island loomed over. He picked himself up and stared up at Angel Island helplessly. He had to get back up onto the island and fast or Ix would tear the island apart.

"That insidious imperator!" growled Knuckles, clenching his fists "He can't keep me off Angel Island! I've gotta get back up there and warn the other guardians of Ix's return!"

Luckily for Knuckles, he had a warp ring with him which he always kept hidden somewhere in his dreadlocks. He pulled the warp ring out from behind his dreadlocks and he flicked it into the air. The ring spiralled in mid-air and then expanded to twice its size. The ring was now big enough for an echidna to easily walk through. Knuckles stepped through the warp ring and vanished from Albion and reappeared up on Angel Island through the other side. The ring shrunk and Knuckles picked it up and put it back in his dreadlocks. He had appeared at the meeting place for the guardians. He had remembered that they were going to have a meeting some time today so he warped himself to the place so he would be able to warn them as they were bound to be gathering around by now. Unfortunately, Knuckles was too late. Much, much too late. After putting his warp ring away, he surveyed his surroundings and was met with a terrible sight. The meeting place had dead bodies of the guardians that took over for him on his days off lying everywhere. Some of them were lying on the stone benches around the plinth, one of them was on the plinth itself, and the rest were all lying on the grass. The guardians were all dead, even Harvey the next in line to the position after Knuckles. Knuckles was so horrified at what he was looking at, he wondered if he was still unconscious and was actually dreaming. He closed his eyes and rubbed them. He opened them again. He was not dreaming. He was staring at his guardian buddies, all lying on the ground dead as doornails. Knuckles was struggling to stay on his feet. He fell onto his knees and his lips trembled. He was now the last guardian on Angel Island alive. Angel Island only had one guardian now, meaning Knuckles was going to be severely limited with spare time and days-off now. Not only that, it would be harder for Knuckles to watch over everything on Angel Island since his friends wouldn't be around to help him watch over everything. Knuckles pounded the ground angrily.

"Ix that monster! He killed all the guardians!" he growled to himself "I'm the only guardian left now! I am so gonna kill that imperator once I get my hands on him!"

"I highly doubt that'll be possible." boomed the very voice that Knuckles was expecting to hear again "As I am all powerful and you are not powerful at all!"

Knuckles leaped onto his feet and backed away as Imperator Ix and the Nocturnus clan all leaped out of the bushes and trees that surrounded the meeting place. The Nocturnus Echidnas all aimed their weapons at Knuckles and Shade drew out her blades and prepared to fight the guardian. Knuckles had arrived just shortly after Ix had killed the guardians and the sound of a warp ring had stopped Ix in his tracks before he could leave so he and the Nocturnus had decided to lie in wait and ambush the one using the warp ring. Knuckles raised his fists and prepared for a fight. He gave Ix a look that could kill a sick deer. Ix just glared back at him, unimpressed with Knuckles' attempt at bravery.

"Well Knuckles, I shouldn't be too surprised you survived that horrific fall should I?" sighed Ix in annoyance "I should have known that all that Chaos Energy in your body would save you from death."

"That's right Ix." snarled Knuckles "Now I am gonna make you pay for killing the guardians!"

"No you will not." said Shade coldly, raising her weapons "You will stand down and obey Lord Ix or be exterminated."

"Threaten me all you like!" yelled Knuckles "I will never serve Ix! NEVER!"

"You'll only live to regret this." said Shade icily "Father, allow me to eliminate the guardian."

"No Shade." said Ix sternly "Knuckles is mine. I have a score to settle with his impudent father but since he's already dead, I'll just take my anger out on him instead."

"Whereas I am gonna do more then just take my anger out on you!" bellowed Knuckles charging towards Ix and screaming at the top of his voice.

Ix's staff glowed bright green and he walloped Knuckles with it before the echidna could touch him. Knuckles hurtled backwards and crashed into the stone plinth. He knocked the plinth over, the dead echidna lying on top of it falling off as it toppled over. Knuckles groaned and Ix advanced on him menacingly.

"Such a valorous streak you suddenly have guardian." scoffed Ix "And yet you're still so weak and frail compared to my might. Maybe it's because I have much more Chaos Energy in my veins then you do. Maybe you haven't been guarding the Master Emerald as well as you should be doing as he who guards the emerald well have masses of Chaos Energy in their bodies."

"I've been guarding the emerald plenty Imperator Ix!" yelled Knuckles, getting back to his feet "And I have plenty enough Chaos Energy to kick you off of my island!"

Knuckles' determination to rid Angel Island of Imperator Ix seemed to bring new strength to the red echidna with the purple eyes as he picked himself up and charged towards Ix with his fists bared. Ix prepared to strike but Knuckles was too fast for him and he slugged Ix directly in the stomach. Ix was surprised by that incredibly powerful punch and he dropped his staff and doubled over after that powerful punch. Knuckles didn't stop there though. He proceeded to punch Ix repeatedly at a furious speed, landing blows all over his body and then Knuckles gave Ix and uppercut that almost knocked his helmet off. The armoured echidna stumbled over onto his back and rubbed his face. He picked himself up and glowered evilly at Knuckles.

"All right then…" he purred.

Knuckles grabbed Ix's staff and ran towards the Imperator with the staff in his hands. Ix held his arms in front of his face in an X shape and braced himself for impact. Knuckles whacked Ix with the staff and Ix was blown away by a surge of Chaos Energy that the staff contained. Ix skidded across the ground on his back and he came to a halt near a tree. Knuckles stared at the staff and noticed it was glowing green like the Master Emerald. Not only that, he could feel surges of Chaos Energy on the staff as he held it.

"Of course, the staff is your Chaos Energy power source!" deduced Knuckles "I bet without this weapon you're useless Imperator Ix!"

"Without my staff I am only slightly weakened." scoffed Ix as he picked himself up "I need that staff to use some of my powers. It doesn't matter if I don't have my staff, I can beat you with or without it guardian."

"We'll see about that." sneered Knuckles and he prepared to whack Ix with the staff again.

But before Knuckles could touch Imperator Ix, Shade leaped in and pile-dived him from behind, causing Knuckles to drop the staff onto the ground. Knuckles groaned hoarsely from that sudden attack and he tried to stop Shade from grabbing the staff by pouncing on her but Shade dodged his attack and she threw the staff over to Ix before Knuckles could try and take it from her. Ix grabbed the staff and he waved it, summoning Chaos Energy to his hands.

"Dark…Anomaly!" he bellowed.

He raised his staff above his head and a huge sphere of Chaos Energy extended out from the tip of the staff and towards Knuckles. Shade and the Nocturnus Echidnas stepped back so they wouldn't get hit by the attack. Knuckles tried to dodge the attack but the Dark Anomaly caught up to him and struck him. Knuckles was thrown through the air and he crashed near a bunch of bushes. Knuckles lay on the ground, grimacing in pain and trying to get back onto his feet. Ix's chaos powers were not to be taken lightly, they were immensely powerful and just one Dark Anomaly attack was enough to bring Knuckles down on his knees. Ix chortled with laughter at Knuckles as he tried to get up.

"It's like I always say about those who stand up to me." sneered Ix "They're nothing more than dust balls to sweep away. Shade, finish him off, I've had my fun now."

"Yes father, I mean Lord Ix." said Shade, bowing respectfully at Ix.

Shade drew out her blade weapons and she advanced on the downed echidna, ready to slice him to ribbons. Shade wondered why Ix tasked her with getting rid of Knuckles when he was so consistent on doing the dirty work himself. Regardless, Ix would be pleased to see his own daughter kill Knuckles, the only possible obstacle in his way now. Knuckles stared up at Shade helplessly as the Procurator prepared to execute him. Shade stared down at Knuckles with her lilac eyes and raised her weapons above her head, ready to execute Knuckles in cold blood. Knuckles could tell from the look in Shade's eyes that she had no second thoughts about doing this, she was going to do it just for Imperator Ix and nothing would deviate her from this. Shade swung her weapons down but before Shade could kill Knuckles, Knuckles pulled out his warp ring from behind his dreadlocks and he flicked it into the air, stopping Shade dead in her tracks and making her step back as the warp ring extended to twice its original size. The Nocturnus Echidnas seemed more surprised at the fact Knuckles had a warp ring then the fact Knuckles had just activated one. Knuckles dived through the warp ring quickly before anyone could stop him and the warp ring closed after him and vanished into thin air. Knuckles had warped himself away. As stubborn as the echidna was, he couldn't beat Ix no matter what he did so he needed some back-up and he had gone to get some. Shade was still trying to figure out what had just happened and Imperator Ix strode up to his daughter with an angry look in his eye. Shade snapped out of her gaze and looked fearfully at Imperator Ix. She hated it when Ix was mad at her, he terrified her when he was angry.

"You stupid child! You let him escape!" snarled Ix "Who knows what that wretched guardian is doing now he's warped himself away from here!"

"I-I-I-I'm sorry…" stuttered Shade in fear.

"Never mind!" snapped Ix "Knuckles may have fled but that won't be of any consequence to us. This island is ours now and if Knuckles dares to return, I'll just kill him here and there. Nocturnus! Back to the Master Emerald all of you!"

The armour-clad group of echidnas obeyed their master and they left the meeting place. They headed on back to the Master Emerald, which was now rich with dark Chaos Energy and anyone who tried to use it would just end up falling to the dark side. Knuckles may have escaped, but anything he did now would just delay the inevitable. Ix was on top and there was no way Knuckles could stop him now…

"Well things are going nicely for once." said fellow Royal Fighter Mandy Mouse happily as she sketched some notes on a note pad "The Region of Rebellious Reptiles have fled, their leader is in jail and Castle Acorn hasn't been harmed the slightest in the entire attack. I still can't believe we did it all without the blue dude himself."

Things had been going smoothly since the Region of Rebellious Reptiles' attack on Castle Acorn. Lord Sycorax was jailed, the Region had fled, the wreckage of Lord Sycorax's battleship had been cleared away and the Royal Fighters had no orders for anything right now so the Royal Fighters were having a much needed break, especially due to how intense the fight with the region had been. Bunnie Rabbot had suffered the worst of it being as how she had been beaten to a pulp by Lord Sycorax himself but the Rabbot was already making a rapid recovery. Team Chaotix were rapidly recovering too from the whole ordeal. Mandy jotted down the notes and put the notepad down on the table. Her boyfriend and childhood friend Wilson the Dog was sitting at the table and sitting back and relaxing in his chair.

"I can't help but notice things have bee going our way since Shadow left Dr. Eggman." said Wilson "Sonic's destroyed his oil rig*, we managed to beat Scourge and incarcerate him at last and now we've managed to fend off a region of reptiles al by ourselves."

"It seems that Shadow ditching Eggman's given us a stroke of luck as we're having all the luck and the villains are having all the bad luck." said Mandy "I wonder how blue dude's doing in Nekronopolis with Miranda and her team? We haven't heard from him since yesterday."

"He's probably hooked up on a mission and he's just forgotten to inform us on what he's doing." suggested Wilson "No worries though, he'll call us when he needs us."

"Yeah." said Mandy agreeably "Sonic's smart enough to know when he needs us and he can call us with that little communicator he keeps under his glove if he needs our…"

She was rudely interrupted by a bright flash of gold and the terrified mouse almost leaped out of her fur. Wilson fell over in his chair in surprise and he quickly picked himself up just in time to see a warp ring appear in front of him and Mandy. Knuckles stepped out of the ring and into Royal HQ's lab, the exact place he wanted to be at right now. The warp ring shrunk behind him and he caught the ring in his hand before it could drop onto the floor. Knuckles put the warp ring back behind his dreadlocks and he surveyed his surroundings. Wilson and Mandy emerged from behind the table, relieved to see it was only Knuckles.

"Knuckles the Echidna, what a pleasant surprise." said Mandy slowly "What brings you to Royal HQ then?"

"I need to see Sonic the Hedgehog and fast." said Knuckles "I need his help right now."

"Sonic's not here I'm afraid." said Wilson "He went to Nekronopolis yesterday and we haven't seen him since."

Knuckles grumbled under his breath.

"Do you know where in Nekronopolis he is so I can warp to him?" asked Knuckles.

"No but I'll find out." said Mandy, dashing over to the lab computers and sitting down at one.

She taped a few keys on the keyboard and in a matter of moments, she found where Sonic was and the screen showed her Sonic the Hedgehog's location. To her surprise, he wasn't in Nekronopolis; he was in Black Acropolis instead. The mouse didn't have time to wonder about it though, Knuckles needed Sonic's location and he needed it now.

"There he is." said Mandy "According to the computers here, he's in a building in Black Acropolis. What the heck is blue dude doing there I wonder? Black Acropolis is a death zone!"

"Maybe he and the Northern Royal Fighters are on a mission." suggested Wilson.

"Thanks for helping me out you two." said Knuckles "I'll be sure to give Sonic your regards once I reach him."

He tossed the warp ring into the air once again and the ring expanded to twice its size. Knuckles stepped through the warp ring and he vanished into thin air. The ring closed behind him and vanished in a bright golden flash, leaving Wilson and Mandy alone in the lab together again.

Back in Black Acropolis, the fight between Sonic and friends and Mecha Rouge was going wildly out of control for them. Mecha Rouge was a tough mech, almost as tough as Mecha Sonic. Rouge was already a pretty tough foe in flesh and blood but as a mech, she was an even tougher foe. Sonic tried to spin-dash the roboticized bat but Mecha Rouge screw-kicked him before he could hit him and Sonic ended up crashing into the floor again. Tails tried to tackle Mecha Rouge from behind but the Robian bat grabbed him and threw him down into the floor. She then deployed her arm mounted lasers and aimed them at Tails. Before she could shoot him though, Thunder and Bolt stood together side by side and they tensed up their bodies. The fired a powerful jolt of electricity from their bodies and they zapped Mecha Rouge. It was painful enough when an organic being gets electrocuted by the chipmunk brothers but on a machine it was even MORE painful. The electricity surged up Mecha Rouge's circuits like an electrical current. It was almost as if Mecha Rouge had become a lightening rod. Unfortunately, even Thunder and Bolt's attacks were futile as Mecha Rouge fought the pain she was feeling from the electric attacks and she blasted them both with her laser cannons, causing Thunder and Bolt to stop shocking her and sending them both flying backwards and skidding across the floor. Mecha Rouge tried to attack them again but Amy pounced on her from behind and walloped her with her hammer. Mecha Rouge hurtled into the floor and left a very large dent in it. Before Mecha Rouge could get back up, Kate grabbed her by the wings and ripped them clean off her back! Mecha Rouge wailed and electronically altered wail. She had no wings now and if she got de-roboticized, she would be Rouge the Bat but with no wings. Mecha Rouge picked herself up and tried to attack the muscle-bound eagle woman but Kate socked the bat directly in the face and sent her flying backwards. Before she could land down on the floor, Sonic spin-dashed her and sent her flying directly into the still-open pit. The Robian bat landed at the bottom of the pit with a heavy clang. Kate then stood guard over the edge of the pit and glared down at Rouge with her eagle eyes. Miranda peered down the pit and saw Mecha Rouge just lying there, battered and beaten.

"Well that's that then." said Miranda with a heavy sigh "That was truly hectic! Kate, you stay here and make sure um…"Mecha Rouge" doesn't get away."

"She will not pass me." declared Kate with a grin on her beak.

She remained where she was and kept her steely gaze on Mecha

Rouge. Miranda left Kate to do that and she wondered back over to Sonic.

"Well now Mecha Rouge is dealt with, let's find that control room shall we?" she asked.

"You said it Miranda." said Sonic "And since Mecha Rouge is down and out, she can't hinder us anymore…"

Then suddenly, there was a bright gold flash that appeared from behind and Sonic leaped a foot into the air. The flash turned out to be just a warp ring and out of the warp ring appeared Knuckles the Echidna. The warp ring shrank down behind him and he caught it in his hand before it could drop onto the floor. Sonic was rather surprised to see Knuckles appear from nowhere.

"Hey Knucklehead!" he cried "What the heck are you doing here and how did you find us?"

"Wilson and Mandy helped me." explained Knuckles "And, as reluctant as I am to admit it, I'm here because I need your help Sonic!"

"What do you need little old me for?" asked Sonic.

"Imperator Ix has returned to Angel Island and he's causing chaos as we speak!" explained Knuckles frantically "He's corrupted the Master Emerald and filled it with dark Chaos Energy and he's kill all the guardians on the island! I'm the only one left now!"

Sonic couldn't believe what he was hearing. He had heard the story of Imperator Ix when he first visited Angel Island and he really didn't like the sound of that guy. And now he was back on Angel Island to wreck the lives of everybody on the island! Oh well, that just meant Sonic had another villain's butt to kick now.

"That is so un-cool!" yelled Sonic angrily "That Imperator Ix guy is gonna get a hedgehog style-thrashing courtesy of me! Knuckles, warp me, Tails and Amy over to Angel Island! We've got an evil echidna to stomp on!"

"Wait a minute." said Tails quickly "Who's Imperator Ix?"

"You're about to find out bud." said Sonic "Because we're going over to Angel Island to stop him!" he announced, smacking his fist onto his hand.

"But what about our mission?" asked Amy "We need to destroy this place so Eggman can't get any new robots from this factory."

"You three go and help your friend." said Miranda "We'll complete the mission without you."

"Are you sure?" asked Sonic "I won't be there to give you a speedy exit from Black Acropolis once you complete the mission you know."

"Kate will be our exit." said Miranda "She'll fly us high out of harm's way I can assure you."

"OK then." said Sonic "Good luck Miranda."

"Good luck to you too Sonic." said Miranda with a salute.

Knuckles tossed the warp ring into the air and the ring expanded to twice its size. Knuckles, Tails and Amy stepped through the warp ring and vanished from sight. Sonic gave the Northern Royal Fighters a wave goodbye and then he stepped through the warp ring. The ring shrunk down in size and vanished into thin-air…

Back on Angel Island, Imperator Ix and the Nocturnus Clan had gathered back around the tainted Master Emerald. The once beautiful, green, glowing gem was now a powerhouse of dark Chaos Energy. The Master Emerald was black and Dark Chaos Energy crackled around the giant gem. Ix hadn't had time to admire his minion's handiwork so he was pleased to get a moment to admire the Nocturnus Clan's success in corrupting the Master Emerald and turning it into an emerald with dark Chaos Energy. The Nocturnus Clan had gained Chaos Energy from the Master Emerald before they were exiled and Imperator Ix's training had boosted their power, hence the reason they've managed to corrupt the Master Emerald. Ix chortled quietly to himself.

"Look at this Shade." he purred "The Master Emerald is ours now. A powerhouse of dark Chaos Energy just for us. And the best part is, nobody else can use its power against us as the dark Chaos Energy will just corrupt their weak little minds and turn them to my side!"

"I'm glad we've pleased you father." said Shade loyally "It's so good to see that everything is going our way. Even if I inadvertently let Knuckles flee via warp ring."

"The guardian is of secondary importance now." gloated Ix "He can't possibly stop me now I have his precious Master Emerald under my command and he can't possibly have any outside help as he has spent his whole life up here on this floating island…"

His gloating was cut short as a golden flash appeared just above the Master Emerald and a warp ring appeared through the flash. It opened up and out of the warp ring appeared Sonic the Hedgehog in a spin-dash. He spin-dashed straight into Imperator Ix and knocked him clean off the shrine. Ix landed with a heavy thud on his back and he dropped his staff. Sonic landed beside Ix and grabbed the staff before Ix could get it back. Tails, Amy and Knuckles appeared through the warp ring and Knuckles and Amy knocked the Nocturnus Echidnas off the shrine with their respective weapons. The warp ring closed behind them and it dropped onto the shrine. It pinged off the stairs and landed beside Shade. Shade quickly grabbed it and hid it in her pocket before anyone could see her. Ix picked himself up and glared at Sonic who was standing there holding his staff and smirking at him.

"Oh look, more dust for me to sweep away." snorted Ix, taking one look at Sonic, Tails and Amy "You must be really desperate to save your puny island Knuckles."

"We're more than dust Ixy." sneered Sonic "I am Sonic the Hedgehog, Hero of Mobius and a friend of Knuckles here. I hear you're trying to wreck Angel Island and I'm not happy when bad people try to make other people's lives miserable so I've decided to come here and stomp on you on Knuckles' behalf."

"You have a death wish if you think you have any remote chance against me!" snarled Ix "Give me back my Chaos Staff or I will have to ring your neck dustling!"

"Dustling? Puh! I've heard better comebacks from my own brother!" sneered Sonic "So you want this little trinket here?" he asked, waving the staff tauntingly at Ix "Well sorry…I don't believe in letting the bad-guys have their toys back! Especially if it's useful to them!"

He then proceeded to spin-dash the staff into pieces. Ix looked like he was going to explode through his armour as he watched Sonic destroy his beautiful weapon.

"NO!" he bellowed angrily "You insolent little scum-hog! That staff is my power source! Without it, I can't use my Chaos Energy and powers!"

"Really? That's nice." sneered Sonic "It means I kick your butt easier. Tails, Amy, you two deal with Ix's cronies here, me and Knuckles will take down Ix himself!"

"OK Sonic." said Tails.

So Tails and Amy charged towards the Nocturnus Echidnas and Sonic and Knuckles stared Ix down. Imperator Ix clenched his fists and he charged into battle. Unfortunately for Ix, he wasn't very skilled in physical combat. He was the kind of person who relied on his weapons and powers to do the dirty work for him so this fight would go horribly wrong for him. Ix punched at Sonic but Sonic leaped straight over him and kicked him in the back of the head as he hurtled over him. Ix fell flat on his face and just he picked himself up, Knuckles socked him directly in the face, leaving nasty cracks in his helmet. Knuckles didn't stop there though; he continuously punched Ix over and over, throwing punches harder and harder as he went on. Ix could feel the brute force of Knuckles' blows. Without his staff, he was a lot weaker and Knuckles' attacks hurt him a lot more than before.

"I. Want. You. Off. My. Island!" yelled Knuckles with every punch he threw at Ix.

Ix tried to fight back but Knuckles just launched his attacks to quickly and too powerfully for him to counter-attack. Sonic then proceeded to spin-dash Ix's legs from behind, tripping the insidious Imperator up and bringing him down on his back. Sonic smirked at Ix as the Imperator tried to get back up.

"This guy's a joker! How are you having so much trouble with him?" sneered Sonic.

"We're only winning because he hasn't got his weapon anymore!" snapped Knuckles "You wouldn't be so cocky if he had his weapon with him right now!"

"Well it's a good thing I destroyed it then." said Sonic "Now Knuckles, you may do the honours."

"Thank you Sonic." said Knuckles, grabbing the battered Imperator by his cape and dragging him away.

Knuckles dragged Ix over to the edge of the island and without any second thoughts or even a moment's hesitation, he threw Ix straight over the edge and left him to fall off the island and down onto the ruins of Albion below. Ix crashed straight through a building and lay where he was, battered, beaten, humiliated and disgraced once again. Knuckles dusted his hands off and walked away from the edge of the island.

"Finally, we've gotten rid of him." said Knuckles "Now we've just got to get rid of the Nocturnus Clan."

"I guess the Nocturnus Clan are those guys in black who work for Ix." said Sonic, watching Tails and Amy fight the echidnas. Shade and Amy were engaged in combat whereas Tails flew around, taunting the other echidnas as they tried to shoot him with their gun arms.

"They are." said Knuckles "The one without a helmet is named Shade. She's Ix's daughter and the only one out of the clan to look out for."

"So I guess Shade's the toughest." said Sonic as Shade pile-dived Amy in the back and knocked her onto her stomach "OK, we'll take her down first."

"We don't need to." said Knuckles.

Knuckles marched forward and called out to the Nocturnus Echidnas.

"Hey, Nocturnus!" he yelled at the echidnas "Imperator Ix has been thrown off this island!"

"What?" blurted Shade as she kicked Amy in the leg and tripped her up.

"You heard me, Imperator Ix has been thrown off this island!" announced Knuckles "You jokers better get off my island and join him or you'll all end up suffering the same fate as Ix!"

Shade glowered at Knuckles. As much as she wanted to pile-dive Knuckles into the next oblivion, she knew the Nocturnus couldn't win without Imperator Ix on their side. They could barely hold their own against Knuckles so they had no chance against Sonic, Tails, Amy and Knuckles all at once. Shade sheathed her weapons and sighed furiously.

"Nocturnus! Retreat!" she ordered "We must recover our master!"

The Nocturnus Echidnas did as they were told, reluctantly that is, and they all fled the scene via their warp belts. Since Shade's was broken, another echidna had to hold her hand and warp away whilst holding her so she disappeared with the echidna. The Nocturnus Echidnas were gone and Ix was lying down on the ground in the ruins of Albion so Angel Island had been saved again. Everybody cheered happily at their success.

"We did it!" cheered Tails "We saved Angel Island!"

"And all too easy too." noted Sonic "Mind you, I think me destroy Ix's weapon helped an awful lot there. So Knuckles, Angel Island's safe now isn't it?"

"For now." said Knuckles grimly "I doubt a fall off an island would have been enough to kill someone like him. I bet he's still alive down there but now he's lost his weapon, he's nothing to us now. If he dares to return, I'll knock him out and throw him in a cell where he can rot and pay for his crimes against this island!"

"What's he done to Angel Island like?" asked Amy "Bad things?"

"Terrible things." muttered Knuckles "He slaughtered the elders and tried to lower Angel Island ten years ago. Now he's gone and slew the other guardians of the island so I'm the only one left and he's corrupted the Master Emerald!"

He pointed at the black gem which still crackled with Chaos Energy. Sonic almost did a back-flip in shock when he saw the black gem standing there on the shrine.

"What's he done to the M.E.?" shrieked Sonic.

"Filled it with dark Chaos Energy." muttered Knuckles "I'll need to recite the Master Emerald chant a good few times to cleanse the emerald."

"Well let's hope we can restore the Master Emerald back to normal bud." said Sonic "Who knows what's gonna happen if people try to use this thing if it has dark Chaos Energy?"

Even though Angel Island was safe and Knuckles was going to cleanse the Master Emerald of it's dark Chaos Energy, it wouldn't be long until Ix struck again and when Ix would strike would totally catch Sonic and friends off guard…

Angel Island's saved and Ix has been overthrown! But how long will it be until he returns? Join me next time...Reviews are welcome.

Sorry for the delay readers, I've had eye problems recently but they've recovered and I'm getting back on track now so I'll be working a lot faster now.

Chaos Kai X: In answer to your question, i've taken your thought into consideration and I've decided. I'm not very keen on people borrowing my ideas and characters so sorry, you can't have Wilson, Mandy and Marion. No hard feelings buddy.

Rights for the Land Part 3

Story 73: Rights for the Land Part 3: Ix Strikes Back

"Please Lord Ix!" begged Shade the Echidna, Procurator of the Nocturnus Clan and daughter of the insidious Imperator Ix, nightmare of Angel Island "I didn't mean to…"

She suddenly cried out in pain as Imperator Ix backhanded her and sent her flying backwards. It was quite clear that Ix was not taking his most recent defeat lightly. He had returned to Angel Island after ten years of exile and just when it looked like he was going to emerge victorious, he ended up getting defeated by Sonic the Hedgehog and his friends and kicked off of Angel Island and into the ruins of Albion. Ix was so furious that he was taking his anger out on Shade right now. Shade picked herself up and stared fearfully at Ix as the imperator advanced on her menacingly.

"You let the guardian escape!" bellowed Ix, whacking Shade with his fist as hard as he possibly could.

Despite the fact he had lost his staff, he was still physically powerful, it's just he wouldn't be as powerful as he lost his chaos staff. Shade was sent hurling twenty feet across the ground and she came to a stop near a ruined building.

"Thus, your blunder allowed the guardian to get some back-up!" boomed Ix angrily, advancing on Shade again "And in turn, that back-up of Knuckles' has ended up delaying my victory! I've lost my weapon and I've been kicked out of Angel Island again!"

Shade stared up fearfully at Ix and she crawled backwards away from him on her bottom as Ix advanced on her with a look of death in his emotionless eyes.

"Father, I'm sorry!" cried Shade "I had no idea that Knuckles getting away was going to be such a costly mistake…GAH!" she cried as Ix slammed his foot down on her face, pinning her to the ground.

"I will not have my flawless return marred by your incompetence Shade!" bellowed Ix "Do you understand? DO YOU?"

He then proceeded to rub Shade's face with his foot.

"Yes father!" squeaked Shade "I'm sorry for my blunder! But I know how to set your plan back into motion!"

Ix was interested in hearing this sudden piece of news and he lifted his foot of Shade. He grabbed Shade by the neck and hoisted her up to his height. He glared at Shade with his icy blue eyes.

"Explain Shade…quickly!" snarled Ix, throttling her.

Shade said nothing. Instead, she reached for something in her pocket and she fished it out. She showed it to Ix. Ix stared at Shade's hand in surprise. The echidna had managed to get a warp ring! Ix snatched the warp ring off Shade and carelessly dropped her onto the ground. He stated at it in amazement.

"A warp ring! Excellent!" said Ix happily "I can warp myself back up onto the island and get a power boost from the Master Emerald! I may even be able to repair my weapon and then no one, not even that hedgehog vermin will be able to defeat me! How did you get this ring Shade?" he asked.

"I grabbed it after it pinged off the shrine after Knuckles arrived back with his reinforcements." said Shade, picking herself up and rubbing her throat better.

"Good." said Ix, staring at the warp ring with his icy blue eyes "If Knuckles doesn't have a warp ring then he can't use it to bring in any more reinforcements against me. Well Shade, your blunder has been a costly one, but thanks to you swiping this warp ring, we'll get back on track in no time at all…"

"The servers are the seventh chaos!" Knuckles the Echidna chanted at the top of his voice as loud as he could as he stood before the corrupted Master Emerald and tried his hardest to cleanse it of the Dark Chaos Energy it had been filled with. "Chaos is power enriched by the heart! The user exists to unify the chaos!"

Ever since Ix's exit, Knuckles had spent the past hour or so trying to cleanse the Master Emerald of it's Dark Chaos Energy that Ix and the Nocturnus had filled it with, making it a powerhouse of Dark Chaos Energy for Ix and the Nocturnus to use. Unfortunately, Knuckles' efforts seemed to be in vain as no matter how hard he chanted and tried to reach into the Chaos Energy inside the Master Emerald, he just couldn't seem to overpower the Dark Chaos Energy inside. The Master Emerald just stayed as it was, it's sickly black glow not dying down the slightest. Knuckles stopped chanting and he panted loudly and tiredly. All he had done now was wear himself ragged. He was completely worn out with constantly chanting as loud as he could for an hour. Sonic the Hedgehog, his best friend Tails the Fox and self-proclaimed girlfriend Amy Rose had watched him helplessly as Knuckles tried to cleanse the Master Emerald. Sadly, the echidna's efforts just didn't pay off. The Master Emerald was still a Dark Chaos powerhouse and Knuckles' attempts hadn't made any change on it at all.

"It's not working!" whined Amy "The Master Emerald's still black!"

"I dunno what Ix did to the emerald but he's sure done a good job on it." said Sonic grimly "No matter how hard Knuckles chants, he just can't seem to change the emerald. It's as if Ix has locked him out of the M.E. and Knuckles can't access it or something like that."

"Is that even possible?" asked Tails unsurely.

"I dunno, it's just a guess." said Sonic.

"It is possible to lock the emerald's power but I don't think Ix has the power to do that." said Knuckles "You need a lot of power to lock the Master Emerald and I don't think even a chaos powerhouse like Ix can do something like that."

"So if it's not locked or anything then why can't you cleanse the emerald of its Dark Chaos Energy?" asked Tails.

"Dark Chaos Energy is extremely powerful stuff and it's hard to get rid of if there's too much of it." explained Knuckles "We need more chaos power and we need it now or the Master Emerald is unsafe for anyone to use."

"How about the Chaos Emeralds?" asked Amy suddenly "They have lots of chaos power and they're on this island so we can just get them and use them to save the Master Emerald. They'll be powerful enough won't they?"

Knuckles thought on that for a moment. He remembered that Sonic had sent the Chaos Emeralds to Angel Island after using them to stop Charcaronda from splitting Mobius apart* and he had put them under heavy lockdown. The seven Chaos Emeralds were very powerful and if Knuckles used them, they could provide him with enough power to save the Master Emerald.

"Amy, that's it!" cried Knuckles "The Chaos Emeralds will provide us with more than enough power to save the Master Emerald!"

"It's good to see you using your head for something other then thinking about me for once!" chuckled Sonic.

"Thank you boys." said Amy with a prideful look on her face "Just happy to help that's all."

But before anyone could do anything at all, a warp ring opened up behind Knuckles, making the echidna jump in alarm. Knuckles stared in surprise at the warp ring and before he knew it, Shade shot out of the warp ring and drew out her twin blade weapons. She slashed at Knuckles with them.

"Blade Rush!" she yelled as she struck Knuckles with an energy wave and knocked him off the shrine.

Knuckles landed rather sharply on his back and Tails and Amy quickly ran over to pick him up. Sonic stared up at the emerald shrine as the Nocturnus Echidnas began to pile out of the warp ring behind Shade, who stood guard in front of the Master Emerald with a cold look in her lilac eyes. After the last of the Nocturnus emerged from the Master Emerald, Imperator Ix himself appeared through the warp ring, cackling like a demented convict. He stood onto of the Master Emerald and glared down at his enemies. Knuckles gritted his teeth and clenched his fists.

"Ix! Shade!" he yelled "You fiends, how did you manage to get a warp ring? You don't carry one with you!"

"I stole yours after you appeared through it with your back-up earlier." sneered Shade, holding up the warp ring for Knuckles to see "How fitting we use your own warp-ring to help us destroy you."

Knuckles stared in horror at the warp ring in Shade's hand and he quickly felt behind his dreadlocks. There was no warp ring hidden behind his dreadlocks like there should be. Shade wasn't kidding; she actually had his warp ring! And thus, she had been able to use it to warp herself, Ix and the Nocturnus back onto the island!

"Oh snap!" griped Knuckles "I must have forgotten to grab my warp ring after me, Sonic, Tails and Amy arrived here!"

"Way to let your worst enemies get back on your island knucklehead!" grumbled Sonic "Now I've gotta kick them all back off the island again!"

"You will not escort me off of this flying island Sonic!" boasted Ix "You may have destroyed my weapon, but I have an even greater weapon in mind and I'm standing on it right now!"

The Nocturnus Echidnas all stood to the side to show that Ix was standing on top of the corrupted Master Emerald. That very sight alone seemed to petrify Knuckles. The Master Emerald was powerful enough but a Dark Chaos Master Emerald was too much! They'd never be able to defeat Imperator Ix if he used the emerald's power!

"Sonic, get Ix off the Master Emerald before he can use it!" screamed Knuckles.

"No problem rad red." said Sonic in a cocky tone.

Sonic spin-dashed towards Imperator Ix but Shade jumped up in front of Ix and Blade Rushed the hedgehog before he could hit Ix. The hedgehog was sent crashing into the ground where he churned his way through the grass and dirt and ended up lying in a tiny little crater he had just carved because of his spin-dash. Before anyone could make any other attempts to stop Imperator Ix, the armour clad echidna thrust his hands down and he bent down so he could touch the Master Emerald. The moment his hands made contact with the Master Emerald, a giant surge of Dark Chaos Energy surged up his arms and around his body. The arrogant imperator began to feel an overwhelming surge of power sweeping over him as he began to absorb some Dark Chaos Energy from the corrupted Master Emerald he stood upon. Ix began to bellow with laughter as he began to grow stronger and stronger. Shade decided to add insult to injury by leaping off the shrine and running over to where the remains of Ix's broken Chaos Staff lay. She grabbed all the pieces and ran back over to Ix before anyone could stop her. She then threw the pieces at Ix and the imperator caught them in his hand. Laughing loudly, Ix clenched his fists, the pieces of his staff in one hand and he thrust them together. The pieces in his hand began to glow brightly and then expand out into his other hand. He spread his hands apart and as he did that, the pieces expanded in the space between his hands and form a familiar shape. The bright glow died down, revealing a newly regenerated Chaos Staff he was now holding. Sonic picked himself up from his hedgehog-sized crater and he stared in disbelief at the Dark Chaos powered Imperator Ix that was now standing on the Master Emerald. His appearance was still the same but his eyes had changed from blue to black and a black glowing aurora surrounded him. That was what happened to those who used Dark Chaos Energy. Ix was dangerous already but with Dark Chaos Energy, he was now even deadlier then before, especially since he had his weapon back. Ix spun his staff around in a circle and he boomed with laughter.

"The power…the unbelievable power!" he roared "All this Dark Chaos Energy mixed in with the power of the Master Emerald! I am now even more powerful then ever before!"

"We'll see about that Ixy!" shouted Sonic, spin-dashing towards Ix.

"Dark Anomaly!" bellowed Ix, waving his staff.

A huge sphere of Chaos Energy expanded out from the tip of his staff and hurtled towards Sonic. The sphere hit Sonic and Sonic was thrown backwards. Sonic bounced off the ground and almost fell over the edge of Angel Island. He just managed to grab the ledge and hold on tight before he could fall. Ix leaped off the Master Emerald and landed on the ground, pounding it with his staff and creating a huge wave of Chaos Energy that blew Knuckles, Amy and Tails away. The three were thrown into the nearby woods by the shockwave and Ix chortled at them.

"You worms!" he boomed "You don't have a hope against a being of Dark Chaos Energy! Dark Chaos Energy is an invincible power created by those who have Chaos Energy and a dark heart! Nothing can stand against it! Your attempts will be in vain against…"

"Blah, blah, blah, shut up Ix!" snapped Sonic, spin-dashing the Dark Chaos Lord in the back of his head.

Ix barely felt that attack but he did bend over after the attack. Sonic grabbed Ix's staff and tried to yank it out of his grasp. But try as he might, Sonic's attempts were like a mouse trying to pull an elephant; Ix's grasp was just too strong for him. Ix sneered at Sonic with his black eyes and he pushed Sonic over onto his back, causing Sonic to fall over and let go of his staff. Ix spun his staff around and raised it above his head, ready to cave Sonic's head in with a powerful chaos slam. Before Ix could even hit Sonic, Amy pounced on Ix and hammered his head in with her Piko-Piko hammer.

"Don't you dare touch my Sonic you demon!" screeched Amy, hammering Ix as hard as she could.

But Amy's hammer hits were like trying to smash a titanium block. Ix just didn't feel the pain due to his Dark Chaos Energy and the Dark Chaos Energy he had was slightly defending him from the attacks. Ix decided that he'd had enough of letting Amy tickle him with her puny hammer attacks and he blew her away with a surge of Chaos Energy. Amy hurtled backwards and landed on her back. Ix advanced on Amy with his staff at the ready. Amy quickly picked herself up and she raised her hammer. Ix swung his staff and Amy swung her hammer. The two mighty weapons clashed against each other but Ix's staff was so much more powerful then Amy's insignificant Piko-Piko hammer. Ix's staff ploughed through Amy's hammer as if he was whacking a sandcastle and Amy's hammer was reduced to pieces. Amy stared in horror at her destroyed weapon and Ix suddenly lashed out and grabbed her by the neck. Amy gagged and Ix hoisted her up to his height.

"Put me down!" yelled Amy "Don't make me have to cut loose on you!"

"You are such a flaccid minded fool little girl." sneered Ix "I have all the power now and you are powerless to stop me. And you can't use the Master Emerald's power against me because Dark Chaos Energy corrupts anyone who tries to use it so you should make the logical choice and surrender."

"Never!" yelled Amy, summoning a new hammer to her hand.

She whacked Ix's arm, causing Ix to drop Amy and Amy tried to take Ix's legs out from underneath him but her hammer attacks were useless against a Dark Chaos Lord like Ix. Ix whacked Amy with her staff, breaking her hammer yet again and sending her flying into a tree. Amy crashed straight through the leaves and came to a top on a thick branch. Tails flew in and grabbed Ix's staff. He tried to pull it out of Ix's grasp but a being as young and weak as Tails would not fare well against an armour wearing echidna with a Chaos Staff. Ix swung his staff down with Tails still holding onto it and he whacked the ground with Tails facing it so Tails ended up being slammed on the ground and blasted by a chaos shockwave that almost tore his skin off. The attack overwhelmed Tails so much he almost passed out. Ix raised his staff and prepared to let Tails have it again but Sonic spin-dashed Ix from behind and knocked him over.

"Hey Ix, leave the poor kids alone!" yelled Sonic crossly "Fight someone who actually stands a chance against you! Namely me and Knuckles!"

"No one stands a chance against me underling!" gloated Ix, picking himself up and glowing an even darker glow "With Chaos Energy, I'm a threat, with Dark Chaos Energy, I am a death bringer! Spare yourselves a very painful death and grovel at my feet already!"

"I wouldn't grovel at Dr. Eggman's feet and he's a million times worse then you are Ix!" snapped Sonic "Albeit a lot easier to beat up that is but still, I'd rather let Eggman roboticize me then cave in to you!"

"Then allow me to show you the error of your ways!" snarled Ix.

He thrust his staff forward and blasted Sonic with a giant blast of Chaos Energy that blew Sonic away and sent him crashing into the shrine. Sonic hit the shrine so hard he left a large imprint of himself in it and he felt like he'd crashed into a steel wall. Before Sonic could get up, Shade pressed her weapons against his neck and pinned him against the wall.

"Stay down unless you want to die hedgehog." said Shade icily.

Sonic couldn't really do anything without getting his head cut off so he was forced to submit to the female echidna with the thin eyelashes.

"So Shade, what evil goal does Ixy boy have then?" asked Sonic.

"He only wishes to have his island back." said Shade "He was ruler of Angel Island some time ago until he was wrongly dethroned for trying to lower the island. He wishes to be ruler of Angel Island again and the only way to succeed in getting his title back is to corrupt the Master Emerald and kill the guardians so no one can try and stop him."

"Huh, Ix is a bigger jerk then I thought he was." scoffed Sonic.

"You are going to regret saying that hedgehog!" snarled Shade, pressing her weapons against Sonic's neck harder "No one will disrespect Lord Ix and live to gloat about it!"

Before anything could happen, Knuckles grabbed Shade by her quills and yanked her away from Sonic. Shade squealed in pain and she dropped her weapons. Shade yanked her quills out of Knuckles' grasp and she tried to punch Knuckles but Knuckles dodged the attack, grabbed her by the arm and swung her over onto her back. Knuckles helped Sonic to get back onto his feet and the two charged towards Imperator Ix, who was just standing there watching what was going on. Sonic spin-dashed towards Ix and Knuckles prepared to smash his face in with his fists. Ix waved his staff and bellowed at the top of his voice.

"Doom Orb!"

A green energy ball emitted out of his Chaos Staff and hurtled towards Sonic and Knuckles. The Doom Orb hit Sonic and Knuckles and knocked them over onto their sides as if it was a bowling ball and they were the skittles. Sonic tried to pick himself up but he still felt sore from crashing into the shrine so he found it hard to get back up. Knuckles picked himself up and he punched the ground. Huge chunks of earth shot up around him and Knuckles punched them towards Ix. Ix swung his sceptre and he smashed the earth chunks into pieces. Knuckles then homed in on Ix and socked him directly in the face. Ix fell backwards onto his back but he wasn't down for long. He picked himself up and he swung his staff at Knuckles. Knuckles dodged the attack and he punched at Ix again. He struck Ix all over his body but his attacks didn't seem to fathom Ix the slightest. The insidious imperator took the blows as if they were merely tickling him.

"Blast it Ix, fall already!" cried Knuckles, punching him harder and harder "Fall, fall, fall!"

Ix just gave Knuckles a chaos enhanced uppercut and sent Knuckles flying into the air and crashing down on his back. The attack left Knuckles' teeth and gums feeling very sore and his chin felt like it had no bones left. Ix laughed at Knuckles and he spun his staff around.

"Getting me to fall as an impossibility guardian!" crowed Ix "You clearly do not realize how powerful Dark Chaos Energy is do you?"

"I do…Ix!" grunted Knuckles, rubbing his face as the bones in his body began to knit again "But even Dark Chaos powered sorcerers fall eventually! And you'll fall sooner or later Ix! I just need to try harder!"

"Try all you like worm!" cackled Ix "I'll just sweep you away every time!"

He raised his staff and yelled.

"Dark Anomaly!"

The Dark Anomaly attack commenced again and Knuckles was blown away by a sphere of energy that expanded out of Ix's staff and struck him. Knuckles rolled across the ground and came to a stop near the edge of Angel Island. Sonic finally managed to pick himself up and he tried to help Knuckles by the Nocturnus Echidnas shot him with their gun arms. Sonic fell back down onto the ground and the Nocturnus Echidnas surrounded him. Ix looked over his shoulder to see what was going on and he was pleased to see that Sonic was down.

"Finish off that blue pest!" he ordered "Knuckles is my main target now."

"Yes Lord Ix." said the Nocturnus Echidnas.

They all aimed their gun arms at Sonic and they prepared to blast him into the next continent but Tails and Amy interfered by leaping in and hammering them and punching them away respectively. Sonic picked himself up and he spin-dashed two Nocturnus echidnas over. Shade decided to get involved and she Blade Rushed Amy with her two blade weapons. Amy found herself falling down on the ground and grimacing in pain. Tails tried to attack Shade but Shade dropkicked him into the ground and Blade Rushed him. Tails lay on the ground wondering which part of him to rub better. Shade then tried to cleave Tails in two with her weapons but Sonic spin-dashed her in the back and knocked her over. Shade dropped her weapons and Sonic quickly grabbed them. He ran over to Imperator Ix, who was advancing on Knuckles with his Chaos Staff glowing darkly, and he pounced on him. Ix spun around to see Sonic lunging towards him and he quickly raised his Chaos Staff to block Sonic's attack as he swung Shade's weapons at him. Shade's weapons clanged loudly against Ix's staff but they did no damage of any kind.

"Doom Orb!" bellowed Ix.

A green sphere emitted from Ix's staff and blew Sonic away from him. Sonic hurtled backwards and he landed sharply on his back. He dropped Shade's weapons and the female echidna quickly grabbed them before anyone could stop her. Knuckles managed to pick himself up and he pounced on Ix. He landed on Ix's back and he wrapped his arms around his neck. Ix gagged as he suddenly felt himself being strangled by Knuckles. Ix just swiftly grabbed Knuckles, yanked him off himself and threw him at Sonic just as he was picking himself up. The echidna and hedgehog tumbled over each other and they lay in a heap on the ground together. Ix advanced on them with his black eyes blazing and his staff glowing. Sonic grunted and he straightened his ruffled quills.

"Man, Imperator Ix packs quite a punch when he has Dark Chaos Energy doesn't he?" gasped Sonic "We can't land a blow on him!"

"He's…too powerful!" grunted Knuckles "We…need some back-up!"

"Why don't we just use the Chaos Emeralds?" asked Sonic "I'm sure they'll give us the power we need."

"I don't wanna risk losing them to Ix like I lost my warp ring to Shade." explained Knuckles "I'll use the Chaos Emeralds as a last resort if I have to. We'll see if our friends can give us an extra edge first."

"Fine then, I'll just go back to Mobotropolis and get my buddies." said Sonic "Oh wait, no I can't. Because you lost your stinkin' warp ring knucklehead!" he snapped loudly.

"Well we'll just have to get it back then!" retorted Knuckles, pushing Sonic off of himself just as Shade was charging up to them with her blades glowing purple.

"Blade Rush!" she yelled and she swung at Knuckles.

A purple energy waved hurtled towards Knuckles. Knuckles jumped over the wave and he punched Shade directly in the face. Shade fell over onto her back and Knuckles pinned her down to the ground. He saw something gold and sparkly slightly sticking out of Shade's pocket and he quickly grabbed it and pulled it out of her pocket. It was his warp ring. Shade tried to snatch it back but Knuckles flicked the ring into the air and the warp ring expanded to twice its size. Shade pushed Knuckles off herself and she tried to get the warp ring back but Knuckles grabbed her by the leg and tripped her up.

"Sonic, get through that ring and get some back-up now!" yelled Knuckles.

"Way ahead of you Knuckie." said Sonic with a cocky grin on his face "You, Tails and Amy keep the party going for me."

Sonic then proceeded to jump through the warp ring just as a Nocturnus Echidna tried to shoot him. The warp ring vanished into thin air in a bright gold flash. Shade frowned hard enough to give herself a migraine.

"No! I let somebody get away again!" she cursed "I will crush you for this Knuckles!"

"Not unless I crush you first Shade!" growled Knuckles, upper cutting Shade so hard he almost tore her head off.

Ix suddenly appeared from behind and he whacked Knuckles with his staff. Knuckles ended up getting a face full of dirt once again.

"Your hedgehog friend has deserted you Knuckles!" he sneered "At least he knows that I am too powerful for him to defeat! Pity you didn't follow his example and you wouldn't be in this mess right now!"

Knuckles just ignored Ix and prepared to do battle once again…

The warp ring reappeared into the lab of Royal HQ, the Mobotropolis Royal Fighters' headquarters and base of operations, and he was pleased to see all his friends were in the lab and staring at him in wonder. Geoffrey St. John the Skunk, Bunnie Rabbot, Ruben the Water Panther, Wilson the Dog, Mandy Mouse, Cosmo the Seedrian and Cream the Rabbit with her pet Chao Cheese were all there staring at Sonic as he appeared through the warp ring.

"Huh, we've had one warp ring visit already, I wasn't expecting another." said Mandy, referring to when Knuckles came to Royal HQ to find Sonic earlier.

"Hey guys and gals." said Sonic "So sorry for the abrupt visit…"

"So how did Nekronopolis go?" asked Geoffrey.

"Well apart from meeting Metal Sonic again everything went alright." said Sonic "We went on a mission in Black Acropolis to destroy an Eggman factory but me, Tails and Amy had to go and help Knuckles save Angel Island from Imperator Ix so we left the Northern Royal Fighters to finish the mission which they managed to apparently. I assume you got their message just like I did?"

"We did indeed sugah-hog." said Bunnie brightly "Miranda told us everything and she told us the factory is now destroyed so Eggman has one robo-factory less to use."

"Yeah, that team is excellent isn't it?" said Sonic "Now here's the real reason I'm here. Angel Island's still under siege from Imperator Ix and we're having a bit of trouble dealing with him so I need your help, all of your help guys and gals."

Everybody looked at each other and thought for a moment.

"Who's Imperator Ix?" asked Cream nervously "Is he a bad person?"

"He's the guy who once tried to lower Angel Island back down and he got banished for it." explained Sonic "We have to stop him before he ruins Angel Island forever."

"Well if a friend of ours is in trouble then I'm willing to help him." said Ruben "Knuckles fought for my land with you* so I shall fight for Knuckles' land with you Sonic.

"I like the way you think Ruben." said Sonic "Let's go everybody! Angel Island needs us!"

Sonic leaped back through the still open warp ring. Everybody else followed him through the warp ring and to Angel Island. The warp ring vanished into thin air and Royal HQ was now empty, devoid of anyone inside the building now they had all left to Angel Island.

Meanwhile, Knuckles, Tails and Amy were all ganging up on Imperator Ix but all they were doing was just ticking Imperator Ix off really badly. Amy walloped him with her endless supply of hammers, Tails tail-whipped him with his twin tails and Knuckles punched him with his spiked fists. But all those attacks just seemed to make Ix mad and they didn't seem to be hurting him the slightest. Ix growled angrily and he whacked the ground with his staff.

"Dark Anomaly!" bellowed Ix.

Amy, Tails and Knuckles were suddenly blown away by a dark sphere of Chaos Energy that expanded out from Ix's chaos staff and around Ix himself. Tails, Amy and Knuckles all landed on the ground in a heap and before they could do anything, the Nocturnus Echidnas grabbed them and held them in place. Ix glared at them with his Chaos enhanced black eyes and he pointed his staff at his captives.

"Will you cease these futile attempts to fathom me?" snarled Ix "I am too powerful for you to defeat! All your attempts are doing is ensuring your deaths! You are giving me no choice but to kill you all and put you out of your pitiful misery!"

Knuckles, Tails and Amy could only stare helplessly at Ix as he prepared to destroy them with his Chaos Powers. The Nocturnus Echidnas held them in place as Ix prepared to execute the three of them. But before Ix could do anything of the sort, a warp ring appeared from nowhere and Sonic jumped out of it and spin-dashed Ix straight in his head. Ix fell over onto his side but he quickly managed to pick himself up. The Nocturnus Echidnas let go of Tails, Amy and Knuckles and they aimed their gun arms at what was coming out of the warp ring. Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson, Mandy, Cream, Cosmo and Ruben all appeared through the warp ring and they bent down in battle ready stances. Shade kept her weapons raised and ready and the Nocturnus Echidnas prepared to attack. Ix glared at Sonic's little army with loathing.

"So this is why you left hedgehog?" scoffed Ix "You thought you could try Knuckles' plan again and see if it would work again? Well all you've done is given me some more dust to sweep away! My Dark Chaos Powers will send them all to their graves!"

"We'll see about that gruesome!" yelled Bunnie angrily.

She charged towards Ix and punched him directly in the face with her robotic left arm. Ix suddenly found himself being thrown off his feet and sent hurtling backwards into the Master Emerald shrine. Ix left a huge imprint of himself on the shrine and the Master Emerald wobbled slightly. Ix picked himself up and he rubbed his face better.

"Alright then…" he purred coldly.

Bunnie charged towards Imperator Ix again.

"There's more where that came from ugly!" she yelled "Here comes a…"

Ix suddenly lashed out and grabbed Bunnie's arm before she could punch him. Ix then sharply twisted Bunnie's arm to one side, making the Rabbot squeal in pain and crouch down on her knees. Ix cackled at Bunnie as he continued to make her scream. Geoffrey instantly got mad since he secretly fancied Bunnie and watching her get hurt seemed to spark a large fire in his heart so he charged towards Ix with his crossbow primed and ready.

"You let go of Bunnie you blighter!" shouted Geoffrey angrily.

"Know your place skunk!" snarled Shade, tackling Geoffrey from the side and knocking him over.

Geoffrey fell down on the ground and Shade pinned him down with her foot.

"So who might you be luv?" asked Geoffrey snidely.

"I am Procurator Shade of the Nocturnus Clan." introduced Shade "Daughter of the great Lord Ix and soon to be assistant ruler of Angel Island as Imperator Ix rules Angel Island itself."

"Not gonna happen Shade!" yelled Sonic, spin-dashing Shade off Geoffrey and sending her flying into a Nocturnus Echidna.

As for Bunnie, Ix continued to twist her arm and make her yelp. He twisted her arm so hard Bunnie felt like he was going to snap it in two. But before Ix could even do such a thing, Ruben blasted him with a jet of water. Ix was sent skidding backwards as Ruben's water powers pushed him away from Bunnie. Bunnie shook her arm to ease the pain and she turned her arm into a cannon. She blasted Ix with her cannon and sent him staggering. Ix shook himself dry and he glared at Ruben and Bunnie, his Chaos Powers making a sinister dark aurora around him. Ruben stood forward and pointed at him.

"We have helped Sonic in many of his adventures and we will help him in this one." said Ruben slowly "We will fight you to the last warrior and if you want to save yourself an onslaught of painful resistance then I suggest you leave now Imperator Ix."

"Bold words coming from a puny little water panther!" cackled Ix "I've not seen a water panther for a while so it's quite the honour of meeting one again. No matter, we can do without your pesky water powers water panther!"

He pointed his staff at Ruben's neck and he fired a bolt of Chaos Energy at it. Ruben was hit by the blast and he was thrown onto his back by the attack. His purple aqua-collar had come undone by the attack and it lay on the grass before Ix. Ix picked up the aqua-collar and he crushed it into little bits. Ruben picked himself up and stared in horror as Ix dropped the pieces of his aqua-collar onto the grass. Ruben quickly felt his neck and surely enough, he felt no collar there. He had been cut off from his water powers now he lost his collar.

"My…my collar! You destroy my collar!" gasped Ruben.

"Exactly dustling!" sneered Ix "Now you can't use your pesky powers against me! Now taste the raw power of Dark Chaos Energy!"

He pointed his staff at Ruben and Bunnie and the two were blasted in the face by raw Chaos energy that blasted out of Ix's staff. Ruben and Bunnie were almost catapulted straight off the island but they just landed on the ground in front of the ledge. Wilson and Mandy pounced on Ix and double-teamed him with a bunch of kicks and punches but Ix whacked them away effortlessly with his staff. Amy, Cream and Cosmo gathered together and decided to do their team move.

"Ok girls, let's do the Twirling Hammer-Batter move!" ordered Amy

"Just like we did on Shadow *****!"

"Right!" said Cream and Cosmo in unison.

Sonic snickered mockingly at his pink furred fan.

"Twirling Hammer-Batter?" sneered Sonic "Ha, ha, ha! And I thought "Hammer-and-Hedgehog" was corny enough! You need to come up with better attack names Amy!"

Amy resisted the urge to bash Sonic's brains out of his ears with her hammer. Instead, she prepared to attack. Cream flew up off the ground with her big floppy ears and she carried Cosmo off the ground with her. Cosmo grabbed Amy and Cream lifted her off the ground. Amy held her hammer tightly and Cream flew over towards Imperator Ix who appeared to be trying to break Geoffrey's arm. He twisted it sharply behind the skunk's back and made him yelp. Cream spun Amy and Cosmo around and around in mid-air and she edged towards Imperator Ix. Unfortunately, Ix saw them coming and he let go of Geoffrey. He aimed his staff at the girls and he blasted them out of the sky with a Doom Orb. Cream, Cosmo and Amy rained down onto the ground and they all lay there writhing in pain. Geoffrey picked the opportunity to shoot Ix with a dart. The dart pinged off Ix's armour harmlessly and Ix waved his staff at Geoffrey. Geoffrey leaped out of the way just as Ix tried to let him have it with Dark Chaos Energy. Bunnie and Ruben, who had picked themselves up, leaped in and both let him have it in the face with a flying kick. Ix was brought down onto his knees and he dropped his staff. Sonic zipped over at top speed and he grabbed Ix's staff. He tried to spin-dash into pieces but the moment he tried to spin-dash it into bits, the staff reacted with a sudden burst of Chaos Energy that threw Sonic away from it. Sonic was sent hurling backwards and he skidded across the ground very painfully on his bottom. Sonic lay there on the ground rubbing his sore bottom. Ix picked himself up and he picked up his staff.

"Fools!" he crowed "Dark Chaos Energy reacts rather violently to those who try to destroy it! My staff is invulnerable to non-Chaos Energy!"

"Well that sucks." muttered Sonic.

"Weapon or no weapon, we'll take you down Ix!" bellowed Knuckles "Everybody, let's all attack him at once! That'll bring him down!"

Everybody obeyed and they all charged towards Imperator Ix. Ix just stood there and waited for them to attack him. The moment everybody was within three feet of him, he banged his staff on the ground and bellowed.

"Dark…ANOMALY!"

And he let loose his largest Dark Anomaly attack yet. The energy sphere he unleashed was the size of thirty basketballs all put together and the sphere expanded out of his staff and blew everybody away. Everybody hurtled through the air and they rained down onto the ground near the nearby woods. They all lay there wondering which parts they should rub first and they did a chorus of groaning. Knuckles tried to pick himself up, straining and grimacing tensely as he did so.

"Can't…let…Ix…win…" he grunted.

The seven Nocturnus Echidnas all marched up to Sonic and friends and they aimed their gun-arms at the defeated fighters. Knuckles could only stare helplessly at them as they prepared to fire. Shade just watched them, glaring at Knuckles with her lilac eyes.

"I tried to warn you guardian." she said coldly "Just a pity your hubris got in the way of your senses."

She raised her arm and flung it forward as a sign to fire. The Nocturnus Echidnas all fired at the defeated fighters, knocking them out and putting them into a deep sleep…

An eternity seemed to pass while Knuckles was all blackened out but really only several hours had passed. Night had fallen and the moon had risen above Angel Island. Knuckles opened his eyes and was surprised to see it was night time. He groaned wearily and groggily and he sat up. He began to wonder where he was and he looked around with his still blurry vision. He quickly managed to regain his vision and he could see that he was not on Angel Island anymore. Instead, he was in the huge crater that was left after Angel Island had risen from the ground. They were directly underneath Angel Island and if it ever came back down, he would be squished. Knuckles then found out he was not the only one in the crater. Sonic and his friends were also in the crater, still knocked out and sound asleep. They were all in chains too. Their hands were cuffed tightly behind their backs and their legs were cuffed together. Knuckles quickly realized that he was in chains too. He instantly worked out how this had happened and he clenched his teeth angrily.

"Ix! I'll kill that echidna once I get my hands on him!" he growled.

"Knuckles! You're awake!" boomed a voice that he did not want to hear right now.

Imperator Ix and Shade were down in the crater with Knuckles and Sonic's friends and Ix grabbed Knuckles by his quills. He hauled him off the ground and held him up to his height.

"Ix!" growled Knuckles "You'd better not have done anything to Angel Island or I'll…"

"Save the pathetic threats for later Knuckles." sneered Imperator Ix "I have done nothing to Angel Island while you were blacked out… yet. And now you're awake, you'll witness what I'm really going to do to the island guardian…!"

Rights for the Land Part 4

Story 74: Rights for the Land Part 4: Fight for the Angel

Angel Island, an island notorious for the fact it floated in the air unlike all other islands was in great peril. The traitor of Angel Island, Imperator Ix and his minions, the Nocturnus Clan, had come back after years of hiding and now they had subjugated the island and killed all the guardians on the island except for Knuckles the Echidna, the guardian of the Master Emerald. Knuckles along with Sonic the Hedgehog and friends had tried valiantly to bring Ix down but their efforts had been of no hindrance to Ix's plan in anyway. That was because the insidious Imperator had powered himself up with Dark Chaos Energy, a very deadly force that wasn't to be reckoned with. The Nocturnus had filled the Master Emerald with Dark Chaos Energy and now Ix had the horrific power running through his veins. He had defeated Sonic, Knuckles and all their friends and now they were in chains and lying in the crater which indicated where Angel Island once sat before it rose into the sky via the Master Emerald's power. Knuckles lay on his knees and glared up at Imperator Ix, hatred very visible in the echidna's purple eyes.

"So Imperator Ix, what do you plan to do to Angel Island then?" asked Knuckles "Remove the Master Emerald and then make the island fall on us?"

"That wouldn't have been a bad idea guardian." sneered Ix wickedly "But I have greater plans for the island then merely dropping it on you."

"And what might they be then?" asked Knuckles.

Ix just pointed his Chaos Staff at Knuckles, the tip glowing a very dark black colour as Chaos Energy swirled around it.

"You will see guardian." said Ix coldly "I am not telling you what plans I have, I think it would be more amusing to watch your horrified expression once I carry them out."

Knuckles began to wonder what Ix was talking about. Horrified expression once he carries them out? What was Ix planning to do to Angel Island anyway?

"What more can you do to Angel Island?" cried Knuckles frantically "You've corrupted the Master Emerald, killed all the Guardians and thrown me off of it a couple of times already, what more can you do?"

"Much more." said Ix bluntly "You'll see for once the moon is high, my plan will be in motion and you'll find out what I plan to do to Angel Island."

Knuckles looked up at the moon which shone like a bright white pearl in the night sky. It was already high but Ix probably meant even higher then that. What did Ix need the moon for anyway?

"I must prepare for my grand plan Knuckles." said Imperator Ix "So I'll be going now. Shade, keep an eye on the prisoners and make sure they do not get away."

"Yes Lord Ix." said Procurator Shade of the Nocturnus Clan with a salute.

And with that, Imperator Ix swung his staff around and he showered himself with Dark Chaos Energy. The energy wrapped around him like a boa constrictor wrapping around its prey and Ix was engulfed by the energy. Then in a big black flash, Imperator Ix vanished from sight, leaving Shade and the Nocturnus to guard Knuckles and his friends. The moment Ix left, Sonic came to and he pushed himself up onto his bottom and he shook his head. He was still a bit shaken from Ix's Dark Anomaly attack earlier.

"Oogah…that was one mondo energy ball wasn't it…?" he slurred sleepily.

"Sonic." said Knuckles "You're up. And at a bad time too."

"Why, what's going on?" asked Sonic.

He then noticed his hands were cuffed behind his back and his legs were cuffed together. He then looked up and noticed that Angel Island was looming right above them and they were in the crater of Angel Island.

"Oh right." said Sonic in realization.

Then all of Sonic's friends woke up from their pass out and they sat up straight. They were as follows, Tails the Twin-Tailed Fox, Amy Rose, Cream the Rabbit, Cosmo the Seedrian, Geoffrey St. John the Skunk, Bunnie Rabbot, Wilson the Dog, Mandy Mouse and Ruben the Water Panther. They all quickly realized that they were in a bad situation right now and now was probably the time to try and break free and flee for it.

"What's happening?" asked Tails "How did this happen to us?"

"I'm guessing that creep Imperator Ix did this." muttered Amy "It couldn't be anyone else!"

"Why are we in this crater and right under Angel Island?" squeaked Cream worriedly, looking up at the island "Is Ix going to drop Angel Island on us?"

"No he's not." said Knuckles grimly "But he has some sort of plan for Angel Island and I wish I knew what it was."

"Where is he?" asked Sonic.

"Up on Angel Island." said Knuckles "Preparing for his grand plan."

"That's right guardian." said Shade in a cold voice "Lord Ix will carry out his plan and you are all powerless to stop him as you are bound and broken before us."

"Bound maybe but not broken." said Knuckles grimly "Now Shade, tell us what Ix is planning to do up there."

"Why would I do something so foolish guardian?" said Shade dryly.

"We can't do anything about it now so there's no harm in telling us." said Knuckles, noting the fact that he and his friends were in chains "We can't stop Ix's plan whatever it is so really, there's no reason why you shouldn't tell us."

Sonic began to wonder what Knuckles was plotting here. Did he have some sort of escape plan and was trying to get Shade to tell him what Ix was doing so he could escape and stop his plan? Sonic decided to wait and find out what was going on. Shade considered for a moment. On the one hand, explaining a villain's plan to the enemy was always guaranteed to end in failure for the villain and that it would be best not to tell them anything. On the other hand, Knuckles and friends couldn't do anything about it even if they did know what Ix was doing. They were in chains and they had no way of getting up to Angel Island so what harm could telling them do? They were powerless and stranded below so giving them information on Ix's plan would do no good to them at all. Shade sighed and then spoke to Knuckles.

"Once the moon is at its highest, Ix's Dark Chaos Energy will be at its strongest." explained Shade "Dark Chaos Energy reacts to moonlight much better then sunlight. And once the moon is at its highest and his power is at its strongest, he will use the power…to destroy Angel Island."

Meanwhile in Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman was working like crazy on something or another. He had been doing so for weeks since the time Shadow the Hedgehog had left him* and he had hardly took a break or so. It was almost as if he was going off the deep end or something but he was obviously not working like mad for nothing, what he was working on must be huge and when he unleashed it, it would be a shock to anyone watching. He had fixed his headquarters from the damages done to it the time the Royal Fighters invaded it at last and now he was working on something else. His sidekick Alonzo the Butler Bot had also been working on something of his own. He had been using the backup headquarters to build his secret project. So far, Dr. Eggman had been completely in the dark about this project and by the time he knew about it, he would be too late to stop him. As Alonzo worked on his project, he began to wonder what was Dr. Eggman doing out there. He had been working like crazy on something and the fat scientist hadn't told Alonzo anything about it. Presumably he wanted Alonzo to be surprised or he just couldn't be bothered to explain anything to him.

Regardless, Alonzo put those thoughts to the side and kept working on his project. He began to weld some panels together and he made them into a shape of some sorts.

"That fat idiot maybe working on something beyond epic or whatever but what I'm doing will knock his socks off." he said to himself "And the best thing is, he's too distracted in his own work to notice that I'm doing something behind his back. And when I unleash my secret project, I will take of the Eggman Empire and Dr. Eggman will be a nasty stain on the wall somewhere…"

Then suddenly, he was interrupted by a call from Dr. Eggman. The butler-bot jumped in alarm and he stopped what he was doing.

"Alonzo, are you keeping an eye on the city as I've instructed?" came Dr. Eggman's gravely voice from over the intercom.

"Um…yes master." lied Alonzo, pretending to read the computer monitors for the city's current status "Everything appears to be going well so far. The city is in tip-top shape for your master plan sir."

"Excellent." said Dr. Eggman "This plan of mine is so brilliant you would be lost for words at its brilliance."

"I do wish you'd tell me what it is you're planning." muttered Alonzo.

"I've told you a million times already, it's a surprise!" roared Dr. Eggman "Now stop grumbling and keep an eye on the city's progress as I finish things off for the master plan!"

"Yes sir." said Alonzo in a fake tone of loyalty.

Dr. Eggman switched off, leaving Alonzo to do what he liked now. Alonzo continued welding pieces together.

"Whatever that fat idiot's planning I don't know but I bet it's going to fail." purred Alonzo "And if it doesn't, perhaps I can HELP it fail…"

He cackled softly to himself as he continued to do his work…

Meanwhile, Knuckles and the others were speechless at the shocking revelation Shade had just given them. Imperator Ix was planning to destroy Angel Island! Knuckles was so shocked he thought he would die of shock.

"Ix is going to destroy Angel Island?" shrieked Knuckles, unable to believe what Shade had just said to him "You're…you're bluffing! You're bluffing Shade! Please tell me you're bluffing!"

"Why ever would I bluff?" scoffed Shade "Bluffing got people nowhere so I do not bluff. What I'm saying is the truth. Lord Ix plans to destroy Angel Island."

"Why?" asked Cosmo "Why does he want to destroy Angel Island?"

"Because Angel Island owes nothing to him." explained Shade "When Angel Island arose to avoid the comet that would have rendered us extinct, none of us expected for the elders to actually leave it floating in the air where it would be an easy target for anybody who see it. All Ix was doing was trying to lower the island so he could prevent it from sticking out like a sore thumb and then get attacked or invaded or whatever but the elders refused his offer, the idiots, and Knuckles' oaf of a father Locke threw Ix into the darkest corners of Mobius. Me along with my clan ended up joining him so Ix decided that if he can't have Angel Island then nobody can so he made it his top priority to destroy Angel Island in revenge for what the island's residents have done to him."

"Shade, do you realize the catastrophes that can happen if Ix destroys the island?" cried Knuckles "Everybody on the island will be killed and who knows what damage the falling debris is going to do! You can't let your father do this!"

"I am not letting him do this." retorted Shade "He's doing it himself; all I did was merely help him on his way to accomplishing his goals. That's all the Nocturnus did, help Lord Ix and now he's where he is, he can get his revenge and then he will be avenged and satisfied at long last."

"Shade, you and I both know that that's a lie!" yelled Knuckles "Ix will not stop there and you know it! He's crazy with Dark Chaos Energy, who knows what he's gonna do after destroying Angel Island! I wouldn't be too surprised if he went on to destroy the entire planet!"

"Ix maybe mad and thirsty for vengeance but he's not that mad." said Shade "He's not going to go that far in his plans."

"He might do Shade!" cried Knuckles "You know what Dark Chaos Energy can do to you, make you crazy and hungry for destruction! If we don't stop Ix right now the fate of Mobius will be at stake here, not just Angel Island!"

Shade's eyes widened in surprise. She knew a lot about Dark Chaos Energy but she didn't know that Dark Chaos Energy was THAT dangerous! Maybe her father had gone off the deep end after all…

"Impossible…" gasped Shade "That…can't be true…"

"It is Shade!" yelled Knuckles "Ix will lose his mind and he'll do more then destroy Angel Island! We've gotta stop him now before he goes too far!"

"We can't stop Ix!" shouted Shade, swiping a hand at Knuckles but missing a she bent back to dodge the attack "He's full of Dark Chaos Energy and is unbeatable! You maybe willing to throw your lives away for Mobius but…I'm not." she said in a sudden solemn tone of voice "I refuse to face my father. I've been abused by him far too much in my life, I will not be abused again."

"Huh?" said Sonic in wonder "You've been abused by him? What do you mean?"

"My childhood was a living nightmare for me." said Shade, her cold and steely gaze turning into a very down-hearted gaze that showed there was a lot more to Shade then her tough, loyal personality "All my life I've been Ix's punching bag. Every time I stood out of line he would beat me with his Chaos Staff. My mother was a little worried about my wellbeing but all Ix did was ignore her pleas and continue beating me. He believed that all children should be severely disciplined if you want total loyalty from them so all through my childhood to my teen years to even now, he just beat me and abused me over and over again. I really didn't understand what it was I did that made him beat me so much. I often thought he just wanted to use me as stress relief as he had nothing else. And after the exile of Lord Ix and the Nocturnus, the abuse continued some more with more beating and even death threats. I was a slave to Ix and I obeyed his every order and served him faithfully. I hate Ix with all my heart and I wish nothing more then to betray him and leave him at last so I can be free from his tyranny. But if I do, he'll kill me so I can't betray him. I really didn't want to help him destroy Angel Island but I had no choice. I have to serve him or I die, no second thoughts. There's nothing I can do and there's no hope of freedom for me. I'm just…Ix's little pet doomed to be his punching bag forever…"

And with that, Shade concluded with a tear trickling out of her eye. She wiped it away and tried to hold back anymore tears that her eyes were welling up with. Sonic and Knuckles were both pretty surprised by that sudden revelation. Shade's story seemed completely unusual for someone like her. At least it explained why she was so loyal to Ix. Loyal to Ix out of complete fear.

"Man…I never knew you had it that bad Shade." said Knuckles quietly.

"Of course you didn't." said Shade icily "You didn't grow up with me."

"I know." said Knuckles "But here's the thing Shade. If you don't stand up to Ix then your life won't improve. It will just get worse and worse and the only person who can stop all that abuse from Ix is you."

Shade got cross and she drew out her twin blades. She pressed them against Knuckles' throat and scowled at him.

"I can't!" she screamed "Ix will kill me if I dare to double-cross him and I am not willing to die just for trying to do something so foolish! I don't care what you say Knuckles, I can't betray Ix, I can't turn my back on him! I have to be at his beck and call or I die! There's nothing I can do about it and there's nothing nobody can do about it!"

"Yes there is Shade." said Sonic "If you let us go, we'll stomp on Ix for you. We'll rid you of Ix and then you can be free at last. And don't worry about Ix finding out about you helping us, we can just say that we broke free so he'll not suspect you at all."

Shade's hands quivered and her eyes narrowed to tiny slits of torment. She was feeling torn between her loyalty and her ambitions as of this moment. Sonic had a good idea there but she still wasn't brave enough to betray Ix. She wanted to be free of Ix but being free of Ix would ensure her death so she couldn't betray him. But if she didn't then she would put up with being Ix's punching bag forever. Shade just sighed heavily and she lowered her arms. Knuckles' face began to light up in hope that Shade was going to comply. But Shade still had that cold look in her eye so things were looking a little creepy now.

"Turn around Knuckles." she ordered.

Knuckles did as he was told and he turned his back on Shade. Shade then raised one of her blades above her head. Sonic's eyes widened in horror. Shade hadn't taken in what he had said! She was going to kill Knuckles!

"Shade No!" cried Sonic.

Shade ignored Sonic and she swung the blade down at Knuckles and…sliced the chain connecting the handcuffs to pieces. Knuckles' arms were now free of their hold and the handcuffs ended up lying on the ground in pieces. She then turned Knuckles back around and sliced the cuffs around his ankles to pieces. Knuckles couldn't believe his eyes. Shade had just cut him loose! Shade then turned to the Nocturnus Echidnas.

"Release them." she ordered.

"Yes Procurator." said one of the echidnas.

The seven Nocturnus Echidnas all wondered over to the others and they freed them from their bonds. Knuckles rubbed his wrists and looked at Shade.

"Um…thanks." said Knuckles gratefully "But…why are you doing this?"

"Your words of encouragement and Sonic's idea has made me decide that I can't be Ix's mindless servant anymore." explained Shade "I have to stand to him and if I fight alongside you and your friends, I am more likely to triumph over Ix and then I'll be free from him at last. Not to mention I won't let Ix destroy the world after he finishes with Angel Island. If he goes that far that is."

"I'm so glad you've come to your senses Shade." said Knuckles happily "Now we've got to get up to Angel Island and fast! The moon's almost at it's highest!" he added, looking up at the sky and noticing the moon was almost at its highest point.

"But we don't have a warp ring." said Tails "I bet Ix confiscated Knuckles' after we were all knocked out."

"Ix does have Knuckles' warp ring." said Shade "And my warp belt is still broken so I can't warp you all up there. However, my Nocturnus comrades still have working warp belts so they can warp you up there."

"But there's seven of them and eleven of us." said Geoffrey "How can them blokes warp us all up there?"

"If you hold onto the echidnas as they activate the warp belts, you'll teleport with them and they can take more then one person." said Shade.

"I see." said Geoffrey.

So a Nocturnus Echidna took two people at once to save having to warp back and forth for them. Sonic and Tails held onto one echidna, Knuckles and Amy held onto another, Cream and Cosmo held onto another, Bunnie and Geoffrey held onto another, Wilson and Mandy held onto another and Ruben and Shade held onto another. The last echidna didn't have anyone to warp with him. The Nocturnus Echidnas all activated their warp rings with the Mobian heroes holding onto them and the seven echidnas all vanished into thin air with a bright blue flash, taking the Mobians with them. They had set their coordinates to Angel Island and now they were warping all the way up onto the island right now…

Up on the island, Ix was surrounded by Dark Chaos Energy that seemed to burn around him. Anyone that saw him would probably think he was on fire only the flames were black instead of orange. Ix was standing on the Master Emerald and patiently waiting for the moon to be at the highest it would go in the night sky when it was out. The moon literally had a few minutes left. Ix began to cackle and rock uncontrollably back and forth as the wait carried on.

"Yes…Yes…" he cackled insanely "A few more minutes to go and… my Dark Chaos Energy…will be at its strongest and Angel Island will be decimated! Once I destroy Angel Island, I think I'll move onto other places like Mobotropolis or Grand Metropolis or that disgusting Central City! I'll destroy whatever I like and I'll destroy everything until I find a place willing to bow to my feet! If not, then I'll just turn Mobius into a speck of dust that will aimlessly float through space forever! Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!"

As he boomed with laughter, Chaos Energy circled around him in glee as if the Dark Chaos Energy in his veins was as excited as he was. Dark Chaos Energy had a way of reacting to certain emotions after all. He held his Chaos Staff at the ready and he peered at the moon again. One more minute left and then it would be time. He levitated into the air and he hovered over Angel Island with his staff poised and ready to activate.

"Say goodbye Angel Island!" laughed Imperator Ix "You'll pay for all the indignity you've ever caused me! You'll wish you hadn't exiled the great me at all and you'll wish you had listened to me! But it's too late for that now! You'll be nothing but boulders piled up on the ground with the population staining the earth with their dead bodies! The Day of Reckoning is here for you Angel Island and I am the cause of it!"

He raised his staff and began to charge up a super powerful attack that he would unleash on Angel Island and then destroy it. He could feel the Dark Chaos Energy surging up his veins as he prepared to unleash it all onto Angel Island. The moon had finally risen to its highest point, meaning Imperator Ix's power was now at its strongest. Angel Island would not stand a chance against him now. But before Ix could do anything at all, seven bright blue flashes appeared around the Master Emerald shrine, causing Ix to stop what he was doing and look down to see what was happening. Ix touched down on the ground and to his surprise he saw Shade and the Nocturnus Clan surrounding the shrine with Sonic, Knuckles and friends at their side. This very sight made Ix wild with rage.

"Shade? Nocturnus?" he blurted "What are you doing on Angel Island with our prisoners by your side?"

"We have freed the prisoners so they can help us destroy you." said Shade in a brave voice, a voice she never thought she'd use when talking to Imperator Ix "We have decided to turn on you and help Knuckles stop you from destroying Angel Island."

Imperator Ix thought his ears had fallen off. This couldn't be! Shade and the Nocturnus had decided to double-cross him? Had all these years of abusing her been in vain? Well, now he could show Shade what happens to those who try to betray him! Ix's staff began to glow a very sinister black colour and his eyes narrowed to evil slits.

"You wretched child!" he roared "You dare to double-cross the great Imperator Ix? Do you not remember all the years of abuse you've received from me? Or did I beat you so hard I gave you memory loss?"

"I do remember all those years." said Shade "And I've decided I'll put up with it no more. I will not by your slave anymore Ix, I will be free from you at last. Nocturnus, shoot him!" she ordered.

The Nocturnus Echidnas obeyed and they fired their gun arms at Imperator Ix. The gun blasts all hit Imperator Ix but the insidious Imperator took the blows as if they were nothing.

"Fools! I am invulnerable now I have Dark Chaos Energy!" he gloated. "You cannot destroy me!"

But the Nocturnus blasting him was just a distraction so that Sonic and friends could get in closer to Ix. The eleven fighters all surrounded Ix and they leaped on him Ix suddenly found himself being piled on and then pushed down to the ground by the Royal Fighters. Ix tried to throw them off himself but their combined efforts were too much for him. Before he knew it, he was down on his knees and Sonic and friends all pinned him down.

"Keep him down!" yelled Knuckles "Don't let him get back up!"

"We are doing but how's this supposed to work?" asked Mandy.

"If we keep him down, he can't use his powers and then someone can try and steal his staff." explained Knuckles "Shade, grab it before he…"

But before Knuckles could say anything else, Ix shouted

"Dark…ANOMALY!"

And a huge sphere of Dark Chaos Energy threw everybody off of himself and sent them flying backwards a good distance. Some of the fighters nearly fell off of Angel Island but they just managed to avoid falling to their deaths. Ix stood back up and he growled angrily at his opponents.

"You all have a death wish if you think you stand an ounce of a chance against me!" he crowed "Moonlight is when Dark Chaos Energy is at its strongest! You were all no match for me in the daylight so what chance do you have against me at night worms?"

"We'll do whatever it takes to bring you down Ix!" yelled Knuckles "No matter what time of day it is!"

"Nocturnus, bring him down!" ordered Shade, deploying her twin blades "Do whatever you can to stop our crazy leader from destroying this place!"

The Nocturnus Echidnas obeyed their new leader and they began shooting at Ix frantically but the shots just seemed to bounce off of Ix as if he was surrounded by a force field. The Nocturnus closed in on Ix, shooting more and more rapidly but Ix swung his staff around and knocked them all away with one swipe of the staff. The Nocturnus Echidnas were thrown backwards and they skidded to a halt by the Master Emerald shrine. Shade leaped and her blades began to glow purple.

"Blade Rush!" she yelled, swinging at Imperator Ix.

She struck him several times over and began to swing her weapons rapidly at Ix, trying her hardest to make sure he couldn't fight back as she fought too quickly for him to keep up. But even that tactic was futile as Ix could easily repel Shade with his powers. He blew Shade away with a blast of Dark Chaos Energy and the traitor skidded to a halt a few feet away. The Nocturnus all leaped on Ix and cut loose on him with their fighting skills. They punched and they kicked Ix furiously while also shooting him at the same time. But all that did was just annoy Ix more then anything as he didn't even appear to be taking their shots.

"All your attempts are doing is vexing me!" yelled Ix "You cannot defeat me so you may as well cease these futile attempts."

"We will not cede to you former maser." said on Nocturnus Echidna "Our alliance is with Shade now and we have seen the error of your ways thanks to Knuckles so we will not rest until you're defeated."

"Well you will not live to see me get defeated!" boomed Imperator Ix "Because I am going to put you all to rest right now!"

And with that he walloped the seven Nocturnus Echidnas with his staff as if they were golf balls and his staff was golf club. The Nocturnus Echidnas hurled through the air and over the edge of Angel Island. Much like their eighth member earlier today they all fell to their deaths. Shade watched as her comrades all fell to their deaths. She was horrified by the scene before her. She had known those echidnas for a long time and now they were dead, she had just lost some of the only friends she had in life.

"No!" she cried "Not…my clan! I'm the last of the Nocturnus now!"

"The Nocturnus has diminished to merely one now." said Imperator Ix wickedly "How about that for a turn of events? I killed all but one guardian and now I've killed all but one Nocturnus? Well now the Nocturnus is quickly going to become extinct when I'm finished with you Shade!"

He swung his staff at Shade and he tried to hammer her head in but the Procurator dodged the attack and leaped backwards. Shade deployed her helmet in order to protect her head from Ix's attacks and she leaped towards Ix with her blades ready. With a loud war cry, Shade ran over to Ix and slashed at him with her blades. The attack didn't hurt Ix and Ix swung his staff at Shade. Shade swung her weapons and the two weapons made a mighty clang sound as they hit each other. Shade and Ix clashed weapons with each other and Ix swung his staff at Shade, trying to hit her in the head but Shade ducked and Ix missed. Shade gave Ix an uppercut that sent him staggering backwards and she roundhouse kicked him while in midair. Ix turned to the side after that kick but he quickly retaliated with a whack to the face from his staff. Shade held her weapons together and she swiped them both at Ix, increasing the power of her Blade Rush technique. Ix staggered backwards but he wasn't down. He swiped at Shade but he missed again and the two echidnas clashed weapons with each other again. They then clashed weapons and their weapons crossed at face level.

"I once said that the only way to have a truly loyal child was to constantly discipline them." said Ix "It appears I was drastically wrong as you are not loyal to me at all!"

"Your abuse just made me desperate to leave you Ix." said Shade "All I needed was some inspiration to betray you and I got it from Knuckles and Sonic. Once I defeat you, I'll be free from your tyranny at last."

"You will never be free from me Shade!" bellowed Ix "As long as I live, you never be free and you will never defeat me!"

Shade just promptly slashed Ix across the face with her blades. Ix was wearing a helmet so the attack didn't affect him as much as it could have but the blade had left a nasty gash above his eyes. Shade then proceeded to kick Ix in the gut and then trip him up with a roundhouse kick to the legs. Ix fell onto his back and Shade grabbed his staff. She tried to yank it out of her father's grasp but Ix was just too strong for Shade. Ix held on tightly to his staff and he activated a burst of Dark Chaos Energy that threw Shade away from him and sent her crashing into the Master Emerald shrine. Ix then picked himself up and advanced towards Shade only to get spin-dashed from behind by Sonic. Sonic and friends had recovered from Ix's earlier attack and now they were ready to team up against the insidious Imperator. Sonic spin-dashed towards Imperator Ix again but Ix fired a Doom Orb at him and Sonic was blasted backwards. Tails then landed an attack of his own flying towards Imperator Ix foot first and then kick-slamming him in the face. The attack worked and Ix fell over backwards. Ix picked himself up but Tails kicked him from behind again. Ix staggered forward and Tails made a grab for Ix's staff. He missed and Ix whacked him from behind with it. Tails hurtled into the ground and he groaned in pain as the sheer force of Dark Chaos Energy overwhelmed him. Ix then tried to hammer Tails into the ground but Ruben leaped into the air, did a twirl in mid air and landed an amazing roundhouse kick to the face that stunned Ix for a moment. Ix dropped his staff and he fell down on one knee. Ruben grabbed the staff and tried to whack Ix with it but Ix held up his arm and blocked the attack. Ix then socked Ruben in the gut and snatched his staff back. He tried to whack Ruben but Ruben dodged his attack and he jumped up to his height. He then began to rapidly kick Imperator Ix in the head while he was level with his face like a ninja would be able to. Ix grunted as Ruben forced him backwards with rapid kicks and Ruben kept it up until Ix was literally pushed back to the edge of Angel Island. Ruben fell back down to the ground and before Ix could do anything, Ruben tripped him up and Ix fell over the edge. Ix suddenly found himself falling back down to the ground once again. Ruben panted and beamed proudly at his success. Sonic and Tails had seen the whole thing and they were impressed.

"Whoo hoo! You rock Ruben!" cheered Sonic.

"Thank you." said Ruben with a polite bow "Just because I am missing my aqua-collar, it doesn't mean I'm no threat. My novice style ninjutsu and kung fu really pays off when I use it."

"Sadly water panther, I don't think Ix is defeated yet." said Shade "He has Dark Chaos Energy so he's probably…"

Before she could finish her sentence, Imperator Ix suddenly appeared from below and he soared through the air like an angry eagle. He landed back on Angel Island with Dark Chaos Energy crackling around his body like crazy and he looked very angry indeed. Ruben's ears drooped back in fear, unable to believe he had failed to defeat him.

"A fall of an island is not going to be of much harm to me underlings!" sneered Ix "I can levitate with Dark Chaos Energy and even if I couldn't, the fall wouldn't kill me because my power will defend me from the impact!"

"Well I guess we'll just have to beat you black and blue then Ixy!" yelled Sonic, spin-dashing the Imperator once again.

But Ix didn't even feel that blow. Sonic's spin-dashes were nothing to him now because of his increased power. Knuckles charged towards Imperator Ix and he threw some punches at Ix. But Ix blocked every blow Knuckles threw at him with his staff. Then Ix threw a punch of his own and he sent Knuckles hurling backwards for thirty meters. Amy and Cream double-teamed Imperator Ix by launching attacks of their own. Amy hammered Ix in the back and Cream threw her pet Chaos Cheese like a baseball at Ix. But Amy's hammers didn't even tickle Imperator Ix and throwing Cheese at Ix seemed to hurt Cheese more then Ix. The poor Chao rubbed his throbbing head and cooed dizzily. Ix turned around and blasted Amy and Cream away with a Chaos Blast. Cosmo, seeing as how she wouldn't really be of any help, didn't dare fight Ix but she did have a method of distraction in mind. She scooped up some soil from the grass beneath her feet and she made a mud ball the size of a human heart with it. Ix turned around and saw her on her knees scooping soil and decided to deal with the Seedrian. Cosmo stared at him fearfully with her ocean blue eyes. Ix just scoffed at Cosmo with his black eyes.

"I've never seen a creature like you before." said Imperator Ix "But judging by your appearance, I'd guess you're a plant creature. Does that mean you die any differently to the others?"

Cosmo just promptly threw the mud ball at Ix. The soil hit Ix's eyes and the Imperator was momentarily blinded by the soil. Ix rubbed his eyes furiously to try and get the soil out of them but while he was doing that, Knuckles and Bunnie Rabbot both decided to punch Ix together. They were the hardest hitters of the R.F.S. so their combined punches made the onslaught even deadlier and more painful. As powerful as Ix was, even that attack made him gasp in surprise. Bunnie and Knuckles then began to cut loose on Imperator Ix with a furry of punches each. Knuckles hit Ix all over his lower body and Bunnie hit him all over his upper body. Ix couldn't fight back because they were attacking too quickly and too strongly and he still couldn't see properly because of Cosmo's mud ball. Knuckles and Bunnie then both gave Ix an uppercut and Ix was sent hurling backwards through the air. Bunnie converted her arm into a cannon and she shoot at him frantically before he could land on the ground. The blasts hit Ix and the Imperator spiralled in mid-air after those shots and he landed very painfully on the ground. But given his Dark Chaos Energy, he wasn't as affected by the impact as he could have been. While Ix was down, Geoffrey St. John primed his arm-mounted crossbow and he shot a stun-dart at Ix. But the dart just disintegrated before it could even touch Ix. Ix picked himself up and roared furiously. His roar could have woken up the entire planet. Knuckles and Bunnie ran towards Ix, ready to take him down again but Ix blew them away with a Chaos Blast. Geoffrey then tried his combat skills on Ix by punching him as hard as he could but Ix kicked the skunk in the gut and then yanked on his white hair. He forced Geoffrey down on the ground and stomped on his back. The skunk yelled a terrible scream of pain. Ix then prepared to smash Geoffrey's head in but Wilson threw his double-bladed pole, also known as a spinning blade weapon, at Ix. The weapon clipped Ix on this side of his helmet and left a long scratch on it but the weapon didn't hurt him. Ix spun around and fired a Doom Orb at Wilson. The dog yelped in fear and scurried away before it could hit him. Mandy went onto the offensive with some brass knuckle attachments she had taken with her and she let loose a flurry of punches on Ix. Ix took the punches despite Mandy's best efforts and he punched Mandy in the gut. Mandy wheezed loudly and she fell down on her knees. Ix's punches felt like being hit by a baseball bat due to his Chaos Energy. Mandy doubled over and coughed loudly. She sounded like she was about to hack up a fist sized hairball due to how throatily she coughed. Ix then walloped Mandy with his Chaos Staff and sent the mouse hurling through the air. She landed sharply on her back and she groaned as if she had stomach ache. Wilson was horrified at that sight and he ran over to his girlfriend.

"Mandy! Are you alright?" cried Wilson, bending down and lifting Mandy's body upright so she was in a sitting position.

"Urgh, I feel like I've been hit by a bull." croaked Mandy hoarsely "That Imperitor Ix guy packs one heck of a punch."

"It's pronounced "Imperator" Mandy." corrected Wilson "And I do agree, Ix packs a punch. How can we possibly stop him?"

"Beats me." said Mandy, rubbing her stomach better "But I'm sure we'll tire that guy out eventually if we keep trying."

Secretly though, she had doubts they were even going to make it in this battle. As for Imperator Ix, Knuckles, Bunnie and Amy teamed up on him with their respective attacks but all they did was irritate him more then anything and Ix blew them away with yet another Chaos Blast. Knuckles landed on his back, Bunnie landed on her stomach and Amy crashed into the Master Emerald Shrine. Sonic spin-dashed Ix in the head but that attack didn't hurt Ix at all. Sonic then swerved around and homing attacked Ix in the back. Ix fell over onto his stomach and Sonic punched the back of his head. Ix however yelled and he teleported out from underneath Sonic. Sonic stared in surprise as Ix vanished from underneath him. Ix reappeared behind Sonic and he pile-dived the hedgehog in the back. Shade Blade-Rushed Ix but even that attack didn't seem to hurt him. Ix hammered Shade in the stomach with his staff and Shade hurtled backwards into a tree in the nearby woods. Ruben tried some of his kung-fu skills on Ix but Ix whacked the water panther away and sent him crashing into the ground. Cosmo tried to distract Ix by throwing another mud ball at him but Ix destroyed the mud ball before it could even hit him. He then zapped Cosmo with a bolt of Chaos Energy and the Seedrian hurtled backwards. Tails stared in horror at Ix attacking Cosmo. Just seeing his love interest get hurt made him want to rip Ix to shreds. Tails charged angrily at Ix and he head-butted him in the back. Ix fell onto his stomach and Tails leaped over the Imperator and over to Cosmo.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

"Cosmo!" cried Tails "Are you OK? Did Ix hurt you too much?"

"I'm…OK Tails." said Cosmo weakly "I just wish I was able to help you fight Ix. I'm of no help in this battle."

"I know you can't fight Cosmo but you can still help us." said Tails "You're good at distracting enemies so if you can keep Ix's attention off of us, we'll be able to land a good blow or two on him."

"You have a point Tails." said Cosmo "I'll try and make sure I don't get hit by him again."

Ix tried to zap Tails and Cosmo with a bolt of Dark Chaos Energy but the two managed to dodge the attack before they could be hit. Cosmo grabbed a large stone and quickly threw it at Ix. Ix whacked the stone away and Tails took the opportunity to pile-dive Ix in the stomach before he could ready himself. Ix tried to attack Tails but Cream flew in his way with Cheese flying beside her. The two flew around Ix and kept his attention diverted. Ix just tapped the ground with his staff and blew Cream and Cheese away from himself. Knuckles and Shade then pounced on Ix and they knocked him down onto his back. Knuckles and Shade fisted him as hard as they could but Ix teleported away from them with a Chaos Control and he reappeared behind them. Shade quickly defended herself with her blades before Ix could wallop her with his staff but Ix used his other arm to uppercut Shade into the air. He then grabbed Shade's leg just as she hurtled backwards and he slammed her on top of Knuckles. The two echidnas lay on top of each other, grimacing in pain. Sonic, Tails, Amy, Wilson, Mandy, Bunnie, Ruben and Geoffrey all charged towards Ix at once, ready to go to town on him but Ix raised his staff and boomed at the top of his voice

"Dark… ANOMALY !"

Another Dark Anomaly attack emitted out from his staff and the sphere of Chaos Energy blew the attackers away like leaves in the wind. Everybody landed in various spots around the island. Sonic, Tails and Amy lay near the edge of the island, Bunnie, Geoffrey and Ruben lay near the Master Emerald shrine and Wilson almost fell off the ledge but Mandy quickly grabbed him and pulled him back up. Ix cackled triumphantly and Dark Chaos Energy crackled around his body like crazy. He was preparing to launch another Dark Anomaly attack on his enemies and when he launched this one, the fight would end terribly for everybody…

Meanwhile in Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman had been interrupted from his work by an urgent call from his servant bot Alonzo. Dr. Eggman fumed at the fact he had been interrupted and he left an Eggman robot to finish off his work. Dr. Eggman went into the backup headquarters where Alonzo was and he found Alonzo sitting at a computer and watching the monitors. Alonzo had decided to take a break from his secret project and he decided to see what Sonic was up to just for the sake of it. He had been watching the fight on Angel Island and what he had been watching amazed him. Dr. Eggman sat down beside Alonzo and fumed.

"Why have you interrupted my work Alonzo?" demanded Dr. Eggman crossly.

"I'm so sorry I did so sir." said Alonzo "It's just that the monitors are picking up large levels of Chaos Energy coming from Angel Island and I decided to see what was going on. Look."

Dr. Eggman peered at the monitor Alonzo was watching and his eyes widened at what he was looking at. The Master Emerald had turned black in colour and Imperator Ix was fending off Sonic and friends with ease. The Chaos Energy readings on the monitors were all pointed to Imperator Ix. Eggman looked at the readings and he couldn't believe what the readings were saying. Imperator Ix had insane levels of Chaos Energy. The readings were well over nine thousand and Ix looked incredibly powerful to say the least. Dr. Eggman smiled widely at what he was watching.

"My, my what a powerful creature that is!" he cried "And the Chaos Energy readings are off the scale! I bet once my secret project is done, I'll be able to bring that creature down and then I'll siphon all of its energy! All that energy will provide marvellous power for my city! Not to mention, the Master Emerald will be ripe for the plucking as well."

"Well let's just hope Sonic and friends don't suddenly turn the tables and beat that creature or we'll lose the opportunity to steal its power." said Alonzo as he watched Ix pummel Sonic again "That thing has insane power, the readings are still going crazy trying to label it! We must steal that energy so Robotropolis will be even more powerful."

"Well if Sonic does defeat that thing then I've only got the Master Emerald to worry about." muttered Dr. Eggman "Oh well, one Chaos Powerhouse will be better then none so it won't matter too much if that creature gets defeated."

Dr. Eggman and Alonzo stayed sat where they were and they continued to watch the epic battle on Angel Island as it raged on…

Back on Angel Island, Sonic and friends picked themselves up and ran onto the offensive once again. Sonic spin-dashed Ix, Tails tail-whipped Ix, Knuckles punched him, Amy hammered him, Cream and Cheese distracted him, Wilson and Mandy double-teamed him, Geoffrey fired darts at him, Ruben kung-fu kicked him, Bunnie gave him an uppercut, Cosmo distracted him and Shade Blade Rushed him. But all those attacks, no matter how strong, powerful or well launched they were, just didn't harm Ix in anyway. Ix took the many blows and he blew them away with another Chaos Blast. Everybody hurtled into the air and crashed down onto the ground once again. Ix laughed at his puny opponents.

"You pathetic mongrels!" he crowed "You do realize that my power far succeeds yours? Knuckles is the only one with Chaos Energy but because of his inferior skills and power, he has no idea how to use it against me and neither of you have Chaos Energy so you will never be able to fathom me!"

"You know what; I am getting sick of that overly arrogant attitude of his." muttered Sonic, rubbing his back better "Gloat, gloat, gloat. Does he ever shut up?"

"Ix never tires of boasting." muttered Knuckles, rubbing his dreadlocks "But he has every right to boast. He's too powerful. We can't possibly defeat him with all that Dark Chaos Energy he has. We need a plan we need it fast before Ix decides to destroy the world."

"We can't use the Master Emerald as Ix has corrupted it." muttered Sonic "That was our best option. So we're gonna have to use the seven Chaos Emeralds."

"As much as I'm not willing to lose them to Ix, we're gonna have to use them." said Knuckles "It's a good thing I know where they are. They're in a tomb in the woods."

"I would go along and speedily get the emeralds so we can take Ix down quicker but I dunno where the tomb is." said Sonic "You'll have to guide me Knuckles."

"OK then Sonic." said Knuckles, holding Sonic's hand "Run into the woods and keeping going straight until I tell you to stop."

"No problem Knuckles." said Sonic "Let's do it to it!"

And with that, he ran off as fast as he could with Knuckles in tow, leaving his friends to keep Ix busy. Geoffrey saw Sonic running off with Knuckles in hand and he fumed.

"Humph, real nice!" he grumbled "Sonic's abandoned us! I oughta give that hedgehog a good telling off at the end of the day!"

"Geoffrey, Sonic would never do that." said Tails "He's probably going to get the Chaos Emeralds. If you remember, Sonic did send them there after his super showdown the other week*."

"Oh right." said Geoffrey "I bet the Chaos Emeralds will give us the edge we need in this battle."

"They will Geoffrey." said Tails "That Horda, Borda and Rorda combo-bot was destroyed by the emerald's power so Ix will have no chance."

He suddenly cried and dodged an attack from Imperator Ix. The Imperator swung his staff at him but he missed. Everybody else kept on fighting Ix to give Sonic and Knuckles time to get the Chaos Emeralds.

Deep in the woods, Sonic kept running at his trademark speed with Knuckles holding onto him. Sonic kept his eye open for anything that looked like a tomb as he kept running. After a minute or so, Knuckles told Sonic to stop running and the hedgehog skidded to a halt. They had come across a huge slab of stone set in the ground. Knuckles stepped forward and he pressed on the stone. The stone shrunk down into the ground about sixty centimetres and then slid away into the earth. The seven Chaos Emeralds were all sitting in a stone bed at the bottom of the tomb, all shining brighter then the stars in the sky. Seeing the emeralds again made Sonic feel good for some reason. The emeralds had that kind of effect on him for some reason.

"So that's the tomb." said Sonic "And the Chaos Emeralds are nicely hidden in there. Well, I'll just grab them and go Super Sonic on Ix right now if you don't mind."

"You're not using the emeralds to defeat Ix Sonic." said Knuckles "I am."

"You are?" said Sonic doubtfully "Can you go super or something?"

"Sort of." said Knuckles "When a Chaos Powered being uses the emerald, they become a Chaos being. My father told me that and he should know because he's done it before. I even witnessed that event."

"OK then." said Sonic "Seems fitting for you to defeat Ixy since he's your arch nemesis."

Knuckles grabbed the seven Chaos Emeralds and he held them out at arm's length. The emeralds hovered above his hands and they suddenly began to circle around his body. Knuckles closed his eyes and he began to chant to himself.

"The servers are the seventh chaos." he chanted "Chaos is power enriched by the heart. The server exists to unify the chaos."

The Master Emerald chant worked on the Chaos Emeralds since the Chaos Emeralds were just shorter versions of the Master Emerald. The Chaos Emeralds continued to circle around Knuckles' body faster and faster until they became a bright colourful blur around his body. Knuckles' red fur then suddenly began to turn into a dark Chaos Energy green colour. The Chaos Emeralds vanished from sight and Knuckles levitated off the ground. He was completely green in colour save for his gloves and shoes and the white crescent mark on his chest and he had a green glowing aurora around his body. Sonic whistled in amazement at Knuckles' transformation.

"Neat." said Sonic "So that's a Chaos being I guess."

"Yes it is Sonic." said Knuckles "I am now Chaos Knuckles and Imperator Ix is in for an onslaught of Chaos powered beating from me!"

Knuckles then shot off at top speed, leaving Sonic behind in the woods and he headed towards the Master Emerald shrine. Sonic ran off through the woods after Chaos Knuckles, eager to watch the battle between Knuckles and Ix…

Meanwhile, Ix had completely wiped the floor with everybody. Tails, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Wilson, Mandy, Geoffrey, Bunnie and Ruben all lay on the ground defeated and barely conscious. Shade was still on her feet and she tried one last desperate attack but Ix whacked her away and sent her crashing into the shrine. Shade winced in pain and she pressed her back against the shrine. Ix advanced on her menacingly with his staff at the ready. Shade stared fearfully at Ix with her back against the shrine. She was trapped and she had nowhere to run. Ix was going to kill her and there was no way she could escape from this inevitable fate. Ix pointed the staff at Shade, the tip glowing brightly with a black aurora.

"Your resistance has fallen, your Nocturnus comrades are deceased and you are powerless to stop me." gloated Ix "You should have thought twice before you decided to betray me."

"I have no regrets Ix." said Shade "I'm glad I betrayed you. It gave me a lot of glory to fight against you and show you my gratitude for your abuse in my childhood."

""You really are flaccid minded Shade." snorted Ix "Well; I'll take it upon myself to put you down for good."

He raised his staff and prepared to kill Shade once and for all. Shade just closed her eyes and waited for the killer blow, knowing what was coming and that she couldn't stop Ix from killing her. But before Ix could even so much as touch Shade, Chaos Knuckles arrived on the scene and blasted Ix with a blast of Chaos Energy. Ix hurtled through the air and he crashed face first into the ground. Ix picked himself up and stared in horror at the mere sight of Chaos Knuckles. Knuckles levitated just above the Master Emerald with his dreadlocks waving about as Chaos Energy surged up his body. Everybody picked themselves up and they stared in wonder at Chaos Knuckles. Sonic arrived on the scene at last and he eagerly awaited for the battle to begin. Ix backed away fearfully, staring at Knuckles in horror.

"No! That's impossible!" blurted Ix in fear "You can't be a Chaos Being! The Master Emerald is corrupted so you can't use it!"

"I didn't use it." said Knuckles bluntly "I used the seven Chaos Emeralds. My dad fused the emeralds all together so there are now seven instead of thousands and I will use their power to destroy you Ix!"

"No!" shrieked Ix "You can't! You can't possibly have that kind of power from seven mere gems!"

"Maybe not." said Knuckles "But I will hinder your power by freeing the Master Emerald from your spell!"

Knuckles held his hands out and then began to chant.

"The servers are the seventh chaos." he chanted "Chaos is power enriched by the heart. The server exists to unify the chaos. Master Emerald, cleanse yourself from the Dark Chaos Energy! Don't fall victim to its evil power! Expel the dark powers and be pure once again!"

The Master Emerald began to glow bright enough to lighten up the entire planet. Ix shielded his eyes as the dark Chaos Energy in the Master Emerald suddenly shoot out of the Master Emerald and disintegrated into thin air. The Master Emerald's black colour died down into its lush, beautiful green colour once again and the dark Chaos Energy in the Master Emerald vanished into atoms, never to be used again. Ix's eyes returned back to their normal icy blue colour and his Chaos powers had diminished back to his original power. Ix roared in anger.

"NOOOOOOOOOO!" he screamed "YOU VILE LITTLE WORM! YOU'VE DESTROYED MY DARK CHAOS ENERGY! I WILL RIP YOU APART FOR THIS GUARDIAN! "

And with that, Ix leaped up to Knuckles with his staff blazing with Chaos Energy. Since the dark Chaos Energy in the Master Emerald was gone, the dark Chaos Energy in him had diminished too so he only had Chaos Energy now. Knuckles wasn't the least bit intimidated by the sinister Imperator. Ix was nothing to him now he had been severely weakened. But Knuckles wasn't going to destroy Ix, he was going to send him away. Knuckles held his arms out and yelled.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

The whole world around Imperator Ix suddenly froze in mid-air as if someone had whipped out a TV remote and put him on pause. Ix was frozen in time and he would be stuck like that for a while. Ix looked like he was leaping towards Knuckles and had just stopped in mid-leap. Knuckles then yelled

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

again and a huge portal opened up behind Imperator Ix. Knuckles grabbed Ix's Chaos Staff and yanked it out of the frozen Imperator's hands. He then chaos-punched Ix straight in the face and the stalled Imperator hurtled backwards and into the portal. The portal swallowed Ix up and then closed the moment he went through it. Knuckles was pleased to see Imperator Ix was gone for good now and he destroyed Ix's Chaos Staff by breaking it into pieces. Knuckles lowered down to the ground and his green Chaos fur changed back to its natural red colour. The seven Chaos Emeralds reappeared and they lay down on the ground at Knuckles' feet. Knuckles was back to normal now and Imperator Ix was gone.

"Whoo hoo! Way past cool Knuckles!" cried Sonic "What did you do to Ix?"

"I've sent him into the void." said Knuckles "My dad says it's a zone where evil spirits and nefarious demons live and play so I though it would be fitting to send Ix there. I've broken his Chaos Staff so now he can't leave the void, he'll be stuck there until the day he dies. Just what he deserves."

Then suddenly, to his amazement, Shade ran up to the heroic echidna and she threw her arms around him, grasping him in a tight hug. Knuckles couldn't believe it, Shade was hugging him. And to think they were sworn enemies earlier!

"I'm…I'm free!" cried Shade with joy "Free from that demon forever! Thank you so much Knuckles! Thank you for everything. I don't know how I can repay you for all you've done today."

"Don't mention it Shade." said Knuckles "It was for the good of Angel Island. Just a pity your clan is dead though and my guardian friends are all dead. You've got no one around you and I'm gonna have to guard the Master Emerald on my own."

"Maybe I can be a guardian." suggested Shade "Maybe me and you can both be guardians and we can protect the Master Emerald together."

"That's a great idea Shade." said Knuckles "Angel Island needs more then one guardian."

"So I guess everything's OK now." said Sonic.

"It is Sonic." said Knuckles "Angel Island is safe at last and Imperator Ix is gone forever. Angel Island has no threats now."

"Except Dr. Eggman but he's manageable." said Sonic "I have no idea what that fat idiot's doing now but I bet it'll be nothing to worry about."

If only he was correct…

Back in Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman was pleased to see Imperator Ix lose the battle but he didn't let it gnaw at him. He stood up from his chair and walked away from the monitors.

"What a surprise." he muttered "Sonic and friends came out on top. Oh well."

"Pity the creature lose, it would have given us a lot of Chaos power." said Alonzo.

"The Master Emerald is still ripe for the picking and my project is almost complete." said Dr. Eggman with an insidious smile on his moustached face "Tomorrow morning, I'll steal the emerald and Angel Island will end up becoming the new city of Atlantis!"

He hooted with laughter to himself as he left the room behind. Alonzo still had no idea what Eggman's plan was but he had a feeling it was going to be epically evil and epically amazing once he put it into action…

Angel Island is safe and Imperator Ix is gone forever! But that doesn't mean the day is done yet! Dr. Eggman has some sinister plot up his sleeve! What could he possibly be planning? Well all the answers await you in the very next chapter which happens to be my THIRD milestone! DON'T MISS IT IF YOU KNOW WHAT'S GOOD FOR YOU! Reviews are welcome.

To sonicthekittiekat12: what's your favourite Heroes of Mobius story so far?

P.S. I'm going away to Southampton for my birthday on Friday and I won't be back till Monday so I won't get to do any writing over the weekend (aww!) so don't expect any updates in a hurry. See you later!

The Fallen Angel

I'm great! I'm incredible! Y'know why readers? Because I am on my THIRD MILESTONE! (Cheers and throws streamers everywhere) I must have been working hard if I've managed to get so far and yet I have so much more to come! For now, enjoy this milestone phenomena that is bound to go down in history as one of my most memorable stories ever...!

Story 75 : The Fallen Angel

The next morning dawned bright and sunny. The sun rose slowly into the sky, waking up the sleepy citizens of Mobius with its warm, bright, happy light and the darkness of the night sky diminished into nothingness as the moon set and the sun rose. A sun-rise was not usually the kind of thing that mad-scientist and Mobius enemy Dr. Eggman would be pleased to wake up to but right now for some strange reason, he was standing at a window in his recently repaired headquarters and smiling widely and evilly like he always did. He stroked his moustache casually and he cackled quietly to himself.

"Aaaah…" he said to himself "It looks like today is going to be bright and sunny. Just the perfect day for Angel Island's demise and my greatest invention to be put into action."

He walked away from the window and he sat down in his chair. He folded his legs and he whistled quietly to himself. His robot-forces were just finishing the final touches on his great invention and in a minute or so; it would be put into action. Dr. Eggman pressed a button on the arm to his chair and a loud bleeping sound was heard. This was the wake-up call for his servant-bot and lackey, Alonzo the Butler Bot. Alonzo, who was sitting in the corner with his eyes closed and his arms and wheels folded away to make it look like he was a missile just sitting there in the corner, booted himself up and he zipped over to Dr. Eggman quickly. He saluted to his master in a fake sign of loyalty.

"Good morning master." said Alonzo brightly "Did you sleep well sir?"

"I could hardly sleep last night due to my excitement." said Dr. Eggman "I'm so excited about my big plan that I keep feeling all wobbly and tingly just thinking about it!"

"I wish I knew what it was you were excited about master." said Alonzo grimly; still hurt over the fact his master hadn't breathed a word about his plan to him.

"Alonzo, how many sodding times do I have to tell you?" growled Dr. Eggman "It's a surprise and I want not just Sonic surprised by it but I want you to be surprised by it so you'll appreciate my genius even more!"

"Sorry I asked sir." said Alonzo quickly "I will not bring it up again."

"Don't fuss over the matter Alonzo, it's almost ready anyway." said Dr. Eggman "My workers have a few finishing touches to go and then it's ready. While we're waiting for my plan to be ready Alonzo, you can fetch me my breakfast. I can't conquer the world on an empty stomach after all."

"Right away sir." said Alonzo, quickly zipping out of the room to fetch Eggman's first meal of the day.

The moment Alonzo left, Dr. Eggman continued to grin maliciously to himself. He began stroking his big bushy moustache again and he muttered to himself.

"The fools back on bonny old planet Earth who decided to shut my lab down and exile me under the suspicion that I was insane will regret their foolish mistake once they see this genius in motion." purred Dr. Eggman "Once I unleash this on Mobius, I'll return back to my home planet and show those accursed G.U.N. folk that I really am a genius and not as insane as they made me out as!"

After Eggman finished talking to himself, Alonzo reappeared into the room with his breakfast on a tray. Dr. Eggman's breakfast usually consisted of two slices of salami, a piece of toast, two fried eggs, a doughnut and a glass of orange juice (no wonder he's so fat!). The meats and eggs were genetically made seeing as Eggman didn't have a farm anywhere in Robotropolis nor did he have an endless supply of Earth food with him. Dr. Eggman grinned even wider and his mouth watered. He picked up his knife and fork and he quickly tucked into his breakfast. He stuck a piece of salami into his fat, wobbly cheeks and he chewed it oh so slowly so as to savour its flavour.

"Oooooh I just love this kind of breakfast." he said to himself "Just fit for a genius!"

"I know." said Alonzo "You have it all the time. It's a wonder as to how you're not getting any fatter then normal now."

"I will thank you very, VERY kindly for not commenting on my body Alonzo!" snarled Dr. Eggman, pointing his knife at him "We humans are very sensitive about our bodies you know!"

"Well if you're so sensitive about your appearance then why don't you trim your waistline already?" muttered Alonzo.

"I've got better things to do then watch my weight!" snapped Dr. Eggman "Now shut up and let me enjoy my breakfast in peace!"

"OK master, I shall leave you to munch in private." said Alonzo, slowly trundling away from Dr. Eggman and leaving him to eat his incredibly unhealthy breakfast.

As Dr. Eggman continued to nosh, Alonzo left the room and waited for the door to close behind him. The door closed behind him and Alonzo trundled down the quiet, empty corridors in no particular direction. As Alonzo trundled down the corridors, he began to think to himself.

What is that fat moron planning? he thought in his mind Well whatever it is, it'll fail miserably and if it doesn't, then maybe I can help it on it's way…after all, there's nothing like a failure to prove I'm smarter then Dr. Eggman. And if he does win, which is really unlikely, I'll just take his victory from him with my own secret project…

He couldn't wait to see Dr. Eggman's face once he unleashed his secret project which he had spent all his working hours building and keeping it secret. When he unleashed it, not even Sonic the Hedgehog would be able to stop him and then he would overthrow his stupid master and be the ruler of the Eggman Empire…

Back on Angel Island, Knuckles the Echidna had gathered up the pieces of Ruben the Water Panther's destroyed Aqua-Collar and he lay the pieces on top of the Master Emerald, which had just recently been cleansed of Dark Chaos Energy. Angel Island was still recuperating from Imperator Ix's invasion but it was already recovering from the insidious Imperator's evil. Imperator Ix had been sent to the void by Chaos Knuckles so he would never return and now Knuckles was fixing Ruben's destroyed aqua-collar. Ix had destroyed it yesterday and in turn had left Ruben unable to use his water powers but the Master Emerald's power would fix it in an instant just as Ix had used it to fix his Chaos Staff after Sonic had broken it. After a while of green glows and energy surges, the pieces put themselves back together and they reformed the familiar shape of Ruben's aqua-collar. It was all nicely fixed as if it had never been broken. Knuckles picked the collar up off the Master Emerald and he passed it over to Ruben. The water panther eagerly caught it and he quickly snapped it back around his neck. Ruben felt a tremendous wave of water flow through his veins as he clipped his collar back on. He felt just like a water panther again.

"Thank you Knuckles." said Ruben "I was afraid I'd be cut off from my water powers permanently."

"No problem Ruben." said Knuckles "The Master Emerald's power has made some improvements to your collar while fixing it. The power of the Master Emerald has made the collar indestructible. It can never be broken again but you'll still have to be careful not to lose it as it won't stop the collar from coming undone."

"OK Knuckles." said Ruben "I'll remember that. At least I won't have to worry about it getting destroyed again."

He felt his collar happily. It was still warm from the Master Emerald's energies merging the pieces back together. Sonic the Hedgehog and the rest of his friends were having a chill-out around the Master Emerald shrine. The fight with Imperator Ix last night had left them feeling tired and worn out so they had spent the night on the flying island. They had decided to stay a little longer on the island as there was no hurry to get back home and right now, they were around the emerald shrine and enjoying the peace and quiet up on the floating beauty. Tails the twin-tailed fox, Sonic's best friend and mechanic, was sitting on the ledge with his love-interest Cosmo the Seedrian by his side. The two were gazing out into the distance and seeing what they could see from where they were. Cosmo remembered her first visit to Angel Island and how much she had loved it* and looking back on it again, it was still as beautiful as ever.

"Isn't the view of Angel Island just beautiful Tails?" asked Cosmo sweetly.

"Not as beautiful as you Cosmo." said Tails without even realizing it.

Cosmo giggled a flattered giggle at Tails' flirting remark. The fox began to wonder what was so funny until he suddenly realized he had just said something aloud unknowingly. He went bright red in the face but he tried his best to hide it.

"Tails, you say some of the nicest things you do." said Cosmo brightly "But am I really more beautiful then the scenery around us?"

"Um…" said Tails, trying hard not to trip over his words as he spoke "Y-y-y-yeah…y-y-you are Cosmo…I think…you're more beautiful… then all I've ever…s-s-seen…"

"Tails, I'm not that pretty in all honesty." said Cosmo modestly "There are Seedrians on my home world who are much prettier then me, especially my older sister Galaxina."

"I didn't know you had a sister Cosmo." said Tails.

"You do know." said Cosmo "I miss her as much as I miss my parents. Galaxina is a wonderful sister and the best I could ask for. I wish she was here with me right now, I feel empty without her with me. At least I know she'll be alright as she didn't get sidetracked by the Martian that attacked my pod and she possibly made it to my planet's twin planet."

"I bet she made it too." said Tails, putting a hand on Cosmo's shoulder "I bet your sister is safe on the twin-planet with all the other Seedrian children that were evacuated. And I'm sure they miss you as much as you miss them."

"I know they miss me." said Cosmo sadly "We Seedrians have a high social structure after all and we care deeply for one another. That's why we're such a peaceful race, we get along better then any other race in the galaxy. Just a pity nobody else can follow our example, Martians in particular."

"Well nobody's perfect." said Tails casually "Still, the other races out there could at least try to get along. We Mobians mostly get along but like any other planet, we have people who are just unbelievably evil like Lola Gunn, Zira the Ruthless, those four guys who won't give us their names and of course, Scourge the Hedgehog and his cronies."

"Hmm." said Cosmo "At least I'm around good Mobians such as Sonic the Hedgehog and you Tails and I can rely on you all to stop me from feeling lonely and afraid while I'm here. You particularly as you're so wonderful and kind to me."

She then wrapped her arms around Tails and warmly embraced him. Her head rested on his soft furry chest and she could hear Tails' lovely little heartbeat. Tails felt hot with bashfulness as Cosmo hugged him and Tails hugged her back. He liked the way Cosmo's arms felt around his body right now and he didn't want to break up this loving moment. If he could, he would keep this hug going forever. Unfortunately, Amy Rose, Sonic's hammer-waving fan-girl saw the two cuddling each other lovingly and she immediately got jealous.

"Aww, that's so adorable!" she squealed delightedly "But it's so unfair at the same time! How does Cosmo get a boy so easily and I'm just stuck at square one?"

She then turned to Sonic who appeared to be trying to ignore her.

He kept his attention focused ahead of himself. Amy grabbed Sonic's arm and shook it furiously.

"Hey Sonic, why don't you embrace me lovingly just like Tails does with Cosmo?" she wailed "Do you not love me or something? Or are you not a hugging person like I am?"

"Amy, I like you but only as a friend at the moment." muttered Sonic "Maybe I'll grow a fondness for you as I go along but for now, just be patient with me will ya?"

"OK. Sorry Sonic." said Amy quickly "It's just seeing Tails and Cosmo having a tender moment with each other makes me feel a little…um…jealous as I'm having no luck with my love-life so far and Cosmo's got it easy."

"Well maybe if you mature more and obsessed less maybe I'd be willing to give you a chance Amy." said Sonic, trying his best not to lose his cool "I thought you remembered the deal we made after me and you destroy Egg-Cobra anyway."

"Oh yeah." said Amy as she remembered that she had promised not to obsess over Sonic and give him his space "Sorry, I just forget from time to time. I'll try not to forget this time."

"That's cool Amy." said Sonic with a thumbs up.

Amy beamed with pride. Any nice comment from Sonic was good enough for her. As for Wilson the Dog, a long time Royal Fighter and friend of Sonic's, he had been telling his girlfriend Mandy Mouse about the Chaos Emeralds seeing as she had been replaced by an Automaton during the Chaos Emerald hunt the other month* and therefore, had no idea what a Chaos Emerald was. Mandy held the purple one in her hands and was awestruck by its unbelievable beauty. The other six were sitting around the Master Emerald at the top of the shrine. She began to wish she had taken part in this hunt as she stared at the emerald. It was one beautiful gem. Despite her tomboy personality, Mandy still had a girly side hidden deep inside her and when it came to gems, that girly side showed as clear as crystal. Wilson told Mandy the story behind the Chaos Emeralds, which he like the others had heard from Knuckles, and what the emerald's power was like.

"So let me get this straight." said Mandy "This is a Chaos Emerald, there are seven of them, all differently coloured and when you have all seven, a miracle's supposed to happen."

"That's right." said Wilson "And when Sonic uses them, a miracle does happen. He turns super and becomes super strong and powerful."

"Does he turn gold like he did the time he saved us from Egg-Squid after he was de-roboticized?" asked Mandy "That looked pretty super."

"He does." said Wilson "Although according to him, he used the Master Emerald's power when he did that. The Master Emerald works the same way the Chaos Emeralds do as according to Knuckles, it's just a super-sized Chaos Emerald really."

"I see." said Mandy, staring back at the glorious purple Chaos Emerald in her hands "I wish I'd taken part in the Chaos Emerald hunt with you. These gems are gorgeous. They're so beautiful I wish I could keep one of them. It'd look good in my bedroom I bet."

Knuckles looked at Mandy after she said that and he thought on that subject for a moment.

"Hmm…I don't see the problem with letting someone have a Chaos Emerald." he said to himself "After all, if someone managed to find them and tried to steal them, they'd only get six of them and they'd have a hard time tracking down the seventh. So I guess Mandy can keep one…"

He looked back at Mandy and said to the purple mouse.

"Mandy, you may keep one of the emeralds but ONLY if you take good care of it and make sure NO ONE gets their hands on it." said Knuckles.

"Oh thank you Knuckles!" said Mandy happily, clutching the emerald to her chest "Are you sure about this though? Is there no problem whatsoever?"

"There is no problem." said Knuckles "You can have one of them but you must take good care of it or I'll have to confiscate it from you."

"Don't worry about it Knuckles." said Mandy "I'm one of the toughest fighters around and I take great care of my possessions; no one will be stealing anything from me! Especially Wilson when he tries to pinch one of my music CDs when I'm not looking." she added with a sly smirk at the orange furred dog.

"Mandy! I told you not to bring that up!" blurted Wilson with a groan "I hate it when you bring that up!"

"Well as long as it helps you to get the message which is "don't try to pinch my belongings", I'll keep bringing it up cute stuff." chuckled Mandy, teasingly giving Wilson a noogie-noogie on the head.

Wilson just laughed as Mandy playfully noogied him. As for fellow fighter Geoffrey St. John and his good friend Bunnie Rabbot, the cyborg rabbit, they sat together on the other side of the shrine and they looked up at the sky together.

"Boy does it feel good to relax a little." said Geoffrey "We could do with a rest what with what we've been through recently."

"Ah know, we've been darn busy lately haven't we?" said Bunnie "Me and you tangle with mah former friend Ravage Bloodfang, Sonic fights a kung-fu mistress*, then we tangle with Shadow the Hedgehog, then Scourge tries to take over Royal HQ, then we tussle with some bounty-hunters*, then while Sonic's away, we deal with some reptilian anarchists* and finally we take part in the fight against Imperator Ix. We could do with a rest we could."

"Sadly though, I don't think we're gonna get it." muttered Geoffrey "I can't shake this nagging feeling in my big black bushy tail that Dr. Eggman's plotting summet and is waiting to unleash it at this moment. He's been quiet for two whole weeks so that alone is not a good sign for us."

"Dr. Eggman can throw what he likes at us." said Bunnie bravely "We'll just smash them all to bits! Nothin' is too strong for us to beat after all! So ah wouldn't worry too much about it Geoffrey."

Bunnie would take those words back once Eggman showed Sonic and friends what he had planned for them…

Back at Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman had finished his breakfast and he lay back in his chair and sighed happily. All he had to do was wait for work to be finished and then his plan could finally be put into motion. Luckily, he wasn't kept waiting for long. For the moment he began to relax, he got a call from one of his robot workers. Dr. Eggman answered it immediately.

"Dr.-Egg-Man-our-work-is-com-plete." droned the worker "Your-plan-can-comm-ence-now."

Dr. Eggman grinned so wide his smile almost popped off the sides of his face.

"Thank you worker." said Dr. Eggman "Get to your stations everybody, the flight of Robotropolis is about to begin!"

The moment Dr. Eggman gave the command, all of the robot workers in the city began rushing around frantically, quickly trying to get to their work stations before Eggman's plan could commence. Dr. Eggman thumped a button his chair arm and the alarm for Alonzo bleeped loudly. Alonzo, who was on the second floor of Eggman's headquarters, heard the alarm and he quickly rushed back up to the top floor. He made it up there in a matter of seconds and he stopped just beside Dr. Eggman's chair. He quickly saluted his fat master.

"You called sir?" he asked politely.

"My plan is ready to go Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman with a very wide grin on his face "So now you can finally see what my plan is."

"I hope it's going to be good." said Alonzo "And let's both hope that it actually works."

"It WILL work Alonzo you titanium tin-head!" snapped Dr. Eggman

"And I should know because this is all MY work and everything I build ALWAYS works!"

"Yes they do." said Alonzo "Just a darn pity they can never beat that blasted hedgehog."

"Well THIS will beat that blasted hedgehog!" crowed Dr. Eggman "Because this will be too powerful for even Sonic to best!"

And with that he slammed a button on his chair arm and a control pad extended up from the floor and positioned itself directly in front of him. Dr. Eggman pressed a few buttons on this control pad, which Alonzo wondered to himself why it was even there, and then he pulled a lever on the pad. The moment the lever was pulled, Robotropolis suddenly began to shake as if an earthquake had hit it. Alonzo yelped and he grabbed the edges of Eggman's chair to stop himself from falling over. Dr. Eggman didn't seem worried at all, it was quite clear he knew what was really going on. A tremendously loud sound could be heard from underneath the city itself. It sounded like jet turbines powering up and getting ready to blast off. Robotropolis began to shake ever more furiously as this powering up noise got louder and louder and louder. Then, there was a tremendous noise as Robotropolis suddenly began to break away from the ground. The entire city began to slowly lift up from the ground and break away from its housing spot! Huge chunks of rocks, dirt and rubble rained down on the crater Robotropolis left behind as it began to rise up off the ground like a ship taking off. The whole city had somehow been transformed from a plain old robot city to a flying fortress! The underneath of Robotropolis had ten gigantic jet turbines the size of the Titanics' funnels that had been attached underneath the city and they easily had enough power to keep a whole city airborne. Robotropolis had pretty much become a floating island just like Angel Island. There was a crater the size of London City left that showed where Robotropolis once sat and it was a lot deeper then it would have been as the worker bots had to dig some of the earth away in order to make room for the jet turbines they had fitted. Alonzo could not believe his eyes. Dr. Eggman had managed to get an entire city to fly! He really was a genius! This was just as amazing as Egg-Timer! Maybe Dr. Eggman wasn't such an idiot after all…

"Are you impressed Alonzo?" asked Dr. Eggman.

"Yes!" blurted Alonzo "I'm blooming impressed I am! You've some how managed to get Robotropolis…to…to…fly! The whole thing's a flying fortress! This is beyond genius Dr. Eggman! This is…a miracle among men! The entire galaxy even!"

"It is isn't it Alonzo?" said Dr. Eggman while stroking his bushy moustache "And G.U.N. thought it couldn't be done! But here I am now, in this flying city of mine ready to conquer Mobius with it! Once I conquer Mobius, I'll fly this thing to Earth and conquer Earth with it! Then G.U.N. will be sorry they messed with me!"

He cackled like a demented hyena and he thrust the levers forward. The jet turbines roared louder then those of a jumbo jet and the flying city that Robotropolis had been transformed into began to fly forwards and head off to its designated target: Angel Island…

Back on Angel Island, Shade the Echidna, last of the Nocturnus and former lackey of Imperator Ix, emerged from the nearby woods and joined Sonic and friends around the emerald shrine. Knuckles looked pleased to see her. After Ix's defeat, Shade had decided to redeem herself for her crimes by joining Knuckles in guardian duties since Ix had killed all the guardians and Knuckles was the only one left. Shade was the only one of the Nocturnus Clan left so it seemed fitting for her and Knuckles to be joint guardians of Angel Island.

"Hey Shade." said Knuckles with a grin on his face "How's the guardian memorial coming on?"

"I've finished it." said Shade "Now the residents of Angel Island can pay their respects for those poor guardians by visiting the memorial. I am so sorry that Ix killed them all Knuckles. I hope the memorial will be one way of making up for it."

"You don't need to be sorry Shade." said Knuckles, putting a hand on the female echidna's shoulder "You couldn't do anything about Ix and nobody could stop him from doing what he did. At least he's gone for good now so he can't destroy Angel Island."

"I know." said Shade "I'm so glad to be free from that demon at last. No more will I have to be afraid of him or being killed by him. Ix is a thing of the past now and I owe it all to you Knuckles."

"Aw thanks Shade." said Knuckles modestly "I'm so glad that me and you don't have to kick each other's teeth in anymore."

Shade just gave the echidna a sly smirk and a sneaky expression on her pretty face.

"I know, but me and you could still have a friendly duel just to see who's the mightier echidna out of us." she said teasingly.

"Yeah and that will be me!" boasted Knuckles, flexing his muscles and clenching his fists.

"That will be decided between the two of us guardian." said Shade coyly "But not now. Another time perhaps."

"Yeah." said Knuckles casually "I'm not in the mood for kicking any butts right now."

Sonic just smirked to himself as he saw the two echidnas talking to each other.

"Heh, I think Knuckles has just found his female counterpart." he chuckled to himself "I wouldn't be too surprised if those two end up getting hitched."

"I just hope Shade can be trusted." said Amy grimly "She IS Ix's daughter after all so who knows what she's up to."

"Oh Amy, you love to assume don't you?" muttered Sonic "Shade betrayed Ix, sided with us and joined in on our battle against Ix so why would she be up to anything?"

"There's a tiny possibility that she's putting up an act just to trick us and is plotting to rescue Ix from the void." thought Amy "But maybe that's just me being too cautious."

"It is little girl." said Shade coldly.

Unfortunately for Amy, she had overheard her talking to Sonic and she was shocked to hear that Amy had doubts against her and her allegiance. Shade stared Amy directly in the eye and she narrowed her eyes into furious slits of anger.

"Don't you dare accuse me of deception!" she snarled angrily, pointing sharply at Amy "When I wanted to be free from Ix, I meant it! I only did the things I did before because Ix forced me to! I never wanted to be a villain and now Ix is gone, I don't have to be a villain anymore so don't you dare accuse me of trying to deceive you all!"

"OK! OK! I'm sorry Shade!" cried Amy, quickly recoiling "Please don't punch me in the face or Blade Rush me or something along those lines!"

"That's something I would have done when I was Ix's lackey." muttered Shade "Now I'm free, I don't need to resort to needless violence just because I'm angry so I won't hurt you just for upsetting me Amy."

Amy sighed with relief. She definitely liked a good Shade much better then an evil Shade. She just needed to stop being so suspicious about her. Knuckles just put a hand on Shade's shoulder to sooth her angry nerves.

"Take it easy on Amy Shade." said Knuckles "She's been known to jump to conclusions a lot. I should know because Sonic tells me."

"I see." said Shade "I'll try to be more patient with her next time."

"And Amy is going to try and be more trustworthy of others isn't she?" asked Sonic teasingly, nudging Amy playfully with his elbow.

"Yes Sonic." muttered Amy through gritted teeth, resisting the urge to crack Sonic's head open with her hammer.

Amy's good friend Cream the Rabbit sat by the shrine with all the others and she picked some of the bright colourful flowers that grew around the back of the shrine and admired their beauty. She loved flowers after all, especially when it came to smelling them. Her pet Chao Cheese danced happily through the flower patch. He cooed ever so happily. Chao were flower lovers too and Cheese was no exception.

"Chao! Chao!" cooed Cheese happily.

"I know Cheese, these are some really pretty flowers aren't they?" said Cream, looking at a blue and white flower she held in her hand "I think I'll take some of these home and give them to mother. She'll love them."

Cheese nodded in agreement. But the Chao's smile suddenly ran away from his face as a low ominous rumble was heard in the distance. Nobody else could hear it at the moment but Cheese could. Chao have very sensitive hearing and can detect danger long before anyone else can. Cheese began to wonder what was going on and the Chao fluttered around the flower patch. Then he fluttered over to the edge of Angel Island and he peered into the distance. The Chao stared in horror at what he saw. He could see the gigantic shape that was Robotropolis flying in the air coming towards the island slowly but steadily. Even though the Northern Border of Megapolis was a long way away, you could see pretty far on top of Angel Island and Robotropolis had some strong jet turbines so it was coming to them at a decent speed. It would arrive in a matter of minutes. Cheese began to squeal like a frightened mouse and he flew around in blind panic like a frightened bee. Cream dropped her flowers and she ran over to Cheese, wondering if there was something wrong with Cheese. She gently grabbed the Chao, being careful not to grab him too roughly as Chao are sensitive and delicate.

"Cheese, whatever is the matter?" asked Cream nervously "Is there something wrong?"

"Chao! Chao! Chao!" squealed Cheese, waving an arm in the direction he'd seen Robotropolis flying to them.

Cream let go of Cheese and she looked in Cheese's direction. She saw Robotropolis coming to them and her ears straightened in surprise. The rabbit's eyes shrank down into nervous pupils of fear.

"Oh no!" she squealed "There's something really big coming towards us!"

But that was just the beginning of their worries. As Robotropolis flew closer and closer to Angel Island, it began to make loud ominous rumbles that echoed through the sky and made the buildings and scenery down below shake slightly. The rumble caught everybody's attention and they all leapt back onto their feet, wondering what the heck was going on.

"What's that noise?" cried Mandy, clutching the purple Chaos Emerald to her tighter then ever.

"It must be an earthquake!" cried Wilson "Not that it'll affect us as we're up here but I feel sorry for everybody down below!"

"I don't think it's an earthquake." said Shade "I can feel the rumbles even from up here. If it was an earthquake, we wouldn't even be feeling it."

"Then I guess it's something we don't know about." said Sonic "Let's check it out."

"Sonic, I think I've just found out what all the rumbles are about." said Tails, staring in horror at what was coming towards them "There's something really large coming towards us!"

"Say what?" asked Sonic, peering into the distance.

He could see what Tails was looking at and his eyes widened in surprise. What he saw was the very city that Dr. Eggman lived in, Robotropolis, hovering in the air like Angel Island and coming straight to them! It looked like a flying fortress and just seeing this amazing sight made Sonic wonder if he was dreaming. He quickly rubbed his eyes and blinked furiously. Then he looked again. He was not dreaming, he was actually looking at a flying city! Everybody stared in surprise at this unbelievable sight that befell them. Robotropolis, Eggman's city and base of operations, was actually flying in the air and coming towards them! Nobody knew what to do in this situation except stare in wonder. Tails and Cosmo hugged each other fearfully. Wilson and Mandy decided to do the same thing and so did Geoffrey and Bunnie. Cream held Cheese very tightly, the Chaos burying his head into her chest and Ruben just stood there, unable to move or speak. The water panther had seen many strange things in his life but none like this. Sonic, Knuckles and Shade bent down in battle ready stances and prepared to face whatever it was they were up against. After a few minutes, the floating city that Robotropolis had become arrived at Angel Island and stopped directly in front of the floating island. Everybody gaped at it, amazed at the sight and intimidated by its enormous size. Robotropolis dwarfed Angel Island easily. If the city attacked the island, the island would have no chance against it. Nobody could speak for a minute or so due to the unbelievable appearance of Robotropolis right now.

"Well trim my quills!" blurted Sonic "It's Robotropolis and it's… floating! Just like Angel Island!

"Maybe that's what that blighter was doing for two weeks!" grumbled Geoffrey "Turning Robotropolis into a flying fortress! The whole blinkin' city's airborne!"

"You know this flying city?" asked Shade.

"We do Shade." said Knuckles grimly "It's Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman's city and base of operations."

"Dr. Eggman…" mused Shade "Isn't he the very tyrant that is warring it out with Mobius right now?"

"Bingo Shade." said Sonic "Dr. Eggman's the one that we're all fighting against to prevent him from conquering our planet!"

"I see." said Shade "I heard much about him while I was in exile along with Ix and my clan. He didn't sound like much but judging by the fact his city is now airborne, I guess I underestimated him. What could he possibly be planning to do with his flying city?"

"I bet it's going to destroy Angel Island with us on it!" shrieked Ruben "We have to get off of this island and fast before we get obliterated!"

"What? And give Eggman the satisfaction of destroying Angel Island?" snorted Sonic "Over my dead body! I'd rather wait for the sky to fall then let Eggman destroy this place!"

"Just because his city is flying it doesn't mean Eggman's going to win!" yelled Knuckles "We'll just use my warp ring to warp ourselves onto the city and destroy it…"

He reached for behind his dreadlocks only to find out there was no warp ring behind them like their usually was. Knuckles then suddenly remembered something. He face-palmed himself angrily.

"Damn it! I forgot to retrieve my warp ring from Imperator Ix before I sent him into the void!" he moaned "I've lost my warp ring forever now!"

"Way to go knuckle-brain!" grumbled Sonic "I bet when Ix wakes up from his Chaos-Control he's gonna use it to warp himself back here and make chilli-sauce out of us all!"

"Nah, he needs a Super Warp Ring to get out of the void." said Knuckles "Warp rings can only cover considerable distances, they can't travel between zones. Only a Super Warp Ring can so Ix is still stuck even if he has my warp ring. Unfortunately, we can't warp ourselves onto Robotropolis because I don't have a warp ring!"

"And my warp belt is still broken." muttered Shade "I can't warp you over either."

"No problemo." said Sonic with a cocky grin on his face "We'll warp ourselves onto Robotropolis with Chaos Control. We have seven shiny trump cards and one really big shiny trump card right here so Chaos Control is easily our only option now."

"Brilliant idea Sonic!" Tails commented "One of Chaos Control's many abilities is teleportation so we can use them to warp ourselves onto Robotropolis."

But before anyone could do anything, a huge image projected out from Eggman's headquarters in the centre of the city and extended out to the front of the city so Sonic and friends could see it. The image had Dr. Eggman's face on it and he had a grin on his face that was so wide it was a wonder to anyone how it wasn't poking out of the edges of his face right now.

"Greetings Sonic and friends." he announced loudly to his enemies "Welcome to the maiden flight of Robotropolis, my old city converted into a flying fortress that has power unmatched by anything! As you can see, I really have outdone myself haven't I? I've managed to get my whole city to fly, much like how you Mobians had some how gotten Angel Island to fly!"

"Yeah, yeah, we're all really impressed by your amazing work Dr. Eggman." said Sonic who was clearly not amused at Eggman's bragging "Now do as a favour and get your flying city out of here before we have to destroy it and make you really angry again!"

"Oh, ho, ho, ho, ho Sonic you moron of nature!" laughed Dr. Eggman "Did you really think I spent all this time and effort making this city able to fly just so you can tell me to go away? Not on your miserable life! Robotropolis' flight is all part of my brand new evil plan, a plan that will go down in histories as one of my biggest triumphs ever!"

"Yeah right." scoffed Sonic "What are you gonna do like? Make Robotropolis sit on top of Angel Island?"

"No Sonic, I am going to do this!" yelled Dr. Eggman.

The holographic image of Dr. Eggman's face disappeared and Robotropolis suddenly began to go forwards. It flew forwards straight into Angel Island. It bumped the island furiously and everybody was thrown off their feet by the force of the bump. But Robotropolis didn't stop there, it continued to move forward and it started to push Angel Island. Angel Island was slowly but surely being pushed by Robotropolis. Angel Island was soon shifted away from above the crater it once sat in before it rose into the sky and being shifted to a different location by Robotropolis. Everybody picked themselves up and they quickly found out what was going on. They could feel Angel Island being pushed right under their feet.

"Tails, what's happening?" asked Cosmo worriedly, clutching Tails tightly by the shoulders.

"Eggman's making Robotropolis push Angel Island for some reason." explained Tails "Why is he doing this and what's he up to?"

"Whatever he's up to, I don't like it." said Sonic "Eggman must be pushing Angel Island for a reason and it isn't gonna be a good one! Well I'm gonna stop him before he continues pushing the island!"

"You'd better Sonic because if Eggman keeps this up, the island won't be able to stand the pressure anymore and it'll shake apart!" cried Knuckles.

Sonic did not need to be asked twice. He curled up into a spiky ball and he spin-dashed towards Robotropolis. Because Robotropolis was up close to Angel Island, Sonic could easily leap onto the city now so one spin-dash would be all he needed to get onto the flying city. But before Sonic could make it over the iron fence and gates (which had been taken with the city), Sonic hit what appeared to be an invisible wall and he ended up hurtling back onto Angel Island. He crashed into the shrine and made the Master Emerald shudder slightly. The emerald didn't fall off luckily. Sonic picked himself up ad grumbled as he rubbed his head.

"Oogah woogah, Eggman's shielded the city!" he yelled "I can't get onto Robotropolis!"

"Then we'll just have to warp ourselves onto the flying city with Chaos Control!" yelled Knuckles "Do your thing Sonic!"

Sonic obliged and he leaped onto the Master Emerald shrine and on top of the Master Emerald. But before Sonic could do anything at all, Robotropolis made Angel Island jerk slightly and Sonic fell off the shrine and onto the grass below him. Bits of earth underneath Angel Island began to rain down onto the ground after that sudden jerk. If Robotropolis kept doing that, Angel Island would crumble to bits like a broken sandcastle. Geoffrey peered into the distance and he noticed that he could now see the ocean from where he was. When Angel Island was in its original position, you could not see the ocean and the more Angel Island was pushed, the closer the ocean was to them. That obviously meant Robotropolis was attempting to push Angel Island over the ocean. That was not a very good sign at all. If Robotropolis was pushing Angel Island over the ocean then that meant…Eggman was probably attempting to sink it!

"Hey mates!" cried Geoffrey "The bloke's pushing us towards the ocean! I think I have an idea on what the blighter's up to!"

"What's that then Geoffrey?" asked Sonic, rubbing his bottom from after he fell off the shrine.

"I think he's planning to sink Angel Island with us on it!" explained Geoffrey.

"Oh my gosh!" cried Tails "He's planning to sink Angel Island?"

"That's a bit extreme, even for Dr. Eggman." muttered Sonic.

"I think there's more then just us in trouble if Angel Island sinks." said Mandy, watching the ocean get bigger and bigger as they were pushed ever closer to it "If this thing falls into the ocean, it's gonna cause the world's largest tidal wave and many of Mobius' countries and cities will be completely submerged and everybody below will drown!"

"Well we've GOT to stop him now!" cried Wilson, drawing out his trademark spinning blade weapon "Sonic, use that Chaos Control thing to get us on the city now!"

"OK, you don't have to tell me Wilson!" muttered Sonic.

But even more trouble began. Before Sonic could use the Master Emerald's power, a huge structure suddenly began to telescope up from the centre of Robotropolis and form a shape. Everybody watched the thing extend and they began to wonder what Eggman was up to now. The structure stopped extending for it had reached its full height and it was forming a shape that looked like a giant magnet that a battleship would usually have. The magnet was wider then Earth's largest satellite dish and taller then the Eiffel Tower. The magnet then suddenly began to reach forward until it was looming over the front half of Robotropolis as if it was an arm reach to grab something. The magnet stopped reaching forward and it stood still, looming above the gates of Robotropolis. And then it activated. The magnet made a loud humming sound as it activated and it aimed directly at the emerald shrine. At first, nothing seemed to happen but suddenly without warning, the six Chaos Emeralds surrounding the Master Emerald began to lift off the shrine slightly. Shade spotted this and her lilac eyes widened in surprise, a rare expression for the tough, no nonsense echidna to use.

"Knuckles, that magnet on Robotropolis is attracting the Chaos Emeralds!" yelled Shade.

"It's what?" cried Knuckles.

Mandy clutched the purple Chaos Emerald even tighter and kept away from the magnet's power as the other six Chaos Emeralds began to lift off the shrine. Then they all shot forward towards the magnet like piece of metal being attracted and they stuck to the magnet before anyone could make a leap for them. But then things started to get even more worrisome for the heroes. For not only the Chaos Emeralds were being attracted by the magnet, the Master Emerald was too! It began to lift slowly off the shrine and towards the magnet! Knuckles gasped in shock and he leaped onto the shrine. He grabbed the Master Emerald and he held it back. But the magnet was too strong. It continued to pull the Master Emerald forward. Shade could see Knuckles needed help and she joined Knuckles in keeping the emerald down. The magnet was still too strong and the two echidnas could barely keep the Master Emerald from lifting away.

"Urrrggghhh…no!" cried Knuckles as he gripped the emerald ever tighter "I'm not letting Eggman steal the Master Emerald! We must save it!"

"We need more help!" cried Shade "We're not strong enough!"

"We'll help." said Ruben, leaping onto the shrine ad clutching the Master Emerald with the two echidnas "Come on everybody! Pin the emerald down and don't let Eggman get it!"

Within a matter of seconds, everybody was up onto the emerald shrine faster then you could say "honorificabilitudinitatibus" and they all pinned the Master Emerald down to the shrine the best they could as the magnet continued to try and pull it towards itself. Mandy however, stayed back from the shrine as she didn't want to lose the only Chaos Emerald they had left and she kept it close to her chest. Amy Rose decided to try something out. She summoned her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand and aimed at the magnet. She threw the hammer at the magnet like a boomerang and the huge yellow and red mallet spiralled towards the magnet. The hammer hit the magnet but it didn't destroy it, it harmlessly pinged off of it and it fell down to the ground, not that Amy was bothered as she could summon hammers from airspace. Amy fumed angrily at the fact her plan failed. But that was the least of her worries now. Despite the combined strength of Sonic and friends, the Master Emerald was still being attracted by the magnet and all their combined strength did was just keep the Master Emerald from being pulled to it. They wouldn't be able to keep this up forever though so they needed to do something and fast. Luckily, Knuckles had an idea.

"Hey everybody!" grunted Knuckles "Push the Master Emerald off the shrine and roll it away from the magnet's range! Once we've done that, we can destroy the magnet and get the Chaos Emeralds back and save the Master Emerald from it!"

"Sounds like a plan Knuckles, let's do it to it!" yelled Sonic "Push everybody! Push!"

With that said, everybody began to push the Master Emerald towards the edge of the shrine. Knuckles, Shade, Ruben and Cream were near the edge already so they pulled the emerald to them while the others pushed while being careful not to fall off. Knuckles felt behind him with his foot and he felt the steps to the shrine. He stepped down the steps with Shade, Ruben and Cream keeping the Master Emerald steady as the others pushed it down the steps. If they stopped pushing, the Master Emerald would be attracted by the magnet so the ones pushing still had to push. Sonic, Tails, Amy, Cosmo, Wilson, Geoffrey and Bunnie all pushed as hard as they possibly could, trying to fight the strength of the magnet pulling the emerald as well as the weight of the emerald. Up on Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman watched this performance grimly as the city continued pushing Angel Island and the magnet tried to attract the Master Emerald. He wasn't pleased to see that Sonic and friends were keeping the Master Emerald out of his grasp and he thumped the arms of his chair angrily.

"No, no, no!" he cried "This cannot be! Sonic and friends are keeping the emerald out of the magnet's pull and are pushing it away from it! No! My plan is working so beautifully, I already have the Chaos Emeralds I can't lose my chance to get the Master Emerald!"

"Have you got a way of fixing this problem Eggman?" asked Alonzo.

"Yes!" growled Dr. Eggman "I'll just increase the magnet's power!"

He thrust a lever on the control pad forward and the magnet's attraction pull suddenly increased drastically. Sonic and friends had just gotten the Master Emerald down the first few steps of the shrine until suddenly, the magnet's pull increased and the Master Emerald began to push them back. The range of the magnet also increased too and Mandy could feel the emerald in her hands being tugged slightly so she stepped further back to get out of its range. The Master Emerald began to push Sonic and friends back across the shrine and the Mobians just tried pushing ever harder. They felt like they were trying to push a fully grown elephant due to how strong the magnet's pull on the Master Emerald was. Knuckles, Shade, Ruben and Cream tried pulling harder as Sonic and friends tried pushing but their efforts were futile. The magnet's pull was just too strong. Sonic then suddenly gave way and he fell forward onto his face. That was enough to weaken the push of everybody and the Master Emerald was suddenly yanked from the Mobian's grasps. Knuckles, Shade, Ruben and Cream all fell forward as the Master Emerald was pulled from them and it hurtled over Sonic, Tails, Amy, Cosmo, Wilson, Geoffrey and Bunnie's heads. The Master Emerald sailed through the air and it attached itself straight onto the magnet. Now that was done, the magnet retracted back into it's original housing spot before anyone could try and retrieve the emeralds and it retracted back down into the ground, taking the emeralds with it. Dr. Eggman had successfully stolen the Chaos Emeralds and the Master Emerald. Not only that, Robotropolis had finished pushing the island over the ocean. Angel Island now loomed over the wide stretching waters that surrounded the many countries of Mobius. If Angel Island fell then countries such as Downunda would end up becoming the city of Atlantis. And now the Master Emerald had been stolen, there was a likely chance that it would happen. Robotropolis hovered slowly away from Angel Island and Dr. Eggman's face reappeared in front of the city in holographic form. Dr. Eggman laughed gloatingly at his defeated enemies. Sonic just scowled angrily at Dr. Eggman. He looked like he was about ready to kill him now.

"I bet you didn't expect that to happen did you my ridiculous resistors?" crowed Dr. Eggman "I've stolen all the emeralds and pushed Angel Island over the ocean! If I remember correctly, doesn't the Master Emerald keep Angel Island afloat or something like that?"

"It does Eggman and now you've stolen it it's going to fall!" bellowed Knuckles angrily "You give the emerald back now or I'll tear your city to the ground bit by bit!"

"Oh Knuckles, why ever would I put all this time and effort into stealing the emeralds just so you can have them back afterwards?" sneered Eggman "I'm not stupid you know! I need these emeralds for much dire purposes then you Mobian mongrels do so they're mine now! I hope you enjoy your dip into the ocean because it's probably the last thing you'll get once the island drops! T.T.F.N Mobians! And that of course stands for "Ta, Ta for now!"!"

He exploded with laughter and the holo-image of his face switched off. Robotropolis, with a mighty roar of the jet turbines, turned around and left Angel Island. It flew away from the doomed island and left it to drop into the ocean like a falling stone. After a matter of minutes, Robotropolis disappeared into the distance and Sonic and friends were just left standing around wondering what to do.

"What are we gonna do Mr. Sonic?" squealed Cream "Angel Island' s going to fall into the ocean and we're going down with it! We're all gonna die aren't we?"

"Not if we can all get off this thing before it falls." said Sonic "You, Tails and Bunnie can easily fly us all off in a jiffy so we're safe."

"But what about Angel Island?" asked Ruben "The island's going to fall and it'll cause a tidal wave that'll sweep over everything it can reach! We can't let Angel Island submerge our countries and kill everybody! We need to save the island or half of Mobius will be underwater!"

"Angel Island's lost to us Ruben." muttered Knuckles in an obviously defeated tone as he punched the floor of the shrine angrily "The Master Emerald and all the Chaos Emeralds have been stolen and they're the only things that can keep it afloat. It won't float with anything else so the island is doomed!"

"Not yet Knuckles." purred Mandy with a sly grin on her face.

"What do you mean you crazy mouse?" cried Knuckles frantically "All the emeralds have been stolen so Angel Island won't float now they're gone!"

"Not all of them have been stolen knuckle boy." crowed Mandy, proudly showing Knuckles the purple Chaos Emerald she had been allowed to keep by him personally.

Knuckles's jaw dropped in surprise.

"Oh…my…gosh!" he blurted "You…you managed to save one of them Mandy! You've saved the whole island!"

"Well you did say I could keep this emerald and I kept hold of it the whole time." said Mandy casually "So it's a good thing you let me otherwise Mobius would be getting submerged right now."

"No wonder I love you so much Mandy." said Wilson proudly with a look of totally joy on his face "You are an amazing girl you are."

"Oh please Wilson, I saved us all because of my love for jewels and Knuckles's generosity." said Mandy modestly "It wasn't because of how "amazing" I am."

"No matter, you're still amazing to me." said Wilson kindly.

Mandy just giggled at Wilson's comment and she wondered over to the Master Emerald shrine. She placed the purple Chaos Emerald in the centre of the shrine and she stepped back from it. The emerald began to glow a bright violet colour. That meant the Chaos Emerald's power was working and it was keeping the island afloat just like the Master Emerald did.

"Will this Chaos Emerald be enough to keep Angel Island afloat?" asked Mandy.

"Angel Island will stay afloat with even a fragment of a Chaos Emerald." said Knuckles "Chaos Emeralds are powerful no matter how small they are, it's just the Master Emerald has more power because it's larger and can be used for other things such as cleansing Dark Chaos Energy and keeping the island from being pushed downwards."

"So as long as the Chaos Emerald is on the shrine, it'll stay afloat." said Mandy "Wow, those gems really are amazing aren't they?"

"They certainly are." said Shade "Pity they can be used for bad just as much as they can be used for good as Imperator Ix demonstrated for us yesterday."

"I know." said Knuckles "That's one of the reasons my father merged them into seven. Thousands of Chaos Emeralds would be too much for even Sonic in his super form or me in my Chaos form to handle should somebody have them all and since there are less Chaos Emeralds now, less people can use them for evil. Although it would be nice if we had thousands of spare Chaos Emeralds should we lose the seven there are now so we'd never run out."

"Oh well, there's seven Chaos Emeralds and that's all there is to it." said Sonic "Now we've got to get to Robotropolis and get the emeralds back before Eggman can use their power for anything bad!"

"I know." said Knuckles "We'll use the purple Chaos Emerald Mandy saved to Chaos Control ourselves over to the city. Once there, we'll get them all back and Chaos Control ourselves back here."

"Sounds like we have a plan then." said Sonic "In that case, let's go everybody! We've got some emeralds to save from Eggman's clutches!"

With that said, everybody prepared for this perilous mission. Sonic leaped onto the shrine, touched the Chaos Emerald and he yelled at the top of his voice.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

The purple Chaos Emerald glowed a very bright violet glow that could have blinded anybody. Then the emerald's glow died down and a portal opened up in mid-air. On the other side of that portal would be either inside Robotropolis, outside of Robotropolis or hundreds of feet away from Robotropolis. Either way, they'd be at Robotropolis no matter what happened.

"Robotropolis is on the other side of that portal guys!" announced Sonic "Let's do it to it everybody! The fate of Mobius is in our hands now!"

And with that, Sonic quickly leaped through the portal. Tails twisted his tails around one another and they spun around like a helicopter's rotor blades. He flew into the portal after Sonic. Amy climbed up the shrine and she leaped into the portal after Tails. Cream flapped her ears and took flight. She flew into the portal after Amy and Cosmo leaped in after Cream by climbing up the shrine and leaping through it. Bunnie activated her rockets in her roboticized feet and she flew into the portal. Ruben did a somersault and leaped into the portal. Geoffrey leaped into the portal after Bunnie, Wilson and Mandy both leaped into the portal together and Shade climbed up the shrine and leaped into the portal after them. Knuckles took one last look at Angel Island before he left.

"Don't worry Angel Island, I'll save you." he said "The Master Emerald will be retrieved and you will be back over the land where you belong."

With that said, Knuckles leaped off the shrine and straight through the portal, leaving the purple Chaos Emerald behind on the shrine to keep the island afloat. The portal closed behind Knuckles and vanished into thin air, leaving no trace of its existence anywhere on the island…

Meanwhile, Robotropolis had returned back to the Northern Border of Megapolis and it had settled back down onto the ground where it belonged. It slotted neatly back into the crater that was left in the ground after it had taken off and it looked like it had never flown or moved from it's spot at all. Now the city had landed, Dr. Eggman got up from his chair and he began to crow to himself.

"Brilliant with a big capital B!" he said to himself "Absolutely brilliant! Absolutely B-R-I-L-L-I-A-N-T! Brilliant! The plan worked to absolute and complete perfection! I really am a genius! An absolute genius! I am really the most brilliant mind in the universe! Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!"

"I know you are master." said Alonzo in a fake tone of loyalty "You got Robotropolis to fly and now you've stolen the Master Emerald and the Chaos Emeralds. The question is what was all this for anyway?"

"Well I wanted to get rid of Angel Island so that even if Sonic managed to save the Master Emerald, there's no Angel Island to deliver it back to so his save will be all for naught." explained Dr. Eggman "And I wanted to use the power of the emeralds to power up my city and hidden Egg-Fleet so they'll be unstoppable!"

"You have a hidden Egg-Fleet?" piped Alonzo "Well blow my circuits! How long have you had a hidden fleet for?"

"Since Robotropolis was first built." said Dr. Eggman "I had my robots secretly build a fleet of battleships after Robotropolis' construction so that as a last resort I can use them to destroy the cities of Mobius and roboticize everybody in one fell swoop! They're hiding in a hidden hangar bay on Robotropolis' left hand side and waiting to be launched! And with the power of the emeralds I've just stolen, they'll be even stronger and harder to destroy so Sonic and friends won't have an ounce of a chance against my brilliance! Mobius will tremble before me once my fleet begins its maiden voyage at long last!

"Why didn't you tell me about this before?" asked Alonzo.

"I didn't think you'd be thrilled." said Dr. Eggman "And I wanted it to be another surprise but I've gone and spoilt it for you now."

"Oh don't worry, I'll still act surprised when I see it in motion." said Alonzo.

"Very well." said Dr. Eggman "Now, let's see our horde shall we?"

Alonzo nodded and the two went into an elevator. The elevator took them all the way down to the bottom floor of Eggman's headquarters and once the elevator arrived, Eggman and Alonzo stepped out of it and they wondered into the room. There, in the centre of the room displayed proudly before them were the Master Emerald and the Chaos Emeralds. They all glowed a bright, powerful, majestic glow in unison and Dr. Eggman was amazed at their brightness. He strode over to them proudly and he admired them with awe.

"Look at them Alonzo!" he purred "All these powerful gems are now in my grasp! The seven Chaos Emeralds gave Egg-Dragon plenty of power* so imagine how much power all seven emeralds and the Master Emerald will be together!"

"No one will defeat us with all that power." said Alonzo lowly "Not even Sonic the Hedgehog or his friends or even his enemies Marik the Martian and Scourge the Hedgehog."

"I know Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman evilly "Eight emeralds all brimming with power and they're all…"

He was suddenly cut off when he noticed something was wrong. He looked at the glorious, glowing emeralds and he counted them. He only had seven emeralds when he should have eight, seven Chaos Emeralds and the Master Emerald. There was a Chaos Emerald missing for Mandy had saved one from being stolen. Dr. Eggman immediately began to throw a fit of anger.

"NO!" he bellowed whiningly "THIS CANNOT BE! I'M MISSING A CHAOS EMERALD! AND JUST WHEN IT LOOKED LIKE MY VICTORY WAS CERTAIN! I DON'T BELIEVE IT!"

"There's a Chaos Emerald missing?" asked Alonzo "How is that possible?"

"I bet Sonic or one of his friends managed to save it from the magnet's pull!" raged Dr. Eggman "I bet they're using the emerald to keep Angel Island afloat or something like that! The Chaos Emeralds are very similar to the Master Emerald so I bet they can keep the island afloat! Not to mention Sonic and friends can Chaos Control themselves over here with the Chaos Emerald and try and steal these back from me!"

"Well we should prepare for their arrival sir." said Alonzo "We'll be one step ahead of them then."

"I know." said Eggman "Get Silver Sonic online, get Katherine and Mecha Rouge into position and order my troops to prepare themselves for Sonic and his friends' arrival!"

"Yes sir!" said Alonzo, zipping off quickly on his little wheels.

He zoomed up into the elevator and took it back up to the top floor where the controls were so he could give the orders and prepare Silver Sonic for action. As he took the elevator up to the room, Alonzo began to think to himself about Eggman's recent revelations and what he'd just been told. The news on him having a hidden fleet of ships seemed to interest him a lot.

So the fat man has a fleet does he? he purred to himself Well, that revelation can play into my plans easily. Once Eggman launches that fleet, he'll be going down with it and I can make my move while he's gone! Excellent! I'm getting a lot of good fortune recently aren't I?

Alonzo smiled to himself as the elevator reached the top floor and the door opened up to let him into the control room. He was looking forward to the launch of Eggman's fleet. It was just a wonder on when he was going to launch it. Until then, he'd have to keep playing servant bot and once the fleet was in motion, he could make his deadly move at long last…

Just outside the gates of Robotropolis, a Chaos Portal opened up and Sonic the Hedgehog leaped out of it. He stopped just in front of the gates and realized that the portal had taken them to just outside the city gates. He looked down at his feet and noticed he was standing firmly upon solid ground, meaning the city had landed back in it's original spot and was no longer in the air. Shortly after Sonic had appeared through the portal, all the others that followed him appeared just behind him out of the still open portal. The moment the last Mobian had appeared through the portal, the portal closed behind them and vanished into thin air.

"OK everybody, we're here." said Sonic the Hedgehog "Eggman's stinkin' city Robotropolis back in its original place before it was able to fly."

"Whether it's in the air or on the ground we can all agree it's still a hideous place." scoffed Mandy, sticking her tongue out at the city "I always hate it when I have to set foot in this place."

"Well whether you like it or not luv, we have to set foot in Robotropolis." said Geoffrey "The emeralds that Eggman has stolen are on the other side of those gates and we need to get them back or Eggman will use them for some unknown purpose that could spell doom on us all."

"I know." said Mandy "If the Master Emerald can keep a whole island afloat then who knows what else it can be used for?"

"That's why we're gonna get the Master Emerald and the Chaos Emeralds back guys and gals." said Sonic determinedly "And I have a plan. We'll all go into the city and create as much ruckus as possible and Shade will go in and find the emeralds and retrieve them."

"Me?" said Shade in surprise "I'm honoured hedgehog but why have you given me the task of retrieving the emeralds?"

"I thought you'd wanna do the hero thing for today since you're one of us now and no longer Ix's lackey." said Sonic "Seems fair for you to save the emeralds on your first mission with the good guys doesn't it?"

"It does." said Shade "Thank you Sonic. I'll try not to let the team down on this mission."

"Don't sweat it Shade." said Sonic supportively "You've got all your new friends behind ya so you won't fail."

Shade had a feeling that Sonic was right. Sonic and all his friends would be watching her back so she wouldn't have to worry about failing because if she failed, Sonic or one of his friends would be able to back her up in no time.

"OK then team, let's do it to it." said Sonic "Bunnie, if you please." he added, steeping to the side and bowing down with his arm pointed at the gates.

"It'll be mah pleasure sugah-hog." said Bunnie, flexing her robot arm.

She drew her powerful robotic limb back and she swiftly punched the iron gates clean open, leaving Robotropolis exposed for Sonic and friends.

"After you Sonic." said Bunnie politely.

"Suit yourself Bunnie." said Sonic "Let's go everybody!"

With that said, he charged into the city at his trademark speed and everybody else ran after him as fast as they could. The robot population of Robotropolis were already on guard, primed and ready for Sonic's arrival. Now he and his friends had arrived, they began to let loose an array of laser fire at the team. Sonic wasn't too surprised by the sudden attacks as he had a feeling Eggman knew he was already coming, nor was he even intimidated by them. Sonic spin-dashed through the air and he destroyed a couple of Egg-Pawns. The Egg-Pawns fell off the building they stood upon and fell down to the ground. Sonic landed on the ground and he turned around to face his team.

"Tails, Knuckles, Shade, you three come with me into Eggman's base!" ordered Sonic "Everybody else, keep the locals occupied!"

Tails, Knuckles and Shade obeyed Sonic's order and they ran forward towards Sonic. That just left Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Ruben, Wilson, Mandy, Geoffrey and Bunnie to cause as much trouble as they possibly could. Sonic zoomed on towards Eggman's base with Tails flying after him and the two echidnas to run after him as fast as they could. The robot forces tried to stop the hedgehog, fox and echidnas from getting to Eggman's base but Bunnie flew into the air and blasted them with her arm cannon. The robots were obliterated by Bunnie's powerful attacks.

"Yee-Haw!" cheered Bunnie as she flew around in the air like a happy little bird "There's nothin' better then smashing Eggman's play things! Ha, ha, ha!"

She flew off to attack some other robots. Five Egg-Pawns all armed with lances and shields charged up to Ruben, ready to stick their lances into his tiny little body and skewer him like a kebab. But Ruben thrust his arms forward and let them have it with a wave of water. The Egg-Pawns were all swept off their feet and sent sliding across the ground but they didn't malfunction as Eggman had made all his robots water proof knowing that Ruben would be a danger to him because of his powers.

"I may not be able to short-circuit you robots." said Ruben as two more Egg-Pawns ran up to him ready to skewer him with their lances "But it doesn't mean I can't push you all around as much as I like!"

He thrust his arm up as if he was throwing a baseball in underarm and the two Egg-Pawns ended up getting it directly in the face with a ball of water. The two were knocked off their feet and before they could get up, Ruben jumped on them and stomped on their heads, killing them instantly. Another Egg-Pawn tried to seize Ruben but the water panther tail-whipped the robot and knocked it off its feet. Getting tail-whipped by Ruben was like getting whipped by an actual whip. Ruben then proceeded to stomp on that pawn's head just to destroy it and leave it offline. As for Amy, she summoned her trademark Piko-Piko hammer to her hand and she waited for four robots that looked like praying mantises with Gatling guns on their backs and blades for hands to come towards her. The mantis bots buzzed loudly as neared Amy and they prepared to slice her to bite-size chunks. Amy leaped into the air and hammered one of the mantis bots in the head, sending it spiralling into one of its comrades and knocking it out of the sky. The stricken mantis crashed into the ground side-first and lay there, beaten and useless. The mantis bot that Amy had hammered regained its senses and tried to attack Amy again. However, Cream threw Cheese at the mantis bot and the Chao knocked the mantis right out of the sky. It crashed onto the ground and Amy hammered its head into pieces. The last two mantis bots crept up behind Amy and they attempted to chop her to pieces with their blade hands. Before they could get close enough, Cosmo scooped up some debris from the other mantis bots and she threw the pieces at the oncoming duo. The pieces hit the mantis bots directly in the optics, destroying them and rendering them unable to see. The stricken robots flew around in blind circled and before they knew what was happening, they collided in mid-air and they ended up destroying each other and falling to the ground in pieces. Amy saw what Cosmo had done and she was impressed.

"Nice going Cosmo." said Amy with a thumbs up Sonic style "You took them out just by blinding them."

"Thank you Amy." said Cosmo "I guess Sonic was right when he said to me all I need is something to throw and I'm good to go."

"You certainly are." said Amy "Now let's show some of these goons our Twirling-Hammer-Batter move shall we?"

"Yes Miss Rose." said Cream "Although you really need to come up with a better name for it like Mr. Sonic says. Twirling-Hammer-Batter sounds a bit cheesy."

Amy resisted the urge to crack Cream's head open for that. Cream flapped her long floppy ears and she flew off the ground. She grabbed Cosmo and picked her up off the ground and Cosmo grabbed Amy as Cream lifted her off the ground. Cream was now carrying Cosmo and Amy off the ground. Amy held her hammer tightly and waited for Cream to start spinning her and Cosmo around. A group of Egg-Pawns armed with laser pistols instead of lances this time and more mantis-bots advanced on the girls. Cream started to spin Cosmo and Amy around in a perfect circle the moment the robots began to get close to them. Cream edged towards the robots as she spun Cosmo and Amy around and Amy hammered the robots that were foolish enough to stand still and wait for something to happen. The Egg-Pawns were sent flying into the air and they crashed into a couple of buildings. The mantis-bots had no better luck as they were quickly destroyed by the girl's incredible attack the moment they flew in too close to them. Cream stopped spinning the girls around and she put them down on the ground. Amy punched the air with her first in triumph.

"Oh yeah! Team Rose rules!" she cheered.

Cosmo and Cream just looked at each other in wonder.

"Team Rose?" questioned Cosmo.

"Maybe Amy's giving us a team name now." suggested Cream "I don't mind, Team Rose sounds nice I think."

Cosmo nodded agreeably. She, Amy and Cream were like a team after all what with the three of them forming an attack together and Team Rose was a fitting name as rose was the name of a flower, something Cosmo liked and Amy's surname was Rose so Team Rose was staying. As for Wilson and Mandy, the two were having no trouble against the robots trying to attack them. Mandy had slipped on her brass knuckle attachments which she still had with her and those attachments made her able to punch robots without giving herself a sore first. She let loose a flurry of punches on an Egg-Pawn drone armed with a mallet. She punched the robot in the face, heavily denting it thanks to her knuckle attachments and then she kicked it in the gut. The robot double over and croaked robotically and Mandy slammed downwards on the back of the robot's head, just about taking its head off. The robot dropped its mallet and Mandy picked it up. Luckily for her, the mallet was just light enough for her to use so she smashed the Egg-Pawn to pieces with it. The Egg-Pawn lay in pieces on the ground. Another Egg-Pawn tried to shoot her but Mandy threw the mallet at it and the mallet knocked the Egg-Pawn over. Mandy ran up to the downed Egg-Pawn and furiously punched its face in. The knuckle attachments made her punches all the more harder and Mandy managed to kill the robot after punching its face in so hard she caused damage to its electronic brain in its head and that in turn made the Egg-Pawn go offline. Mandy smirked triumphantly but her victory was short-lived. Two giant Egg-Pawns armed with really big mallets stomped into the battle and they looked furious with Mandy. They raised their hammers and they tried to smash the mouse into pieces. Mandy leaped back and left the robots to leave a hammer imprint on the ground.

"Yikes!" she cried "I won't be able to take guys THAT big on, even with my knuckle attachments! I'm gonna have to use my brain for this if I'm to defeat them."

But Mandy wouldn't need to do so as Wilson stepped in with his trademark spinning blade weapon. He threw the weapon at an Egg-Pawn's hammer and the spinning blade weapon chopped the hammer's head off its stick, rendering the giant weapon useless. The weapon boomeranged back to Wilson and the dog threw it again, this time at the other Egg-Pawn's hammer. The double-bladed pole chopped the hammer's head off and left the Egg-Pawn with a useless hammer. The two Egg-Pawns grumbled furiously and they tried to whack Wilson with the hammer sticks they were left with. Wilson yelped and he dodged their attack. The two sticks slammed on the ground just as Wilson dodged and the dog jumped onto one of the Egg-Pawn's arms. He threw his spinning-blade at the Egg-Pawn's optics and the weapon impaled itself into the pawn's optics. The Egg-Pawn was blinded and it immediately began to panic. Wilson grabbed his weapon and yanked it out of the pawn's optics. The Egg-Pawn began to flail its hammer stick around madly. Wilson leaped off the Egg-Pawn, leaving it to blindly flail about and wave its stick everywhere. The other Egg-Pawn stupidly whacked the blind Egg-Pawn with its stick just to try and calm it down but it ended up knocking the Egg-Pawn out instead. The blind Egg-Pawn lay on its back, offline for the time-being. The other Egg-Pawn began to look around for Wilson and Mandy but the dog and mouse were behind it so it wouldn't find them. Wilson threw his weapon at the Egg-Pawn and the weapon carved its head in two as it sawed its way through it. The Egg-Pawn collapsed onto the ground, dead as a doornail. Wilson and Mandy gave off a pair of triumphant smirks and they high-fived each other.

"That's why we're such a good team Wilson." said Mandy brightly "Our weapons are great but our team-spirit is even greater."

"I couldn't have said that better myself gorgeous." said Wilson with a wide grin on his face "When we're together, no Eggman robot has a chance against us."

Not far from where they were, Geoffrey St. John was taking on a group of robots that were shaped like gophers and they were armed with sharp teeth and claws. They were not Robians but they were equally as deadly. The gophers swiped at Geoffrey but the skunk dodged their attacks with ease and the skunk fired some darts at them. The darts embedded themselves into the thick armour hide of the robo-gophers and they exploded in unison after Geoffrey pressed a button on his crossbow to make them go off. The robo-gophers were destroyed by the darts the moment they exploded. The skunk smirked at them as they collapsed to the ground, smoking heavily.

"Eggman robots: they're fun to destroy." he sneered to himself.

A bunch of Egg-Pawns ran up to Geoffrey and they attempted to skewer him with their lances but they missed as the skunk dodged them and Geoffrey drop-kicked two of them in the back. The two Egg-Pawns fell over onto their faces and they dropped their lances. Geoffrey kicked them both into the other charging Egg-Pawns and they bowled the charging pawns over. Geoffrey fired a dart into one of the Egg-Pawns' head and he set it off to explode. The dart exploded and the Egg-Pawn was destroyed. Three Egg-Pawns tried to kill Geoffrey but Geoffrey gave one of them an upwards chop that startled the bot momentarily and then he grabbed it by its arm. He threw the pawn into another pawn and the two bowled over one another. The skunk laughed at the pathetic Egg-Pawns, he had this fight in the bag easily. He just hoped Sonic, Tails, Knuckles and Shade were having as easy a time as he and the others were.

As for Sonic, Tails, Knuckles and Shade, they had busted effortlessly into Eggman's headquarters and they found themselves in a huge empty room. Sonic knew he couldn't trust this place, especially after the Mecha fight he had during the Egg-Timer mission* so he kept his senses alert.

"OK Shade, since you're saving the day you go on ahead." ordered

Sonic "We'll keep any possible rabble off your back."

"Very well." said Shade "I'll do my best Sonic the Hedgehog."

So Shade ran on and disappeared through a door and out of sight. As Shade disappeared, Knuckles looked at Sonic unsurely.

"Are you sure about sending Shade on her own like that?" asked Knuckles "She hasn't had an experience with Eggman like we have so she won't be as prepared as we are."

"Shade can kick your butt so I can safely say she'll have no problems with Eggman Knuckie." said Sonic casually "Besides, we'll be keeping Eggman's forces busy so he won't see Shade coming."

"Let's hope your right because if you aren't, I'll slaughter you Sonic!" growled Knuckles.

"Whatever." said Sonic cheekily.

Then suddenly, Dr. Eggman's voice boomed from an intercom somewhere in the room, making everybody jump.

"Hello once again Sonic, Tails and Knuckles!" boomed Dr. Eggman, his voice rumbling around the room like an annoying noise "Should I be surprised as to why you're all here, trespassing on my property again?"

"No Egghead." scoffed Sonic "You give us our emeralds back and we'll postpone our daily robot-destroying for the day."

"If you want my emeralds Sonic, you'll have to take them!" sneered Dr. Eggman "And unluckily for you, I have a huge obstacle for you to overcome!"

Just as he said that, the wall on the far side of the room suddenly began trembling and then suddenly, it caved in and fell down to the ground. Out of the wall emerged a terrifying robot that stared down at them ominously with its evil optics. It was an eight foot tall robot that strongly resembled Sonic the Hedgehog. It had orange eyes that burned in a black visor, huge sharp blades on its head and back instead of quills, large clawed hands, a sharp black nose, red feet with a pair of small wheels on either foot, gold details around the legs and a very shiny silver coat of metal. This behemoth of a machine was of course, Silver Sonic, Metal Sonic's pet robot from his altered timeline which no longer existed thanks to Tails erasing it. Dr. Eggman still remembered Silver Sonic as he had memory of the alter timeline just like Tails and he had decided to rebuild it as he thought the design was lethal enough to take on Sonic. Tails almost had a heart-attack at the sight of the machine as many bad memories began to come back to him but he knew that Sonic wouldn't know what Silver Sonic was as the altered timeline was erased and Sonic didn't exist in it so he never got to see Silver Sonic. Instead, he acted like he'd never seen the robot before. Sonic however, looked strangely excited as Silver Sonic loomed above him.

"Oh yeah! Now we're talking! A proper robot for me to tango with!" chuckled Sonic "This is going to be awesome!"

"You won't think it's so awesome when Silver Sonic cleaves you in two Sonic!" crowed Dr. Eggman "Silver Sonic, dissect them bit by bit!"

Silver Sonic obeyed and it spin-dashed towards Team Sonic. Sonic leaped out of its way just as the huge spin-dashing machine hurtled past him. It was like dancing death with a saw-blade as Silver Sonic hurtled past him. Silver Sonic skidded to a halt and he charged back towards Sonic. Knuckles leaped into the air and gave the huge machine an upper-cut to the chin. Silver Sonic rubbed its chin and he clawed at Knuckles. Silver Sonic missed Knuckles completely and Knuckles grabbed its claws. He pulled on Silver Sonic's claws and pulled the machine down on its knees. Silver Sonic was quick to react though by lifting it's arm off the ground, taking Knuckles with it as Knuckles didn't let go of it's claws, and he stood up to his full height. Silver Sonic grabbed Knuckles with his other hand and it proceeded to try and squeeze the echidna to death. Sonic spin-dashed Silver Sonic in the head and knocked him over onto his back. Silver Sonic dropped Knuckles as he toppled over and the echidna landed on his feet. Silver Sonic picked himself up and looked around for Sonic. Tails flew in and kick-slammed the robot in the forehead. Silver Sonic wasn't affected by the attack whatsoever and he swatted Tails out of the air and into the floor. Tails landed painfully on the floor and Silver Sonic raised his foot, ready to squash him flat. Sonic spin-dashed Silver Sonic's leg and caused the machine to lose balance. Silver Sonic fell over onto its side and it groaned a robotic groan. Silver Sonic picked himself up and Sonic spin-dashed towards him. Silver Sonic grabbed Sonic while he was in spin-dash and the silver Sonic clone threw Sonic into a wall. Knuckles punched at Silver Sonic's foot but the machine wasn't affected by the attack and he kicked Knuckles away for the attack. Knuckles hurtled through the air and he landed painfully on his back. Silver Sonic then spin-dashed towards Knuckles but Sonic spin-dashed Silver Sonic in the side and knocked him off course. Silver Sonic instead ended up crashing into the wall, going straight through it and leaving a huge hole in it. Silver Sonic picked himself out of the hole and he stomped towards Sonic. Sonic spin-dashed Silver Sonic in the chest but all that did was make Silver Sonic stagger. Sonic spin-dashed Silver Sonic again but Silver Sonic swatted him away. Tails tried to distract Silver Sonic by flying in front of his visor and blocking his vision but he failed as Silver Sonic leaned forward and head-butted him. Tails hurtled straight down towards the ground but Sonic caught him quickly before he could crash into the floor. Tails groaned dizzily and Sonic helped him to stand up.

"That's one tough bot isn't it Tails?" asked Sonic.

"It sure is." said Tails "Not to mention big and scary too. Eggman's put a lot of effort into this one hasn't he?"

"It's no Metal Sonic but it's still a toughie." said Sonic "We'll destroy that thing if we carry on trying. Or at least we could try and hold out until Shade retrieves the emeralds and then we can just flee for it."

"I hope we can last that long." said Tails as Silver Sonic started playing cat-and-mouse with Knuckles.

Silver Sonic chased Knuckles around the room but he couldn't catch him. Knuckles gave up the chase and he leaped into the air. He pile-dived Silver Sonic in the pelvis section and Silver Sonic ended up falling over onto his face. Knuckles then grabbed Silver Sonic's arm and tried to tear it off but Silver Sonic raised his arm and flung Knuckles away. Knuckles crashed into a wall and Silver Sonic picked himself up. Sonic spin-dashed Silver Sonic in the shoulder and knocked him backwards slightly. Tails tried to attack Silver Sonic again but Silver Sonic clawed at him and narrowly missed, making the fox retreat quickly. Sonic and Silver Sonic then spin-dashed towards each other but Silver Sonic, being the bigger opponent, easily had the stronger spin-dash and Silver Sonic sent Sonic hurling into a corner. Sonic crashed into the corner and he grimaced in pain. Silver Sonic the advanced on Sonic with his claws bared. Sonic picked himself up and prepared to attack Silver Sonic once again as the robot prepared to snatch him up and slaughter him…

Further down the corridor, Shade the Echidna was still running around in search for the emeralds. She had no idea where to look for the emeralds but she was determined to find them, no matter what the problem was. Seeing as she had no idea where the emeralds could possibly be, Shade decided to just search in anything she came across. She came across a door as she ran down the corridor and she flung it open. The room was just a storage room full of robot parts and toolkits. Shade closed the door and ran on further down the corridor. She came across another door and she flung it open. This door led to a room that was completely empty. Shade sighed exasperatedly and she slammed the door shut. Shade ran on even further down the corridor. She came across two large doors marked with the Eggman Empire logo and she decided to look through them. The door had a control pad which was the only way to open the door. Shade knew she wouldn't be able to open the door with the pad as she had no idea what the code could possibly be so instead she drew out her twin blade weapons and she Blade Rushed the door down. After one quick Blade Rush attack, the doors were busted down and Shade was free to go into the room. A glorious sight met her beautiful lilac eyes. The Master Emerald and the six Chaos Emeralds Eggman had stolen were all sitting there in the middle of the room, just waiting for her to retrieve.

"I've found the emeralds." Shade said to herself "But I don't feel good about this situation. It looks too easy. I don't know Dr. Eggman but I have a feeling he's not the kind of person who would willingly leave things out in the open for Sonic and his friends to take. There must be some kind of trap in here and I don't want to spring it. I'll have to be very careful here."

So Shade kept her blades at the ready and she crept into the room as silently as she possibly could. Her senses were on high alert for any possible signs of a booby trap or anything that could trigger a booby trap. The room appeared to be completely normal but Shade knew that just because everything looked normal it didn't mean it was. For all she knew, there could be an invisible trigger or something. She continued to creep slowly into the room with her blades raised. There didn't appear to be any traps and she was very nearly at the emeralds. Just a few more steps and she could grab them. But before Shade could get any closer, two robots jumped down from the ceiling and they stood guard in front of the emeralds. Shade leapt back and she raised her weapons. The two robots were Mecha Rouge, Eggman's roboticized lackey, and Katherine, Eggman's female warden bot from the now destroyed Sentinel Blockade. Mecha Rouge had had her wings repaired from her scuffle with the Northern Royal Fighters and Katherine had been repaired from the destruction of the Sentinel Blockade so the two robots were in fully working order once again. Shade was not intimidated by the robots in anyway. She just saw them as pathetic obstacles for her to step on.

"So this is the security in here." said Shade as she observed them "They seem adequate enough. No matter, I have a task to do and I will not back down from it."

With that said, she leaped towards the robots and her blade weapons began to glow purple.

"Blade Rush!" she yelled, slashing the two robots with her energy enhances blades.

Mecha Rouge and Katherine were both stricken by the attack and they were sent hurling to the side. Shade leaped onto the Master Emerald but before she could do anything with it, Katherine fired a bladed-disc at her. The disc skimmed Shade across the chest, leaving a long thin tear in her black bodysuit and making the echidna scream in pain. She clutched her chest and felt the long thin cut that Katherine had just made with her attack. Mecha Rouge leaped up and screw-kicked Shade in the back, knocking her clean off the Master Emerald.

"Sorry-hon-ey-but-the-Master-Emerald-be-longs-to-Dr.-Egg-Man." droned Mecha Rouge "You-will-keep-off-it-or-I-will-tear-your-limbs-off."

Shade picked herself up and gave Mecha Rouge an epic death glare that could give any faint-hearted person a heart attack due to how scary she looked.

"The Master Emerald belongs to Angel Island and I am taking it back." said Shade coldly "Do not make me have to resort to violence because I will exterminate you both if you try to stop me!"

"You-are-the-one-that-is-going-to-be-ex-ter-min-ated." droned Mecha Rouge "Pre-pare-to-have-your-limbs-torn-off-foolish-echidna."

She bared her claws and advanced on Shade menacingly. Shade just raised her weapons and prepared to do battle.

"Fine, you have chosen your fate." she said icily "Don't say I didn't give you a chance to comply."

Mecha Rouge leaped on Shade with her claws out. She grabbed Shade by the arms and the two ended up falling onto the floor. They skidded across it briefly before Shade managed to push her lower body up off the floor and shove Mecha Rouge off of herself with her feet. Mecha Rouge ended up hurling into a wall and she slid slowly back down to the floor. Shade leaped back onto her feet just as Katherine ran up to her, ready to tear her to pieces. Shade slammed her weapons together and gave Katherine an uppercut with them both. The weapons left very long, deep cuts on Katherine's face and chest and the warden bot groaned robotically in pain. Shade then roundhouse kicked Katherine and sent the silent fem-bot falling down onto the floor. Mecha Rouge screw-kicked Shade from behind and knocked the Nocturnus survivor on to her stomach. Mecha Rouge then grabbed Shade's arm and she pulled on it. She pressed Shade's body down to the floor by putting her foot on her back and while holding Shade down, she pulled on her arm. She was trying to tear it clean out of its socket. Shade clenched her teeth and she grimaced tensely, trying to ignore the pain in her arm as Mecha Rouge pulled on it and tried to tear it off. Shade however, still had one of her blades in her hand. She aimed it at Mecha Rouge and she swung the blade at her. A pink energy wave hurtled into Mecha Rouge's face and the roboticized-jewel thief let go of Shade's arm to rub her face better. Shade picked herself up and she roundhouse punched Mecha Rouge directly in the face. Katherine fired some bladed-discs at Shade but the echidna dodged them and she Blade Rushed Katherine. Katherine staggered backwards and bumped into a wall. Desperate not to receive anymore damage, Katherine activated her built-in force field generator. A red sphere of energy surrounded Katherine and made her immune to any attacks now. Shade however, was not impressed by this. Just because Katherine had a barrier, it didn't mean she was invincible now. Mecha Rouge flew towards Shade and attempted to grab her. Shade dodged Mecha Rouge's attack and left her to crash straight into Katherine's barrier. The Robian bat ricocheted straight off the barrier and skidded painfully on the floor. Shade ran over to the emeralds and she grabbed the red Chaos Emerald. Katherine shortened her barrier and she ran over to Shade with her claws bared. Mecha Rouge picked herself up and she charged towards Shade. Shade thrust the Chaos Emerald in front of herself and yelled.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

The moment she yelled "Chaos Control!" time around Mecha Rouge and Katherine suddenly seemed to slow to a stop. The two robotic women were suddenly frozen in time and they stopped in mid-charge, unable to move. Shade smirked at the frozen fem-bots.

"Well now that threat's taken care of, I can take the emeralds back." she said to herself "But the Master Emerald's weight and size will only slow down our getaway so we can't carry them out of here. There is a solution to this problem though." she added as she suddenly had an idea "I'll just warp them back to the island."

With that said, she thrust the Chaos Emerald up above her head and yelled.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

The emerald glowed a bright crimson red and then a Chaos Portal opened up in mid-air. Shade was pleased to see that the Chaos Control did what she wanted it to do and she gathered all six Chaos Emeralds into her arms. She leaped through the portal with the emeralds in her arms and she reappeared through the portal onto Angel Island. She landed straight on top of the emerald shrine and she lay the emeralds down around the side of the shrine. She then leaped back through the portal and reappeared back in the room in Eggman's headquarters. She then ran over to the back of the Master Emerald and she pushed on the giant heavy green gem. The Master Emerald was rather heavy and hard to push but Shade couldn't give up now. The Chaos Portal wouldn't stay open any longer so she had to push it through before it closed. Not to mention the Chaos Control on Katherine and Mecha Rouge wouldn't last any longer, it would wear off anytime soon so she had to hurry before it did. Using all the strength she had in her, Shade began to push the Master Emerald towards the Chaos Portal. Grunting heavily and pushing hard, she finally managed to push the heavy gem through the portal. Shade panted and gasped tiredly for a minute and she wiped her forehead. Then she leapt through the portal just before it could close. The moment she left, the Chaos Control around Mecha Rouge and Katherine wore off and they shot straight down into the floor. They skidded to a painful halt and the two fem-bots groaned in defeat, clearly not pleased that they had just failed their task which was guard the emeralds.

As for Shade, she reappeared on the emerald shrine on Angel Island and she pushed the Master Emerald into place. Now the purple Chaos Emerald Mandy had saved didn't need to keep the island afloat anymore because the Master Emerald was back in its rightful place. Shade huffed and she beamed at herself.

"I've saved the emeralds." she said to herself "Now I'd best go back and tell the others and get them out of Robotropolis."

She picked up the blue Chaos Emerald this time and she used yet another Chaos Control. A Chaos Portal opened up in mid-air and Shade jumped through it. On the other side of the portal was the room in which Sonic, Tails and Knuckles were duking it out with the mighty Silver Sonic and Shade appeared right in the middle of the fight. She saw Sonic spin-dashing Silver Sonic in the head only to not leave a mark of any kind on the behemoth of a Sonic clone and Silver Sonic retaliated with an attempted kick but he missed as Sonic ducked. Shade ran over to Sonic and she called out to him.

"Sonic! I've found the emeralds and sent them back to Angel Island!" called Shade "The mission is complete!"

"Really?" said Sonic as Silver Sonic missed an attempted claw attack on him "Sweet! Well done Shade! Come on Tails and Knuckles, we're outta here!"

"Aw, I'm not done with tiny over here!" muttered Knuckles as he fisted Silver Sonic directly in the shin.

"Come on Knuckles!" exclaimed Tails, flying after Sonic and Shade as they ran for it.

Knuckles sighed loudly and he ran after the fleeing Mobians. Silver Sonic just stood there and let them escape. He could sense that the Mobians were retreating and he had successfully managed to scare them off. He truly was a mighty machine, a machine too mighty for even Sonic the Hedgehog.

Outside, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson, Mandy and Ruben were still making a mess out of Eggman's forces outside. But exhaustion was evident on their faces as they all appeared to be worn out from constantly attacking and destroying robots that just seemed to come and come endlessly no matter how many they destroyed. Luckily, they wouldn't have to keep it up any longer for Sonic, Tails, Knuckles and Shade all emerged from within Eggman's headquarters and Shade had a Chaos Emerald in her hand. That ment the mission was complete and they were all getting out of here. Shade thrust the emerald ahead of herself as she ran and yelled.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

A Chaos Portal appeared once again just ahead of them and they all ran towards it as fast as they could. Sonic, due to his trademark speed, made it first and he jumped through the portal. Tails, Knuckles and Shade were the next to go through and the rest followed shortly afterwards just before a bunch of robots could try and attack them. The portal vanished into thin air, leaving the robots to stand there, baffled and wonder what had just happened. Back in Eggman's headquarters, Dr. Eggman put a finger to his lips and he began to muse to himself.

"Sonic and friends just retreated." he said to himself "And with a Chaos Control too. That means…"

"They've successfully managed to retrieve all the emeralds?" asked Alonzo.

"No, it means they've stolen ONE of my emeralds." said Dr. Eggman "I'm kinda surprised they left after only stealing one though. Oh well, at least I still have the power of the…"

Before he could finish his sentence, he was interrupted by a call from Mecha Rouge.

"Dr.-Egg-Man." she droned "I-hate-to-be-the-bearer-of-bad-news-but-all-the-emeralds-are-gone. A-fe-male-echid-na-in-a-head-band-and-balck-body-suit-stole-them-all."

Dr. Eggman looked like he was going to die of shock. His whole body began to tremble angrily and his moustache quivered in rage. Alonzo freaked, he could sense a very violent temper tantrum coming from Dr. Eggman any minute now. But instead of throwing an epic fit, Dr. Eggman suddenly calmed down and took a deep breath.

"So what if they stole my emeralds back?" he muttered "I've still got my hidden Egg-Fleet to launch and I'll launch it first thing tomorrow morning! Then I'll tell my fleet to lay siege to everything in sight and then Sonic and friends will be sorry they messed with Dr. Ivo Eggman!"

And you'll be sorry you treated me like scrap. Alonzo thought in his mind as he began to formulate a plan in his evil mind.

Once Eggman launched that fleet, he'd be going down with it tomorrow and then he could unleash his secret project…

Back on Angel Island, everybody was standing around the Master Emerald shrine and staring at the Master Emerald, all glowing and shining brightly again and back in it's normal place. Everybody was happy to see that their mission had been a total success.

"Well, talk about an eventful day hey guys?" asked Sonic "Eggman makes Robotropolis fly and steals all the emeralds but we got them all back as quickly as he stole them. Royal Fighters rock!"

"Yeah!" everybody cheered in unison.

"But one thing I'd definitely like to say is I can't take the credit for today's victory." said Sonic truthfully "The credit for today's victory all goes to our new friend Shade the Echidna. Let's have a three cheers for her!"

"Please hedgehog, I don't want you to make a celebration about me." said Shade politely "I'm just glad I succeeded in my first mission as one of you instead of Ix's lackey."

"OK then forget about the cheers." said Sonic "But I will say congratulations Shade. You've proven yourself an honouree Royal Fighter."

He held his hand out for Shade to shake.

"Thank you Sonic." said Shade, shaking Sonic's hand.

"Talk about girl power today." Mandy said "I save Angel Island from falling and Shade retrieves all the emeralds. Proves that boys aren't the only ones who can save the day." she added teasingly, grinning at Sonic.

"You got that right Mandy." said Sonic, taking Mandy's statement lightly "I guess "Girl Power" has an all new meaning now."

Mandy just laughed at Sonic's joke.

"We may have won today Sonic, but I wouldn't get too comfortable." said Knuckles sternly "Dr. Eggman's not going to be pleased when he finds out we've gotten our emeralds back and he's going to try whatever he can to get them all back. So I'd keep on your toes if I were you."

"Don't sweat it Knuckie, I'll be ready for Baldy Mc Nose Hair." sneered Sonic "I always am."

But he wouldn't be ready for the arrival of Dr. Eggman's insidious fleet tomorrow for he had no idea about it and it's launch was unknown to him….

Eggman's Fleet

Story 76: Eggman's Fleet

Dr. Eggman spent most of the afternoon and evening cleaning up the mess in his city that Sonic and friends made while trying to get the stolen emeralds back which they successfully did. There were so many dead robots and so much debris everywhere that Dr. Eggman took till the next morning to clean it all up. By the next morning, Robotropolis was all spic-and-span once again and the fat scientist was pleased to his city all free of robot debris. He sat in his chair and he admired his city through the giant window in the room which was large enough for him to see all of Robotropolis ahead of him. The day dawned once again, bright and sunny. Eggman liked it when it was a sunny day, it made wrecking the Mobian's lives all the more enjoyable as on a nice day, more people would be out in the open and he'd be terrifying more citizens. Just the perfect day to unleash his new Egg-Fleet which he'd been hiding for months now. He stroked his moustache as he thought to himself.

"Aaaah, what a perfect day to launch my Egg-Fleet." he sighed to himself "I can't wait to see Sonic's expression when I launch this fleet and lay siege to every city on Mobius with it! And to add insult to injury, I have roboticizer guns in every ship so once I flush out all the Mobians from their homes, I can roboticize them all in one fell swoop! This will be a red letter day for me. A "coup d'état" to coin a French phrase. Ha, ha, ha."

He could just picture the destruction his fleet was going to cause once it launched already. He pressed a button on his arm chair and a bleep sound was heard.

"Alonzo! Get in here now!" ordered Dr. Eggman.

The moment he gave the command, the door on the far side of the room opened up and in whizzed Eggman's pointy headed robot, Alonzo the Butler Bot. The subversive servant whizzed up to Dr. Eggman and saluted to him.

"Yes oh glorious master and soon to be world conqueror?" asked Alonzo.

"I'm launching the Egg-Fleet now." reported Dr. Eggman "Get yourself ready for the launch! Mobius is about to succumb to me!"

"Yes sir." said Alonzo "I hope you don't mind me asking sir but, are you going to make Robotropolis fly again and make it part of the Egg-Fleet? A flying city is bound to be a great addition to any fleet."

"That would be a nice idea Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman admittedly "But I don't want to risk losing Robotropolis. Sonic is a troublesome little critter and his friends are equally as troublesome and even though I'm certain my fleet is invincible, anything could happen and I don't want to lose Robotropolis. I've lost the city once* before and I will not lose it again!"

"Playing it safe are we?" mused Alonzo "That is unusual for you master. Oh well, better safe then sorry as they always say."

"You are absolutely correct Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman with a big smile on his hideous, moustachioed face "Losing Robotropolis would be a bigger loss then say my entire fleet or my robot army so I do not want the city to crash and burn, even if it is unlikely to happen when it's in motion."

He stood up from his chair and he headed off to the elevator. He and Alonzo went into the elevator and the elevator took them all the way down to the bottom floor of Eggman's headquarters. The elevator arrived at the bottom floor in a matter of seconds and Eggman and Alonzo left the elevator. Dr. Eggman then wandered over to the far side of the room and he opened up a trap door in the floor. He and Alonzo climbed down the ladder and they ended up in an underground hangar bay that was large enough to fit eighty jumbo jets in it. The hangar bay stretched for miles around and in the bay were more then fifty enormous battleships. The ships were huge and long and they had an aquatic theme going on with them as many of the ships were shaped like aquatic creatures. There were purple ships shaped like manta rays, red ships shaped like sharks, blue ships shaped like sawfishes and the very flagship of the fleet was the largest of them all and shaped like a whale shark. All of the ships were loaded with an onslaught of gun turrets and weapons and they all looked like they had tremendous power behind them. Alonzo gaped in amazement at the tremendous size of this fleet. How Eggman had managed to keep it hidden he would never know. No matter for he had a plan to dispose of his foolish master once and for all. He had a stash of bombs hidden in his side compartment and he was going to use the bombs to bring Eggman's flagship down. He didn't want to destroy the entire fleet as he had a feeling the fleet would be of good use to him once he overthrew Eggman. As Dr. Eggman walked towards his flagship, Alonzo gaped and gawped at the battleships as he went past them. They were absolutely amazing and he couldn't wait to see Dr. Eggman use them before he took the fleet for himself. Dr. Eggman arrived at his flagship and he climbed up the ladder on the side of the whale-shark shaped vessel that led up to the cockpit. Once he and Alonzo were inside the cockpit, Eggman closed the hatch and he sat down at the controls of the behemoth of a machine.

"How does my fleet look Alonzo?" asked Dr. Eggman.

"It looks…phenomenal." gasped Alonzo "How did your worker bots build all these in secret?"

"They're amazing robots Alonzo, built by the hands of a genius that's why." gloated Dr. Eggman "Now sit back, relax and watch as I lay siege to Central City just to give the fleet a test drive! After that, we attack Mobotropolis!"

"I can just imagine that hedgehog's face once this fleet casts its shadow over the puny little remains of Mobotropolis." sneered Alonzo "It'll be one face I'd love to photograph and put in the photo album that's for sure!"

"It will Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman, pressing a button on the control panel.

That button activated the hangar doors above their heads and the doors, with a loud ominous whirr and groaning creak began to open up above the fleet. Bits of earth and dirt began to trickle down the edges of the doors and rain down on to the floor. The darkness of the hangar bay was chased away as the doors opened and the brightness of day began to seep into the bay and brighten it up. The doors finished opening and they stopped with a loud hiss and a clunk. Dr. Eggman then pressed another button on the control panel.

"Egg-Fleet! Commence launch!" he bellowed into the intercom on the control panel beside the button he pressed.

The whole fleet responded to his command. They didn't need pilots after all sans the flagship, they were robotic battleships that were capable of flying by themselves and all they needed was a simple command and they were away. The whole fleet began to power up and their engines exploded with noise as the fleet was awakened. The flagship, which Dr. Eggman was housed in, was the first to ascend. With a roar of the rockets loud enough to awaken the dead, the massive ship began to rise up off the floor and ascend from the hangar bay and into the open air. The flagship ascended up and up until it was out of the hangar bay and into the brightness and the fresh air of outside. The entire population of Robotropolis stopped what they were doing and they looked up at the sky only to see a huge whale-shark shaped battleship up in the sky ready to fly off and destroy a city or even a continent. Shortly after the flagship was up in the air, the rest of the fleet began to rise up and join it in the sky. Their engines roared tremendously loud as the whole fleet began to ascend into the sky above them. In a matter of minutes, all forty-nine aquatic shaped ships were up in the sky with the gigantic behemoth of a flagship that loomed proudly in the centre of this incredible fleet. The hangar bay doors in the ground closed up after the ships all left, leaving no evidence of them ever opening up and unleashing a bunch of ships from within. The robots of Robotropolis were stunned to say the least and they were impressed at their master's work. The moment the whole fleet was in the air, the ships all began to slowly thrust their engines and press forward onto Central City, their first target of the day. With a thrust of the engines, the ships all began to fly forward and leave Robotropolis behind. They pressed onto the colossal metropolis of Central City, the largest city on Mobius. Dr. Eggman smiled darkly as his fleet pressed forward.

"It's like a dream come true." he purred to himself "I can't wait to see what Sonic thinks of this. Heck, once I conquer Mobius, I'll fly this fleet back to Earth and unleash it on G.U.N. and they'll suffer for all the indignity they've ever caused me!"

Eggman began to picture his return to his home planet in his evil little mind. While he did that, Alonzo sneaked out of the cockpit and he closed the door behind him. He trundled down the corridor and began looking for places to set up his bombs. Eggman would go down before he would even reach Mobotropolis when Alonzo was finished…

Meanwhile at Royal HQ, Sonic the Hedgehog and friends were chilling out in the rest room, a room where the occupants could entertain themselves or sit back and relax in on a slow day. The room had a table tennis, a TV, comfortable sofas and chairs to lie in, musical instruments such as rock guitars and a drum kit and a book shelf for people who loved to read. Sonic's best friend Tails the twin-tailed fox however, was in the lab with their newest friend Shade the Echidna, Imperator Ix's former henchwoman. Shade had decided now she had the time, she could get her broken warp belt fixed and Tails kindly offered to fix it for her. He sat at the table with a toolkit by his side and he began to fix the warp belt with Shade giving him directions and info on how to properly fix it. A good few hours later, Tails had finally fixed the warp belt. He wiped his forehead and he put his tools away.

"Here you go Shade, its all fixed." said Tails, handing the device back to Shade.

"Thank you little one." said Shade, putting the belt back around her waist.

When attached, the belt camouflaged on her bodysuit and looked just like a part of her suit so you wouldn't be able to tell she was wearing a belt at all.

"It got damaged quite a bit didn't it?" asked Tails "What happened to it?"

"Knuckles broke it by punching it during the whole Imperator Ix fiasco." explained Shade "Warp belts are pretty easy to damage unfortunately so in battle, I will have to make sure the belt doesn't get damaged or I won't be able to use it."

"So are you going to test it to see if it works?" asked Tails, looking a little nervous all of the sudden.

"I am." said Shade "I am warping myself back to Angel Island so I can join Knuckles in his guardian duties. If I vanish in a bright pink flash then that means the belt is working."

"I hope it works." said Tails.

"If it doesn't then we'll have to look at it again and see what went wrong." said Shade.

She touched the side of her hip and the Nocturnus Echidna suddenly vanished from the room in a bright pink flash. The flash disappeared into nothingness, leaving no trace of Shade's presence in the lab. That obviously meant the warp belt had worked and Shade was probably back on Angel Island right now. Tails beamed at himself.

"I did it." he said happily "I fixed Shade's warp belt. I was kind worried that I hadn't fixed it properly due to the fact its technology like none I've seen before. I'm glad all went well though."

With a satisfied feeling in his stomach, Tails left the lab and wondered off into the rest room to see how the others were doing. Fellow fighters Wilson the Dog and his gorgeous girlfriend Mandy Mouse were both watching a movie together. It was, of course, an action movie that looked like something Michael Bay would have directed as Mandy was a big fan of action movies and it was her turn to pick one this time. Wilson didn't like action movies as much but all he wanted to see was Mandy enjoying herself so he just sat down and pretended to enjoy it whenever Mandy put one on. Sonic the Hedgehog was sitting in a comfy chair away from the TV and chilling out. Ruben the Water Panther and Bunnie Rabbot were playing table-tennis with one another. Amy Rose, Cream the Rabbit, Cosmo the Seedrian and Geoffrey St. John weren't in the rest room, they were outside playing dodge ball.

"Hey Sonic." said Tails brightly.

"How's it going big guy?" asked Sonic, looking up at Tails who was standing in the doorway.

"It's going great Sonic." said Tails happily "I've just fixed Shade's warp belt and it works perfectly. She's just warped herself back to Angel Island with no problems at all."

"That's way past cool Tails." said Sonic "I knew you'd be able to fix Shade's warp belt as no one can tinker with technology better then you can."

"Well I wouldn't say "nobody" since there's bound to be someone out there better then me." said Tails, wandering into the rest room and sitting in a comfy chair next to Sonic "But thanks for the compliment anyway."

"Don't mention it." said Sonic casually.

As for Wilson and Mandy, the film they were watching together was on an action scene now and Mandy clearly appeared to be enjoying it as she was constantly shrieking delightedly whenever something really cool happened.

"Oh yeah! Awesome!" shrieked Mandy "I love this kind of stuff!"

"Yes, I know." said Wilson who was trying his hardest to keep himself from hiding his face from the intensity of the scene that was playing right now. Wilson couldn't really stand highly intense action scenes like this, he'd much rather be watching a movie that was more on story then action and explosions.

"Hey sugah, do ya'll mind keepin' the hollerin' down a little?" asked Bunnie politely "Me and Ruben can't concentrate on our game with ya'll shrieking like that."

"OK, sorry Bunnie." said Mandy "I get caught up in these movies pretty easily and I can't help myself when I get invested in the cool action scenes."

"Ah can see that." said Bunnie as she batted the tiny little ball back over to Ruben with her table tennis bat.

The ball made a clattering noise as it pinged up off the table and over the net onto Ruben's side. Ruben swung his bat but he missed and the ball landed with a clatter on the floor. Ruben picked up the ball and he fumed at his bad luck.

"Ya'll ain't very good at this are ya Ruben?" asked Bunnie "Ya'll just keep missin' the ball every time. Our score is twenty-five nil right now."

"Table tennis isn't a very popular sport in Chun-Nan Bunnie." said Ruben as he put his bat down on the table "Heck, we water-panthers aren't really sports people so I didn't grow up playing sports of any kind, even the ones native to Chun-Nan. I'm amazed I did well at Aero-ball the first time I played it. Oh well, there's always something you're not going to be good at my mother always said to me."

"That's too right Ruben." said Bunnie, putting her bat down on the table "Mah mother once said to me "There's always somethin' that someone will be better then you at". Ah maybe better at sports then ya'll Ruben but ah bet there's things yer better then me at."

"Maybe there is." said Ruben "I bet swimming is one of them. No Mobian alive can swim better then a water-panther."

"Ah'm not a good swimmer anyway." said Bunnie modestly "Ah certainly wouldn't be able to swim now ah have these robot parts," she added, looking at her robotic left arm and robotic legs "If ah went into water, ah'd blow mah self up ah bet as they ain't water proof or anything."

"Well when we're in battle, I'd best make sure I don't accidentally drench you." said Ruben "Or I'll make one heck of a mess out of you."

Bunnie could only nod agreeably. That would not be a pleasant gaff at all if Ruben accidentally squirted her with water instead of Eggman's minions. But Ruben seemed capable at hitting what he was supposed to hit so this gaff would never happen. Suddenly, the door burst open and in ran Nicole the Lynx, Castle Acorn's lady-in-waiting. She looked frantic as if the sky was raining with meteors all of the sudden. Sonic and Tails leaped out of their chairs in surprise and Wilson and Mandy looked away from their film to see what Nicole was going to tell them. Mandy quickly paused the film so the noise of the TV wouldn't distract her.

"Hey Nicole, what's up?" asked Sonic "You look like you've just seen a zombie or something."

"We've just received a distress signal from Central City!" cried Nicole, looking at a sheet of paper she had in her hand and reading aloud from it "They say there's a huge fleet of ships coming towards them and it's obviously intending to open fire on the city!"

"A fleet of ships?" squeaked Wilson "I do hope they aren't alien ships!"

""Somehow, that doesn't seem likely Wilson." said Mandy "Even if aliens do exist. I bet they're Eggman ships. After all, he had one when he invaded Mobius eight months ago* so he's probably built some more to unleash on us."

"A fleet of ships sounds exactly like something Eggman would build." said Sonic grimly "If there's a fleet built by Eggman then it can't mean any good whatsoever. We've got to stop that fleet before it targets Mobotropolis or any other place."

"So are we going to stop that fleet Sonic?" asked Tails.

"Do you even need to ask?" said Sonic snidely "Tails, you, Ruben and Bunnie are coming with me. We are going to bring down Eggman's fleet before he does any harm with it!"

"Why are you bringing us in particular?" asked Ruben.

"Tails is smart, Bunnie's strong and you can short circuit something with your water powers." explained Sonic "Those combined with my super speed means Eggman has no chance against us."

"Ya'll got that right sugah!" said Bunnie hotly "Eggman won't know what hit him when we invade his fleet!"

"You said it Bunnie." said Sonic "Let's go everybody!"

Sonic zipped out of the room at top speed with Tails taking flight and following him, Bunnie running after him and Ruben running after her. The four ran outside and Sonic picked up speed as he headed off to Central City. Tails flew up into the air and he followed Sonic as fast as he could. Bunnie activated the jets in her roboticized feet and took flight, flying after Tails and Sonic. Ruben propelled himself into the air with his water powers and he made a trial of water in the air to keep himself airborne. He surfed on his water trials after Tails and Bunnie as they flew after Sonic. Geoffrey and the girls stopped what they were doing and they began to wonder where Sonic, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben were going in such a hurry. They deduced that Sonic, Tails, Ruben and Bunnie obviously had a mission to do and they were off to carry it out so they decided not to wonder about it and keep playing dodge ball, knowing that whatever was going on, Sonic would stop it and set things right easily. As for Sonic, he knew the way to Central City easily so he would be there in no time. He just hoped he'd be in time to save Central City from Eggman's fleet before it could level the city much like the first battleship levelled Mobotropolis…

Sonic, Tails, Ruben and Bunnie arrived at Central City in a matter of minutes. The colossal metropolis had just finished repairing the damages Marik the Martian had done to it when he went on a rampage in it during the Chaos Emerald hunt and now it looked like it was going to get damaged all over again as Eggman's insidious new fleet loomed over the giant city, poised and ready to turn the city into a wasteland that would do little more then show anybody where a city once stood. Sonic stared up at the enormous fleet. Fifty aquatic themed ships looming in the sky above the city and ready to strike at the first available opportunity. They were incredible, especially the flagship which looked like it was large enough to sit on top of the whole of Central City and squash it flat. Sonic could hardly believe his green eyes. He was not expecting anything like this at all. He had had many visions on the fleet on his way to Central City but none of his visions did the real thing any justice whatsoever. Tails and Bunnie stood in midair and gawped at what they were looking at and Ruben was so surprised he almost forgot to keep himself afloat with his water powers.

"Oh…mah…stars!" gasped Bunnie "That fleet is…unbelievable! It's…its gigantic!"

"I don't think anything we say will do it justice Bunnie." said Ruben grimly "We cannot let Dr. Eggman keep this fleet. We have to destroy it before he can use it."

"You got that right Ruben." said Sonic "That fleet could level the whole of Mobius if we don't do anything about it!"

"I think I have an idea." said Tails "Sonic, you will confront the flagship, which is likely to be that giant, whale thing in the middle of it and bring it down. Me, Bunnie and Ruben will distract all the other ships by taking out their weapons. Once we've done that, we'll fly over and join you in destroying the flagship."

"Tails, that plan is just too good." said Sonic with a thumbs up "It is going to succeed brilliantly for us. We'll be able to add this to our list of "brilliant successes" once this fleet crashes down."

"Thanks Sonic." said Tails modestly "Come on team, let's give Eggman a friendly greeting shall we?"

"Yes!" cried Bunnie and Ruben together.

"Hey! Stop stealing my thunder Tails!" laughed Sonic, grabbing Tails and giving him a noogie-noogie "It's my job to make the quips around here!"

"Ha, ha, ha, ha! Stop it Sonic! I'm sorry! I won't do it again! Ha, ha, ha!" guffawed Tails as Sonic noogied him roughly.

"Don't sweat it, I'm just kidding with ya like I always do." said Sonic, letting go of Tails "Let's do it to it buddies!" he yelled, pointing straight up at the flagship.

Bunnie took flight without a second's hesitance and Ruben shot himself straight up into the air with a gush of water he aimed down at the ground. Tails grabbed Sonic by the hands and he flew the hedgehog up into the air after Bunnie and Ruben. The first ship in the fleet they came across was one of the red shark-shaped ones, the most common ship design in the fleet. Tails threw Sonic forward like a dodge ball and Sonic spin-dashed towards the ship. He bounced off it and he hurtled into the air. He ricocheted off another ship and hurtled towards another. He continued to keep this up and he wouldn't stop until he reached the flagship, which was many ships away from him at the moment. Tails, Bunnie and Ruben just landed on a ship each and decided to start sabotaging everything Tails and Ruben had landed on a shark shaped ship each and Bunnie landed on a manta-ray shaped ship. The moment the Mobians landed on the ships, their weapons went into motion and they aimed at the intruders. On Tails' ship, the ship's cannon turrets all aimed at the little fox and they began to fire at him. Tails unfortunately had no way of counter-attacking the weapons or even damaging the ship itself as he had no weapons or special powers of any kind. All he could do was fly out of the missile's way and let them strike down on the deck and blow a hole on the fuselage. The ship's gun turrets began shooting rapidly at Tails but the fox was much too quick for them. The missiles all missed him and hit the deck instead. Explosions began to tear their way through the fuselage of the ship as the missiles hit the deck. The ship was inadvertently destroying itself as it tried to attack Tails. After another missile missed and struck the deck, the ship ended up damaging itself so much that it couldn't even fly anymore. The ship began to droop downwards and then point down at the ground. Tails flew off the ship quickly as the damaged ship began to plummet down to the ground. The ship, billowing with smoke and flames, plunged straight down and landed with a crash on the outskirts of Central City. Tails noticed that if they brought the entire fleet crashing down then it would just crash down on top of Central City and destroy the place so he decided making the ships bring themselves down was not a wise move. He flew over to Ruben, who was on a shark-shaped ship and squirting water at the gun turrets. Unfortunately, his water powers didn't seem to be short-circuiting the turrets as he was hoping they would do. Tails landed behind Ruben and tapped him on the shoulder.

"Yes?" asked Ruben, turning around and facing Tails.

"I wouldn't recommend trying to make the ships fall." said Tails "They'll land on the city and destroy it. I'd focus on just destroying the weapons and rendering the ships harmless."

"If that's what you suggest then I'll follow it to the letter." said Ruben "I hope Bunnie gets the message or works it out for herself."

He then squirted more water at the gun turrets that were trying to shoot at him. Tails decided to keep the missiles away from Ruben by flying in the air and whizzing around the gun turrets in order to catch their attention. The gun turrets turned away from Ruben and they began to shoot at Tails instead. Tails dodged the missile attacks and he flew around to evade some more incoming missiles. Ruben realized that his water powers weren't short circuiting the gun-turrets so he decided to try something else. He leaped into the air and did a kung-fu style kick on the gun-turret. All he ended up doing was sending himself falling backwards onto the deck as the gun turret was way too strong for Ruben's novice-style kung-fu. He picked himself up and he grumbled to himself.

"Where's Bladefeather and Mushu when you need them?" he muttered "They'd destroy that thing in a dice! Heck, maybe Princess Matilda could be of some use as according to Sonic, she knows kung-fu and was able to subdue someone as strong as Shadow with little effort! Looks like I'm just gonna have to keep trying until I get somewhere."

He then leaped up to his feet and he punched the massive gun-turret. He was hoping to punch a hole into the weapon and drench its circuits but the turret's hide was much too tough for someone like Ruben to penetrate. He would have to punch really, really hard if he was to make any progress and being a novice style kung-fu and ninjutsu learner, he wasn't strong enough for this kind of thing. At least Tails was doing some good and keeping the missiles off of him.

As for Bunnie, she had it easy. All she had to do was fly in the air, deploy her arm cannon and shoot the gun-turrets. She destroyed the gun turrets on the manta-ray ship she'd landed on in a matter of moments and the ship was rendered weapon-less. All it would be able to do now was stand there and look imposing.

"Yee-Haw!" cheered Bunnie "No destroying cities for you ya gruesome little battleship! Although there's like a zillion more to go." she added despairingly, noticing the other forty-eight ships in the fleet "No matter, ah'll take all their weapons out!"

She flew away from the weapon-less manta-ray ship and flew over to the ship Tails and Ruben were on. She could see they were having trouble so she aimed her cannon at the gun-turrets and fired at them. The gun-turrets were destroyed instantly with a few shots of Bunnie's powerful cannon arm. Tails landed back down on the deck, happy that there were no more missiles firing at him and it was safe to land. Bunnie landed down on the deck beside Tails and Ruben.

"Howdy boys." she said "How's it goin'?"

"Not too good." muttered Ruben "My water powers can't short-circuit the turret and it's too strong for me to damage with my kung-fu and ninjutsu. I'm useless on this mission."

"Me too." said Tails "All I can do is distract the weapons and make them shoot something else. I could make the turrets accidentally destroy the decks and being the ship down but we can't do that without bringing the ships down on Central City."

"Well that's not very fortunate for lil' ol us." said Bunnie despairingly "Looks like it's all up ta me to destroy the ship's weapons."

"Don't forget we've still got Sonic to bring the flagship down." noted Ruben "The good thing is, the flagship's a good distance away from the city so Sonic can bring it down without harming it in anyway."

"Let's hope sugah-hog can actually bring the durn flagship down or we're done for." said Bunnie.

She took flight and flew off to another ship. Tails took flight and flew after her and Ruben propelled himself into the air with his water powers. They all headed to another ship, ready to disarm it and render it useless.

Meanwhile, Sonic had made it onto a sawfish shaped ship. He landed on the ship's really long nose, brimming with gun-turrets that were all ready to shoot at him. Eggman's flagship was behind this ship. Once he ploughed his way through this one, he could leap onto the ship and stop it dead in its tracks. Sonic zoomed up the sawfish ship's nose at top speed, avoiding the many gun turrets with ease. He made it to the bridge of the ship's nose and he leaped up onto the top of the ship. The gun turrets nearest to the start of the ship's nose aimed up at Sonic and they fired at him but Sonic zoomed off, leaving the missiles to shoot the ship's "forehead" instead. The missiles only left some nasty dents and holes in the ship but it was still flight capable and since the turrets couldn't sense Sonic anymore, they stopped firing. Sonic ran across the top of the ship until he reached the tail and he leaped off the ship's tail in spectacular fashion. He spin-dashed through the air and he landed on the nose of the flagship in perfect fashion. He ran across the decks of the ship and he headed towards the cockpit, which was located on a large tower near the rear of the ship. The tower had gun turrets and missile launchers and it had a replica of Dr. Eggman right on the spire at the top. The cockpit tower was as tall as a six storey building so it would be a long climb for anyone. The ship's enormous length meant Sonic had quite a long way to run but he would run the distance in no time as he was super-fast. Dr. Eggman could see Sonic running towards the cockpit tower at top speed, effortlessly avoiding his gun-turrets as he ran.

"That infernal hedgehog has decided to try and stop my fleet has he?" he growled "Well I've got a way of dealing with him!"

He thumped a button on his control panel.

Outside, Sonic was almost at the cockpit tower but before he could reach the tower, a huge silver bladed ball ripped its way through the floor and burst up onto the deck straight in front of Sonic. The silver ball hit Sonic and sent him hurling backwards. This ball was, of course, a spin-dashing Silver Sonic. The huge silver Sonic robot was back from the heist in Robotropolis yesterday and it was ready for another Sonic showdown. Sonic picked himself up and he glared at Silver Sonic.

"So you're back Silver Sonic?" he said "Good, that means I get to stomp on you this time!"

But before Sonic could even do anything, he was tackled from behind by a black spin-dash. This spin-dash belonged to a robot that looked exactly the same as Metal Sonic only differently coloured. It was black instead of blue and it had yellow lines around its feet. Its face was yellow and there were yellow strips on its forehead. This robot was known as Metal Sonic 3.0 and it was twice as deadly as the original Metal Sonic. The only difference other then the colour scheme was it wasn't a sentient robot, meaning it was unwaveringly loyal to Dr. Eggman so unlike Metal Sonic, Metal Sonic 3.0 wouldn't betray him. It also had no voice, meaning it was physically unable to speak whatsoever. It only knew one thing: destroy Sonic the Hedgehog. Sonic picked himself up and stared at the new Metal Sonic bot.

"Huh, decided to rebuild Metal Sonic and give him a new paint job eh Eggman?" mused Sonic "You really are getting lazy aren't you? Oh well, at least I get to tussle with my old robot faker once again!"

Sonic spin-dashed towards Metal Sonic 3.0 but Metal Sonic 3.0 held his arms up in a cross shape and blocked the blow. Then he leaned back onto his back and he swung his legs up and over, sending Sonic hurtling over him and crashing onto the deck a few feet away from him. Sonic picked himself up just as Silver Sonic plodded up to him. Silver Sonic raised his fist and tried to punch Sonic but the blue blur dodged the blow, leaving Silver Sonic to miss and make a dent on the floor. Sonic then ran around the back of Silver Sonic and he spin-dash the giant Sonic duplicate in the back, knocking it onto its front. Metal Sonic 3.0 got the drop of Sonic with another spin-dash and Sonic ended up crashing down on the decks with a heavy clang on the metal. Sonic picked himself up just as Metal Sonic 3.0 was preparing to attack him again. Sonic jumped out of the re-coloured Metal Sonic's way and Metal Sonic 3.0 landed firmly on the floor just as Sonic dodged. Sonic then grabbed Metal Sonic 3.0's head, flipped himself up and over the robot duplicate and then threw Metal Sonic 3.0 over his head and onto its back in front of him. Silver Sonic then suddenly got the drop on Sonic with a tremendous backhand. Sonic hurtled a good few feet up the deck and he crashed into a gun turret. Metal Sonic 3.0 sped over towards Sonic as fast as he could go but Sonic picked himself up and spin-dash Metal Sonic 3.0 before he could get close to him. Metal Sonic 3.0

landed on the decks with a heavy clunk that would have destroyed any normal robot easily. Sonic zoomed up to Metal Sonic 3.0 and he leaped off of Metal Sonic 3.0 as if he was a spring and the blue hedgehog spin-dashed towards Silver Sonic. Silver Sonic just jumped upwards and caught Sonic in his hands as if he was catching a basketball and he slam-dunked Sonic into the floor. Sonic groaned in pain after that powerful slam and Silver Sonic picked him up. He threw Sonic through the air like a rag doll and Metal Sonic 3.0 leaped up, clasped his fists together and slammed Sonic down into the floor with him. Sonic hit the floor and he grimaced in pain. Fighting one Sonic robot clone was bad enough but fighting two metal fakers was just taking the chilli-dogs now. Regardless, Sonic didn't know the meaning of the word "surrender" so he continued the fight. Sonic picked himself up, only to get spin-dash back down by Metal Sonic 3.0. Sonic picked himself up again and he kicked Metal Sonic 3.0 in the head. The Metal Sonic re-colour was sent staggering backwards but he quickly regained his balance and he charged towards Sonic again. Sonic leaped over Metal Sonic 3.0 and dropkicked him in the back of the head, knocking him down on his front. Sonic landed back on his feet but Silver Sonic clawed at him and just managed to catch him on the ear. Sonic yelped in pain and he clutched his ear, which felt like it had just been torn off even though it was still on his head luckily. Silver Sonic then tried to kick Sonic but Sonic spin-dashed Silver Sonic and knocked the giant robot off his feet and onto his back. Metal Sonic 3.0 was quick to blast him out of the sky with a quick blast of the torso laser, one of the original Metal Sonic's favoured weapons, and Sonic found himself crashing down once again. Sonic picked himself back up but Metal Sonic 3.0 grabbed Sonic and threw him towards Silver Sonic. Silver Sonic backhanded Sonic straight into the cockpit tower and Sonic ended up leaving an imprint of himself on the tall building. Metal Sonic 3.0 flew over to Sonic and he grabbed the hedgehog by the quills. He peeled him off of the wall and he tossed him over his shoulder carelessly. Sonic landed face-first back on the decks below. He looked like he was unable to keep this fight going any longer. He was bruised, he had cuts and he was having great trouble just trying to get up onto his knees. Silver Sonic advanced on Sonic menacingly with his claws bared. He was about to pick Sonic up and finish him off until Eggman cut in.

"Silver Sonic! Throw that hedgehog off of my flagship!" ordered Dr. Eggman "Let him become a nasty stain on the ground below! That's more then what that filthy blue rat deserves!"

Silver Sonic obeyed and he picked up the injured Sonic. He plodded over to the edge of the flagship and he held his arm out at full length. Then he spun his entire torso around a full 360 degrees while holding Sonic and when he picked up top speed, he let go of Sonic and the blue hedgehog was sent hurling off the flagship. He hurtled past a ship that was in front of the flagship and he began to plummet down to the ground which was miles down below. To his incredible luck though, Bunnie saw him and she flew down as fast as she could in order to save him. She had a feeling she wasn't going to be fast enough so she extended her robotic arm's length until it was enough to reach Sonic and grab him. She retracted her arm back to its original length and she flew back onto the ship she was on with Sonic in tow. Bunnie touched down and put Sonic down on the decks. Tails and Ruben stared at him in disbelief.

"Wha…what happened to him?" asked Tails.

"Ah dunno sugah." said Bunnie "Ah saw him fallin' so ah just flew down to catch the dashin' sugah hog before he could meet his untimely end."

Sonic managed to pick himself up at last and he rubbed his aching body.

"Ugh! Hey guys…" he murmured "You're not gonna believe this… but Dr. Eggman has Silver Sonic and a Metal Sonic re-colour guarding his flagship!"

"Silver Sonic and a Metal Sonic re-colour?" squeaked Tails "Oh man! How can we bring the flagship down now? Metal Sonic was bad enough but Metal Sonic AND Silver Sonic together? We can't possibly win against them!"

"Tails, haven't you heard the old saying "Nothing is impossible."?" asked Ruben "You can take down anything Eggman throws at you so you can take down two Sonic robot duplicates if you put your all into it."

"I appreciate you trying to raise my hopes Ruben but fifteen of us at once couldn't take down the original Metal Sonic." noted Tails "So Metal Sonic and a giant silver Sonic clone with blades on it's back is going to be one heck of a battle for us, a battle that we can't possibly win."

"With an attitude like that, you certainly won't win." said Ruben sternly "You should never think negatively in the heat of the battle, think positively and you'll come out on top in the end."

"Well I suppose you have a point Ruben…" mused Tails "Sonic always thinks positively in battle and he comes out on top in the end…"

"Hey guys, I don't…mean to cut the chatter…or anything but have you noticed that Eggman's flagship is…right over Central City now?" asked Sonic.

Tails, Bunnie and Ruben stared at the gigantic flagship that was just a few ships away from them. The flagship had finally made it over Central City and it was ready to unleash a rain of blasters on the city below. Dr. Eggman smiled widely to himself from inside the cockpit of his flagship as he monitored the fleet's progress.

"Valiant effort Sonic and friends." he said to himself "You tried to take out my ship's weapons and render my fleet harmless. Just a pity for you that all my ships have back-up weapons and you haven't managed to even get through half the fleet yet! Your valiant efforts have been valiantly in vain and now you'll witness a gruelling defeat! Egg-Fleet…FIRE!" he bellowed at the top of his voice.

Since the entire fleet was programmed to respond to his voice, the fleet began to fire their weapons at the helpless city of Central City down below. Any ship that had had its gun-turrets destroyed already deployed plasma cannons from underneath their hull and began shooting at the city below whereas any ship that still had gun turrets fired down at the city with them. Central City began to crumble and go up in flames the moment the entire fleet began to fire down at it. The sky seemed to rain with laser cannon fire and not one laser blast missed its target. Every blast fired hit the city and the blast brought the target up in flames or sent it crumbling down to the ground, raining debris down on the ground as it titled. The largest city on Mobius was now beginning to fall under the onslaught of firepower from the ships looming above it. The Mobians stared down in horror at what was happening. They had failed their mission. Central City was being completely destroyed before their very eyes.

"NO!" cried Sonic helplessly "We've failed! The fleet's destroying Central City!"

"It sure is sugah-hog." said Bunnie "But that don't mean we can't destroy the fleet before it destroys another city. We've gotta destroy that fleet or Mobius will be a planet-sized wasteland!"

"You got that right Bunnie." said Sonic, trying to stand up "Let's do it…"

But before he could finish what he was saying, Silver Sonic leaped up into the air and spin-dashed towards the ship that Sonic, Tails, Ruben and Bunnie were standing on. Dr. Eggman had ordered him to terminate the Mobians by taking them down with the ship. That was guaranteed to finish them off. The eight-foot tall silver machine hurtled towards the ship like a spinning bladed ball and in no time at all, it ploughed through the shark shaped ship like a football through a window. The ship crumbled underneath the Mobian's feet and Sonic, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben found themselves plummeting down to the ground from hundreds of feet up. The ship's debris rained down on the bombarded Central City and destroyed any buildings it landed on. Before the Mobians could make a very unpleasant confrontation with the ground, Tails got his tails spinning double quick and he caught Sonic by the hand. Bunnie quickly activated her jets and she caught Ruben in her arms. The two began to fly away from the fleet but a saw-fish ship spotted them and it fired its many nose cannons at the fleeing Mobians. Bunnie was about to activate her force-field generator until a laser blast caught her on the leg and the Rabbot found herself plummeting down to the ground. She did eventually manage to convert her robot arm into a force-field generator and surround herself with a force-field to defend herself and Ruben from the impact of the inevitable crash into the ground below. She held Ruben tight to her chest as the two were about to crash into the ground. The two crashed into the ground like a falling rock but the force-field protected them both from the bone crunching impact. Tails saw the stricken Bunnie and Ruben and he flew down after them with Sonic in tow. As for the Egg-Fleet, it had completely levelled Central City and all in a matter of seconds, even though a ship had been destroyed and many of them had had their gun-turrets destroyed. The flagship in particular had done much damage due to the fact it had the most amount of weapons of any ship in the fleet. Central City had been reduced from a marvellous metropolis to a smouldering wreck of tangled metal, burning shrapnel and gigantic chunks of debris that was larger then the average household. Anybody in the city would have easily been killed by the rain of fire from the fleet but the city had been abandoned the moment the fleet was seen coming so there were no casualties at all, not that Eggman would care as he wanted to roboticize the population, not wipe it out. As for Dr. Eggman, he leaped up from his seat and he began to dance about and cheer like a child that's just gotten a super bike for his birthday.

"Bwah ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!" cackled Dr. Eggman "What a brilliant success! Mobius' largest city is now a smouldering eyesore that will not be pleasing for anybody to look at! My fleet is a great success and because of Silver Sonic and Metal Sonic 3.0, Sonic can't touch me! Now, it's time we went to Mobotropolis and showed that royal brat Sally Acorn how this thing works!"

He sat back down in his chair and he took control once again. The flagship began to turn around and it headed away from the devastation of Central City that continued to burn wildly. The whole fleet followed him. The Egg-Fleet picked up speed so they could quickly get away from Sonic and be ahead of him, giving them time to get away and leave Sonic behind until he caught up again. Tails and Sonic watched disappointedly as the Egg-Fleet left them behind to commiserate over their defeat. Bunnie switched off her force-field and she sat up straight, rubbing her neck tenderly. Ruben rubbed his tail and tenderly stroked his back to ease the pain.

"Ah can't believe it." said Bunnie gloomily "We lost. Eggman has won. The fleet's destroyed Central City and now it's gonna destroy somethin' else."

"Eggman's taking no…prisoners this time…is he?" grunted Sonic, rubbing his shoulder "He's built a huge fleet and has…just decided to level the largest city on Mobius! He must have taken…yesterday's defeat really badly hasn't he?"

"It sure does seem like it." muttered Tails "How can we possibly stop him now? The fleet has back-up weapons so our efforts to disarm it are in vain and the flagship is guarded by Silver Sonic and Metal Sonic Mk II or whatever you wanna call it so Sonic has his hands full."

"And here's me thinking this whole thing would just be a walk in the park with us on the job." said Ruben grimly "My mother was right to say to me "Never assume that everything will be easy, in life even the easiest sounding things can be harder then they're made out to be"."

"Well I'm not willing to sit…by and let Eggman use that fleet to turn Mobius into a death zone!" declared Sonic "I maybe a little roughened up…but I've still got enough juice in me to…defeat Eggman once again!"

"We're gonna need everybody if we wanna destroy that fleet." said Tails "All our comrades, Knuckles and Shade and even Sally, Nicole and the R.F.S. groups abroad. We alone just simply aren't enough."

"Then let's go back to Royal HQ and rally everybody up!" yelled Sonic "Come on everybody let's go!"

Sonic jogged off and suddenly tripped over himself. He was still feeling a little limp from the beating he'd received from two killer Sonic robot clones earlier so he wasn't in the best condition to run.

"Ugh…stupid Sonic-bots…" he muttered "I'm too roughened up to run properly."

"You'll have to take it slow Sonic." said Tails "Besides, even if you could run, you'd have to hold back for poor Bunnie as she can't fly now she's had her leg shot by the fleet."

Bunnie showed Sonic her blackened robot foot and ankle. The jet in the sole of her foot was completely mangled, twisted and wrecked. Bunnie could barely walk with that injured foot of hers, let alone fly.

This was going to be a long trek home indeed. Sonic stared grimly at Bunnie's injury.

"That looks really bad Bunnie." said Sonic "I think Tails better carry you. I'll still run but I'll slow down a bit so I don't trip and Ruben can just do his water surfing thing he does."

"Sounds alright to me sugah-hog." said Bunnie as Tails took flight and held her gently by the hand "Let's hope we get home in time to rally everybody before the fleet strikes again."

"Somehow, I don't think we will." said Ruben grimly "I have a nasty feeling the fleet might target Mobotropolis next."

"Let's hope that nasty feeling of yours is just you worrying too much." said Sonic "I will go berserk if the Egg-Fleet levels Mobotropolis before it can even finish being re-built."

So without wasting anymore time, Sonic sped off at half-speed and Tails flew into the air with Bunnie holding tight to his hands. Ruben propelled himself into the air with his water powers and he surfed along the trial of water he began to make in mid-air after the blue hedgehog. Sonic was beginning to get his footing back so he was able to run at half his normal speed at least but he wasn't ready to run at full speed yet so he decided to slowly but steadily pick up speed as he ran after the fleet. Once he caught up to the fleet, he would tear it apart bit by bit before it could harm another city…

Back in Royal HQ, Wilson, Mandy, Geoffrey, Amy, Cream and Cosmo had all gathered up into the lab to monitor the Egg-Fleet's position and see what it was doing. To their horror it was coming towards Mobotropolis and it would be there in a matter of minutes. Wilson, who was watching the radar with Geoffrey beside him, almost died of shock when he saw the radar.

"Yipe! The fleet's coming to Mobotropolis!" he squealed "It's going to level the place and take us with it!"

"No it isn't mate." said Geoffrey with a determined expression on his face "Sonic, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben may have failed to stop the fleet but we're not! We're gonna bring that fleet down and hopefully the four will catch up to it and join in with us so we can finish it off faster."

"Geoffrey boy, I don't mean to be unsupportive but what good can we do against that fleet if Sonic, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben couldn't stop it?" asked Mandy.

"We'll think of something luv." said Geoffrey with a dashing smirk on his face "Little Cream the Rabbit can fly us up onto the ships one by one and once we're on there, we cause as much damage as possible."

"I bet that stupid fleet won't stand up to my Piko-Piko hammer!" declared Amy, summoning her dreaded weapon to her hand and swinging it around heftily.

"And I bet we can do some damage if me and Mandy have a belt full of bombs each." said Wilson "Although poor Cream and Cosmo won't be able to do much good on the fleet."

"We'll just give you our support." said Cream "Keep you going on the mission maybe."

"That seems to be your best option." said Mandy "Now we have a plan, let's carry it out!"

With that said, the Mobians all left the lab and they charged out of Royal HQ to face the fleet when it arrived. They all stood guard a few paces in front of Castle Acorn and they waited for the Egg-Fleet to arrive and try to attack Mobotropolis. Queen Sally Acorn and Nicole the Lynx looked out of the window only to see the Royal Fighters waiting to spring into action. Sally had a feeling she knew what they were waiting for, the Egg-Fleet's arrival. She had been dreading the arrival of Eggman's fleet and now it seemed it would be coming to Mobotropolis to level the place. All she could do now was stand by and hope the Royal Fighters could stop the fleet dead in its tracks. As for the Egg-Fleet, it was looming over Green Hill Zone and heading towards Mobotropolis. Dr. Eggman grinned widely as the fleet neared Mobotropolis.

"Aaaah Mobotropolis, this is where it all began." he sighed to himself "I failed to destroy Castle Acorn the time my first battleship levelled the city but I shall not fail this time. My fleet has many ships so Castle Acorn will not survive this encounter!"

Unbeknownst to Dr. Eggman, Alonzo had just been around the entire flagship setting up bombs during the Central City siege and right now, he'd just finished setting up the last bomb. He set the charges and he chortled to himself.

"Oh Alonzo, you sly old devil." he said to himself "Dr. Eggman's flagship, as colossal as it is, will not survive this at all. Now all I need to do is flee in an escape pod and set the bombs to go."

Luckily for Alonzo, he had found the escape pods on his way around the ship so he knew where to find one easily. Alonzo set the bombs to blow in five minutes, more then enough time for him to flee for his life. The moment the timer on the bombs started, he zoomed off to the escape pod compartment as fast as his little wheels would let him. He found the compartment and he jumped into the nearest escape pod. He booted the pod up and set it to eject. The pod ejected from its port and it rocketed out into the open air of the outside world. The pod flew away from the flagship and it headed off back to Robotropolis. Alonzo had many plans for the city once he arrived back at it. Alonzo began to chuckle dryly to himself.

"Dr. Eggman's reign of terror is over…and Alonzo's reign of terror will begin!" he beamed to himself "I'll be on top of the world and Dr. Eggman will either be dead or rotting in a prison cell somewhere in a Mobian city and all because of my brilliance."

He hooted with laughter to himself as the pod left the fleet behind and headed off to Robotropolis. Back on Eggman's flagship, the bombs all went off and they exploded in unison, ripping their way effortlessly through the entire ship's hull and mangling the steelwork and the fuselage as the explosions tore their way through the ship. A huge fireball began to rage it's way through the ship and smoke billowed out into the air. The explosions rocked the giant flagship to the side and Dr. Eggman yelped in surprise.

"What the devil?" he cried "My ship's exploding! NOOOOOOO! THIS CAN'T BE! MY FLEET IS FLAWLESS, WHY IS MY SHIP EXPLODING?"

This was not the time to start moaning angrily to himself, now was the time to flee for his life or he would go down with his ship. He ran over to the cockpit door and he tried to pull it open. But the door wouldn't open. Alonzo had locked it in order to trap him in the cockpit and preventing him from escaping. Eggman thumped the button on the wall desperately but Alonzo had put the door under tight lockdown so only the controls outside would open it. Dr. Eggman began to fume angrily.

"Alonzo!" he bellowed "Help me! The door will not open! I'm trapped and the ship is falling to the ground!"

But there was no answer as Alonzo had left him behind on the ship and was on his way to Robotropolis.

"Alonzo? Where are you?" bellowed Dr. Eggman "Get here now and help me!"

Still no answer. Dr. Eggman began to wonder where his loyal servant was. Now was not the time for wondering though as the ship was going up in flames and he was going down with it. He quickly ran over to the cockpit controls and he slammed on a button.

"Attention Egg-Fleet! Fall back to Robotropolis!" he bellowed "Repeat: Fall back to Robotropolis!"

The whole fleet obeyed Dr. Eggman's command and the mass of ships slowly turned around and flew away from Mobotropolis and flew away back to Robotropolis, leaving the stricken flagship to erupt like a volcano with explosions and began to sink down to the ground. The Royal Fighters were watching this whole scene with amazement. They did not see that coming at all but they were glad it was happening.

"Look, that ship's exploding!" cried Cream "And the rest of the fleet's retreating!"

"Maybe Sonic managed to do some damage after all." said Amy

"What a guy."

"Either that or he's in that ship as we speak and is tearing it apart from the inside." suggested Cosmo "Either way, it's lucky for us that his fleet is in turmoil now."

The whole flagship began to dive down nose-first towards the ground. It made an ominous creaking noise as it hurtled over the forests of Green Hill Zone and straight towards the meadow in between Mobotropolis and Green Hill Zone. The ship crashed straight into the ground and erupted into a blaze of fire that scaled every-building in the world. It was like watching a volcano erupt as the fire and smoke climbed to great heights. Dr. Eggman however, had managed to escape from the cockpit the moment the ship crashed. He had had an extra escape route installed in the cockpit. It involved him sitting in a rocket powered chair and hurtling through the window and out of the cockpit. However, before he could land on the ground, the force of the explosion threw the chair off-balance and Eggman began to dizzily spin around towards the ground. He crash landed on the ground and skidded to a very painful halt on the grass. The Royal Fighters saw the whole thing and they ran towards the meadow to apprehend the evil man once and for all. Sally and Nicole joined them as they wanted the satisfaction of humiliating Dr. Eggman. Dr. Eggman picked himself up and rubbed the dirt off his face. He looked over his shoulder and stared sadly at his destroyed flagship, now a smouldering wreck burning like crazy in a meadow in front of Mobotropolis. It looked pretty much like the destroyed Central City now. Dr. Eggman's moustache drooped down in misery and his mouth drooped at the corners.

"My…my flagship…it's ruined!" he wailed "And just when my fleet looked so promising! Oh why is my life a constant crud-storm for me?"

"Because villains never win in the long run you insidious, pot-bellied demon!" yelled Sally Acorn in a cold tone of voice.

Dr. Eggman squealed at the top of his voice and he saw Sally, Nicole and the Royal Fighters standing before him with very angry expressions on their faces. They looked like they were about ready to kill him now. Dr. Eggman began to gibber like an idiot in fear.

"Well Eggman, your fleet has failed and you're completely at our mercy now." said Sally with a cruel smirk on her face "How swiftly things have changed huh?"

"This maybe a big set-back for me but I'm not down yet!" yelled Dr. Eggman "I'm running back to Robotropolis and once I've given my fleet a diagnostic test to make sure the ships are safe to use again, I'll be back and…"

"Oh shut the bloody hell up you annoying, fat devil!" snarled Mandy, storming up to Dr. Eggman and punching him in the face as hard as she possibly could.

Dr. Eggman fell over onto his back and clutched his throbbing nose. Mandy had fists of steel and he knew it from the first time she'd punched him. That punch felt more like being hit by a purse full of bricks. The Royal Fighters stood over the downed Dr. Eggman and Sally folded her arms and gave him a stern look.

"I've longed to say this for a while now." said Sally with a clear tone of triumph in her voice "You are under arrest for attempted anarchism, terrorism and world domination Dr. Eggman."

Geoffrey St. John stood forward and pulled a laser-cuff sphere out of his backpack. He forced Eggman's arms behind his back and he put the sphere in between his wrists. The sphere activated the lasers and they wrapped around Eggman's wrists. The fat scientist was subdued now. He had no hope of escape, he was a prisoner of the Mobians and doomed to rot in a prison cell forever. The moment Geoffrey cuffed Eggman, Sonic, Tails, Ruben and Bunnie finally arrived on the scene and were pretty amazed to see Eggman's flagship in flames and Eggman arrested. Sonic skidded to a halt and he surveyed the scene around him.

"Whoa…what did you guys do to the ship?" cried Sonic.

"We didn't do anything blue dude." said Mandy "The ship just…blew up itself for some reason. We assumed that was your doing but since you've just arrived here I guess you had nothing to do with the ship's destruction."

"We weren't." said Tails "Eggman got the best of us. I guess he just had a technical problem and his ship crashed down."

"It's a good thing it did happen though because we've now arrested Dr. Eggman!" cheered Wilson "The war is over at long last! We've won! We've won! Mobius is free once again!"

"You said it Wilson buddy." said Sonic with a thumbs up at the orange dog "Eggman is now going to rot in a prison cell and we will be free from his terror at long last."

Dr. Eggman just scowled and said nothing. Geoffrey and Wilson dragged Dr. Eggman away, ready to set him up at a MPD station and put him in a lonely old prison cell forever. Sonic just smugly waved goodbye to Dr. Eggman as he was dragged away. Dr. Eggman had been defeated at long last and Mobius was free to recuperate from Eggman's blows and conquest attempts at long last…or was it…?

Sonic and friends celebrate Eggman's imprisonment. Read and Review.

Jailed Egg

Story 77: Jailed Egg

"Extra! Extra! Dr. Eggman has been arrested and thrown in jail! Read all about it!" hollered the newspaper man as he ran down the busy streets of Empire City, holding out newspapers and handing them out to anyone willing to buy one.

Dr. Eggman's imprisonment seemed to have a glorious effect on the Mobians as the moment the news was announced, the entire population exploded into cheer and applause. The fat man had finally been defeated and now they could go back to their normal lives and forget all about Dr. Eggman's tyranny. Three such Mobians were pleased to read all about Eggman's capture. These three were the Chaotix, Espio the Chameleon, Vector the Crocodile and Charmy Bee. They were taking a stroll down Empire City and the moment they heard the hollering newspaper man, they decided that they had to read all about this. Vector received a copy from the man and he, Espio and Charmy immediately began to read the page about Eggman's imprisonment.

"Global terror and would-be-world-conqueror Dr. Eggman attempted to destroy Mobotropolis with a fleet of ships," read Vector "But his ship exploded and crash landed and the moment he was catapulted out of the wreckage, Queen Sally Acorn and the Royal Fighters arrested him on the spot, not before Royal Fighter Mandy Mouse decided to use his face for stress relief."

"Ha, ha, ha, ha! Mandy punched Eggman in the face again!*" laughed Charmy.

"Well that was an unexpected turn of events wasn't it?" asked Espio "Eggman's ship just exploded and that in turn ended up getting him caught and arrested. Good for us at least."

"It sure is Espio." beamed Vector, smiling as wide as a crocodile possibly could "Dr. Eggman's evil is over at last and we Mobians stand triumphant. I knew we'd be able to defeat him eventually."

"I can imagine that whiny baby's grumpy face right now as he sits in his boring prison cell being bored while we're free bees and still able to have fun and play around! Wheeeeee!" cheered Charmy, doing some back flips in mid-air (when you can fly, back flips are no problem.)

"Yeah, I bet Eggman's REALLY mad about this!" laughed Vector "And to think that he'll be in the same prison as Scourge the Hedgehog and Lord Sycorax too, seems fitting for that evil genius doesn't it?"

"Having Sonic's evil brother and your anarchist dad as cellmates is VERY fitting in my opinion." said Espio "They're all as evil as each other."

"You know what boys, I think we should go over to Royal HQ and see what Sonic and his buddies are up to." said Vector "What do you say?"

"I say let's go!" cried Charmy "Sonic's loads of fun! Yippee!"

"Then off to Royal HQ we go then." said Vector, strolling off down the street.

Espio and Charmy followed the crocodile as he headed off to Royal HQ back in Mobotropolis. He couldn't wait to say hi to his friends and hear what they had to say about this delightful turn of events…

Dr. Eggman had not had a good time right now. He had been beaten by the cops, changed into prison fatigues and now he was being put in his cell where he would spend the rest of his life in. Melchett the Hedgehog, the chief policeman in the MPD Station pushed Dr. Eggman roughly into the cell blockade and he steered him towards his cell, which was right at the back of the blockade and the only empty cell right now. Dr. Eggman just fumed to himself. A prisoner of his sworn enemies! How humiliating! Being a prisoner of G.U.N. back on Earth was nowhere near this humiliating! To make it worse however, some of Sonic or his friend's enemies were in the same blockade as him. There was, of course, Sonic's evil brother Scourge the Hedgehog, his girlfriend Fiona Fox, also a Royal Fighter traitor, and their snivelling sidekick Ginger the Fox, Tails' cousin. They were in a cell near to Dr. Eggman's. There was also Vector's evil father and region leader Lord Sycorax. He had been arrested after his failed attempt to destroy Castle Acorn and he had not been enjoying his time in prison at all. But they weren't the only ones, there was also Mr. Florenzi and his sidekicks Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza, agents of Dr. Eggman and the ones that sold Amy Rose to him. And finally, there were Marcus and Celia Punch, also agents of Dr. Eggman and the ones who enslaved Ruben the Water Panther before he met Sonic and friends*. Even though they had made a clean getaway from the camp when Alonzo trashed it with Egg-Peacock, they were captured a few days later after accidentally running into Melchett the Hedgehog while he was on duty so now they had been arrested as Melchett knew too well about their unspeakable evil. It surprised Dr. Eggman at the fact so many villains he knew were incarcerated along with him, save for Lord Sycorax as he hadn't met him yet. Everybody seemed surprised at the fact Dr. Eggman was in their neighbourhood and they instantly started an uproar.

"Well pull my tail!" gasped Fiona, pressed her nose against the glass door of her cell "It's Dr. Eggman!"

"The gluttonous gut ball appears to have been arrested much like we have." said Ginger "He's one of us now."

"Way to point out the obvious you poop-stain!" snarled Scourge, whacking Ginger with his hand "We can see that Eggman's been arrested you dope-head!"

"Sorry." muttered Ginger, rubbing his head.

"I must say, I wasn't expecting that fat moron to join us anytime soon." murmured Scourge as he watched Dr. Eggman get pushed by Melchett towards his cell.

"Hey Eggman, did that accursed hedgehog Sonic spin-dash your inventions to pieces and kick you your huge flabby backside?" sneered Mr. Polikaza.

"And we thought you were invincible Dr. Eggman!" cackled Mr. Wazikaza.

The two lizards began to laugh like hyenas at Eggman.

"Show some respect you two clowns!" snarled Mr. Florenzi, thumping the two lizards on the head "We were agents of his once remember?"

"Yes Mr. Florenzi." muttered Wazikaza and Polikaza, rubbing their heads tenderly.

"Dr. Eggman incarcerated?" mused Celia "This is a surprise isn't it Marcus dear?"

"Of course!" muttered Marcus.

"So this is the insidious Dr. Eggman is it?" mused Lord Sycorax "He's a lot less intimidating then I thought he would be. How anyone fears this sorry excuse for a villain is beyond my realms of deduction."

"Silence all of you!" snarled Melchett as he pushed Dr. Eggman "Eggman's fortunate arrestment does not mean you can cause an uproar! You are all forbidden to talk to this disgusting slime ball and if I catch any of you communicating with him or plotting with him, you will all receive a very painful punishment from me and Big Dave, is that clear?"

"Yes Melchett." lied the inmates.

Melchett huffed and he shoved Dr. Eggman into the empty cell. He closed the glass door behind Eggman, trapping the gluttonous scientist in the cell. Dr. Eggman sat against the wall and folded his arms, scowling so hard his face looked like it was about to burst in anger.

"I hope you'll enjoy your stay you monster." said Melchett coldly "Because you're going to be here for a VERY long time. So long in fact your lifespan will have expired by the time your sentence is up. That'll teach you to try and conquer our planet and roboticize all of us."

With that said, Melchett left Dr. Eggman to sulk in his cell and he left the cell blockade in a huff. The door clanged shut behind him, leaving the inmates to do nothing but sit around and talk.

"So egg-head, how did you get thrown in here then?" asked Scourge "Sonic finally stomp you into submission or something?"

"Amazingly enough, no." muttered Dr. Eggman "I unleashed my new Egg-Fleet on Central City and completely levelled the place…"

"You levelled Central City?" gasped Fiona "Wow! That is incredible! You levelled the world's largest city!"

"Yes I did." said Dr. Eggman "I then targeted Mobotropolis afterwards but before I could even reach the damn place, my ship suddenly exploded and crash-landed. I managed to get out of the cockpit but the force of the explosion messed up my landing and I crashed down onto the ground. Queen Sally and the Royal Fighters then took it upon themselves to arrest me and throw me in the brink here. What a humiliating defeat that is for me!"

"You're telling me." muttered Scourge "Me and my sidekicks here got foiled by Sonic during a heist on Royal HQ that almost worked until he showed up. Now we're in here and Melchett's clamped a control collar on me in order to inhibit my powers."

He pulled on the golden collar that was tightly clamped around his neck.

"The moron's considering lifting the ban on control collars unfortunately." muttered Scourge "So now any villain with super powers will have no chance of escape."

"How unfortunate for you." muttered Dr. Eggman "As for you Fiona, I haven't seen you in a while. Where have you been lately?"

"On the run that's where." muttered Fiona "I quit the Royal Fighters after only eight months of brawling it out with you and I ended up becoming a poor homeless street rat, having to steal to eat and constantly on the run from the cops. I met Scourge here and decided to go with him as he offers me more then the Royal Fighters ever did and I have no regrets."

"So you're a traitor eh?" purred Dr. Eggman "No wonder I had one Royal Fighter less to deal with. Just a pity you had to go with Scourge though…"

"I heard that doc!" snarled Scourge.

"So you did." muttered Eggman sarcastically "Congratulations. As for the ginger coloured fox with you, who is he?" he asked, pointing at Ginger "He reminds me heavily of Tails only he looks a little smarter looking in appearance."

"I am Ginger." introduced Ginger "Tails' far superior cousin…"

"And a big wormy toad who follows me around and is just there to be my punching bag." interrupted Scourge "That's all you need to know doc egg."

"Oy! I was telling him who I am Scourge! You had no right interrupt me!" wailed Ginger

"Oh shove an apple down your throat already!" muttered Scourge, shoving Ginger into a wall.

"I didn't know Tails had a cousin." murmured Dr. Eggman "Good thing he's not on Sonic's side, two twin-tailed foxes would be too much for me to handle just like two supersonic hedgehogs would be too much for me too handle."

"You got that right doc." sneered Scourge.

Dr. Eggman then turned his attention to his former agents who were about two cells away from his cell. Marcus and Celia were on his left side and Mr. Florenzi was on his right side.

"I remember you lot." he said to the Mobian sellers "You captured Mobians for me and sold them to me so I could roboticize them."

"Yes we did." said Mr. Florenzi "I'm so glad you remembered all our hard work just to get you what you wanted."

"Just a pity you can't spare any of your "precious time" to help your dear agents Eggman!" growled Celia "We worked hard for you and this is how you repay us? By leaving us to rot in a prison cell? Some gratitude you have flabby! Once I get out of this cell, I will whip you to death!"

"Do not bore me with petty threats Celia." scoffed Dr. Eggman "The first rule of the Eggman Empire is your agent only serves you until he is killed or incarcerated and when that happens, you just get another agent. I've got better things to do then bust your silly little hide out of prison so you may as well get used to life in here."

Celia looked like she was going to go rabid with rage at this very moment.

"You &*%^£$%^! I will rip your guts out for that!" roared Celia.

Marcus just grabbed his angry wife and held her tightly to himself to clam her down. Celia just flung her fists in blind rage, not even noticing that Marcus was squeezing her tightly. Dr. Eggman ignored the raging slave-trainer and he turned his attention onto Lord Sycorax. The Region leader was slumping against a wall and grumbling to himself.

"As for you." he said "I do not believe our paths have crossed before. Who might you be then?"

Lord Sycorax was surprised at the fact Eggman was paying attention to him and he stood up.

"I am Lord Sycorax." explained Lord Sycorax "Leader of the Region of Rebellious Reptiles, a region created by me that destroys whatever we reptiles rebel against, hence the reason it is called the Region of Rebellious Reptiles, and we seek to purge the world of democracy as we despise politics and I've destroyed many political landmarks, including the Palace of Soleanna, and I almost added Castle Acorn to my ever growing list of destroyed political landmarks until Vector and his team showed up and destroyed my ship and caused me to get arrested! My henchmen haven't been arrested though so they'll likely be plotting to rescue me and…"

"Oh SHUT UP!" bellowed Scourge "Eggman only asked for your name you dumb animal! He didn't ask for you to go on and on about yourself!"

"Well how can I properly introduce myself if I don't tell him what my career is?" snapped Lord Sycorax "Besides, I can talk as much as I want to! There's no law saying there's a limit on how much you can say in a day you know!"

"Yeah, just a pity there's a limit on how much our ears can stand your never-ending bragging." muttered Scourge "You could brag for Mobius you could."

"I certainly could!" boasted Lord Sycorax "No one is a better bragger then I am! Heck, no one is better then anything then I am! I am the best villain that's ever existed! I'm strong, I'm mighty and I'm amazingly good looking too so I'm the best there is!"

"Yeah right, if you're the best there is then how come you're in a dull, boring prison cell stuck with nothing to do but idolize yourself?" sneered Fiona.

"You can shut your accursed mouth you wretched vixen!" snarled Lord Sycorax "I'm only here because of a minor setback in my plans! I wouldn't be here if it wasn't for that setback whereas you lot are here because you are either not as amazing as I am or you're just too puny to face your resisters!"

"That's a lot of talk coming from a crocodile with a mouth so big you could put a house in it." jeered Scourge "Maybe his mouth is stronger then his muscles!"

The entire cell blockade erupted into shrieks of laughter at Scourge's joke. Lord Sycorax began to fume angrily. So angrily in fact steam poured out of his ears and his face turned redder then the pits of Hell itself. He thumped the glass door angrily but without his strength-enhancing gauntlets, he wasn't strong enough to break the door.

"I'll make you eat those poorly chosen words you walking pin cushion!" snarled Lord Sycorax "At lunchtime, me and you will have a showdown on the yard to prove that I am the most amazing villain in the prison!"

"Go ahead." said Scourge casually "You'll only regret it when you end up littering the ground with your broken teeth."

Lord Sycorax roared loudly in frustration and he turned his back on Scourge angrily. He began to swear very badly to himself. Scourge just snickered at him and he turned his back on the Region leader. Fiona sat beside him with a concerned look on her face.

"Scourge baby, you can't fight this guy!" she said worriedly "He'll kill you! You can't use your speed or powers because of that control collar! He'll snap you in half!"

"No he won't." sneered Scourge "I have two very loyal helpers who can watch my back and give me some extra muscle in this fight."

It didn't take Fiona long to work out what he meant.

"Oh, you mean us." said Fiona, motioning to herself and Ginger "Well I'll be happy to kick that jerk's teeth in for you."

She wrapped her arms coyly around Scourge and nuzzled his cheek with her muzzle. Scourge clearly appeared to be enjoying that feeling he was getting from Fiona cuddling him.

"I know you will Fiona." said Scourge "And as pathetic as Ginger is, I'm sure he'll be useful in this battle."

"I certainly will Scourge." boasted Ginger "I'll trip him up or fly around in his face to distract him while you and Fiona pound him into submission. Genius."

"I know." said Scourge "It's genius because I thought of it. I can't wait till lunchtime. Lord Sycorax is going to look like such a fool at the end of the day!"

The three convicts began laughing to themselves at the very thought of Lord Sycorax being humiliated. As for Dr. Eggman, he had turned his back on everybody and he sat in the corner, thinking away like crazy to himself. He was wondering why his ship crashed and where his snivelling servant bot was right now.

"That ship I built is flawless!" he grumbled to himself "However did it end up exploding and crashing down? The ship was programmed to warn me if there were any technical difficulties at all so it couldn't have been a fault! There must have been something wrong or someone sabotaged the ship."

He began to think some more on this subject.

"And why was the cockpit door locked when I tried to escape?" he asked himself "I didn't lock it at all and it doesn't lock itself. And why didn't Alonzo respond to my call when I ordered him to come?" "Alonzo never ignores me, he comes whenever I call him. Unless…"

His mind suddenly ticked.

"Unless he wasn't even ON the ship!" he deduced "Of course! He left me alone in the cockpit! He must have locked me in and fled from the ship! But Alonzo's loyal to me! He couldn't have been responsible for that! But…"

He began to think on all the times Alonzo muttered angrily when he was mean to him or got angry at him. Not to mention Alonzo would readily insult him at the first available opportunity. So maybe Alonzo wasn't as loyal as he thought he was. Eggman suddenly realized what was going on now. His loyal servant bot had betrayed him! He was the cause of his arrestment and crash down! There was no one else who could have possibly done it! Eggman's mind ticked so loud you'd think there was a clock in his head.

"That's it!" he cried "Alonzo caused my ship to crash! He must have sabotaged it and caused it to explode and he got out in the confusion! There was no one else on the ship so it MUST have been Alonzo! I bet that little twerp's run away all the way back to Robotropolis and is planning to take over my position! Well, that pointy headed twit has got another thing coming!"

He cackled to himself and he rolled up his glove, revealing a watch device he had managed to hide from the cops. The device was a remote control device for Metal Sonic 3.0 and when Eggman switched the watch on, the robot Sonic clone activated and did whatever Eggman commanded him to do. The watch was displaying Metal Sonic 3.0's function status so that meant he had survived the crash and was buried underneath tonnes of metal and debris from the wreckage. Metal Sonic 3.0 was just as strong as the original Metal Sonic after all so it would take more then a ship crash to destroy him. Eggman switched on the watch device and waited for Metal Sonic 3.0 to come and save him from his imprisonment.

As for Metal Sonic 3.0, the wreckage of Eggman's flagship had been taken to a scrap yard in Megapolis so the Metal Sonic clone was a long way away from Empire Cityright now. Not that it would be a problem as Metal Sonic 3.0 had all the abilities of the original Metal Sonic, including his super speed so he would be inEmpireCityin record time. Metal Sonic 3.0 burst his way effortlessly through the wreckage of the ship and he dusted himself off. He had gotten Eggman's call and he pinpointed where Dr. Eggman was at this time. Now he knew where his master was, the loyal, insentient robot could save his master from the Mobian prison he had been thrown in. Metal Sonic 3.0 activated his jetpack and he rocketed off into the distance in search of his master. The poor cops at Empire City wouldn't stand a chance once he arrived at the MPD station…

Meanwhile in Robotropolis, Alonzo had arrived back and he had gathered all the robots of Robotropolis into Eggman's main headquarters for a meeting. The headquarters couldn't quite fit all the robots into one room so many of them stayed outside and listened to Alonzo's testimony through intercoms outside. Mecha Rouge, Eggman's roboticized lackey and Katherine, Eggman's silent fem-bot stood at the front and waited as Alonzo stood on a stage before the robot population of Robotropolis. The butler bot was very pleased with himself at what he had just done but he did his best not to show his glee to the audience or they would get suspicious. He put on a fake sad face and pretended to feel sadden by Dr. Eggman's loss. He had no idea if the fat scientist had EVEN survived the ship crash so for all Alonzo knew, he could be dead or what not. Alonzo cleared his throat and spoke into the microphone on the stage that he adjusted to his height.

"Attention robots of the Eggman Empire." he announced in his snooty, portly gentlemen voice that echoed around the room as he spoke into the mike "I have some very unfortunate news for you all."

"What-might-that-be-then?" asked Mecha Rouge.

"Dr. Eggman's flagship, the flagship to his Egg-Fleet, exploded and crashed down on the ground at the feet of Mobotropolis." explained Alonzo "Dr. Eggman…unfortunately perished in the crash."

The whole population of Robotropolis erupted into a robotical chorus of robotical gasping.

"This is impossible !" cried a voice Katherine played to Alonzo " Dr. Eggman is glorious AND POWERFUL! He can't possibly be dead now !"

"Unfortunately my silent fem-bot who needs recorded voices to speak for her, he has." said Alonzo with a sneer on his face "No one can survive a ship crash. There is however a ray of light shining through the darkness of this tragedy my friends."

"What-do-you-mean-by-that?" asked Mecha Rouge.

"Now Dr. Eggman has passed away, I will take his place as leader of the Eggman Empire." announced Alonzo.

The crowd fell silent for a moment and then suddenly, they burst out into a robotical chorus of robotical laughter. Alonzo's face fell at that response.

"You-are-not-able-to-lead-us-Alonzo." jeered an Egg-Pawn "You-are-only-a-ser-vant-bot."

"So what if I am?" snapped Alonzo "I'm way more intelligent then Dr. Eggman and I'm his right-hand man, therefore I'm the only one capable of taking over from Dr. Eggman!"

"We-will-not-take-orders-from-a-mere-ser-vant-bot." said an Egg-Pawn firmly "And-you-can-not-make-us."

"Oh but I can and I will." said Alonzo darkly, opening a side compartment on his body and pulling out a data-stick "On this data-stick, I have a virus that I'll upload into you all and once I do, you'll all explode. Unless…you want to follow my orders?"

The robots all suddenly bowed down to the two-wheeled missile shaped robot.

"Alonzo's our leader! Alonzo's our leader!" they all chanted desperately.

"That's better." said Alonzo, putting the data-stick back in his side-compartment "However, to ensure total loyalty to me, I will re-alter your programming so you'll obey only me. Any attempts to resist will result in my uploading the virus into you all so do not try to resist me."

"Yes-Alonzo." droned the crowd.

"And now I'm leader, I demand the Eggman Empire logo to be changed to suit my image as it is my empire now." said Alonzo, scowling at the very thought of the current Eggman Empire logo.

"Yes-Alonzo." droned the crowd.

"And while you're at it, I'll be changing my appearance so I look more like a robot leader to you all." said Alonzo "You're all dismissed and you may get to work now. See you all in a tick everybody!"

The crowd of robots all filed out at once and they left the headquarters, leaving Alonzo alone on the stage to stand there basking in glory to himself. He began to do a little dance of joy to himself.

"Yes! This Empire is mine now!" he cheered to himself "Now I can unleash my secret project on Mobius and become Alonzo, ruler of Mobius and leader of the Eggman Empire!"

Alonzo began to picture himself standing on top of a pile of dead Mobian bodies with his arms raised in triumph and cackling like a demon to himself…

Meanwhile, Team Chaotix had arrived at Royal HQ and the first thing they noticed was that there appeared to be loud music booming from inside the building. It sounded like something was going on in there. Vector could hear the music coming from inside the headquarters (despite the fact he always has his trademark earphones playing 24/7) and he began to wonder what was going on in there.

"Hey boys, do you hear that?" asked Vector.

"It sounds like a party." said Charmy with a big smile on his face "Let's go in and see what it's about!"

"I have a strong feeling I know what its about." said Espio.

"Well if it's a party, I'll be glad to join in." said Vector, walking into Royal HQ "We could do with some fun we could."

Vector, Espio and Charmy all walked into Royal HQ together and they followed the sound of the music, which was notoriously louder once they were inside the building. They followed the sound to the lab and they stepped inside. A wonderful sight met their eyes the moment they opened the door. The lab was decorated with party balloons, banners and streamers and disco-lights were flashing everywhere and bouncing off the walls and floors as the music played and the disco-ball slowly rotated around suspended from the ceiling. There were even tables of food and drinks in the corner. The banners that hung from the walls said in big neon red letters "VICTORY OVER EGGMAN!" That obviously meant this party was about the defeat of Dr. Eggman and his recent incarceration. Everybody they knew was at this party. Sonic the Hedgehog, Tails the Fox, Knuckles the Echidna, Amy Rose, Cream the Rabbit, Cosmo the Seedrian, Wilson the Dog, Mandy Mouse, Bunnie Rabbot, Geoffrey St. John the Skunk, Ruben the Water Panther and even Sonic's newest friend Shade the Echidna whom the Chaotix hadn't met yet. Tails, Amy, Cream, Cosmo and Ruben were all having a boogie together in time to the disco music that blared around the room whereas Sonic was chatting to Bunnie Rabbot while drinking a cup of punch.

"This party is way past cool isn't it Bunnie?" said Sonic, raising his voice so he could be heard over the music.

"It sure is sugah-hog!" beamed Bunnie, sipping some punch "And ah'm so glad it's about our victory over Eggman! Makes it all the more worth celebratin' doesn't it?"

"It certainly does." said Sonic "Boy I can just imagine that fat idiot grumbling like an idiot to himself in prison right now."

"Hey Sonic!" cried Vector as he, Espio and Charmy walked into the lab.

Sonic looked away from Bunnie and saw Team Chaotix coming towards him.

"Hey! The Chaotix have come to join the party!" cried Sonic "Even better! Hi Chaotix!" he said with a wave to them.

"Hi Sonic." said Vector "Me and the boys have just read about Eggman's incarceration and we decided to come over here to see what you were up to. Looks like we were just in time for a party."

"You got that right Vector." said Sonic "We've having this party for obvious reasons I don't need to explain and everybody's having a whale of time! Look all around you!"

The Chaotix observed their surroundings and they noticed all the happy faces in the lab as they danced about and partied like mad. Tails, Amy, Cream, Cosmo and Ruben were having a great time dancing with each other and everybody else seemed to be standing around talking or drinking or eating. Eggman's defeat had clearly brought joy to everybody's face right now and the Chaotix were more then pleased at this.

"Hey Vector, can I join Tails and the girls in dancing?" asked Charmy "I love to boogie!"

"Whatever you want Charmy." beamed Vector "It's a party after all so you enjoy yourself you little rascal!"

Charmy did a cartwheel in the air and he cheered like a fan at a football game that's just seen the team he's supporting score a goal.

Charmy flew over to Tails, Amy, Cream, Cosmo and Ruben and joined in with the dancing. Cream was delighted to see the Chaotix had come and she began to dance with Charmy as the music played a different track. It played a rather loud, rocky tune that could get the biggest of sourpusses jamming and rocking in time to the music. As for Sonic, Knuckles and Shade came up to the hedgehog and Sonic turned to face them.

"So Sonic, how did Eggman get defeated then?" asked Knuckles "We haven't heard anything about it yet."

"Well I kinda missed it so all I know is what I've been told." said Sonic "Apparently, the flagship to Eggman's new Egg-Fleet suddenly exploded and crashed down in the meadow outside of Mobotropolis and Eggman was quickly arrested after he ejected from the ship and landed at the feet of Queen Sally Acorn."

"So after all these months of fighting and destroying his robots, Eggman gets defeated by a technical fault." sneered Knuckles "Pretty lame way for him to go isn't it?"

"It doesn't matter how Eggman got defeated, as long as he got defeated." noted Shade "Now his tyranny is over, we can put the whole conflict behind us and continue with our daily lives as if he never came here."

"It's gonna take a while for us to recuperate but we'll get there." said Sonic reassuringly "And while we're doing that, Eggman will be stuck in a prison cell with nothing to do but put grief on himself. Just what he deserves in my opinion."

"So what will the R.F.S. do now Eggman's defeated?" asked Knuckles "Eggman's defeat kinda makes you guys obsolete now doesn't it?"

"Nah, we've still got enemies like Marik the Martian and those four guys that teamed up with the late Lola Gunn to finish off." noted Sonic "And Eggman's servant bot Alonzo is likely still alive as his body was never found in the wreckage of Eggman's ship. Not that we should be worried as Alonzo's no threat."

"Alonzo may not be a threat but he might make himself one." noted Espio "He is Eggman's servant bot after all and being a robot, he could make all kinds of upgrades and improvements to himself to make himself a threat."

"I probably might." said Sonic casually "But we'll stomp on him before he gets a chance. Tomorrow, the R.F.S. are gonna storm Robotropolis and wipe it off the map so we won't have any reminders of Dr. Eggman around. While doing that, they're also gonna de-roboticize any Robian they see in the city."

"Sounds good." said Vector. He turned his attention to Shade. "As for you miss, are you new here? We haven't seen you before."

"I am new here." said Shade "My name is Shade the Echidna, newly appointed assistant guardian ofAngelIsland. I'm anAngelIslandresident but I've only just become a guardian."

She didn't really want to go into exposition mode about her shady past and Imperator Ix as the Chaotix wouldn't understand so she just gave them that piece of information.

"Nice to meet you Shade." said Vector politely "My name's Vector, this is Espio and the dancing bee over there is Charmy." he pointed over to Charmy who was dancing the Macarena with Tails, Amy, Cream, Cosmo and Ruben "Together, we're Team Chaotix." finished Vector.

"You look like a formidable trio." said Shade "I may have to see you three in battle some day."

"Trust me, you'll be impressed with us Shade!" boasted Vector, flexing his biceps and growling in a manly matter.

"Vector, don't show off to the new arrival." muttered Espio, hiding his face in shame.

Vector quickly stopped what he was doing, almost going red in the face. Shade didn't say anything about it and just turned her attention back to Sonic.

"So hedgehog, how long is this party going to last?" she asked.

"As long as you want it to Shade." said Sonic "After all, no one's gonna ruin our fun right now!"

But just as Sonic said that, the music suddenly stopped playing and everything fell into a weird silence. The dancers groaned crossly as they were enjoying the music very much.

"Hey, who sent the radio to the graveyard?" moaned Mandy.

"Is there a technical fault?" asked Wilson.

"The lab's computer doesn't seem to be registering any faults." said Tails as he peered at the computer monitors on the wall.

The music was playing on the computers as there was no radio in the lab. The computer suddenly flashed into life and the face of Queen Sally Acorn appeared on it.

"Hey Queenie, what's the big idea interrupting our party?" griped Sonic "We were enjoying ourselves here!"

"Yes, I'm pretty sure you were." said Sally "I'm sorry about this but I've just seen a black Metal Sonic zoom past here and head off in Empire City's direction!" she shrieked "I have a nasty feeling it's going to bust him out of prison!"

The entire room erupted into a chorus of gasping in horror.

"I bet it's that Metal Sonic re-colour I though on Eggman's fleet!" muttered Sonic "It must have survived the ship's crash and is hoping to save Dr. Eggman! Will, the hedgehog has something to say about this! And the hedgehog says "Eggman is staying in that prison and I'll make sure he stays there! Even if I die trying!"!"

"Then go already Sonic!" yelled Knuckles "EmpireCityneeds you now!"

"OK then Knuckie." said Sonic "Bye everybody! Get ready to start partying again as this prison escape is going to be foiled!"

Sonic zoomed out of the lab and headed off to Empire City to stop Metal Sonic 3.0 from breaking Eggman out.

"Eggman's not escaping!" yelled Sonic to himself "Eggman's NOT escaping!"

Meanwhile, Metal Sonic 3.0 had arrived at Empire City after a good long hour of hovering there with his jet-pack and the first thing that happened upon his arrival was that every cop in the Mobian Police Department burst out of the station and formed a blockade with their hover cars and they got their weapons ready. They clocked their guns and pointed them at the oncoming Metal Sonic re-colour. Metal Sonic 3.0 zoomed into view and he bared his claws. The policemen all fired their guns at Metal Sonic 3.0 but being a robot, the bullets had no effect on Metal Sonic 3.0 at all. Metal Sonic 3.0 then curled up into a ball and he spin-dashed straight through the blockade. He dented the police cars or sent them flying and he sent the policemen in the blockade flying everywhere. Some of the policemen landed very sharply on the road and ended up breaking their backs whereas others were crushed by the cars that had been sent flying and ended up landing on top of them. General Melchett couldn't believe the sheer power behind Metal Sonic 3.0. He'd just ploughed through a police blockade as if it was nothing! How could they stop that thing now? General Melchett desperately fired his pistol at Metal Sonic 3.0 but the bullets bounced harmlessly of the Sonic duplicate's armour. Metal Sonic 3.0 clawed Melchett across the chest and knocked the four-spiked hedgehog off his feet. Melchett lay on the ground, writhing in pain and he clutched his throbbing chest. Metal Sonic 3.0 flew over to the MPD station and he blasted his way into the station. General Chipper, Melchett's assistant who was sitting at the check in desk, leaped in surprise at the burst in and he instantly whipped out his pistol. But before he could even use it, Metal Sonic 3.0 blasted General Chipper and sent him crashing into a wall. The crash was heard even by the prisoners in the cell blockade and they began to wonder about the noise.

"What the sand-hill is going on out there?" cried Lord Sycorax

"Sounds like someone's having a brawl out there!" cried Scourge happily "Pity I'm not part of it! I love kicking people's asses!"

Suddenly, the cell blockade door was ripped off it's hinged and tossed aside by Metal Sonic 3.0. The Metal Sonic clone stood there menacingly with its red eyes glowing ominously. Dr. Eggman smiled as wide as he could at the Metal Sonic re-colour. The prisoners all stared in wonder at Metal Sonic 3.0.

"I guess this is your toy then?" asked Fiona.

"It certainly is." sneered Dr. Eggman "And it's also MY ticket out of here!"

Metal Sonic 3.0 suddenly shot up the isle and spin-dashed the glass door into a million pieces. Dr. Eggman shielded his face to make sure no glass would land on his face. The remains of Eggman's cell door lay on the floor in shards and pieces on the floor. Dr. Eggman began to cackle madly at the top of his voice.

"Yes! YES! Dr. Ivo Eggman is free to roboticize all of Mobius once again!" he cheered at the top of his voice.

"That's real cute Eggy Many." muttered Scourge "Now do you mind breaking us out as well?"

"I certainly DO mind!" growled Dr. Eggman "None of you are my allies or worth breaking out at all! Scourge, you destroyed the first Robotropolis*, Fiona, you used to be a Royal Fighter, Mr. Florenzi, I can't be bothered, Marcus and Celia, I don't like you and Lord Sycorax, I have no idea what you're like but I know you're going to be my enemy so I will not break anybody out!"

"You get us out of here or I will rip your spleen out and shove it down your throat!" roared Celia, scratching her door angrily.

"How can you do that when you're trapped and I'm not?" sneered Dr. Eggman "Now, shut up everybody while I flee from here!"

"Nobody's fleeing from anywhere!" came a voice that Dr. Eggman was very annoyed to hear right now.

Sonic the Hedgehog had finally arrived at the MPD station and he stood there, leaning against the doorway with his arms folded and a cocky smirk on his face.

"Hi there Eggman, I wasn't expecting you to plan a prison break any time soon." he said casually.

"Well I am known for my contingency Sonic." said Eggman "I made this remote-watch device to call Metal Sonic 3.0 at will and since I need him, I called him here and now he's breaking me out of here!"

"Yeah that's real nice Eggman." said Sonic "Just one problem though…there's going to be a million angry faces once you escape from here so therefore, I have no choice but to stomp on your Metal Sonic re-colour and prevent you from escaping."

"We'll see about that Sonic!" roared Dr. Eggman "Metal Sonic 3.0, kill him!"

Metal Sonic 3.0 obeyed and charged towards Sonic at top speed. Sonic just scoffed and he charged towards Metal Sonic 3.0. Sonic had to win this fight or the biggest evil on Mobius would be back to throw the planet into relapse just as it was beginning to recuperate…

Breakout!

Story 78: Breakout!

The Mobotropolis Royal Fighters and Team Chaotix were all gathered around the lab's computer monitors and tensely waiting for any news on Eggman's attempted break-out. Tails, the twin-tailed fox with the mind of a mechanical genius, was taping on the keyboards frantically and see if he could get a visual on the MPD station of Empire City so they could see what was going on at the prison. After a while of taping on keys and fumbling through the screens, Tails managed to hack into one of the security cameras in the cell blockade and they finally managed to get a visual of the prison brawl that was going on in the station.

"Hey guys! I've got a visual!" cried Tails.

"What's going on? Has Eggman escaped yet? Is Sonic there to stop him?" asked the Chaotix junior member Charmy Bee, buzzing around frantically.

"Well it appears that Sonic made it in time and is fighting that black Metal Sonic Queen Sally spotted earlier." said Tails, staring intently at the screen.

The visual contact he had managed to get was showing him the fight between Sonic and Metal Sonic 3.0. The fight looked intense with both opponents spin-dashing each other and trying to beat each other's brains out whilst also trying to avoid accidentally crashing into a cell door so they wouldn't break it and free another prisoner. The fight looked pretty even sided so far. Everybody stared intently at the screen along with Tails.

"Oh blue dude, please don't fail!" begged fellow fighter Mandy Mouse as she watched the fight "Please, PLEASE don't fail!"

"Of course he won't fail." Wilson the Dog reassured the mouse "He's Sonic the Hedgehog; he always wins in the end."

"You got that right Wilson but did you forget about the fact the original Metal Sonic was a match for fifteen of us at once so Sonic won't have a chance against this Metal Sonic re-colour!" cried Knuckles the Echidna, Angel Island guardian "Unless of course, that Metal Sonic is weaker then the original."

"It seems like it because Sonic's putting up a much better fight then against the original Metal Sonic." said Tails "Or maybe he's just had plenty of practice fighting the original Metal Sonic, he knows how to fight this one."

"Either way, Sonic must defeat that thing or Eggman will be unleashed on Mobius once again and we'll have to defeat him all over again!" shrieked Knuckles.

Tails nodded agreeably. He turned his attention back to the battle, his stomach tightening in worry. Sonic just had to win this fight or Dr. Eggman would escape and Mobius will not recuperate from all his evil like it was beginning to do…

Back at the prison, Sonic the Hedgehog and Metal Sonic 3.0 were fighting each other like mad. Dr. Eggman watched the whole fight while remaining in his cell so he wouldn't be in the way of the battle. The convicts in the cell blockade, Scourge the Hedgehog, Fiona Fox, Ginger the Fox, Lord Sycorax, Marcus and Celia Punch, Mr. Florenzi, Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza were all watching the fight and commenting on whenever Metal Sonic 3.0 began to pulverize Sonic into the dirt. After all, no evil doer liked Sonic the Hedgehog, even ones that haven't met him yet such as Lord Sycorax and the Punches. Sonic leaped onto the wall just above Mr. Florenzi's cell door and he homing-attacked Metal Sonic 3.0. Metal Sonic 3.0 retaliated with a punch to the face. Then the insidious Metal Sonic re-colour clawed at Sonic, almost slashing him across the face but Sonic bent over backwards to dodge the swipe. Sonic then kicked Metal Sonic 3.0 in the gut and sent him hurling backwards towards Dr. Eggman's cell. Because Dr. Eggman's cell door was broken, Metal Sonic 3.0 went straight into the cell and crashed into the wall at the back of the cell. Dr. Eggman had stepped to the side so he avoided getting hit. Dr. Eggman grabbed Metal Sonic 3.0 and hauled him to his feet.

"Stop messing around and kill that rodent already!" roared Dr. Eggman.

Metal Sonic 3.0 obeyed and he charged over to Sonic at top speed. He spin-dashed Sonic and knocked him down into the floor. The convicts laughed at Sonic as he was ground into the dirt by Metal Sonic 3.0.

"Awesome! Do it again black Metal Sonic!" cried Scourge happily.

"How does it feel to be on the losing edge of this battle Sonic?" sneered Polikaza with his nose pressed against the door and a big toothy grin on his ugly, scaly face.

"I bet it feels horrible to Mr. "I'm invincible because I can run fast and I can beat Dr. Eggman but no one else can."!" crowed Wazikaza.

The two lizards began to laugh like playing schoolchildren at the supersonic blue hedgehog. Sonic grumbled to himself as he picked himself up.

"Shut up lizards." muttered Sonic "Unless you wanna say anything useful that is."

The two lizards just folded their arms and glared at Sonic with their yellow and amber coloured eyes respectively. Sonic charged towards Metal Sonic 3.0 once again and the robot Sonic clone swiped at him with it's claws. Sonic did a leap-frog over Metal Sonic 3.0 and he landed behind him. Metal Sonic 3.0 was about to let Sonic have it with a whack to the face but Sonic dropkicked Metal Sonic 3.0 in the chin and knocked him over.

"You're good Metal Sonic 3.0 or whatever it is Eggman calls you, but nowhere near as good as the original Metal Sonic." crowed Sonic "The original Metal Sonic would be pounding my hide into the ground already. You can't even get close to matching that kind of power."

Metal Sonic 3.0 just promptly let Sonic have it in the face with his torso laser. Sonic was blasted by the laser and sent hurling into Eggman's cell. Dr. Eggman decided to add insult to injury by leaping up and bouncing Sonic away with his big flabby belly. Sonic hit Eggman's gut and he was sent hurling away by the sheer flabbiness of his fat tummy. Sonic hurtled back towards Metal Sonic 3.0 and the Sonic robot leaped up, clasped his fists together and whacked Sonic down onto the floor with them. Sonic hit the floor so hard his face felt like it was going to crumble to pieces. The convicts laughed at him again. This was quite the show for them and they were enjoying it.

"Hey guys!" yelled Lord Sycorax "I bet you 100 Mobiums that the Eggman robot beats Sonic the Hedgehog!"

"You're on!" laughed Scourge "I couldn't handle a Metal Sonic when I fought one* and I'm more powerful then Sonic so if I can't beat a Metal Sonic then Sonic is bound to lose!"

"I put double on Sonic." muttered Mr Florenzi "He always wins."

Sonic wasn't too pleased to hear some of his enemies wagering bets on his fight with Metal Sonic 3.0 right now.

"What do you think this place is? A casino?" sneered Sonic "You haven't got any money to bet so you can't go wagering bets on me!"

"Shut up Sonic." snapped Mr. Florenzi.

"No I don't think I will." retorted Sonic "The hedgehog is free to speak as much as he wants to…"

You'd think by know Sonic would have learnt not to start bragging in the middle of a battle for Metal Sonic 3.0 suddenly spin-dashed him in the gut and sent him flying out of the cell blockade. Sonic skidded to a halt and charged back into the cell blockade before Metal Sonic 3.0 could run for it.

"I've really got to keep my attention focused!" muttered Sonic "This is the fight of my life here! Eggman's escape hangs in the balance and I can't let him escape after all our hard work to bring him down!"

Sonic then proceeded to spin-dash into Metal Sonic 3.0's torso and send him hurling backwards a good few feet. Metal Sonic 3.0

however bounded off the walls and hurtled back towards Sonic. He rammed into Sonic and the two ended up rolling over each other on the floor. Metal Sonic 3.0 however managed to roll upright, leap up off the floor and throw Sonic over his head. Sonic crashed into the floor again and Metal Sonic 3.0 tried to shoot him with his torso laser. Sonic rolled out of the way and left Metal Sonic 3.0 to shoot the floor. Sonic leaped back onto his feet and he grabbed Metal Sonic 3.0's shoulders. He flipped himself up over Metal Sonic 3.0's head while still holding him by the shoulders and as he landed on his feet behind Metal Sonic 3.0, he hoisted the Sonic duplicate above his head and slammed him down onto his back in front of him. Sonic then proceeded to kick Metal Sonic 3.0 and send him skidding into a wall. Metal Sonic 3.0 crashed head first into the wall and it droned a robotical drone of pain to itself. Dr. Eggman began to get furious. He'd put all his time and effort into making Metal Sonic 3.0 stronger then even the original Metal Sonic and he was getting beaten by Sonic! Where had he gone wrong? Sonic stood before Dr. Eggman and he smirked an unusually dark smirk at the fat scientist. Dr. Eggman began to grow nervous. Was Sonic going to attack him?

"Well Eggman, looks like your Metal Sonic replacement has failed you." gloated Sonic "I've just kicked it's shiny metal butt all the way to kingdom come whereas the original Metal Sonic could hold out against me and fourteen others. Looks like you're losing your edge."

"I am not losing my edge!" roared Dr. Eggman "You've just…um… improved since the last time you met Metal Sonic that's all!"

"Yeah right." snorted Sonic "I fought Metal Sonic when he was badly crippled and just about dead and I still couldn't defeat him so this new Metal Sonic is nothing compared to the original!"

"What are you talking about Sonic?" snapped Dr. Eggman "Metal Sonic was always in good condition when you fought him so you didn't fight an almost dead Metal Sonic at all!"

"I can't be bothered to explain doc." said Sonic "Now your Metal Sonic 3.0 is down, we can take him to the scrap yard where he can rust and you get to stay in prison where you belong. We may need to put you in a new cell though since your cell door's in itty bitty bite-sized pieces." he added, noting the shards of glass that was once a glass door that kept Eggman trapped in the cell unable to do any harm to do anybody.

But just as Sonic was talking to Dr. Eggman, Metal Sonic 3.0 rose back up, his red optics blazing with hatred and he bared his claws. Metal Sonic 3.0 then suddenly grabbed Sonic by the throat and hoisted him up off the floor. Sonic gagged and he clutched Metal Sonic 3.0's arm desperately. Metal Sonic 3.0 just held Sonic clean off the floor, his emotionless red optics glazing straight at the helpless hedgehog in his grasp. Dr. Eggman sneered at the throttled hedgehog.

"You really should learn to check twice before you assume you've won Sonic." sneered Dr. Eggman "Maybe you'll actually get somewhere and not into more trouble. Metal Sonic 3.0, kill him!"

Metal Sonic 3.0 obeyed and he tightened his grip on Sonic's neck. Sonic began to gag even louder and he could feel the air in his lungs depleting. He was slowly but surely being throttled to death. Sonic desperately tried something to save himself from being choked to death. He began to rapidly move his feet as if he was running and his feet moved back and forth so fast they became a red blur underneath him. His rapidly moving feet hit Metal Sonic 3.0 rapidly in the chest and the killer Eggman robot was forced to drop Sonic after getting one hit too many from the hedgehog. Sonic dropped down and he punched Metal Sonic 3.0 as hard as he could. Metal Sonic 3.0 retaliated with an uppercut to the chin and Sonic ended up hurling straight up into the ceiling. He hit the ceiling head first and he landed back down on the floor bottom first. Sonic rubbed his throbbing cranium and Metal Sonic 3.0 pounced on him. Metal Sonic 3.0 pinned Sonic down to the floor and he raised his hand. He bared his claws and aimed straight for Sonic's chest. But before Metal Sonic 3.0 could plunged his claws into Sonic's body, Sonic grabbed his arm and blocked the attack. He then pushed Metal Sonic 3.0 off of himself and leaped back onto his feet. Metal Sonic 3.0 tired to spin-dash Sonic but Sonic jumped out of the way. Big mistake though as Metal Sonic 3.0 ended up accidentally spin-dashing into Scourge the Hedgehog's cell door! Metal Sonic 3.0 broke the door into a thousand pieces, freeing Scourge, Fiona and Ginger all at once! Dr. Eggman immediately fumed angrily at his Sonic robot clone.

"You idiot! You wasn't supposed to free Scourge the Hedgehog as well as me!" he yelled angrily at Metal Sonic 3.0.

Metal Sonic 3.0 just leaped back towards Sonic and tried to attack him again. As for Scourge, he Fiona and Ginger stepped out of their cell and they beamed happily. Scourge punched the air triumphantly.

"Hell yeah! I'm free at last baby!" he cheered.

" We're free you mean Scourge." correct Ginger.

"Whatever." snapped Scourge "You and Fiona go and find our confiscated clothes while I join Metal Sonic in his battle with Sonic. Once you're all changed you can join me in the battle if you want."

"You can't join this battle Scourge!" shrieked Fiona "You've got a control collar on! You can't use your powers and speed!"

"I'll trick Metal Sonic into breaking it." said Scourge "Now go and get our clothes! I'm not staying in these prison fatigues any longer!"

"Neither am I." muttered Fiona "They're itchy and uncomfortable."

Fiona and Ginger ran past the brawling Sonic and Metal Sonic 3.0 and the two foxes ran out of the cell blockade and looked around for the room where confiscated items were kept. As for Scourge, he stood there and watched Sonic and Metal Sonic 3.0 fight each other. Sonic was clearly getting annoyed at the fact his evil brother was now free as well as Dr. Eggman.

"OK freeing Eggman's one thing Metal Sonic the Second but freeing Scourge and his fox friends is going to far!" yelled Sonic "I'll scrap you for this!"

Metal Sonic 3.0 just smacked Sonic away and sent him skidding across the floor. He was about to attack again until Scourge stopped him.

"Hey Metal Sonic!" he yelled "Shoot me! I'm an enemy of Dr.

Eggman's as well! Shoot me if you want! Go on! I'm wide open!"

Metal Sonic 3.0 did as he was told eerily enough and he fired his torso cannon at Scourge. Scourge turned around and bent down so the laser would hit him in the back of the neck. The collar would protect him from the blast so it wouldn't kill him luckily enough. The blast struck Scourge's neck and the control collar was fried and broken by the attack. The collar opened up and fell onto the floor with a clatter. Scourge could suddenly feel his power surging back through his veins as the collar was removed. He was back in the business at last. Dr. Eggman face-palmed himself angrily whereas Scourge just cheered happily.

"Stop helping my enemies and destroy Sonic Metal Sonic 3.0!" bellowed Dr. Eggman.

"Relax fatty, I'm not gonna bother about you right now." Scourge reassured the fat moustachioed villain "My fight's with Sonic at this moment so you and Metal Sonic 3.0 or whatever it is can clear off out of here while I get my revenge."

Dr. Eggman couldn't believe his ears. Scourge was actually letting him escape? Scourge really did have a grudge on Sonic didn't he? He was going to willingly let Eggman escape while he fights Sonic to the death? Eggman would have to remember this day as he'd probably never get help like this from anyone ever again.

"I'm stunned you're going to help me Scourge." said Dr. Eggman "But I'm grateful at the least. That doesn't mean I'm going to accept you as an ally or anything!"

"Whatever." said Scourge "I've got all the allies I need anyway. I'm gonna stomp on you later though, I'm only letting you get out of here because A: It's to annoy Sonic and B: Because I know I can defeat you so letting you escape is not going to be costly on my part at all so get out of here before I suddenly decide you're staying here!"

"Thank you Scourge." said Dr. Eggman "I'll remember this as I roboticize all of Mobius, including you and your allies!"

"Sure thing doc." said Scourge casually "I'll have conquered the world before then anyway."

Dr. Eggman threw Scourge a dirty look and he ran past the brawling Sonic and Metal Sonic 3.0 as fast as his skinny legs would let him. Sonic punched Metal Sonic 3.0 away and he saw Dr. Eggman fleeing for it. He tried to run after him but Metal Sonic 3.0 grabbed the blue hedgehog by his quills and threw him over his shoulder. Sonic landed smack bang at the feet of Scourge the Hedgehog. Metal Sonic 3.0 was about to attack Sonic again but Dr. Eggman stopped him dead in his tracks.

"Metal Sonic 3.0! Pack it in now! We're leaving!" yelled Dr. Eggman.

Metal Sonic 3.0 obeyed and he flew after Dr. Eggman. Sonic picked himself up and stared in horror as Dr. Eggman fled for it.

"No!" he cried "I can't let you get away!"

He tried to run after Eggman but Scourge spin-dashed him and knocked him onto his face. Sonic grumbled and he rubbed his head better. He picked himself up and Scourge glared at him with his icy blue eyes.

"Not only is Eggman not escaping, you're not escaping either!" yelled Sonic "I'm kinda annoyed I accidentally caused Metal Sonic 3.0 to break your door down so I guess I'll have to stop you too Scourge!"

"Try all you want King of the Wusses!" taunted Scourge "We all know who the strongest of the hedgehogs is! Me of course!"

"One question though." said Sonic hastily "Why are you letting Eggman escape? You hate him and you wanna conquer Mobius! Eggman's gonna be a big obstacle for you so you should be helping me keep him locked up Scourge!"

"I'm only doing it just to get on your nerves Sonic!" cackled Scourge "He's no threat to me that Eggman! You can make easy work out of his stuff so I can make even EASIER work out of him so letting him escape is not going to be costly for me at all!"

"You'll regret it when Eggman ends up roboticizing everybody!"

yelled Sonic "That is if he can actually build something capable of defeating me."

Sonic charged towards Scourge but Scourge leaped over Sonic's head and kicked him as he sailed over. Sonic ended up crashing down onto the floor face first and Scourge laughed at him.

"Boy does it feel good to kick your ass again Sonic!" crowed Scourge "Especially as I don't have a control collar on anymore!"

Suddenly, before the fight could continue, Fiona and Ginger reappeared into the cell blockade. They had ditched their prison fatigues and changed back into their original outfits. They had found their confiscated items at last and retrieved them. Ginger only wore gloves and shoes so he didn't need to change at all whereas Fiona was back into her black crop top, trousers and belt skirt. She was wearing Scourge's trademark leather jacket and sunglasses.

"Hey Scourge baby, we've got your stuff back." said Fiona, taking the jacket and sunglasses off and handing them over to her evil boyfriend.

"Thanks Fi, you're a star baddie you are." said Scourge snidely, tearing his prison fatigues off and throwing them onto the floor.

He put on his leather jacket and he perched his sunglasses above his eyes like he usually did. Scourge was now back in his bad-boy attire and ready to kick some Sonic butt once again. Sonic picked himself up and he scowled at the three convicts he was not pleased to be fighting once again.

"Wowee, you're back in your lame jacket again." muttered Sonic "Now can you step aside and let me stop Eggman before he gets back to Robotropolis?"

"No can do Sonic!" sneered Scourge "I wanna stomp on you until you die so you're gonna have to get past me first wimp!"

"As you wish." said Sonic "I promise I won't spin-dash you too hard!"

"And I promise you won't leave this prison alive!" yelled Scourge.

Sonic and Scourge charged towards each other at the blink of an eye with their fists forward, ready for a punch. They both punched each other in the face and sent each other skidding backwards. Sonic was the first to attack again with a homing attack on Scourge. Scourge fell onto his back but he quickly picked himself up and head-butted Sonic just as he was about to leap away for another attack. Sonic clutched his face in pain and Scourge suddenly grabbed him by the waist. He zoomed off towards Eggman's now empty cell at the end of the room and he threw Sonic as hard as he could at the wall. Sonic crashed straight through the wall and crashed his way through the other side. The other side of the wall led straight into the exercise yard. Sonic crashed down into the yard and he lay on the ground, wondering whether he should rub himself better or lay there groaning in pain. Scourge cackled at his brilliant attack and he jumped through the hole in the wall Sonic had made after being thrown into it. Scourge landed just a few feet ahead of Sonic in the exercise yard and he quickly turned around to face his blue nemesis. Sonic was just picking himself up and Scourge advanced on him menacingly. Fiona and Ginger meanwhile, decided they would join this battle as they hated Sonic too. Ginger put his hands around Fiona's waist, took flight and carried her out of the cell blockade, through the hole in the wall and out onto the exercise yard outside. The bright sunny sky suddenly turned dark with dull grey clouds and the sun was swallowed up by the dull grey clouds that had just come in and changed the mood of the outside. There was a tremendous booming thunder-clap and all of the sudden, it started to rain. Rain sprinkled down over everything down below and thunder clapped once again. Sonic and Scourge stared each other down with rain trickling down their faces and down their bodies into their shoes and gloves. Fiona and Ginger stood behind either side of Sonic, preparing to ambush him.

"Let's end this." hissed Scourge.

"I plan to." said Sonic in a soft tone of voice "This'll end with me victorious and you back in prison fatigues."

Then suddenly, Fiona and Ginger both pounced on Sonic from behind and the double-teamed him with a pair of kicks to the back. Sonic yelped in surprise as he was suddenly pushed onto his stomach by the two foxes. Sonic picked himself back up and he roundhouse kicked Ginger in the jaw. The fox ended up getting a face full of dirt and due to the falling rain making the dirt wet and more solid, he ended up getting a very dirty face. Fiona kicked Sonic in the shoulder and then went for a roundhouse punch to the jaw. Sonic staggered backwards, clutching his face. Fiona tried to attack Sonic again but Fiona spin-dashed her directly in the gut.

"Bet you regret betraying us now eh Fiona?" said Sonic as Fiona ended up skidding across the ground and making a pile of dirt behind her head "Because if you were still on my side, I wouldn't have to do that to ya!"

"I have NO regrets betraying you at all you blue twerp!" yelled Fiona "I got nothing from the R.F.S. so you guys are nothing to me!"

"And what about Scourge?" asked Sonic "All you got from him was a prison sentence. Doesn't that make you worse off then before?"

"SHUT UP!" screamed Fiona, punching Sonic directly in the eye.

Sonic clutched his throbbing eye in pain and he grimaced, trying to fight the pain. Fiona then tried to attack Sonic again in blind rage but Sonic just grabbed Fiona by her wrist and hurled her over onto her back. Fiona tried hard to fight the sudden surge of pain flowing up her back after that slam onto the ground.

"Well if you won't listen to reason Fiona then I'm sorry but I've gotta do this." said Sonic sadly "I wish you wouldn't make me have to though."

"Quit beating up my girlfriend you asshole!" yelled Scourge, giving Sonic an uppercut from behind that sent him hurling forward in a rainbow arch.

Sonic landed on his face and he grumbled to himself. He picked himself up and jumped out of the way just as Scourge lunged for him. Scourge missed Sonic and Sonic ran off at top speed. Scourge ran off after him at top speed. The two supersonic hedgehogs ran around the exercise yard at supersonic speed. They ran about two laps with Fiona and Ginger watching them run around and around the perimeter and as they ran, they kept spin-dashing at each other. However, Scourge eventually managed to overpower Sonic by leaping into the air and dropkicking him into the ground.

"Ha! At last! Eat dirt wimpo!" cackled Scourge as Sonic ended up with a face full of dirt once again.

Sonic picked himself up and braced himself for another attack Ginger flew in and tried to attack Sonic but Sonic head-slammed him with his fist and knocked him down once again. Then he grabbed Ginger by his tails and swung him around like he was throwing the hammer at the Olympics. Scourge spin-dashed towards Sonic but Sonic whacked him away from Ginger and sent him cleaving straight into the ground. Fiona tried to attack Sonic but Sonic threw Ginger straight at her. The two foxes ended up rolling over each other on the ground, getting very dirty indeed from the wet gravel and dirt. Sonic panted heavily and he wiped his forehead. This whole thing was beginning to tire him out now. He'd just been in a lengthy battle with Metal Sonic 3.0 and now he was against his own brother, Tails' cousin and a Royal Fighter traitor. He had a feeling he wouldn't be able to keep this up forever but he'd have to if he wanted any chance of getting Eggman back in his cell and stopping Scourge, Fiona and Ginger from escaping along with Eggman. Scourge suddenly spin-dashed Sonic from behind and knocked him over. Sonic retaliated with a backwards flip and as he brought his feet up and over, he walloped Scourge with them and knocked him onto his back. Scourge growled furiously and the two hedgehogs charged towards each other at top speed…

Meanwhile in Royal HQ, the Royal Fighters had been watching the whole fight from the visual contact Tails had managed to get up from the prison security cameras and they were horrified at everything that had been going on in the prison. Scourge, Fiona and Ginger's accidental break out and Metal Sonic 3.0 running off with Dr. Eggman in tow was enough for them all to swoon over in horror. Tails stared intently at the screen, hoping he could pinpoint where Dr. Eggman was at this minute. He searched furiously, so furiously in fact he looked like he was going to have a nervous breakdown.

"Tails, have you found Dr. Eggman yet?" asked Cream the Rabbit worriedly.

"Not yet Cream." said Tails, his eyes glued to the screen like a mad computer gamer.

Tails taped a few more keys on the keyboard and he finally managed to find Dr. Eggman's current location. He and Metal Sonic 3.0 had left Empire City and were on their way to Castle Acorn right now.

"There they are!" reported Tails "They're coming this way at two o' clock high!"

"Well since they're coming to us I'll be happy to go out there and give that monster ANOTHER punch in the face!" Mandy said with a creepily evil grin on her pretty face as she cracked her knuckles.

"No Mandy sweetheart, Eggman's got a Metal Sonic with him, you won't have a chance." said Wilson, putting his hands on Mandy's shoulders to stop her from going anywhere.

"Then what are we supposed to do then Wilson?" snapped Mandy "Wait for him to zoom by and wave bye to us?"

"No of course not!" exclaimed Wilson "It's just directly confronting him while he has a Metal Sonic with him would be suicide as Metal Sonic is too tough for us to defeat, especially without Sonic by our side."

"I have a plan everybody." announced Shade.

"Do you?" asked Mandy.

"I do." said Shade "I will go out there and wait for Dr. Eggman to come to me. When he gets close enough, I'll leap onto him and warp him back into the prison with my warp belt. The minute I warp away, you all can run off to the prison to help Sonic fight that green look-alike of his and while you're all doing that, I will warp Metal Sonic away from Eggman so Metal Sonic can't help him again."

"Shade, I can't even begin to say how brilliant that plan is." said

Knuckles "I knew you betraying Ix would be a fortunate turn of events for us."

"Thank you guardian." said Shade "Everybody wait here until I warp Dr. Eggman away. When I vanish, you can all run to Empire City and join me at the prison."

"Be careful out there Shade." said Tails.

Shade just walked on out of the lab and headed off outside of Royal HQ. Shade left the building and stood outside of it about ten paces away from the front door. She peered into the distance and saw what appeared to be jet fumes coming afar. It was Metal Sonic 3.0 zooming away from Empire City and heading towards Castle Acorn and Royal HQ at a terrific speed with Dr. Eggman riding on his back. Dr. Eggman clearly appeared to be enjoying the ride as he was waving his hands around and cheering triumphantly. Shade remained still and waited for Dr. Eggman to come to her. Metal Sonic 3.0 was getting closer and closer by the second due to the fact it had Sonic's trademark super speed and any minute now, it would zoom straight past Castle Acorn and Royal HQ and head off to Robotropolis to deliver Eggman back home. Dr. Eggman didn't seem to notice as Shade as Metal Sonic 3.0 neared Royal HQ. Shade bent down in a battle ready stance and prepared to jump. Metal Sonic 3.0 was now a few yards away from Royal HQ. Metal Sonic 3.0 pressed on and on and Shade finally sprang herself into the air. Metal Sonic 3.0 zoomed straight up to Shade just as she leaped and Shade landed directly on top of Dr. Eggman. Dr. Eggman stopped cheering and blubbered madly at the female echidna that had suddenly jumped onto his face.

"What in the mechanical mind is going on?" he yelped.

Shade just touched her hip and she, Eggman and Metal Sonic 3.0 were engulfed in a bright pink flash. The three then suddenly vanished into thin air, leaving no trace of their existence at all. Tails, who had poked his head out of the door and watched the whole thing, signalled to the others it was time to go and he ran out of the door, his tails twirling around in helicopter fashion and propelling him into the air. Everybody else followed the young fox out of Royal HQ and they all ran off to Empire City to help Sonic fight Scourge and prevent him from escaping much like Dr. Eggman was trying to do now.

Back at the prison, Shade, Eggman and Metal Sonic 3.0 reappeared back in the cell blockade in a bright pink flash that startled the prisoners in the cells. Metal Sonic 3.0 landed back on his feet, Dr. Eggman fell onto his back and Shade stood before Metal Sonic 3.0, ready to fight him. Dr. Eggman picked himself up and observed his surroundings. He couldn't believe his eyes. He was back in prison! Shade had used her warp belt to warp him back into the prison just as he was escaping! Dr. Eggman began to fume angrily and he pounded the floor in frustration. The other inmates sneered mockingly at him.

"What's the matter Eggman?" crowed Lord Sycorax "You got teleported back by a puny little echidna girl? How humiliating! Especially since it's a girl that's done this to you!"

Shade scowled at Lord Sycorax, clearly offended by what he had just said.

"Dare talk about girls like that again and I'll Blade Rush you into pieces!" she said coldly.

"Am I supposed to be intimidated?" purred Lord Sycorax mockingly "Because if I am then you're failing miserably at intimidating me young lady!"

"Oh just shut up Lord Sycorax." moaned Mr. Florenzi "You should never underestimate the women, many are stronger then they appear."

The Region leader shut up at said nothing more. Shade and Metal Sonic 3.0 stared each other down, ready to beat the tar out of each other. Shade activated her helmet to protect her head from Metal Sonic 3.0. She had watched the fight with Sonic back at Royal HQ so she knew what to expect from the killer robot clone. She drew out her two blades and prepared to fight. Metal Sonic 3.0 immediately pounced on Shade and knocked her down onto the floor. Shade got ready to activate her warp belt but before she could touch her hip, Metal Sonic 3.0 grabbed her hand and kept it away from her hip. He then detected where the warp belt was and he grabbed it. He proceeded to rip the belt off of Shade's armour and he leaped away from Shade with the belt in his hands. Shade picked herself up and lunged towards Metal Sonic 3.0 but Metal Sonic 3.0 held the belt in front of him, scanned it and then blasted it with his torso laser. Shade leaped out of the way of the blast and looked on in horror as her belt crumbled to pieces in Metal Sonic 3.0's claws. Metal Sonic 3.0 had destroyed it. Shade could feel her anger burning in her veins at that.

"You destroyed my warp belt!" yelled Shade "So in turn, I'll destroy you Metal Sonic!"

Shade lunged for Metal Sonic 3.0 but Metal Sonic 3.0 teleported before she could even hit him. Metal Sonic 3.0 had scanned Shade's warp belt so now he had the ability to teleport at will now. Shade couldn't believe her eyes as Metal Sonic 3.0 vanished before her, causing her to land on the floor feet first and look around wildly.

"The robot can teleport now?" she mused to herself "How is that possible? It didn't do so before?"

"That's because it scanned your belt little girl." explained Dr. Eggman "Your belt allows you to teleport at will and now Metal Sonic 3.0 has scanned it, he can teleport at will now. Whatever you can do, he'll just scan you and mimic your moves much like the original Metal Sonic scanned the data of Sonic and fourteen of his friends. You'll never be able to defeat it!"

"Maybe so but I might be able to silence the robot by removing its head with my blades." said Shade, raising her blades at the ready.

Metal Sonic 3.0 then suddenly reappeared behind Shade and blasted her with his torso laser. Shade found herself being thrown off her feet and sent skidding across the floor. Dr. Eggman stepped to the side as Shade skidded past her and the echidna came to a stop just outside his former cell. Metal Sonic 3.0 then grabbed Dr. Eggman by his hand and Dr. Eggman waved at Shade.

"Tell Sonic I wish doom on him will you?" sneered Dr. Eggman.

Metal Sonic 3.0 then teleported out of the prison with Dr. Eggman in tow. Shade picked herself up and retracted her helmet into her headband, revealing her face once again. She couldn't believe how horribly her plan had backfired on her. Dr. Eggman was now free once again and it was her fault for giving Metal Sonic 3.0 the opportunity to scan her warp belt. And now her's was destroyed, she couldn't use it anymore, she would never teleport again. Shade slumped against the wall and began to grumble to herself.

"I can't believe how horribly that back-fired!" she ranted at herself "Instead of re-incarcerating Dr. Eggman, I ended up helping him escape even quicker! Had I known that Metal Sonic robot could scan data, I wouldn't have tried this plan!"

She then heard the sound of two hedgehogs spin-dashing each other and knocking each other onto the ground. Shade ran into Eggman's empty cell and looked out through the hole in the wall Scourge and Sonic had made after crashing through it. She saw Sonic and Scourge fighting each other with Fiona and Ginger hoping to get involved as well. Scourge was clearly winning this battle and if Shade didn't do anything about it, Scourge would likely kill Sonic in the end so she had to get involved in this fight and fast. Shade did an amazing somersault through the air and landed down on the exercise yard feet first just as Scourge spin-dashed Sonic into the ground once again. Sonic looked like he had taken quite a beating and he couldn't keep this fight up any longer. Scourge laughed at Sonic as the blue hedgehog lay there on the ground, defeated and helpless to stop him.

"Look at you Sonic! When you've got your playhouse buddies by your side, you can barely keep up with me and on your own, you have no chance!" mocked Scourge "Well since you haven't got any shadows to hide behind, I'll kill you now! I bet my foot will crush your puny skull really easily!"

Scourge lifted his foot up and literally prepared to stomp on Sonic's head! But before Scourge could deliver the killing blow, Shade swiped her blades and sent a pink energy wave hurling towards Scourge. Scourge was stricken by the wave and sent hurling backwards. The leather jacket wearing hedgehog picked himself up and growled angrily at Shade, who ran over to help Sonic back onto his feet.

"Who are you toots?" snarled Scourge.

"I am Shade the Echidna, co-guardian of Angel Island and friend of Sonic the Hedgehog." said Shade "Any enemy of Sonic's is an enemy of mine so I will help him put you back in your cell you Sonic clone!"

"Ok first off brat-face, I'm not a clone and my name is Scourge the Hedgehog!" snapped Scourge "And second off, anyone who dares to stand to me gets a crushed head so I'll be happy to give you one Shade the Echidna!"

"I wouldn't be too sure on that Scourge." sneered Sonic "Shade can fight Knuckles to a stand still and Knuckles is one tough cookie so I can't guarantee you'll beat Shade that easily."

"I guess we'll have to find out won't we Sonic?" growled Scourge "Get ready for a double-dose of…"

Before Scourge could do anything at all, Sonic's friends all suddenly jumped over the prison walls and landed in the exercise yard, ready to beat the tar out of Scourge, Fiona and Ginger. Sonic's face brightened at the sight of Tails, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Wilson, Mandy, Geoffrey, Bunnie and Ruben all here to help him defeat his evil brother and his fox sidekicks and put them back in prison. Scourge's face fell at the fight of all the Mobian Heroes standing there before him, ready to give him a black eye. He knew he was tough but he didn't want to risk losing this battle and end up getting arrested and have another control collar clamped on him while he was so close to escaping so he decided now would be the best time to flee for his life.

"On second thoughts, let's run like hell!" cried Scourge "Ginger, grab Fiona and carry her over the wall! We're outta here!"

With that said, Ginger took flight and grabbed Fiona by her arms. He lifted her off the ground and flew towards the prison walls. Scourge zoomed over to the walls and jumped over before anyone could stop him. Before Ginger could get over the walls however, Tails flew up after Ginger and kick-slammed him in the backside. This caused Ginger to let go of Fiona and Fiona ended up falling down to the ground. Scourge quickly caught her and ran off with her at top speed. Ginger followed them quickly, rubbing his sore bum. Tails dusted his hands off and huffed, satisfied with that attack on his wormy cousin. He flew back over to Sonic and stood affectionately by his side.

"Sonic? Are you alright?" asked Tails "Scourge roughed you up pretty bad didn't he?"

"A little." said Sonic, rubbing his quills "But I feel more sore over the fact my evil brother's free once again to cause trouble for me again. As well as Dr. Eggman. Can't believe he managed to escape so shortly after being imprisoned!"

"Nah, Shade managed to catch Eggman and warp him back here." said Knuckles proudly "Didn't you Shade?"

"I did but Metal Sonic scanned my warp belt and teleported himself and Eggman out of the prison again." said Shade glumly "Not before destroying my warp belt after scanning it."

"What?" cried Knuckles "You're kidding aren't you Shade?"

"No I'm not guardian." said Shade even more glumly "I'm deathly serious. Eggman's probably back in Robotropolis right now and I can't warp us over because my warp belt is destroyed."

"Well if we want to get Dr. Eggman back in prison, we'll have to go over to Robotropolis ourselves." declared Sonic "Come on everybody! We're not letting Eggman stay free a minute longer!"

With that said, everybody jumped or flew back over the prison walls and they headed off to Robotropolis. Dr. Eggman may have escaped but he was going back into that prison cell before he could taste freedom for real….

* I bet you remember Metal Sonic's last appearance in Story 70 don't you?

Talk about a bad day for Sonic and friends! Dr. Eggman and Scourge the Hedgehog have escaped from prison! What's gonna happen next? And will Sonic and friends put Eggman back in his lowly place or has the fat man got a sinister trick up his sleeve in mind for the hedgehog? Only one way to find out, tune in to the next chapter of Sonic the Hedgehog: Heroes of Mobius! Read and Review.

Thanks once again for your reviews you lovely people. I don't know how I could go on without them! :) And yes Kratos Pwns, I am British, not American, I'm so glad you've worked it out good mate. LOL

Deadly is the Turncoat

Story 79: Deadly is the Turncoat

Dr. Eggman and Metal Sonic 3.0 had reappeared back in Dr. Eggman's headquarters in Robotropolis, the very city Eggman lived in. The moment the escaped scientist materialized into the headquarters, he quick rushed into his cabin and changed out of his prison fatigues and into his traditional red, white and black outfit. Now Eggman was back in his proper clothes, he stormed off to his head office and burst through the door in rage. His traitorous servant bot Alonzo the Butler Bot was sitting in his chair and the moment Eggman burst into the room, Alonzo jumped a foot into the air.

" ALONZO! " roared Dr. Eggman "I'D LIKE A WORD WITH YOU TREACHEROUS LITTLE TIN-HEAD!"

Alonzo nervously wheeled over to Dr. Eggman, who stood there with his arms folded and with Metal Sonic 3.0 standing there beside him, waiting to punish the traitor of Robotropolis for his crimes.

"Dr. Eggman!" squeaked Alonzo "You're, you're…you're alive! You survived the ship crash! Praise the manufacturer! It is a miracle!"

"It'll be a miracle alright Alonzo if you get any mercy from me!" roared Dr. Eggman "I've worked it out you little traitor!"

"Traitor?" scoffed Alonzo as if he'd never heard of such a word "Why master, I'm your loyal servant bot and I was built to serve you faithfully and loyally! I don't know what the word traitor means so why ever would I betray you sir?"

"Don't talk stupid language Alonzo!" snapped Dr. Eggman "I know all about your treachery now! How you sabotaged my ship and locked me in the cockpit in a failed attempt to murder me! Instead, I got arrested and now you're going around Robotropolis and acting like you own the place! Well Alonzo, even if your failed assassination attempt had worked, you wouldn't be in charge of the Eggman Empire! You never will be! I'd assign the job to my strongest creations such as Metal Sonic or my Eggman copies so you wouldn't get anything from my demise!"

"Dr. Eggman, how could you say that about me?" gasped Alonzo "I would never try to kill you sir!"

"Then explain to me where you were on the ship at the time it exploded!" yelled Dr. Eggman "You didn't answer my call when I called for help and you're suddenly back at Robotropolis even though you were on the ship with me at the time! Care to explain that?"

Alonzo's face fell. Dr. Eggman had seen through his little plot! His plan was in jeopardy and he had been exposed! Oh calamity! Nevertheless, Alonzo wasn't going to go down without a fight. He'd had enough of Dr. Eggman and he was going to reveal what he truly thought of his oafish master.

"OK I admit it you gormless, gluttonous glop head!" sighed Alonzo "I'm a traitor, I sabotaged your ship , I tried to kill you, I got you arrested and I'm plotting to take control of your city so all the robots will obey me instead of you. There I said it! Happy now you blasted belly bouncer?"

Dr. Eggman was about to tear himself apart in rage at what Alonzo had just revealed to him. His moustache straightened angrily, his face turned redder then a ripe strawberry and steam poured out of his ears.

"HOW DARE YOU YOUR TIN-PLATED, YELLOW-BELLIED, RUDE, OBNOXIOUS, SNOOTY, SNOOBY, MORONIC, METAL, CHROME, STOOGE OF A MACHINE!" screamed Dr. Eggman "YOU HAVE CROSSED THE LINE YOU MISTAKE OF SCIENCE! TRYING TO KILL ME IS BAD ENOUGH BUT TRYING TO TAKE CONTROL OF MY CITY IS GOING TOO FAR! YOU DON'T DESERVE TO LIVE FOR THAT YOU TRAITOR!"

He turned to Metal Sonic 3.0 furiously and yelled at him.

"Kill that pin-headed turncoat!"

Metal Sonic 3.0 obeyed and he aimed his torso cannon at Alonzo. Alonzo instantly freaked and began begging like a mad man.

"No master! Wait, Stop! I'm sorry! I didn't mean what I did! I'll by a good robot for you! I'll make up for what I've done to you! Please! Don't scrap me!" screamed Alonzo.

Dr. Eggman ignored his pleading servant and turned his back on him. Metal Sonic 3.0 blasted Alonzo to pieces with one shot of his torso cannon. Alonzo was reduced to atoms by the attack and since his vital mechanisms and head were destroyed, he wouldn't be able to put himself back together and comeback. Alonzo was gone for good now. Dr. Eggman wiped away a brief tear from his eye and he sat back down in his chair.

"Oh Alonzo." he said to himself "You were a good friend of mine. We've been together since childhood and we've been through thick and thin for many years now. And yet, you've betrayed me and I've been forced to destroy you. Oh well, I've learnt a lesson now. When you have a servant, don't give it a sentient mind like Metal Sonic 3.0. At least Katherine can be trusted to have a sentient mind as she's not as sentient as Alonzo was and all my Robians are bound to my whims so they can't betray me. Now Alonzo's gone, maybe I should promote Katherine to my servant bot or maybe I should promote Metal Sonic 3.0 as he's the strongest."

"You will not be promoting anybody Dr. Eggman!" came a fierce sounding voice from the shadows in the corners of the room.

Dr. Eggman jumped out of his skin and he turned around only to see a strange shape coming out of the shadows towards him. It was a robot but it wasn't a robot built by Dr. Eggman. This robot was pretty lethal looking and looked deathly serious. It had a crest section above its black visor which was a diamond shape with an amber gem in the centre, bull-shaped horns on either side and a horn that pointed straight behind it. It had red optics and a white mouth with separation strips painted on it to look like a toothy grin. It had pointed shoulder pads, each with two points and it had a giant green orb in it's torso with a heart-beat signal on it. It had sharp elbows and three claws on each hand. It had curved feet that pointed upwards a little like elf shoes and it was coloured grey, gold, green and red. It had four tentacles on its back. One had a saw blade that was sharper then even flint, one had a pair of scissor like blades that could chop anything in half, one had an axe blade that could chop through the toughest substances and one had a cannon that could blast through anything. The robot looked terrifying and Dr. Eggman began to shake with fear at the sight of it.

"W-w-who are y-y-you?" he stammered, sweating rainfalls down his head.

"I am the new and improved Alonzo Dr. Ivo Eggman!" said the robot, speaking with Alonzo's voice only heavily altered to sound more monstrous "For days on end, I've been building this new body for myself secretly in your back-up headquarters while you worked on making Robotropolis fly* and repairing the headquarters from the Royal Fighter's siege on it! What do you think? It's pretty cutthroat isn't it?"

"Well i-i-if y-y-you're the r-real Alonzo then what-d-d-did Metal Sonic 3.0 just destroy?" squeaked Eggman.

"Just a little clone I made of myself to keep you in the dark until I was ready to come out in my new body." sneered Alonzo "I've been in this body all the while you've been imprisoned and now you've escaped just in time to see it."

"Well I don't like you like that!" yelled Dr. Eggman "Metal Sonic 3.0! Destroy that traitor!"

Metal Sonic 3.0 flew towards Alonzo and prepared to destroy the new Alonzo. Alonzo just smirked at Metal Sonic 3.0 and aimed his cannon tentacle at him. The cannon fired and Metal Sonic 3.0 was destroyed instantly by the blast. The robot was reduced to atoms by that one blast. Dr. Eggman couldn't believe his eyes. Alonzo had built himself a pretty powerful new body hadn't he? One blast reduced his strongest robot to atoms! Dr. Eggman began to really sweat in fear now. So much he began to look like he'd just come out of the bath. Alonzo advanced on Dr. Eggman menacingly with his saw tentacle and scissor tentacle raised menacingly.

"You cannot destroy me Dr. Eggman." purred Alonzo "My new body is invulnerable. I've borrowed several elements from your previous robots. The invulnerability of Metal Sonic, the firepower of E-123 Omega, the agility of Egg-Raptor, the flight abilities of Egg-Peacock and of course, the mind of yours truly me. It is invincible to the attacks of every Royal Fighter in the service and every robot you've created so you will NEVER be able to destroy me and regain control of Robotropolis. Robotropolis is mine now and soon the whole world shall be in my metallic grasp!"

"Alonzo!" cried Dr. Eggman "Please don't betray me! That new body of yours is pure genius; don't waste all it's potential on your own personal gain! Me and you together can now conquer Mobius and rule it together as master and minion! With this genius of a new body for you, well conquer Mobius in a matter of minutes! Seconds even!"

"No master." said Alonzo coldly, holding his saw blade close to Eggman's throat "Never again shall I be your snivelling minion. I'm tired of being your punching bag. You never appreciated a thing I did master. All you did was abuse me and treat me like an idiot! Well now I have this body, I am the superior being and you are MY snivelling minion! But so you can't betray me, I'll kill you before you get a chance to stab me in the back."

He raised up the saw blade tentacle and activated the saw. It squealed a very piercing, ominous squeal that made Dr. Eggman shiver. Alonzo aimed it at Dr. Eggman's neck and prepared to slice his throat open. Dr. Eggman began to shake madly in his chair.

"Alonzo please!" begged Dr. Eggman "If you want an apology for all my abuse then you've got it! I'm sorry I treated you like dirt and I'll respect you now you've shown me what you're capable of!"

"You should have apologized to me months ago Dr. Eggman!" yelled Alonzo angrily "But you're too late now!"

He inched the saw blade ever closer to Dr. Eggman's neck. But before Alonzo could kill the fat villain, an alarm started blaring through the room and around the entire base. It was a full out red alert and that meant one thing. Intruders were coming to Robotropolis and presumably plotting to destroy the city and take Dr. Eggman back into custody.

"Talk about bad timing." muttered Alonzo, switching his saw blade off and pulling it away from Dr. Eggman "I've got intruders. Not doubt its Sonic and his playgroup band coming here to arrest you again Dr. Eggman. Well I'm going out to fight them all and show you the true power of my new body! You sit here like a good boy and watch me as I do what you couldn't do, kill Sonic the Hedgehog!"

He turned Dr. Eggman around so he was facing the monitors and he put on a visual contact that showed Dr. Eggman the outside of Robotropolis and beyond the gates of the city. Dr. Eggman stayed sat where he was and waited for the battle to begin. Alonzo left the room and locked it, trapping Dr. Eggman in the room and leaving him with nothing to do but sit there and watch Alonzo's battle with Sonic and friends. If Alonzo's body was as good as he said it was then Sonic and friends would have no chance against it whatsoever…

Outside of the gates of Robotropolis, the notorious Sonic the Hedgehog and his friends were running towards Robotropolis, all ready to barge into the city, destroy any resistance and throw Dr. Eggman back into prison. They had finally managed to arrest the evil dictator of a scientist only for him to escape shortly afterwards after Metal Sonic 3.0 broke him out and they weren't about to let Dr. Eggman stay free for very long. They were going to recapture him and even if it killed them, they would get Eggman back in prison for good this time. Sonic screeched to a halt and all his friends stopped beside him just outside the gates. Anyone who was flying, such as Tails the Fox, Cream the Rabbit and Bunnie Rabbot touched down beside Sonic and the blue hedgehog gazed up at the thick iron gates of Robotropolis grimly. He really hated those gates, especially as they were too tough for him to spin-dash down and they were a symbol of Dr. Eggman's iron-fisted grip on any of the Mobians he'd managed to roboticize as well as a symbol of Robotropolis, the very city Dr. Eggman lived in.

"Ugh, Robotropolis." muttered Sonic, sticking his tongue out "I always get sick of seeing this place."

"We all do." muttered Angel Island Guardian Knuckles the Echidna

"It's a ugly stain on the face of Mobius that symbolizes Eggman's tyranny and his love for robots. At least we only come here to destroy it and not look at it."

"And destroying this place always makes me feel better." said Sonic with a smirk on his face "Even though we're not here to destroy Robotropolis, I'll be very happy to spin-dash it to bits once we arrest Eggman again so even if he gets away, he's got nowhere to run and hide in and we'll catch him even easier."

"But what about Metal Sonic 3.0?" asked Tails "He's as strong as the original Metal Sonic so we won't get past him so easily. Especially as he's now got the ability to warp at will because he scanned…"

"Don't you dare mention anything about my blunder earlier!" snapped Shade the Echidna, newly appointed co-guardian of Angel Island, fiercely "I don't like it when people bring up a mistake that I've made!"

"Sorry." said Tails, recoiling "Ahem, because he scanned you-know-what, so he'll be even harder to get hold of." he finished, making sure not to mention the words "warp belt" in front of Shade as she was angry enough as it was.

"We'll think of something." said Sonic casually "Maybe I could stall it and Shade could slice its head off with her blade weapons."

"I'd be happy to oblige hedgehog." said Shade coldly; raising her blade weapons "I want to pay that thing back for destroying my warp belt."

"And you shall get your payback dear Shade." said Sonic brightly "Bunnie, be a pal and punch that stupid gate down will ya?"

"Ya'll don't have to ask me twice sugah-hog." said Bunnie brightly, cracking her knuckles readily.

Knuckles frowned at the Rabbot as she strolled over to the gates and prepared to punch them down. He really want to prove that he was the toughest one in the bunch but now was not the time for showing off so he decided to leave it this time. Bunnie drew her robotic arm back and punched the iron gates as hard as she possibly could. The gates were pounded open by that one punch from the beautiful but powerful rabbit cyborg with the powerful robo-left arm. Bunnie however got a rather surprising sight after punching the gates open. Instead of thousands of Dr. Eggman robots waiting to decimate Sonic and friends, there was just one robot with three horns on it's head, three claws on each hand, curved feet and four tentacles on it's back standing there with it's arms folded and it's tentacles wiggling sinisterly like a bunch of snakes slithering about through the grass. This was of course, Weaponized Alonzo but Sonic and friends didn't know that, they just saw it as a brand new Eggman robot for them to destroy. Bunnie stepped back, hesitantly. Alonzo looked eerie to her.

"What in the hoo-hah is that?" gasped Bunnie "It's a creepy little critter ain't it?"

"Nah, it's a trash can waiting for me to soften my sneakers on." said Sonic "OK big guy, this can get really ugly or this can be handled quietly. Be a good robot and stand down and we won't have to rip you to pieces! We've only got time to bother with Dr. Eggman and that's saying a lot!"

"Dr. Eggman is unavailable right now hedgehog." growled Alonzo in his monstrously modified voice "He's being kept prisoner in his own quarters, watching the screens as I decimate you and your friends Sonic! And once I've littered the ground with your corpses, I'll stain the walls with Eggman's blood and guts!"

Sonic hesitated a moment. This robot didn't seem very loyal to Dr. Eggman did it? What was this robot and why did it want to kill Eggman?

"That's pretty big talk coming from a freaky looking machine." said Sonic slowly "Who are you and why do you wanna kill Egg Brains?"

"It's me, Eggman's loyal servant bot Alonzo hedgehog." said Alonzo, pointing to himself with his axe-bladed tentacle "You must surely remember me don't you?"

Sonic couldn't believe his ears. Neither could anyone else for that matter. They all gaped in surprise at the robot that stood before them, waving its tentacles.

"No way! That's Alonzo?" shrieked Tails.

"He looks way scarier then before!" squealed Amy Rose, Sonic's number one fan-girl and hammer hitter.

"What did you do to yourself?" asked Ruben the Water Panther, former Chun-Nan resident "Did you build yourself a new batch of weapons or something?"

"No you walking water-fountain." sneered Alonzo "I built myself a brand new body and I've uploaded myself into it. My original body is gone forever and this is my appearance from now on. No longer am I a snivelling servant bot that is useful only for fetching tea trays and offering advice. I am now a machine of destruction and the only thing in this world capable of destroying Sonic the Hedgehog and his playschool buddies!"

"Yeah right, you may look scary as heck now you snooty moron but that doesn't mean you're stronger then the blue dude himself!" sneered Mandy Mouse, a veteran fighter with a fondness for punching Eggman in the face, slipping on her brass knuckle attachments she still had with her "Heck, I bet you're just the same as before Alonzo, only scarier in that new body!"

"Well Mandy, we'll see about that won't we?" sneered Alonzo, his metallic grin flashing at the Mobians "Ready to challenge me mongrels?"

"You betcha!" scoffed Sonic "Bunnie, you start this fight off!"

"Way ahead of ya sugah-hog!" exclaimed Bunnie delightedly "Yee-haw!"

Bunnie charged over to Alonzo and she drew her robot arm back. She lunged at Alonzo with her metal fist but Alonzo put his hands behind his back and blocked the attack with his saw tentacle. Bunnie punched again but Alonzo locked it with his scissor tentacle. Bunnie tried another punch but Alonzo blocked it once again with his axe tentacle. Bunnie tried a fourth punch but Alonzo blocked it with his cannon tentacle. Alonzo then proceeded to sheath his tentacles by withdrawing them into his back and he grabbed Bunnie by the neck with his claws. Bunnie gagged and spluttered loudly and she struggled in the newly built servant bot's grasp.

"Hack! Urk! Let me go gruesome!" gagged Bunnie, thumping his arm feebly with her robot arm.

Alonzo grinned sadistically at Bunnie and then proceeded to hurl her straight into the forced open iron gates that were directly nearby. Bunnie hit the gate very hard and slumped on the ground dopily. That attack had left her stunned and wondering which way was up. Alonzo chortled to himself and he deployed his tentacles again. He switched on his saw blade tentacle, the blade squealing menacingly as it spun around at around 500,000 RPM. He grabbed Bunnie by the shoulder, hoisted her to his height and pinned her against the gate.

"Heads, you lose Rabbot!" he sneered as he inched the blade near Bunnie's neck.

Bunnie squirmed furiously in the grip of the weaponized butler bot as the saw blade neared her throat. Before Alonzo could dissect the Rabbot though, Sonic spin-dashed Alonzo's tentacle and chopped it straight off, the saw-blade automatically switching off after it was chopped. Alonzo growled angrily and he threw the Rabbot away. He then stepped out of Robotropolis, closed the gates and lunged up at Sonic just as he jumped back over the gate. Alonzo swiped at him with his axe-blade but he missed and Sonic spin-dashed him in the gut. The attack didn't seem to affect Alonzo in anyway. Heck, he didn't even FEEL the spin-dash! It was as if he was never spin-dashed! Alonzo just smacked Sonic away with his cannon tentacle and sent the hedgehog hurling into the ground. Alonzo landed in front of the hedgehog with his remaining three tentacles wiggling about sinisterly. Sonic picked himself up and bent down in a battle-ready stance.

"Not bad Alonzo, you're now able to fight." said Sonic smugly "Big deal. I've just chopped one of your tentacles to pieces so you've got less to fight with now!"

"That's were you're horribly and utterly wrong hedgehog." sneered Alonzo "I knew my tentacles wouldn't be immune to being dissected so I decided to equip myself with Egg-Squid's infamous ability."

He then proceeded to withdraw his chopped tentacle and then suddenly grow out a new one! Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse couldn't believe their eyes. They remembered Egg-Squid and how it had the ability to grow a new tentacle after losing one and to see Alonzo have that ability was just too unbelievable for them. Even Sonic couldn't believe his eyes.

"Well…note to self, do not chop his tentacles up or he'll just grow a new one!" cried Sonic.

"Correct hedgehog." sneered Alonzo "And the interesting thing is every time I grow a new tentacle, it gets a new weapon too. This new tentacle now has a syringe on it that'll inject poison into you should I grab a hold of any of you and stick it through your arm."

Just as he said that, a giant syringe like object burst its way through the tip of the tentacle. Now Alonzo had a syringe, scissor blades, axe blades and a cannon as weapons now. The very sight of the syringe made everybody feel nervous.

"Oooh! I hate injections!" whimpered Cream the Rabbit, the youngest of Sonic's friends.

"Well in that case, I'll make sure your appointment comes first little one!" cackled Alonzo evilly, raising the syringe menacingly.

He then proceeded to advance menacingly on Cream with the syringe tentacle raised up high. Cream stared in horror at the giant needle and began to back away fearfully. Her pet Chao Cheese, the one thing she never went anywhere without, decided to stick up for his terrified owner. Cheese flew straight at Alonzo's tentacle and fisted it. But a body as strong as Alonzo's new body could easily withstand the feeble blows of something as pathetic as Cheese the Chao. Alonzo smacked Cheese away with his tentacle and continued to advance on Cream. Before he could grab the terrified rabbit, Amy Rose leaped in and hammered Alonzo's head in with her trademark Piko-Piko hammer.

"Dare touch Cream and I'll smash you to tiny little bits you devilish creature!" screamed Amy, whacking Alonzo again with her hammer.

"Oh I'm so sorry." sneered Alonzo as he stood there taking Amy's blows as if they were nothing "I had no idea you cared so much for the little rabbit. In that case, I'll give you BOTH an injection!"

His axe tentacle lashed out and sliced Amy's hammer clean in two. Amy stared in horror at her beheaded hammer and instantly grew worried. Alonzo then grabbed Amy and held her arm out. He aimed his syringe tentacle at Amy and jabbed it into her arm. Before he could inject any of the poison into her veins though, Sonic the Hedgehog spin-dashed the tentacle into pieces once again. Alonzo threw Amy away and retracted his damaged tentacle. A new one shot back out of the socket once again and this time, the tentacle was tipped with a drill bit that could drill through any surface. Sonic spin-dashed towards Alonzo again but Alonzo grabbed the spin-dashing hedgehog and threw him away like a basketball. Sonic ended up cleaving his way into the ground as he ended up spin-dashing into it. Wilson and Mandy were the next to jump in on the attack. Wilson deployed his trademark spinning-blade weapon and he slashed at Alonzo with it. The attack left no damage whatsoever on the weaponized servant-bot. Wilson tried another attack but his weapon didn't leave any damage on his armour. Alonzo cackled at the dog's feeble attempts to eviscerate him.

"Oopsy, silly me. Did I forget to mention this body is invulnerable?" crowed Alonzo "You'll never be able to damage me you foolish cretins! Hit me all you want, I'll take your attacks easily!"

"You may be invulnerable but even invulnerable beings have some kind of weak spot!" yelled Wilson as he slashed at Alonzo again "And we'll find it somehow!"

Alonzo just lunged at him with the axe tentacle, prompting Wilson to jump back in fright. Wilson then threw his spinning blade at Alonzo but instead of cleaving straight through him like it would do on any other robot, it just pinged off his armour and ricocheted back to him.

The dog caught the weapon and shivered fearfully. It was quite clear Alonzo was too tough for him to penetrate. Alonzo tried to grab Wilson with the scissor tentacle but Wilson dodged and sliced the tentacle in half. Alonzo just retracted the sliced tentacle and a new one burst out of its socket. This one was now tipped with a hammer that could smash through the hardest substances on Mobius, especially Diamond Glass. Alonzo tried to hammer Wilson with the hammer tentacle but Wilson leaped back and he sheathed his weapon. He leaped in and dropkicked Alonzo in the face but the weaponized traitor to Eggman took the blow as if it didn't even happen and he punched Wilson away with his fist. Mandy leaped in and began to furiously punch at Alonzo with her brass knuckle attachments. But punch as hard as she dare, the mouse couldn't lay a dent on Alonzo's indestructible armour. Alonzo tried to hammer her with the hammer tentacle but Mandy leaped up just as the hammer came down and she landed on top of the hammer. She punched Alonzo directly in the face but all that did was end up cracking her knuckle attachments. Mandy stared at her cracked knuckle attachments and couldn't believe how strong Alonzo was.

"OK! I take back everything I said earlier!" she squeaked.

Alonzo laughed and raised his hammer up, causing Mandy to fall off and onto his back. Alonzo then activated the drill tentacle and prepared to drill a hole in Mandy's chest. But the mouse kicked the tentacle away before it could even get close to her and she kangaroo kicked Alonzo in the gut, knocking the invulnerable killing machine onto his back. She picked herself up and ran to him before he could get back up. Alonzo had only just sat up by the time Mandy reached him and she walloped him in the face with a roundhouse kick. Alonzo lay back down on the ground but he wasn't done for long. He rolled out of Mandy's way before she could punch him and he slashed her in the side with his drill tentacle. Mandy cried out in pain and she clutched her side. Her battle costume now had a tear in it from when Alonzo had slashed her and blood began to trickle out of the fresh cut. Alonzo then proceeded to give Mandy an upwards kick that sent her hurling backwards and she landed rather sharply on her back while still clutching her side. The mouse wasn't in fighting condition now; the pain in her side was too great for her to stand up properly. Alonzo hooted with laughter and he advanced on the injured mouse with his drill and hammer tentacles ready to kill her. Before he could get anywhere near Mandy however, Knuckles leaped in and gave Alonzo a powerful uppercut that made him stagger backwards. Alonzo shook off the attack and he blasted at Knuckles with his blaster cannon tentacle. Knuckles dodged the dangerous blast and he charged towards Alonzo. Alonzo tried to chop him up with the axe tentacle but he missed every attack and Knuckles grabbed the tentacle with the blaster on it. He ripped the tentacle clean out of its socket and walloped Alonzo with it. Alonzo just grabbed the tentacle and snatched it off Knuckles. He threw it away and a new tentacle appeared in place of the one Knuckles had just ripped out. This tentacle was now tipped with a spiked mace and it looked deathly serious. Everyone in this battle would have to avoid the mace at all costs. Knuckles lunged at Alonzo and punched him as hard as he could but Alonzo took the blows as if they were nothing to him. He was invulnerable now so no attack would hurt him, even ones that knocked him over. Alonzo withdrew his tentacles and he grabbed Knuckles by his wrists. He then lifted Knuckles up off the ground and slammed him back down onto it as if he was a roll of newspaper being used to swat a fly. Alonzo then proceeded to throw Knuckles away and send him flying and before Knuckles could land back down on the ground, Alonzo deployed one of his tentacles, but he didn't deploy its weapon, and he batted the echidna guardian with the tentacle just as he was about to land on the ground. Knuckles was sent hurling through the air like a batted baseball and he landed very painfully on the ground face first. Shade was livid with rage at the sight of her guardian friend getting hurt and she leaped on Alonzo with her weapons blazing. She Blade Rushed Alonzo but the attack just tickled him more then anything. Alonzo then put his hand on Shade's back, bent her down and kneed her straight in the gut. Shade gasped hoarsely at the vicious attack and Alonzo deployed his hammer tentacle and walloped her with it. The attack almost knocked her entire head off. Shade landed on her side and clutched her throbbing face. She decided it would be wiser to deploy her helmet in order to protect her head from such powerful attacks. She deployed her helmet and picked herself up. Alonzo hadn't seen Shade with her helmet on before so he was mildly surprised at the fact Shade had a helmet. No matter, he would still destroy her anyway. Shade ran over to Alonzo as fast as she could. Alonzo swiped at her with the hammer tentacle but Shade jumped into the air, did a somersault and landed foot first onto his head. Alonzo bent backwards slightly and Shade sliced both of his horns off with her twin blade weapons. Now Alonzo only had one left. Shade landed behind Alonzo and Blade-Rushed him in the back. Alonzo just kicked backwards and knocked Shade onto her back. He withdrew his tentacles to prevent Shade from chopping them off as he'd had enough of losing them already. Shade Blade-Rushed at Alonzo again but Alonzo slugged her in the stomach as hard as he possibly could. Shade fell down on to the ground, wheezing hoarsely. That punch felt almost as hard as Imperator Ix's attacks. Alonzo chortled with laughter and he kicked Shade away. Alonzo deployed his mace tentacle and he raised it above his head. He advanced on Shade menacingly.

"You're the one who took the Master Emerald and the Chaos Emeralds back after Eggman stole them* aren't you?" purred Alonzo "Mecha Rouge described you as a female echidna in a black body suit with a headband and you fit that description so I bet she was talking about you."

"You're right Alonzo." puffed Shade weakly "I am the one that retrieved the emeralds back after your master stole them with his flying city. What of it?"

"That just gives me more of a reason to kill you my dear." sneered Alonzo "Those emeralds could have been very valuable to me and you took them away. No matter, I know where Angel Island is so I can just get them back and you and Knuckles won't be there to stop me."

He then proceeded to aim his mace at Shade and prepare to swing it down on her. Shade would not have a chance against the solid spiky ball of steel so she'd be dead in a millisecond. Before Alonzo could club Shade into the ground with his mace however, Geoffrey St. John the Skunk leaped in and dropkicked Alonzo in the face. Alonzo staggered backwards but he quickly regained his balance and he withdrew his tentacle. Geoffrey stood there before him in a battle-ready stance, ready to cut loose on him.

"I like the new body mate." said Geoffrey "Gives us a reason to fear you instead of sneer at you. And it also gives us a reason to destroy you more then ever."

"That'll be highly unlikely Geoffrey St. Jumping Jacks." snorted Alonzo "I'm invulnerable now, you cannot destroy me."

"Oh we'll see about that mate." said Geoffrey with a smirk on his face "Smile for the camera."

He aimed his arm-mounted crossbow and activated a flash bomb in Alonzo's optics. The bright light made Alonzo yelp and he clutched his optics to get the flash out of them. While he was distracted, Geoffrey ran behind Alonzo, loaded his crossbow full of bomb-darts and he fired four of them into his back. He then activated the trigger and the darts all exploded in unison. Alonzo was thrown onto his stomach by the blast and he wailed in pain. Geoffrey punched the air in triumph.

"Ha, Ha! Yes! I killed the bloke!" he cheered.

If only he was right. Despite the powerful blast of the darts, Alonzo was STILL functional! Heck, he picked himself up and turned back around to face Geoffrey as if nothing had happened! His back didn't even have a speck of damage anywhere on it! The bomb-darts hadn't worked at all! Geoffrey was about to have a seizure in shock at that sight before him.

"Which part of "I'm invulnerable" did you fail to comprehend Geoffrey St. Jackass?" scoffed Alonzo "Nothing can destroy me, not even your puny darts."

He then proceeded to deploy his hammer tentacle and give Geoffrey and uppercut with it. The hammer blow sent Geoffrey hurling through the air and the skunk landed rather sharply on his back. Geoffrey groaned like a ghoul in pain as he rubbed his throbbing back. Alonzo chortled to himself and he deployed his other tentacles. He decided to be really sadistic and kill Geoffrey with all four of his weapons instead of one. But before he could get anywhere near Geoffrey, Ruben the Water-Panther leaped in and squirted him with a jet of water. Alonzo was pushed backwards by the attack and he ended up dripping wet from that attack. But he was waterproof so the attack didn't short-circuit him, not surprising to Ruben as he expected that from Alonzo. Alonzo growled angrily at Ruben. He had a very big grudge on the water panther, mostly due to the fact his water powers could be dangerous to any mechanical life form and he was determined to get rid of him more then anything. Ruben let Alonzo have another jet of water in the face but Alonzo took the blast and he began to push against the jet of water Ruben was firing at him. Alonzo was so powerful, he even managed to push his way straight through the water and get closer and closer to Ruben. Ruben could see his water powers weren't going to work so he stopped squirting water at Alonzo and he leaped into the air. He tried to drop-kick Alonzo but Alonzo walloped him with the hammer tentacle and knocked him straight down. He then raised the axe tentacle up high and prepared to chop him into pieces. But Ruben wasn't going down so easily. He squirted Alonzo with a jet of water and threw him off-balance and just as regained his balance, Tails flew in and kick-slammed him in the face. Alonzo quickly picked himself up and scratched Tails on the shoulder with the drill-tentacle. Tails yelped in pain and he clutched his throbbing shoulder. This distracted Tails long enough for Alonzo to knock him straight down into the ground with a whack of the hammer. Tails lay on the ground grimacing tensely in pain while still clutching his shoulder. Alonzo activated his drill and prepared to drill Tails through like a plank of wood. Before Alonzo could touch Tails however, Sonic spin-dashed him directly in the head. Alonzo fell onto his side but he wasn't down for long. He picked himself up, withdrew is tentacles and he deployed some arm-cannons he also had as weapons. He began to rapidly shoot at Sonic as the hedgehog ran around him but being supersonic; Sonic was too fast for Alonzo. Sonic spin-dashed towards Alonzo again but Alonzo withdrew his arm cannons and punched Sonic away. Knuckles and Shade both leaped on Alonzo's back and they pile-dived him with several powerful punches and Blade Rushes respectively but Alonzo just grabbed them by their quills and threw them away. Ruben jumped in with a desperate ninja kick but Alonzo grabbed him and threw him over his shoulder. Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy attempted to triple-team Alonzo but Alonzo walloped them all away with his hammer tentacle and sent them sprawling on the ground. Bunnie Rabbot flew in and walloped Alonzo in the back of his head with her robot fist. Alonzo quickly picked himself up and gave Bunnie Rabbot a bone-shattering uppercut to the chin that almost took the Rabbot's head off. Bunnie fell down onto her side and clutched her sore chin. Amy, Cream and Cosmo flew in towards Alonzo in their team attack formation. They were attempting to use Amy's Twirling-Hammer Batter move on him (yes, that move REALLY needs a better name!). Alonzo just sneered at the foolish females and he blasted them out of the sky with one shot of his arm cannons. Amy, Cream and Cosmo all fell down onto the ground in unison and they groaned in pain. Alonzo chortled at his defeated enemies.

"Look at you foolish Mobians." he sneered "You can take down Dr. Eggman's biggest and best machines but you can't take down me in a new body. I really have improved myself haven't I? Well, it's time I killed you all. I can just see my former master's face now when I kill you all, thus succeeding in doing the one thing Dr. Eggman never could!"

"Yeah, I bet he's gonna be real mad at the fact his snivelling minion beat yours truly but he didn't." muttered Sonic as Alonzo advanced on him with his tentacles bared and weapons at the ready.

Alonzo ignored Sonic's grim remark and he activated the drill bit on his first tentacle. The drill whirred eerily as it spun around at a terrific speed and Alonzo edged it towards Sonic's forehead.

"Now let's see if your brain looks any different to a human brain." purred Alonzo sadistically as the drill inched closer to Sonic's head.

But before Alonzo could even began to stick the drill through Sonic's head, he was spin-dashed in the side by a black and red blur and sent hurling backwards a good few feet. Alonzo landed with a heavy clunk on his side and he lay there, groaning to himself. As for Sonic, he picked himself up and was met with a pleasant sight. There, standing before him with his back turned on him and staring squarely at Alonzo was none other then Shadow the Hedgehog, a genetic experiment with a lost purpose and a former nemesis of Sonic's. Sonic's eyes widened in surprise and his face brightened.

"Hey Shadow!" cried Sonic "This is a surprise isn't it?"

"Humph." muttered Shadow, looking away from Alonzo and over to Sonic "Hello blue hedgehog. It seems you've got your hands full."

"We have." said Sonic, motioning to his friends as they picked themselves up and dusted themselves off "We were just having a pretty tight battle with Alonzo over there and he's wiping the floor with us. Where did you suddenly spring from Shadow boy?"

"Ever since the last time we met I've been looking for clues to my true origins and I haven't come close whatsoever." muttered Shadow "All I've done since then is wander around aimlessly while searching for any possible answer to my past, helped a Royal Fighter group save their leader and destroyed a prison blockade belonging to Dr. Eggman himself*. Since then, it's been nothing but aimless wandering and then all of the sudden, I end up coming across Robotropolis and I saw a new robot about to kill you so I decided to step in and save your life. After all, I'm still grateful to you for exposing Dr. Eggman as a fake to me."

"That's real nice Shadow boy." said Sonic brightly "And I'm grateful you've just saved my hide from Alonzo over there."

"Alonzo?" mused Shadow, looking back at Alonzo, who had just picked himself up and his tentacles were waving about angrily "That's not Alonzo, he looks like a missile with wheels and arms. He doesn't look like that."

"Well Shadow, it is me." growled Alonzo "I've changed my appearance so I'll be fit to rule the Eggman Empire and destroy Sonic the Hedgehog!"

"Rule the Eggman Empire?" Shadow mused again, a ray of hope lighting up in his stomach "Does that mean…you've betrayed Dr. Eggman as well?"

"I have Shadow." said Alonzo dryly "I've betrayed Eggman because I cannot stand his incompetence and I'm more deserving of being in charge of the Empire then he is so I've overthrown Dr. Eggman and I'll be in charge of Robotropolis from now on."

"Is that so?" said Shadow "Well Alonzo, instead of trying to replace Dr. Eggman, you could put that new body to better use. Why don't you use that thing for good instead of bad Alonzo? Heck, why don't you join me Alonzo? I know how you feel about Eggman since I've seen the bad he's done to you during my time as his unwilling ally and you know how I feel about being misused and deceived by him so you and I would be a good team up. Together, we can make Eggman pay for all the misery he's caused us and we can destroy him once and for all."

Alonzo just frowned at Shadow as if his very proposition physically repulsed him and left a bad feeling in his circuits.

"I would rather be scraped then join the enemy Shadow the Hedgehog!" snarled Alonzo "I am never going to side with the Mobians, especially all the times they've made me look stupid and given Eggman a reason to use me as a punching bag! And I especially have a grudge on you Shadow since you ratted me out to Dr. Eggman after I used Egg Raptor to try and kill Sonic* and I ended up being wrongfully punished for it so I'm especially going to slaughter you Shadow!"

Shadow frowned very eerily at Alonzo, furious the treacherous butler bot had refused to accept his proposal and wanted to kill him and the Mobians. He bent down in a battle ready stance and prepared to do battle.

"In that case Alonzo, prepare to stain the ground with your own oil." said Shadow in a very cold voice.

"You'll be the one staining the ground Shadow!" cackled Alonzo "Especially since my new body is invulnerable and Sonic plus twelve can't even lay a dent on me so you will have no chance."

"We'll see about that Alonzo." snorted Shadow "I'm the Ultimate Life Form, I'm built to be perfect and I can defeat anybody I come across so I will defeat you easily!"

Alonzo smirked at Shadow and he lunged at him with his tentacles raised. Shadow lunged towards Alonzo and the two fisted each other…

Meanwhile in Eggman's headquarters, the imprisoned Dr. Eggman had sat there and watched the entire fight between Alonzo and the Royal Fighters and he was absolutely gobsmacked at the sheer power of Alonzo and his new body. He'd been given heavy blows by his resisters and yet he had no dents or grievous damage whatsoever save for severed horns and severed tentacles although the latter were replaceable as he could grow new ones and he was now going toe-to-toe with Shadow the Hedgehog. Dr. Eggman just grew ever more worried about Alonzo and the power he now possessed in that new body of his and he had to destroy Alonzo before he defeated Sonic and friends and ended up controlling the Eggman Empire. Dr. Eggman switched off the computer monitors and he stood up from his chair.

"Alonzo, you've impressed me." he said to himself "Just a pity you've decided to turn on me. Oh well, I know how to destroy you since nobody else can seem to lay a dent on you."

He picked up a communicator device and dialled a few buttons on it. He put the device to his ear and spoke into it.

"Hello Katherine dear." said Dr. Eggman "I've been locked in my quarters by that traitor Alonzo. Could you be a good girl and open the door for me?"

Eggman's response was a beep from the silent warden-bot. Luckily for Dr. Eggman; Katherine was just outside of his headquarters and he could hear her strolling up to the door. Katherine stared at the key-pad and she pressed the control buttons on the keypad beside the door. She managed to break the code as she knew the codes to everything in Robotropolis and the door opened up. Dr. Eggman beamed happily and he strode out of his quarters.

"Thank you Katherine." said Dr. Eggman, patting the fem-bot on the shoulder "You're a wonderful robot you are. So what's the status of Robotropolis?"

Katherine played a recording of Alonzo's voice to Dr. Eggman. The recording was from what Alonzo had said to the entire population of Robotropolis earlier.

"That's better." the recording said as she played it "However, to ensure total loyalty to me, I will re-alter your programming so you'll obey only me. Any attempts to resist will result in my uploading the virus into you all so do not try to resist me."

Dr. Eggman fumed at that revelation.

"Has he re-altered the programming yet?" he asked.

Katherine shook her head from side-to-side. Dr. Eggman smiled darkly at his female sidekick.

"I guess he hasn't had the time to do so yet." said Dr. Eggman "Too busy uploading himself into his new body and hasn't yet got around to re-altering the programming of Robotropolis so I'm still in control. But that's not helpful as Alonzo is more powerful then Sonic and his friends all at once so my robot population will be no match for him. I however have one thing that'll definitely destroy Alonzo and give me something else to be proud about. Do you know what that is my dear Katherine?"

Katherine shook her head from side-to-side again. Dr. Eggman smiled even wider and looked very eerie indeed right now.

"I have a giant roboticizer chamber on the middle floor in this base." said Dr. Eggman "It works just like any other roboticizer out there only it can be modified to spread its waves out a very large distance. In other words, I'm going to modify the king-sized roboticizer to roboticize all of Mobius in one fell sweep! And do you know what happens if a robot gets hit by a roboticizer wave?"

Katherine just played an audio clip of an explosion going off. Dr. Eggman laughed at the fact Katherine had just answered correctly and with a brilliant way of communication too.

"That's right, it explodes!" he cackled "Alonzo will be fried metal when I activate my modified roboticizer! Not only will that happen, I'll roboticize everybody on Mobius and have a huge army of Robians to boot! I feel like such a moron for the fact I haven't used it yet but I'm a scientist, I'm always seeking to create things and I'm so fond of inventing things, I end up forgetting about some of my older projects. Oh well, better late then never as they say. Come on Katherine, let's go and modify the roboticizer chamber."

Katherine nodded silently and she followed Dr. Eggman down the corridor. Dr. Eggman dialled some numbers on his communicator and he spoke into it.

"Mecha Rouge? Tell all the robots of Robotropolis to retreat back into my headquarters." ordered Dr. Eggman "I've got a brand new plan that I'm going to unleash on Mobius right now."

"I-o-bey." came the roboticized voice of Mecha Rouge, Rouge the Bat in robot's clothing.

Dr. Eggman put the communicator away and smiled widely to himself.

"I feel like an absolute idiot for not doing this in the first place." said Dr. Eggman "But now I've remembered it, I can use it and finally conquer this planet! I may have delayed my own victory but a delayed victory is better then no victory as they say. And I'll get rid of that traitor Alonzo as well since not even his invulnerable body can withstand the roboticizer's powerful waves!"

Dr. Eggman began to cackle to himself as he and Katherine headed off to the king-sized roboticizer that Eggman had been talking about. Dr. Eggman couldn't wait to see what Mobius looked like when he modified his roboticizer to be a worldwide roboticizer and unleashed it on Mobius…

Outside of Robotropolis, Alonzo and Shadow were brawling it out with each other and at a very vicious and speedy pace too. Shadow punched Alonzo as hard as he could but Alonzo took the punch effortlessly and punched Shadow back even harder. Shadow skidded backwards a little and he charged back at Alonzo. The two fighter then began to punch and elbow each other as rapidly and as callously as they possibly could. They struck many vigorous blows on each other at rapid speed but no one could seem to get the best of one another. Shadow then roundhouse kicked Alonzo in the chest and Alonzo roundhouse kicked him back. Alonzo then walloped

Shadow with the mace tentacle and Shadow ended up hurling backwards a few paces. The attack had left a few nasty cuts on the side of his head and behind his ear. He wiped the trickling blood away and he zoomed back towards Alonzo. Alonzo just smirked at Shadow and hammered him with the hammer tentacle. Shadow hurled through the air in a rainbow arch and he landed painfully on the ground. Shadow picked himself up and spin-dashed Alonzo's top two tentacles in half. The hammer and drill tentacle halves lay on the ground, motionless and useless. Alonzo just withdrew the remaining halves and drew out a new pair of tentacles. One had an air rifle barrel and one had a studded club. Shadow couldn't believe his eyes at the sight of Alonzo growing new tentacles but he didn't let that distract him. Shadow zoomed towards Alonzo again, his face frowning so hard it looked like he was going to burst. Alonzo shot at Shadow with the rifle tentacle but Shadow dodged every blast with ease and he upwards kicked Alonzo directly in the face. That attack left a large scratch on Alonzo's face and it knocked him over. Alonzo lay there on his back, clutching his face in pain. Shadow tried to kick-slam Alonzo's gut but Alonzo walloped him away with his club tentacle. Alonzo picked himself up and then tried to butcher Shadow to pieces with his axe tentacle, the only original tentacle that remained. Shadow dodged the axe attacks and he threw four Chaos Spears at Alonzo. The Chaos Spears ricocheted off Alonzo's tough armour and Alonzo fired at him with the rifle tentacle. Shadow dodged the blasts once again and he spin-dashed at Alonzo but Alonzo caught him in his hands and threw him away as if he was a basketball. Shadow ended up cleaving his way into the ground before coming to a stop. Alonzo sheathed his tentacles and he deployed his arm cannons. He advanced on Shadow and prepared to shoot the black hedgehog. But Shadow picked himself up and he spin-dashed Alonzo in the chest. Alonzo hurtled backwards and he ended up skidding very painfully on his back. Shadow ran over to Alonzo at top speed and he threw some Chaos Spears at the weaponized servant bot as he ran to him. Alonzo just stood up and walked over to Shadow with the Chaos Spears deflecting off his invulnerable armour. Shadow leaped into the air and prepared to spin-dash Alonzo but Alonzo blasted him away with his arm cannons. Shadow landed on his feet and skidded backwards slightly. Alonzo rapidly fired at Shadow but Shadow ran through the blasts as if they were nothing and he gave Alonzo a terrific uppercut that sent Alonzo hurling through the air in an amazing arch. But before Alonzo could land back on the ground, he activated some jets in his feet and he flew towards Shadow at top speed. Alonzo grabbed Shadow by his quills and carried him up into the air. Shadow squirmed in Alonzo's tough grasp as he was carried into the air by the deadly traitor. Alonzo carried Shadow up about one-hundred feet into the air and he let go of Shadow's quills. Shadow plummeted straight down to the ground like a falling stone. Shadow landed very painfully on the ground and he lay where he landed, wondering what had just happened and which way was up. Alonzo landed back down on the ground and he pointed the rifle tentacle at Shadow's chest.

"Some ultimate life form." he sneered "Prepare to be an ultimate corpse staining the ground with his blood Shadow the Hedgehog!"

But before Alonzo could pull the trigger and end Shadow's life, Sonic spin-dashed Alonzo and knocked him over.

"Quit trying to kill my friends Alonzo!" yelled Sonic "Hey everybody, all attack him at once! That'll bring him down for sure!"

Sonic's friends agreed and they all charged towards Alonzo as quickly as they could. Sonic, Tails, Knuckles, Shade, Wilson and Mandy charged at him from the front and left, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Geoffrey, Bunnie, Ruben and Shadow all charged at him from the back and right, forming a huge circle that was closing in on Alonzo. Alonzo sneered at his enemies and he let them come to him. The Mobians all pounced on Alonzo but just before they could dog-pile on him, Alonzo activated a giant green wave of concentrated energy out from the huge orb in his chest. The wave spread out from all around Alonzo and struck the Mobians like an ocean wave at the seaside. The Mobians were all sent hurling backwards in every direction and sent sprawling all around Alonzo, who cackled evilly at his downed victims. Shadow and Sonic landed beside each other and the two hedgehogs groaned weakly.

"He's…he's too powerful." grunted Shadow "That body of his is clearly designed to match all of us. I bet he can even match Eggman's greatest creations easily.

"I do wish we had Team Chaotix with us but they're back at Royal HQ as someone needs to keep an eye on the place when no one's at home." puffed Sonic "But I doubt even they would be of much help to us now. Heck, I bet Alonzo's body is designed to match the entire R.F.S. so any of the groups abroad would be no match for him!"

"Then how are we going to destroy him then?" asked Shadow desperately "He'll kill us all if we don't do something!"

"I have an idea." said Sonic "I'll use the power of the seven Chaos Emeralds to destroy that fiend. He hasn't been in direct contact with me in super form so I bet he isn't built to match Super Sonic."

Shadow's mind suddenly blanked out at the mention of Chaos Emeralds and he began to hear a voice in his head again.

The Chaos Emeralds have great power Shadow. the voice boomed in his head like a sinister gong With them, you'll be even more powerful and you shall lead us to complete and total victory...

Shadow's mind suddenly switched back on and he shook his head.

"So where are the Chaos Emeralds then?" asked Shadow.

"All the way in Downunda." said Sonic "Which is a very long hearty jog away but with my super speed, I'll be there and back in no time. You all distract Alonzo while I get the emeralds."

"Very well blue hedgehog." said Shadow grimly "Just pray that this miracle of yours actually works and saves us all or I'll have a reason to soften my knuckles on you."

"Trust me Shadow, we're as good as saved with those emeralds." said Sonic "Well, adios for the time being!"

With that said, Sonic zoomed off like a rocket car and he sped off into the distance as fast as he could. Shadow picked himself up and prepared to do battle once again. Alonzo advanced on Shadow with his weapons blazing.

"Well, well, well Shadow." sneered Alonzo "Sonic has decided to turn chicken and run for his life it seems. Will you do the same?"

"Not on your life Alonzo!" snarled Shadow "Let's continue this battle!"

"If you're so ready to have an early grave Shadow then I'll be happy to arrange your funeral." sneered Alonzo.

He cackled like a demon and swung his mace tentacle at Shadow at a blinding speed…

Worldwide Roboticizer

Story 80: World Wide Roboticizer

Worldwide hero and fastest thing alive, Sonic the Hedgehog had just fled an intense battle between him, his friends and Dr. Eggman's treacherous servant-bot Alonzo, who had recently upgraded himself into a walking, sentient engine of chaos and malice. He wasn't fleeing the battle out of cowardice though as fleeing in cowardice was the last thing he would ever do in the midst of a battle. He was fleeing the battle because he had a cunning plan in mind. Alonzo's upgrades had made him resilient to battle-damage of any kind and no matter what blows he and his friends threw at Alonzo, he just took them easily and struck back even stronger. Not even Shadow the Hedgehog was a match for Alonzo so Sonic needed help and luckily, he had the perfect plan. He was going to use the legendary seven Chaos Emeralds to turn Super Sonic and defeat Alonzo as Alonzo couldn't possibly have built his new body to be strong enough to resist him in super form as Alonzo hadn't seen him in super form enough to study him and do some research on him. He'd only seen him in super form once and even then, Alonzo had only seen him in that form briefly* so he couldn't have made his new body resistant to super-forms. After a while of running, Sonic finally arrived at the famous Angel Island, the island that floated in the sky and was the home of Knuckles the Echidna, the guardian of Angel Island. The seven Chaos Emeralds were up on that island and all Sonic had to do was get up onto the island. Unfortunately, he didn't have a warp ring with him so he couldn't warp himself up onto the island. Sonic had another way of getting up onto the island though. He curled up into a ball and he spin-dashed up onto the island instead. He landed right beside the Master Emerald shrine and he gazed out into the horizon. Angel Island's views were spectacular and the blue hedgehog always enjoyed seeing them when he was up on the floating island.

"This view never gets old." he said to himself "But now's not the time for sight-seeing. I've got an upgraded butler bot to destroy."

With that said, Sonic zoomed off into the nearby woods and searched for the tomb the Chaos Emeralds were hidden in. Knuckles had once shown him the way during the battle with Imperator Ix so he knew where he was going. He ran forward into the woods a good few feet and then he skidded to a halt. He turned to his right and saw the familiar slab of stone in the ground. That was the tomb the Chaos Emeralds were in. It kept them hidden, safe and prevented their power from being detected by anything so no one would find them there. Sonic wandered up to the stone and he pressed on it with his foot. The stone slid down into the ground about sixty centimetres and slid away, revealing the bright colourful glows of the seven Chaos Emeralds. Sonic beamed at the sight of them. The very sight of the Chaos Emeralds made him feel good on the inside and he liked that feeling. Sonic picked up the seven Chaos Emeralds and admired them.

"Aaaah you seven little beauties, it's a good thing you're always around when we need you." said Sonic happily "And we really need you now. It's time for my super form to come out and play."

Sonic raised his arms and held the Chaos Emeralds above his head. The seven Chaos Emeralds glowed brightly and they slowly levitated out of Sonic's hands. They all began to circle around Sonic at a slow pace at first. Sonic closed his eyes and waited for the magic to happen. The Chaos Emeralds slowly circled around Sonic and then slowly and steadily, they began to pick up speed. The Chaos Emeralds circled around Sonic faster and faster and faster until they were nothing more then a colourful blur circling around the supersonic hedgehog. Then suddenly, the Chaos Emeralds vanished into thin air and Sonic's cobalt blue fur changed into a brilliant golden colour. His spines all pointed up behind him, giving him a cool looking "hairstyle" and his eyes turned red. Super Sonic had come out once again and was here to save all of Mobius with his brilliant super powers. Super Sonic opened is eyes and he smiled cockily to himself.

"Oh yeah, Super Sonic is here to save the day once again!" he announced to himself "Look out Alonzo, Super Sonic is here to make a scrap pile outta ya!"

Super Sonic rocketed up into the sky faster then a space shuttle and he charged off away from Angel Island and towards Robotropolis where Weaponized Alonzo and his friends were still brawling it out with each other. Alonzo would be in for a shock when he arrived on the scene…

Back at Robotropolis, Shadow the Hedgehog and Sonic's friends Tails the Fox, Knuckles the Echidna, Shade the Echidna, Amy Rose, Cream the Rabbit, Cosmo the Seedrian, Wilson the Dog, Mandy Mouse, Geoffrey St. John the Skunk, Bunnie Rabbot and Ruben the Water Panther were keeping Alonzo busy just like Sonic had told them to. Shadow had informed everybody what Sonic was up to so they knew that Sonic hadn't deserted them and was just getting the Chaos Emeralds so he could turn super and defeat Alonzo. Their combined efforts were keeping Alonzo on his toes at the least but Alonzo was still too tough for them. Their efforts more or less seemed to annoy him rather then hurt him. Shadow threw a Chaos Spear at Alonzo but Alonzo took the attack as his armour was too strong for a mere Chaos Spear to penetrate and he hammered Shadow with the club tentacle he had right now. Shadow hurtled through the air like a rag doll and he hit the ground in a very awkward position that would break any normal person's back but being the ultimate life form, he was still alright after that crippling blow. Wilson and Mandy then double-teamed Alonzo with their respective weapons. Wilson slashed at him with his spinning blade weapon and Mandy fisted him with her brass knuckle attachments. One may have been cracked but it was still effective and still usable at the most. Despite these valiant attacks, Alonzo took them as if they were nothing. He withdrew his tentacles and he gave Mandy a painful uppercut to the chin that almost took her head off. Wilson's temper flared up and he slashed at Alonzo even more furiously. Hurting Mandy was the only way you could get this dog to crack. But Wilson just ended up breaking one of the blades to his double-bladed pole weapon in his rage. Alonzo's armour was just too strong and excessive use of striking it against his invulnerable armour led to the blade being broken. He only had one blade left and that wouldn't be of much use to him at this point in time. Alonzo sneered at Wilson and tried to shoot him with the air-rifle tentacle after deploying it. Wilson jumped out of the way of it's gun fire and he sliced the tentacle in two with the only remaining blade his spinning blade had. The rifle fell onto the ground, now completely useless to Alonzo. Alonzo grumbled, clearly fed up with having his tentacles constantly chopped off. He sheathed the tentacle and grew out a new tentacle that had a boxing glove made of steel on the end. Alonzo punched Wilson with the fist of steel he now had. Wilson flew through the air and landed sharply on his back. Mandy got mad and she punched Alonzo directly in the optic. But even Alonzo's optics were invulnerable so blinding him was not an option. Alonzo kneed the mouse in the gut and then attempted to butcher her into bite-sized chunks with the axe tentacle, the only tentacle he was yet to lose, but before he could do so, Shade jumped in and Blade Rushed him in the face. Alonzo fell onto his side, leaving Mandy to kneel down on the ground and clutch her aching gut. Shade then began to furiously Blade-Rush Alonzo over and over but the attacks weren't doing any harm of any kind to the invulnerable robot. Alonzo gave Shade an uppercut to the chin that would have knocked her helmet off if it was like any normal helmet and Shade hurled through the air in a rainbow arch, veered to the left and landed sharply on her stomach. Alonzo withdrew his tentacles again and deployed his arm cannons. He decided that it would be nice to give those weapons some glory instead of constantly relying on his tentacles and fists. Knuckles charged towards Alonzo like an angry bull, his fists bared and ready to attack. He leaped into the air and punched the ground. Several chunks of earth shot up from the ground and Knuckles punched and kicked the debris straight at Alonzo. Alonzo shot the debris into pieces with his arm cannons but there was on particularly large chunk of debris that his blasters wouldn't destroy in time. He sheathed his cannons and drew out an arm blade out of his left arm that he had as a surprise weapon. He charged into the earth chunk and sliced it in two like a slice of cheese. Knuckles leaped into the air and gave Alonzo an uppercut just as he was about to land on him but Alonzo flipped himself backwards so he landed on his feet after the attack. Knuckles charged at Alonzo and tried to punch him but Alonzo swiped his arm blade at him forcing him to hastily retreat. Amy leaped in and hammered the blade into pieces with one smack of the Piko-Piko hammer. Alonzo growled angrily and back-handed her twenty feet across the battlefield. Cream flew in front of Alonzo in an attempt to distract him but Alonzo deployed his arm cannon and shot Cream clean out of the sky. Cream landed rather painfully on the ground. Cosmo however, picked one of the pieces of Alonzo's smashed arm blade. It was the half with the tip of the blade. Cosmo threw the blade at Alonzo like a dart and the blade embedded itself straight into his optic. Alonzo screamed in pain and he pulled the blade out. He now only had one optic left. If he lost that one, he would be blind and unable to fight properly. Geoffrey and Bunnie took advantage of Cosmo's distraction and they both double-teamed Alonzo with a pair of roundhouse kicks that tripped him up. Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and blasted him in the face but the blast didn't kill Alonzo. Alonzo blasted Bunnie back and sent her hurling backwards thirty feet. Geoffrey grabbed Alonzo in a chokehold and tried to rip his head off but Alonzo broke out of the hold and elbowed Geoffrey rather painfully in the back. The skunk was brought down on the ground, panting and gasping. Alonzo then tried to shoot Geoffrey in the head but Ruben leaped in and kung-fu kicked Alonzo in the face, knocking him down on his back. Ruben then drenched Alonzo with water in an attempt to keep him down but Alonzo ploughed through the water jets and blasted Ruben away. Ruben sprung back with a ninja style attack on Alonzo but Alonzo grabbed Ruben and threw him down onto the ground. Alonzo chortled at his pitiful resisters and he deployed his tentacles.

"There's one big problem with you foolish Mobians." he sneered "You're all too valorous for your own good and that is going to be your downfall right now."

"Does that snooty moron ever stop bragging?" grunted Mandy, still rubbing her stomach better.

"He brags more then Scourge and Imperator Ix." muttered Wilson.

"I will thank you kindly for not commenting on my arrogance you two idiots." snapped Alonzo "Now, I shall kill you all and after that, I'll hunt down that coward Sonic the Hedgehog and kill him as well. I'll start with you first Shadow the Hedgehog."

He raised all four tentacles and advanced menacingly on Shadow. Just to be cruel, he was going to kill the black hedgehog experiment with all four of his weapons. He would fist him with the boxing glove, club him with the club, chop him with the axe and spike him with the mace. Not even the Ultimate Life form would survive four different weapons making dead meat out of him. Shadow just lay there on the ground, staring up at Alonzo and waiting for the weaponized servant bot to bludgeon and club him into the ground with his four tentacles. Alonzo just grinned maliciously at Shadow, clearly looking forward to this right now.

"You should have fled along with Sonic Shadow." sneered Alonzo "Proves Sonic is the superior hedgehog as he has the brains to abandon this fight."

He raised his club and fist tentacles and prepared to bring them both down on Shadow at once. But just as he swung them down on the black hedgehog, Shadow teleported out from beneath Alonzo, leaving Alonzo to hammer the ground and leave cracks in it. Alonzo growled furiously and then suddenly, he was knocked down onto the ground by a kick from Shadow the Hedgehog, who had just reappeared behind him.

"I never flee from a fight." snarled Shadow "And I'm not fleeing from this one until you're nothing but scrap iron glistening in the sunlight."

He then suddenly grabbed his inhibitor rings and removed them both one at a time.

"Stand back everybody." ordered Shadow "I'm unleashing my Chaos Blast on that monster."

Sonic's friends did as they were told and they picked themselves up and limped away from Shadow and Alonzo. Alonzo could see Shadow was preparing to unleash his Chaos Blast but the invulnerable robot didn't seem the least bit worried for some eerie reason. Shadow tensed up very slightly and his black furred body suddenly began to glow red. He glowed ever so bright and tensed up tighter and tighter until…

"Chaos… BLASSSSSTTTTT! " bellowed Shadow, throwing his arms out to the side and unleashing all the Chaos Energy in his body.

Giant red waves of concentrated energy exploded out from Shadow and expanded all around him. Luckily, Sonic's friends were out of range so they didn't get caught up in the blast. The blast engulfed Alonzo and sent him flying backwards a good distance away from Shadow the Hedgehog. The blast raged on for thirty seconds and then suddenly, all the Chaos Energy died away and Shadow's fur returned to it's natural black colour. The genetic experiment gasped and panted for breath as unleashing his energy tired him out and he fell down on his knees. He grabbed his inhibitor rings and snapped them back on his wrists. He smirked cockily and wandered up to where Alonzo had just crashed.

"Well Alonzo, as powerful as you were, I bet you couldn't survive that." he said to himself as he walked over to the downed robot.

But Shadow was met with a terrible shock when he arrived at Alonzo's body. Despite the sheer power of the Chaos Blast, Alonzo's body was STILL intact! He hadn't received a single bit of damage save for his tentacles, which had all been torn off in the blast, and he was still in good condition! Alonzo picked himself up, laughing demonically at the horrified hedgehog.

"I guess the word "invulnerable" is a foreign word to you Shadow the Hedgehog." sneered Alonzo "I cannot be damaged, I cannot be destroyed and your attacks are useless against me. When building this body, I specially built it for the likes of you as well as Sonic and his foolish friends. My defeat and your victory is impossible Shadow whereas my victory and your defeat is imminent. Quit trying to destroy me and just surrender to me already! If you do I MIGHT spare your worthless lives and make you all my pets. You can all live in a dungeon together and I'll be free to abuse and humiliate you all I like while I rule over Mobius with an iron fist and dance on Dr. Eggman's grave!"

"I'd rather get beaten up by that kung-fu princess from Chun-Nan then surrender to you Alonzo!" yelled Shadow, pointing sharply at him "We'll destroy that stupid body of yours, even if we kill ourselves trying."

"Well in that case, there's no point in trying because just merely fighting me is suicide in it's own rights." snorted Alonzo "Well since you're all asking me to sign your death warrants, I'll be happy to sign them without a moment's hesitance!"

Out of his back, appeared four new tentacles. All four of them had blaster cannons on them. One was a cannon that fired stun-discs, one was a disintegrator cannon, one was a fire cannon and one was a cannon that fired electrical bolts. Shadow just gritted his teeth and prepared to do battle. He bent down in a battle ready stance and prepared to beat the pudding out of the invulnerable servant bot. Sonic's friends however, ran up to Shadow and all stood behind him in battle ready stances. All ready to get into the action. Shadow was rather surprised at the support he was getting right now.

"We'll all fight together and bring you down Alonzo!" yelled Knuckles, baring his fists.

"We've taken down Eggman robots that were more threatening then you Alonzo!" yelled Tails "We'll take you down as well!"

"We're the heroes, we always come out on top in the end!" yelled Amy, twirling her Piko-Piko hammer around menacingly.

Alonzo just snorted with laughter at his oppressors. He pointed his tentacles at his opponents and deployed an arm blade out of his right arm. On his left arm, he deployed an arm cannon. He was one weapons heavy robot now with four tentacles armed with cannons, a blade and an arm cannon to boot. But that didn't scare anybody, they were willing to risk their lives for Alonzo's defeat, no matter the cost. But before anyone could throw a single punch, a bright golden glow appeared from over the horizon and rocketed towards them. The glow caught everybody's attention and they turned to see the bright golden glow. Alonzo grumbled at the blinding light that was coming towards them.

"What now?" he grumbled "More fools for me to use as target practice?"

"No Alonzo, I think your demise is here." said Geoffrey with a sly grin on his handsome face.

The glow arrived on the scene at last and there everybody could see who was causing the golden glow. It was none other then Super Sonic, Sonic's super form and he was here to destroy Alonzo and save everybody at long last. Alonzo's tentacles drooped down in despair and his only remaining optic widened in horror. Everybody else immediately began cheering at the sight of Super Sonic save for Shade and Ruben as they hadn't seen Sonic in super form yet.

"Sonic! You've powered yourself up with the Chaos Emeralds!" cried Tails "Now Alonzo's doomed to defeat!"

"You got that right Tails." said Super Sonic "Super Sonic is here to make scrap metal out of Alonzo!"

"Um Tails, what's happened to Sonic?" asked Ruben "He looks different and he seems to be super powerful now."

"The seven Chaos Emeralds give the user the ability to use their power for good or evil." explained Tails "Sonic is able to go super with them and he's way past awesome in that form."

"Well let's hope none of our deadliest foes can super power like Sonic can or we will have our hands full." muttered Ruben "Still, nice that our greatest hero Sonic has such an ability."

As for Alonzo, he was shaking like mad at the mere sight of Super Sonic. He had seen him before when he made short work of Egg-Squid after being de-roboticized and he had hoped never to see him in that form again.

"No! No! Not a super form!" whimpered Alonzo "Anything but that Sonic the Hedgehog! Anything but the super form!"

"Sorry Alonzo but the super form is here to play." sneered Sonic "I can't beat you on my own, my friends and Shadow can't beat you so I need to go super to destroy you so you can just sit tight and prepare for destruction."

As for Shadow, Sonic's super form seemed to be provoking a train of thoughts in his head. It's as if the very sight seemed familiar to him. He blanked out again and began hearing that mysterious voice in his head. But this time, it wasn't a strange blackout for him, it was a memory from his creation.

" Your creation is almost complete Shadow the Hedgehog. boomed the voice in his head as the memory played in his head like a movie

I just need to equip you with the ability to use Chaos Powers."

And with that, his creator showed the half awake Shadow the Hedgehog a bright red Chaos Emerald.

" The Chaos Emeralds have many great powers." explained the figure "I'm going to use this emerald to give you the ability to use Chaos Powers such as the mighty Chaos Blast. These powers will be enhanced to greater levels when you actually hold one. There are many emeralds and if you can get enough of them, you'll be able to turn super like many other beings are capable of doing…"

The memory ended right there and Shadow entered another train of thoughts.

"That's how I'm familiar with the mere mention of Chaos Emeralds." he said to himself "One was present during my creation and my creator used it to give me these powers I have! Does this mean…I'll be able to turn super like Sonic…can?"

"What was that Shadow?" asked Amy curiously.

"I've remembered something from my past." explained Shadow "My creator used a Chaos Emerald to equip me with the Chaos Powers I have. He says if I get enough I can go super. Maybe I can use those seven Chaos Emeralds Sonic has and turn super myself."

"Super Shadow eh?" mused Geoffrey "Can't wait to see THAT in action. He'll be Super Sonic plus ten in power!"

Shadow ignored Geoffrey's remark and he charged up to Super Sonic. The super-powered hedgehog was about to go to town on Alonzo but Shadow stopped him before he could land a blow on him. Super Sonic hesitated and remained still.

"Shadow, what are you doing?" asked Super Sonic "I'm the only one capable of stopping Alonzo now I have the power of the Chaos Emeralds flowing through me!"

"I know." said Shadow "I've just remembered something from my creation. According to the memory I've just had, I can go super with the Chaos Emeralds just like you can!"

"Ya…you can?" said Super Sonic in surprise "Are…are you sure about that?"

"I'm more then sure faker!" snapped Shadow "Give me the Chaos Emeralds and let me show you that I'm correct!"

"But Shadow, I'm just about to destroy Alonzo, I think you turning super's just pointless right now." said Super Sonic.

"I'm not just going to destroy Alonzo." said Shadow "I'm going to destroy Robotropolis too and with super powers, I'll lay siege to Eggman's accursed city! That'll be the perfect revenge against that liar who dared to trick me into thinking I was his creation!"

"Well, I didn't think you held a grudge on Eggman THAT badly." said Super Sonic "OK Shadow, let's see if you really can turn super like I have."

Super Sonic held his arms out and the seven Chaos Emeralds appeared out from behind him. Alonzo instantly tried to grab them but Super Sonic blew him away with an energy wave that expanded out from his body. Shadow stared at the seven beautiful gems as they hovered slowly towards him. He definitely recognized their appearance, the red one in particular looked familiar to him. That meant his vision earlier wasn't his mind playing tricks on him, he had definitely seen the Chaos Emeralds before and one was definitely present at the time of his creation. But would he be able to use them the way his creator had intended? There was only one way to find out. He reached out to touch the seven Chaos Emeralds but before he could lay a finger on them, the Chaos Emeralds began to slowly circle around Shadow in unison. Shadow stood where he was, the Chaos Emeralds circling around him slow at first but then beginning to pick up speed. Shadow closed his eyes and tensed up his body as the seven Chaos Emeralds began to pick up speed and spin quickly around him. Everybody watching shielded their eyes and feared what was going to happen as the Chaos Emeralds engulfed Shadow in a bright light. Would something go horribly wrong and he would actually get killed by the emeralds or would he turn into an evil super form or something along those lines? Luckily, neither seemed to happen as Shadow began to raise off the ground, his body glowing intensely as the emeralds vanished from sight. The light died down, revealing Super Shadow in all his glory. His fur had become a brilliant lemon-yellow kind of colour but his stripes and eyes were still red. His spines didn't change their position unlike Super Sonic. Super Sonic stared in amazement at Super Shadow. He was amazed that Shadow's transformation had actually worked and he was now super-powered like he was. Super Shadow looked at himself in amazement. He too was amazed his transformation had worked. He looked himself over and was pleased that his creator's intentions had paid off here.

"It…it worked!" cried Super Shadow "I'm now Super Shadow! Now I can finish off that annoying servant bot Alonzo and destroy Eggman's city along with Eggman himself!"

"I'm amazed that actually worked." said Super Sonic, staring at Super Shadow in amazement "I wasn't expecting it to work for some reason. Oh well, now you're super, you can join me in kicking Alonzo's sorry butt."

"With pleasure faker." said Super Shadow with a smirk on his face.

"No! No!" shrieked Alonzo "Don't do it! Please! I beg of you Mobians! Have mercy on me!"

"Now why should we have mercy on you when you don't have mercy on us?" snapped Super Sonic "It doesn't work like that Alonzo! You're going down, Eggman's going down and that's all there is to it! Ready Super Shadow?"

"Ready when you are." said Super Shadow cockily.

The two golden hedgehogs curled up into golden spiky balls and they began to spin around in mid-air. Alonzo quickly sheathed his tentacles and shielded his face with his arms. Super Sonic and Super Shadow both spin-dashed towards Alonzo…and they both ricocheted straight off of him and shot straight up into the air! Super Sonic and Super Shadow stopped dead in their tracks and looked at Alonzo in wonder. Sonic's friends did a chorus of horrified gasps of disbelief at what had just happened. Alonzo's end was nigh and yet he was STILL alive! What was going on now? That's when they both notices something strange about Alonzo. He was covered in a translucent green force-field that shielded him from any possible attack. Alonzo broke down in hysterical evil laughter at the two super hedgehogs.

"You super powered fools! Ha, ha, ha, ha! You super powered fools! Wah ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!" he crowed at the horrified super hedgehogs "I KNEW you'd rely on those puny Chaos Emeralds to vanquish me so I equipped myself with a Chaos Barrier to prevent you from hurting me Super Sonic!"

"A Chaos Barrier? How on Mobius can you possibly know how to use a Chaos Barrier?" asked Super Sonic hastily "You don't have a Chaos Emerald with you!"

"I know but I have an alternative instead." said Alonzo with a sly grin on his face "After Dr. Eggman stole the Master Emerald and the Chaos Emeralds with Robotropolis, I chipped off a piece of the Master Emerald and experimented with the fragment shortly before Eggman unleashed his fleet*. Then after returning back to Robotropolis, I equipped my new body with the fragment so now I have all the powers of a Chaos Emerald. I chose not to use them yet because I was saving the fragment for your super form Sonic. And now you're super powered, I need to use the emerald's powers."

That very statement made Knuckles livid with rage. He was heavily tempted to pile-dive Alonzo into a pulp now.

"You chipped off a piece of the Master Emerald so you can use it's power for your own needs?" he bellowed "I will rip you apart for that you demon of science!"

He tried to charge over to Alonzo but Shade grabbed him and held him back.

"Knuckles no! That's suicide!" she yelled at him.

Knuckles ignored Shade and tried to run over to Alonzo and destroy him. As for Super Sonic and Super Shadow, they clenched their fists and prepared to attack Alonzo once again.

"OK Alonzo, building a body that can match us all blow for blow is bad enough but using the Master Emerald's power against us is downright diabolical! I am so gonna stomp all over you for that!" yelled Super Sonic angrily.

"The only thing you'll be stomping on is this barrier hedge-swine!" sneered Alonzo, taking flight and joining the super hedgehogs in the sky "This barrier will protect me from anything you throw at me and the experiments and upgrades I've done to it will make this barrier stay up until I shut it down so you'll never penetrate me!"

"Prepare to be proven wrong!" yelled Super Shadow, charging over to Alonzo at top speed.

Alonzo merely sneered at Super Shadow and he held out his arms.

"Chaos…CONTROL!" he yelled at the top of his voice.

Super Shadow suddenly ground to a halt before he could even hit Alonzo. Time froze around him and he stopped right in front of Alonzo. Super Shadow was completely frozen in time in front of the weaponized butler bot. Alonzo cackled at Super Shadow and he dropkicked the frozen super hedgehog straight down into the ground. The Chaos Control wore off and Super Shadow crashed into the ground. Due to being super powered, the crash looked more lethal then it actually was as the super waves made a small crater around him. Super Sonic couldn't believe his eyes.

"No way! You can use Chaos Control?" blurted Super Sonic.

"Precisely." sneered Alonzo "I have a Master Emerald fragment in me and the Master Emerald is merely a super-sized Chaos Emerald so I have all the powers of a Chaos Emerald. They may not be as powerful as yours as I have a tiny emerald fragment and you have seven Chaos Emeralds but no matter, my Chaos Barrier will keep you from touching me."

"Oh yeah?" growled Super Sonic "Well I'm gonna prove you wrong Alonzo!"

Super Sonic spin-dashed at Alonzo but Alonzo teleported out of his way with a Chaos Control. Super Sonic stopped hastily just as Alonzo reappeared behind him and dropkicked him in the back. Super Sonic grunted in pain and Alonzo switched off the Chaos Barrier for a moment so he could fire his four cannoned tentacles at him. His tentacles fired a mix of fire, electrical bolts, stun discs and disintegration beams at Super Sonic. Super Sonic took all the blasts as if they were nothing and he spin-dashed Alonzo viciously in the gut before he could switch the Chaos Barrier back on. Alonzo hurtled backwards and he quickly switched the Chaos Barrier back on. It wouldn't be a rise idea to let the barrier down, even for a minute as Super Sonic was so fast so he decided to keep it up from now on. Super Sonic sneered at Alonzo.

"Nice try Alonzee but I'm invulnerable in this form." jeered Super Sonic "Your weapons are useless to you now."

"I may not be able to use my weapons on you Sonic but I've still got my Chaos Powers." noted Alonzo "If I can't blast you to pieces then I'll have to use my Chaos Powers on you instead. I'll vanquish you yet hedgehog!"

"Whatever." sighed Super Sonic.

Before anyone could attack though, Super Shadow shot up from the ground and spin-dashed Alonzo straight from underneath. Alonzo ended up hurling through air and spinning around in his Chaos Barrier like a person in an inflatable bubble. He eventually came to a halt and regained his balance but everything seemed to spin around him even though he was standing still. Alonzo shook it off and regained his senses, only to get double-teamed by super charges from Super Sonic and Super Shadow. Alonzo hurtled backwards as if he'd just been hit by a jumbo jet and he just managed to keep himself from falling down to the ground. Super Sonic and Super Shadow spin-dashed towards Alonzo but Alonzo charged towards them and his Chaos Barrier caused them both to ricochet off of him as he ploughed through them both. Super Sonic and Super Shadow stopped themselves from hurling into the ground and they charged back up to Alonzo. Alonzo held out his arms and yelled.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

But instead of time slowing down and freezing them in mid-air or teleporting him, a portal opened up in front of Alonzo and Super Sonic and Super Shadow accidentally charged straight through it before they could realize what was going on. The two rocketed through the portal and the portal closed up after them, earning a chorus of horrified gasps from Sonic's friends down below.

"That creep just warped them away!" bellowed Knuckles, still trying to break out of Shade's grasp "Why I oughta!"

"Relax Knuckles, the two super hedgehogs will just Chaos Control themselves back here." noted Shade "Alonzo hasn't won this battle yet."

"I know." said Knuckles "But if Alonzo keeps doing that, then the two won't get to land a blow on him and if he keeps it up for a long enough time, their super powers will run out!"

"Come again?" asked Amy.

"A super form's power is limited time wise." explained Knuckles "Sonic and Shadow can't remain super forever and if Alonzo just keeps Chaos Controlling them away from the battlefield, thus causing them to Chaos Control back and waste their time, their power will run out and Alonzo will kill them both!"

"I bet that's what Alonzo's intending to do." muttered Tails "After all, he claims to have experiment on the Master Emerald fragment he chipped off so he obviously knows the pros and cons of Chaos Energy."

"Well blue dude had better make sure he doesn't run out of time or Alonzo will never be defeated." murmured Mandy grimly, glaring at Alonzo who was waiting for the super hedgehogs to reappear.

"I have faith in Sonic and Shadow." said Wilson "I know they can do this eventually. Now they know what Alonzo's planning, they'll be more weary of it this time."

Unfortunately, that didn't seem to be the case. Super Sonic and Super Shadow both warped themselves back onto the battlefield and they spin-dashed towards Alonzo. Alonzo held out his arms and yelled "Chaos…CONTROL!" once again and a portal opened up straight in front of him.

Super Sonic and Super Shadow both spin-dashed through the portal and disappeared from the battle-field. The portal took them to Holoska, one of the coldest places on Mobius and the only place on Mobius Eggman couldn't occupy as it was too cold for any robots to function properly. They would freeze in a matter of minutes here. Super Sonic and Super Shadow both spin-dashed into a huge pile of snow and sent the snow hurtling everywhere. They both picked themselves up and realized what had happened. They had been warped away once again. They had been warped from the Northern Border of Megapolis to Holoska. Alonzo had tricked them again.

"Damn it!" cursed Super Shadow, kicking some snow furiously "He got us again!"

"I have a sneaky feeling that Alonzo intends to keep doing this until our super forms run out." Super Sonic deduced "Our super forms can't last forever."

"Well in that case, we need to change our tactics." Super Shadow decided "We can't keep charging at Alonzo in hope of bursting his Chaos Barrier. He'll just keep warping us away."

"I have an idea." said Super Sonic.

He held his arms out and yelled "Chaos…CONTROL!" and he and Super Shadow vanished into thin air.

Back at Robotropolis, Alonzo was waiting for the two super hedgehogs to return so he could warp them away again. But the two hedgehogs didn't reappear in front of him as he'd expected them to. Instead, they reappeared behind Alonzo and they both pile-dived him in the back. Alonzo hurtled down into the ground and made a crater the size of a living room due to his Chaos Barrier making the crash even deadlier. While Alonzo was down, Super Shadow began to furiously throw a bunch of super powered Chaos Spears at Alonzo. The spears all ricocheted off of his Chaos Barrier but the attacks were very powerful and every Chaos Spear thrown made a very loud noise when it hit the Chaos Barrier, making Alonzo wince at the noise and cover his audio-receptors. Since he was too caught up in blocking out the noise, he couldn't prepare himself for another attack. Super Sonic and Super Shadow both rocketed down to the ground and they charged straight into Alonzo's Chaos Barrier. The two super hedgehogs' attack was so powerful they ended up pushing Alonzo straight down into the ground like a drill drilling through the earth. The three fighters ended up going down deep into the underground until Super Sonic and Super Shadow decided to stop. They didn't want to push Alonzo straight into the planet's core as Chaos Energy could possibly have a negative effect on it and the result would be apocalyptic. They had pushed Alonzo down about Alonzo growled furiously at them and he tried to charged at them but the two hedgehogs warped out of his way, leaving Alonzo to charge straight up the tunnel Super Sonic and Super Shadow had made after pushing him down. Alonzo rocketed out of the tunnel and into the daylight outside. He flew back up into the air, only to get dropkicked back down into the hole by Super Sonic and Super Shadow. They had reappeared above the hole in the ground they had made and kicked Alonzo back down it. Alonzo went straight down the hole and came to a halt at the bottom. Alonzo could see that the super hedgehogs had a plan and he wouldn't be getting out of the hole any time soon so he decided to Chaos Control his way out of the hole instead of charge out of it. Super Sonic and Super Shadow both waited for Alonzo to come back down the hole so they could kick him back down it. But Alonzo appeared behind them, switched off his Chaos Barrier and slammed them both on their heads with his fists. Super Sonic and Super Shadow hurtled down a few feet before regaining balance and charging back up to Alonzo. Alonzo switched his Chaos Barrier back on and the super hedgehogs charged into the shield. Alonzo was sent hurling backwards but he regained his balance and charged back at the super hedgehogs. He bowled them both over as if he was a bowling ball and they were the skittles. Super Sonic and Super Shadow regained their senses and they both spin-dashed at Alonzo's Chaos Barrier. They didn't penetrate the shield again but they left Alonzo slightly stunned from the noise they made after banging against it. Shadow threw a bunch of Chaos Spears at Alonzo but they all pinged off the barrier, albeit a little callously and Alonzo was knocked backwards a few feet. Alonzo however, decided to try another tactic. He thrust his arms out and yelled at the top of his voice.

"Chaos… BLAST! "

And much like what Shadow the Hedgehog could do, he unleashed a giant wave of raw Chaos Energy from his body and it spread out all around him. Super Sonic and Super Shadow were both stricken by the blast but they weren't hurt as they were invulnerable in their super forms. They were thrown backwards a good distance but they stopped themselves and regained their balance. They both glared angrily at Alonzo, who just glared at them back with a smirk on his face.

"Did you really think is wasn't going to be able to use a Chaos Blast?" smirked Alonzo "I can use all the Chaos Powers there is because of this Master Emerald fragment so whatever you can do, I can do as well."

"Not necessarily Alonzo." said Super Sonic "I can't use powers Shadow can use and he can't use powers I can use so there's some kind of Chaos Power you won't be able to use Alonzo."

"Is that so?" purred Alonzo "No matter, I have the power I need to vanquish you both."

Super Sonic and Super Shadow had had enough of Alonzo's boasting so they charged towards him at a blinding speed, ready to knock him out of the sky once again…

Meanwhile, Dr. Eggman had been working like crazy on his king-sized roboticizer in the roboticizer chamber which was located in the centre of his headquarters. The roboticizer pod was egg-shaped (no surprise there) and it was taller then even Silver Sonic. The roboticizer worked just like any other roboticizer but it was more advanced technology wise and it could fit about ten Mobians in there at once, maybe more depending on the sizes of the captives. The roboticizer could also roboticize people much faster then the average roboticizer pod and as Eggman had explained earlier, it could be modified to spread it's waves out and cover a large distance. Eggman was altering the pod so it's waves would sweep all over Mobius and turn everybody into a mindless Robian, bent on serving him faithfully and with no freewill whatsoever. All of Mobius would be on his side and they would have to do as he said for they had no choice. Their freewill diminished when they were roboticized so no one would be able to resist his control. Eggman could easily have modified the pod and roboticized all of Mobius already but he had been so caught up in his newer projects and other inventions that he forgot all about it but now he'd remembered it, he was going to use it without a moment's hesitation. None of his previous plans had worked against that meddlesome hedgehog so this was his best option. Not to mention it was the only way he could defeat Alonzo as when you roboticize something that's already a robot, it explodes so Alonzo would be toast out there. Dr. Eggman began fiddling around with the pod's complex circuitry and adjusted the power to the roboticizer pod.

"OK if I just adjust the power cells running through the centre generator of the roboticizer pod and then re-wire these wires to higher voltage cells then the king-sized roboticizer should be capable of worldwide roboticization." he mused to himself as he re-wired some wires to some ports that had higher voltage then the other ports.

The process had been exhausting and Eggman had been at it since he'd escaped from his quarters which Alonzo had locked him in. He had no idea what was going on outside of Robotropolis but he didn't care. The fight between Sonic, Shadow, the Royal Fighters and Alonzo wouldn't change anything. He was going to roboticize all of Mobius and nothing could stop him now for no one knew what he was even up to. As Eggman worked, his female sidekick Katherine stood there sinisterly like a gargoyle and just watched him work. She then suddenly received a message from Mecha Rouge, who was of course, a roboticized Rouge the Bat, and she bleeped to catch Dr. Eggman's attention. Eggman lifted up his projective visor and shut off his welding tool.

"Yes my dear Katherine?" asked Dr. Eggman "What is it?"

Katherine, since she didn't have her own voice, played the message Mecha Rouge had just sent to her.

"Hey-Kath-er-ine-honey. Play-this-mess-age-for-Dr.-Egg-Man." the message played "All-the-robots-of-Robo-trop-o-lis-have-taken-refu gee-in-your-head-qaurters-as-ins-truc-ted."

The audio clip stopped playing and Katherine's sinister silence returned. Dr. Eggman beamed happily and continued to work.

"Thank you Katherine." said Dr. Eggman "I would kick myself if I activated this roboticizer and ended up destroying Robotropolis' entire population at the same time! Now everybody's in my headquarters, they're safe from the roboticizer and they will not be effected by it once I activate it."

Katherine nodded understandingly. Dr. Eggman lowered his visor and began to do some more welding. He was almost finished at last and once he finished welding, he could fire the roboticizer and Mobius would be his at long last. His victory may have been delayed by his own actions but it would be a victory worth waiting for once he finally got it.

"Katherine, be a good girl and look out of the window will you?" asked Dr. Eggman "I want to know what's going on out there. See if Alonzo's ground Sonic and friends into the dirt yet."

Katherine nodded understandingly. Dr. Eggman lowered his visor and began to do some more welding. He was almost finished at last and once he finished welding, he could fire the roboticizer and Mobius would be his at long last. His victory may have been delayed by his own actions but it would be a victory worth waiting for once he finally got it.

"Katherine, be a good girl and look out of the window will you?" asked Dr. Eggman "I want to know what's going on out there. See if Alonzo's ground Sonic and friends into the dirt yet."

Katherine obeyed and strode silently over to the small circle window on the other side of the chamber. Katherine peered through the window and saw what was going on. Super Sonic and Super Shadow were having an air-to-air showdown with the newly weaponized Alonzo and all they seemed to be doing were playing dodgem cars with each other as they were just charging into each other and bumping each other over and over. Katherine's keen vision zoomed in on Super Sonic and Super Shadow and she photographed them. She had a feeling the photo would bear some importance sometime in the future. She strode back over to Dr. Eggman and bleeped at him. Dr. Eggman stopped working again and waited for Katherine to report to him. Katherine bent forwards until her face was almost touching Eggman's and she played the recorded fight to him on her visor. She then showed Eggman the photo of Super Sonic and Super Shadow she'd taken. Eggman stared grimly at the photograph and then he smiled widely to himself.

"So Sonic's gone super has he?" he purred "Alonzo's tougher then I thought. I'm kind of surprised that Shadow can go super too. Oh well, if Sonic's super then that means the Chaos Emeralds are with them so once I roboticize everybody, I can get the Chaos Emeralds too! I'll use their power for my fleet, which needs a new battleship and then I can return to Earth and lay siege to the planet! That'll show G.U.N. how much of a great scientist I am and how kicking me out was such a big mistake!"

He chortled to himself and continued applying the finishing touches to his king-sized roboticizer. Sonic and this so-called G.U.N. would pay dearly for all the indignity he had ever been caused in his life…

Outside, the fight between Alonzo, Super Sonic and Super Shadow was getting more and more intense by the second. Super Sonic and Super Shadow not only had Alonzo to worry about, they had time to worry about as their super forms wouldn't last forever and a considerable amount of time had already passed since the battle had started so they could run out any time soon. They had tried everything but Alonzo's Chaos Barrier was just impervious to any attack they threw at him. All they could do really as knock him out of the sky and slam him into the ground but all that did was just slow Alonzo down for a while more then anything. Right now, they were just charging at each other over and over and bashing each other away as if they were flying dodgem cars. Sonic's friends all watched the fight intensely on the ground, watching the fights zoom back and forth at each other. They were growing increasingly nervous as the fight went on and on. They had no idea who was going to win as the fight was a close call so far.

"Amy, who's winning?" asked Cream nervously, her pet Chao Cheese fluttering restlessly beside her.

"I can't tell." said Amy "It looks like they're evenly sided from where we are."

"It is even sided Amy." said Ruben grimly "Alonzo can't really attack the super hedgehogs as he has that force field around him and Sonic and Shadow can't really hurt Alonzo because of that force-field. All they can do is play dodgems with each other up there."

"There must be some way to beat that darn Alonzo even tho' he has that dun Chaos Barrier." said Bunnie worriedly "Knuckles, yer a Chaos expert, how do you stop a Chaos Barrier?" she asked desperately.

"A Chaos Barrier can't be stopped." muttered Knuckles "But like a super form, it doesn't last forever. Chaos Barriers only last a minute when used but Alonzo's done something to the Master Emerald fragment he has and has made it so his Chaos Barrier will last as long as he likes."

"How he accomplished that, I'll never know." said Tails "Even I wouldn't be able to do something like that and I'm a technical genius myself."

"So ya'll are tellin' me that Chaos Barrier's can't be stopped sugah?" shrieked Bunnie "Oh mah stars, the super hogs have no chance against Alonzo now!"

"I'm afraid so." muttered Knuckles "If only Eggman didn't use Robotropolis to steal the Master Emerald then none of this would have happened!"

"I think the best option would be to trick Alonzo into turning the barrier off and give Sonic and Shadow a chance to destroy him." suggested Cosmo "But how can we trick him into doing so?"

"Hopefully Sonic and Shadow will come up with something." said

Amy supportively "But they'll need to do it soon or their super forms will run out and they'll be unable to defeat Alonzo."

Back up in the sky, Super Sonic ricocheted off of Alonzo's barrier once again and hurtled to the side. Super Shadow dropkicked Alonzo and sent him hurling into the ground once again but Alonzo just recovered and rocketed back up into the sky. He bowled Super Shadow over and then switched his barrier off so he could dropkick Super Shadow down into the ground. He switched the barrier back on just as Super Sonic zoomed towards him and walloped him. Alonzo hurtled through the air like a tossed basketball and he took a moment to regain his senses. Just as he was doing that, Super Shadow rocketed up underneath him and sent him flying straight up like a missile. Alonzo zoomed straight back down and hit Super Shadow like a coconut falling from a palm tree. Super Shadow spun dizzily through the air just as Super Sonic spin-dashed Alonzo and struck him. Super Shadow recovered from the attack and threw twenty Chaos Spears at Alonzo. The spears hit Alonzo all at once and Alonzo was left stunned and bedraggled after the sheer noise they made after striking his barrier. Before Alonzo could regain his senses though, Super Sonic and Super Shadow both spin-dashed him and sent him hurling into the horizon. Alonzo crashed into something beyond the horizon and it would take him a while to catch up again. While Alonzo was out of the action for the moment, Super Sonic and Super Shadow quickly talked tactics.

"We can't penetrate that stupid barrier of his." moaned Super Sonic "And I can feel my super powers starting to falter. I think my super form's running out. We need a plan and we need it fast."

"I think I have an idea." said Super Shadow "Maybe we can use a Chaos Control on the emerald fragment in Alonzo and warp it out of his circuits. That way, he'll be unable to use a Chaos Barrier or any other Chaos Power."

"I'm not sure if it'll work Shadow." said Super Sonic "But it's worth a shot."

Just as they finished talking, Alonzo blasted out of the horizon and roared towards the two super hedgehogs at a speed that could rival even Sonic when he wasn't super. Super Sonic and Super Shadow braced themselves and waited for Alonzo hit them. Alonzo almost got them but the two hedgehogs leaped out of his way and Super Shadow tried out his idea.

"Chaos…CONTROL!" he yelled as Alonzo zoomed underneath him.

Nothing seemed to happen at first but shortly after Super Shadow had yelled Chaos Control, Alonzo's Chaos Barrier suddenly switched off and the Master Emerald fragment he had stolen suddenly appeared in Super Shadow's hands. Super Shadow promptly crushed the fragment in his hands so Alonzo wouldn't be able to get it back. As for Alonzo, he had suddenly realized what was going on and he instantly freaked. His emerald fragment had disappeared and he couldn't use his Chaos Barrier anymore! He was dead metal now!

"No! No! NO!" he squealed "This cannot be! I've lost my fragment somehow! I can't use my Chaos Powers anymore!"

"That's right Alonzo." sneered Super Shadow "I warped the emerald fragment out of your systems with a Chaos Control and I've just destroyed it! You're powerless against us now!"

"Well I can't believe it actually worked." said Super Sonic "Now Alonzo's powered down, we can finally destroy that demon robot!"

Alonzo began to panic madly as if he was about to suddenly self-destruct in a certain time-limit. If he could sweat, he'd be sweating like crazy now.

"No! NO! My reign of terror can't end now! Not like this!" whimpered Alonzo "Please don't destroy me super hedgehogs!"

Super Sonic and Super Shadow weren't having any of it. They super charged towards Alonzo but Alonzo ducked, causing them to miss and he quickly flew down to the ground in hope of finding somewhere to hide until they powered down. But Super Sonic and Super Shadow were much too fast for Alonzo and they caught up with him. They both spin-dashed Alonzo into the ground. Alonzo's invulnerable body took the crash easily but it wouldn't take Super Sonic and Super Shadow's attacks at all, they were too powerful.

Super Sonic and Super Shadow charged towards Alonzo, ready to finish him off at long last. Sonic's friends watched on eagerly, waiting for Alonzo's destruction to happen. Then terrible luck suddenly struck them. Just as Super Sonic and Super Shadow were about to destroy Alonzo once and for all, their super forms suddenly wore out and they powered down! Sonic's quills returned to their normal style, his fur turned back from gold to blue and his eyes turned back to green. Shadow's fur changed from lemon-yellow back to black so he was now black and red once again. Sonic and Shadow both crashed down on to the ground as they had powered down in mid-charge and they ended up getting their faces buried in a mound of dirt. The Chaos Emeralds appeared and lay beside Sonic and Shadow. Sonic's friends stared in horror at that unlucky and unbelievable turn of events that had just unfolded before their very eyes. Just as Alonzo's demise was imminent, the hedgehogs had run out of super power and had just powered down! Alonzo had won and they had lost! Now there was no hope left for the Mobians! Alonzo picked himself up and stared happily at the powered down hedgehogs. He erupted into a maniacal chorus of hysterical evil laughter.

"You're too late! Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!" he cackled uncontrollably "YOU'RE TOO LATE! Bwah ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha! Your super forms have run out and you're powerless to stop me! Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!"

Sonic lifted his face out of the dirt and pounded the ground furiously.

"Damn it! No!" he wailed "We were so close and now we've just run out of juice! We'll never stop Alonzo now!"

"How right you are hedgehog!" crowed Alonzo "Now I'm going to kill you both before anything else can happen! Prepare for a very graphic demise you two!"

He deployed his four tentacles and pointed the cannons at the end of them at Sonic and Shadow. Sonic and Shadow lay there helplessly as Alonzo prepared to vaporize them with a mixture of fire, electrical bolts, stun-discs and disintegration beams. Sonic's friends could do nothing but watch as Alonzo was about to kill the two supersonic hedgehogs in one fell swoop. But then more trouble began. Just as Alonzo was about to kill Sonic and Shadow, Dr.

Eggman had finished modifying his king-sized roboticizer at long last and he activated it!

"Let my worldwide roboticization process…COMMENCE!" he bellowed as he pressed the start button.

The king-sized roboticizer lit up and whirred loud enough to be heard all over Robotropolis. The roboticizer pod beamed with a blinding light and a huge wave swept out from the pod and expanded through the walls of the chamber and outside of the headquarters. The wave swept over Robotropolis but seeing as there were no robots about, they weren't effected by the wave and there was no one else in the city so the wave didn't do anything. It did however catch the attention of the Mobians and Alonzo. Alonzo looked up from his victims and stared at the oncoming roboticizer wave. The Mobians grew increasingly nervous at the oncoming wave.

"What's that Miss Rose?" squeaked Cream.

"I dunno." said Amy "But it looks dangerous and it looks like it's coming for us! We've gotta get out of the way now! Who knows what it can do!"

Tails and Bunnie immediately took to the skies by flying away. Ruben shot himself into the air with his water powers just as the roboticizer wave came towards them. Everybody else tried running for their lives but the wave caught up to them and swept straight through them. Knuckles, Shade, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Wilson, Mandy and Geoffrey all got hit by the wave and they fell onto their knees. Their skin began to turn into metal, their blood transformed into oil and their eyes began to morph into optics before your very eyes. Alonzo's optics widened in horror for he knew what the wave was.

"Oh no…it's a roboticizer wave!" he screamed "I've got to get out of the way before…"

He began to back away but he was too late. The wave swept straight through Alonzo and due to the fact he was already a robot, he exploded into smithereens. And that was the end of Eggman's snivelling servant bot. His remains littered the spot he had just exploded on. As for Sonic and Shadow, they hadn't been hit by the wave as they were lying on the ground and the wave was too high above the ground to hit them so they were spared roboticization much like Tails, Bunnie and Ruben. The wave however didn't stop where it was. It swept onwards and it would continue to do so until all of Mobius was roboticized. The roboticizer wave was like a giant circle that expanded out from Robotropolis and it swept over all four corners of the globe and once it had finished it's task, it would vanish into thin air. The wave continued on until it disappeared into the horizon where it would roboticize everything it came across. Sonic picked himself up and dusted himself off. He looked at the exploded remains of Alonzo. He was pleased to see Alonzo was finally dead but he began to wonder how it happened.

"Hey Shadow, Alonzo just exploded." said Sonic.

"Did he?" asked Shadow, picking himself up from the dirt mound he'd made "Good. But what happened to him?"

"We know." said Tails just as he, Bunnie and Ruben lowered down to the ground "Some kind of wave came out of nowhere and when it hit Alonzo, he exploded."

"Some kind of wave?" mused Sonic "I wonder what kind of wave that was."

He soon found the answer when he heard a vicious robotical sound coming from nowhere. Sonic, Shadow, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben all stared in horror at the sight that befall their eyes. Knuckles, Shade, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Wilson, Mandy and Geoffrey were no long flesh and bone! They were robots! They had been roboticized and were now Robians! They advanced menacingly on the surviving Mobians with their metal claws bared and their metal teeth glistening like knives in a drawer.

"I th-th-th-think i-i-it was a r-r-roboticizer wave!" stammered Tails "Our f-f-friends got hit b-b-by the w-w-wave too and now t-t-they're suddenly r-r-robots!"

"Oh great! Just when things are looking up, things go wrong again!"

moaned Sonic "What has that Eggman done now?"

He backed away hastily as his roboticized friends advanced on him. First a fleet of ships destroys Central City, then Eggman escapes prison, then Alonzo builds a new body strong enough to match him and his friends and now his friends were roboticized! What more could go wrong for poor Sonic now…?

This just isn't Sonic's day is it? Now all of Mobius is roboticized and Sonic has no way of saving everybody...or hasn't he? Join me as the* Planet of Steel saga *begins! This is one saga you will be MAD to miss! Reviews are welcome.

P.S. I read your review PreyMeetsPred and I'll try my hardest to use the phrase "But before" a little less in the future. Glad you like the story though! Nice to hear you're enjoying it like everyone else is! :)

Planet of Steel Part 1

Story 81: Planet of Steel Part 1: Robot Utopia

"Yikes!" yelped Sonic the Hedgehog as Mecha Knuckles tried to fist him into the ground with his metal spiked fists "Watch it Knuckles, you could hurt somebody with a fist like that!"

The roboticized echidna just snarled at Sonic and tried to deck him with another punch. Sonic's friends sans Tails the Fox, Bunnie Rabbot, Ruben the Water Panther and his friendly rival Shadow the Hedgehog had been roboticized by Dr. Eggman and his newly modified roboticizer pod in the roboticizer chamber in the centre of his headquarters. The process had destroyed Eggman's treacherous servant bot Alonzo for good and it had turned Knuckles the Echidna, Shade the Echidna, Amy Rose, Cream the Rabbit, Cosmo the Seedrian, Wilson the Dog, Mandy Mouse and Geoffrey St. John into mindless, loyal, robotical servants that obeyed only one person, Dr. Eggman. But that wasn't the worst part, the worst part is the roboticizer wave had swept over the entire planet and every single Mobian on Mobius had been turned into a mindless mechanical machine. Anything that was already a robot however was destroyed by the wave, such as Eggman's portable roboticizer that Tails had stolen a long while back*. Luckily for Mobius, there weren't many robots around so there weren't many things exploding at least. But the roboticizer had done the damage and now Eggman had nearly the entire population of Mobius under his iron-fisted rule. He wasn't too pleased that Sonic, Tails, Bunnie, Ruben and Shadow had dodged the wave and avoided being roboticized so he ordered Sonic's roboticized friends, the closest Robians currently to them, to catch them and bring them to the roboticizer chamber so they could be roboticized and they could join his endless army of Robians. Mecha Knuckles swiped his spiked fists at Sonic but Sonic back flipped away from him, causing Mecha Knuckles to miss. However, Mecha Knuckles had an attack the real Knuckles could never EVER do. He aimed his fist at Sonic and extended it. The fist extended on a long wire out of it's wrist socket and it walloped Sonic directly in the face. Sonic landed on his back, clutching his face in pain.

"Ouch! Oh, Good f…." his voice trailed off as he covered his mouth to prevent Tails from hearing him swear at that punch "…that hurt! I can easily say Mecha Knuckles is a much better puncher then normal Knuckles!"

Mecha Knuckles advanced on Sonic menacingly with his spiked fists bared and ready to pound Sonic into the dirt. His red optics burned like the pits of hell as he glared Sonic down. Sonic just picked himself up and leapfrogged over Mecha Knuckles' head.

"I really don't wanna have to do this Knuckie, but I have to now you're a Robian." said Sonic as he landed behind Mecha Knuckles and tripped him up.

Mecha Knuckles landed sharply on his back and Sonic was about to stomp on him and knocked him out but Mecha Amy ran in and walloped him with her stainless steel Piko-Piko Hammer (yes, even as a robot she can pull hammers from airspace! Don't ask me how!). Sonic hurtled through the air like a golf ball and he landed sharply on his back. So sharply he almost broke it. He lay there on the ground, trying to get the bones in his body to knit so he could continue fighting.

"And I thought Amy's hammer was bad enough as it was already!" grumbled Sonic "Mecha Amy with a steel hammer is even worse!"

Meanwhile, Shadow bent down in a battle ready stance and prepared to do battle with Mecha Wilson and Mecha Mandy. The roboticized dog and mouse prepared to lunge at Shadow and rip him to pieces. Shadow summoned some Chaos Spears to his hands and prepared to throw them.

"You two are gonna regret it when I trash you just like Sonic trashes Eggman's puny robots!" snarled Shadow.

"No shadow-hog!" cried Bunnie, grabbing him by the arm and holding him back "Don't smash them! They're our friends transformed into robots by Eggman's roboticizer! If ya'll destroy em, you'll kill the real them and we'll never be able to save them so please don't destroy em sugah!"

Shadow lowered his arms and Bunnie let go of him.

"I understand." said Shadow softly "Thank you for the warning Bunnie."

His Chaos Spears disappeared into thin air and he raised his fists.

"Since I can't destroy you robo-Mobians, I'll have to go easy on you two!" yelled Shadow "Bring it on robo-Wilson and robo-Mandy!"

Mecha Wilson and Mecha Mandy both pounced on Shadow and they pinned him to the ground like a pair of lionesses pinning their prey down as they tore it apart. Shadow teleported out from underneath them and he reappeared behind them. He kicked Mecha Wilson and Mecha Mandy both in the backsides and sent them hurling into Alonzo's remains. Mecha Wilson picked up one of Alonzo's tentacles and tried to whip Shadow with it but Shadow spin-dashed it in two and whacked Wilson while still spin-dashing. He slowed himself down as he hit Mecha Wilson so he wouldn't accidentally destroy him. Mecha Wilson hurtled through the air like a thrown rock. Shadow dusted his hands off but before he could ready himself, Mecha Mandy tail-whipped him with her steel tail, which had the ability to extend at will so the tail-whip was much harder now her tail was longer. Shadow hurtled into the dirt face-first and ended up with a face full of soil. Shadow picked himself up and charged back at Mecha Mandy. He homing attacked her and knocked her onto her back only to get an uppercut from Mecha Wilson. Mecha Wilson deployed his spinning blade weapon, which still had one blade since Alonzo had broken one of them and was now a brilliant chrome build after the roboticization, and he swiped at Shadow with it. Shadow stepped back and then got an uppercut from behind by Mecha Mandy. Shadow fell onto his knees and groaned exasperatedly as Mecha Wilson and Mecha Mandy advanced on him with their fists raised. Shadow teleported from underneath them yet again and he reappeared away from them. He prepared to charge at them once again. As for Tails, he was having an air-to-air showdown with Mecha Cream, Mecha Cheese and Mecha Cosmo. Mecha Cream could still fly by flapping her ears much like the real Cream only hers were far more powerful then Cream's ears and since she was a robot, she didn't have to worry about tiring out. She could stay airborne as long as she liked. Mecha Cheese was more of a pest then a real foe as he just zoomed around and fisted Tails whenever he got the opportunity. As for Mecha Cosmo, she had the ability to spin her petal like skirt around like helicopter rotors and due to the fact clothes became metal as well as flesh and bone, Mecha Cosmo's metal skirt were like proper rotor blades and Tails tried to avoid getting too close to the spinning skirt or he would be sliced open. Tails flew over Mecha Cosmo and dropkicked her in the head, causing the roboticized Seedrian to make a sudden nose dive towards the ground.

"Sorry Cosmo!" cried Tails as Mecha Cosmo crashed into the ground.

Suddenly, Mecha Cream roundhouse punched Tails straight in the jaw and sent the fox spiralling out of control. Tails regained control with a desperate spin of his tails and he flew back towards Mecha Cream. Mecha Cheese however, flew in from underneath and rocketed straight up into Tails' chin. Tails stopped where he was and he rubbed himself better just as Mecha Cream swooped towards him. Tails held his hands up and caught Mecha Cream's hands in them. The two fliers clutched hands with one another and they began to push against each other. It was like an air-to-air test of strength of sort. Tails desperately pushed on Mecha Cream but Mecha Cosmo swooped up and rammed him from behind. Tails hurtled straight down into the ground face-first and he groaned in pain. His face and back were hurting a lot from that attack, but his heart was hurting the most as it was the love of his life attacking him and he couldn't bare to fight his girlfriend. Mecha Cosmo charged towards Tails but Tails grabbed her by the arms and held her there. He stared hopelessly into Mecha Cosmo's icy blue optics. Mecha Cosmo just glowered at him, showing no emotion whatsoever.

"Cosmo, I'll get you out of that robot body!" declared Tails "I promise you, you will be freed from that metal cage you're in and we'll be together again! But since I can't help you now, I'm sorry but I'm gonna have to fight you!"

He pushed Mecha Cosmo away roughly and sent her skidding across the ground on her bottom. Mecha Cream suddenly swooped in from behind and grabbed Tails by his arms. He carried Tails into the sky and then threw him straight down into the ground once again.

As for Bunnie and Ruben, they were tussling with Mecha Shade and Mecha Geoffrey respectively. Ruben refrained from using his water powers as he feared the Robians weren't immune to water like Eggman's proper robot creations were and in order to resist the temptation, he removed his aqua collar and gave it to Bunnie for safe keeping. Bunnie clamped the collar around her neck as she had nowhere to put it right now. It didn't fit her as well as it did Ruben as Ruben's neck was thicker but it was a good enough fit as it was. Now Ruben couldn't use his water powers and accidentally short-circuit the Robians he got in battle with. Ruben and Mecha Shade got into a pretty vicious fist-fight. Ruben, being a novice ninja and kung-fu learner, was able to punch Mecha Shade rapidly all over her body but Mecha Shade's were harder due to her fists being metal so the fight was pretty even sided so far. Mecha Shade however, decided to give up the fist fight and draw out her twin blades, which were already metal so they were unchanged from the roboticizer's effects. She Blade-Rushed Rubens straight in the chest and the water panther found himself lying on the ground clutching it in pain. If Mecha Shade did that again, she would cut him open and the result would be pretty grisly. Ruben back-flipped away from Mecha Shade just as she tried to Blade Rush him again and Ruben dropkicked her in the head.

"I know it's dis-honouree to fight one's friends." Ruben said to himself "But in these cases, it can't be helped. I hope there's a way to reverse what Eggman's done and turn everybody back to normal or I'm gonna have to fight them forever."

Mecha Shade pounced on Ruben and roundhouse kick him in the face while in the jump. Ruben fell down onto his back and grimaced in pain. Mecha Shade tried to slash Ruben open but Ruben kangaroo kicked her away and then proceeded to leap up onto his feet and ninja kick Mecha Shade in the hips. Mecha Shade struck back with a vigorous blow to the gut and sent him hurling back a few feet. Ruben picked himself up and prepared to do battle again.

As for Bunnie, she wasn't wanting to fight Mecha Geoffrey for she was eternally grateful to the skunk for saving her from being completely roboticized but she had no choice but to fight him as Mecha Geoffrey began firing at her with his arm-mounted crossbow. Mecha Geoffrey fired actual laser bolts instead of darts like the real Geoffrey did as his crossbow had been roboticized too. Mecha Geoffrey fired furiously at Bunnie but the Rabbot dodged the blasts and fired her own arm cannon at Mecha Geoffrey. The blast sent Mecha Geoffrey hurling backwards head-over-heels a few feet before the skunk came to a halt.

"Oh Geoffrey, ah'm so sorry." said Bunnie sadly, wiping away a brief tear that tried to trickled down her face without her noticing it "Ya'll saved me from roboticization, albeit not all of mah body," she looked at her robotic left arm and legs "But ah couldn't save ya'll from roboticization since Eggman caught us off guard. Well maybe if we can find a way to change ya'll back to normal ah can return a lifelong favour ah owe you Geoffrey St. John!"

Mecha Geoffrey picked himself up and charged at Bunnie Rabbot like a mad bull. The Rabbot was too late to react and Mecha Geoffrey rammed her in the stomach. Bunnie wheezed in pain and fell down on her knees while trying to catch her breath. Mecha Geoffrey took the opportunity to elbow her straight in the neck and knock her flat onto her stomach. He then kick Bunnie as hard as he could and sent Bunnie rolling away from him. Bunnie rolled about thirty feet away from Mecha Geoffrey and she came to a halt on her side, rubbing the back of her neck tenderly with her organic hand. Mecha Geoffrey advanced on Bunnie sinisterly with his arm-mounted crossbow primed and ready. He prepared to shoot Bunnie with it but Bunnie picked herself up and socked Mecha Geoffrey straight in the face with a mighty punch from her robotic arm. Mecha Geoffrey was so stunned by the blow, he didn't know what hit him. He lay there on the ground looking up at the blue cloudy sky above him. Bunnie panted exhaustedly and she stared at Mecha Geoffrey. The roboticized skunk didn't seem to be moving right now. Bunnie had clearly knocked him out. At least she wouldn't have to fight him any longer so Bunnie walked away from Mecha Geoffrey, still feeling sorry for the skunk. Just as she was walking away from Mecha Geoffrey though, Mecha Shade threw Ruben straight into Bunnie and the water-panther knocked her clean off her feet. The two Mobians fell over each other and they lay on the ground, tangled up in one another. Ruben and Bunnie both picked themselves up and they dusted themselves off.

"Sorry about that Bunnie." said Ruben.

"It's alright Ruben." Bunnie insisted "Those Mechas are good aimers ain't they?"

"They are." muttered Ruben "And they're pretty darn powerful. I can't land a decent blow on them without them striking back at me even harder!"

"I think we should all git outta here." said Bunnie "Before our own friends end up killin' us or we end up accidentally killin' them."

"I can't imagine Sonic and Shadow being too contempt with this idea." said Ruben grimly as he ran off as fast as he could.

He ran past Sonic who was still getting his hide kicked in by Mecha Knuckles. The roboticized echidna was too strong for the super sonic hedgehog. Mecha Knuckles pinned Sonic down to the ground and prepared to use Sonic's head for stress relief but Ruben stopped in his track and ran over to help Sonic. He leaped into the air and roundhouse kicked Mecha Knuckles in the head and knocked him onto. Mecha Knuckles didn't even know what had hit him as he lay there on his side wondering what had happened to him. Sonic picked himself up and he straightened his quills out.

"Thanks for the save Ruben." said Sonic gratefully.

"You're welcome." said Ruben "I hope you don't mind me suggesting so but I think we should run for it. Our roboticized friends are too powerful for us to take out."

Sonic stared at Ruben as if he'd just turned into a turnip right in front of his eyes.

"What? We can't leave our friends behind!" protested Sonic "Who knows what Eggman's gonna do to them?"

"I can't begin to imagine what horrors Eggman's gonna put them through." said Ruben sympathetically "But if we stay here and get our hides caved in, we won't be around to save them so we've gotta get outta here and change tactics if we're going to save them!"

"As much as I dislike your idea Ruben, it's the best thing to do right now." said Sonic dully "After all, I can't really fight these guys to the best of my ability in fear of destroying them and if we keep this up, they'll destroy us."

"Exactly." said Ruben "That's why we've got to retreat. We can't do anything about the situation right now so we've got to retreat and plan a counter attack for later."

With that said, Sonic and Ruben both ran for it before Mecha Knuckles could get back up and attack them. Sonic then remembered he hadn't gathered up the Chaos Emeralds yet so he zipped back to pick them up and then he ran off again.

"Tails, Bunnie, Shadow! We're leaving now!" Sonic called over to them "Come on!"

Tails didn't hesitate even for a minute. He flew weakly away from Mecha Cosmo and Mecha Cream before they could clobber him again and joined the fleeing hedgehog and water panther. Bunnie was already on the retreat as she was the one who suggested a retreat in the first place so she flew after the fleeing Mobians as fast as she could. Shadow spin-dashed Mecha Wilson and Mecha Mandy away one last time and ran off after Sonic and the others. He wasn't very pleased at the fact he had to retreat but he wouldn't be able to take out the Robians by himself and he couldn't destroy them otherwise he'd kill Sonic's friends so retreat was the best option until they could come up with a plan to counter attack these Robians. The surviving Mobians all fled the scene as fast as they could go and the Mechas prepared to run after them and chase them down until Dr. Eggman stopped them.

"Don't bother my dear Robians, you'll never catch them." Dr. Eggman said to them "Fall back into my headquarters.

The Mechas obeyed their fat master and they turned around and marched back into Robotropolis. The gates had been knocked over so they were free to just simply march into the city simple as. They marched through the city and into Eggman's headquarters. Dr.

Eggman was already in the main hall waiting for them with a big smile on his moustached face. His female servant bot Katherine stood beside him as silent as a grave and Mecha Rouge, a Mobian who had already been roboticized some time ago stood by his other side. Dr. Eggman admired his Mechas with deep satisfaction. He had managed to roboticize nearly all of Sonic's friends with his king-sized roboticizer. He was only missing Sonic himself, Shadow, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben but he would get them sooner or later. He had billions of robot slaves right now thanks to the wonderful effects of his king-sized roboticizer so he would catch those five easily. Mecha Knuckles, Mecha Shade, Mecha Wilson, Mecha Mandy, Mecha Geoffrey, Mecha Amy, Mecha Cream and Mecha Cosmo all lined up before Dr. Eggman and the fat scientist paced up and down, admiring them with great admiration.

"What a beauty you lot are!" he purred "I've not only managed to roboticize all of Mobius but I've gotten some of Sonic's most notorious friends too! I've managed to roboticize Knuckles the Echidna: The guardian of Angel Island and fist thrower." he said as he walked pass Mecha Knuckles.

"Wilson the Dog: A dog with a faint heart mixed with a brave heart that unfortunately overpowers his skittish side." he said as he passed Mecha Wilson.

"Mandy Mouse: A troublesome pest with a tomboyish streak and an obsession with using my face for stress relief too." he spat as he passed Mecha Mandy "I made an Automaton* copy out of you and it got me a Chaos Emerald. Now I have the real thing trapped in a robot body and ready to serve me. I think I'll make you use Sonic's face for stress relief instead of me!" he chortled to himself as he moved onto Mecha Geoffrey.

"Geoffrey St. John: A courageous fighter with a low sense of trust in him and a keen crossbow user." he said as he walked past Mecha Geoffrey.

"Amy Rose: Sonic's supposed girlfriend with an unhealthy obsession over him and an even unhealthier obsession of waving that big meaty hammer around!" he sneered as he passed Mecha Amy "At least she'll be waving it at Sonic instead of me now."

"Cream the Rabbit and her pet Chao Cheese: A pathetic pair of softies that are more of an annoyance then a threat." scoffed Dr. Eggman as he looked at Mecha Cream and Mecha Cheese "I once roboticized your mother Cream and now I've roboticized her again since all of Mobius has been roboticized and this time, I have the daughter to join her! You two will be much more useful now you're robots instead of organic beings." he said as he walked onto Mecha Cosmo.

"Cosmo the…something." said Dr. Eggman as he passed Mecha Cosmo "I have no idea what you are Cosmo but you're definitely one of my most unique Robians in my army. I'll take extra special care of you Cosmo."

He came to Mecha Shade and stopped in front of her, his steely gaze fixed on her.

"And finally, Shade the Echidna I believe your name is." said Dr. Eggman "Sonic referred to you as Shade so I guess that's your name. Nevertheless, you seem to be a recent edition to Sonic's team as I've only just recently been in contact with you. According to what I heard when I watched the fight with Alonzo, you managed to retrieve the Master Emerald and the Chaos Emeralds after I used Robotropolis to steal them so your roboticization is one thing for me to be proud of so now I can make you pay for robbing me from my ultimate power source."

He walked away from the line and turned towards Katherine.

"Katherine, what's Alonzo's current status?" he asked.

Katherine displayed an image of a gravestone on her visor as a sign of saying "He's dead". Dr. Eggman smiled so wide, not even his big bushy moustache could hide it.

"So now the traitor is dead and you're my new sidekick Katherine." beamed Dr. Eggman "I knew Alonzo wouldn't survive the roboticizer wave when it activated. I look forward to having you as my new sidekick Katherine." he said brightly.

Katherine nodded agreeably.

"What's the status of the roboticization process?" asked Dr. Eggman.

Katherine emitted a holographic image out of her visor that showed the planet of Mobius and it's current status. None of the scenery had changed but Dr. Eggman could sort that out easily but the entire population sans the five that had dodged the wave had become Robians. His king-sized roboticizer had worked to perfection! Everybody on Mobius was his mindless robotical slave and now that had happened, he could conquer Mobius at last and build his robotical paradise! At long last, he'd finally won this war with the Mobians! Dr. Eggman cheered and cackled like a crazy maniac in triumph at his victory.

"YES! It worked!" he cackled "It absolutely and totally worked! All of Mobius is mine to control and the Eggman Empire can finally be built at last! I've finally managed to conquer a planet at long last! Sometime soon, I think I'll return to Earth and conquer that with my king-sized roboticizer just for the fun of it. After all, I owe Earth a lot of pain and suffering for the indignity they've caused me before I left!"

His face suddenly fell.

"However, Sonic, Shadow, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben haven't been roboticized and Sonic and Shadow are dangerous enough as they are." he muttered "I can't let them stay untouched otherwise they'll ruin my plans and trump my victory. Henceforth, none of you wonderful Robians will rest until you capture the five dodgers and bring them to me so I can roboticize them! Katherine, send this message to EVERY Robian on the planet! Make this your number 1 priority: capture Sonic the Hedgehog, Shadow the Hedgehog, Tails the twin-tailed fox, Bunnie Rabbot and Ruben the Water Panther and bring them back to Robotropolis! This order cannot be countermanded and it'll be your only priority until they are captured!"

Katherine recorded every single word Eggman had said to her and she sent the message to all the Robians of the world. The Robians all got the message and they instantly began the search for Sonic, Shadow, Tails, Ruben and Bunnie. The whole situation now would pretty much be Sonic the Hedgehog vs. the world with the obvious winner being the world should Sonic get into battle with the billions of Robians Eggman had on his side…

Meanwhile, Sonic, Shadow, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben had retreated all the way back to Sonic's little house in Green Hill Zone. Despite the fact it wasn't a very large house (it's only one storey high) it had enough room for the five roboticization dodgers and it was frankly, the only real hiding place they had since all of Mobius had been roboticized by Dr. Eggman and the whole population had been ordered to find the survivors and capture them. Sonic and the others didn't know for sure that all of Mobius had been roboticized but they had a few strong hints as on their way back to Sonic's house, they passed an awful lot of Robians as they ran through Empire City and through the under-construction New Mobotropolis. It was quite clear that Knuckles, Shade, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Wilson, Mandy and Geoffrey weren't the only ones that had been roboticized when the wave activated. Sonic could hardly believe what had just happened. Eggman had somehow managed to roboticize everybody with that one wave that came out of his headquarters. He began wondering how Eggman did it. He sat down on his comfy little sofa and began racking his brain like crazy for a possible answer.

"How did that creep do it?" Sonic asked himself desperately "How did Eggman manage to make a roboticizer that could spread it's waves out and sweep over the entire planet?"

"I don't know Sonic." said Tails, who was sitting at his work desk and racking his brain for a plan that could save everybody "Dr. Eggman is capable of building many things. We'll never know how he manages to build most of them."

Can't argue with you on that one buddy." said Sonic casually "But one thing's for sure, I am gonna march over to Robotropolis and make that Eggman pay for roboticizing all of Mobius! That is, if he HAS roboticized all of Mobius."

"Ah have a strong feeling that Eggman has roboticized everybody and not just some of our friends sugah-hog." said Bunnie, who was sitting beside Sonic on the sofa "Ah flew up out of the wave's way and ah watched it go off into the distance so it probably went on to roboticize everybody else."

"Yeah, and when we ran through Empire City, every single person there, including old walrus face Melchett the Hedgehog, had been turned into a Robian!" exclaimed Sonic "And even though I didn't check Castle Acorn, I think I saw a roboticized Sally Acorn and Nicole the Lynx staring at us through the window. So it's obvious the wave went on further then we expected."

"I think roboticizing all of Mobius is exactly the kind of thing Dr. Eggman would do." said Ruben "Given his love for robots and his unhealthy obsession with kidnapping innocents and roboticizing them, it makes sense that he would actually roboticize everybody on Mobius."

"How he did I'll never know." said Sonic "Maybe when we storm his place to find a way of de-roboticizing everybody, we'll find out."

"If Eggman has a roboticizer then we must be able to set it in reverse." said Shadow, who was standing beside the sofa with his arms folded, a typical manner for Shadow "But one thing puzzles me. Why did Alonzo explode when he got hit by the roboticizer wave?"

"Simple." said Tails, turning around so he could speak clearly to Shadow "He's already a robot and roboticizers turn organic beings into robots so it's gonna have a nasty side-effect on a robot. I always wondered what would happen if a robot got roboticized and now I know, it explodes into smithereens."

"If only we had a roboticizer that could do what Eggman's did." murmured Sonic "We could activate it on Robotropolis and the whole place would be blown back to the stone age."

"If roboticizer roboticizes something that's already a robot…" Bunnie mused to herself "And the whole world has been roboticized, then that means my old friends from the Peace Gatherers are…dead!"

"Beg pardon?" asked Sonic.

"When ah was younger, ah used to be part of a Peace Gathering group." explained Bunnie "Ah met them again during mah visit to Adabat with Geoffrey* but they had been roboticized by Eggman. Ravage Bloodfang, another member of the group who hadn't been roboticized, managed to get them under his control but if that roboticizer went on to roboticize the entire planet then mah old friends are a smouldering pile of robot parts!"

"That is unfortunate." said Ruben sympathetically "Now your old friends will never have a chance of being de-roboticized since they've been destroyed by it."

"Ah know." said Bunnie sadly "I'll never see mah old friends again. Except Ravage of course but he's now mah enemy so that's nothin' to be pleased at."

"Well Bunnie, I never knew that about you." said Sonic, who had listened to Bunnie's story and was rather surprised to know these new things about her "And I can see why you're upset about this. Your old friends are dead since that roboticizer's roboticized the whole world and it destroys anything that's already a robot."

"Unfortunately, that means the portable roboticizer robot I stole from Eggman's destroyed too." muttered Tails "We could have used that to de-roboticize everybody."

"I don't think we would have had too much luck with it anyway." said Sonic "So we're gonna have to break into Eggman's base, find that roboticizer he used and set it in reverse so it'll de-roboticize the entire planet."

"As much as I'd be willing to help you on this faker I can't help but notice one tiny problem." said Shadow "What's the population of Mobius?" he asked. He wouldn't know since he was new to Mobius.

"No idea." said Sonic truthfully.

"On average, about three billion." estimated Tails "That's what most estimates say."

"Right, Eggman has billions of Robians and there's only five of us."

noted Shadow "How can we possibly hope to have any chance against such a vast army? It's pretty much us five vs. the entire world and as powerful as I am, I don't think even I will be able to defeat that many robots! And I won't be able to use my full power on them as I'll probably accidentally destroy them and kill the Mobian within so I'll have to hold back. We have no chance at this blue hedgehog, Eggman has beaten us and there's nothing we can do about it!"

"Nothing we can do about it?" sneered Sonic "What a weird sentence. What does it mean?"

Shadow just scowled at Sonic and looked like he was about ready to kill him.

"There's no such thing as "There's nothing we can do about it"." said Sonic "You forget me and you are the fastest things alive. We'll dodge those Robians easy peasy, they'll never catch us and we'll be in Eggman's headquarters before you can say "Chaos Emeralds"."

"Hmm, you're right." said Shadow "Me and you can run at supersonic speeds after all. We'll just run as fast as we can and plough our way to Robotropolis. The Robians won't catch us and we'll be at Eggman's city before he even knows it."

"Somehow, I don't think "run as fast as you can" is really the best idea." said Ruben "I mean, what are me, Tails and Bunnie gonna do to dodge the Robians? We can't run anywhere near as fast as you can Sonic and Shadow and flying just makes us an eyesore and easy prey for flying Robians."

"Hmm…that is a good point Ruben." said Sonic thoughtfully "I know Tails and Bunnie are keen aerial aces when it comes to flying but they can get tired after excessive flying and Robians don't get tired so they'll stand no chance when they tire out. And you Ruben, you need to use your water powers to surf through the air so you'll be unable to defend yourself."

"In that case, we leave them behind and we do this ourselves Sonic." said Shadow, not giving a tinker's toot about Tails, Bunnie and Ruben whatsoever.

"No Shadow." said Sonic sternly "If we're gonna save the world then we need to work together on this. Tails and his technical mind can help us greatly in this mission and Bunnie and Ruben are keen fighters, their skills can help us should we need them."

"But you heard what Ruben just said Sonic." noted Shadow crossly "He clearly stated he, Tails and Bunnie can't keep up with us on foot and in the air, they pretty much scream "Hit me!" at everybody so they'll just slow us down!"

"Not necessarily shadow-hog." said Bunnie hastily "You and sugah-hog can carry us to Robotropolis. At your super-speeds, no one will hit us and we won't be an eyesore for the Robians."

Shadow fumed grumpily. He was not keen on the idea of carrying people about at all but like it or not, he would have to do it as it was the only way to bring the others with him while making sure they didn't slow him and Sonic down or catch the attention of the Robians. He folded his arms and sighed quietly.

"Sonic, what do you think of this idea then?" asked Shadow.

"I think we should go ahead with it." said Sonic "We'll run to Robotropolis as fast as we can to avoid getting tackled by Robians and we'll carry Tails, Bunnie and Ruben with us to save them the pain of running after us and lagging behind. Once we get to Robotropolis, we find that roboticizer Eggman used, set it in reverse and de-roboticize everybody. Mobius will be saved and Eggman will be free to cry in a corner over his failure yet again." he added with a big mischievous grin on his face.

Shadow smiled darkly at the very thought of Eggman crying in a corner like a little baby after Sonic de-roboticized everybody and saved the day once again. He still had a bitter hatred of Eggman after deceiving him the way he did before so whatever happened to Eggman would always give Shadow a good feeling inside. Suddenly, as if out of the norm, Sonic's front door rattled loudly and was then suddenly ripped clean off it's hinges! The door was torn away and tossed aside carelessly by something and the whole thing had made everybody jump out of their seats. A green crocodile shaped robot wearing metallic earphones that seemed more like an attachment then actual earphones stormed into the house and grabbed Sonic by his throat. It was of course, Mecha Vector, a roboticized Vector the Crocodile. He along with Espio the Chameleon and Charmy Bee had been in Royal HQ monitoring the place while Sonic and friends tried to throw Eggman back into prison. Unfortunately for Team Chaotix, they were amongst the billions of victims that fell to Eggman's roboticization and now they were the Mecha Chaotix, a trio of Robians hell bent on serving Eggman and serving their priorities and their number one priority, of course, was capture the only five Mobians left in existence as was all other Robians. Mecha Vector scanned Sonic as the blue hedgehog squirmed in his tight grasp and he clenched his silver teeth.

"Sonic-the-Hedge-hog-Pri-ority-One." he droned at him "I-have-de-tec-ted-you-and-found-you-at-last."

"Congratulations…I'm sure…hurk!" gagged Sonic "Lemme…guess! Ack! You…used the computers of Royal HQ…to find my house!"

"Cor-rect." droned Mecha Vector "I-have-found-the-last-Mobians-in-exis-tence. Now-I-shall-take-you-to-Dr.-Eggman-and-let-him-ro-bot-i-cize-you-all."

"In yer dreams ugly!" yelled Bunnie, walloping Mecha Vector with her robot arm as hard as she dared to.

Mecha Vector hurtled across the room and crashed straight through a window. The window shattered into pieces and Mecha Vector found himself lying outside the house on his head, wondering what had just hit him.

"Bunnie, when this is over, you're paying for that!" joked Sonic.

"Sorry sugah-hog." said Bunnie, ear ears drooping down sadly.

"I'm just kidding Bunnie." said Sonic "Now let's scraper before…"

Before Sonic could go anywhere, Mecha Espio leaped into the house and ninja kicked Sonic in the face. Sonic hurtled into a wall and lay against it, groaning in pain. Mecha Espio drew out some shuriken and he threw a pair at Sonic's wrists. The shuriken pinned Sonic's arms to the wall, trapping him and preventing him from moving. He squirmed in the tough grasp of the shuriken but they were embedded to deeply into the wall for him to move. Tails tried to help Sonic but Mecha Espio threw some shuriken at Tails' wrists and they pinned him to the wall. And to add insult to injury, Mecha Espio threw some shuriken at Bunnie's wrists and ankles and he ended up pinning her to the wall. To make double sure she didn't break free, Mecha Espio threw some more shuriken at Bunnie's legs and left arm so now Bunnie had about six shuriken pinning her left arm to the wall and eight shuriken on each leg pinning her legs to the wall. Not even someone as powerful as Bunnie would be able to break out of that. Bunnie and Tails squirmed and struggled in the shuriken pinning their limbs to the wall but they were embedded too deeply for them to break free. Ruben leaped in and tried to engage Mecha Espio in a fist fight but Mecha Espio threw him into a wall and pinned him to the wall with yet more shuriken. Now Ruben was trapped against the wall too. Mecha Espio was pleased to see his tactic had worked and he strode up to the trapped hedgehog, fox and rabbit. Mecha Charmy buzzed into the house after him. Mecha Espio cracked his metal knuckles and he drew his arm back. He was going to knock Sonic, Tails, Ruben and Bunnie out one at a time so he could take them to Dr. Eggman for roboticization. They wouldn't be able to resist the Mecha-Chaotix if they were knocked out so the trapped Mobians were as good as captured now. But there was one tiny problem. The Mecha Chaotix hadn't trapped Shadow so Shadow leaped onto Mecha Espio and dropkicked him in the head. Mecha Espio fell onto his side and Shadow grabbed him by his tail. He threw Mecha Espio out through the open front door and Mecha Espio skidded roughly across the grass. Mecha Charmy buzzed angrily and tried to attack Shadow but Shadow spin-dashed Mecha Charmy and knocked the roboticized bee out. Now the Mecha Chaotix were knocked out, Shadow sought to freeing everybody. He pulled all of the shuriken out of the wall and freed Sonic, Tails, Ruben and Bunnie.

"Thanks Shadow." said Sonic "I can't believe the Mecha Chaotix were dopey enough to forget you."

"Don't mention it blue hedgehog." said Shadow "Let's run before any other Robians find us!"

With that said, Sonic and Shadow charged out of the front door… and got piled-dived by two more Robians lying in wait for them. These two were Mecha Sally and Mecha Nicole, a roboticized Queen Sally Acorn and Nicole the Lynx respectively. Mecha Sally looked like a robot squirrel in a metal purple dress as Sally was wearing a purple dress during the roboticization process whereas Mecha Nicole looked like a robot lynx in a purple toga, Nicole's trademark outfit. Despite being robots, they still looked beautiful but they looked far deadlier in these metal bodies. Sonic and Shadow picked themselves up and stared at the two Mechas standing before them.

"Who are these two then?" asked Shadow.

"A roboticized Sally Acorn, the Queen of Mobotropolis, and Nicole, Sally's lady-in-waiting." said Sonic "They both know where I live so they wouldn't have too much trouble finding me, even if they are Robians now."

"Are they ones to look out for?" asked Shadow.

"Well Sally isn't really much of a fighter but Nicole is." said Sonic "Since they've been roboticized, I'm guessing their strength has been enhanced so yeah, we should probably avoid them."

Unfortunately, the Mecha Chaotix had just come to and they surrounded Sonic and Shadow. Now Sonic and Shadow were surrounded by the Mecha Chaotix, Mecha Sally and Mecha Nicole. This was not the kind of situation Sonic wanted to get caught up in but now, he was surrounded by five possibly deadly Robians, especially the Mecha Chaotix. He would have to escape them and fast. Mecha Sally stood forward and gave the command.

"Mechas. Get-them!" she droned, pointing a clawed finger at Sonic.

The others obeyed and the Mecha Chaotix leaped on Sonic and Shadow. Shadow gave Mecha Charmy and Mecha Espio an uppercut each before they could even land on him and Sonic roundhouse kicked Mecha Vector before he could nab him. Mecha

Nicole leaped into the air, did an elegant twirl and drill-attacked Sonic and Shadow both together. The two hedgehogs were thrown onto their backs by the roboticized lynx but they weren't down for long. Sonic punched at Mecha Nicole but Mecha Nicole caught the punch in her own metal hand and she head-butted Sonic straight in the forehead. Sonic cried out in agonizing pain and he clutched his head, which began to throb insanely. Mecha Nicole took the opportunity to gut-kick Sonic and then elbow slam him on his head. She tried to attack Sonic again but Shadow threw a Chaos Spear at Mecha Nicole and the spear just skimmed her on the head. Mecha Nicole looked up at Shadow furiously and drill-attacked him but Shadow ducked and jumped up, knocking Mecha Nicole onto the ground. Mecha Vector sneaked up behind Shadow and sucker-punched him directly in the back of his head. Shadow hurtled across the ground and landed painfully on his face. He skidded sharply and made a mound of dirt which his face was now buried in. Mecha Vector tried to grab Shadow but Tails ran out of the house and gave the robotic crocodile a flying punch to the head that seemed to knock a few screws loose as Mecha Vector slumped dizzily onto the ground. Bunnie and Ruben joined in the battle but before they could help anybody, Mecha Sally drill-attacked them. She knocked them both onto the ground and grabbed Bunnie in a painful chokehold. She forced her organic arm behind her back and sharply twisted it, earning a pained scream from the rabbit cyborg.

"Say-un-cle! Say-it!" yelled Mecha Sally, tightening her grip on Bunnie to the point the Rabbot was struggling to breathe.

Ruben leaped onto Mecha Sally and cupped his hands around her optics, blinding the roboticized queen for a minute. Mecha Sally let go of Bunnie and tried to swat Ruben off her head. This gave Bunnie the perfect opportunity to gut-punch Mecha Sally and grab her in a chokehold to get her own back. She twisted Mecha Sally's arm behind her back, being careful not to rip it off in the process and made sure she had a tight hold on her.

"Now you say uncle Sally-girl!" crowed Bunnie as she held Mecha Sally firmly in a chokehold.

However, Mecha Charmy cupped his hands together and slammed them on Bunnie's head, dazing the Rabbot slightly and making her release Mecha Sally. Mecha Sally too the perfect opportunity to roundhouse kick Bunnie in the face and knocked her down onto her side. Tails flew in and kick-slammed Mecha Charmy down onto the ground and he tail-whipped Mecha Sally in the face. Mecha Espio jumped in and elbowed Tails in the back, knocking him down onto the ground sharply. Ruben cupped his hands together and slammed Mecha Espio with his fists. Mecha Espio wobbled about slightly before regaining his balance and preparing to fight. Ruben tried to kung-fu chop Mecha Espio but Mecha Espio blocked his attack with his arm and gut-punched Ruben. Ruben wheezed louder then an old person with lung cancer and he doubled over onto the floor. Mecha Espio then attempted to knock Ruben out with a hefty punch to the back of his head but Sonic spin-dashed him onto his side before he could even touch him. Mecha Espio skidded roughly across his side and he groaned a robotical groan. Sonic smirked at Mecha Espio but Mecha Vector fist slammed Sonic on his cranium and made the hedgehog stagger onto his knees dizzily. Mecha Vector grabbed Sonic and was about to knock him out until Shadow kicked Mecha Vector in the gut and made him drop Sonic. Shadow gave Mecha Vector a powerful uppercut that almost took his jaw off and the roboticized crocodile staggered backwards. Mecha Charmy buzzed in and grabbed Shadow by his quills. He carried Shadow off the ground as if he weighed nothing and he threw him down onto the ground with a slam. Tails flew after Mecha Charmy and tried to tackle him out of the sky but Mecha Charmy dodged Tails and aerial aced him. Tails cried out in pain and just managed to keep himself airborne but Mecha Charmy tackled him from behind and sent him hurling into the ground. Bunnie caught Tails in her arms before he could land on the ground only to get kicked in the back of the head by Mecha Sally. Mecha Sally pinned Bunnie to the ground with her foot and prevented the Rabbot from getting back up. Tails tried to help Bunnie but Mecha Sally backhanded him in the back of the head and knocked him onto his stomach. Bunnie elbowed Mecha Sally in the foot and caused her to topple over onto her side. Mecha Nicole tried to drill-attack Bunnie but Bunnie threw Mecha Sally into Mecha Nicole. The two girls collided with each other and they sprawled on the ground. Mecha Espio did an amazing ninja flip and he roundhouse kicked Bunnie down onto her face. Ruben roundhouse kicked Espio back and gave him a ninja style chop to the face. Mecha Vector grabbed Ruben by his head and tossed him into a nearby tree. Ruben hit the tree back first upside down so he slid down onto the ground and came to a stop on top of his head. Mecha Vector punched the palm of his other hand as he advanced on Ruben and he prepared to pound Ruben's daylights out. Before he could lay a finger on Ruben though, Shadow homing attacked Mecha Vector and knocked him onto his back. Mecha Nicole got the drop on Shadow with a drill-attack and after knocking Shadow onto his face, she grabbed him by his quills, tossed him up into the air and gave him an uppercut before he could land on the ground. Shadow hurtled through the air in a neat rainbow arch and he landed painfully on his side. Mecha Nicole smirked at Shadow and ran over to him.

"Come-to-ma-ma-Mo-bian." she droned as she ran towards Shadow with her claws bared.

She would have grabbed Shadow and knocked him out if it wasn't for Sonic leaping in and ramming her from the side. The side-slam sent Mecha Nicole hurling into a tree and Sonic smiled cockily at her.

"Run to daddy!" smirked Sonic.

The joke was on him though as Mecha Vector roundhouse punched him in the back of the head and then grabbed him in a chokehold as he was stunned.

"Say-un-cle! Say-it!" yelled Mecha Vector as he tightened his grip on Sonic.

Bunnie pounced on Mecha Vector from behind and elbowed him with her robot arm. Mecha Vector gagged and he let go of Sonic. Mecha Vector tried to punch Bunnie but Bunnie grabbed him by his arm and threw him over her shoulder and onto his back. That slam seemed to have stunned Mecha Vector as he lay there wondering what to do next. Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and prepared to knock him out with a cannon blast but Mecha Espio threw a shuriken at her and the shuriken skimmed her organic shoulder, leaving a deep bloody cut that streamed with blood. Bunnie yelped and transformed her cannon arm back to a normal arm so she could clutch her organic arm and rub it better. Mecha Espio prepared to let her have it with another shuriken but Shadow spin-dashed him away and sent him hurling into Sonic's house. Shadow panted slightly.

"We can't keep this fight up forever." said Shadow "Those Robians are strong and we can't use our best attacks or we'll destroy them. However, I think I have a way of distracting them for a while…"

A bright idea crept into his head like a spider creeping down a plughole. He knew exactly what to do now. He ran back into Sonic's house and grabbed one of the seven Chaos Emeralds. Sonic had brought them home with him as he hadn't had time to return them to Angel Island yet. Shadow ran back out with the Chaos Emerald and joined the battle again. Sonic was going toe-to-toe with Mecha Sally, Ruben and Mecha Espio were in a fist fight, Bunnie was having a wrestling match with Mecha Vector and Tails was being teamed up on by Mecha Charmy and Mecha Nicole. Shadow thrust the emerald in front of himself and yelled.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

The yellow Chaos Emerald glowed a bright yellow gleam as he said that and bright flash engulfed him. Nothing seemed to happen at first but before anyone knew it, time began to slow down around the Mechas and then suddenly, stop altogether. The Mechas were frozen in time by Shadow's Chaos Control and they would be like that for a while until the Chaos Control wore off. Shadow smirked at the frozen Mechas, pleased that his plan had worked. Sonic, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben stared at the frozen Mechas in amazement and they all looked at Shadow, who was holding the yellow Chaos Emerald in his hand.

"Sweet Shadow!" complimented Sonic "I'm amazed I didn't think of using the Chaos Emeralds before! You froze them with a Chaos Control!"

"Exactly." said Shadow "So now we don't have to fight them, and they can't fight us. Nobody gets hurt and we can get away before that Chaos Control wears off. Gather around me everybody and I'll warp us to Robotropolis with this Chaos Emerald."

"Oh no Shadow, we're NOT using a Chaos Emerald to get to Robotropolis." said Sonic hastily, snatching the gem from Shadow's hand "As much as I'd love to use a Chaos Emerald to help us in our mission, I don't wanna risk losing it to Egg-Brains. He has billions of foot-soldiers now he's roboticized everybody on Mobius so there's a possibility any of them could snatch that emerald from us so sorry Shadow, it's a no-go on the Chaos Emeralds."

"Humph, fine." muttered Shadow, scowling angrily at Sonic "Just don't come crying to me when you end up needing one!"

"We won't end up needing one." said Sonic, tossing the emerald to Tails who ran off to his house and put the emerald back in the living room with the others "Eggman won't see us coming due to how fast we are and we'll be in his city before he knows about it."

"We'll see about that won't we faker?" snorted Shadow, folding his arms and huffing to himself.

Sonic just glared at Shadow but he had the sense to not say anything that could rile the genetic experiment as Shadow could kick his butt all the way to Nekronopolis if he wanted to.

"OK guys, we're off to Robotropolis to de-roboticize everybody." announced Sonic "Tails, I'll carry you and Ruben. Shadow you carry Bunnie."

Shadow obeyed and he picked Bunnie up bridal style. The Rabbot wrapped her arms tightly around Shadow to make sure she was holding on good and tight. As for Sonic, he just held Tails and Ruben's hands each and prepared to run for it.

"You ready guys?" asked Sonic.

"Whenever you are Sonic." said Tails determinedly.

"I'm ready for anything when it comes to saving the world." said Ruben.

"Then let's juice everybody!" yelled Sonic, revving his feet up to the point where they were nothing but red blurs underneath him.

He zoomed off at top speed with Tails and Ruben flying behind him.

Shadow bent down and he charged off after Sonic. He skated along the floor as if he was on ice thanks to his hover shoes and he caught up to Sonic in no time as he was faster then Sonic. Bunnie couldn't help but squeal with delight as Shadow ran for it.

"Whoo, hoo! Ya'll are pretty fast Shadow!" she cried excitedly "Yee-Haw!"

"I know I am." gloated Shadow "Thanks for your comment Bunnie."

The two supersonic hedgehogs zoomed off through Green Hill Zone and they headed off to Robotropolis which was all the way in the Northern Border of Megapolis. Dr. Eggman would get one heck of a surprise once they came knocking on his door and they stormed the place so they could find the roboticizer and de-roboticize everybody with it…

Meanwhile in Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman was giving Mecha Knuckles, Mecha Shade, Mecha Wilson, Mecha Mandy, Mecha Geoffrey, Mecha Amy and Mecha Cream a nice little polish each just to make them look nice and shiny for when he builds the Eggman Empire all over Mobius. He was on Mecha Geoffrey now and he was polishing the roboticized skunk so he would be shinier then a sunbeam.

"This polish is really doing wonders for you glorious Mechas isn't it?" asked Dr. Eggman "You all look amazing already and I haven't even done everybody yet. Although in order to defeat the only Mobians still alive, maybe I should give you all adjustments of some kind. Maybe I should weaponize all of the Robians and that way, you'll all be invincible and nobody will be able to stop you. Not even G.U.N. back on Earth. Boy will I show them what I'm capable of!"

His work was interrupted by the arrival of Katherine who strode into the room quietly and stood to attention, waiting for Dr. Eggman to ask her what it was she was here for. Dr. Eggman stopped polishing Mecha Geoffrey and he looked at Katherine.

"Yes my dear?" he asked.

Katherine played a recorded message sent to her by Mecha Sally. The Chaos Control had worn off at last and Mecha Sally wasn't pleased to see her group had failed to catch Sonic, Shadow, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben but she had an idea on where they were now so she sent a message to Katherine for Eggman to hear.

"Dr.-Egg-Man. I'm-sorry-to-in-form-you-but-me-Mecha-Nicole-and-the-Mecha-Chaotix-have-failed-to-catch-Sonic-and-friends." the message played "But-this-unit-is-sure-that-they-are-coming-to-Ro-bo-trop-o-lis-to-try-and-ruin-your-plans."

The message stopped and Katherine fell back into silence. Dr. Eggman grinned wickedly at the fembot. This piece of news didn't seem to worry him the slightest.

"I KNEW those foolish survivors would dare to try and de-roboticize Mobius!" sneered Dr. Eggman "Well to their shock, I've prepared for their arrival! They'll be inviting themselves to roboticization Katherine once they arrive here!"

Katherine turned her head to one side in a manner that suggested she had no idea what Eggman was talking about.

"You'll see Katherine, you'll see." Dr. Eggman reassured her "Until then, sit back and enjoy the show and boy what a show this'll be!"

He grinned a sinister, evil grin that could make the devil himself shudder in fear…

Meanwhile, due to the sheer speed of Sonic and Shadow, they zipped by every single Robian they came across and nobody could catch them because they were too fast. It was pretty much blink and you'll miss them for the Robians, they lunged but they were past them before they could nab them. In a matter of minutes, Sonic and Shadow both arrived at Robotropolis, Eggman's robotical city and the one place they both hated with all their hearts. The gates hadn't been repaired from the whole fiasco with Alonzo earlier so they just zoomed through the gates without a moment's hesitance. The whole population of Robotropolis saw them coming but they couldn't do anything about the two hedgehog's super speed. Sonic and Shadow ploughed through them like a snowplough through snow and the robots were sent hurling through the air in a comical fashion. They all crashed into various buildings and objects around the city after being thrown into them by the supersonic hedgehog duo. Sonic and Shadow finally came to a halt once they ran inside Dr. Eggman's headquarters. Shadow put Bunnie down and Sonic let go of Tails and Ruben's hands.

"Oh mah stars, that was awesome!" shrieked Bunnie "We should do this again sometime shadow-hog!"

"Well I'll be happy to arrange another time we can do this." said Shadow with a dark smile on his face "Gives me more excuses to trash Eggman's little toys after all."

"This is it everybody." said Tails "Eggman's headquarters. We're gonna have to remain vigilant as there's no telling what kind of trap Eggman has. Anything could happen here so we're gonna have to keep our senses alert."

"Especially since Eggman has our roboticized friends here no doubt." said Ruben "Chances are, Eggman could be willing to set them on us just to rub salt into this already colossal wound we and the planet have."

"You two are absolutely right." said Sonic "Keep an eye out for any trick-of-the-trade. We'll stick together and look for this roboticizer. Shadow, you used to live here, do you have any idea where Eggman might keep a roboticizer?"

"I believe he said something about a chamber on the middle floor when he gave me a tour of this base." thought Shadow "I think it was a roboticizer chamber, I'm not entirely sure though, I could be wrong."

"And since Eggman's rebuilt this from the time my friends wrecked it, it could have changed." thought Sonic "We'll look on the middle floor then just to see if you're right or wrong. Let's take one of the elevators over there."

The Mobians all ran over to an elevator at the back of the room and they went into it. Tails pressed a button on the elevator that said "centre floor" and the elevator's doors closed, sealing them inside it. The elevator began to rise up off the floor and up to the upper floors of Eggman's base. The elevator took them past five floors before finally reaching the middle floor. The elevator opened and the Mobians stepped cautiously out. They were in a large corridor that led in three different directions. There didn't appear to be anybody around. No Robians of any kind and not even a guard bot. The whole corridor looked empty.

"This is weird, Eggman's security is usually tighter then this." said Sonic.

"I have a tingle in my tail that suggests Eggman's lying in wait for us." said Ruben wearily "We're gonna have to be careful around here."

The Mobians left the elevator and they went straight up the corridor that led onwards. All clear so far. The Mobians crept quietly and cautiously while keeping an eye out for danger but they couldn't see any so far. Then they came across an iron door on their left hand side. The door a dull metallic grey colour and was marked with black and yellow warning stripes and it had a huge circular doorknob. A door like this heavily implied that what was on the other side was probably very dangerous. Shadow decided to see what was in the room so he spun the doorknob around and around until the door opened.

"Let's see what's in here then." said Shadow.

"Be careful Shadow." warned Tails, his twin-tails twitching slightly.

Shadow opened the door to it's fullest and he looked inside. There he saw, in the middle of the room, was a giant egg-shaped pod. Shadow had no idea what the pod possibly did but he had a feeling it was the roboticizer he was looking for. Shadow stepped into the room…and suddenly got hit by a blast from the roboticizer pod! Dr. Eggman, the crafty villain, had programmed the pod to roboticize any Mobian that stepped into the room, thus preventing them from getting close to the machine so they could destroy it and also give him more Robians! Shadow was being roboticized right in front of Sonic, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben's horrified eyes!

"No Shadow!" cried Sonic helplessly.

It was too late. Shadow's black fur was turning into black metal, his eyes were turning into a black visor with glowing red optics, his hands were becoming claws and his gloves and shoes became steel. The roboticizer beam stopped blasting him and the roboticized Shadow the Hedgehog rose up from the floor. He turned to face his victims, his red optics glowing ominously. Shadow the Hedgehog was no more, he was now MECHA SHADOW, possibly the strongest Robian in Eggman's army and he looked like he was ready to kill. Mecha Shadow bared his claws at the horrified Mobians that stood before him.

"Mecha-Shadow-on-line." he droned in a deep robotical voice "Sonic-the-Hedge-hog: Priority-one. Com-men-cing-ass-ault."

He advanced menacingly on the horrified Mobians and they could do nothing but back away in fear as Mecha Shadow prepared to kill them…

Planet of Steel Part 2

Story 82: Planet of Steel Part 2: Trouble for the Heroes

"Just when I thought this day couldn't get any worse, Shadow goes and gets roboticized!" cried Sonic the Hedgehog as Mecha Shadow advanced on them with his claws bared "Having to fight normal Shadow was bad enough but Mecha Shadow's gonna be too much!"

Sonic and the last remaining Mobians Tails the twin-tailed fox, Ruben the Water Panther and Bunnie Rabbot had gone to Robotropolis in hopes of de-roboticizing all of Mobius and freeing every last citizen from Eggman's iron-fisted control. Unfortunately, Shadow the Hedgehog had just ended up getting roboticized, bringing the Mobian team down to just four and causing them to lose their strongest member. Mecha Shadow continued to advance on Sonic and friends with his claws ready to grab them and take them to the roboticizer. Sonic decided that backing away from him wasn't going to be of any help so the hedgehog spin-dashed Mecha Shadow in the gut. Mecha Shadow was sent flying backwards into a wall. The roboticized hedgehog picked himself up and bent down in a battle-ready stance. He glared at Sonic with his red optics. Sonic bent down in a battle-ready stance too.

"Shadow, if you can still hear me in there, try and fight Eggman's control over you!" yelled Sonic "Don't let Eggman win this Shadow, fight it! You hate Dr. Eggman and you're never ever gonna let him defeat you! Don't let him defeat you now Shadow! Please! Fight it! Help us save the world, don't help Eggman conquer it!"

"You-are-try-ing-to-ration-a-lize-with-this-unit?" droned Mecha Shadow "Where-were-you-when-they-were-hand-ing-the-brains-out?"

"Hey! I find that term offensive!" yelled Sonic "I get enough of Sally saying that to me when I do something reckless in a Royal Fighter mission! Bring it on Mecha Bozo!"

Mecha Shadow eerily enough, obeyed that command and he spin-dashed Sonic directly in the gut. Sonic flew backwards into a wall and left a huge imprint of himself on it. Mecha Shadow prepared to attack again but Bunnie stood in his way and gave him an uppercut strong enough to nearly take his head off. Mecha Shadow hurtled through the air in a perfect rainbow arch and he landed sharply on his back. He skidded across the floor briefly and he lay there droning to himself.

"Ah think we should git on outta here sugah-hog." said Bunnie "Before Mecha Shadow gets any uglier."

"No, I'm not backing outta this one!" yelled Sonic "Not while we're so close to saving everybody! We'll fight Mecha Shadow until he's knocked out and then we find a way to set that roboticizer in reverse."

"But Sonic, we can't even get in that room without getting zapped, look what happened to Shadow!" exclaimed Tails, pointing at Mecha Shadow just as he was getting back up "He got zapped by a roboticizer beam the moment he walked into the room! That must mean we can't get in there without getting roboticized!"

"Well this bites!" muttered Sonic "Walking into that room is pretty much an invitation to being roboticized! How can we save the world now?"

"We may have to think on that later because Mecha Shadow looks pretty angry!" screamed Ruben, his tail shaking like mad as Mecha Shadow picked himself up and he turned to face the Mobians angrily.

Mecha Shadow spin-dashed the Mobians and sent them flying all around the corridor. Sonic spin-dashed Mecha Shadow back but Mecha Shadow wasn't affected much by the attack and he kicked Sonic as viciously as he could. Sonic retaliated with a left hook on Mecha Shadow's face but Mecha Shadow struck back hard with a right hook to Sonic's face. Sonic roundhouse kicked at Mecha Shadow but Mecha Shadow bent over backwards and dodged the attack. He then deployed some plasma cannons underneath his arms and he fired at Sonic. Sonic was hit by the blast and sent flying across the corridor. Mecha Shadow then skated towards Sonic and he grabbed the hedgehog. Mecha Shadow leaped to the wall and ploughed his way through it as if it was nothing. Mecha Shadow then somersaulted in the air and he held Sonic high above his head. He then proceeded to throw Sonic straight through the air, over Robotropolis and over the gates of Robotropolis like a baseball. Sonic landed painfully on the ground and skidded to a very painful stop. He had some nasty grazes on his face from that attack and he was left wondering which part of him to rub better. He felt like pain was consuming his body right now. Mecha Shadow rocketed towards Sonic with the jets in his feet he now had and he held his hands out, ready to grab Sonic and take him to Eggman.

"Sonic-the-Hedge-hog: Priority-One." droned Mecha Shadow "Commencing capture."

Sonic could only lie there helplessly and wait for Mecha Shadow to grab him. Mecha Shadow was just a few feet away from grabbing Sonic and just as he was about to grab him, Bunnie flew out of the hole in the wall he made and flew in Mecha Shadow's way. She grabbed Mecha Shadow and carried him away from Sonic as fast as her rockets would let her. Sonic sat up weakly and he smiled at the Rabbot.

"Oh Bunnie, I can always count on you can't I?" he said, rubbing his grazed face better.

Bunnie zoomed straight up into the sky with Mecha Shadow in her arms and she flew as high as she dared to go and the height she dared to go was high enough to be a good distance off the ground but not high enough to pass out from the thin air in the atmosphere. Bunnie flew up and up until she knew she was high enough and then she flew straight back down. She flew down as fast as she flew up and the ground was beginning to catch up with her as she flew back down with Mecha Shadow in her arms. Unfortunately, Mecha Shadow managed to break out of Bunnie's hold by praising her arms apart and punching her in the cheek. He then rearranged positions so now HE was flying towards the ground with BUNNIE in his arms. Bunnie squirmed in the tough grasp of Mecha Shadow but try as she might, she just wasn't strong enough against an opponent such as this one. Mecha Shadow reach the ground at last and he ascended up before he could nose dive into it but he slammed Bunnie down as hard as he possibly could just as he began to ascend. Bunnie felt the full force of the impact and she lay on the ground, feeling like she'd just crashed into a truck.

"Oooooh mah stars…" she groaned groggily "That was one heck of a slam!"

Mecha Shadow did an impressive U-turn in the air and flew back to where Bunnie was lying. The roboticized hedgehog landed before Bunnie and he deployed a pair of plasma cannons he had, much like the infamous Mecha Sonic from a while back. He pointed them straight at Bunnie's face. The Rabbot stared at the in horror, her ears sticking up straight in alarm. Mecha Shadow prepared to let Bunnie have it with his plasma cannons. The Rabbot couldn't do anything to stop Mecha Shadow from killing her so all she could do was lie on the ground and wait for Mecha Shadow to blow her head off.

"Don't! Please don't do it!" begged Bunnie.

Mecha Shadow was having none of it. He was loyal to Dr. Eggman only and nobody else's orders would work on him. His plasma cannons prepared to let Bunnie have it directly in the head but just as they were powering up, Tails leaped on Mecha Shadow and covered his optics with his hands. Mecha Shadow immediately went on a mad firing episode due to the fact he couldn't see anything and his first response was just to shoot in any random direction and hope to hit someone in blind luck. Seeing as Mecha Shadow was distracted, Bunnie picked herself up, straining heavily as she forced herself onto her feet and she staggered, very slowly, away from him. Tails, despite Mecha Shadow's heavy squirming and mad firing, managed to hold onto Mecha Shadow's head and keep his optics covered. Mecha Shadow couldn't see anything with Tails' hands over his optics so Sonic and friends would have more of an advantage over the Mecha-genetic experiment hedgehog.

"Ruben, beat him up while I have his eyes covered!" yelled Tails.

The water panther, who had used his water powers to get down from Eggman's headquarters and over Robotropolis, ran up to Mecha Shadow as fast as his legs would let him. Unfortunately,

Mecha Shadow grabbed Tails by his wrists and let the fox have it with a powerful, painful electrical shock that surged up his small body and made him scream at the top of his voice. Ruben leaped into the air, did a fancy ninja twirl and hurtled foot-first towards Mecha Shadow just as he finished shocking Tails. Mecha Shadow threw the injured fox off of his head and straight into Ruben, knocking him clean out of the sky and sending him sprawling on the ground. Tails lay on the ground, panting heavily. Faint smoke drifted up from his fur due to the sheer power of the electrical shock Mecha Shadow had given him. Had he shocked him any longer, the shock would have killed him so Tails was lucky to be alive. Ruben lifted the front half of his body up with his arms and he saw the barely conscious Tails lying just in front of him.

"Tails, are you alright?" asked Ruben with a heavy tone of concern in his voice.

"I'm…I'm…I'm…fine…" whispered Tails hoarsely "I've…just had a…painful electric…shock…"

"I know, from Mecha Shadow." said Ruben "I'll trickle some water on you to make you feel better."

"No…Ruben I'm…fine honest…" said Tails feebly as Ruben put his hands gently on his back.

"You most certainly are not Tails old buddy." said Ruben sternly "That shock's done a number on you! You need some soothing done little guy."

Ruben closed his eyes and focused as he let water trickled out from the palms of his hands and all over Tails' lovely yellow fur. The cool chill from Ruben's water began to make Tails feel much better already. Unfortunately, it seemed bath time was over as Mecha Shadow ran towards the two Mobians with his claws bared. Ruben freaked and accidentally let Mecha Shadow have it with a jet of water. But he wouldn't have to worry about getting Mecha Shadow wet as Mecha Shadow had a shield generator in his torso and he activated it, shielding himself from the jet of water Ruben accidentally shot at him. Ruben stopped squirting Mecha Shadow and stared in surprise at Mecha Shadow. He was relieved to see he didn't drench him as Mecha Shadow, like all the other Robians, wasn't water proof so squirting him would have destroyed him had Mecha Shadow not defended himself. But that meant Mecha Shadow had a defence system and it would be impossible to hurt him. However, Mecha Shadow was just as cocky as the real Shadow so he wouldn't be a coward and rely on his shield unless necessary so he wouldn't be using it much. Mecha Shadow switched off his shield and prepared to do battle.

"Well, I'm glad I don't have to worry about accidentally drenching him." said Ruben "Just an inconvenience he has a way of blocking our attacks."

"Then we'd…best attack him before…he can use another shield." said Tails, forcing himself back onto his feet and bending down in a battle-ready stance.

"You got that right." said Ruben "And luckily for me, I happen to be exceptionally quick in battle so Mecha Shadow won't see me coming in time to raise his shield!"

He ran towards Mecha Shadow and top speed and jumped into the air. He did an amazing somersault and he landed foot-first on top of Mecha Shadow's head. The attack made Mecha Shadow fall over onto his knees and he grumbled a robotical groan. Ruben landed behind Mecha Shadow and he pounced on him but Mecha Shadow backhanded him across the battlefield before he could even get near him. Ruben skidded painfully across his side and grimaced in pain. He picked himself up and waited for Mecha Shadow to come to him. Mecha Shadow skated towards him much like the real Shadow did and he fired his plasma cannons at him. Ruben performed a tactic her performed on the oil-rig heist a while ago*. He grabbed the cannon blasts in his hands and threw them away. The blasts hit the ground and made cannon blast shaped holes in the ground. Martial arts masters were capable of catching anything in their hands due to how amazing and mysteriously powerful they were. Ruben tried to resist the urge to throw the cannon blasts at Mecha Shadow as they would likely destroy him. He focused hard on throwing them to the side as Mecha Shadow fired them at him. Mecha Shadow however, skated closer and closer to Ruben. So close in fact, catching cannon blasts was not an option anymore so Ruben decided to let Mecha Shadow have it with in uppercut to the chin. Mecha Shadow staggered backwards and he rubbed his metallic chin better. Ruben leaped into the air and just as he was at Mecha Shadow's eye height, he rapidly kicked Mecha Shadow in the face. As he did that, Mecha Shadow was forced backwards by the attacking water panther and Ruben delivered all of his blows strongly and accurately. Unfortunately, Mecha Shadow decided to unleash a Chaos Blast on Ruben. Even when roboticized, he could use a Chaos Blast and due to the enhancements of his robotic body, he could use it without removing his inhibitor rings. Ruben was hit by the blast and sent hurling through the air like a dart hurling towards the dartboard. Ruben landed very painfully on the ground in a position that looked like he about broke his back in the process. Ruben lay uncomfortably on his side and tried to get his spine to bend and knit properly. Even as a robot, Shadow's Chaos Blast was something to worry about so Mecha Shadow had to be taken down as quickly as possible. Mecha Shadow smirked at Ruben and he deployed his plasma cannons. He aimed them at Ruben and he prepared to shoot the poor water panther. Ruben couldn't do anything as he was too hurt to get back up. He tried to get up onto his feet but the pain in his back was too much for him. Mecha Shadow prepared to blast Ruben and kill him but Sonic, who had recovered from his earlier onslaught, spin-dashed Mecha Shadow in the back and knocked him onto his face. Sonic quickly leaped over to Ruben and he helped him stand back on his feet. The water panther rubbed his throbbing back tenderly.

"You OK bud?" asked Sonic.

"Once my spine doesn't feel like an unstable Jenga blocks tower I'll be fine." muttered Ruben "I landed rather awkwardly after being blasted by Mecha Shadow's Chaos Blast. Mecha Shadow seems to have all the powers of Shadow the Hedgehog plus additional weapons. He's not going to be easy to defeat."

"He wasn't easy to defeat when he was Shadow so Mecha Shadow's going to be even more of a problem." muttered Sonic "We can't stay here and fight him or he'll kill us all. We've gotta get outta here."

"But what about Shadow? We can't leave him behind." protested

Ruben "Mother always told me "Never to leave a valuable comrade behind in the heat of battle. It's the ultimate dishonour and it destroys friendships as they'll feel betrayed and abandoned."."

"As much as I agree with what your mother says Ruben, we have to leave." said Sonic "Mecha Shadow is too powerful for us and we're just gonna get mashed into chilli-sauce if we carry on. Besides, Shadow's a robot now, he hasn't got any emotions or thoughts about us being pals, he won't give a darn about being left behind."

"Of course." said Ruben "His old memories are non-existent because of his roboticization."

"Correct." said Sonic "I'll gather up Tails and Bunnie and then we'll scram for it."

But Mecha Shadow had other ideas. Before Sonic could even turn around and run off, Mecha Shadow spin-dashed Sonic and sent him hurling over Ruben's head. Sonic landed rather sharply on his stomach and he grimaced in pain. Sonic picked himself up and scowled at Mecha Shadow.

"Do you mind hitting me when I'm actually ready for you Shadow-Butt?" snapped Sonic "It really is annoying when you villains tag me by surprise!"

"Your-child-ish-quips-will-get-you-no-where-Sonic." droned Mecha Shadow "Stand-down-or-I-will-ex-ter-min-ate-you."

"Exterminate me?" laughed Sonic "What do you think you are? An exterminator? Well you aren't killing any annoying little pests today Shadow!"

Sonic jumped up and gave Mecha Shadow an upper-kick to the face. Mecha Shadow retaliated with a powerful backhand that sent Sonic hurling for ten meters. Mecha Shadow then proceeded to throw some Chaos Spears at Sonic. He was still capable of doing that despite being a Robian now. The Chaos Spears it Sonic and singed his arms and legs just as he stood up. Sonic grumbled to himself and he spin-dashed towards Mecha Shadow. Mecha Shadow spin-dashed too and the two hedgehogs bounced off each other. They spin-dashed towards each other and ricocheted off of each other again. They spin-dashed towards each other once again but Mecha Shadow overpowered Sonic and sent him hurling into the ground. Bunnie sneaked up behind Mecha Shadow and she grabbed him by the shoulder. Mecha Shadow grabbed Bunnie and hurled her over onto her back. The Rabbot picked herself up and sucker-punched Mecha Shadow directly in the face. Mecha Shadow retaliated with a punch to the gut and then a punch to the face on Bunnie. Bunnie rubbed her nose better and she lifted her left leg up. She drew her leg back and kicked Mecha Shadow in the torso at full force. Mecha Shadow skidded backwards but he was back on the attack. He spin-dashed towards Bunnie but instead of spin-dashing her directly, he aimed down at the ground and cleaved his way straight through it. He churned through the rock solid earth and sent chunks flying behind him. He dug straight down into the ground and vanished from sight. Bunnie raised her fists and waited for Mecha Shadow to come back up to the surface. But Mecha Shadow didn't come back to the surface. His hands reach out from the ground behind and he grabbed Bunnie by her ankles. He pulled Bunnie straight down into the ground until only her shoulders and head were sticking out of the ground. He dug his way back up from the ground and buried Bunnie with earth and rock. Bunnie was now firmly fixed into the ground with no way of escaping. She couldn't move and she couldn't break free. She was stuck fast. Bunnie squirmed and struggled but she couldn't move at all. She was firmly buried in the hole Mecha Shadow made trapped her in. She was absolutely powerless. Mecha Shadow smirked at the trapped Rabbot and he prepared to blast her with his cannons. Tails however had recovered from the painful electrical shock and he flew towards Mecha Shadow. He had picked up some stones Mecha Shadow sent flying after he dug into the ground and he threw the stones at Mecha Shadow. The stones pinged off Mecha Shadow's armour and he spun around angrily. He began shooting at Tails but Tails flew around to dodge the blasts. Mecha Shadow growled a robotical growl and he chased after Tails, leaving Bunnie to try and squirm free from the hole she was trapped in. But try as she might, not even her great strength could get her out of this. She looked around for help. Sonic and Tails were occupied with Mecha Shadow whereas Ruben wasn't doing anything right now.

"Nnngh! Nugh! Ugh! Ruben! Ah'm stuck! Help me!" cried Bunnie pitifully as she struggled.

Ruben instantly ran over to Bunnie he surveyed her current situation. He frowned at the burial and wondered how he was going to get Bunnie out of this.

"How's that for misfortune?" he muttered "You've been solidly buried by Mecha Shadow. I don't think I'd be able to dig you free Bunnie. Unless of course, I made the earth softer by giving it a little drench."

"But what if yo' water trickles down mah body and short-circuits mah robot parts?" squeaked Bunnie "Ah'll go up in smoke sugah!"

"Damn it! You're right!" groaned Ruben, smacking his forehead "Your robot parts aren't water proof! I guess I'm going to have to dig you out regardless of how hard this earth is."

He bent down on his knees and tried digging around Bunnie's shoulders. The earth was too thick and solid for Ruben's fingers to scratch through. Ruben maybe a keen digger but he couldn't dig through anything. The thick, solid earth was made worse by the stones that Mecha Shadow had used to bury Bunnie and trap her. Ruben chipped away pitifully at the earth but he couldn't make any progress.

"It's no good, the earth's too thick." he grumbled.

"Then how ah'm ah gonna git outta here?" wailed Bunnie.

"Maybe you could try shooting yourself out with your jets?" suggested Ruben "You know? Those jets you have in your roboticized feet? Surely they're powerful enough to blast you out like a firework?"

"Ah'll try sugah." said Bunnie uncertainly.

She activated her jets. Jet fumes blazed out from the soles of her feet, which were buried with the rest of her body, and they tried to push Bunnie up out of the ground. Bunnie's jets were powerful engines and Bunnie knew it from using them so much. Not even being buried up to her shoulders could stop them. With a mighty strain and push of the jets, Bunnie popped straight out of the ground like a rocket. She flew up into the air but she stopped herself and flew back down to the ground. Bunnie flexed her arms and wriggled her metal toes. She beamed with pride. She was free from that hole at last!

"Ah'm free! Yee-Haw!" she squealed, punching the air with her robot arm "Thanks ya'll little Ruben!" she cried, giving the water panther a tight hug of appreciation.

"Think nothing of it." said Ruben modestly as Bunnie put him down "We water panthers lover to help others and right now, I want to help Sonic stall Mecha Shadow long enough for us to retreat."

"Well then sugah, let's go and help sugah-hog then!" cried Bunnie happily.

She and Ruben charged over to Mecha Shadow, who as fending off double-attacks from Sonic and Tails. Bunnie and Ruben both jumped towards Mecha Shadow and they prepared to punch him but Mecha Shadow threw Chaos Spears at them both. Bunnie and Ruben were both stricken by the Chaos Spears and they landed sharply on their sides. Sonic and Tails both attacked Mecha Shadow with a pair of kicks that knocked him onto his back.

"Well Tails, it seems Shadow doesn't want us to leave." said Sonic.

"It seems so." said Tails grimly "Guess we're gonna have to fight for our getaway."

Mecha Shadow picked himself up and prepared to do battle once again. The four Mobians formed a square around him and they prepared to leap on him…

Meanwhile in Eggman's headquarters, Dr. Eggman was awaiting updates from his worldwide Robian army. He was sitting back in his chair and relaxing peacefully. He couldn't stop grinning to himself and thinking about his most recent victory over Sonic and his friends. After months of fighting, he'd finally managed to roboticize all of Mobius and become ruler of Mobius. His reign hadn't been off to a good start as there were five Mobians left to roboticize. He didn't know about Shadow's roboticization yet so he thought he still had five Mobians to deal with. It didn't matter how many Mobians he had to deal with. He had billions of robot slaves so five measly Mobians had no chance against him, even if one of the only remaining Mobians was Sonic the Hedgehog, his primary nemesis. Not even Sonic and his invincible nature could stop him now.

"A worldwide Robian army." he said to himself "I still wonder to myself why I never used that roboticizer to it's full power in the first place. I feel stupid for delaying my victory but it doesn't matter now I've finally gotten it. Mobius is mine and soon, I'll return home to bonny old Earth and make that mine too! Sonic can try all he wants to stop me in my tracks, he will never defeat me now!"

His gloating was interrupted by the arrival of his faithful new sidekick, Katherine the Fem-bot, former prison warden of the Sentinel Blockade which was destroyed by Shadow the Hedgehog. Katherine clanked up silently to Dr. Eggman and she tapped him on the shoulder to catch his attention. Dr. Eggman got up from his seat and he turned around to face his sleek, sadistic and loyal servant-bot who was filling in the space the late Alonzo the Butler Bot once filled.

"Katherine my beautiful little servant." said Dr. Eggman with a wide smile on his face "Am I to assume you're here to tell me something?"

Katherine nodded her faceless, horned head.

"What do you wish to tell your glorious master Dr. Eggman then?" asked Dr. Eggman.

Katherine didn't say anything for she had no voice of her own. She grabbed Dr. Eggman by the hand and led him towards a window. Katherine came up to a large window and she pointed into the distance. Dr. Eggman peered into the distance but he couldn't quite see what Katherine was pointing at.

"I can't see Katherine sweetie, an you photograph this for me?"

asked Dr. Eggman "You can zoom in on what you're looking at what with your camera like abilities I installed in you."

Katherine looked back into the distance and zoomed her vision in on the battle going on outside Robotropolis' gates. She kept her vision squarely on Mecha Shadow and she photographed him. She then turned to Dr. Eggman and showed her the picture of Mecha Shadow by projecting her photo into a hologram out of her visor. Dr. Eggman's reaction was predictable to say the least. His glasses almost fell off his nose in surprise.

"Oh…my…gosh…with a big fat G!" he blurted, fighting hard to catch his breath "Shadow…

Shadow has been roboticized? Oh ho, ho, ho, ho! What a brilliant turn of events this is! Shadow the Hedgehog is mine once again and unlike the real Shadow, Mecha Shadow will be loyal to me and me only! Now I've got Shadow AND Rouge under my control once again!"

Katherine just nodded silently in agreement.

"I knew programming the roboticizer to roboticize any Mobian that tries to get into the chamber was a good idea." said Dr. Eggman "Just a pity it didn't get everybody at once. Sonic, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben will now what my game is now and they won't fall for the trick like Shadow did. Oh well, Mecha Shadow will pile-dive them like there's no tomorrow and he'll deliver them to me to be roboticized. THEN total victory will be mine!"

Katherine played an assortment of pre-recorded voices to Dr. Eggman. The voices ranged from a showgirl to an army general to a navy commander.

"I recommend sending in reinforcements so we have A BETTER CHANCE of capturing THE HEDGEHOG sir." the voices said.

Dr. Eggman put a finger to his lips and thought on that idea for a moment.

"Katherine, as strong as Mecha Shadow will be, I think he could do with some back up." said Dr. Eggman "I'll set Mechas Knuckles, Shade, Wilson, Mandy, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Geoffrey and Rouge out all at once to assist Mecha Shadow. Sonic will never defeat all of them, especially as Shadow is now on my side and not his. Give the order to the Mechas I've just mentioned Katherine. Tell them to assist Mecha Shadow immediately. If you want, you can join in the battle too as you're combat-worthy enough to fight Sonic."

Katherine obeyed and she sent Dr. Eggman's message, which she recorded while he was talking, to the fore mentioned Mechas. Sonic's fight was just about to get even harder now Eggman was sending all of these Robians and Katherine to get him…

Back outside, Sonic, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben tried all fighting Mecha Shadow at once. After all, Mecha Shadow was likely to have trouble fighting everybody at once, regardless of how powerful he was. Despite that idea, Mecha Shadow was still holding his own against them and due to being a powerful robot, he had tremendous stamina and endurance so knocking him down and keeping him down was far easier side then done. Sonic and Mecha Shadow linked arms with one another and they pushed on each other as hard as they could. They tried to overpower one another in this pushing match of theirs. Since Mecha Shadow was occupied with Sonic, that gave Bunnie the perfect opportunity to leap in and round house punch him with her robotic fist. Mecha Shadow staggered away from Sonic, who then decided to spin-dash Mecha Shadow and knock him over onto his back. Mecha Shadow picked himself up, only to get tripped up by Ruben who roundhouse kicked him in the legs. Mecha Shadow tried to get back up but Bunnie pounded him on his cranium and knocked him back down. She pinned Mecha Shadow down with her foot and transformed her robot arm into a cannon. She pointed the cannon at Mecha Shadow and prepared to pull the trigger.

"Stay down if you know what's good for you ugly!" she yelled at him, keeping her cannon pointed at Mecha Shadow's head.

" 'Snicker!' Ha, ha, ha! You wouldn't say that to Shadow boy if he was his old self Bunnie!" giggled Sonic, tickled by Bunnie's little remark.

"Ah wouldn't dream of it sugah." said Bunnie with a grin on her beautiful face "Since poor Shadow's been roboticized, he doesn't mind what ah say to him."

Mecha Shadow suddenly elbowed Bunnie in the leg and knocked her off his back. Mecha Shadow picked himself up and grabbed Bunnie by the throat. He hoisted the Rabbot up to his height and glared at her with his red glowing optics.

"I-do-mind-what-you-say-to-me-cyborg." growled Mecha Shadow "And-I-say-I-do-not-tol-er-ate-your-child-ish-in-sults. I-will-ex-ter-min-ate-you-for-that."

He bared his claws and tried to plunge them into Bunnie's chest but Bunnie kicked him in the stomach and made him drop her onto the floor. Bunnie transformed her cannon back into a hand and she gut-punched Mecha Shadow. Mecha Shadow retaliated by slashing Bunnie across the chest. Bunnie screamed a blood-curdling cry of pain and she clutched her chest, which had four red, vicious cuts trickling with blood. Mecha Shadow took the opportunity to gut-punch Bunnie and then kick her with an upwards kick that knocked the Rabbot over onto her back. He prepared to slash her again but Tails flew in behind him and roundhouse kicked him in the head while hovering behind him. Mecha Shadow swiped at Tails but he missed and Ruben pile-dived him in the back. Mecha Shadow retaliated with a callous elbow to the gut that made Ruben wheeze so loudly he sounded like he was going to hack up his own lungs. Mecha Shadow blasted at Ruben with his plasma cannons but Ruben leaped out of the way of the blasts. The force of the impact sent Ruben hurling through the air in a cartwheel fashion and he landed sharply on his back. Tails flew in and punched Mecha Shadow as he whizzed past and Mecha Shadow almost fell onto his side. Mecha Shadow activated some jets he had in his feet and he flew up after Tails. Tails panicked and he tried to fly away from Mecha Shadow but Mecha Shadow was too fast for him and he caught the fox in his claws. He flew down towards the ground and slammed Tails down on the ground like a rugby ball. Tails lay on the ground in excruciating pain and he tried rubbing himself better. Mecha Shadow stood before Tails and he prepared to blast him but Sonic spin-dashed him in the side just as his cannons were primed and ready. Mecha Shadow skidded across the ground and he spin-dashed Sonic. Sonic hurtled backwards and he landed painfully on his bottom. Sonic rubbed his sore bum better and he prepared to do battle once again. Mecha Shadow threw a Chaos Spear at Sonic but Sonic dodged the spear and spin-dashed towards Mecha Shadow. Mecha Shadow caught Sonic in his hands and threw him straight into the ground. Sonic cleaved his way through the ground until he stopped and he back flipped out of the hole he made. He landed behind Mecha Shadow and he spin-dashed him in the back. Mecha Shadow landed with a sharp clunk on his stomach and he groaned in pain. Sonic tried to pile-dive him in the back but Mecha Shadow warped out of his way and re-appeared away from Sonic. Sonic charged towards Mecha Shadow but Mecha Shadow leaped over Sonic and spin-dashed into the ground. He dug straight down in the ground and disappeared from sight. Sonic kept his senses alert for Mecha Shadow coming back up and he waited for him to re-appear. As you would expect, Mecha Shadow came straight up through the ground underneath Sonic and the hedgehog hurtled up into the air. Mecha Shadow stopped the spin-dash and he cupped his hands together. He slammed them down on Sonic's head and sent him hurling into the ground below. Before he could fly down to the ground and deck him some more, Bunnie fired at him and shot him clean out of the sky. Mecha Shadow landed with a heavy clunk on the ground that left him with dents on his torso and his left arm was singed and burned. Some panelling had been chipped away by the blast so you could see some of the circuitry in his arm. Mecha Shadow glowered at his injury and he snarled like a rabid dog. He picked himself up and prepared to do battle with the last four Mobians in existence. Sonic picked himself up from the ground where he landed and he, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben lined up together and they prepared to continue the battle.

"Stop this battle already Mecha Shadow!" yelled Sonic "We wanna leave this place, not fight you so stop fighting us and let us leave already!"

"Neg-a-tive-Sonic." growled Mecha Shadow "I-must-cap-ture-you-all-and-give-you-to-Dr.-Egg-Man-and-let-him-ro-bot-i-cize-you-all-and-com-plete-his-Robian-army. This-fight-will-go-on-until-you-are-all-captured."

"Well tough crud buddy, you ain't getting your hands on us!" retorted Sonic "Stand down and let us go!"

Mecha Shadow refused to move. He just raised his arms and prepared to blast them to slag. Sonic sniffed at him and he prepared to fight on.

"Go ahead, you'll only wish you did as you were told Mecha Shadow!" grumbled Sonic.

But then at this very moment, Dr. Eggman's reinforcements for Mecha Shadow all decided to show up and join the battle. Out from Robotropolis flew Mecha Knuckles, Mecha Shade, Mecha Rouge, Mecha Amy, Mecha Cream, Mecha Cosmo, Mecha Wilson, Mecha Mandy and Mecha Geoffrey and they all touched down and formed a circle around the Mobians, surrounding them and keeping them contained. Mecha Shadow smirked a metallic smirk at the cornered Mobians.

"Looks-like-the-odds-are-evened." he sneered.

The Mechas all prepared to unleash hell on the Mobians by bending down in battle-ready stances and readying their weapons. Sonic's quills drooped down in despair and he lowered his fists.

"Well, this wasn't what I expected to happen!" he spluttered "All our friends are joining in this fight!"

To make things even worse, Katherine flew out from Robotropolis and touched down just in front of Sonic the Hedgehog. The hedgehog stepped back and stared at Katherine as she turned around to face him. She stared at Sonic with her emotionless, blank, empty, cactus shaped visor. The visor suddenly lit up and it showed Dr. Eggman's face and Dr. Eggman's voice rang out from Katherine's audio-receptors.

"Well if it isn't Sonic the Hedgehog, here to foil my schemes again!" sneered Dr. Eggman "Only you seem to be caught between a rock and a hard place right now! What misfortune for you eh Sonic?"

"You could say that Eggo." muttered Sonic "Who's the female robot that's talking with your voice that's standing before me?"

"This is my new servant bot Katherine." explained Dr. Eggman "She used to be a prison warden for a prison run by me personally. Shadow destroyed it though and Alonzo's dead so now I have to use her as my servant bot. She's much better then Alonzo as she is loyal, is able to fight and she cannot annoy me with stupid quips and insults as she's unable to speak."

"So she's mute?" mused Sonic "Fine by me, Alonzo was annoying whenever he spoke so Kat here can't annoy me. Anyway, I'm really disappointed in you for daring to roboticize all of Mobius at once! How did you do it you monster? Finally decided to make a roboticizer big enough to do so?"

"I did actually." said Dr. Eggman "When Robotropolis was built, I had a giant roboticizer stored in the centre of the base and I modified it to spread it's waves out all over the planet. And now I have a worldwide Robian army at my beck and call! How's that for genius Sonic?"

"This isn't genius! This is evil Dr. Eggman!" shouted Tails angrily "I'm shocked to see you can use something as wonderful as science for such unspeakable evil! How could you abuse the magic of science like this?"

"Tails, people use their skills for different things." snapped Dr. Eggman "I fortunately, know how to use my scientific know how to it's best potential and look where it's got me, a worldwide army of Robians ready to serve me and make me ruler of the world!"

"Why can't you use your genius for good things Dr. Eggman?" screeched Tails angrily "You're such a clever person you are and your genius could bring great peace to Mobius and improve the lifestyles of races everywhere!"

"Because there's nothing worth using science for that can be considered "good" on any terms." said Dr. Eggman grimly "Besides, using my science for my personal gain's given me much more then what using it for good would ever get me so I'm never going to do something so weak and foolish as that little Tails!"

Tails just fumed angrily at Dr. Eggman, disgusted how he was using his scientific knowledge for evil purposes instead of good like he should be doing.

"Mechas, seize those Mobians and bring them to me!" bellowed Dr. Eggman.

His image switched off and Katherine's visor returned to being black. The fem-bot bared her long, thin, sharp claws. She advanced slowly on Sonic and friends and prepared to grab them. The others advanced on the Mobians too with their claws bared and ready to grab them. Sonic, Tails, Bunnie and Ruben all stood together, back-to-back and staring helplessly at the Robians coming to them.

"What are we gonna do Sonic?" asked Tails worriedly.

"I'll tell you what we're gonna do." said Sonic "I'm gonna blow these guys away! You, Bunnie and Ruben get outta here now! I'll keep them busy!"

"You can't possibly take them all on at once sugah-hog!" screeched Bunnie "They'll rip ya'll to little bits!"

"I'm not taking them all on at once." said Sonic "I'm gonna blow them away with a Sonic Tornado. That'll buy us enough time to escape now you, Tails and Ruben get outta here now!"

Tails, Bunnie and Ruben obeyed and they escaped from the circle of Robians. Tails and Bunnie flew out of the circle whereas Ruben catapulted himself out with a jet of water and he landed outside of the Robian circle. The Robians continued advancing on Sonic though as they were more focused on him then the others. Sonic however, ran around them in a supersonic circle. He ran around the Robians so fast that he became a big blue, circular blur circling around the Robians at a terrific speed. The Robians didn't know what to do about this so they just waited to see what Sonic was doing. Sonic ran around them faster and faster until the circle began to expand upwards into a tornado. This was the Sonic Tornado, one of Sonic's best moves and one he only used in desperate situations as it tired him out afterwards. The tornado grabbed everybody with the speed and power of the winds inside and the Robians all spun around and around in the tornado. Sonic didn't keep it going for much longer as he didn't want to accidentally destroy the Robians in the process. He stopped spinning and waited for the tornado to die down. The tornado drifted away and the Robians all collapsed on the ground dizzily and they lay there, wondering what to do right now. Now the Robians were defeated, Sonic ran for it as fast as he possibly could. He charged away from Robotropolis at top speed and Bunnie, Tails and Ruben followed him with their respective transport methods. They all fled the scene and left the Robians and Katherine to do nothing but lie there and wonder what the heck they were supposed to be doing. They were just too dizzy. Dr. Eggman had seen what had happened from inside his headquarters and he growled to himself.

"Damn that rodent! Damn that rodent again and damn all his friends!" he roared angrily "He's managed to evade me again! Well he can run all he likes, he'll never be safe from me! I have Robians all over the world! He can run but he cannot hide from me! All my Robians have been ordered to find him so they'll be on the look out for him! I'll catch him eventually, it's just a matter of time until he falls victim to my Robian army!"

He cackled to himself as he pictured Sonic's captured in his evil little head…

As for Sonic, he and the others had retreated to the Great Forest, home of the legendary Lake of Rings, the one place on Mobius Eggman knew nothing about so it would take a while for his Robian army to find them here. They all sat down by the lake's edge and they watched the calm still water that made them feel a lot more relaxed then before. Ruben, due to his love for water, decided to go for a dip in the lake to ease his pain and bruises from the earlier battle. He removed his gloves and boots and left them on the lake side and he went into the lake up to his neck. He sighed happily and he put his hands behind his head.

"Aaaah that feels good." he said "Nothing like a soothing dip in a lake to soothe the pain I've received from the battle."

"Better enjoy it while you can Ruben." muttered Tails "Because when Eggman makes Mobius his at last, he'll turn all traces of water into oil."

"I gathered that would be something he would do." said Ruben quietly as he let his radiant blue fur have a good soak "So I'll make the most of this little dip while I can."

"You don't need to Ruben." said Sonic "Because we're gonna save everybody! We're gonna save Mobius from Eggman's tyranny and we're gonna de-roboticize everybody!"

"Sonic, you can't be serious about this!" blurted Tails.

"I am serious Tails and you've been with me long enough to know when I'm serious." snapped Sonic.

"But Sonic, this is impossible!" cried Tails "There's billions of Mobians all under Eggman's control, some our friends, the rest aren't, and there's only four of us! How can WE possibly standing against such a vast army? Especially since Shadow's now on Eggman's side and he got roboticized the moment he tried to enter the roboticizer chamber! We are beaten and Eggman has won and there's nothing we can do about it!"

Sonic grabbed Tails firmly by the shoulders and he jammed his face into his.

"There's no such thing as impossible." said Sonic dryly "Nothing's impossible Tails and you know it."

"But…" protested Tails.

"Was it impossible to save me when I was roboticized?" asked Sonic sharply "Was it impossible to stop Horda, Borda and Rorda when they tried to split the planet apart*? Was it impossible to save me from Marik's energy diamond voodoo? Was it impossible to stop Imperator Ix from destroying the world with his Dark Chaos Energy***?"

"No but…" began Tails

"NOTHING is impossible Tails!" repeated Sonic loudly "It is not impossible to stop Dr. Eggman from having Mobius under his control! Especially as I have a plan!"

"You do sugah-hog?" piped Bunnie "What might that be then?"

"I am going over to Robotropolis to let myself be roboticized." said Sonic.

Tails, Bunnie and Ruben stared at Sonic as if he'd just said something stupid.

"WHAT?" they all screamed in unison.

"Sugah-hog! You can't do that! You'll be Eggman's mindless minion again!" screeched Bunnie.

"Wrong Bunnie." sneered Sonic "Because I have something that'll let me keep my free will."

"What's that then?" asked Tails eagerly.

Sonic didn't say anything. He just pointed at the lake, which was bubbling in the centre. a magical ring was going to appear at any minute now. Ruben saw the bubbling and he swam over to it. A ring shot out from the waters, it's radiant golden glow earning a stargazed stare from everybody who saw it. Ruben jumped up and grabbed the ring before it could go back down into the water. Ruben swam back to shore with it and he gave it to Sonic. Sonic showed them the ring that had come up from the water.

"This." said Sonic "It restored my mind back to normal when it got mutated by Marik's diamond so it'll restore my freewill when I get roboticized."

"Why do you need to roboticize yourself?" asked Tails.

"So I can trick Eggman into thinking he's got me and then I'll unleash hell on his headquarters." explained Sonic "Not to mention, I'll be strong enough to match the Robians. While I'm doing that, you'll be sabotaging the roboticizer and getting it to de-roboticize everybody."

"But won't we get roboticize once we step into the room like Shadow did?" asked Ruben.

"You will." said Sonic "Which is why I'm going to let you all use this ring to restore your freewill as well as mine. We'll be the only Robians on Mobius that are disloyal to Dr. Eggman."

"Sonic, that is the best plan you've ever come up with." said Tails.
